

PLAIN KILLING OBJECTIVE OF BOTH SIDES

WITH ORIGINAL PROGRAM BLOKED, ALLIES AND HUNS ENGAGE IN DEADLY TEST OF STRENGTH

By CARL D. GROOT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Both sides having changed their original objectives, the allies and Germans, battling in the bloody Soissons-Rheims salient, are now bent solely upon trying to destroy each other. In his regular conference with correspondents today, Chief of Staff March declared that the long objective remaining now is to kill as many men as possible. He held out slight hope of halting the German army owing to its resistance in the Soissons and Rheims sections—two of the allied pincers. After a rapid withdrawal along a 20-mile front Saturday the German retreat since "has been slow with strong counter attacks, in which the American forces have been engaged," March said.

HUNS CONTINUE TO RETIRE TOWARDS FISMES

ORDERLY RETREAT COVERED BY BITTER REARGUARD ACTIONS—FINAL STAND EXPECTED ON SOISSONS-RHEIMS LINE—FIGHTING IS HOTTER

By FRED S. FERGUSON (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, July 31.—Shift resistance the Germans are now putting up indicates that a strong line has been established and bitter efforts are being made to keep the allies from breaking through it, but prisoners insist the enemy will make his most determined stand between Rheims and Soissons.

The orderly German retreat toward Fismes is still in progress, screened by heavy rear guard action along the line from Villmonte through Pary-En-Trois, Grand Bussy and Forez-Tardieu eastward beyond Serresang and Rochers. American planes have also been reported to have also been strafed and held down by a gun.

Groves Fiercer Hourly

The battle is constantly becoming fiercer. In bitter hand-to-hand conflict the American infantry was at grips with the enemy all day yesterday. German artillery is working with the infantry for the first time since the retreat started. American artillery is superbly backing up our infantry.

Charge Hill Slopes

Remnants of the Fourth Prussian Guard advance to oppose the American advance in the region of Bergy. In the fighting their troops charged up one side of a hill and over the crest into a trench with the enemy on the opposite slope. American batteries sent a barrage ahead of the columns, which swept on and pushed through the enemy despite vigorous resistance, clearing out German machine gun nests as they advanced.

Huns Set Traps

In their retreat the Boches laid many traps for the Americans. On one section of our line—bridges over the Oure and roads leading to the river were mined in the expectation that United States troops would be blown up when they started to cross the stream. One of the roads was heavily mined, but the explosion failed to materialize. The Boches also established machine gun pits—two to each man in the fields and along ridges north of the Oure. Working under cover of darkness, the enemy organized strong positions into which the Americans were expected to blunder in their advance.

In one section considerable barbed wire was found stretched in front of the machine gun pits. Our artillery did excellent work in destroying these barbed wires and shelters—the Americans rushed in and routed the enemy in hand to hand fighting.

Companies Wiped Out

Amphibians are being driven straight to the front line so the wounded may be cared for with more speed. The signal corps, working under shell fire, has maintained uninterrupted telephone connections since the start of the battle, stretching new wires as fast as the enemy's bombardment destroyed them. In fact every unit of the army is distinguishing itself.

Prisoners were gained in during the first five Bavarian reserves, the fifth and sixth Chasseurs and the fifth footguards.

They reported that one Boche company which was 100 strong before it crossed the Harno at the start of the German offensive has only seven men left. Two men taken today said they were the only survivors of their unit.

Airmen Exhibit Daring

There is a constant struggle for mastery of the air. German and allied planes are constantly diving in and out of the clouds. Some airmen exhibit great daring, swooping low to lure their machine guns upon batteries and roads packed with trucks from which great clouds of dust roll up, betraying the place where traffic is most dense. Aviators always select such highways for their special attention.

I passed through miles of American trucks, wagons and marching men, all moving forward. The men hardly looked human, they were soaked with dust. Military policemen at cross roads directed traffic, so despite the confusion there is no confusion.

Lieutenant Fonck is credited with downing six enemy planes in one day recently. He already had 37 to his credit. He is a leading air fighter of the French aviation corps and has won war decorations of every description.

CONGRESS TO ACT IN TIME TO SPARE CLASSES 1 AND 2

MEASURE LOWERING AND RAISING LIMITS TO BE RUSHED WHEN CONGRESS RE-CONVENES

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Senate and house military committees' members believed today congress will pass draft age extension proposals and that registration will be accomplished in time to avoid drawing up classes two, three and four.

Opposition to lowering the ages is gradually disappearing, but a house attempt to prevent men below 21 from being sent abroad is certain. Many members would be agreeable to some form of universal training for men below this age, making them available as trained soldiers when they come of age.

Limit May Be 35

Though no word has come from Secretary Baker to indicate what limits he will ask, there is a general feeling on the Hill that he will request registration of men 19 to 40 or possibly 45 years of age. Men in touch with the war department, however, think the upper limit will more likely be around 35.

In this connection it is pointed out that for the older men the draft law would develop largely into a work or fight proposition, giving the war department considerable control—without so labeling it—over the industrial disposition of available men.

First Class Nearly Exhausted

The original class one will be exhausted in September, but there are the June 5th 21-year-olds to draw upon and it is expected that a new registration of 31-year-olds will be held in September, so it is likely the nation will tide over until congress meets without taking deferred class members.

This means, however, that adoption of extension must be made and registration done before the first of the year, according to the general view. Secretary Baker is working on a survey of the industrial situation with a view to determining what effect age extensions would have on vital war plans. He will be ready with his conclusions by the time congress returns.

"Here's a quarter, Willie; now you keep away from that keyhole tonight when George calls."
"Dat'll fix me alright, but I'll cost you a quarter apiece to keep the rest of the gang away."

ARGUES WEALTH OF CONTACT IN RAILROAD PLAN

MINING ENGINEERS REPORT ON POSSIBILITIES OF DEVELOPMENT OF COPPER CAMP

Information that will be submitted to the federal director of railways and to the congressional representation of the states of Nevada and Idaho relative to the necessity for the construction of a railway from Twin Falls through the Contact, Nevada, copper camp, to connect with the Western Pacific railway at Wells, Nevada, includes a report on the production possibilities of the Contact copper district by the W. H. Borgrove company, consulting mining engineers, of Seattle.

Millions in Sight
This report, which is based mainly on government geological reports together with the results of the observations of W. H. Danko of the Borgrove company, shows that 33 producing properties in the Contact district have produced in the past, 48,935 tons of ore bearing an average of 14 per cent of copper. These properties according to the report, have a possible production, or as low indicated by present development, of 1,701,000 tons of ore of an average of 1.2 per cent copper content. There are in the Contact district 180 patented lead claims and 200 principal unpatented claims.

Character of District
The Contact district comprises an area six miles wide in a north and south direction by 15 miles long east and west. This area covers a granite up-raise of the above dimensions flanked by sedimentary rocks and a zone of altered limestone with associated slate and quartzite. The copper-bearing host rocks are of three types, viz. 1. Fine-grained; 2. Contact metamorphic; 3. Mineralized dikes. The veins and dikes are found in both the granite and sedimentaries, the greater number being in the granite. The contact metamorphic deposits, though large, are rather irregular, but the figure is generally well defined along the strike, some of them dipping plainly and continuously for several thousand feet. This feature combined with results from past development indicates great potentiality in depth.

Proceeds Under Mandate
Production to date has come from slow working in the sedimentary zone from beneath of ore impervious enough to resist complete transference to lower levels and has been limited to a carefully sorted high grade product on account of the lack of cheap transportation. Not only has this lack of transportation cut down production from mines already operating, but it has, no doubt, hopelessly discouraged the undertaking of new development. It will know that cheap transportation is essential to successful mining and shipping. For that reason the Contact district has not developed in spite of exceptional surface showings, but when it finally comes to full ore that Contact will be one of the best copper camps of the country.

As an additional item for railway tonnage from this district is destined for the use of the best sugar refineries of the Twin Falls, Idaho, district. I understand that the Twin Falls refineries would use 15,000 tons per year of the Contact limestone, which is of excellent grade and is the nearest available deposit.

Sweet Are the Uses of Perverity
Abstractly, I disapprove of fishing; hunting I think barbarous; "no who waltzes under a worm is no friend of mine"; and yet I smoke a pipe, I carry a rod and reel, I use them. I suppose I like smoking; that seems to me a feeble-minded habit and yet I smoke. Working, too, seems sometimes as foolish, and yet I work. Some postulates have convinced them here that living is a waste of time, and yet, so far as I have observed, they continue to live. Sweet are the uses of perversity.—Robert M. Gray, in the Atlantic

Argentina's Wealth in Furs
There is no country in the world except Argentina which has 10 different kinds of fur-bearing animals, including the otter and the chinchilla. If there is no one in the country who can compete with the European furriers in the manufacture of furs, the establishment of government fur markets, where exporters could learn the true value of their wares and receive a price commensurate with their real worth, would seem advisable.

GIRLS BUILDING PLANES FOR OUR NAVY

SHERIFF'S OFFICE GOAL OF MANY

JOE R. FITZSIMMONS IS SECOND AMONG SEVERAL CANDIDATES

The announcement Monday by Joe R. Fitzsimmons of Kimberly, of his candidacy for sheriff of Twin Falls county marks the entrance into the lists of the second Democratic applicant for this position, although the nomination of neither candidate has been filed. The first candidate in the field was John M. Beck, who is serving at the present time as a deputy sheriff, and who announced his candidacy several weeks ago. There has been several announcements for the sheriff's office from among the Republicans.

League Likely to Endorse
It is commonly understood that the Non-Partisan league in this county will nominate a candidate for sheriff, and the name of Robert Bart, a former Kansas sheriff and owner of 800 acres of land on the Salmon River tract has been mentioned in this connection. George B. McGraw, district inspector for the United States employment service, who also has been mentioned as a possible candidate, states that he will not make the race except as a Democrat and only after he has been "drafted."

A similar statement is made by Sheriff Frank Kendall, Democrat, who declares that he cannot accept reelection to the position except at a financial loss to himself, and is not disposed to entertain his nomination unless his candidate for his continuance in the office is insistent.

Announce Policy
Mr. Fitzsimmons, who for several years past has been chief assistant deputy game warden, declares in his announcement that if nominated he will give this office the same degree of unprejudiced and unfinetuned interest that he has as other official duties devolving upon him and that he will enforce the law without fear or favor.

COMMUNICATIONS
ARGUES FOR HOLDING FAIR AFTER HARVEST
Editor Twin Falls Daily News:
Circumstances after these. Under ordinary circumstances it seems proper to hold a county fair before harvest is over, but with present conditions it looks wrong. It spans a week for most exhibitors.

And to hold one fair this year before harvest is over looks like a mistake, for it will delay harvest and there is reason to think there will not be a fair representation of the products of the county. I found last year some farmers had products that they would have liked very much to show, but were so busy that they could not spare the time.

Now, why not adjourn till patrons feel that they can spare the time to attend. We now have proper buildings to put our exhibits in if weather is not pleasant. I hope we will hear from patrons on this question.

Smith, to pay fines of $15 each, when they answered pleas of guilty to gambling. The fines were paid.

Announcement of the candidacy of Frank Moore, a prominent attorney of Moscow and four years ago Democratic candidate for attorney general, for the long term for United States senator on the Democratic ticket, was brought to the attention of the community here by a telegram received Monday afternoon by Judge John E. Davis, Democratic state commissioner, from former senator K. I. Perky of Dolan. Following is the text of the telegram: "I have just been authorized by Frank Moore to file his nomination for the long term as senator. Please see that your people take immediate steps to sustain this movement. He will make a vigorous fight and is a man we can all be proud of and who will represent the state in such a way as to give it distinction."

Weights Itself Before Diving... Swimmers and divers of the far North who live among the icebergs and secure their food entirely from the water have devised a wonderful means of diving. The penguin, mentioned in the report of the Challenger expedition is claimed actually to swallow stones when preparing to dive for food, that it may sink with greater ease. He disgorges them when he returns to the surface.

THE FARM LABOR PROBLEM

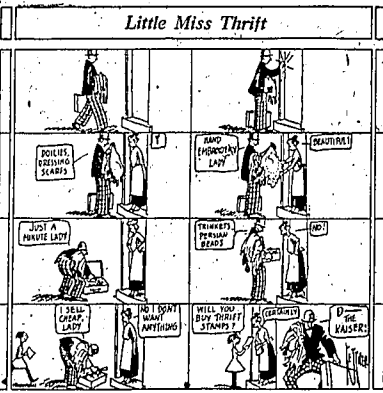

The imminent removal into training camps by selective military service regulations, under the recent ruling of the Provost Marshal General, of more than fifty young men of this county who have been granted deferred induction previously on the grounds of their being actively engaged in agriculture; brings forcibly to the attention of the people of this district the labor problem in connection with the harvesting of beautiful crops growing here.

There can be no question at this time that military requirements must take precedence over any other American activity—even the production of food, and so long as there remains a source of labor supply which can be farmed by them the young men employed in agriculture are taken to swell the ranks of the Nation's fighting force, there can be no justification for fault finding with the decision of the military as set forth in the ruling of the Provost Marshal General.

Before the school children of Twin Falls are sent into the harvest fields (after September 1), they business men should be called upon to render the service they have volunteered and will be glad to perform.

In this connection it is pertinently pointed out by a member of the Farm Bureau executive committee, that the business men can render most effective service by arranging to give their time on the evenings in the harvest fields, not only can they thus perform better work which they are unaccustomed, at the machinery of harvesting, but they could be employed throughout the day by men regularly employed for this purpose, would be made to do double duty and the work in hand would be completed the quicker.

Local Girl Named Secretary to Smith

Miss Gertrude Meloy takes position at Washington in office of Idaho representative.

Miss Gertrude Meloy of Twin Falls, who left here in January to accept a position as stenographer in the navy department at Washington, D.C., has been secretary to Representative Adon T. Smith. She takes the place of Carl G. Anderson, son of Dr. J. M. Anderson and a former member of the Twin Falls News editorial staff, who has been secretary to Mr. Smith for nearly four years and who has resigned to accept a position in the military insurance bureau.

The secretaryship was offered by Mr. Smith to Clyde W. Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Simpson of this city, who was for a time employed at Washington in the war trade board. Mr. Simpson declined the place for the reason that he expects to enter the military service in the near future.

Miss Meloy was formerly stenographer in the law office here of Captain C. M. Booth, and was later assigned in the office of county superintendent of public instruction and resigned a position in the Twin Falls county farm bureau office to go to Washington as a stenographer in the navy department.

GIVES HINTS ON WEED CONTROL

COUNTY AGENT DECLARES SITUATION HERE IS SERIOUS

Seriousness of the noxious weed situation in the Twin Falls district and the means to be employed in combating it are discussed in the following bulletin to be issued shortly by County Agent Donald McLean:

The Law About Weeds

Canadian thistle, hairy cross (white, curly, curly or yellow) dock, black thistle, and wild oats must be eradicated.

If there are any of these weeds on your place please read chapter 130 section laws of 1911, which is brief state that when the County Commissioners declare a weed district in which certain weeds must be eradicated, every property owner must clean these weeds up or the county can come in and pull them and hold the cost as a lien against the property. If the county does not enforce this the state can and look to the county for reimbursement. The county commissioners have named the five above weeds and ask your cooperation in cleaning them up. They intend to enforce the law to the limit.

Methods of Eliminating

For the Canadian thistle, hairy cross morning glory or other weed that propagates by root systems as well as seeds there are two methods:

(a)—Wherever possible dig around the infested spot, after having clipped the weeds as near the ground as possible. Be sure the dirt is outside the farthest root. Keep the spot covered so that no leaves stick above the water and let the water become as stale as possible. This will get them. It is hard on the land, but not as hard as the weeds.

(b)—Tow up the land and keep plowed for a year or two. It should be plowed and then, spring toothed in order to collect the roots and bring them to the top of the ground. This method will serve only to increase the stand of weeds and will amount to nothing if the roots are not then raked and buried. The three points to remember with this class of weeds are:

(1) Not to let them go to seed; (2) not to let them have any growth above the ground; and (3) to rake and burn all roots possible. If these three recommendations are followed out thoroughly and carefully any one can get rid of those pests in a year or two.

Curly (curly or yellow) dock, this is a weed that the roots are long and fleshy. When not in flower they can be pulled when the ground is soft. If the ground is too dry to pull, a chisel-plow can be used. This is made by putting a bar handle in the socket of an old two inch wood chisel.

Bull thistle—See that none of these are allowed to mature. In early spring they can be cut off with a hoe, later use a spade-chisel. They do not produce seed the first year.

From a plot of hairy cross (white) crop of about one red square in diameter during the fall at Twin Falls, Utah, eight years ago, this weed has spread until it has practically ruined about 6,000 acres of farm land in that district. The Federal government has been working for two years in an effort to eradicate white cat in this region.

Ferocious Habits of Wild Oats

The habits of the wild oat make it extremely difficult to eradicate for the following reasons: (a) The seeds will endure in the ground or in an unrotted manure pile for years without losing their vitality; (b) the seed drop off readily as soon as ripe; (c) If well up the country can come in and pull them and hold the cost as a lien against the property. If the county does not enforce this the state can and look to the county for reimbursement. The county commissioners have named the five above weeds and ask your cooperation in cleaning them up. They intend to enforce the law to the limit.

grow as rank as possible this fall then plow about October. This will kill all that have germinated. Then let the through the winter and the first thing in the spring harrow and water to start those that did not germinate in the fall. Disc or plow again and then to make doubly sure, put in a cultivated crop. This will eliminate them entirely provided fence-rows and ditches are kept clean.

Southern Idaho is an ideal place for seed production at present. If these weeds get a serious start, we will be able to produce no more seed. Help us keep one of our most productive industries alive.

Samples of these weeds can be seen at the Farm Bureau office.

WASHINGTON PUZZLED AS TO WHERE FRANCIS IS—ORDERED TO MOSCOW BY BOLSHIEVIKI—MAY HAVE GONE NORTH TO MURMAN COAST

WASHINGTON, July 31.—All the allied diplomats at Volodga have apparently left that city, according to roundabout advices to the state department today. These said that the diplomats, which included the American Ambassador Francis on July 3, had been given the alternative of going to Moscow or heading north to the Murman coast.

The department has cabled Moscow for full information about Francis. Communication with him has been extremely irregular for some time, although cables from the Moscow council general have come through with fair promptness.

BOURBONS WIN THE FIRST LEGAL BOOT

NON-PARTISANS MUST SHOW WHY THEY SHOULD NOT BE BARBED AS DEMOCRATS

BOISE.—Judge Isaac F. Smith of the Seventh judicial district, in court at Henry Monday, says the Idaho State-eman, quoted by W. B. Hamilton, editor and publisher, as chairman of the state central committee of the Democratic party of Idaho, an order to show cause and restraining the National Nonpartisan league, an organization headed by William G. Schott, individually and as manager of the Nonpartisan league of Idaho; Bay M'Kain, individually and as field secretary of the Nonpartisan league; Judson King, O. M. Tiley, W. B. Dox, James Hendley, Fred P. French, individually and as members of the state committee of the Nonpartisan league; H. F. Samuels, O. G. Zuck, William A. Fife, W. P. Rice, B. A. Cunningham, Mike Williams, J. J. Purcell and E. J. Johnson, from filing and accepting nomination on the Democratic ticket on or before August 3, and restraining W. T. Dougherty, secretary of state, from receiving them.

Hearing of the case has been set for Thursday, August 1, at 10 o'clock a. m. Among the arguments submitted by Dr. Hamilton's attorneys were the facts that the Nonpartisan league is a political organization, has held party caucuses, state and county conventions, and adopted a platform not in harmony with the Democratic platform, and that the nominees are not Democrats, but have entered into a conspiracy framed for the purpose of capturing the machinery of the Democratic party by fraudulently claiming to be Democrats by taking a false oath; that their acts commit fraud upon the Democratic party and the individual members of the party.

Bad Language Astonished Horse. A horse's surprise was recounted in court the other day when a gamekeeper was fined for using the French expression, England, for using bad language. THE STORY
"Over the Top" is the own story of life in the trenches that has touched every responsive soul in America.

Since this book was published, 350 copies have been sold during every business hour, every day—no better than 3,000,000 people have read, in all more than 3,000,000 people have read
it. More than 25,000,000 people have read Empey's articles in the great newspapers of the country. Many thousands have been fortunate enough to crowd their way into the limited capacity of the great halls where Empey has lectured.

Now the whole loyal citizenship of the nation

GIVES HINTS ON WEED CONTROL

COUNTY AGENT DECLARES SITUATION HERE IS SERIOUS

Seriousness of the noxious weed situation in the Twin Falls district and the means to be employed in combating it are discussed in the following bulletin to be issued shortly by County Agent Donald McLean:

- The Law About Weeds
Canadian thistle, hairy crest (white cap), curly (or yellow) dock, bull thistle, and wild oats must be eradicated.
- "There are any of these weeds of your place please read chapter 180 section laws of 1911, which in brief states that when the County Commissioners declare a weed district in which certain weeds must be eradicated, every property owner must clean these weeds up or the county can come in and huro this done and hold the cost as a lien against the property. If the county does not enforce this the state can and look to the county for reimbursement. The county commissioners have named the five above weeds and ask your cooperation in cleaning them up. They intend to enforce the law to the limit.

Methods of Eradication

- (a)—Wherever possible dig around the weed plants after having clipped, mowing glycol or other weed that propagate by root systems as well as seeds there are good treatments:

 - (1)—Wherever possible dig around the weed as near the ground as possible. Be sure the dike is outside the farthest root. Keep the spot covered so that no leaves stick above the water and let the water become a white sludge. This will get them. It is hard on the land, but not as hard as the weeds.
 - (2)—Put up the land and keep plowed for a year or two. It should be plowed and then spring without order to collect the roots and bring them to the top of the ground. This method will serve only to increase the stand of weeds and will amount to nothing if the roots are not then raked and burned. The three points to remember with this class of weeds are: (1) Not to let them go to seed; (2) not to let them have any green growth above the ground; and (3) to take and burn all roots possible. If these three recommendations are followed out thoroughly and carefully any one can get rid of these pests in two or three years.

Control (or yellow) dock, this is a perennial. The roots are long and fleshy. When not in big numbers they can be pulled when the ground is soft. If the ground is too dry to pull, a chisel-spade can be used. This is made by putting a hole in the socket of an old two wheel wood chisel.

Bull thistle—See that none of these are allowed to mature. In early spring they can be cut off with a hoe, later use a spud-chisel. They do not produce seed the first year.

Prose a plot of heavy cases (white cap) of about one rod square in dimensions, the vicinity of Tremonton, Utah, eight years ago, this weed has spread until it has practically ruined about 6,000 acres of farm land in that district. The Federal government has been working for two years in an effort to eradicate white cap in this region.

Perennial Habits of Wild Oats

The habits of the wild oat make it extremely difficult to eradicate for the following reasons: (a) The seeds will mature in the ground or in an unrotted manure pile for years without losing their vitality; (b) The seed drops freely as soon as ripe; (c) It will thrive under adverse conditions of both soil and climate; (d) It thrives best under field conditions for all cereals and hence is distributed by this seed; (e) As the seeds are lighter than the common cereals many of them get into the chaff during the threshing and hence blow away with high winds or are eaten by the cattle that feed in straw stacks and are distributed by them in their droppings; (f) The seeds ripen before most of the cereals.

grow as rank as possible this fall then plow about October. This will kill all that have germinated. Then let lie through the winter and the first thing in the spring harrow and water to start those that did not germinate in the fall. Disc or plow again and then to make doubly sure, put in a cultivated crop. This will eliminate them entirely. provided fence rows and ditches are kept clean.

MARRIAGE LICENCES

not surrender. There are lots of men in my unit who will not surrender, but I think probably there were more Turks that came than men in most other armies. I have heard that it is a part of their religion that a man, if he dies fighting, goes to a very special place heaven, with plenty to eat and smoke. And I suppose if he surrenders they believe he will be put in the "black man" stoking for eternity down below. It was awfully hot at the Dardanelles and I guess the Turks did not want it any hotter. For very few of them ever surrendered, and the trench cleaners had a lot to do. Their job is really important, for it is dangerous to have groups of the enemy alive and kicking around in their trenches after you have passed. Almost every prisoner we took was wounded. Why, that's the one thing I do not like to have people ask me in, "How does it feel to kill a man?" and I think the other boys feel the same way about it. It is not a thing you like to talk about or think about either. But this time, at "V" beach, when we got past the first and second Turk trenches and were at work on the third, I do not mind saying that I was glad whenever I saw a Turk.

Then I Would Stick Another One.

I slipped my bayonet into a Turk and he died when I saw another one coming. I guess I saw red all right. Each time I thought, "Maybe you are the one who did poor old Murray." And I could see Murray as he looked when they took him down from the machine gun. Then I would stick another one.

The others from the Cassard were red-hot, too, and they went at the Turks in great style. There was something to complain about in the way they fought, but I wished that we had had a few more boys from the Foreign Legion with us. I think we would have gone clear on through to Constantinople.

But the Turks were not as bad as Fritz. They were just as good or better as fighters, and a whole lot wittier. Often, when we were trying to get trench and not a drop of water was to be had, something like a hand on the ground near us and there would be a water bottle, full. Sometimes they often bombarded us with bottles. Then, too, they would not fire on the Red Cross, the Germans do; they would hold their fire many times when we were out picking up our wounded. Several times they dragged our wounded as close as they could to the barbed wire that we might find them easier.

After Murray died I got to thinking a lot more than I used to, and though I did not have any bunch exactly, still I felt as though I might get it, too, which was something I had never thought about before. I used to think about my grandmother, too, when I had time, and about Brown. I used to wonder what Brown was doing and wish we were together. But I could not think about it before. I used to think about my grandmother, too, when I had time, and about Brown. I used to wonder what Brown was doing and wish we were together.

With Time to Spare.
It is the people who are most to do who can always spare time to help others. The girl who is absorbed in having a good time and looking out for Number One, feels aggrieved if to these wealthy duties is added a trifling responsibility for others, while her boy overburdened neighbor with a score of claims upon her time and strength, can always find time to help somewhere. If you are one of the people who never have time to do a kindness, you may be sure it is because you have not enough to do.

Cat Turned the Trick.
Psychology is playing a more and more important part in shop work. One Cincinnati manufacturer, who employed about twenty girls in a certain department, found that they quickly grew discontented and left him at the end of a week or two, complaining of the monotony of their tasks. The manufacturer laid the facts before a noted psychologist, who advised him to get a cat put in the room with the girls and await results. It worked well.

THRASHING OF UNRIPE GRAIN DECLARED FOLLY

COUNTY COMMITTEE INDICATES POINTS FOR GUIDANCE OF GROWERS AND MACHINE MEN

Inevitability of thrashing unripe grain, requirement upon thrashers to keep records of grain threshed by them and provisions of the employer's liability insurance law as it applies to thrashers are matters discussed in a bulletin being sent out by County Agent Donald McLean for the Twin Falls county thrashing committee. Following is the text of the bulletin:

Warning to Wheat Raisers

In the pressure to get your wheat crop marketed this year take special pains now to be sure the wheat is harvested. If you do it will mold and be lost in threshing. It will be hauled at the local elevators and it will be a dead loss to you when you get it home and store it on your own farm. Nothing is to be gained by thrashing unripe wheat to the elevators or to the railroad. It is important to get the grain threshed but it is the greatest folly to thresh it before it is ripe as it will not only mold but great deal of it will go over in the straw stack.

Unripened Grain

A number of the thrashers have agreed to refuse to thresh wheat for farmers who are in a hurry unless the wheat is hard. We would very much appreciate if you will also refuse to thresh unripened wheat. It is more to thresh profit and what is worse it spoils in storage and the food production of the government is hindered rather than helped by such methods.

Monthly Reports

Under authority of an act of congress passed by the President August 10, 1917, the secretary of agriculture has authorized and instructed the chief of the bureau of markets to obtain monthly reports from thrashers showing the amount of wheat threshed by them. They must report for all other cereals at the close of the month. These reports must be returned monthly by the thirtieth to the county agent, who will assemble the monthly reports on wheat for his county and telegraph the count to the bureau of markets at Washington, D. C. not later than the fifth day of the month following. The first report must be made not later than August 5, except for areas where no thrashing whatever has been done in July.

Insurance

There is a good deal of misunderstanding in regard to insurance. Found is a copy of a letter from C. O. Brown, state insurance manager:

"I anticipate that the 27 per cent mentioned by you is the minimum rate charged by casualty companies and I should regret very much if small thrashing outfits have been induced to purchase such high rates when there is no necessity for it. The State Fund's rate is 20 per cent of $100 of payroll; this should be added a flat policy fee of $5. This rate is lower than the casualty companies' rates and in addition it fixes no minimum on the amount the contractor is obliged to pay other than the $3 policy fee whether the amount is large or small."

"If it is ascertained at the end of the year that more monies have been collected than is required to cover the losses, the difference will be refunded to the thrashers; the State Fund making no profit whatever out of the transaction."

Blank for applying for insurance and record books can be secured upon application to the county agent at Twin Falls.

FUEL BOARD TO ASSUME CONTROL OF OIL OUTPUT

FEDERAL REGULATION TO BE PUT INTO EFFECT WITHIN TWO WEEKS - MAY FIX PRICES

WASHINGTON, July 27.—M. B. Eggen, director of oil supply for the fuel administration, expects within two weeks to announce a plan for federal control of the oil industry.

It is desired to put the plan into operation through voluntary action of producers and refiners, although the provisions of the law do not are available if need be.

The oil industry is to eliminate competition through fixing prices of crude oil in the various fields and setting a maximum figure on bonuses. If necessary to keep military needs of the allied nations fully supplied, allocation will be made from the Government's stocks.

It is considered likely the industry will shortly come into contact with government regulation through the necessity of applying for priority in supplies and price and machinery which supplies have been raked over, but the end of this source is now in sight.

IDAHO FOOD ADMINISTRATOR RECOMMENDS REGULATIONS TO SAFE GUARD CROPS

In order to prevent the loss of food stuffs from destructive fires, H. F. Bicknell, federal food administrator for Idaho, urgently recommends and requests that these food conservators observe the following regulations:

That, for the purpose of eliminating fires, every railroad employ a man, or men, to carefully inspect spark arresters, or other equipment, on engines before they leave the terminal for a trip; and keep a record of such inspection which can be referred to at any time by our duly authorized agents.

In the event that it becomes necessary to investigate the origin of a fire, that the farmers set their wheat stacks back at least one hundred feet from the railroad fence, and place a fire guard of at least three furrows between the stacks and the railroad.

That if farmers stack their hay and grain as far from the railroad tracks as possible, but where the stacks are left in the field within a quarter mile of the railroad, the fire guard be plowed round them; and the ground from which the hay and grain were taken be carefully raked and leveled removed as soon as possible.

That if, because of the wet weather, 100 foot wide or all ditch banks, where dry weeds and grass exist so great that fire might spread and burn up grain and other stored crops.

FIGHTING WAYS OF YANKEES MAKE HUNS THINK

LETTERS FROM PRISONERS INDICATE AMAZEMENT AT PEP AMERICANS PUT INTO FIGHT—INSTANCES OF HEROISM ARE MANY

By FRANK J. TAYLOR (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, July 31.—The rapid changes of the Americans is not only surprising ground, but it is also instilling fear into the Germans. Letters taken from prisoners today, and statements made by them, clearly show this.

There are many instances of American heroism.

At one town the Germans counter attacked, obliging the Americans to retreat temporarily. Then the enemy sent out a man under a white flag. He asked if the Americans wanted to surrender.

"Hell, no!" yelled their commander. "We are ready to attack." This resulted in the Americans taking the village and holding it permanently. The more intelligent Germans fear they won't be able to hold out much longer against the increasing allied forces.

"The German army couldn't hold two months longer at the present rate of losses," declared one German officer.

A Prussian prisoner was found to carry a letter written to his wife before the battle. He wrote: "The war is hopeless for us now that we are opposed to these ferocious Americans, who stand by default. Their artillery already has caused terrible losses. We must be annihilated by their infantry."

The American spirit and devotion to duty is amazing, said those who have watched the war and been on the battle field for four years. Time after time the Americans have charged into dense machine gun fire, through artillery barrages, and have brought back soldiers, who had been on the battle field for four years. REPORTS TO STAY

General Foch's strategy is still directed toward narrowing Von Hindenburg's maneuver group, so that the Germans may be caught in a trap. The east and west sides of the Aisne-Ourcq salient are so strongly held by the Germans as to make the work of pushing inward very difficult. General Foch is therefore, trying to push northward through the middle of the salient base of the Aisne. This is the operation in which the Americans along the Fismes railway are now engaged. If the maneuver succeeds the Aisne-Ourcq salient will become in shape like a V, the tops being represented from left to right by Gossau, Fismes and Reims. The Germans would be caught in the two salient corners along the Fismes railway. This is why Von Hindenburg is situated so strongly at the American divisions. It is the Americans who are driving him at bay.

FRESHING REPORTS FROM FRONT

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Reports of German counter attacks by American forces on the line of the Ourcq and improvement of the American positions was reported today by General Pershing.

"On the line of Ourcq the enemy has renewed his counter attacks and force back our advancing troops," Tosey's communique said. "In severe fighting we have repulsed his attacks and improved our positions."

NUMBER OF HUN PRISONERS IN YANKEES' HANDS MOUNTS UP

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Americans had taken out 800 German prisoners today on the present big drive, according to information at the war department today.

How many we have as a result of the present offensive is unknown as calling of constant prisoner reports has been superseded by mail and courier reports. Several thousand must be in American hands, however.
