IRKUTSK TAKEN IN ADVANCE OF CZECHO-SLOVAKS

OCCUPATION OF CITY OPENS LINE WESTWARD

American Consul-General Succeeds in Liberating French and English Citizens Held as Hostages

WASHINGTON, August 17.—Irkutsk has been captured by Czechoslovak forces assigned by Siberian troops, the state department announced today. A government favorable to the allies and in favor of war with Germany is being organized, the reports received here disclose.

Open Railway to Samara With the capture of Irkutsk railway communications westward to Samara have been opened, but the line through Moscow is still closed.

Irkutsk was captured July 27, after a battle in which 250 of the Czechoslovaks were killed, and 1,200 wounded. The state department advises which came from Consul Harris through Fejkiel, stated that the new Siberian government being organized had its headquarters at Omsk and would disregard the West-Litovsk treaty and favor war with Germany.

Rail conditions are still bad from Irkutsk eastward and the Amur branch is completely closed. Consul General Pool at Moscow reports that the Japanese consul general left Moscow on August 9. Pool could have left on that date also but conditions in Moscow to help plan British and French representatives, who are being threatened by the Bolsheviks.

Liberate Hostages Liberation of a large number of British and French hostages had been effected through the work of Pool and other representatives, but ninety are still being held prisoners although their condition is much better than formerly. Representatives of the Y. M. C. A., Red Cross and American financial institutions are still in Moscow, Pool reports.

Hasty preparations are being made to move the state bank and other government institutions from Moscow and private passenger and freight traffic is practically at a standstill.

W. W. W. CASE GOES TO JURY

Trial Closes When Attorneys for 100 Defendants Waive Final Statement

CHICAGO, August 17.—The big I. W. W. case here went to the jury today when attorneys for the 100 defendants charged with sabotage and sedition waived their right to a final statement.

Frank H. Nebeker, first attorney for the government, in his only closing argument devoted most of his time to summarizing his evidence intended to prove the defendants guilty of obstructing the draft, fighting conscription, discouraging enlistment and generally hampering war work.

"Soft handed and hard faced" was the mildest term he used in describing the defendants. The end of the case which began April 1 came so sudden that Federal Judge Landis was caught unprepared. Court adjourned for an hour while he prepared his instructions to the jury. The trial began April 1, attracting nation wide interest because of the charge that I. W. W. leaders had interfered with war work. Illness and other causes reduced the number of defendants to 99.

In addition to operations against Zebbrugge, bombs also were dropped on the Ostend docks and the airbase at Yarranage, where fires were observed.

The communique stated sixteen enemy machines and one balloon were driven down out of control. Three British machines are missing. A Zeppelin also was bagged over the North Sea and a direct hit with a bomb obtained on a German destroyer.

FRENCH AT GATES OF ROYE; ALLIED ADVANCE CONTINUES

Allies Pry Way Between Five Vital Points in Picardy—Occupy Junction of the Montdidier-Estrees-St. Denis Railway—Take St. Mars

PARIS, August 17 (4 p. m.)—The French are at the gates of Roze. They have occupied the advance defenses of the town southward of the river. They have also occupied the junction of the Montdidier-Estrees-St. Denis roads.

St. Mars has been taken after the fiercest fighting from house to house. The Germans had formidable defenses at this place.

Beyond Loges wood, the Germans were pushed back behind the Roze-Lassigny road.

Evacuation of the Roze-Lassigny-Noyon salient in the Picardy battle front appears imminent.

Almost yard by yard the French and British are prying their way between five vital points in Picardy, rendering the enemy holds on certain places more and more precarious.

French troops have penetrated to the city of Roze and are within a mile of Lassigny and are pushing northward toward Noyon, along the Oise valley.

Face Difficult Terrain Capture of the dominating Lassigny heights has given the French control of all the territory and all three towns are practically untenable.

They are now pushing slowly over the difficult country southward of Lassigny which in cut up into little hills and valleys and are ideal for machine gun nests.

It is fighting the present-shaped line around both Lassigny and Roze, exerting pressure on the horns of the crescent between Chitlais and Roze and between Lassigny and the two ends of both reserves.

Continues Pressure Meanwhile he is giving a thrust directly between Lassigny and Noyon. Further north the retreat is less pronounced.

From their new positions the French have under their guns Lutte de Preumont, Bois de Reverre and Mont-Remy.

They also cover Noyon from the westward and southwestward wherefor it would be a matter of time before the Germans will be forced to evacuate Lassigny—the seeming of the linkwork of the present line to go.

Advance Along Line Further north the British have taken additional gains along the Amere, about Lassigny and between Roze and the Somme.

In Flanders, British patrols continue to seize German positions around Ypres, Bapaume, and Moris and another enemy retirement, on the west side of the salient reserves probably.

Reports from Russia received through Bolshevik sources declare Czechoslovak forces have been surrounded in Karan on the Volga and that the city is being bombarded. In southern Russia a violent battle is raging between Bolshevik and counter forces. The Bolshevik claim to be still driving the allies back toward Omega in northern Russia.

USE OF GAS IS RECOMMENDED ON BIG SCALE

Germans Along Vesle Return to Old Tactics With a Vengeance—Franco-Americans Pour in Shells

By FRID S. FROBSON United Press Staff Correspondent

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, August 17.—Fighting along the Vesle river yesterday was the liveliest in several days.

The Germans shortly after midnight, opened with a bombardment which continued for hours. They used gas then at any time in more than a week. The big guns of the French and Americans answered viciously, shelling enemy positions from the heights just north of the Vesle, clear back to the Aisne.

American airmen who bombed many Aisne bridges effectively yesterday afternoon continued their operations today in an effort to complete the destruction of the bridges.

Will Hold Present Lines Traffic across the Aisne in the last few days has been much heavier than usual, according to observers. It consists largely of ammunition trucks loaded south and is accepted as indicating that the enemy has determined to hold the present line indefinitely.

Enemy bombing planes in great numbers tried to drop explosives on the French and American along the Vesle early this morning, but were driven off by anti-aircraft fire. They then slipped around the batteries and directed at troop positions on the French side where troops were quartered.

Arm Very Poor Their aim was poor, however, owing to the fact that it was still dark.

Many German machine gun nests on the edge of the plateau west of Fismette were destroyed by an American barrage. Observers reported that nine machine gun were put out of commission and that all the gunners were killed.

German Ambassador Withdraws from Kiev--Bulgarian and Turkish Ministers Leave Moscow

WASHINGTON, August 17.—German intention to break with the Bolsheviks and throw an army into Russia to combat the allied forces in the east was seen by astute diplomats in various developments on the east front reported here in official cables today.

Withdrawal of German Ambassador Von Mumm from Kiev, is declared to indicate that the Germans intend to depend upon their military forces in the Ukraine to carry out the elaborate program of levies on the wheat crop of southern Russia.

Next in importance is the arrival from Moscow of the Bulgarian and Turkish ministers to Russia. Peeling against both of these diplomats was said to have been had on account of Bulgarian and Turkish violations of Russian territorial integrity and reports that several attempts at the lives of both men were frustrated by the Bolsheviks.

The German ambassador to Russia and his staff at Petrograd are reported to be protected by heavy naval guards from German warships. Only 50 miles away they are reported to be safely on the ships at the height of an uprising.

This opinion here is that the Germans realize that the Bolsheviks are preparing for re-establishment of the eastern battle line far within Russian territory as is possible. Military experts are inclined to believe that when the allies demonstrate that they can reorganize Russia for the fight, Germany will quickly prepare to make a stand on a line from Riga southward to Kharkov or the Dnieper river to the Black Sea.

This line would be shorter than the old German-Russian battle front and it would also protect Bulgaria from the east and hold Roumania practically under the domination of the central powers. A number of military men hold the view that Germany will make a spectacular sweep on Petrograd and also will seize Moscow.

The German press is very pessimistic concerning the Bolsheviks according to reports. Berlin papers admit its disappointment on being unable to depend on Bolsheviks, which is in danger of momentary collapse.

ARMY INCREASES MUST BE BORNE BY AMERICA

No Chance for France or England to Add to Number of Men in Field

WASHINGTON, August 17.—A plan that the proposed new draft ages of 18 to 45 may be still further extended or the deferred classes entered before the war is won, was given by General March, chief of staff, testifying recently before the senate military committee.

"It is not beyond the range of possibility that this congress will have to authorize the increase of other classes of men over there that we can. Every one will have hardships."

"No man can win war without hardships."

March made it clear that there is little possibility of France or England greatly increasing their armies. Referring to a question of Senator Kirby, regarding the strength of England and France. As it becomes clearer that the people are demanding that nothing shall delay military officials in executing the mammoth program under their charge.

Armed With Valise Hero Saves the Day

Courage Manifests Itself in Strange Ways—Here is an Unique Example

LONDON, August 17.—A wounded officer, just home, states that there are dozens of different phenomena of heroism.

He tells of a young sub who never had been up the line before and was only there through a chance visit from his quarters to a vignette attack which was the result of a vicious attack.

He was injured by the terrific shelling and blood trembling in every limb. With a shameful effort he made a dash for the trench and was on his feet in a few minutes.

A critical position arose on the left where a detachment had lost all its officers and was wavering. Out of the trench stepped this boy. He had only a valise in his hand.

Running in front of the wavering company, he signalled it to come forward. "Retreat!" he called. "Follow me!" he called. "Follow me!" he called. "Follow me!" he called. "Follow me!" he called.

A union among them was recently organized. Superintendent Noonan of the plan says 135 men are out. Union leaders claim that 2,000 men have quit and that only twenty men are on the job.

Stockyards officials claim that only 62 cars of stock were received today and that disposition of these was uninterupted.

WORST OF WAR IS LOOKED FOR NEXT SUMMER

Plans of War Department Indicate a Culmination of the Fighting Program Probably Around June 1

WASHINGTON, August 17.—The war department today announced nine "contingents" from the west front, divided as follows: Killed in action, 17; died of wounds, 1; died of accident and other causes, 2; wounded severely, 31; wounded, degree undetermined, 29; missing in action, 19.

This was the interpretation placed by authorities on General March's statement before the senate military committee that the 200,000 men available under the new draft will be in France by June, 1919, and will be 4,000,000 Americans then there, the allies can penetrate the German lines at will.

Little expectation is held that the war will end this year. A high official in the government, conceals the stages by which the war would be ended as follows:

Program in Detail "Maximum man power in Europe" by next summer. "Mammoth allied drive, as soon as possible thereafter, surpassing in size and force anything previously attempted, with the view of inflicting decisive defeat on the German army."

"Peace bid from Germany late in 1919, and sufficient guarantee from her to make possible an armistice. Signing of the peace treaty in the winter of 1919 or early in 1920."

Heavy Registrations To get the 2,000,000 new draftees which the program now calls for, Crowded plans to register 13,000,000 men early next month. Draft officials throughout the country are getting ready for this gigantic task. Men will begin to leave for camps almost as soon as they are classified, Crowder said.

An appeal to congress to speed up action on the draft bill was being voiced throughout the country today.

America To Top "The only way that the Germans can be whipped is by America going into this thing with her whole strength. The allies have superiority in man power on the western front today for the first time because the American troops are there in large numbers," said General March.

MILITARY MEN NOT AGREED ON MARCH'S PLAN

Believe Establishment of Other Fronts Just as Vital to Winning of War as Concentration in France

ATTACK CENTRAL POWERS FROM EAST AND SOUTH

Hammer the Enemy's Rear Is Their Idea—March Declares Other Offensive Impractical—Allies Differ Too

WASHINGTON, August 17.—Despite the opinion of high military officials that the war must be entirely won at the western front, others, including European military men and diplomats, are still hopeful today that America and the allies will attack the central powers from their sides.

Troops Promised Italy Announcement recently by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt that more American troops would be sent to Italy, gave hope to Serbian, Greek and Italian representatives that the United States would hammer Germany's rear just as hard as along the western front. Chief of Staff March, however, followed this testimony before the senate military affairs committee that the war must be won almost entirely on the western front and intimated that offensives in Russia, the Balkans or Palestine were impractical.

Allies Undecided Opinion as to the wisdom of these policies is strongly divided here, as by a host of English, French and German, where Hindenburg is the leading "Easterer."

General March, supported by the general staff, has announced that the United States has adopted Napoleon's strategy of striking the enemy where he is at his strongest point. President Wilson is believed to have been won over to this view for the time being.

Serbs Want Italy Serbian and Italian representatives here believed that Germany could be more quickly and completely defeated by a blow in the Balkans which would detach Bulgaria and Turkey from the central powers.

Austria under heavy pressure would soon crumble, it is believed, leaving Germany with exposed flanks. Constitution of the eastern front in Russia would also be a part of this general plan, it is said.

Advocates of the eastern front strategy say that to fight Germany with a blow in the Balkans is to ignore the political aspirations of Germany in the east.

Huns Seek Balkan Territory In this vast undeveloped region, rich resources, Germany expects to get her claws. She would be willing to give up all the western allies ask along the French frontier, including Belgium, it is believed, if she were sure she would be given a clean sweep in Russia and the Balkans. But to permit this would be fatal to the allied aim in the war, it is held.

Military men favoring concentration of efforts on the western front say that allied forces cannot be divided. So long as Germany is undefeated in France and not pushed back to her lines, she will continue to be a menace, and victory will not be complete.

Officials Disagree Other military critics, however, declare that throwing forces on the eastern frontiers Germany would be forced to weaken her western front to get men for defense, and that in addition the allies would be favored by steadily increasing forces augmented by nations in the various neighborhoods of Germany on the east who fear her victory.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, August 16.—Captain Biddle of Philadelphia, forced down a German Rumppler plane at Nancy yesterday. The pilot was killed and the observer wounded but the machine was captured intact.

Biddle received a personal letter from General Pershing two months ago when he was shot down and landed in No Man's land, where he remained more than a day and escaped under shell fire.

American bombing planes again attacked the railway yards at Dommary-Baroncourt near Metz. Several tracks were observed to have been destroyed.

NEW STUDY OF A "LAUGHING HEINIE"

MANPOWER NOW GREATEST NEED OF HUN ARMIES

War-Wearied Austro-Hungarians Requested by Kaiser to Help Fight Along the West Front

AMERICA'S PART NOW REALIZED IN GERMANY

Situation Growing Steadily More Desperate With Increasing Pressure by Allied Armies on Every Hand

By J. W. T. MASON (United Press War Expert)

NEW YORK, August 17.—Nothing shows more convincingly the desperate search for manpower by Germany than the Kaiser's demand for war-weary Austro-Hungarian troops to fight along the west front.

Only as a final expedient will Von Hindenburg dare to trust any part of his line to the keeping of the Austro-Hungarians. With the Germans themselves unable to hold fast before Marshal Foch's blows there is no possibility that the Hapsburgers can prevent Germany's defeat when America's massive strength is put to the task.

The terrible fact is now beginning to be realized at German headquarters that when America's millions have taken over their protracted front along the Alsace-Lorraine border, there will be no quiet sector anywhere in the west front with what had befallen him. He from the North sea to Switzerland. (The talked English), without great difficulty, and responding to questions, gave his youthful opinion of affairs in Germany. Nothing he said was new, but in endeavoring to sum it up he used this expression: "The people are through, but the state fights on."

GERMAN KNOWS FACTS

These facts are well known at German headquarters. The German militarists have long been sparing in their criticism of the progress of the Austro-Hungarian armies. Germany has had to come to the relief of the Hapsburgers too often during the past four years to be quick any disclaimers. Therefore, when the Kaiser calls upon Austria for the west front, it is known that he has no further offensive ambitions.

Defensive fighting and slow retreat heretofore are the best he can count upon. No where can he trust the Austro-Hungarians to hold any large sector of the front. If used at all they must be brigaded with Germans and even then their reluctance to fight as mercenaries for the Hohenzollerns will not be overcome. The Kaiser is now confronted with the crushing fact that one of his allies can supply adequate reserves to relieve the ceaseless slaughter of German manpower while the entire nations have as their reserve force the United States of America.

WASHINGTON, August 17.—Here's what John Jones of anywhere in America is taxed under the house way and means revenue bill if he happens to have an income of $5,000 a year, a wife and three children, $1,000 in life insurance, $2,000 fire insurance, and a Ford:

Five per cent tax on his income (accounting for flat exemption of $2,000 for being married and $200 for each of his children, $120. Flat tax of $10 on his Ford. Tax on life insurance, $120. Tax on fire insurance, $20. Then of course there is his gasoline which will run at least 45 a year at two cents a gallon, and his movie taxes, to say nothing of his club taxes and levies on his wife's clothing, cosmetics and other things all of which would bring his total tax to between $175 and $200 a year. If he's in business or a profession it would be more.

Czecho-Slovaks Take Vladivostok When Lenin Instructions to Bolshevik Miscarried in Transmission

SIBERIA'S GREATEST PORT ON THE PACIFIC

Soviet Forces Utterly Rout, Torpedo Boats Boarded by Japanese and British Officers, and Crews Surrender

TOKYO.—Vladivostok fell into the hands of the Czecho-Slovaks because a Lenin order went astray. The order provided that the Czechs at Vladivostok were to be disarmed by the Bolsheviks on Sunday, June 30. The Czechs learned of the order Friday, June 28. They spent a busy Saturday, and by midnight June 29, they were in command of Siberia's greatest Pacific port.

Saturday morning a Czech ultimatum was presented to the local soviet to disarm their Red Guards and to hand over to the Czechs all of their weapons. Half an hour was given to complete the disarmament. The soviet refused. Thereupon the soviet was declared to be dissolved, and orders were given to arrest its delegates and all the prominent Bolsheviks in town.

Meanwhile in the harbor, the soviet torpedo-boats Dravay, Trevely, Toehay and Malaloff loosed their anchors and attempted to put out to sea. The British cruiser Suffolk silently turned her headstern to the approaching torpedo boats and cleared her guns for action. The Japanese cruiser Asahi signalled the Bolshevik boats to halt. They obeyed. A British and Japanese officer boarded each vessel and the crews surrendered without resistance.

Occupation is Complete. Ashore the Czechs, strengthened by marines from the British and Japanese cruisers, quickly occupied all strategic points, powder magazines, railway stations and public buildings. Anti-Bolshevik forces lined the busy downtown streets, the Alutskaya and Gvirlenskaya. Traffic was stopped and business suspended.

Without bloodshed, dozens of Bolsheviks were arrested and led away while the people in the streets cheered.

Czech Guard Shot Down

At 3 p. m. a Czech guard approached the Bolshevik fortress and demanded its surrender. He was shot down. For two hours machine guns poured a never-ending stream of bullets into the fortress. The Red Guard garrison was unable to approach the windows to return the fire. Crowds watched the fight in silence from every point of vantage.

Suddenly there was a tremendous explosion. A Czech had crawled near the fortress under the machine gun barrage and had thrown a mine into the building. Fire started in the fortress and a white flag was run up. The fight was over.

The Czech casualties were four killed and 15 wounded. The soviet lost 47 killed and 108 wounded.

Germans Preparing Another Offensive?

Departure of Correspondents from Berlin May Mean New Attempt

AMSTERDAM, August 16.—Neutral military attaches have gone to the Amiens front, according to a Berlin dispatch received here today. This announcement supposedly indicates fresh operations in that region. The day before the start of the German offensive in Picardy, March 21, all neutral attaches and war correspondents were unceremoniously herded to the front.

Useful Electric Lantern.

Among the numerous electric lanterns is a mechanical one, standing about a foot high, that provides its own current. A spring motor, wound up like a clock, drives a small generator, and this supplies current for a lamp bulb of 12-candle power. The motor, generator and governor are contained in a box six by eight inches in size. Such a lantern is useful for the camp, the farm, or other place, and can be carried about in all kinds of weather.

Road's Thick Ice Foundation.

At one point of a road recently constructed in Alaska, there is a solid ice foundation. At the surface there is a two-foot layer of moss and tundra, but previous mining operations at this point proved that there is a forty-foot bed of clear ice and six feet of gravel between the surface layer and bed rock.

PLANS ATLANTIC AIR ROUTE

Maj. Gen. W. S. Branner of the British army has been in Washington to establish an air route from the United States to Europe in order to bring the full force of American effort in the air to bear against Germany. Plans are already well advanced for the initial air flight to take place in August.

General Branner believes that all-planes drives with Liberty motors will be crossing the Atlantic in fleets next summer.

The Aero Club of America is in hearty accord with General Branner's plans and already has asked for bids for airplanes capable of making the trip in a machine for the purpose.

FIRST AMERICAN TRAINED ACE

Lieut. Douglas Campbell of California has the honor of being the first aviator trained in America to reach the coveted position of "ace." He brought down his fifth German airplane in a fight back of the American lines, and since then has added others to his score.

Campbell never trained with any other outfit than the Americans, and never did any air fighting before he arrived on the American front.

Campbell is the son of the chief astronomer of the Lick observatory, near Pasadena, Cal. He joined the American air service after the United States entered the war and came to France and began practice flying last

GUNNER DEDEW

Albert N. Dewey

EX-GUNNER AND CHIEF MEMBER OF THE FORCE CAPTAIN GUN TURRET. WINNER OF THE

A day or two after the order standing outside the barracks when I saw this fellow come out a diving board in his hand. I thought he was going to smash somebody, so I stood by. But he stooped and jammed one end of the board against the threshold of the barracks, scratched the ground with the foot of the board and measured it. He kept this up, length by length, the direction of the Russian barracks. The entry in the yard stopped stared at him, but the fellow right on, paying no attention to body. Pretty soon he was right in the entry's feet and I thought any more the entry would give him the but he just started a wheel and passed. That lad measured the distance to the Russian barracks inside, stayed a while and strolled back with the board under arm. When he reached outside again he told us he had found mine. What he had found was thing not so unusual—a bonnet German.

There was a lot of bamboo in Russian barracks and the bamboo broke out of it and then in to the Germans. For this got all the good jobs in the barracks and had a fine chance to get in. But they were treated like rats that were in the bunch. The knew that a Cossack never forgets to get revenge for the slightest treatment, even if it means his life. I have seen sentries turn and beat the heat they were walking and go of the way when they saw a Cossack. There were very few acks there, however. I do not they let themselves get captured often.

We had roll call every morning, and were always mustered front of our barracks, the middle line being right at the barracks door. Sometimes when the roll call too much for them, the men on the door would duck into the barracks. As they left the ranks other men would close up and kept the line even, with the center opposite the barracks door. For almost all of the men would be in barracks and by the time the roll over not one remained outside. It seemed to prove the Germans of a great deal, but they did not put us for it until we had been doing for some time.

For several days I had noticed someone else vanished for two who had disappeared; at least I did not see them for some time. I did not think much about it, or ask questions, and I did not hear any one talk about it, but I was sure the two men, a Russian and a Britisher, had escaped. But they were marked present at roll call and accounted for. Everything went all right until one day when the name "Fontaine" came up without being answered. Fontaine was a French man from the Cambrian Range that was the first time he had not been present. We saw what was coming and we began to get pretty sore Fontaine for not telling us, so we answered for him and kept the case covered.

The minute they found our cover-up they knew they were in a square of sentries came all the way to the day where we were.

All day long we stood there, falling one by one and getting kicked or beaten each time until we dragged ourselves up again. Two or three times I do not know the exact number. But we had enough strength when ordered upstairs barracks. Now, I knew what these things were like and how brutal the German doctors were in giving an injection, so I wanted to be the very first man and not have to witness the other men getting theirs. So I pushed up to the head of the line, with the crew of H. M. S. Nomad, who had been captured in the Jutland battle, and by the time we got to the hospital was the very first man in line. But the sentry threw me back and there were several men ahead of me. Each of them bared his chest and the doctors slashed them across the breast with a very thin knife, so you can see that it was very painful. When it came to my turn they slashed me three times in the shape of a triangle just to one side of the breast. And that was all there was to it—no injection, nothing on the knife that I could see. Now, I do not know what the idea was. Every man of us was dizzy for the rest of the day and could not do anything but lay across the barracks. And hardly any of us had a drop, though the cables were deep. I do not think we had any blood in us to run, and that is the truth of it. It was

They Slashed Me Three Times.

Another German trick that no one could explain. One day a war correspondent named Janet, from a Chicago paper, came to the camp and went through all the barracks. When he came to our barracks I told him I was an American and asked for the crew. Instead of answering he began to ask all sorts of questions. Finally, after I had told him I had been in the French service, he asked him if he could help me in any way. He answered that I had only myself to blame and that I deserved no right if I had been in one of the allied armies.

I did not like his looks much and he seemed unfriendly, but when he began smoking a cigarette I almost drove my brain and I could not help asking for one. He refused me and said I should have stayed in my own country, where I could have had plenty of cigarettes. After a while he threw away a cigarette stub and not only I but three or four others who were near got a divo for it. A man named Keller got it—a crazy man who would brand anything he could find.

When my three weeks were up and had not heard from Mr. Gerard I was about ready to go down to the lake and pick out a vacant spot and stay down in it. I really do not think I could have lasted two weeks longer. Just about that time, as I was talking back to barracks one day, a man named Shorley, a German newspaper and there in large type on top of the first page it said that Mr. Gerard had left the country, or was getting ready to leave. They had dug the road to the way to the barracks and throw snow on me before time to.

Gerard Dewey's interview with Mr. Dewey took place at the Dulles airport on or about February 1, 1917. On January 2 a British department demanded the release of sixty-two Americans held on British vessels and held as prisoners in Germany. On the same day, President Wilson severed diplomatic relations with Germany. Ambassador Gerard departed exactly one week later. The newspaper that Gunner Dewey saw must have been issued after February 7, 1917, and not until March 2, 1917, however, that Gerard Dewey was actually released from captivity.—Editor's Note.

LIONS COMBINE LINES

Justus General H. T. McCain, in recognition of his efficient work on this side, would be placed in command of the twelfth division, at Camp Devens Mass.

He will be succeeded by Brigadier General Peter Harber, who will be acting adjutant general, March 31. The eightieth division is now in training with the British in Flanders and the eighty-second division is holding a part of the line north of Toul. The 20th field artillery has not yet been engaged in action. American troops in Italy have not been put into the fighting.

Brands Misreatment Story False
Reports that American prisoners in Germany have been strangled, had had treatment were denied by March, who said that after careful investigation through Spanish representatives, American prisoners had been found to be treated the same as those of other allied nations.

The men were inspected, unannounced by the Spanish, March said. When congress reconvenes a number of brigadier generals will be recommended for promotion to the rank of major general, March said.

The great oil fields from German control. At Vladivostok the allies will conduct the extermination of the Czech-Slovaks, who are fighting for the allies, and at the same time will give practical economic assistance to all Russians who are too proud to work.

There is a romantic interest in these three expeditions, for the like of them has never before been attempted in war. Although the Bolshevik government is declaring war on the allies for not respecting the sovereignty of the Moscow government, the allies not only are not retreating but are offering industrial, commercial and agricultural help to all Bolsheviks who will accept.

No Interference
No interference with the Russian revolution has been attempted by the western democracies. The allies are keeping outside of the triangle with the revolutionists inside. The policy in the end will save Russia and will prove a stimulus to world democracy.

Will you accept the aid of the course of international relations.

When a few days from land Spanish influenza broke out on board. The infection spread rapidly, claiming five days before reaching port and about four weeks before reaching port all symptoms of the epidemic disappeared.

Hollanders told stories of poor food conditions in their native country, one man declaring he had 69 pounds as a result of the shortage of foodstuffs.

Norwegian Protest Sinking of Ships

OSLUNDEN, August 17.—The Norwegian government has protested to Germany against the torpedoing and sinking of large government cargo-carrying vessels a few days ago.

The Sonnerstad, a steel steamer of 2,575 tons, was sunk 25 miles west of the Iron Islands on the morning of August 12. According to the United States government report all of her crew of thirty were saved. Captain George Hansen declared the torpedo which sank the steamer struck the ship before striking, giving rise to the belief that Germany may have perfected a wireless controlled torpedo.

Unrest Is Growing Among Sinn Feiners

Several Arrests Made in Dublin and Many Meetings Held Over Country

DUBLIN, August 17.—Some arrests occurred here late yesterday as a result of Sinn Fein meetings, twenty of which were broken up by the police.

Many Sinn Fein meetings were held throughout Ireland yesterday and the day before, but there was little excitement, as in most cases the police arrived after the gatherings had dispersed voluntarily.

Spokane District Leads Country in Amount of Money Loaned During July—Baltimore District Smallest

WASHINGTON, August 17.—Farmers of the United States were advanced $7,823,901 during the month of July, the federal farm loan board announced today. This figure, nearly $500,000 less than was loaned during June, brings the outstanding loans to the farmers to $417,230,044.

Marking the July loans is the fact that seven of the farm loan banks had calls for sums ranging around $600,000. This even distribution officials believe evidences a generally healthy condition of American farmers' finances. The Spokane district received $1,229,730 and led all others, while the Baltimore district called for less than $500,000, the smallest sum advanced to any district for any month this year.

Delinquencies are on the decline both in payment of interest and amortization, officials reported. Only two districts, Columbia and New Orleans, however, have a clean record.

Bolsheviki Claim Czechs Surrounded

AMSTERDAM, August 17.—Soviet forces have surrounded Kazan, held by the Czechs-Slovaks and are bombarding it, according to a dispatch from Moscow today.

Another soviet army, advancing on Orenburg, where a new allied expedition has landed in northern Russia, has captured Kirovka.

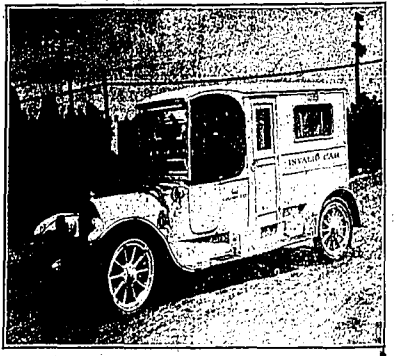

On the southern front, probably the Don region, where the Czechs are fighting (northward) there is violent fighting.

RED CROSS KNITTING TO CONTINUE UNINTERRUPTED

Stating that the survey of the local situation with reference to government needs probably will not interfere with the completion of present Red Cross knitting allotments, Earl Kirkpatrick, director of development, under approval of C. D. Stinson, northwestern division manager for the American Red Cross, is a letter to all chapter chairmen, declares that Red Cross knitting is needed and the needs of the Red Cross will be taken care of by the headquarters board next to the needs of the government itself.

Following is a copy of this letter received by Captain H. W. Wilson, chairman of the Twin Falls County Red Cross chapter:
"Some of this morning's papers carry a dispatch from Washington, D. C., stating that Red Cross knitting is being held up somewhat pending a survey of the local situation with reference to government needs. At most chapters in this division have already received the full amount of yarn for their present knitting allotments, the division office will expect the completion of the allotment as given. The division manager, acting under instructions from national headquarters, will not sell any more yarn until further notice, but will doubtless be authorized to release yarn to chapters where the present knitting allotments are completed.
"Red Cross knitting is needed and the needs of the Red Cross will be taken care of by the war industries board next to the needs of the government itself."

THE CROSBY COMPANY'S NEW INVALID CAR

SEVERAL years ago The Crosby Company, as an accommodation to the public, put in service an ambulance devoted exclusively to the transportation of the sick.

It's other vehicles have never been used for that purpose—both for reasons of sanitation and health.

The ambulance is now mounted on a Cadillac chassis and is the only motor vehicle in this section operated solely as an ambulance—and the second in all of Southern Idaho.

It is very easy riding, electrically lighted and moderately equipped in all respects.

RURAL SCHOOLS DELAY OPENING FOR ELECTIONS

Sessions in Twin Falls Begin First Week in September—Country Districts Generally Start Week Later

Allowing one day for the observance of Labor Day, Monday, September 2, the 1918-19 term in the Twin Falls city schools will open on Tuesday, September 3, while in most of the rural districts of the county the date of the opening of schools has been set for Monday, September 9, the events of Labor Day and of the primary election falling successive days of the first week of September being taken into consideration generally as factors breaking into the first school week to so serious an extent as to make the postponement of the opening desirable.

Institue to Institute
The sessions of teachers' institute, heretofore generally preliminary to the opening of the school year will be deferred this year until October, when the institute for several counties of southeastern Idaho, including Twin Falls county, will convene at Portello, Idaho.
