BOMBARDMENT MOST SEVERE IN HISTORY OF WAR

ENTIRE SOISSONS-REIMS SALIENT SUBJECT TO HEAVIEST ARTILLERY FIRE SO FAR ATTEMPTED—400,000 GERMANS WITHIN POCKET

By WEBB MILLER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, July 27.—French and American artillery is subjecting the entire Soissons-Rheims salient, within which 400,000 Germans are concentrated, to the most terrific bombardment of the war.

This deluge of fire and steel is being directed particularly at For-Étardville, the important German concentration center, which is now almost within grasp of the Franco-American troops.

The crown prince order commanding his armies to stand and fight, which was reported Wednesday by the United Press, has changed.

Voluntary retirement of the German armies to the Oureq line on even to the Vaal would have had a most depressing effect on German morale.

HEAVY TAXES TO COME AFTER WAR

OFFICIALS SAY GOVERNMENT EXPENSES AFTER WAR TO BE HIGHER

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Treasurers of the United States must expect to provide something like a "couple of billion dollars in revenue annually" when peace comes.

But the apparently gigantic war expenditures of $200,000,000 each year, besides the interest on loans made to our associates in the war is not regarded as insurmountable.

LUENDORFF IS BLAMED FOR FAILURE OF GERMAN PLANS

HINDENBURG COMPELS HIS CHIEF LIEUTENANT TO SIGN COMMUNIQUE OF DEFEAT GIVEN OUT TO GERMAN PEOPLE—BREATHING SPACES BETWEEN BATTLES ARE NECESSARY, HE SAYS

LONDON, July 27.—Hindenburg is making Ludendorff accept blame for failure of the last German offensive, according to a Rome dispatch today, quoting Zurich advice.

Dispatches from The Hague declared Karl Romer, the Kaiser's official correspondent, interviewed Hindenburg at headquarters and obtained from him a message to the German people, which was presented in the Berlin Yekal Auditor.

"I hope that those at home will maintain their confidence. In no way do I intend to let them know that breathing spaces between battles are necessary."

GREAT BATTLE NEARS CRISIS DECISION MUST COME QUICK

BRITISH MILITARY EXPERTS DECLARE NO ARMY CAN LONG STAND PRESENT HEEL OF ARTILLERY FIRE AND CONSTANT HAMBREING OF ALLIED INFANTRY TO WHICH ENTIRE HUN FORCES ARE NOW SUBJECTED

LONDON, July 27.—The crisis in the colossal battle now raging in the Soissons-Rheims pocket is expected hourly.

Military experts believe a decision must be quickly reached—that no army can long stand the hail of artillery fire and the constant hammering of French, American, British and Italian infantry, to which the entire group of the German crown prince is being subjected.

NOTED GERMAN ACE IS DOWNED BY AMERICAN

LIEUTENANT WALTER AVERY OF COLUMBUS, OHIO IN HIS FIRST AIR BATTLE, DEFEATS AND CAPTURES CAPTAIN MENDKOPF, CHIEF OF GERMAN FLYERS—EFFORT TO EMULATE AVERY'S PERFORMANCE RESULTS IN DISASTER TO BROTHER AMERICAN AVIATOR

By FRANK J. TAYLOR (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICANS IN France, July 27.—Lieutenant Walter Avery, of Columbus, Ohio, in his first air battle brought down the noted German ace, Captain Mendkopf, north of Chateau Thierry.

The rival aviators came together while patrolling alone. For twenty minutes Mendkopf made futile efforts to gain an advantage by tricky maneuvers.

He tackled a Boche and forced him down and landed to complete the capture. But he discovered he was behind the German lines and he himself was made a prisoner.

FIND TRACES OF BIG GUN

AMERICAN TROOPS COME UPON EMPLOYMENT FOR PARIS BOMBARDMENT

By FRED F. FERGUSON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, July 27.—American troops who advanced beyond Breicy (seven miles north of Chateau-Thierry) found an emplacement formerly occupied by a German long-range gun used in the bombardment of Paris.

This is the first indication that Paris was bombarded from a position so far north. The main bombardment, it is known, came from guns located in the forest of St. Omer, about 25 miles north of Breicy.

STRIKERS ARE RETURNING TO WORK IN ENGLAND

BACKBONE OF TROUBLE SEEMS TO BE BROKEN AS RESULT OF GOVERNMENT'S MOVE TO ENFORCE CONSCRIPTION AMONG IDLE

(By United Press)

LONDON, July 27.—Munitions strikers began returning to work today. The backbone of the strike seems broken as a result of the government's threat to enforce conscription and put the idle into the army, unless all were luck at their jobs by Monday.

In Birmingham, especially, many returned to the munitions plants. The government estimated that there were only about 200,000 still out in England this morning, and this number was steadily dwindling.

Newspapers Approve In Coventry the situation was unchanged by Premier Lloyd George's ultimatum. Strikers jeered at the threat of enforced army service.

Leaving newspapers generally endorse the ultimatum. "The strike is held evidence of the government," declared the Times. The ultimatum will have the support of a large majority of the people.

The Graphic said the government's action would cause immense satisfaction throughout the nation. Deouncing men who "wantonly hold up munitions to our soldiers" the Chronicle declared that sternest measures must be expected.

The Telegraph suggested that the munitions workers stomach their grievances. "If the men in the trenches struck because they had a grievance, what would happen to us?" the newspaper demanded.

The Daily News called Lloyd George's decision the gravest in the history of industrial strife and said that resolution of hostilities plans attempting to perform similar exploits over our lines.

EARLY PEACE IS ESSENTIAL

AUSTRIAN MINISTRY CALLED UPON TO ANSWER POINTED QUESTIONS BY SOCIALISTS

COPENHAGEN, July 27.—That an early peace is absolutely "essential to the life of Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey" was declared in a communication addressed to the Austrian ministry by socialist members of parliament, according to a Vienna dispatch received today.

Herr Zizz and Herr Seliger, socialists, asked the ministry whether it was prepared to negotiate with Germany regarding war reparations and demanded immediate preparation for peace negotiations. They also demanded that the ministry renounce all imperialistic aims.

MOTOR STOPPAGE RESULTS IN DEATH

NEW YORK, July 27.—Lieutenant Charles P. Hayes, 29, was killed instantly in a flying field today when the motor of his De Haviland battle plane stopped and he dropped to the ground. His neck was broken.

HUN OUTLET NARROWED BY FIGHTING FORCE TO LESS THAN FIVE MILES

FRANCO-AMERICAN TROOPS NOW DRIVING AT THE SOUTHERN EXTREMITY OF FAMOUS SOISSONS-RHEIMS SALIENT BETWEEN VERNEUIL AND CHATELAIN-SUR-MARNE—ARTILLERY AND FLYERS ADD TO STRENGTH OF ATTACK—BOCHES GIVE GROUND ON REMAINING SECTOR

By JOHN DE GANDE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, July 27 (4 p. m.)—Franco-American troops are driving at the southern extremity of the Soissons-Rheims salient between Verneuil and Chateau-Sur-Marne. They have lightened this tip of the pocket until it is only eight kilometers (less than five miles) in width.

French and American aviators, bombing the main highroad south of Fismes, blocked all traffic for eleven hours.

AMERICANS ARE HELD BACK FOR FINAL EFFORT

SUPREME VALUE OF UNITED STATES TROOPS IS FOR BRINGING WAR TO SUCCESSFUL ENDING

By J. W. T. MASON (United Press War Expert)

NEW YORK, July 27.—General Foch is now holding back his American units in the Aisne-Marne campaign. Very little scope is being given them for strong, aggressive fighting.

General Foch knows the supreme value of the Americans for bringing the war to a successful ending. It should not be reckoned them too highly to permit them to be sacrificed in exchange for territorial gains that are not of large strategic importance.

The time for America's preeminent part in the war is not yet past. The Boche cannot be reached with the Aisne-Marne salient as a starting point; and it is only by operations in the direction of the Rhine that decisive results can be expected from the Americans.

The French and the German resistance between the Aisne and the Marne is providing a unique opportunity for studying the new characteristics of Von Hindenburg's defensive strategy.

Have Embodied Plans There can be no doubt that the German general staff has drawn up a highly intricate strategic plan for the defense of German territory against America's forthcoming major offensive.

It is therefore a highly essential part of the work of General Foch's staff to make a careful study of the methods which Hindenburg is now using south of the Aisne. There is no doubt that some of the German defensive tactics are new and worth very careful analysis.

Advance Threatens Hun Plans The continued advance of Franco-Americans toward For-Étardville is threatening to cut Von Hindenburg's plans, but how he is meeting this danger is a matter for close examination by the allies.

TRIAL RESUMED BOME, July 27.—Trial of the four men accused of complicity in the blowing up of the Italian battleship Benedetto Brin was resumed today.

RAMS LIFEBOATS OF SINKING SHIP

FRESH LIGHT ON HUN U-BOAT METHODS GAINED BY FRENCH

SANTANDER, Spain, July 27.—A German submarine, after torpeding the French steamer Lydie, off Zumaia, rammed the life boats, in an effort to destroy traces of the sinking, according to members of the crew. Forty of the crew of forty-six are missing today.

REPRIEVE GRANTED THOMAS J. MOONEY

GOVERNOR STEPHENS OF CALIFORNIA INTERFERES IN BEHALF OF CONDEMNED MAN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 27.—Governor Stephens today granted the reprieve of Thomas J. Mooney, under sentence of death as a result of the preparedness parade dynamiting, and granted a stay of execution until December 18.

"I have decided to grant a reprieve to Thomas J. Mooney, which will operate as a stay of execution until December 18, 1918."

"It is true that the Mooney case is still in the supreme court of California, but I take this action at this time in order that all persons in this state and elsewhere throughout the United States may be assured that the fullest consideration will be given to this case by the executive and the judicial branch of the government of California."

"The Mooney case has been in the courts of this state for more than two years. The records are voluminous. It will require all of the time between now and the 15th day of December to give to this matter that careful consideration which justice both to Thomas J. Mooney and the people demands shall be given."

FOR OR AGAINST?

The Twin Falls News is asked, very definitely and pointedly by the Nonpartisan Journal of Plover, where it stands—whether for or against farmers and laborers, and in the same definite manner The News takes pleasure in replying.

TWIN FALLS NEWS, WHERE DO YOU STAND—FOR OR AGAINST FARMERS AND LABORERS?

The Nonpartisan of Twin Falls county have their official newspaper, The Nonpartisan Journal, but aside from that fact is the fact that the Nonpartisan organization also read daily newspapers for the national and may be supporting and daily newspapers they desire to know just where they stand—on the home duties, at Twin Falls, The News and The Plover for or against the Nonpartisan movement. This question seems to have been answered by the Daily Times, it having made the point very clear—namely that it wants to be fair and liberal to the movement.

But where does the Daily Twin Falls News stand—for or against the Nonpartisan farmers and laborers? It's simple why the Nonpartisans want to know: The Nonpartisans feel that they are in the same county, and they truly do not want to help build up a daily newspaper during the early stages of a bitter campaign that may last for several months. The Nonpartisans do not recognize any middle grounds for newspapers to stand on. However, they have been willing to give the Daily News the benefit of doubt, and have publicly endorsed it for support. NOW THE NONPARTISANS WANT TO KNOW WHERE THE NEWS STANDS—FOR OR AGAINST THEM?

Some days ago the Twin Falls News received, uncollected and unanticipated, an endorsement of confidence by the League which was accepted as a tribute to the fairness and justice of The News. The resolution carried with it the unmistakable conviction that the League at that time endorsed this resolution. The position of The News is no different today to what it was then. The News at that time desired to be fair and liberal to the movement and to the men who compose it, and will remain so.

But the position of the Journal is entirely different to the position of the League as expressed in its resolution. The resolution made very plain the fact that The News was commended for its fairness—support of the League by The News was not in any manner made a condition. Yet the Journal declares that it recognizes no middle ground "you must be for us or against us." Is the Daily and Weekly Twin Falls News for the corporations and their hirelings or for the majority, who compose the Nonpartisan movement?

It support of the League by The News was implied by the terms of the resolution—which its language clearly did not bear out—then we can only say we are sorry that the misanderstanding has arisen but again repeat that we had no part in it.

The News has no aspirations towards the building of a political machine of its own or towards becoming a cog in somebody else. It believes in and

Your Guide in Deed and Thought

WHERE SHE FITTED

By VINCENT G. PERRY.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

As a reporter Martha Elford was a failure; everyone admitted it. It was doubtful if Martha had heard of much value on the Telegram staff. Why she was kept there was more than anyone was willing to say, but some of the boys hinted that it was because she was pretty and Phil Weston, the city editor, had a weak spot in his heart for all pretty girls.

Her good looks had not been the only thing he had seen. She was so, had a winning personality and was a splendid conversationalist—qualities that should have made a successful reporter. The first week was enough to show Phil that there were more things than Martha looked that she should also have had, but he hoped experience would develop them. After the first month he gave up the idea of putting her on assignments that required hard work. If there was a story that required detail, Martha would be sure to miss it; she never applied to him to correct, always got numbers and even the names of streets wrong. It would have been easier for him if the managing editor had raised him of the unpleasant duty of giving Martha her notices—but just the same he did it.

"If you don't get rid of that girl and get somebody you can depend upon in her place, you are going to run up against a tight place some time and get yourself in wrong over it," one of the senior reporters remarked to Phil one day.

"She's all right," Phil answered. "She hasn't fitted in yet."

The tight place came sooner than they expected it. A lot of big things loomed up all at once and every man on the staff was given a slight assignment. Phil left a convention meeting for himself to cover. He was the last to leave the reportorial room that night and was just putting on his hat when the telephone rang. "It was the managing editor."

"There is a big meeting in Plattsburg tonight to decide definitely on the electric road. See that it is covered," he ordered.

Phil knew the importance of the story and decided he would have to go to Plattsburg himself. The next car left at eight o'clock, getting him there barely in time for the meeting. That wouldn't give him time to touch the convention. He scanned his assignment book. There was no one else who could cover it. Nothing could be neglected. How about Martha? He would have to chance her, but he hated to think of the story she would turn in the next day. Had she a telephone?

SIR WILLIAM MANNING

Gen. Sir William Manning, who has been captain general of Jamaica since 1915, has recently been appointed to the governorship of Ceylon. The position is regarded as one of the best in the British diplomatic service.

She hadn't. She didn't seem to have anything she should have had, he thought angrily. She didn't seem very far away; he would have time to call and tell her to cover the convention. He could wait out a list of the things for her to remember to take notes on and perhaps she would get a half decent story for him to rewrite.

Martha looked her best when she opened her door to his knock. Phil couldn't refrain from standing back to admire her. She looked lovely in a big white apron and white cap.

"Come right in, Phil," Martha invited, as she opened the door wide. The room looked very inviting, so Phil didn't refuse. After he had gone into details of just what he wanted her to do, and had her write them out, Phil proceeded to go.

"Won't you stay and have tea?" Martha asked. "I have a lovely supper all ready—steak, fried onions, scalloped potatoes, homemade tart and the best cup of tea you ever tasted. I'm a dandy cook." Phil had been using his nostrils for five minutes, and when Martha enumerated the things he had been smelling he couldn't refuse her invitation.

"I wouldn't have had time to go home for supper," he said, so he sat down at the snowy white table, "but I hate to be robbing you."

"You are doing nothing of the sort," Martha smiled. "I had supper prepared for two, but the girl I expected telephoned that she couldn't come."

"The ungrateful girl, and a supper like this!" Phil exclaimed, as he started on the steak. "Wherever did you learn to cook? This is the finest steak I have had since I left home. If the supper is like this you can invite me here as often as you like."

"May I really like to come?" she asked. "I have often been on the point of asking you, but I hadn't courage enough to. You have been so kind to me that I wanted to show you that I did not mind being right in your kitchen. I think that I can't, for I know I have appeared stupid to you. I was never out for a reporter or a business woman or anything but a housekeeper. I think I have been cooking and housekeeping. I even taught into it."

"You certainly do," he said, earnestly. "I'm enthusiastic about your cooking." When he saw how pleased that made her he kept right on with his compliments and he meant most of them, too.

Then next morning when Martha handed in her report of the convention involving the route Phil gave her a look that said "I know where she does fit in, and some day I'm going to ask her to change." Martha had been watching his face, and when he looked up and their eyes met she understood.

Dick Turpin. Dick Turpin was a noted English highwayman and horse thief, whose legendary ride to York, on his horse "Black Bess" is graphically described by Alastair in his "Bookwood." This episode probably is taken from a similar experience in the life of "Swift Nick Neilson," who, in 1670, is said to have robbed a sailor at God's Hill at four o'clock a. m. and to have reached York at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of the same day, thereby establishing an alibi. Turpin was born at Hleetstead, England, in 1705, and hanged for murder at York on April 10, 1730.

World's Debt to Arabians. The world is indebted to the Arabians for a greater number of sciences than today is generally admitted. The Arabs were in some sort the discoverers of botany and chemistry. Agriculture was studied by them with a knowledge of climate, soil and the growth of plants. From the eighth to the eleventh century the Arabs established medical schools in the principal cities of their dominions and published valuable works on medical subjects.

Japanese Rice Cultivation. Twelve thousand square miles—7,000,000 acres—constitute the rice land of Japan, which feeds a nation of about 50,000,000 people on an average of a pound a day for each person. It takes 135 days to grow a crop of rice, and in Japan the laborious work of cultivation is done almost entirely by hand.

Children's Health Exercises. Teach your child to sit, stand and walk in an erect posture. Set a good example of this by your own conduct. Here suggestion thus has a powerful influence. Spend three minutes per day with the children in taking vigorous breathing exercises—lifting the chest, expanding the lungs to their greatest capacity, holding the breath, exhaling to the limit and the like, all together. All will soon become fond of this little drill, as they almost feel the increase in the size of good health.

New and Valuable Oils. The results were recently announced of an investigation into a series of oils prepared during the Australian Antarctic expeditions. These materials included sea leopard oil, Weddell seal oil and penguin oil. The oils have been carefully examined in order to determine their characters in comparison with commercial oils of a similar kind. They were found to be of good quality, and could be used for soap making, leather dressing, burning, etc.

Rejuvenation Always Possible. There is rejuvenation in exercise, in play, in care for personal appearance. And there is an economic influence in external rejuvenation which reacts upon the mentality, keeping the individual alert and up-to-date. Youth finds its golden chances in the present era; they are not denied to the older man who has not lost his grip—or who can regain it.

Moon by "Earthlight." When the crescent of the new moon appears in the west the phenomenon called "the old moon in the young one's arms" is often observed. Properly embraced by the horns of the crescent is seen the whole round orb of the moon. The cause of this appearance is that the "earthlight" upon that part of the moon not reached by the sunshine is sufficiently brilliant to render it faintly visible to our eyes.

GUNNER DEPUE

Albert N. Depue

EX-GUNNER AND CHIEF PETTY OFFICER U.S. NAVY
MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN LEGION OF FRANCE
CAPTAIN GUN TURRET, FRENCH BATTLESHIP CASSARD
WINNER OF THE CROIX DE GUERRE

Copyright, 1918, by Polk and Stratton Co., Through Special Arrangement With the Copyright Agent, Albert J. Saxon.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Albert N. Depue, author of the story, enlists in the United States navy, serving four years and attaining the rank of chief petty officer, first-class gunner.

CHAPTER II—The great war starts soon after he is honorably discharged from the navy and he sails for France with determination to enlist.

CHAPTER III—He joins the Foreign Legion and is assigned to the dreadnaught Cassard where his mateship wins him high honors.

CHAPTER IV—Depue is detached from Cassard with a regiment of the Foreign Legion tolanders where he soon finds himself in the front line trenches.

CHAPTER V—He is detailed to the artillery and makes the acquaintance of a girl who has saved the day for the allies on many occasions. He is assigned to the front line trenches.

CHAPTER VI—Depue goes "over the top" and "gets" his first German in a bayonet fight.

CHAPTER VII—His company takes part in another raid on the German trenches and is honorably discharged in stopping a flare charge and the Hun is blown up, blowing down as they cross No. 10 man's trench.

CHAPTER VIII—Sent to Dismantle with dispatches Depue is caught in a Zeppelin raid, but escapes unhurt.

CHAPTER IX—He is shot through the thigh in a brush with the Germans and is sent to a hospital, where he quickly recovers.

I was on the starboard bow at the time and had turned to watch some garbles poking at the scupper to drain the water off the deck. But the scupper had been plugged and they were having a hard time of it. The officer on the bridge, in addition, was walking up and down, wiping off the business end of his telescope and trying to dodge the rain. All of the garbles but one left the scupper on the starboard side and started across decks to port. The other chap kept on fooling around the scupper. Then I saw a big wave coming for us, just off the starboard bow and I grabbed hold of a stanchion and took a deep breath and held on. When my head showed above water again the other end of the wave was just passing over the place where the garbles had been, and the officer was shouting, "Un homme a la mer!" He shouted before the man really was overboard, because he saw that the wave would get him. I rushed back to the port bow and looked back, for the wave had carried him clear across the deck, and saw the poor lad in the water, trying to fend himself off from the ship's side. But it was no go, and the port propeller blades just carved him into bits. On our homeward voyage we received word again by wireless that there were Zeppelins at sea. We did not believe this and it proved to be untrue. But there were other stories and tales one, told us by one of the wireless operators, that some of the garbles believed. This chap was the real original Baron Munchausen when it came to yarning, and for a while he had me going too. He would whine some startling tale to us and make up promises not to tell, as he had picked it from some other ship's message, and the Old Man would spread-eagle him if he found it out. They probably would have known him at that, if they had known he was filling us full of wind the way he did. He told me one time that Henry Ford had invented something or other for locating submarines away, and also another device that would draw the sub right up to 'em and swallow it whole. He had a lot of other yarns

"Un Homme a la Mer!"

DRAFT CLASS ONE NEARS EXHAUSTION
WASHINGTON, July 27.—Rapid exhaustion of class one to the extent that some local draft boards may be unable to fill the August call was indicated by instructions issued to the boards by Provost Marshal General Crowder today.

Crowder declared that he will be unable to place further August calls on all the men who registered June 5th are finally examined and classified. He ordered boards to halt immediately releases of class one men to the navy and marine corps and emergency fleet corporation until enough men are left to fill the calls to August. Crowder's instructions bear out statements by members of the house military committee that there will be only 100,000 men left in class one by September 1st.

MOTORISTS' HEADQUARTERS

THAT'S the name we are fast acquiring by the patronage that so many local motorists, and tourists too, are according us.

It doesn't take automobile owners long to learn where they can be served the quickest and most economically.

Plenty Free Air and Water

Auto owners know that they are heartily welcome to all the conveniences which we have installed for them.

We don't expect a man to spend money with us every time he stops here. And that's one of the good reasons why they do spend it here whenever there's anything in our line, that they need.

LAKEVIEW, OREGON

Dear Sirs:
 Fruit of all kinds is produced at this place. Apples, peaches, pears, plums, prunes, apricots, cherries and berries of all kinds grow and produce well and have a flavor unexcelled. Alfalfa and fruit will be the coming business of the country. I know of no country that excels in either. Cattle, hogs, sheep and chickens all do well and are healthy; in fact most of the money of the country has been made out of stock raising.
