GENERAL MARCH SAYS AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN FRANCE NUMBER 1,100,000--ANNOUNCES A PLAN OF NEW ORGANIZATION

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Three corps of over 250,000 men in 250,000 in each have been organized in France, Chief-Staff March revealed today.

United States troops in France now number 1,100,000. General March told the Senate military committees of these, 331,000 are in the fighting line and the other, General March said, have reached a stage of training which would make them available in an extreme emergency.

More than 200 American airplanes have been shipped to France up to July fifth, March said.

The first army corps is composed of two regular divisions and four national guard divisions as follows:

First division regulars, under Major General Bullard.

Second division regulars, including units under Major General Hancock.

Twenty-sixth (New England) division, the first division sent to France, many of whose members saw Mexican border service, under Major General Biddle.

Forty-second (Ireland) division, under Major General Hunter Liggett, now temporary corps commander.

Thirty-second (Michigan and Wisconsin) division, under Major General George Hagan, commanding.

Second Corps.

The second corps consists of two national army, one regular, and three national guard divisions, as follows:

Seventy-seventh national army, the New York division, first national army outfit sent to France, under Major General George H. Biddle, commanding. Originally trained by Major General Franklin Bell.

Thirty-fifth national guard division, Missouri troops, trained at Camp Doniphan, Major General Wright, commanding.

Eighty-second national army division, Alabama, Tennessee and Virginia troops, trained at Camp Hancock, Major General Burham, commanding.

Thirtieth national guard division, troops from District of Columbia, South Carolina and Tennessee, trained at Camp Sevier, Major General Reed, commanding.

Twenty-eighth national guard Pennsylvania troops, trained at Camp Hancock, commander's name omitted.

Fourth regular, Camp Greene, Major General Muir, commanding.

Third Corps.

The third corps consists of two regular divisions, two national army divisions and two national guard divisions, as follows:

Third division regulars, Camp Greene, Major General Dickman, commanding.

Fifth regular army division assembled from army posts, Major General John F. McHugh, commanding.

Seventy-eighth national army division, third to go to France, consisting of troops from Delaware and part of New York, Camp Dix, Major General Muir, commanding.

Eighteenth national army division, Maryland and Virginia troops, trained at Camp Lee, Major General Donkito, commanding.

Forty-third national guard division, Illinois troops, trained at Camp Logan, Major General George Bell, commanding.

Twenty-seventh national guard division, Texas troops, Camp W. Worth, Major General O'Bryan, commanding.

CALL COMES THAT MAY DEplete CLASS 1

GOVERNOR INSTRUCTED TO PROVIDE TWO THOUSAND MEN AUGUST 5 FOR TRAINING AT CAMP FREMONT, CALIFORNIA--CLASS 1 SUPPLY LOW

BOISE, Idaho, July 13.—Governor Alexander today received a call from the provost marshal general for two thousand troops from Idaho to train during the five day period beginning August 5 for Camp Fremont, Cal. The call was transmitted to the adjutant general to work out the quotas for the districts. This call will exhaust the class one men of the 1917 registration and make big inroads into the 1918 class of 21-year-olds.

HE MAY EXHAUST CLASS ONE IN TWIN FALLS COUNTY

The Camp Fremont call, according to the best estimates this afternoon, take over fifty per cent of the available men remaining in class one in this county, including the twenty-one-year-old registrants, and may come close to entirely depleting that class. It is estimated that the call will probably take over one hundred men from Twin Falls county on the July 26 call.

On account of the numerous requests for deferred calling by reason of application for farm furthongs, the local board has summoned 110 men to fill the required quota of 60. Assuming that 41 men from furthongs are granted, just 19 men are left in Class 1. Eighteen men have, however, been rejected from the last quota of physical examinations at Camp Lewis and must be called.

FRENCH TAKE OFFENSIVE ITALIANS SLACKEN PACE

ASKS CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE USE OF GERMAN MONEY IN AMERICA WILL BE TAKEN UP

WASHINGTON, July 13.—First steps in what may ultimately become a searching inquiry into the present use of German money in the United States were taken today by a Senate sub-committee. At the request of Senator King, of the Senate Judiciary committee, to whom his bill for appropriation of the foreign language press was referred, met to determine whether or to recommend passage of the bill or to institute an investigation.

King favors going into the whole matter including the case of the New York Evening Mail. The committee may decide to call Dr. Edward A. Hobbey, of the Mail, under charges of perjury.

It may be wired King, offering to give the committee all the evidence he can, and waiving immunity.

King, who has long pressed steps to silence the mass of disseminating diabolical and seditious matter," said King.

STIRRING CONTROVERSY BREAKS OUT IN SENATE--RED CROSS OFFICIAL CRITICIZED--BOEHR PAYS TRIBUTE TO FAST PERFORMANCE

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A spirited controversy over the administration's Russian policy broke out today in the Senate. Senator Poindexter, of Washington, declared the administration would make a serious mistake if it diverted manpower and reserves to be used by the Bolshevik government.

"For," said Poindexter, "neither man nor material sent to the Bolshevik will ever be used against Germany."

Poindexter sharply criticized Raymond Robins, who recently returned from Red Cross work in Russia.

Bores Lenine and Trotsky

Robins and his associates, Poindexter charged, would have the United States lure its back on principles of fair dealing with our allies and would have us send men and supplies to the traitors, Lenine and Trotsky and their followers, who are ten times worse than Benedict Arnold.

"I am sorry to see that the administration seems to be impressed with the view of Mr. Robins and his associates."

Senator Borah Speaks

The Russian discussion was opened by Senator Borah, who compared Russia's effort to liberate herself to the French revolution, the beginning of which he commemorated tomorrow. After paying tribute to the French, Borah said:

"Russia is entitled to the sympathy—the confidence of the free nations of the earth and especially with the United States, the sympathy of the United States."

"Do patient with that great country. Back of the story of military disaster and assassination, a great people is fighting to be free."

"We should go at once to Russia's aid; we have done so, and we cannot accomplish the supreme task of the war."

"There is an incident; Lenine will amount to nothing in the final adjustment. The allies seem to have acted on the theory that Russia, after the overthrow of the czar, could not work over her political machine."

Russian People Loyal

"If we think the mass of Russian people are not loyal and have not believed their part in this war, we prove our memories short. Had Russia not held the eastern front when the battle of the Marne was being fought in 1914, the history of civilization might all have been different."

LONDON, July 13.—French forces in Albania are now driving northward with apparently the same speed that characterized the Italian advance in the first days of the offensive. Latest reports from the battle-front indicate that the Italians have slackened their progress to permit the French, on their right, to bring their lines forward and maintain a practically straight front from Lake Okerida to the Adriatic.

The Italians, except on their right flank, were aided in their advance by the comparatively level terrain bordering the sea, while the French have been forced to move forward over an extremely difficult, mountainous country.

It is immediately apparent, from a study of the defensive possibilities of this sector, is shown by their resistance on the heights dominating the confluence of the Drovit and Tomor mountains.

Bohrer checked the French center. On both sides of these heights the French continue to progress.

Bulgarians Anxious

In Macedonia the Bulgarians are becoming increasingly restless, following up their latest bombardment of several sectors by an attack on the Serbian positions near Varnina. Although they gained a temporary success, they were immediately repulsed.

Unofficial advisers place the number of allied troops at close to a million, including Italians, French, British, Serbians and Greeks. There are 700,000 men in the line, of which the front of nearly 200 miles from the Adriatic to the mouth of the Struma river, but there are yet no indications that a general allied offensive is contemplated.

ITALIANS MEET LITTLE RESISTANCE IN ADVANCE

ROME, July 13.—The Albanian advance was continuing rapidly, a special official statement declared today.

"The enemy is making only sporadic rear guard resistance. He has absolutely failed to destroy abundant war material, which have been captured by our forces."

"The population of Berat held out our troops as liberators."

VON HINDEBURG EXPLAINS DELAY

AMSTERDAM, July 13.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, according to the Cologne Gazette, was still allowing to General von Roeb, president of the Nuremberg Fatherlanders:

"Things are going well. The armchair strategists must allow a breath of air to the troops. The war just battles last night's drama."

FOOD SURVEY REPORT COMING

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Food Administrator Hoover has completed an important international survey of food conditions.

President Wilson has approved the report and it will be made public tonight.

As recently stated by food officials, the allied food situation today is better than at any time since the outbreak of the war. Just where saving must be effected for future safety has been carefully analyzed and will be shown in the report.

FOUR LOSE LIVES IN STEAMER FIRE

NEW YORK, July 13.—Four men are believed to have been killed and seven others injured have been taken to hospitals here as the result of a fire and explosions which wrecked the Spanish steamer Berantia in New York harbor last afternoon. The loss is estimated at $3,000,000.

The ship, laden with petroleum, was assigned to the Spanish government, was lying off the island when fire broke out. Her crew of 25 were kept overboard when the decks became hot. An explosion followed quickly, ripping open the superstructure and permitting the flames to spread. A second explosion finished the work.

United States patrol boats, tugs and fireboats picked up the men who were swimming about the wreckage, and seven were injured so badly they were removed to hospitals. The sea declared four of the crew had been lost.

BRITISH AND AMERICANS TAKE PRISONERS AND GUNS

LONDON, July 13.—A successful minor operation by English and Australian troops between Vieux-Berquin and Marais, on the Flanders front, resulted in the capture of 90 prisoners and a few machine guns, Field Marshal Haig reported today. The British casualties were light.

HUN TRENCH RAID COMPLETE FAILURE

WASHINGTON, July 13.—In the Champagne-Thierry region a trench raid attempted by the enemy Friday broke down with losses under our fire. An official press report reported today.

"Yesterday (Thursday) our aviators shot down a hostile machine in the region of Thierscourt."

SAYS POLITICS AT CAPITAL QUIET

LEAGUE KEEPS OLD PARTY GUESSING, SAYS M. J. SWEELLY

That the Non-Partisan league has injected into politics at the state capital an element of uncertainty which is keeping potential candidates in the background, is the statement of former senator M. J. Sweelly upon his return Friday from Boise where he spent several days on business in the federal district court.

"There is absolutely no political activity in Boise, either in the Republican or Democratic parties," Mr. Sweelly said. "The Non-Partisan league has everyone guessing. Republicans appreciate that many of their members are members of the league, and are speculating on the possibility of the switch of these voters to the Democratic party in compliance with the recommendations of the league heads, which a good many Democrats apparently are not disposed to extend a cordial reception to these recruits to their ranks."

VACATION PLAN LOOMS LARGE IN CONGRESS

PRESENT PROGRAM PROVIDES FOR SERIES OF THREE-DAY RECESSSES UNTIL LATE IN AUGUST

By U. O. MARTIN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Senate went to work on the wire control bill today, determined to dispose of it by night—and then go home.

"If the measure is passed and the house is to proceed to a joint resolution may send congress off on its vacation tonight until late in August—probably a series of three-day recesses."

Falling in this, it is the plan of the house and some believe to recess separately under a "gentleman's agreement" that so business shall be transacted until August 26, in the senate at least.

But even this plan is contingent upon agreement between senate vote and days. Vets want to make prohibition the finished business, agreeing to keep the recess until disposed of. They are set on fixing a definite date for a vote on it.

CLUMSY EFFORT TOWARD PEACE IS COMMENCED

VON HERTLING WOULD HAVE GERMAN PEOPLE BELIEVE UNITED STATES DESIRES THEIR COMPLETE EXTERMINATION

By J. W. T. MASON

(United Press Wire)

NEW YORK, July 13.—Germany's anticipated peace offensive has been clumsily begun by Chancellor von Hertling. His purpose is to throw the initiative for making detailed offers for ending the war upon the allies, hoping to bury the principal allied demand that German militarism be crushed before a peace treaty can be signed.

Von Hertling interprets America's resolve that the German militarists be made impotent as meaning America is determined upon the destruction of Germany. This is a characteristic deceptive effort of German statesmanship. Von Hertling is seeking to fool the German people into consenting to further blood sacrifices for the Hohenzollern monarchism.

The last hope of the Kaiser to continue the destruction of German monarchism is that his subjects will fail to differentiate between the overthrow of Germany's war lords and the overthrow of Germany as a sovereign state. Von Hertling has now been set to work to confuse the Germans over this issue.

NORTH RUSSIA BATTLE FRONT. A PROBABILITY

BRITISH SENDING FORCES TO MURMAN WHICH HAS DECLARED FOR ALLIES MUST FIGHT FINNS AND HUNGS

LONDON, July 13.—The British government is sending considerable forces into the Murman region in Russia, as the result of an appeal from the Murman local governments, it was learned from an authoritative source today.

Comparatively small forces of British, French and American were reported to have been sent, carrying a huge amount of valuable supplies on the Murman coast, originally intended for the Russian armies.

Propose to Drive Out British

Germany recently announced her intention of "driving the English from the north of Russia." Finland covets the Murman region. For some time the Finns and Germans have been preparing for a joint campaign against that district.

Essentially the population of the Murman region declared their independence from Russia and aligned themselves with the allies. The Bolshevik government then threatened also to proceed against the Murman region.

Increase Forces

Thus facing the possibility of having to fight the Germans, Finns and Bolsheviks, the British evidently are greatly strengthening their forces in north Russia.

HUNS CLAIM SIX YANKEE AIRMEN

Say Last of the Captured Squadron Has Been Taken

By FRANK J. TAYLOR (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, July 13.—Exhaustion of their gasoline supply and heavy winds are believed to have forced the American bombing planes to land in Germany after a raid Wednesday to land on German territory.

An official statement issued by the German press today Thursday said that five of six American planes that tried to raid Coblenz were "brought down." Another statement, issued last night, said that the sixth machine was also captured.

BAD WEATHER MAKES AIR WORK INEFFECTIVE

Five Germans Sighted in Two Days with Loss of Three British Machines

LONDON, July 13.—Bad weather conditions interfered with aerial activity July 11 and 12 and only five German airplanes were accounted for by the British on those days the German ministry announced today. Three British machines were lost. More than nine tons of bombs were dropped.

During the night of July 11 and 12 our machines successfully bombed three enemy airbases, at two of which fires broke out. Many rounds were fired from machine guns at trains, searchlights and other military objects, the statement said.

CROWDER CALLS MORE MEN FOR TRAINING

War Department to Draft Three Hundred Thousand Men During August

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Woodrow Wilson's War Department today issued the first of the August draft calls, summoning 12,143 men for special technical education to start for schools between August 1 and 8.

Of the men called, 11,089 are white and 104 negroes. It is contemplated to call approximately 800,000 men during August.

MARINES ANT-EATER MASCOT WINS MARK AND HONOR

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY AT THE MARNE, July 14.—Jimmy, the U. S. Marines' Mexican ant-eater mascot, has been through the recent Marne drive on the Marne and is back in the front lines, where he is being used as a mascot.

When the "Devil Dogs" began the march toward the German lines, Jimmy fell right in line. All the coaxing, threatening and pleading that the pluck of the regiment could do was of no avail. Jimmy, however, was going into trouble—well, that was Jimmy.

While the hand-to-hand conflict raged between the Marines and the Huns, Jimmy was there, there everywhere, scurrying back and forth, his eyes pleading to be allowed to aid.

After the battle, the Marines, realizing that they would never be able to keep Jimmy on any more engagements, immediately fashioned a miniature gas mask and strapped him to the next time he goes forth into the fray.

MAJ. R. B. PADDOCK, nephew of General Pershing, has been recommended for the war cross. He discovered the wire cut by the enemy and repaired it, being wounded in the leg while doing so. He is a native of Wyoming.

TRUCK PULLS HEAVY STEEL ROAD DRAGS

City Street Commissioner Experiments With New Garford Truck

Testing out the proposition of using a motor truck for various forms of road work, Street Commissioner Piggerrin, this week arranged with Edw. S. Johnson of the Johnson Auto Sales company to place at his disposal one of the new Garford trucks that that company has shipped in.

The truck used was a three and one half ton machine and pulled the new road drags that the city has bought without difficulty. The new steel drags are heavier than those usually pulled by five and six tons, and are sufficiently wide to drag a narrow street with one operation. On the other streets a trip each way is sufficient to cover the entire street.

Heretofore one team drags have been used, requiring six drags to do the work, and necessitating employing six men. Besides this expense it has upon teams is practically impossible to hire teams just at the time they are needed for this purpose. The auto truck, if the city purchases one, will be used for other work in connection with the street and water works department.

Vice Chancellor MAKES Resignation Effective if Things Don't Suit Him

AMSTERDAM, July 13.—Confirmation was received here today that Vice Chancellor von Payer has filed his resignation, to be effective in the event that Admiral von Hintze, the new Foreign minister, attempts to follow the war aims and policies of the pan-Germans.

ALLIES IGNORE HUN'S LATEST PEACE OFFENSIVE

ARE UNITED IN PURPOSE TO DESTROY WORLD MENACE AND NOTHING LESS WILL END WAR

By CARL D. GROOT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 13.—German Chancellor Von Hertling's peace balloon is useless at this time, American authorities declared emphatically today. Whether or no he is serious in trying to draw a peace offer from the United States and the entente, his efforts are vain. The authorities declared that never were the nations fighting Taton autonomy firmer in their unity and in their determination to press on to victory.

Not to Be Sidetracked

Some did see the possibility that the Austrian and German internal situations may be growing worse, having an influence upon Hertling's remarks. But in that case it was argued that there is all the more reason now to press on to victory.

References to Russia were evidently intended as a sop to that nation, in line with the known German policy of getting control in that country, even at the sacrifice of holdings in the west. It was declared that Germany has more than one has preceded a military effort by a peace offensive.

TOO MUCH BAD FAITH ALREADY SHOWN IS OBSTACLE

LONDON, July 13.—London newspapers agreed today that the principal point in Chancellor Hertling's address in the Reichstag Thursday was his hope of an allied peace offer. They pointed out that this is impossible, following his renunciation of the Brest-Litovsk treaty.

"The allies will not sanction a treaty which is considered one of the most serious violations of public right Germany has committed," the News said. "We are impatiently grateful for any offer of Hertling's kind of peace," said the Chronicle.

The Express declared that "the allies' watchword is 'no compromise.'" With the first official announcement of British operations on the Murman coast Lord Northcliffe's Mail and Times editorially urged allied action in Siberia.

CHAPTER I.

In the American Navy.

My father was a seaman, so, naturally, all my life I heard a great deal about ships and the sea. Even when I was a little boy, in Walnut, Pa., I thought about them a whole lot and wanted to be a sailor—especially a sailor in the U. S. navy. You might say I was brought up on the water. When I was twelve years old I went to sea on a cabin boy on the whaler, Theristus, out of Boston. She was an old-squa-ri-legged sailing ship, built more for work than for speed. We were out four months on my first cruise, and got knocked around a good deal, especially in a storm on the Newfoundland Banks, where we lost our instruments, and had a hard time navigating the ship. Whaling crews work on shares and during the two years I was on the Theristus my shares amounted to fourteen hundred dollars. Then I shipped as first-class helmsman on the British tramp Southern-down, a twin-screw steamer out of Liverpool. Many people are surprised that a fourteen-year-old boy should be helmsman on an ocean-going craft, but all over the world you will see young lads doing their trick at the wheel. I was on the Southern-down two years and in that time visited most of the important ports of Europe. There is nothing like a tramp steamer if you want to see the world. The Southern-down was wrecked in the fall of 1917, sighted a German U-boat rigged up like a sailing ship. Although I liked visiting the foreign ports, I got tired of the Southern-down after a while and at the end of a voyage which landed me in New York I decided to get into the United States navy. After laying around for a week or two I enlisted and was assigned to duty as a second-class fireman.

People have said they thought I was pretty small to be a fireman; they have the idea that firemen must be big men. Well, I am 5 feet 7 1/2 inches in height, and when I was sixteen I was just as tall as I am now and weighed 108 pounds. I was a whole lot huskier than, too, for that was before my introduction to butter in German prisons came, and then there was the fatening—not exactly, if I do not know why it is, but if you will notice the navy fireman—the lads with the red stripes around their left shoulders—you will find that almost all of them are small men. But they are a husky lot.

Now, in the navy, they always have a newcomer until he shows that he can take care of himself, and I got into very soon after I went to Uncle Sam's service. I was washing my clothes in a bucket on the forecastle deck, and every girl (mate) who came along would give me one or the bucket a kick, and spill out the water of his course to come up to that just about knuckled at my feet. I did not exactly know what a marine was, and this fellow had so many stripes on his sleeves that I thought he must be some sort of officer, so I just stood by. There was a little fellow (commissioned officer) on the bridge and I know that if anything was wrong he would call in, so I kept looking up at him, but he hardly ever looked at me, and never spoke a word. And all the time the marine kept slapping me about and telling me to get the hell out of there. Finally I said to myself, "I'll get this guy if it's the big for a month, I endangered her. Without it, the German would have cornered her as a Frenchman. With it she was rescued and at last it was managed to get her to the border. She died about two months after she reached St. Nazaire.

Moreover, I heard the fate of my older brother, who had made his home in France with my grandmother. He had gone to the front at the outbreak of the war with the regiment from St. Nazaire and had been killed two or three weeks afterwards. This made it a sort of personal matter. But what put the finishing touches to me were the stories of my Canadian Lieutenant told me some months later in New York. He had been there and he knew. You could not help believing him; you can always tell where a man has been there and knows.

There was not much racket around New York, so I made up my mind all of a sudden to go over and not see my mother. Better late than never. I got out with a pocket, before I was through. Most of the really important things I have done have happened like that; I did them on the jump, you might say. Many other Americans wanted to go, too; there were five thousand Americans in the Canadian army at one time they say. I would not claim that I went over there at the moment of my enlistment, like that. I never did like German, and I never met a Frenchman who was not kind to me, and what I heard about the way the Hun's treated the British made me sick. I used to get out of bed to go to an all-night picture show, I thought about it so much. But there was not much excitement about New York, and I figured the U. S. would not get into it for a long time, anyway, so I just wanted to go over and see what it was like. That is why, lots of us went. I mean.

There were five of us who went to Boston to ship for the other side: Sam Murray, Myrtle Brown, Al Mitchell and myself. Murray was a carpenter—two bites (enlistments), gunnery rating, and about thirty-five years old. Brown was a Pennsylvania man about twenty years old. I used to have served two enlistments in the U. S. army and had quit with the rank of sergeant. Fijn and Mitchell were both ex-navy men. Mitchell was a not a boxer of the American Irish-American line, under American flag and registry, but captured by the French government. I signed on as water-tender—an engine room job—but the others were on deck.

We left Boston for St. Nazaire with a cargo of ammunition, built beef, etc., and made the first trip without anything of interest happening. As we were tying to the dock at St. Nazaire, I saw a German prisoner standing on a pile of lumber. I thought probably he would be hungry, so I went down into the officer's mess and got two slices of bread with a thick piece of butter. I went down and handed it to Fritz. He would not take it. At first I thought he was afraid, but by using several languages and signs he managed to make me understand that he was hungry—had too much to eat, in fact.

I used to think of this fellow occasionally when I was in a German prison camp, and a piece of moist bread the size of a safety-match box was the generous portion of food that I was forced on me, with two German hostilities, once every forty-eight hours. I would not exactly have refused a perfect sandwich, I am afraid. But then I was not a German soldier. I was only a common American guy. He was full of kylling and grub; I want the real trouble was, but I solved the problem by showing them my dispatch papers from the American Legion. When they were suspicious because they thought I was too young to have been a C. E. O. When they challenged me on this point, I said I would prove it to them by taking an examination.

I examined me very carefully in English, although I know enough French to get by on a subject like gunnery. But our officers are very proud of their knowledge of English—most of them can speak it—and this I thought one wanted to show off, you might say. Anyway, I passed my examination without any trouble, and was accepted for service in the Foreign Legion and needed my commission as gunner, dated Friday, January 1, 1918.

There is no use in my describing the Foreign Legion. It is one of the most regular fighting organizations in the world, and has made a wonderful record during the war. When I joined the Foreign Legion I numbered about 30,000 men. The front line before consisted of, the first and last, in the French coast, and at the same time the French more bread and a bottle of wine. The front was more like a stew—very. The front with meat and vegetables. At the front of the officers' barracks there was a cook who had been in the German camp in Paris before the war. All the prisoners were well clothed. Once a week, soap, underwear, soap, towels and blankets were issued to them and every week the barracks and equipment were cleaned. They were given the best of medical attention.

Besides all this, they were allowed to work at their trades. If they had a French or Belgian occupation, the retailers and painters were kept busy. and some of them picked up more change there than they ever did in Germany, they told me. The multi-class formed bands and played almost every night at restaurants and theaters in the town. Those who had no trade were allowed to work on the roads, parks, docks and at residences about the town. Talk about dear old jail! You could not have driven the average prisoner away from there with a 24-inch gun. I used to think about them in Brandenburg, when our boys were rushing the sentries in the hope of being bayoneted out of their misery. While our music was being unlearned I spent most of my time with my grandmother. I had heard still more about the cruelty of the Hun's, and made up my mind to get into the service. I was allowed to have already enlisted in the Foreign Legion. Brown was assigned to the Infantry and Murray to the French man-of-war Cassard. But when I spoke of my intention, my grandmother tried to talk me out of it. She said she would not allow me to go, that I was not old enough—that time, anyway—and made me return to my home in Boston then back to St. Nazaire we went.

CHAPTER II.

In the Foreign Legion.

The time I was determined to go, I said, "So when we landed at St. Nazaire, I drew my pay from the Virginians and, after spending a week with my grandmother, I went out and asked the first grandma I met where the enlistment station was. I had to argue with him some time before he would even direct me to the office. I would not pass over and this made him suspicious of me. The officer in charge of the station was a woman in his welcome than I expected, and this surprised me because Murray and Brown had no trouble at all in joining. The French, of course, often speak of the Foreign Legion as "the convent," because so many regimental areas were held by police of their respective countries, but a criminal record never had been a bar to service with the legion, and I did not see why it should be now. I had heard there were not a few Germans in the legion—later on I became acquainted with some—and believe me an Austrian foreign fighter harder than the Hun than those found in the German army did. It occurred to me then that if they thought I was a German, because I had no passport, I might have to prove I had been in trouble with the law, or that they would accept me. I do not know what the real trouble was, but I solved the problem by showing them my dispatch papers from the American Legion. When they were suspicious because they thought I was too young to have been a C. E. O. When they challenged me on this point, I said I would prove it to them by taking an examination.

HOT DRY WEATHER CUTS CROP PROSPECTS

IDAHO FIELD AGENT FOR BUREAU OF CROP ESTIMATES, PREDICTS WHEAT YIELD

The summary of Idaho crop conditions issued for the department of agriculture bureau of crop estimates, is as follows: Unusually hot dry weather in June was responsible for a decreased crop condition since the June 1 report. The state's total wheat production is estimated at 18,000,000 bushels. Only 1 bushel out of the wheat produced last year remains on farms July 1. The condition of oats, barley and rye forecasts a production of 10,000,000, 6,000,000 and 2,000,000 bushels, respectively. There has been a substantial increase over last year in the acreage of corn. Abnormally hot weather last month was favorable for rapid advancement of the crop.

Spud Acreage Blumped The potato acreage has slipped from 79,000 acres to 28,000 acres. The decrease would have been larger had many abandoned sugar beet fields been reseeded to potatoes. This was especially true in Bingham and Bonneville counties. Poor seed and unfavorable soil conditions have been caused generally poor stands. Many of the fields are very spotted. It is noted, however, that wherever whole tubers were used for seed, almost a perfect stand of healthy tubers was made.

Production of 2,883,000 tons of hay is indicated. Quality has been damaged somewhat by untimely rains. Coal weather in May retarded early growth of alfalfa and the first crop is not up to last year's. However, the second crop is coming on rapidly.

Figures on Frost Damage It was too early on June 1 to determine the full extent of frost damage to fruit, especially that caused by the freeze late in May. Estimates on the agricultural crop at this time are approximately 58 per cent, peaches 25 per cent, cherries 4 per cent. The Lewiston district had about an 85 per cent crop of cherries which has been harvested in full. Attention is called to the low condition of fruit in general reported for the United States. The stand of sugar beets was below average, due mainly to unfavorable weather conditions. More steady fields may have been saved, however, if generally average has been resseeded or abandoned. A good crop of wood has been secured. The average weight per fleece was reported at 7.9 pounds.

Gunner Depew.

After serving four years and three months in the U. S. navy, I received honorable discharge on April 18, 1914. I held the rating of chief petty officer, first-class gunner. It is not uncommon for gunners to be around a white between enlistments—they like a vacation as much as anyone, and so I was in the navy as a part for a few months before joining the navy again. After the war started, of course, I had heard more or less about the German atrocities in Belgium, and I was greatly interested. I was doubtful at first as to the truth of the reports, for I knew how shows goes changed in passing from mouth to mouth. I had seen a man in Belgium, I had been in Belgium. I was often visited by my grandmother in St. Nazaire, France, and knew the country. So with France at war, it was more interesting that I should be even more interested than many other gunners. As I have said, I did not take much stock in the first reports of the Hun's exhibition of Kultur, because I never knew of a clean soldier, and I figured that no real sailor would ever get mixed up in such dirty work as they said there was in Belgium. I figured the soldiers were like the sailors. But I found that it was wrong even. One thing that opened my eyes a bit was the trouble my mother had in getting out of Hanover, where she was when the war started, and back to France. She always was a kind American and this both served and

Patricia's Patriotism

By OSBORN JAMES

When Miss Lohbelle Perry made up her mind that it was a higher duty for her to give service as home guard...

"I know it will be hard for you," she said, "but you must remember that in letting me go you are doing just as much of a patriotic act as I am in going. Dinah will be here, of course, and you know she never in our country comes to me back to get dinner. You poor lamb," added the sister, standing behind her brother as he sat in his favorite chair in his living room...

It was the day after his guests had gone and he was hurrying to his commutator's train, through the back-cut, when he beheld Mrs. Keen standing in the middle of the sidewalk and shielding herself behind a lilac bush...

Before another week had passed Perry was frankly alone. His engaged friend could not spend another week at home, and he was visiting his fiancée and her mother in the city...

The first stag party was a glorious success as far as the refreshments went. There was juicy roast pork for Saturday dinner, with some of Dinah's light, white rolls and a cream pie, and for Sunday there was an enormous ham such as only Dinah knew how to cook...

"Some of your poor folk" make-believe men—all slipped together out of nuts and beans and things," commented Dinah to herself, as she surveyed the lunch with satisfaction. "I had intended the menu that had been permitted to plan were to her what a gentleman's menu ought to be. And Mrs. Taylor and her guests entirely agree with me. However, as the party gets sometimes happens, the two guests were not so entirely content to be in a bachelor paradise as he had thought they would be. One of them had become unexpectedly engaged and hence his mind seemed to wander and his heart was absent at times, and the other guest had recently gone in for dancing and actually asked for a partner who could not be found...

It's delicious," she said, cautiously, "but I feel when I eat it, it's like flour in my mouth. It's Monday, and Monday is what you said. I didn't know...

When we've had cake like this. We don't get all-weather deserts ever. Mr. Perry, I'm surprised that you can afford to make cream—this is so good, I'm sure," she said, tasting of the cream cake. "Ever in your life, I'm surprised that you use it, knowing how active Lohbelle was in food conservation."

A gloom spread over the party with these words, and although Mrs. Egan did manage to eat all of the refreshments, and apparently with relish, she said she did so because it was just as well to waste them as it was to violate the law or the other restrictions of the food administration, and then, turning to one of the guests: "Mr. Blank, don't you think that the clean plate idea is splendid?"

"I know it will be hard for you," she said, "but you must remember that in letting me go you are doing just as much of a patriotic act as I am in going. FINDS SHEPHERDER'S JOB TOO STRENUOUS

ILLINOISIAN SEEMS RELIEF IN CUPS AT NEVADA ROAD HOUSE DENIES POSSESSION CHARGE

The duties of a shepherd on a habit creek proved so arduous to William Robinson of Alton, Illinois, that when released from this employment Saturday he repaired at once to a Nevada roadhouse and drank "a awful lot," he told Probable Judge O. P. Turner before whom he was held Friday afternoon to answer to a charge of illegal possession of liquor. Robinson denied the accusation. "Whatever there may have happened I know that I didn't bring back any beer because I left the saloon with just 10 cents in my pocket," he told the court. Judge Duval set Saturday morning as the time for Robinson's preliminary examination.

Walked for Health

Robinson told the court that he was walking across country from his home in Illinois when he met with Owen Young, by whom he was employed as a shepherd. He was getting away, he said, from a wet state, because he knew his limitations and was walking for his health. Soon after accepting employment with Young, a shepherd or quill and Young asked Robinson to fill the place. Robinson said that he had considered the job and consented to do it with his capabilities, but that after five weeks at it he was "crazy from overwork." He stated that his employer went with him to the Nevada roadhouse, and that they consumed much whiskey together.

Robinson was arrested as he was returning from Nevada Thursday evening, by Sheriff Frank M. Kendall who states that the one pint bottle of whiskey was found in his possession.

RED CROSS SHOP CLEARING HOUSE FOR DONATIONS

INSTITUTION IS CONDUCTED UNDER AUSPICES OF COUNTY CHAPTER FOR ALL WORKERS

It is not necessary to wait for an occasional Red Cross auction to contribute saleable articles to the cause of the Red Cross, says Mrs. Kennedy Parker, who has been placed in charge of the Red Cross shop here by the Twin Falls county chapter, in an appeal for more liberal donations. The Red Cross shop in the building formerly occupied by the Polarization of Rural Women's club rest room on Second street north between Main and Second avenues, is open every day in the week and sale, no matter of how great and unusual, is acceptable here as a donation to the cause of mercy, Mrs. Parker says.

The local Red Cross shop is not alone a Twin Falls institution. It is a clearing house conducted under the auspices of the county chapter, for the conversion into cash of any article that may be given for the Red Cross, and Red Cross workers of the entire county are solicited to lend to it their support.

Saturday Food Day. Saturday is the day featured by the Red Cross shop for the sale of donations of cooked food, and it is hoped that a large clientele may be developed among Twin Falls people who know and appreciate the convenience of prepared foods, and who may be encouraged to depend upon making their selections from a plentiful store on this day.

On Vacation Trip—A. H. Vincent, of the Vincent Furniture company, and Mrs. Vincent left Friday evening on a vacation trip, motoring through Mount Pelier to Deer Lake, where they will spend a week or ten days camping.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Young on Sunday, July 7, a son.

To Mr. and Mrs. James N. Nelson, on Monday, July 8, a daughter.

To Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Griffith, on Monday, July 8, a son.

Saint Anastasia. Anastasia, who is popular in France, as a saint, is commemorated on April 26. She was the daughter of a pagan senator and a Christian mother. She was exiled under Maximian for having refused to sacrifice to the heathen gods. Her feast day is June 26.

Two More Accepted—Report of medical officers at Camp Lewis under date of July 7 states that the following board is that Owen H. Moyer of Rupert, and Winfield Scott Deuce of Virginia City, Montana, two of the contingent of registrants called for in Twin Falls county June 28, have been accepted for general military service.

Trivittick, and Mr. Trivittick of Telluride, Colorado. They will be met Sunday at Wells, Nevada, by Mr. Diamond, to complete the remainder of the trip overseas.

Promotions for Recruiters—Charles C. Metcalf of the local United States army recruiting station, has been advanced from the grade of corporal to that of sergeant, according to orders received here Friday. Promotion to the grade of corporal has been accorded to Charles E. Hales, formerly a first class private in the recruiting service here. Corporal Hales will be transferred from the Postville station in the station at Provo, Utah.

Certifies List of Deserters—The local board has reported as deserters to the adjutant general the names of the following six men who failed to report for examination: James G. Hales, contingent of 125 men going to Camp Lewis June 28 under selective service call Arthur Krogstad, Baker, Oregon; Shirley Edward Scott, Steamboat Springs, Colorado; James Collier, Twin Falls; Joseph Bustina, Rogers; Benjamin Slatter, Filer.

On Alert for Cholera—Reports of a recent case of hog cholera appearing in the Twin Falls district after a several months period of freedom locally from the malady, have aroused swine growers of the district generally to the danger of public spread of the disease, and inspectors of the local station, bureau of animal industry, have been called frequently within the past few days to investigate cases in which cholera was suspected, says Dr. W. A. Sullivan, inspector in charge.

Scouts Plan Outing—Between 75 and 80 Twin Falls Boy Scouts under the leadership of Scoutmaster V. H. Decker and C. E. Musson are planning an eight days outing in the vicinity of Ketchum on the upper Wood river. They expect to leave here on the excursion on the morning of Sunday, July 28. Several owners of automobiles have volunteered to drive the Scouts to their camping grounds on that day, but more are needed, and additional volunteers among the local motorists will be welcomed by the members.

WANTED MEN TO PUT UP HAY

1000 men wanted at Dillon and Divide, Beaverhead County, Montana, to put up hay in the celebrated Big Hole Basin, the greatest wild hay region on earth. The hay is medium length, and is easily handled. The climate is unexcelled; good water, and the best board on earth. The highest scale of wages ever known.

SAYS SUICIDE THREAT WAS MERELY A JOKE

JAMES T. WHITEAKER TELLS MAGISTRATE ABOUT PRANK WHICH RESULTED IN INJURY

Sentence of imprisonment for 30 days in the county jail on a charge of disturbing the peace was pronounced Friday by Police Judge W. J. Smith upon James T. Whiteaker, 241 Second avenue south, proprietor of the Home Dining Room, who was arrested Wednesday evening by Chief of Police William Taylor, after his alleged threat to commit suicide by drinking carbolic acid had been defeated by his wife, Mrs. Whiteaker's arms and hands were burned by the acid when the cork he came loosed in the struggle for possession of the bottle.

Acid Was For Vermin. Whiteaker told the magistrate that attempt at suicide had no place in his thoughts; but that he had told a third person who had imparted the information to his wife that he was going to drink the carbolic acid which he had secured to eradicate vermin from his chicken coop. He said that he had made the statement as a joke.

Mr. Whiteaker on the day following her husband's arrest stated that there had been trouble between them and that she believed he was subject to fits of temporary insanity.

The Whiteakers came to Twin Falls three months ago from Little Rock, Arkansas. They have several children.

Whale as Food. In the fifteenth century the whale was frequently brought into regulation for astronomical purposes. It was found on the English royal table as well as on that of the lord mayor of London. The cork either roasted it and served it up on the spit, or boiled it and sent it in with year; the tongue and the tail were favorite parts.

MILNER COMPANY MAY QUIT PLANS FOR RECLAMATION

BUILDING OF HANSEN SYSTEM BY OTHER WELL KNOWN INTERESTS INDICATED

Possibility of the withdrawal of the Milner Canal company leaving the field open to other interests on the main appropriation, 5,000 acres of land in what is known as the Hansen butte district lying above the main canal between Hansen and Murtagh is indicated in the statement today of D. B. Moorman, secretary of the Milner company.

Voigt is Interested
That the S. B. Milner and Walter G. Filser estates, represented in this matter by Fred A. Voigt, a former manager of the Twin Falls Canal company, are interested in the project, and if satisfactory terms can be agreed upon, they will undertake the enterprise, are features revealed in Mr. Moorman's statement. Milner and Filser were prominent as promoters of the Twin Falls and Vetter company, which built the irrigation system that has made possible the development of the Twin Falls country.

Mr. Voigt, prior to the organization of the Milner Canal company, expressed favorable impression in respect to the feasibility of the Hansen butte reclamation project, and has heretofore stated his willingness to take an active part in the enterprise. He is now, through a free hand, Mr. Voigt, whose present home is in Long Beach, California, has been in Twin Falls several days past, and it is known that he has been the principal in question since consideration since his return here.

Confident of Success
"I am so thoroughly convinced of a successful conclusion to our negotiations with the Milner and Filser interests that I have asked J. B. Perdue, of the Milner Canal company, in Chicago, where they have been since the first of the week in the interests of the Milner Canal company, to take part in the negotiations, although they are not the principal in the financial support to the project of the Milner Canal company, but a well known firm of irrigation projectors in Chicago," Mr. Moorman said today.

Mr. Perdue, "the father of the Twin Falls country," is president of the Milner Canal company, and Mr. Palmer is the legal representative of the Daniel Hayes company of Rockford, Illinois, the fiscal agent.

Representing Securities
"I am confident of the success of our interests in the project to other parts we have been for some time representing ourselves of notes given by and owners of the project in payment for water rights under our project, and yesterday I received $100,000 of these securities," Mr. Moorman stated.

"It is Mr. Voigt's purpose, as understood," Mr. Moorman continued, "in the event he decides to undertake the enterprise, to enter into a connection with it a large electric power plant."

Project Often to Fore
Reclamation of the Hansen butte is a project which has claimed the attention of the Twin Falls country for three years since the opening of the Twin Falls country. That the Twin Falls Canal company should undertake the project has been the recommendation of the executive management of the project for some time, and it is not known how far it has advanced.

Difficulties Mark Attempt
The career of the Milner Canal company has been one beset with many difficulties. The pumping plant for 50 first lift under its plans, was to be seen to the summer. The second lift and the second lift was to have been completed this season. The company has failed in other undertakings. Lands of the Hansen butte are regarded as among the most fertile in Idaho, and practically the entire area of the proposed project has been taken up by borested enterprises, many of whom have entered into contract with the Milner Canal company, to collect notes in payment for interest in so proposed irrigation system.

Sword Reverenced in the East.
In the East superstitious reverence is still paid to the sword. The Japanese, when they voluntarily surrender their rank, kept, as a rule, the wonderful blades which had been handed down from generation to generation, and some cases for more than 1,000 years, and which had absorbed, as they believed, some of the character of the life of the man that had owned them.

Sunflowers of Practical Use.
Old sunflowers are no longer to be regarded as merely ornamental. The seeds are declared to be rich in oils and are also a valuable food for poultry.

The realities of war have never been portrayed so graphically and vividly as in the gripping narrative,

CONGRESS WILL ACCED TO VETO OF PRESIDENT

ATTEMPT TO RAISE PRICE OF WHEAT WILL PROBABLY BE ABANDONED TO DEBATE QUESTION

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Wilson's veto of the agricultural appropriation bill because of the provision for $2.40 wheat is expected to be interpreted today by both houses. The house will accede quickly, but the senate may insist on debating the question. Senators have warned that the veto means considerable reduction in the acreage to be sown in winter wheat, planting for which has already begun in some states.

In making his veto President Wilson pointed out that $2.40 wheat would represent an increase of about $375,000,000 above the present price. The method of fixing an arbitrary price was deemed by him as unwise and inexpedient.

THREE-YEAR-OLD CAR VALUED AS NEW ONE

Canadian customs authorities have just paid a three-year-old motor car which has already seen 12,000 miles of service—the unusual compliment of an appraisal at the present market price of a new car. They proposed to allow it in Canada with only the regular 10 per cent duty, and an additional 20 per cent for depreciation, just as though it had undergone only a few months of service.

The number of the car, which is a Dodge Brothers, is 653, indicating that it was built late in 1914 less than a month after Dodge Brothers began manufacturing motor cars. It's owned at South Bie, Marie, Mich., attempted to drive it into Canada recently for a prospective sale there. According to customs rulings, depreciation would have been more than 50 per cent for a three-year-old car. However, after the officials had made inspection of hearings, the body fliers and general appearance, they ruled that it was practically a new car, and based its entrance valuation on the present retail price. This, it is interesting to note, is considerably higher than the price which prevailed when Dodge Brothers car No. 653 was built.

FRANKLIN

Differences and Distinctions in Automobiles

Something a good many people never understand is that there are Differences and Distinctions in Automobiles, not only between cars of different names and makes, but also among models of the same make.

As has been pointed out the Franklin is a different car from all other cars of American manufacture, and a better car than any other.

It is distinctive in every way. More comfortable, more economical, easier to drive and control, safer and retaining greater value under use.

But the three models made by the Franklin Company are also different and distinctive when compared with each other. Each of these models is designed for definite service, and each is the nearest to a absolute perfection for that service that human ingenuity has so far accomplished.

The newest model and the one least known, is to many people the most attractive of them all. This is the four-passenger Roadster.

Thought and experience were used in its designing. It is trim, fine and graceful. It is noticeable and the subject of universal admiration. It is COMFORTABLE. Franklin patented design makes it so comfortable for get into and comfortable to ride in. The seats are real seats, not makeshifts.

It is fine looking and at the same time it is economical. Twenty miles to the gallon of gasoline and 10,000 miles to the set of tires; is something worth looking for in a car. It is in this way the Franklin has answered wartime demand for saving.

We have four-passenger roadsters and other models of Franklins on hand. It would be well to investigate now before there are further price advances. Don't be afraid the salesman will bore you. He lets the car tell its own story.

Windshear for Range.
The draft from an open door or window is often disastrous to the flame of an open gas burner. A windshear may be quickly made by slipping two clothespins, heads down, into the grate of the stove top and placing in them a piece of heavy cardboard or even a folded newspaper. By saving the openings deeper the shield will be brought closer to the base, making it still more effective.

SUGGESTS AIDS IN THRESHING
Committee at Farm Bureau Conference Give Hints to Farmers
(Special to The News)
IDAHO FALLS—A committee of threshermen at the farm bureau confer- ence held here July 3 recommended the adoption of the threshing pace as set at the Twin Falls conference of thresh- ermen and grain-growers and made the following suggestions to the farmers that will aid them in getting more of the wheat and facilitate threshing:
Have ditches dry.
Have help ready.
Have wagons ready.
Have machines.
Provide good threshing floor.
Use machines set with the hill.
Provide publicity on these items.
The conference was held under the auspices of the state farm bureau, President W. F. Alvord of Twin Falls presiding, and H. W. Hohmann, state leader of county agents, acting as secretary. Lincoln, Bonanza, Fremont, Bingham, Bonneville, Lemhi, Jefferson and Madison counties were repre- sented.
Measures of Defense
The committee on regulations reported the following which were unanim- ously adopted:
Resolved: That the scale of wages for hay and harvest hands, as recom- mended by the state farm bureau, remain the same, except in the case of stackers, to whom not to exceed $3.50 with board may be paid. (Ten hour day.)
Resolved: That the wage scale for man and team be set as follows: Man and single team, furnished, $4.50; man and single team, not furnished, $6.50; man and four horses, furnished, $6.00; man and four horses, not furnished, $8.00. (Ten hour day.)
Be it resolved that the actions of the farm bureau and the councils of defense with respect to the farm labor scale and the method of handling the labor problem, be given the fullest board, or 1 cent per sack when the publicly by paid advertisements, if necessary, that the support of the busi- ness men and farmers alike will be as- sured.

Further be it resolved, that the state council of defense instruct the various county councils of defense to use what influence they could to persuade the farmer to abide by the farm bureau scale in the future. Further, that the state council of Idaho use its influence to secure the cooperation of the state councils of the surrounding states in the enforcement of the scale as it affects the farmers of those states.
Spud Pickers' Wages
The report of a committee was adopted to fix a price for picking potatoes at 6 cents per sack of 125 pounds, and 1 cent per sack when the picker bears his share.

NEW SCHOOL TO BE READY
(Special to The News)
FILER—Construction of the Piler rural high school building is progress- ing satisfactorily and Contractor, Jess Edwards states that the building will be completed ready for occupancy at the beginning of the next term of school. The plans for the structure, drawn by Architect E. E. Morse of Twin Falls, provide for a structure 168x168 feet, containing eight rooms. The cost is to be $25,000.
Cuckoo Supplication.
In some parts of England, when the first note of the cuckoo is heard in the woods, every village girl asks the question, "Cuckoo! Cuckoo! When shall I be married?" The bird, in an- swer, is supposed to spend as many notes as years will elapse before the happy event takes place.

NEW OWNERSHIP FOR PACKING COMPANY

HENRY JONES AND CHARLES DUNN, UNDER FIRM NAME OF AMERICAN MARKET, TAKE OVER BUSINESS

Henry Jones, pioneer stockman and landowner of this section, and Charles Dunn, formerly associated with the old State Packing company at Gooding, forming a partnership under the firm name of the American Market, have taken over the business of the Modern Packing company, successor of the Robertson-Jacks Packing company founded here in 1912.

Under the new management the former employees, including John T. Hansen, in charge of the office, and W. J. Cook, head cutter in the employment of the institution for three years past, will be retained.

Additional facilities for the accommodation of patrons will be installed, and the business is to continue along progressive lines.

Mr. Dunn, junior partner, will have active charge of the purchase of live stock and butchered meats. Mr. Jones, the senior partner, who has been a resident of southern Idaho since 1880 and is prominently identified with stock-growing interests in this district, was a resident of the W. J. Jones Packing company, which has been superseded by the newly formed concern. Other stockholders of the Modern Packing company were A. Nelson, Oakley, J. C. Rogers, Barley, Lee Tittle, Yakima, Washington, W. P. Jones, Rock Creek, and W. P. Guthrie, C. S. Patton and Myrtle Anderson of Twin Falls.

Value Friendship. Friendship is too precious, if it is real to be lightly thrown away. The time will come, no matter how many acquaintances you may have, when your heart will turn to that deep relationship, and when nothing can take the place of that voice you know and the touch of that hand that has clasped yours so many times. But if you have liberally given up that friendship, can you expect to call it back to you at your will?

Will Strangely Found. Strangely found in the story told in London of how a missing will was discovered. In one house there was an old bureau which had been handed down as an heirloom for nearly a century. In an air rail this week slipped down the cabinet and secret cabinet revealed. There were found a number of papers, and among them a will which will have an important effect upon the present holders of the property.

All Had Long Lives. Joshua Jackson of Blackburn, England, who survived to see his eighty-seventh birthday, was one of eight brothers and sisters, not one of whom failed to pass the eighty-third birthday. And quite recently there was living at Milverton, West Somerset, six brothers and sisters, the eldest of whom—Mrs. Shallock—was ninety-two, and the youngest—Mr. James King—just ten years younger.

Your New Self. Every morning you have a new self to be acquainted with. Each day chances a little, makes a stronger and fiercer, or puts us back from where we were when we started. The greatest mistake a girl can make is to suppose that she must go on to the end of her days living with a self she neither likes nor approves. Every day gives you a new self. Why not make it just what you would wish it to be?

May Take All New Registrants. The twenty-one-year-old men registered in the county total 129, and it is probable that between 150 and 160 of these will be placed in class one. Granting that farm forefathers are given as liberally as in the past, it is possible that the twenty-one-year-old registrants, remaining in class one will practically all be required to fill the Camp Fremont call.

Description Must Ocase. It is difficult to believe the German people can be long desired by the deplorable selfish ambitions of his blood-stained royal house upon Germany's future. If he succeeds in doing this, Germany will have no future. Yet Hitler's campaign means the Kaiser's diplomats are now retiring to defensive positions. They are beginning to entreat the German people to save their taskmasters from ruin.

ONE-THIRD OF ALL TROOPS (Continued from Page One) of our troops is proceeding without let-up the same as in previous months. Looking Ahead. Perhaps the time will come when man will invent some great storage battery which will collect all the free lightning now so erratically loosed from the summer clouds and save enough light and heat to serve a whole town during the cold, dark winter. Then the sting of fear would be removed from the great dragons that devastate and they would be tamed for man's use!

Be Courteous to All. TODAY'S MARKETS

CHICAGO GRAIN-FUTURES. CHICAGO, July 12.—President Wilson's veto of the $2.40 wheat bill caused a quick drop in prices on the Chicago Board of Trade today. There was a selling rush at the opening, offset somewhat by the buying of shorts. Date was affected also. A slower but market and the weakness in grains caused lower prices on provisions.

July corn opened at $1.69, down 2-8 cents, and recovered one cent later. August corn down 1/2 at the opening, $1.60 1/2, regained 5/8 thereafter. September corn, opening at $1.64, down 3/8, gained 1/2 by the close.

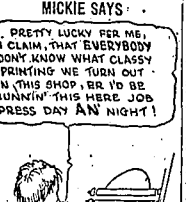

July oats opened at 75 1/2, later losing another 3/8. August oats, was down 3-8 at the opening, 71 3/8, subsequently advancing 1-8. September oats opened at 70 1/2, down 3-8, and closed unchanged.
