CHICAGO TAKES FIFTH GAME BY SCORE 3 TO 0

Managers and Ball Players in Hot Controversy—Players Refuse to Don Uniforms—Claim Unfair Treatment

PENWAY PARK, Boston, Sept. 10.—Members of the Cubs and Red Sox at 7 p. m. agreed to play the fifth world's series game after a long controversy on the contingency that a public announcement be made that they figured they had been ill-treated but for the good of baseball they would go ahead with the game.

The announcement that the game would be played came half an hour after original game time.

Had Hot Argument

At 7:30, the Red Sox appeared in their dug out, and a few minutes later the Cubs followed. The argument ended the most dramatic episode in baseball history was reached in the umpires' dressing room. Dan Johnson and Garry Herrmann, John Heydler, Charles Wegmann and Harry Frazee met in the tiny little superheated cove with Harry Hooper and Leslie Mann, who represented the players. Other players were grouped around. The room was completely filled by newspaper men.

The players agreed to the commission's ruling regarding the division of the money.

Get Down to Business

Herrmann and Johnson pleaded with Harry Hooper who did all the talking for the players before the latter consented to take the field. Hooper said he would instruct members of the Red Sox to stand with the umpires, that the public be told of what had transpired. He went into the Red Sox club house, and was followed by the Cubs. A few minutes later the announcement was made and the teams trotted onto the field.

Crowd Impatient

The crowd cheered the announcement that the game would be played but divided hosts with the cheers when the players came from under the stand. Hooper was eager that the public be told that the players had no intention of starting an argument for money. He contended that the second, third and fourth place clubs were not taking a cut while the pennant winners were.

Both Claude Hendrix and Jim Vaughn earned up for the Cubs while Joe Bush and Sam Jones worked out for the Red Sox.

It was agreed that no batting practice would be taken, and only a short fielding workout would be permitted.

FRENCH CROSS CROZAT CANAL AT MANY POINTS AND ADVANCE 4 MILES

By LOWELL MELLETT

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 10.—British troops, like the French, are edging closer to St. Quentin. An outpost was reported established this morning near Fresnoy-Le-Petit, three miles from the Hindenburg line and slightly more than three miles northwest of St. Quentin.

Below Epher the British forces attacked at 5 o'clock this morning. The assault was made on a front of 3,000 yards despite the rain which is sweeping the battle field and mud that impedes operations. Epher is on the Hindenburg line a short distance south of Gouzaucourt, where the British attacked yesterday, winning important territory.

Gibecourt Taken By French

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Striking to the south of St. Quentin from the south, the French have captured Gibecourt, seven miles from the city, the war office announced today.

The French are making progress in the direction of Quincoart and Esbigny-Le-Grand, the statement said. These towns are north of Gibecourt, the way to St. Quentin.

French Capture Hill No. 103

PARIS, Sept. 10.—In their advance against St. Quentin the French have captured Hill 103, less than 4 miles south of the city, according to the 10th official statement of the war office. Driving along the Ham-St. Quentin road, the French have captured a little more than four miles from their objective. Pushing toward the Hindenburg line north of La Fere, the statement showed the French had swept across the Crozat canal at many points and advanced two miles beyond it, striking Clantes, Montcourt, Lirioles, Romigny, Fortillon and the woods northwest of Canlers farm and Houge farm.

75,000 Prisoners in Four Weeks

LONDON, Sept. 10.—"Already we have pressed beyond our old battle lines of 1917, and we have made a wide breach in the strongest defense." Field Marshal de la Cour declared today in an order of the day.

"All ranks have borne themselves in a worthy and honorable manner."

The British army captured 75,000 prisoners and 750 guns in four weeks. "This speaks the magnitude of our effort and our magnificent achievement."

British Pass Up Lens and Go On

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Latest reports as to the situation at Lens, recently reported taken by the British, say that the British are outside of and beyond the town, which is filled with gas and the German machine gun nests.

Huns Endeavor to Stop Yankees

LONDON, Sept. 10.—In an effort to halt the Americans who, with the French, are flanking the Chemin des Dames from the westward, the Germans are throwing in fresh troops between the Allies and the Aisne, battle front dispatches today reported. At the Aisne, the enemy ferociously counter-attacked.

NEGRO TROOPS WANT REVENGE FOR TREACHERY

Darky Regiment to Exact Payment in Full for Hun Trickery Which Cost Them a Man

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 10.—One the Western front the Negro troops are increasing the intensity of a barrage which is the only activity on this part of the front except for patrolling encounters in Alsace-Lorraine. All the German raiders were driven off.

American negroes recently held an important sector in the Vosges, swearing to get revenge for German barbarities during August. From refugees our patrols learned the Germans told the men the American colored troops always cut off their prisoners' ears.

They Want Revenge

The negroes first suffered from German trickery when a sergeant and three privates were on outpost duty and several Germans appeared in front of them crying "kammerad." They did not shoot, thinking the hoaxes were sincere, whereupon the huns threw hand grenades and killed one and wounded another. The remaining two drove off the Germans. As a result of this treachery, the negroes are full of the spirit of revenge.

French Statement Notes Progress

PARIS, Sept. 10.—"In the region of Nanteuil La Forêt near the western flank of the Chemin des Dames, we repulsed two counter attacks," the war office announced today.

"We have taken Gibecourt and progressed in the direction of Hinnocourt and Esbigny-Le-Grand," said the communiqué.

"In the Argonne and in the Vosges enemy surprise attacks were repulsed."

"We made fresh progress today north of the Somme," the French war office statement said.

"We captured Etrelles and Bony. These towns are west and southwest of St. Quentin. 'Beyond the Crozat canal we captured Grand Sarraucourt, less than six miles southwest of St. Quentin, Clantes, Montcourt, Lirioles and Romigny."

"We captured Hill 103 southwest of Contecourt and Hill 117 south of the Esbigny-Le-Grand station. North of the Oise we captured Fortillon and the woods northwest of Canlers farm and Houge farm."

"South of the Oise we extended our positions in the Serris brick field and the Serris station and toward La Fere."

"Between the Aisne and the Vesle we extended our positions toward Clennes."

Relief of Some Sort Must Be Obtained if the Morale of the Nation Is to Be Preserved—Must Act Quick

STAGGERING PRICES NECESSITATE ACTION

Drain on Workers' Pockets—Books Results in Thousands of Complaints Filed with House and Senate

By L. C. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Congress will attempt this session to give the American people relief from the high cost of living.

The first step is a comprehensive program designed to lower food costs, will be introduction of a bill putting the country's meat supply into the government's hands. This measure will come as a result of statements made by the federal trade commission of the huge profits makers are making and the methods by which they make them.

It will open the whole question of the soaring cost of living, which today is causing general concern.

Other measures will follow, aimed at the other evils.

Eyes of Congress Opened

The eyes of congress have been opened to the tremendous drain on the workers' pocketbooks by conditions here where the legislators themselves are victims of the profiteers.

Forced to pay staggering prices here, members of the house and senate are giving serious heed to the letters pouring in on them by thousands complaining that a patriotic nation, willing to give until it hurts, is being forced to "give up" or go without food necessities.

Must Obtain Relief

Conviction is growing that unless some intelligent solution is found for the problem, the people's morale will be affected at the very time when it is imperative that it be kept at its highest.

The bill has been drafted. Some of its chief sponsors are about to begin long speaking tours on the Liberty loan, hence for the present action probably will be limited to introducing the measure. Consideration of it is to begin late this session.

BRITISH HINT AT CHANGE OF HEADS

London Times Indicates a Possible Swap of Commanders

By CARL D. GROAT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Just a brief line from Lord Northcliffe's paper, hinting at a shift in the British army command and perhaps in the Americans, has caused broad speculation.

But as far as it was possible to ascertain today, there is no present prospect of removing General Pershing from leadership of the A. E. F. Officers who would know any that doubted it would happen now and affirmed that they had heard no plan thereof.

There is no friction between Pershing and Chief of Staff March, who is the ranking officer of the whole army organization.

From time to time there have been rumors of difficulty between the two men. But these differences are characterized as purely honest differences of opinion without the semblance of ill-will.

OLDER DRAFTEES WILL BE SPARED FOR THE PRESENT

Men Between Ages of 32 and 36 and 19 and 20 Years Will Be the First to Be Called

SEPTEMBER CALLS WILL EXHAUST CLASS ONE MEN

Mailing of Questionnaires Will Begin Immediately After Registration. No Time to Be Wasted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Men between the ages of 32 and 36 inclusive, and 19 and 20 year registrants will be called first in the new draft, President Marshal General Crowder announced today. Eighteen years old and those above 36 will be called later.

No order as to whether 18 year old boys will be inducted before those between 36 and 46, has been issued by the war department, Crowder said. This will be determined later.

September calls will practically exhaust the original class 1 supply. A first call, initiated on August 24, are being classified now, Crowder said, but the reservoir is negligible.

Mailing of questionnaires, will begin almost immediately after registration next Thursday.

Complete by September 16

By September 16 all states should have reported to Washington their total registration and the work of assigning serial numbers to registrants by signing serial numbers will be well under way, Crowder explained. As rapidly as each registrant is given a serial number his questionnaire will be mailed. There will be practically no loss of time in starting the machinery for inducting boys into the new draft, Crowder said.

Boards will be organized in the cities of men between 19 and 36 inclusive, leaving those who are not liable to immediate call for later attention.

Explains Advisers' Work

General Crowder explained in detail the work of advisers who will sit with local boards. These advisers will not act as a committee but instead each will have his own field. A labor adviser and an agricultural adviser will have jurisdiction over questions relating to industry and agriculture respectively. Additional advisers will deal with professions and other occupations not falling under the other two divisions.

Crowder explained there was no limit to the number of advisers each board might have.

No claims for deferred classification will be considered, unless a registrant has questions in his own questionnaire or a third person requests it for him. Crowder urged employers to study their personnel thoroughly so as to be able to advise draft boards regarding the registrants in their employ.

Classification of the 19 to 35 year old group should take no over fifty days, Crowder said, and this group comprises practically half the entire available man.

TANKER TACKLES BIG SUBMARINE

Goes Out of Its Way to Get U-Boat and Knocks It to Pieces

AN ATLANTIC BOAT, Sept. 10.—Sinking of a big German submarine September 1, in mid-Atlantic, was reported today by members of the crew of an American oil tanker. The fight took place 1,600 miles off this coast. The battle lasted 40 minutes.

Classification of the reports brought here by the U-boat was very hazy, being at first mistaken for another oil tanker. When its character was made out on the American vessel, instead of fleeing, it attacked it, using two 4.7 guns forward and then manœvering to bring a six inch gun into action. When the final hit was scored, it was asserted, the submarine was blown out of the water and knocked to pieces.

MONTAGUE TABLE LAND PRESENTS A DIFFICULT TASK

Americans Commence Assault Monday Morning and Are Still at It—Machine Gun Nests Present Obstacles

MUST CLEAN OUT GUN NESTS ONE AT A TIME

Platoon Positions Control Many Important Points for Miles Around—Enemy Making Effort to Hold Table Land

By WEBB MILLER

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 10.—Americans have entered in local detail against the Le Petite Montague table land. Le Petite Montague, a fortified height on the American lines, where they drop down from the Altos to the Vets has so far impeded our troops' advance on their right flank.

After a strong bombardment of the hill with the heaviest fire concentrated on the Le Petite Plateau, the Americans launched their assaults Monday morning. The fighting was still continuing Monday night. Reports from the battle field say the Yankees' assault was directed toward the table land.

Face Hard Job

"Our infantry went forward in small groups, filtering in between the enemy machine gun nests which were thickly scattered through the wooded terrain. The Americans picked off German snipers and gun crews one by one. When the last word was received, the Americans were approaching the foot of the plateau, and working in around the sides of the table land. The advance was most difficult owing to the large number of machine gun nests and fortified snipers who fired upon our men.

Filtering Process Necessary Despite this resistance good progress has been reported by evening. A number of machine gun squads were wiped out. Some prisoners and machine guns were taken during Monday and sent to the rear.

On Tuesday night during pitch darkness, our troops shifted their work on the outlying peaks, killed or drove off the crews and then returned to their own lines. Simultaneously the French on our right advanced in cooperation with us.

Hens Have Strong Positions

Determination of the enemy to hold their positions on top of the plateau and the strength of these positions is shown by the fact that the Germans have 18 heavy machine guns, and over a score of light ones on the table land. As machine gun nests on the fringes of the heights are gradually cleaned out, the Americans are working up the lower slopes of the system of the strongly defended plateaus.

JEROME MILL RUNS OUT ITS FIRST FLOUR

JEROME.—The first flour ever manufactured by Jerome was turned out yesterday at the new mill of the Jerome Milling and Elevator company, says the North Side News. The brand will be known as "Jerome." William Wagner, of the company, was exhibiting a sample on the street and it was certainly flour—it looked like flour, felt like flour, smelled like flour, tasted like flour—in fact was flour and of an excellent quality.

It has been a big job to install this mill, to say nothing of erecting the concrete building which houses it. There are five floors of machinery, and the mill and adjacent buildings has been completed and all is working smoothly. S. E. Huntberry, lately of Caldwell, is superintendent of the mill.

BOURBONS GAIN NEW CANDIDATES

Nominations for Three County Offices Made on Democratic Ticket

Canvas of the primary election returns Monday by the county commissioners shows that Democratic voters have written on their ballots the names of candidates for the offices of probate judge, prosecuting attorney and county superintendent of public instruction, whose names will appear on the official ballot in the general election in November, provided they file their acceptances within the statutory period. There were no candidates before the primaries on the Democratic ticket for these positions.

The candidates thus nominated are R. E. Morehouse, of Hollister for probate judge, who will be opposed by Oliver B. Duvall; A. R. Hicks of Twin Falls, for prosecuting attorney, who will be opposed by Frank L. Stephan, and Mrs. Marian Patton of Ellet, for county superintendent, who will be opposed by Miss Britton, Wolfe. The opposites to these candidates are all Republican candidates for reelection. Judge Duvall and Miss Wolfe have been given the endorsement of the Non-Partisan League.

Mr. Hicks was elected prosecuting attorney of Twin Falls county in 1910 and served for two terms, quitting the office in 1914 to become state representative from this county. He was of (and) and refused the nomination for prosecuting attorney this year at the hands of the Jefferson club.

CHURCHES UNITE ON SPECIAL SERVICE PLAN

Series of Three Sunday Observances to Take Place at Same Time in Four Denominations

In line with the present tendency of Christian churches toward cooperation and fellowship, four of the churches of Twin Falls through their pastors have outlined a series of three special Sunday days to be observed in their general features simultaneously. Sunday, September 22, is to be social visitation day. On this day in the afternoon, the churches are planning, each with its own workers, to visit all of the families of their membership and talk over the social and spiritual interests of the churches.

The Bible schools are taking up the same cooperative spirit in the observance of promotion and rally day on September 29, when an effort will be made to line up all Bible school members in their respective classes. The new Bible school year opens on October 6.

On October 6, the churches will appeal to community pride in the observance of "everybody at church day." On this day every man, woman and child in the community is asked to attend his own church; if he has none, to attend the church of his choice. A record of attendance is to be kept.

LATE SUCCESS NO REASON FOR SLACKING PAGE

British Minister of War Urges Continuation of War Program Without One Minute's Let Up

SAYS OVER CONFIDENCE WOULD BE FATAL NOW

Odds in Favor of Allied Troops But Best Efforts Must Be Kept Up to Finish to Ensure Results

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Urging the necessity of continuing the routing of American troops to France, Lord Milner, British minister of war, in reply to an inquiry today wrote the following letter to the United Press correspondent:

"You tell me that in certain circles in the United States, the view is current that our recent successes on the west front have made the necessity less urgent of hurrying over American troops to France and that America's splendid war effort can now proceed at a more leisurely pace.

Large Man Power Needed

"I quite understand how this view may be held, but I profoundly disagree with it. It seems to me that on the contrary, the morale of our recent successes is just the opposite. The allies since July 18, is of first importance, for it shows that we can win the war. But most assuredly we will not win the war if we get the idea that we can afford to slacken our effort. This applies to every allied nation. It is the duty of the European allies to abate nothing of their energy and indeed to strive as America were not behind them.

"America's strength—great as it is—can only be relied upon to bring about a decision if it is added to the forces of the European allies and not substituted for them.

"I do not think I need name the reasons why our pressure, both military and economic must not be abated for one instant.

"Upon a military point of view the successes are of an value unless they are followed up and to reap the fruits of them the enemy must be given no rest. Weakening of his civilian as well as his military morale depends upon unceasing pressure.

Drive Huns Back

"Again, we can not permit Germany to recruit her strength by exploiting her occupied territory in the east and the only way of preventing such recruitment is to allow her no leisure. Lastly it is of vital importance to allied belligerents to bring the war to an end at the earliest possible date with a view to conserving a reasonable balance of resources for the work of reconstruction.

"Butly every military man must agree that a great effort to win an early victory is better than a languid and protracted campaign. Cost in both men and money will be increased and not lessened by delay."

OLD TRENCHES OF ENGLISH IN GERMAN HANDS

Huns Rush to Cover in Fortifications Built by Haig's Men Long Ago. Will Not Remain Long.

Plans of British Wrapped in Mystery But Indications Are That Important Step Is Being Considered

By LOWELL MELLETT

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 10—The line of the old British trenches north of the Somme served the German rear guard fighters to good purpose today. Built by the British when they settled down facing the Hindenburg line, the trenches served to stay but not stop the German steam roller last spring. It is likewise improbable that the Germans will do more than hesitate in these places before falling back to their own original positions.

Nobody knows what the next British move will be. There are no indications of what is forthcoming any more than there were at the beginning of the present campaign. As an indication of the manner in which battle plans are kept secret, it is now permissible to relate an incident concerning the smashing blow before Amiens. On the fingers of one hand it would be possible to enumerate the persons with in the corps to whom advance knowledge was passed.

Change at Eleventh Hour

They were assigned to do all the preliminary work, characterizing the operation as the "L. C. scheme." The impression was general among officers of high rank that the corps planned a movement from Arras, where the troops were stationed or further northward, perhaps instead of Mount Kemmel. Instead, the night before the attack the troops were suddenly shifted to Amiens. They went to the battle under an intricate web of disguised mysterious and spread rapidly in the cry of "remember the Manoeuvre castle." Those officers who had been working on the "L. C. scheme" recognized when the initial came from the German intelligence service report recently seized contained comment on the British being "past masters in concealing their intentions."

Huns Demoralized

Letters found on prisoners contain more revelations of the enemy's morale. "It's high time the war came to an end," wrote an aviator after his thirty-fourth battle. Otherwise, he said, he would soon be appearing in the ranks of the infantry as all aviation parks and commands were being combed for available infantry material.

A trooper of the Ninth Hussar's wrote: "Let's hope we soon get out of this mess. We can't do much with our cavalry division because it'll run away if it gets too much of it."

GERALDINE FARRAR AS JOAN OF ARC TO BE SEEN HERE SOON

Based on the life of the immortal Joan of Arc a motion picture production in eleven parts entitled "Joan the Woman," directed by Cecil B. DeMille, with Geraldine Farrar in the role of Joan, will begin a two days' engagement at the Idaho theatre to-day.

There is a certain timeliness about the story of Joan of Arc, as it has been reported frequently from France that public interest in the Maid of Orleans never was so keen as at the present moment. Although the story of "Joan the Woman," written for the screen by Jennie Macpherson, has been carefully guarded, it is said that Mr. DeMille and Miss Farrar have touched upon this feature of modernity in the telling one of the most fascinating stories of medievalism.

As to the historical accuracy of costumes, armor, heraldry, buildings and the personnel, that portion of the production was in the hands of Alfred Buckland, formerly the artistic staff of David Belasco. Mr. Buckland and Mr. DeMille for two years have worked side by side in the Leaky studios and the assembling of material for "Joan the Woman" consumed many months of that time.

Nothing more strikingly portrays the lavishness with which "Joan the Woman" has been staged than mention of the members of the cast. The hero is played by Wallace Reid.

Lieut. Paul F. Baer, listed as missing in the casualty list of May 22, is said to have fallen into the enemy's hands. He was out on a scouting flight from which he never returned. Lieutenant Baer was one of the most daring of American aviators. He was formerly with the French Escadrille but was later transferred to the American flying corps. He has been decorated with the Croix de Guerre and is also the possessor of the Distinguished Service Cross.

Railroad Man, in Harvest Field, Averts Threatened Disaster by Presence of Mind

(Special to The News)

ROCK CREEK—Only the presence of mind and courage of Tom Gibbs averted a serious accident at the Yan Jades thresher Friday morning. A connection blew out and all of the men, knowing the danger if the boiler blew up, fled for safety as fast as they could get their horses away from the machine. Mr. Gibbs, who was out in the field, recognized the trouble at once and rushed in to cut off the steam and put out the fire with his hand and the loco star when the steam blew through the fire box. Mr. Gibbs is a railroad man and better acquainted with engines than any of the other workmen, but his courage and presence of mind is much appreciated by his fellow workmen, in that it has saved the grain and hay and possibly some lives.

Aschel Murray, Jr., got a small piece of coal in his eye while working at the thresher Friday and it was found to be so firmly embedded in the eye ball that he had to go to Hansen Friday evening to have it removed.

Mark, the twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alon Gray is walking on crutches as a result of an encounter with a nest of yellowjackets, which are very numerous this year. Mark had climbed up in a tree on the Walker ranch to gather some apples and when the yellowjackets saw him he lost such a hasty retreat that he sprained his ankle in jumping from the tree.

Mrs. Susan Gray was returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Brown at Contact, Nevada. Mr. and Mrs. Brown came back with her and will remain for an indefinite time.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Jones of Three Creek are visiting at the Bruce home for a few days. Mr. Jones drove a bunch of cattle from the Big Flat to Shoshone Basin and Mrs. Jones brought over the car. They will remain for their little daughter, Miss Barbara, to spend her first birthday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown.

School begins here Monday with Miss Edith Kingery as teacher. The time will be set back one hour to avoid changing time again the first of October.

SHORT LINE WANTS TO BE LEFT OUT

Railway Company Asks That Its Holdings Be Excluded From Salmon District

The Oregon Short Line Railway company Monday, through Attorney James H. Wise, filed its protest with the county commissioners against the inclusion of its right of ways in the proposed Salmon River irrigation district petitions for which were taken in three different counties.

The county commissioners this afternoon by Judge J. B. Botwell, attorney for the Salmon River Settlers association, takes the position that no successful assessment against its property can be made by the irrigation district, and that confusion will be avoided by the elimination of its holdings from the boundaries of the proposed district. It states that its holdings have been excluded from other irrigation districts recently organized in Idaho and mentions in this regard, the Camas irrigation district and the Walters Dutton irrigation district near Caldwell.

REEL STUFF

THE GREAT LOVE

It is not at all uncommon to go to widely different sections of the United States in order to secure the realism that the public today demands of a producing company. But when it comes to crossing oceans, D. W. Griffith properly claims the distinction of being the "widest" locator of all. In his first Arden's picture, "The Great Love," scenes were actually taken in three different countries.

BRAND NEW STAB

Keep your eye on Lila Lee, the new Paramount star. Her first picture will be "The Cruise of the Make Believe," from Tom Gallion's story.

"THE VAMP" A GREAT STORY

Nancy Lyons is a wardrobe girl with a musical show and she has heard the chorus girls talk much about "vamps" and their success in life. She loves Robert Washam, a settlement worker and when he falls to propose, she donates the gorgeous dress of a chorus girl and practices her vampish arts upon him with the result that they are wedded and two days later go to Ore Junction, Pa.—Mr. Fleming—German spy and Phil Wolf, his agent, seek to foment a strike among the miners, but the plot fails after Nancy has wrung the secret of the proposed strike from Wolf, by playing her vamp tactics upon him. Both Fleming and Wolf are arrested by Secret Service operatives. There are numerous dramatic situations in the development of the story, the whole being relieved by much wholesome comedy.

THE ODDING HOWL

There is no question but what, if the present rate of Allied progress on the battlefields of Europe continued, the world will soon be treated to another diabolical war by the pacifist crowd.

Germany today fears defeat, but beyond this she fears the effect of being cut off from international trade.

Internationalism today is a very real thing. Never in the world's history has there been a closer international understanding than now exists between the warring Allied nations.

WAR WORK TAKES MISS CLAYFORD FROM SCHOOL. Hansen Teacher Designs to Enter Civil Service Employment at Washington.

HANSEN—Miss Mabel Cayford has resigned her position as instructor for the second grade in the Hansen school.

Yes, by all means let it be stopped, but let's not simply agree that it be stopped, let's stop it and in the process so fix matters that it can never again be.

And the cost to America will be infinitely less with four or five million men in the field than if we have but two million.

Little-Hat Lady

By JANE OSBORN

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Designing hats for a popular-price wholesale millinery establishment was not Upton Pread's ideal of a stiller, life-sized man's occupation.

Still Upton did not like to have people know the nature of his "breakfast" work. In the morning after breakfast he got out his drawing board and, shut up in his snug little chinis room, he started to work.

Upton did not like to have people know the nature of his "breakfast" work. In the morning after breakfast he got out his drawing board and, shut up in his snug little chinis room, he started to work.

Upton always worked in secret. You see he was proud of his calling. If the substantial, slow-moving chambermaid happened still to be settling his room to rights when he returned from breakfast, he was loath to get out his drawing table.

The hat in question was inspired by a model that Upton had seen in the window that were inspired by roses and sweet peas and even by myriads.

Upton had not learned his lesson. He was in a daze, mood he designed a hat that he said was inspired by German air raid at night, though the millinery manager did not even attempt to see the similarity.

May Have German Origin. There is a strong feeling that German propaganda may be behind recent rumors that Secretary Baker is to be removed or relegated to some other position than his present one.

The war department has semi-officially spiked the latter story with the statement that his stay will probably not be longer than the next journey.

While no actual official statement was forthcoming as to Forbush officials on the inside did their utmost to discourage the story.

Lord Northcliffe hinted that Haig would ask leave of absence and might be replaced by General Wilson. At the same time he intimated that there might be a change in the American command as there had been in the French and Italian.

cope the mussel-shell hat and an attempt to make it had been suggested by the colors and shape of a spring onion. Upton had had them for dinner the night before and had actually carried one to his room, put it in water and taken his design from it.

Upton knew that onion hat of his was original. Still some one else must have designed it simultaneously. For a week later as Upton sat at his desk he looked up and there two tables off the very pretty golden-brown blonde who died alone and seemed to have few friends—Upton had seen her often and not infrequently recalled her face and coloring when skimming up his designs in his room—there, sat the little blonde wearing the onion hat.

Then—and this was really too much for Upton's peace of mind—the blonde appeared one tempestuous spring night when the wind was pouring outside and the wind could be heard rushing around the window that had appeared to her the night as if he had designed when thinking of an airplane raid at night, and in the eyes that seemed all tenderness and mildness under the spring onion that hat Upton was in a fever of excitement. He wanted to tell his friends of the coincidence, but to do so would have necessitated telling of his own role as a hat designer.

THREE YEARS HIGH SCHOOL FOR MURTAUGH

D. D. Biggers, at Head of Faculty, Inaugurates Several New Features in Curriculum

(Special to The News)
MURTAUGH—School opened at Murtaugh Tuesday, September 10, with an enrollment of 88 pupils. Miss Litchfield is teaching the first and second grades the special training she has had and experience in kindergarten work makes an asset to her in this room. Mrs. Oona Hendry, who has been with us a number of years has the third, fourth and fifth grades. Miss Hildebrand has the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Miss Reek is a graduate of the Twin Falls high school and has had considerable experience in teaching.

Professor and Mrs. D. D. Biggers has charge of the high school work and will do some departmental teaching in the school. Prof. and Mrs. Biggers are both graduates of the state normal at Alva, Oklahoma, and are experienced teachers. Prof. Biggers was placed at the head of the department of physics and chemistry in this institution from which he graduated. He came to Murtaugh a month prior to the opening of the school and began making preparations for the school work for this winter, by ordering apparatus and equipment for high school work. The school will be equipped with a complete set of chemicals and physical apparatus and in addition compound microscopes for the study of biology. More tools were added to the equipment.

The school intends putting on three years of high school in the near future. A number of our students went away to Twin Falls in order to get credit. It is the school's hope here before has not been on the accredited list, but is believed when the school is fully accredited, that those who went away will want to return. Prof. Biggers will ask the state board of education to have the high school inspector visit the school just as soon as the new equipment is installed and the school gets in good running order and there is no question with the school should not receive credit for the work that will be done in the future.

The last Friday in each month is parents' day and the parents are expected to come and visit the school on those days.

Tuesday and Thursday of each week are chapel days. Chapel is at 10:45 until the program is finished. Among the subjects offered in the high school are general science, English, Latin, chemistry, biology, history, mechanical drawing, typewriting, and business English. Some changes have been made since the course was first arranged.

RUMOR DECLARES McADOO MAY QUIT CABINET JOB

Gossip in Washington Has It That He Will Devote His Full Time to Railroads

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The capital is now enjoying its regular field day of cabinet change rumors. According to a report which has persisted for some months, Secretary McAdoo, who holds the railroad and treasury reins together with numerous and diverse other jobs, may step out of the treasury portfolio immediately after successfully concluding the next biennial and thereafter devote his entire time to the railroads.

Regarding this as the United Press pointed out some time ago, McAdoo's friends have urged it. Manning both the great jobs is admittedly a "power," a fact that McAdoo himself admits.

Given Plenty of Credit

His friends declare that his successful flotation of the great liberty loan has rebounded to his honor in that department and he should turn his whole attention to the railroad problem and make a success of it, if his political future is to be strong.

The railroads today face a deficit at the end of the fiscal year and many other problems argue for McAdoo's giving up his present post.

CHICAGO AUTHORITIES COMBINE THEIR FORCES

All Branches in General Conference in Connection With Recent Bomb Outrage

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—A determined effort to free I. W. W. members detained in connection with the federal bomb investigation resulted in the identification of federal, state and county officials today. For the first time since the explosion the three forces combined to mull over all evidence secured by three forces of investigators. Judge Kavanaugh refused to grant a habeas corpus at the request of Attorney George Vandever, who headed the defense in the recent big I. W. W. case. Vandever did not have a chance to argue against the writs. Further that their efforts to retain certain alleged suspects, officials gave no inkling of progress in running down the bombers.

CANADIAN OFFICIAL SEES PREPARATIONS

Governor-General of Canada Visits the Chicago War Exposition

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Chicago today had authoritative word as to British and Canadian ideas of war preparation. The war will only end when we have certain assurance that the menace of Prussian autocracy and militarism is not only defeated but wiped out for all time.

The speaker was the Duke of Devonshire, governor-general of Canada, here for the war exposition. "Heaven help the enemy if this is a fair sample of American preparation," exclaimed the governor-general at the conclusion of a review of 30,000 soldiers at the Great Lakes training station.

URGE PRESIDENT TO INTERFERE IN MINION STRIKE

Trouble at Bridgeport Growing Acute and War Output Is Now Being Seriously Cut Into

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Strong pressure is being brought upon President Wilson to interfere in the Bridgeport munitions strike.

Only the president's action, it is held here, can quiet the trouble.

If the difficulty at Bridgeport is not composed shortly it is known that drastic measures will follow to keep the output going.

Labor experts said today a dangerous general strike will certainly result if the "scabs" at Bridgeport is not quickly healed. The war labor board and the war department are exerting the pressure on the president. They want him to issue a proclamation, calling upon the labor to go back and abide by the "scabs" labor court's award quickly made. This award has proven unfulfilled and the Bridgeport workers have refused to abide by it. It is generally admitted that presidential intervention will compose the situation.

Propaganda Active

Incidentally it is known that detrimental propaganda—not all of it necessary—German—operating in the Bridgeport situation. Officials here openly accuse the manufacturers of their own stubbornness and stupidity. On the other hand, they say some laborers are trying to wage a class war and there is a distinctive Blum Felt element, direct from Ireland, which is shouting the old cry, "This is England's war."

BERLIN REPORTS MINOR OPERATIONS

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 16.—Minor sections of the German trenches in Flanders have been taken by the British, the war office announced today. The British attacks against Gossenscourt statement said.

"North of Mercken and north-westward of Ypres, minor trench sections are in the enemy's hands as a result of partial attacks," the announcement said.

"On the Peronne-Cambrai road, English attacks continued. The main thrust against Gouzoucourt and Ephy were repulsed.

"From Havrincourt wood to southwest of six Persons-Cambrai road, fresh enemy attacks in the evening failed."

"On the Crozat canal our advanced troops were withdrawn Sunday night. We are in touch with only weak enemy remnanting detachments west of Essegny-Vandell line."

"Between the Aisne and the Vesle we shelled French advances."

Gallant Old Skipper and His Sixty Young Girls

NEW YORK.—The skipper of a well-known tug was seen hanging around the Battery at a very late hour the other night. He strolled up and down and occasionally went over to the Eastern to gargle his throat and have a confab with Hoboken John. An old sailor skipper was seen today about after lunch, the curliosity of the "regulars" at the Battery and South Ferry was thoroughly aroused. Bobby Peach, the class sage of South street, and some girls who held a conference and "towed as how 'sumpin' was up, while Joe Murry, the Battery's family policeman, shook his head and said maybe Captain was in the going to see some of the girls in his old age. So Bill Doherty just went right up to Captain and asked him how about it. Just like that. "Can't a man have a date with some girls without you fish gettin' all set up about it?" "Girls!" gasped Bill. "Girls! Ain't one enough for in old harrack like you? How many 'yonna need, anyhow?" "Oh, 'bout six" replied the toughest captain, complacently. "That was too much for Bill. He went away and told the rest of the bunch and a close watch was kept on the skipper. "Guess the pore ol' feller's lost one of his oarlocks or 'sumpin'," sighed Bobby Peach, sympathetically. Then the girls showed up. Sixty of them. And they all cried, "Hello, Capt. Dredlineskipper!" Then they climbed aboard the old man's tug and sailed out into the night. The explanation is that they were all Red Cross nurses (and pretty ones too), living on Ellis island while awaiting transportation to France. Somebody had given them a theater party and they got back to the island, the regular ferry—that most frivolous of vessels—having broken down.

HIGH PRAISE FOR TRANSPORT'S CREW

Baker Says Traditions of Navy Enriched by Conduct of Men Under Fire WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Secretary of War Baker, who is in France, called Secretary Daniels that he visited the transport Mount Vernon when it arrived in port damaged by a U-boat torpedo and paid a high tribute to the moral and efficient seamanship of the ship's crew. The cablegram follows: "I have just viewed the Mount Vernon. The high spirit and morale of its men and masterful seamanship of its captain and officers make such a stirring story of heroism that I wish all the nation might know the splendid way in which the huge transport met and fended the attempt to destroy it at sea. The traditions of your service are enriched by their conduct in this emergency."

Pet Polly Went to Gladgen More Lonesome Person A MAN in search of congenial companionship went to a bird store to buy a parrot that could talk. There were no conversationalists in stock, so he looked off in another direction for a specially suggested Polly, but, disappointed, returned to first base. The owner of the store, always ready to please a customer, considered the case apart from his financial aspect: "Come back later, colonel, and I'll be in if I can't find a talker for you." So the colonel was vexed off and returned at the time set, to find a knowing green polly posted near the counter on a perch. And of course the man extended social greetings. "Hello, Polly!" "Hello, Polly!" The parrot responded with the same jovial spontaneity. "Hello, colonel!" That settled the deal. And for a long time there lived in this town a lonesome man person and a knowing parrot who called out to each other at every coming and going: "Hello, Polly!" "Hello, colonel!" It wasn't much, of course, but it was something. And the colonel was old when he had learned that every little counts. And he was entirely satisfied with the social gifts of his two-worded friend until just a little while ago he found a lonesome person than himself, who was blind and wanted a parrot that could talk. So, after a battle that would have made the Medes and Persians look silly, he turned the bird over to a new owner—and now in this town there is a lonesome old woman who calls out to her companion: "Hello, Polly!"

Draft Leaves Few Men It is likely that the military training course will afford the principle athletic activity for the boys in high school this year. Due to the facts that all of the men members of the faculty who served as athletic coaches last year conducting football and basketball teams that won the championship and a basketball team that finished with honors in the tournament at Moscow for the high school championship, have been called into the military service, and that there remain in the faculty only two men teachers, Principal M. C. Mitchell and D. A. Hite, neither of whom can spare time for this activity, the prospects for athletics other than in the military training course are decidedly gloomy.

Girls' Athletics on Boom With the accession of Miss Anita Kiskadee, manual training teacher, to the faculty, however, the prospect for girls' basketball is more promising than it has been since 1914 when the Twin Falls high school produced a girls' basketball team which won the state championship for Twin Falls for the third successive year.

The members of the faculty who served as athletic coaches last year and who are now in the military service are: W. A. Harwick, football; E. F. Wagner, basketball and football; G. E. Deenan, baseball.

But at the Same Time Claims for Industrial Exemption Will Be Closely Scrutinized in Every Instance

(By ROBERT J. BENDER)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—In the forthcoming great draft every care is to be taken to protect essential industries, but at the same time exceptional activities will be used to prevent abuse of "industrial exemption" claims.

This has been made clear by the present marshal general, in explaining the purpose of his, issued by the war in justice board, to aid in determining proper application of the so-called work or fight orders.

These lists will be embodied in four divisions compiled as their relative essential for work are merely for guidance.

"Such lists shall not be regarded as binding upon the district board in its conclusions as to whether any particular industry, occupation or employment is necessary." Privat Marshal General Crowder declared.

"Nor shall such lists prevent the district board from holding off necessary any industry, occupation or employment not contained therein."

To Assist Board

Crowder declares that these lists merely supplement information in the hands of the district boards and to assist the boards in dealing with specific cases.

Each board will have industrial advisors who will bring to the attention of the board itself such matters as whether or not individuals engaged in some particular line of industry are so necessary thereto as to outweigh the benefits the nation would get from their services. These advisors will confer with employers who ask deferred classification for their men and with employees in whose behalf no such claims have been made.

Means Careful Examination

Thus a much more careful examination of questionnaires is in prospect for the next draft and it is hoped to reduce to the minimum both the abuse of exemption privileges and the injustice occurring from too hasty passing upon questionnaires. In determining upon the classification of men there will be really only two great lines of factors in the work or fight interpretation, of right to exemption or deferred classification. First, that a man is engaged in industry, occupation or employment necessary to the maintenance or operation of military forces or to the maintenance of public interest. Second, that he himself is necessary to the operation of the necessary industry.

It was a grounder hard down third base line. Paskert out, to Melnick. One run, one hit, no errors. It was a pure break of the game that gave the Cubs their run. Mann's double was too short, to have scored Hollocher without his (they) stolen base.

SIGNS INDICATE BOCH EFFORT TO BEGIN OFFENSIVE

Artillery and Infantry Reserves Now Being Massed at a Number of Points by German Leaders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—That Germany is about to attempt something approaching a counter offensive along the western line, is the belief here today. Presence of an unusual amount of artillery and increasing evidence of the massing of reserves at certain key strategic points indicate that the Teuton has plans for a stand.

The allies have regained practically what they lost in the German smash. Germany is now striving to halt the onslaught and retain the lines occupied before the March push. This may be accepted as proof of the assertion that the nation must not rest content in the thought that all its plain sailing.

It is generally held here that the German effort will not succeed. But it may prove a delaying process, and it may serve to partly check the allied program. However, it is believed that General Foch has plans which propose to let up in the initiative. To this end he may use the American army for a stroke at a new point in the district.

Miller now battling for Jones. Miller flied to Mann. Mann ran up the embankment in left field and sat down before catching the ball. Hooper flied to Hollocher. Another great catch. Shean safe on an infield hit to short. Strunk fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

REMINOTON UMC

Wetproof Steel Lined Shot Shells

MAKE your showery hunting days this Fall the good days for ducks they really ought to be, with the right shotshells—Remington UMC Smokeless "Arrow" or "Nitro Club" Wetproof Steel Lined "Speed Shells." No matter how much water may get to them, they will actually stay just as dry and serviceable as your Remington UMC Pump Gun or Autoloading Shotgun.

Those finest of shot-water fowl, the big mallards—which you seldom get within a gunshot of when it is calm and fair—are then not so quick to take wing. But your shells must be right. Hunting has never been like this a water-soaked shell that has swollen and sticks in the gun at a critical moment—no such thing of a "miss" caused by swelling of the end of the shell.

Remington UMC Smokeless "Arrow" and "Nitro Club" Wetproof Steel Lined "Speed Shells" are made water-proof by a wonderful process, invented for them and used exclusively in their manufacture.

It took three years to perfect this process. The result is a shell that will work and shoot right throughout an all-day down-pour—keeps hard and smooth with no softening of the turned-over end or bulging of the top wad in the wettest coat pocket.

You buy the same favorite brand, at the regular price, and get the Wetproof improvement without cost. The first completely water-proof shotshell at the same time having the uniform superiority of speed, pattern and penetration for which Remington UMC "Arrow" and "Nitro Club" Steel Lined "Speed Shells" are famous.

In black powder, by the old reliable "New Club," now Wetproof sealed at turnover and top wad.
