Enemy Pours in Fresh Divisions in Effort to Hold Lines—British Carrying Out Flanking Movement North of City

By JOHN DE GANDT (United Press Staff Correspondent)
PARIS, August 19.—The French are in the suburbs of Roye. The British are carrying out a flanking movement north of the town. Extraordinary artillery fighting is under way in the whole Roye sector. The Germans in a desperate effort to hold the town are pouring in fresh divisions which have been withdrawn from other parts of the front within the past 24 hours. The attack between the Oise and the Aisne started yesterday evening has resulted in recapture of thirty square kilometers of territory. The French are in possession of important positions west of Nampool and are aiming at envelopment of Ouracaps, between Ribecourt and Carlepoint, with resultant control of all the roads leading northward to Moyon.

In the last twenty-four hours the allies have taken more than three thousand prisoners.

QUIT CAR BEFORE IT PLUNGES OVER GRADE

Four Young Men of Rupert Have Close Call in Accident at Blue Lakes

The report is current here this morning that four Rupert young men on the halpin train from the grade at the north side of Snake river canyon at Blue Lakes Sunday afternoon, quit their Overland car just before it plunged backward over the canyon wall a distance of between 75 and 100 feet to destruction. The names of the young men have not been ascertained. Statement of persons at Blue Lakes is that they were ascending the grade in the car and stopped at the turn to allow a team to pass. The driver reversed his drive when attempting to start. With the exception of the driver, the other men in the party were outside the car when it started. The driver jumped out just before the car plunged over the canyon wall. It is reported that the driver went back to the scene of the accident this morning to remove the tires from the wreck, other parts of the car being totally destroyed.

FOOD RIOTING IN JAPAN MAY CAUSE REVOLT

Profiteers Stir Up Class Hatred With Extortionate Profits—Cabinet May Be Upset by Situation

SOLDIERS CALLED UPON TO RESTRAIN THE MOB

Wrath of Working Classes Directed Against the Rich—Wealth from War Industry Flows Only to Capitalists

WASHINGTON, August 19.—Food rioting in Japan threatens to develop into a political revolt unless prompt steps are taken by the Tokyo government to provide rice for the population, according to the unofficial view here today.

German agents may be working among the masses to stir up disorder by taking advantage of the profiteering situation, which is rapidly becoming acute there, it is believed. Anti-anarchists, who are strenuously opposing Japanese plans for intervention in Siberia, are also being kept busy by urging the people to hold spots which might upset the present ministry.

Rioting Rampant

Officials here were reluctant to draw conclusions from the rioting reported in all parts of the island empire. That the germ of class revolution may be spreading to Japan is regarded possible. Japan's political system has modified greatly in recent years and the democratic front of the European nations is becoming stronger especially since the war began and the democratic nations have become more closely associated with Japan.

Details of the rioting are arriving several days later but information here attributed the immediate outbreak to the food situation. Profiteers in rice have cornered the market and are holding the price beyond reach of the middle-paid classes.

Social Class Approaches

War industries in Japan have thrived under the demand for munitions and the wealthy have grown more wealthy, while the poor find it more difficult to meet living costs.

Rioters are reported to have stoned some of the wealthy, breaking into restaurants and rice-depots and attacking "dacha" girls as they rode through the streets.

Conditions are freely made here that a social crisis is fast approaching. Senior department officials attribute the outbreak entirely to the desperate food situation in Japan. Rice has practically doubled in price since the war began, and wages have continued very low. Japanese speculators have been hoarding rice to force a higher price, and the government is greatly concerned over their actions.

Steps to Break Trust

Steps to break up the rice trust have already been taken. Among them is prohibition of exportation of rice.

Measures against rice speculation may be taken and it is almost certain that the government will buy vast quantities to distribute to the people at cost. Officials scout the theory that pro-German and Bolshevik activities are responsible for the uprising and declare socialist thought is entirely absent in the rioting. There is no political significance in the outbreak, they say; through the steps national military police the government will be able to hold a strong hand over the masses and shortly put down disorders, officials say.

Rioters Declare Hoarding Exists

TOKYO, August 16.—Soldiers have been called out in practically every large city of Japan to aid the police in restraining mobs which have resorted to wanton destruction of the property of rich men. The riots are the outgrowth of the rice riots which began a week ago. Mobs at first contented themselves with raiding rice shops and demanding lower prices. Japanese farmers have hoarded 150,000,000 bushels of rice the rioting people demand.

In some places also police have shown sympathy for the mobs and have refused to disperse them. Disorders which started in Tokyo Tuesday were quelled by police with the aid of troops.

SPY-HUNTING ON PRESIDENT'S BEHALF CHIEF OCCUPATION OF ENTIRE VILLAGE

Chief Executive Motors from Place to Place Among Towns of Massachusetts While Self-Appointed Sleuths Aid in Trailing Strangers

MAGNOLIA, Mass., August 19.—Two hundred persons are hunting Gorman spies here today in an effort to help the United States secret service men guard President Wilson. Those who do the spy-catching fancy themselves greatly with the village population—600 inhabitants and 600 summer residents.

The big hunt began at breakfast time when it became generally known that President Wilson has been resting here since Thursday.

"I have suspected that man with the upturned mustache and the foreign accent for several days," said a man at the breakfast table. He had lived eight years in Berlin. "Yesterday he spoke about the president being here and tried to get me to talk about him. You mark my word that man is a spy looking for information."

The man from Buffalo, who had been telling how breakfast food is manufactured remarked: "There might be something in it," and passed it along to the man sitting next him, who told it to his wife. She told it to a friend on the veranda, while the two were knitting socks for the soldiers. So the story was whispered about the village through the summer cottages and in the hotel lobby. Everybody knew the man with the upturned mustache and the foreign accent was being watched and everybody watched him. "Then everybody tried to watch everybody else."

Tin Hat Useful But Not Very Becoming

Resembles Bad Practical Joke But Nothing Will Take Its Place

LONDON, August 19.—The tin hat at the best of times looks rather like a bad practical joke. Nevertheless, it has saved many a valuable life. Some of the old men veterans still regard it as an invention of doubtful utility. One day one of them was struck on the head by a shrapnel and the only thing that saved him from instant death was his steel helmet. On coming round his ungrateful verdict was:

"Shook us something 'orrible, that did. I never did like them tin hats!" Tommy is now an expert in finding a use for this possession. He will use it as a sauceman, a seat, a wash-basin, or a weapon; and it is no uncommon sight to see a couple of eggs boiling in one of them, minus the lining, over a blazing ground flare. But if he is ever photographed in it, it is certainly not from choice!

WASHINGTON, August 19.—Spain is nearer the brink of war today. Authorities Believe 250 Moderate Estimate of U-Boats Destroyed

Crews of Sunken Submarines Number 8,000 of Best German Sailors

LONDON, August 19.—(British admiralty wireless).—The naval correspondent of the Sunday Observer points out that, in addition to the 160 submarines which Premier Lloyd George recently declared the British alone had sunk, that a good proportion of the "doubtful cases" may be regarded as destroyed and that the number may be safely raised to 250. Another fifty probably have been destroyed by French, Italian and American. The fact that 250 submarines have been accounted for may be regarded as a moderate estimate. The crews of the destroyed vessels either are drowned or are prisoners and must number at least 8,000 of the most highly trained German sailors. Probably the number is a great deal more.

His Little Mother Is His Sweetheart

Wounded Giant Struck by Shell Made Happy by Letter from Home

By FRANK J. TAYLOR (United Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN TROOPS IN LORETTA, "Big Fellow" was a borehound, and when a shell crashed near his shed it put him low. They brought him to the hospital and gave him treatment, and found he would be all right after some time. He was damaged, but not beyond repair.

They admired him for his quiet, uncomplaining manner, and for his size. His arm was bigger than most men's legs, and his head was like a ham. He was a giant, but a gentle giant, and a bashful one, and everyone liked him. The nurse often tried to do something for him, but he seemed always satisfied when he made no trouble for anyone. Finally she brought him some cigarettes, and some writing paper, and asked if he wanted her to write a letter.

Gets Letter from Mother

He looked up appreciatively. "Well, I don't crack," he said, "I don't drink nor chew, and I try not to swear, but I can't help it sometimes. I don't write, either, except to one person, and that's my little mother. She's my best girl. If you'll write to her for me I'll appreciate it, and I'll write when my hand gets better."

The nurse wrote the letter—he dictated to her, and it was short, but right to the point. He didn't beat about the bush when he wrote to his "little mother." He told her how much he loved her.

He was quiet and largely unnoticed for the next few days, and his improvement was marked. Everyone was glad to see the "Big Fellow" get well. It seemed all wrong to have a giant wounded.

One day he beamed on his nurse. "Look at that," he said, showing her a envelope. "Got a letter from my best girl. Maybe I'm not cracked."

The letter was from the "Big Fellow's" little mother.

"Growing-Going-Gone"

QUARTER DEPEND Albert N. Depew

EX-GUNNER AND CHIEF PETTY-OFFICER, U. S. NAVY MEMBER OF THE FOREIGN LEGION OF FRANCE CAPTAIN GUN TURRET, FRENCH BATTLESHIP CASSARD WINNER OF THE CROIX DE GUERRE

But not twice, nor did I see him anywhere around, for which I was sorry. But all the boys came down to the barbed wire, or to the gate, and some were crying, and others were shouting, and all of them were very much excited.

I did not want to hear any more, but rushed into the barracks again, singing and whistling and yelling as loud as I could. The boys told me my face was very red and I guess what little blood I had in my body had rushed to my head, because I could hardly walk for a few minutes.

Then the men began to think I was crazy, and none of them believed I would really be released, but that I was going to be sent to the mines, as so many were. But I believed it, and I just sat there on my bunk and began to dream of the food I would get and what I would eat first, and so on.

I did not sleep that night—just walked from barracks to barracks until they chased me away, and then I went down in my own handkerchiefs to the rear of the night. When I got to the Russian barracks and told the two doctors my news, they would not believe me at all, although they had there had been some important visitor at the camp.

But when I walked out of my door I said, "Dobra vetshak," which means "Good night!" Then they must have believed me, for they called me back, and all the men gave me addresses of people to write to in case I should get away.

They were all talking at once, and one of the doctors got very excited and started to run down in his hands in the air. "Albert," he said, "if you have the God-given luck to get out of Germany—not for my sake, but for the sake of us who are here in this hell-hole, promise me you will tell all the people wherever you go that you are doing us to help. Tell them not to send money, for we can't use money, and not meat—just bread, bread."

And when I looked around all the men were sitting on their beds crying and tearing their hair and saying, "bread, bread, bread," over and over again. Then each tried to give me something, as if to say that even if they did not get out, perhaps their buttons or belt or skull cap would get back to civilization.

When I left their barracks I began to cry, because it did not seem possible that I was going away, and all the men on the street were waving slowly, just as I had been starting.

The next morning a sentry came to my barracks, called out my name and took me to the commander of the camp. They searched me, and then they drilled me back to barracks again. Then the men all thought they were just playing a joke on me, and they said so.

The same thing happened the next day, and when one of the men said that probably I would be slammed up against a wall and shot, I began to feel shaky. I can tell you.

But the third morning after they had searched me, the commander said, "Well, you'd better to have a bath before you leave the country," and I was so glad that I did not mind about the bath, although I remembered the last one I had and I did not agree very well with me. After the bath, they drilled me out into the road. There were four sentries with me,

"INTOLERANCE" COMING TO THE ORPHAN

When Euripides founded the drama he gave to the world a form of entertainment that has lasted 2,000 years without a change, or rather without a new idea being injected into it.

Besides the heights to which this splendid art has attained, this foundation of love's struggle throughout the ages told in clear ways the four different stories. Each story has its own plot and characters, but in the end they all meet in one big theme, the theme of the play "Intolerance."

SMOKE MILD CIGARS "T. & B." 6c Unequaled Quality and Workmanship. MACAULEY BROS., Cigar Distributors TWIN FALLS, IDAHO

A DEVILISH TRING

Of all the diabolical crimes in the calendar, at the present time that of destroying footpaths ranks among the worst. It seems incredible that there could be persons with in the state of Idaho of so vile a nature as to resort to practices of this kind, yet there is evidence that something of the sort is going on.

The thing is simply damnable, and the temper of the avenger is strained to the breaking point in contemplation. In the event of a capture it would probably take a good deal of work on the part of the county peace officers to protect the very life of such a miscreant.

If such practices are really being indulged in, and the facts appear to indicate that they are, it is devoutly to be hoped that the proposition is slipped in the band and that a log team in the pentagonists constitute the full extent of the penalty.

OUTLINES PLAN FOR MARKETING OF WHEAT CROP

Grain Corporation Representative at Pocatello Replies to Query of County Director of Commercial Economy

EXERCISE OPTION OF SHIPPING TO TERMINAL

Basic Price Provided for Payment of $1.06 per Bushel for Bulk of the Product of Southern Idaho Fields continging it to the grain corporation there will be no charge of one per cent, this fee having been taken off in the past few days.

There is no special permission necessary to ship wheat on consignment to the grain corporation at any of the basic terminals. Chicago is the terminal for all wheat shipped to the food administration grain corporation from points in south Idaho east of Nyan, Oregon. Drafts cannot be drawn on the food administration grain corporation by either the farmer or dealer for a consignment or any portion of the value of a car. I am writing Portland today to mail you a copy of the "Plans and Policies of the Cereal Division of the United States Food Administration," which should be of great benefit to helping you answer inquiries.

Must Lead to Capacity.

Producers can load cars on sidetracks where there are no elevators. The only requirements are that they are loaded promptly and always to full capacity; and from those sidetracks wheat can be consigned to either elevators or the grain corporation at Chicago. The regulations today resolve themselves into this: that if the farmer is not satisfied with the price offered by the local dealer or mill he is at liberty and has the privilege of shipping his own wheat to the subterminal.

For your information, today there are about 1100 box-cars inspected, in good order and condition, stored on O. S. E. sidetracks in different sections of Idaho awaiting the new crop movement, and the regional director of the administration for this section advises it is the intention of the administration to keep Idaho well supplied with cars.

That "all members of the Non-Partisan League were disloyal."

(c) That the said C. D. Thomas had stated in his office at Twin Falls, Idaho, to one W. E. Hanson that he thought one O. G. Zuck was pro-German.

That petitioners request that this committee recommend to the state council of defense the removal of said C. D. Thomas from the county council of defense, from the chairmanship of the Liberty Loan committee of Twin Falls county, and from the office of county fuel administrator.

That testimony is insufficient to sustain the charges contained in subdivision (a) and (b) herein.

That the said C. D. Thomas stated in his office at Twin Falls, Idaho, to one W. E. Hanson that he thought one O. G. Zuck, a resident of Kimberly, Idaho, was pro-German, and that thereafter the said W. E. Hanson returned to the office of the said C. D. Thomas and asked him if he knew O. G. Zuck was pro-German, to which he replied that he did not. That no evidence was offered to question the loyalty or Americanism of the said O. G. Zuck.

Zuck is the Non-Partisan candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Other Accusations Dropped

Other accusations made before the committee by Elmer Aman of Filer, Non-Partisan candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator; J. W. Hays, Twin Falls; John Milton Stevens, Filer; Jacob B. Musser, Filer; D. M. Denton, owner of the Twin Falls Times; against W. P. Alworth, member of the investigating committee; E. J. Ostrander, President of the Cidermaker Lumber company; and a member of the county council of defense; Thomas Doherty, editor of the Twin Falls Chronicle, and Dr. H. R. Erskine, veterinarian, Twin Falls, were dropped by the petitioners and they pressed only the charges against Thomas.

Submitted Davies' Letter

The committee also declined to accede to a request of Turner K. Hackman, attorney for the petitioners, for its investigation into a charge that he had sought to avoid investigation at the hands of the council of defense made against him on the second day of the hearing by Attorney John E. Davies. The committee held that this matter did not come within the purview of the resolution and further that it did not reflect on the Americanism, loyalty or legal standing of Hackman. The letter addressed to Hackman wherein Davies states at length the matters to which he had reference in making the accusation against Hackman is made a part of the findings and conclusions of the committee, which have been forwarded to the state council of defense.

SUGAR MAN SAYS CRISIS SERIOUS

Fred G. Taylor Declares United States Must Produce to Utmost of Capability

That it is the duty of the United States to utilize to its utmost capacity the capability and machinery for the production of sugar in order to supply ourselves, and our allies in the state, with food of the present crisis.

Fred G. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the Amalgamated Sugar company, who has recently returned to the west after spending the past nine months as a "dollar-year" associate with Herbert Hoover and Director of the food administration sugar division at Washington, D. C., and who spent Saturday in Twin Falls.

"There can be no minimizing of the fact that the sugar situation is serious," Mr. Taylor stated. "Our industrial possessions cannot be depended upon to increase their production of sugar for the reasons that sources of implements and fertilizer supplies upon which they are dependent have been shut off to them. This situation obtains in Cuba and Porto Rico as well as in Hawaii.

"The sugar production possibilities of the United States must be developed to the utmost in the present crisis, and with equipment for the production of 20,000,000 bags of sugar, this country this year is producing only about 12,000,000 bags of sugar. This is the condition which the food administration is endeavoring to correct, and for which purpose I have been sent back by the food administration to work during the next few months in the northwest."

adherence to this appeal of the county council of defense as being "necessary to promote the great public policy of the people, rural and city," declaring that "the county council of defense is the proper tribunal before whom to express opinions as to disloyalty and before whom related opinions should be brought, and argues that "this should not dissuade proper interrogations as to the acts and conduct of any person for the purpose of securing information to lay before the council, since that body must in the first instance in a large measure rely upon information from loyal citizens."

Holds Thomas Indispensable

As results of hearings conducted by it in the district court room here on August 9, August 6, and August 15, the committee makes the following findings of fact:

That the farmers and laborers of Twin Falls county as a class are loyal and patriotic American citizens, and are performing their full duty in the prosecution of the war, and this, irrespective of political affiliations.

That the services of C. D. Thomas as chairman of the Liberty Loan committee are indispensable at this time, and that his removal at this time, and the appointment of a person not so conducive to the best interests of the government in the prosecution of the war. That as a member of the county council of defense and as fuel administrator of Twin Falls county, he had rendered valuable service to his country and should continue in these positions.

Two Charges Not Proven

That the charges lodged against C. D. Thomas by petitioners are:

(a) That false statements concerning the wealth of one Richard Hastings made by C. D. Thomas during the Third Liberty Loan drive in Twin Falls, caused threats of violence to be made against the said Richard Hastings for failure to subscribe to Liberty Bonds.

(b) That in a conversation with one J. W. Hays in Twin Falls, Idaho, on July 15, the said C. D. Thomas stated consoling it to the grain corporation there will be no charge of one per cent, this fee having been taken off in the past few days.

There is no special permission necessary to ship wheat on consignment to the grain corporation at any of the basic terminals. Chicago is the terminal for all wheat shipped to the food administration grain corporation from points in south Idaho east of Nyan, Oregon.
