ITALIANS ON OFFENSIVE IN NORTH; HUNS MASS MEN FOR DRIVE IN WEST

KAISER ABOUT TO COMMENCE NEW DRIVE IN WEST

AIRPLANES AND PRISONERS BRING INFORMATION OF IMPENDING ACTION—U-BOATS TO BE SENT FOR BIGGER GAME THAN COASTAL CRAFT

By CARL D. GROUT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Germany is about to undertake two new offensives—one a renewal of her drive on the west line, the second a further U-boat attack against American shipping. When Chief of Staff March, U. S. A., and British Premier Lloyd George warned of the opening of a new Teutonic drive on the west front, they spoke "by the card." Aerial observations and intelligence information show concentrations that indicate a blow before long.

The ally noted in Italy, Germany may hasten the western blow, but allied reinforcements be sent into Italy to complete the disorganization of the Austrians. Germany herself, it was learned today, could get reinforcements to the Austrian front, a work, and she can spare them only a few.

May Drive at Channel Ports

Just where the new assault will be attempted in France is not indicated. But it will doubtless be a development of the major plan of reaching Paris or the channel ports.

As for the submarine offensive, sinking of an inbound British-American transport off Bermuda gives conclusive proof that German operations are still proceeding and that the big game, instead of coastal steamer, is being sought. Warnings are out today along the whole Atlantic seaboard and in the vicinity of Bermuda to be on the watch for U-boats.

Outlook More Optimistic

Incidentally, when the United Press stated yesterday that it was known positively that German operations were continuing, it is understood some intimations of the transport incident had arrived.

As for the land situation, officials here entertain a broader optimism now than they have for months. Unfettered praise is accorded the Italians, French and British for their brilliant operations against the Austrians, and there is a firmer outlook as to the future than at any time since March 21.

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK AT MOUNT VERNON

Will Deliver July Fourth Address—Austrian and Russian Situation—May Be Topic

WASHINGTON, July 25.—President Wilson will speak at Mount Vernon, Va., on July fourth to representatives of the foreign-born citizens in this country. Twenty-seven nationalities will be represented. It is probable that John McCormack and other notables will also appear.

Information was forthcoming at the White House as to the subject the president would discuss in his address. It was indicated in other quarters that it will be another query to the people of Austria and similar countries to break away from German domination.

The address might hold some significance in view of the present Russian situation also was believed.

The president has not yet begun preparation of the address and events of the next few days will have an important bearing upon the text.

TWIN FALLS MEN AT CONVENTIONS

BOISE, Idaho, June 25.—Democrats and Republicans from over the entire state are gathered here today.

The mention of the name of Roosevelt in the Republican convention brought forth prolonged cheers. Clary St. Clair was chosen chairman and Will H. Gibson secretary. Wilbur S. Hill was of Twin Falls county delegation.

He was named on the committee on credentials. C. A. Robinson on permanent organization and M. J. Sweeley on platform and resolutions. W. P. Guthrie served as chairman of the delegation.

General Frank Martin of Boise was elected temporary chairman of the Democratic convention and J. D. Whelan of Twin Falls secretary.

ENGINEER ASLEEP IS TESTIMONY IN WRECK INQUIRY

CONDUCTOR SAYS TROOP TRAIN ENGINEER TOLD HIM HE WAS DOZING—IS UNDER ARREST

(By United Press)

HAMMOND, Ind., June 25.—Testifying before a coroner's jury, Conductor Lewis Johnson of the Michigan Central train that ran down the Hagbeek-Wallace circus train at Evansville Saturday, says today that Engineer Lon Sargent told him he was dozing when the wreck occurred.

"After the crash I was forwarded," Johnson testified. "I ran to Sargent and said: 'My God, this is awful; how did it happen?'"

"Sargent answered, 'I was dozing.'"

Refuses to Testify

Sargent was brought here today, and is in custody of Gary, Ind., police. He refused to testify today at the office of District Attorney, who claimed right to refuse on the ground that Sargent is formally charged with manslaughter and his testimony might be used against him.

District Attorney Clyde Hunter of Lake county advised the coroner that Sargent's claim was valid. The death toll of the wreck today at 58 today, and it was said that all the injured now in hospitals here and at Gary will live.

Practically all of the 58 bodies of victims of the wreck of a Hagbeek-Wallace circus train here Saturday will be taken to Chicago tomorrow to be buried.

PLANS FOR TIE-UP OF TELEGRAPHS CONTINUE

Date Set Far Enough Ahead to Give Time for Government Intervention

CHICAGO, June 25.—Plans for a general strike of commercial telegraphers are still simmering, President S. J. Konecany of the Commercial Telegraphers Union said today.

"The date will be announced soon," Konecany said. "It was set far enough ahead to give our preparation. Also it was to give the president time to investigate the Western Union's attitude toward his proclamation. We expect a surprisingly big reaction to the strike call. We can count on the aid of railway telegraphers and the electrical workers."

CREW OF OYCLOPS REGARDED AS DEAD

Navy Department Sends Official Notification to Relatives

OSHINGTON, Wis., June 25.—That the navy department believes some members of the crew of the missing Oyclops are dead was indicated in an official notification received here today by John Ahrens. The message said: "The crew of the Oyclops, a sailor on the Oyclops, has been declared officially dead," June 14, 1918."

CABINET TO TAKE UP RUSSIAN SITUATION

Suggestions by Allied Ambassadors to Come Before Today's Meeting

WASHINGTON, June 25.—With Germany speeding her efforts to subjugate Russia that also may have new reservoirs from which to draw war material, the allied problem of saving Russia has become acute.

Several proposals for allied aid were ready for presentation to President Wilson and the cabinet when it met today.

There are indications that announcement of the first step in the forthcoming program may be hastened. The British embassy and French ambassador, Jusserand, have left extended memoranda on the subject at the White House within the last 48 hours. "Preponderant evidence being shown now is for aid."

Russ Strengthens Hold

The Germans, advancing through Ukraine, along the Murman coast had now landing at Batum, to strike with the Turks through the Caucasus. "We are only as desperately trying to get a firm grasp upon Russia before the allies awake to the danger."

As a result there is a sudden vigorous activity in allied quarters here today to reach a common agreement.

One plan, strongly advocated, is to send an inter-allied body to visit with full powers to grant loans; to point sub-commissions to direct transportation and help Russians move their crops, and this would be the foundation for actual military aid when the time arrived.

BOLSHEVIKI GETS HELP FROM HUNS

By JOSEPH SHAPLEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM, June 25.—Three thousand German troops accompanied by a cruiser, two destroyers and a submarine, have landed at Porti, near Batum. It was learned today. They probably seek to effect complete occupation of the Caucasus, thus threatening the British in Persia and Mesopotamia. It is believed they will immediately extend their occupation to the provinces of Kuban and Kutais.

Take Ports on Caspian

Batum is an important export port on the southeastern shore of the Black sea. It is connected by railroad with Batum, the great oil center on the western shore of the Caspian. Porti is about 55 miles north of Batum.

Kuban province lies north of Batum, with Kuznetsk borders Kuban on the north, extending along the eastern shore of the Sea of Azov and reaching nearly to the Don river.

A serious disturbance occurred in Moscow when the Bolsheviks directed all of the 55 members of the workers' conference who demanded a conference.

GAINS MADE BY DIAZ IN MOUNTAIN REGIONS

ALL ITALIAN ARMIES ON OFFENSIVE—ARODUKE JOSEPH'S AND VON WURM'S ARMIES IMPERILED—CLAIM OF 45,000 PRISONERS VERIFIED—MORE ARE COMING IN HOURLY

FLASH

ROME, June 25.—THE LAST AUSTRIAN REAR GUARD LEFT ON THE RIGHT BANK OF THE PIAVE RIVER HAS SURRENDERED. THE WAR OFFICE ANNOUNCED TODAY. EIGHTEEN OFFICERS AND 1,607 MEN WERE TAKEN PRISONERS.

LONDON, June 25.—The Italians have started a counter offensive in the mountain region. It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon.

The Austrians are making a strong resistance, but the Italians have gained.

The above dispatch does not show the extent of the Italian counter-offensive, but British forces already have made an appreciable gain on the Asiago plateau, in conjunction with Italian gains along the Piave.

It is possible that General Diaz, knowing the Austrians' contemplation of their drive southward from the mountains, "beat them to the punch."

CONGRESSWANTS CROWDER TO FIX NEW AGE LIMITS

FROM EIGHTEEN TO FORTY-FIVE IS GENERALLY UNDERSTOOD TO BE APPROVED PLAN

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Congress today is looking to the war department for suggestions on widening the scope of the draft law.

With the amendments to the army bill to increase the enrollment age for the draft to 18-45 now before congress, today's action would be wise, according to Provost Marshal General Crowder, an opportunity to frame the legislation he desires before starting work.

Meanwhile, the senate will discuss the bill and France amendments which, while they both fix 18-45 as the new age limits, are otherwise totally dissimilar.

The France amendment is General Crowder's "work or fight" order carried to the last degree. It would mean that every male citizen between 18 and 45 would be classified for some sort of service, and would be subject to call for that service, under military rule. He could not strike on the war work without facing court martial.

Gets Crowder's Endorsement

General Crowder thoroughly endorses the principle of the France amendment. He told the senate military committee recently it would end the labor shortage by putting all the country's labor, skilled or unskilled, instantly at the president's call.

The bill amendment, on the other hand, is a military service measure with addition of a training provision. It would prevent the use on the firing line of those between 18 and 21, but would allow them to be trained, so that when they became 21 they could instantly be utilized. This would mean that each year the fighting forces would be increased by about 500,000 fully trained men, while there would always be a large number of men in training.

AUSTRIANS FAILED TO PROVIDE FOR DEFEAT

Expected to Exist on Captured Stores—Producers Were to Build Bridges

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Failure of the Austrian general staff to provide for possibility of defeat is assigned today as the cause of the heavy Austrian losses in their retreat, according to cables from the headquarters of General Diaz.

Documents found on five Austrian officers taken at Montello and other points held at the battle plan worked out by the Austrians in their proposed advances against the Italians.

Use of Italian food and supplies was counted on, and the thousands of Italians the Austrians expected to capture were to be forced to build bridges across the Piave and erect fortifications for the advancing Austrian artillery.

UNREST PROVES MENACE TO CENTRAL POWERS

DISSATISFACTION EXTENDS INTO HUNGARY AND GERMANY—MUNITION WORKERS STRIKE—RAILWAY AND TELEGRAPH EMPLOYEES QUIT

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Italian forces are preparing for a great drive against the Austrians in the Trentino, and expect to repeat the disaster inflicted on the enemy along the Piave, official Rome cables declared today.

Italian cables today also announced verification from three sources of dispatches given out at the embassy yesterday that 45,000 Austrian prisoners had been taken in the Austrian retreat across the Piave.

General Diaz is cautiously pursuing the battered Austrian armies because the advance of the Italians leaves their left flank open to an attack by the Austrian-tyrolean reserves in the dominating hills of the upper Piave. Officers here stated that the Austrian disaster will permit the Italians to strongly fortify themselves on the east bank of the Piave.

Many Participants

Dispatches to the embassy today announced the co-operation of the Italian army in the counter offensive that precipitated the Austrian retreat. Destroyers battered the Austrian positions along the Tigliamento river and north of Montello, while marine battalions from the warships advanced across the Piave and took hundreds of prisoners.

Austrian aviators attacked Bridel during the battle, but were driven off by the Italian fighters. British and British aviators bombed Calliano and Buzero across the Adriatic sea in retaliation.

Czech-Slovaks, Jugo-Slavs, Romanians, Serbians and other nationalities which were of several platoon companies at a demonstration of the "victorious Italian forces given by the British ambassador at Rome yesterday.

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE MARNE, June 23 (4:05 p. m.)—American artillery today heavily shelled German positions north of Belleau wood.

"The boches in this region are extremely jumpy. Last night they sent up rockets, calling for a barrage at every suspicious sound from the wood. The Americans, however, made no infantry attack."

The increasing anxiety of the German army resulted in one of them dropping in flames into the American lines this morning, following an encounter with a French machine.

UNREST PROVES MENACE TO CENTRAL POWERS

DISSATISFACTION EXTENDS INTO HUNGARY AND GERMANY—MUNITION WORKERS STRIKE—RAILWAY AND TELEGRAPH EMPLOYEES QUIT

(By United Press)

LONDON, June 25.—The political and economic agitation in the dual monarchy has spread into Germany and Hungary, according to reports reaching here today.

A dispatch from The Hague declared that 20,000 munition workers went on strike in Mulheim last Thursday, "on account of reduction of the bread ration."

No previous mention of any actual recent reduction in the bread ration in Germany has been made, although official announcement has been made that it was contemplated.

General Strike in Budapest

A general strike has been called in Budapest, according to a Geneva dispatch, and the railroad, postal and telegraph services throughout Hungary have been crippled.

There are rumors in political circles that Count Czernin, former Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, would be returned to office.

Hungarian Finance Minister Poppovic has announced that unless war expenses are reduced, great quantities of paper money must be issued.

Aid for Russia Must Take Form at Early Date

Germany Expected to Propose Peace at Expense of Betrayed Russian Nation

(By United Press)
LONDON, June 25.—The Bolsheviks are about to conclude a commercial pact with Germany which will subject Russia to further exploitation. It is indicated in an undated dispatch from Moscow, received today.

At a meeting of the Russo-German economic commission, the dispatch said, M. Bronsky, the Bolshevik commissioner of commerce and industry, declared that for the purpose of meeting Russia's debts to Germany, the soviet were compelled to conclude a foreign loan. The interest, he said, would be paid in raw materials.

As a guarantee, Bronsky declared Germany will be granted numerous concessions affecting the natural resources of Russia.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Germany is preparing for a vigorous attack at the expense of Russia, government authorities here are convinced. To meet this anticipated move a tremendous effort is being made to bring about unity of purpose in Russia between the United States, Great Britain and France.

The need for some agreed policy is admitted. Germany, by launching a peace offensive, offering to give up Belgium, northern France and make satisfactory settlements with Italy provided she is allowed to expand in Russia, would confront the French and British governments with a very serious problem.

Time Comes to Act

The time has come, allied diplomats say, when President Wilson if he will not sanction Japanese intervention in Russia must come forward with some alternative if Russia is to be saved. Any concessions, commercial or otherwise, given to Germany by the Bolshevik government in return for Germany loans and other economic aid will be promptly repudiated when the present government is overthrown, Russian embassy officials declared.

Confers With Lansing

This assurance was given following reports from Moscow that the Bolshevik government had turned over for German development many of the richest Russian natural resources as surety on a German loan. M. Konovaloff, Kermak man, was to see Secretary of State Lansing yesterday. He had various proposals for aiding Russia, foremost of which was believed to be a scheme for restoring the Kermak regime to power.

IRISH ISSUE APPEAL FOR VOLUNTEERS

World Aghast at Ireland's Failure to Supply Men

LONDON, June 25.—The Irish government has launched the following recruiting appeal, signed by four members of the recruiting council:

"The war-worn remnants of the Irish brigades are reeling beneath the blows of tyranny. Ireland is but the tip of the iceberg of Ireland beyond the seas, from Adelaide and Brisbane, and from San Francisco to New York, which is heart and soul behind the men in Flanders. Our countrymen throughout the world are aghast at our inaction. Their friendship is growing cold."

HAIG REPORTS SUGGESTS

THE LONDON OPERATIONS

LONDON, June 25.—Successful raiding operations in various sectors of the Pleardy and Flanders fronts were reported by Field Marshal Haig today.

"Canadian troops raided enemy trenches at Neville-Villars last night, taking 22 prisoners and six machine guns," the statement said.

"A few prisoners and a machine gun were taken in successful raids last night of the Scarpe."

"Heaviest artillery was active last night between Villers-Bretonneux and Morlancourt, also south of Avion and west of Meriville, gas shells being freely employed."

FINNS BECOMING SUSPICIOUS OF HUNS' INTENT

BEGIN TO SEE THROUGH GERMAN PROPAGANDA INSPIRING FEAR OF GREAT BRITAIN

By JOSEPH SHAPLEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM, June 25.—Thornwell Haynes, American consul at Helsingfors, today admitted Ambassador Morris that the Finns are becoming aware of Germany's real intentions towards their country.

"Until May 15, the Finns believed Germany intervened in Finland from sympathy for them," Haynes said. "Now the Finns are realizing that the Germans' motives are not so unselfish."

Large German forces are moving northward from Helsingfors, evidently toward Murman. German propaganda is endeavoring to persuade the Finns that Great Britain is arranging to seize Murman and Carelia. At the same time, Germany is encouraging a break in the Finnish and Swedish speaking classes, in order eventually to dominate Finland.

Discontent Increasing
According to the Stalblad, Russian military leaders asked the Bolshevik for instructions regarding the Finns expedition into Murman. Moscow replies that no action would be taken in view of the Finns' intention to occupy only what territory Russia had promised already to them.

Discontent is rapidly growing in Finland. The government is entirely in the hands of the Germans. The Soviets are refusing to participate in governmental affairs, owing to this German influence. Red guard prisoners are being treated brutally. They are starved by the hundreds and shot without trial.

THE KAISER'S SHORT ORDER

It is too early to predict whether the Austrian rout will be turned into a decisive victory for the Italians, or whether it will in the end constitute only a serious setback for Austria.

The war in its present stage is a race against time. The military caste appreciate the necessity of winning the war before the force of America is too strongly felt on the Western front.

Austria was doubtless forced by Germany, as well as by the necessity of diverting attention at home from food conditions, to a new offensive, to strike at Italy to prevent further withdrawal of Italian troops to strengthen the French lines.

The complete failure of this strategy consists not only of the failure to accomplish these objects, but also in the valuable time lost.

A few weeks ago America had 800,000 men in France.

A few days ago it was announced that there were 900,000 men in France.

A few days more and it will have crossed the million mark.

The Potsdam gang is not blind to the shipping tonnage figures. They still try to fool their people with exaggerated claims of submarine victories.

American ammunition - American planes - American guns - all are crowding the brief time in which the Potsdam gang have given themselves to win the war.

American fighting effectiveness already prove annoying obstacles in the path to Paris.

Now comes not only delay but a disastrous rout with its demoralizing effect on the morale of the armies and peoples of the Central Powers.

The sinking fortunes of the Central Powers can be stayed by no other means than brilliant victory at arms, and the Potsdam gang will endeavor to deliver this victory regardless of cost.

Whether the mad rush that is impending will hit the Western front in France, or strike out from the mountain district in northern Italy, only time will show.

REMOVING THE LIMIT

The senate committee on military affairs has approved the house provision giving the President unlimited power to increase the size of the army as he sees fit.

The senate committee reported the largest army appropriation bill in the nation's history - carrying $12,089,785,052.11.

THIS DATE IN THE GREAT WAR

A YEAR AGO - French troops made slight gains south of Leon. There was heavy artillery fighting north of Ypres.

TWO YEARS AGO - Heavy fighting continued around Verdun. Italian ships claimed the occupation of the Bukovina nearly completed.

THREE YEARS AGO - The Germans continued their thrust toward Lille but were repulsed in the Champagne. The allies made gains in the Argonne.

Austro-Germans crossed the Douaie.

Italians repulsed the Austrians on the Isonzo.

These eloquent little figures will doubtless be copied by Berlin and Vienna papers - at their own risk.

THE WAR TODAY

By J. W. T. MASON (United Press War Report)

NEW YORK, June 25. - Italy has wrested the offensive from the Austro-Hungarians. How far the initiative can be pressed depends on the condition of the heavily flooded Piave river.

Whether the present offensive of the Italians reaches this magnitude, the retreat of the Austro-Hungarians from their newly won positions must certainly contribute to the spirit of revolt up the present drive against the venturesome initiation of Hindenburg's ruthlessness.

People Lack Accord

Austria-Hungary has not the millennial spirit of her arrogant northern neighbor. There is good reason to believe the population of the dual monarchy did not approve of the drive against Italy from the start.

How Kansas Did It

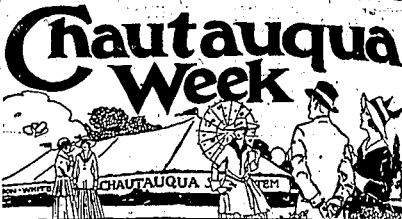

The latter part of May, Kansas began to put into effect on a wholesale basis the program which for many months the United States department of agriculture had been urging in every community - that town men go to work in agricultural territory adjacent to them during emergency farm-hands.

Height of European Countries. According to geographers, the average height above the sea of the different countries of Europe is as follows, stated in feet: Holland, 150; Belgium, 335; Russia, 500; Germany, 607; Great Britain, 712; Roumania, 922; Denmark (including Iceland), 1,133; France, 1,200; Scandinavia (Norway and Sweden), 1,404; Italy, 1,604; Austria, 1,806; Balkan peninsula, 1,900; Spain and Portugal, 2,208; Switzerland, 4,263. From this it would appear that the largest, Russia, is the third lowest, and that the third smallest, Switzerland, is the highest.

CLOUDBURST SWEEPS OVER ARID SECTION

TORRENTS DO EXTENSIVE DAMAGE TO CROPS FROM ROCK CREEK TO ARTESIAN

(Special to The News)
ROCK CREEK.—The eastern part of Twin Falls county was visited by cloudbursts Friday and Saturday, which did an immense amount of damage in dry farm sections. Ditches were washed out and mud deposited on the growing crops such as wheat, corn and alfalfa. The flood was confined to the east side of Rock Creek and extended to Artesian City, where the damage was even greater than here. Hay which was cut during the first part of the week is almost ruined as rains have fallen here every afternoon for nearly a week.

Improves Opportunity

ARTESIAN CITY.—A cloudburst during the week has given the city a chance to leave the foothills Saturday evening, did extensive damage to irrigation ditches in this section, filling them with rock and silt, and in some places completely obliterating them. Much damage also was done to the pumping plant of the Strong ditch. Water poured across the flat in sheets. Damage was done to growing crops deep. The water flowed several feet deep. Thomas Butler and H. R. Pettibon, dry land farmers, got out with shovels and irrigated their entire ranches.

East of here, in the vicinity of Churchill, damage to crops resulted from heavy hail. Some of the loss was covered by insurance.

"OUTWITTING THE HUN"

Then I crawled under the barbed wire fence on my mouth and the feet side of Holland. I had no clear idea just where I was and I didn't care much. I was out of the power of the Germans and that was enough. I had walked perhaps a hundred yards, when I remembered the fact that I had crossed the barrier, and dangerous as I realized the undertaking to be, I determined to walk back and get it. This necessitated my going back onto Belgian soil again, but it seemed to me to leave the face there, and by crossing a little canal I figured I could get it easily enough.

When I came to the spot at which I had made my way under the barbed wire, I put my ear to the ground and listened for the sentry. I heard him coming and lay prone on the ground till he had passed. The fact that he might observe the hole in the ground or the ladder occurred to me as I lay there, and it seemed like an awful thing to finally march out of earshot. Then I went under the barbed wire again, retraced the face and once again made my way to Dutch territory.

It does not take long to describe the events just referred to, but the incidents themselves consumed several hours in all. To dig the hole must have taken me more than two hours and I had to stop frequently to hide while the sentry passed. Many times indeed, I thought I heard him coming and stopped my work and then discovered that it was only my imagination. I certainly suffered enough that night to earn my life-time. With a German guard on one side, death from destruction on the other, and starvation staring me in the face, my plight was anything but a comfortable one.

It was on the 19th of November, 1917, when I got through the wire. I had made my way from the train on September 9th. Altogether, therefore, just seventy-two days had elapsed since I escaped from the Hun. It is hard to say as old as Methuselah, I never perceived to be about three miles away every two days so crammed full of incident and heard and lucky escape.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Experiences in Holland.
But I was not quite out of the woods.

I now knew that I was in Holland, but just where I had no idea. I walked for about thirty minutes and came to a path leading to the right, and I had proceeded along it for a few hundred yards when I saw in front of me a fence exactly like the one I had crossed.

"This is funny," I said to myself. "I didn't know the Dutch had a fence-foot." I advanced to the fence and examined it closely, and judge of my astonishment when I saw beyond it a nine-foot fence apparently holding life wires exactly like the one which had nearly been the death of me!

I had made a little mistake in concluding what it all meant, for just then I heard a guard coming. He was walking so fast that I was sure it was a Dutch sentry, as the Huns walk much slower.

I was so bewildered, however, that I decided to take no chances, and as the road was fairly good I wandered down it and away from that mysterious fence. About half a mile down I found a little better path. Finding none, I retraced my steps and kept straight ahead, determined to reach that village at all costs, and to swear neither to the right or left until I got there.

One moment I would be in water up to my knees and the next I would sink in mud clear up to my waist. It paid no attention to my condition. It was merely a repetition of what I had gone through many times before, but this time I had a definite goal and once I reached it I knew my troubles would be over.

It took me perhaps three hours to reach firm ground. The path I struck led to within half a mile of the village. I shall never forget that path; it was almost as welcome to my feet as the opposite bank of the Meuse had seemed.

The first habitation I came to was a little workshop with a brick chimney, shining outside. It must have been after midnight, but the people inside were apparently just quitting work. There were three men and two boys engaged in making wooden shoes.

It wasn't necessary for me to explain to them that I was a refugee, even if I had been able to speak their language. I was caked with mud up to my shoulders and I suppose my face must have appeared before them like a perfect stranger. I had gone through that memorable night.

"I want the British consul!" I told them. Apparently they didn't understand, but one of them volunteered to conduct me to the village. They seemed to be only too anxious to do all they could for me; evidently they realized I was a British soldier.

It was very late when my companion finally escorted me into the village, but he aroused some people he drew from their beds and they dressed and came down to feed me.

The family consisted of an old lady and her husband and a son, who was a soldier in the Dutch army. The old soldier was down on my back while the rest of the family looked on and again I caught a glimpse of his gray uniform and it reminded very much that of the German soldiers.

Some of the neighbors, aroused by the commotion, got up to see what it was all about, and came in and watched while I ate the meal those good Dutch people prepared for me. Ordinarily I suppose I would have been embarrassed so with many people staring at me as I ate, as though I were some strange animal that has just been captured, but just then I was too famished to notice or care very much what other people did.

There will always be a warm place in my heart for the Dutch people. I had heard hard-words of persons saying that they were not inclined to help refugees. In my experience did not bear these reports out. They certainly did more for me than I ever expected.

I had a little money on my belt, but as the value of German money is only about half in Holland, I didn't have enough to pay the fare to Rotterdam, which was my next objective. It was due to the generosity of these people that I was able to get to the British consul as quickly as I did. Some day I hope to return to Holland and repay every single soul who played the part of the good Samaritan to me.

With the money that these people gave me I was able to get a first-class ticket to Rotterdam, and I was glad that I didn't have to travel first class, for I would have looked as such a out of place in a first-class carriage as a fine one would appear in heaven.

That night I slept in the home of my Dutch friends, where they fed me up most comfortably. In the morning they gave me breakfast and then escorted me to the station.

It was I was waiting at the station a crowd gathered round me and soon it became as if the whole town had turned out to get a look at me. It was very embarrassing, particularly as I could give them no information regarding the cause of my condition, although, of course, they all knew that I was a refugee from Belgium.

As the train pulled out of the station, the crowd gave a loud cheer and the tears almost came to my eyes as I contrasted in my mind the conduct of the crowd and the one that had gathered at the station in Ghent when I had departed a prisoner en route for the reprisal camp. I breathed a sigh of relief as I thought of that reprisal camp and how fortunate I had really been, despite all my sufferings, to have escaped it. Now, at any rate, I was a free man and I would soon be sending home the joyful news that I had made good my escape!

At Eindhoven two Dutch officers got into the compartment with me. They looked at me with very much disfavor, not knowing, of course, that I was a British officer. My clothes were still pretty much in the condition they were when I crossed the border, although I had been able to acquire a few of the mud I had collected the night before. I had not shaved nor trimmed my beard for many days, and I must have presented a sorry appearance. I could hardly blame them for giving away from me.

The trip from Eindhoven to Rotterdam passed without special incident. At various stations passengers would get in the compartment and, observing my unusual appearance, would endeavor to start a conversation with me. None of them spoke English, however, and they had to use their own imagination as to my identity.

When I arrived at Rotterdam I asked a policeman who stood in front of the station where I could find the British consul, but I could not make him understand. I next applied to a taxicab driver.

"English consul—British consul—American consul—French consul?" I said, hoping that if he didn't understand one he might recognize another.

He eyed me with suspicion and motioned me to get in and drove off. I had no idea where he was taking me, but after a quarter of an hour's ride he brought up in front of the British consul. Never before was I so glad to see the Union Jack!

My knock on the chauffer to go with me to the office, as I had no money, with which to pay him, and when he got to the consulate I told them that if they would pay the taxi fare I would tell them who my money had happened to be there.

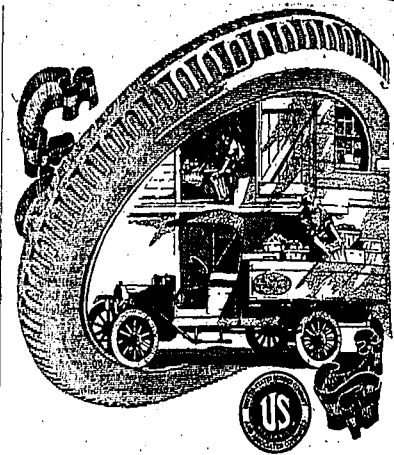

They knew at once that I was an escaped prisoner and they readily paid the chauffeur and invited me to give some account of myself.

They treated me most cordially and were intensely interested in the brief account I gave them of my adventures. Word was sent to the colonial general and he immediately sent for me. When I went in he shook hands with me, greeting me very heartily and offering me a chair.

SAYS ARMY WILL BE RAISED TO 5,000,000 MEN. LIEUTENANT G. W. HALL, RECRUITING OFFICER, PREDICTS ENACTMENT OF AMENDMENT TO LAW...

The closing of all United States army recruiting stations is forecasted in an official communication received by the local station from Lieutenant G. W. Hall, in charge of the Utah-Idaho recruiting district, in which he announces as foregone conclusion the enactment of the proposed law...

For Work at Best Lieutenant Hall has been expediting this decision for some time as, according to statistics compiled in connection with the enlistment of men outside of the draft ages now in force, 21 to 31, an insufficient number of men have volunteered their services to handle the work behind the lines. It is commended upon the subject yesterday, Lieutenant Hall stated: "It takes 40 men behind the lines to keep up 100 men in the fighting zone...

PIANO TUNING—America Fills the Need. For years it has been the custom for American manufacturers to obtain their season a large number of Paris garments and readapt them to the needs of American women. Paris has always taken the lead in suggesting possible styles. But the war has brought American designers to the fore, although it has by no means ceased to discourage Paris artists. Now many garments wholly American are being shown, and the fact has been clearly proved this country need never in future play second fiddle. The fact that fabrics and trimmings are conserved and that wool, especially, must be conserved has probably worked to the advantage of American designers and would-be designers. For simplicity has been the rule.

Infectious Camouflage. Pearl White, the movie star, said at a tea: "If a girl is nice, you can call her fat. If she isn't nice, no matter what camouflage she uses, you can tell it still more easily."

"I met an actress the other day who claimed to be very wise indeed—Vassar education, pianist's daughter, unfortunate speculation, and all that sort of thing. 'Well, this girl and I got into a taxicab to hurry to a rehearsal, and as she settled back in her seat she absent-mindedly said: 'When you ride in a taxi, dear, it's a good wrinkle to breathe on the windows if you don't want to be seen.'"

Sentiment Uttered by Many. The origin of the expression "In union there is strength" is not known, but the sentiment in various forms has been current a very long time. A Latin author of ancient times said: "In union the smallest states thrive, by discord the greatest are destroyed." The American author of "The Flag of Our Union" said: "United we stand, divided we fall."
