Greatest Shell Loading Depot in America is Totally Destroyed Following Explosion of Unknown Origin

KILLED AND INJURED RUN INTO HUNDREDS

Windows Shattered in Brooklyn as Explosions Continue—Fire Fighters Unable to Check Conflagration

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Reverberating the echoes of heavy artillery, the series of deadly explosions that started the demolition of the enormous Gillette shell loading plant near Perth Amboy, N. J., last night, continued today.

At noon the wrecking force of fire and heavy explosive blasts had practically completed its work. Firemen, policemen, soldiers and civilians are exerting themselves to save from destruction the towns of South Amboy and Perth Amboy, now threatened with an engulfing fire from the flying embers blown over the countryside by the terrific detonation of thousands of pounds of high explosives.

In a statement today, President Gillespie, head of the company, said that the loss of life so far at the company had been able to determine amounts to something near fifty persons, but this is countered by statements of others placing the actual loss at 150. Gillespie declared there were seventy men in building 6-1 when the first blast was touched off. Of these, he declared, all but eighteen have been accounted for.

Government Heavy Loss

The financial loss is estimated mainly by the government, for which the Gillette company has been operating the plant, it was stated.

Gillespie said the plant cost $18,000,000, consisting of thirteen complete units. Seven of these units, he said, had been completed and were in full operation. The other units were nearing completion and were to have been started soon. This loss will be about what the outlay was in building cost. The loss in shells and explosives he would not estimate. Nevertheless, it is known that millions of dollars probably have been lost.

The stream of refugees from the town Amboys, was constant all morning. Newark reported a procession of men, women and children arriving in every kind of vehicle. Women carried out glass and other breakables.

Inhabitants All Gone

Perth Amboy and South Amboy were virtually denuded of inhabitants, except for firemen and police.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Scores of men were believed to be dead and many others, maimed in various degrees, were in hospitals in New Jersey early today, and the nation's greatest shell loading plant, at Perth Amboy, N. J., near Perth Amboy, was in ruins as the result of an explosion of TNT nitrocellulose last night.

It was estimated that the total number of casualties would reach 800, including dead, severely injured and persons only slightly cut by flying glass.

Of these it was believed 300 might be classed as hospital cases. The Red Cross and members of a motor corps made these estimates.

Explosions were continuing early today. At 7 a. m. there was a blast that shook houses in Brooklyn, shattering windows at Flatbush. Houses near the scene of the explosion were swept from their foundations. Scarcely a window is left intact in Perth Amboy.

Military authorities have taken charge of the wreck and refuse to make any estimate of the number of dead.

A military guard has been thrown about the district. Access to the devastated district was practically impossible at 7 a. m. earlier hour. Telephone and telegraph wires have been swept away early by the explosions. Reports were made to New

BATTLE'S SWIRL ENCIROLING HUN AT THREE POINTS

Pincer Tactics Being Worked Out on Huge Scale—Germans Fight Desperately to Told Ground Taken

By WEBB MILLER

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The great battle along the western front today is resolved into a series of great alternating movements centered around the Champagne. The battle front is taking the shape of three gigantic half circles within two northerly arcs in the heart of northern France's industrial regions. At the bottom of each half circle, Marshal Foch is hammering in an effort to increase the encirclement and pinch off the Germans within.

The northern arc encloses Lille, one of the most thickly populated centers in France, and is about forty miles in diameter. The German retreat is flattening this arc hourly. Every day

YANKS ATTACK ON EIGHT-MILE FRONT DRIVING EVERYTHING BEFORE THEM

Enemy Lines Penetrated Around the Suippe and Allied Forces Now Within Five Miles of Important Hun Base of Vouziers—Germans Make Frantic Efforts to Save Heavy Artillery

KAISER'S FORCES CONTINUE STEADY WITHDRAWAL BEFORE HEAVY BLOWS

LONDON, Oct. 5 (4:22 p. m.)—American forces, attacking on an eight-mile front between the Meuse and Aire rivers, have advanced two miles today, battle front dispatches reported this afternoon.

It is estimated that the Americans have taken between 3,000 and 4,000 prisoners in the Argonne-Meuse fighting today. American troops have captured Cuneil, it was learned authoritatively today.

Cuneil is three miles directly west of the Meuse and the same distance west of Bruilles. It is on the Kriemhilde line, as that series of positions has been traced by battle front dispatches.

Franco-American troops have completely broken through the enemy line around the Suippe.

Driving northward against Vouziers, they are now within less than five miles of that important German base. Enemy long range guns covering Vouziers, which had been installed year ago, and between St. Etienne and Sedan, are being badly shelled.

The Germans are reported to be evacuating the entire Kriemhilde zone.

The enemy is fighting desperately in the Champagne for every inch of ground, because of the great number of valuable communication lines, including the French, York and St. Quentin allied rail lines, being gradually wadded, but the Germans are fighting hard and progress is slow.

General Debeny is tightening his grip on the Oise region, south of St. Quentin and is increasing his pressure against the northern defenses of Lion and the St. Gobain massif.

The British line between Amiens and Lens follows the Arras-Verdun railway southeast to the vicinity of the Haute Deule canal, then turns southward near Marquillies, according to information received here this afternoon. The Germans are expected to make a stand on the canal.

Pasha Expresses Confidence

DENEVA, Oct. 5.—Addressing the cabinet council, Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, declared the decision of Bulgaria will have no effect on the final issue of the war, according to dispatches from Constantinople. The Turkish minister of war has resigned, it was stated.

Advance Lines North Of St. Quentin

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Further progress northeast of St. Quentin was made by the British yesterday and last night, Field Marshal Haig reported today.

Successful mine operations yesterday northeast of the vicinity of a substantial progress southeast of Brossel and north of Gony and Locatlet, the statement said.

"We took over 800 prisoners." "During the night our line was again advanced slightly southeast of Locatlet."

PEACE ARDOR WAXES WARMER AS DISASTER STALKS AMONG ARMIES

WAR SUMMARY

With the allied smash continuing along the whole war front from Verdun to the sea, and with the problem of a successful evacuation of Albania confronting her, Austria is reported to have made another definite peace offer through Holland.

Unofficial statements say that Austria has invited all belligerents to a non-committal peace meeting at The Hague.

Great Britain, it is reported, has already replied to the overture, asking Austria to explain what she means by a "non-committal" conference. Preceding further in her peace efforts, Austria is said to have charged Professor Lammasch, of the University of Vienna, with drafting a memorandum showing Austria's conception of President Wilson's fourteen points, which will be sent to the latter.

Further progress yesterday and last night along practically the entire battle front, from Cambrai southward to the Meuse, was reported in today's British and French communiques.

Franco-American attacks in the Champagne and Argonne regions are replacing the Germans in great peril, both in the Argonne forest and north of Rheims. Withdrawal northeast of this city already has begun in the Monts region, where the Germans were intending an encirclement.

Progress in Flanders is slow, owing to the difficult terrain, which is being turned into a quagmire.

Reassignment of the allied front in the Balkans is shrouded in mystery. The Serbians have occupied Nish and several cities to the south, according to unofficial reports, but no advices had been received regarding the expected northward movement of the British-French.

The Austrian retreat in Albania apparently will be hurried by the Italians, who are keeping in close touch with the retiring enemy.

Bridge Traffic Is Shut Off Because Of More Explosions

New York Buildings Rocked to Foundations By Terrific Blasts in Great Fire

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Traffic on all bridges across the East river and through the tubes under both the East river and Hudson river, was brought to a standstill here this afternoon by military authorities.

Orders were issued to Mayor Hylan following information that tremendous explosions might be expected at any time at the Gillette munition plant in New Jersey.

The explosions rocked the office building of the Standard Oil Company at Broadway. Women employees at noon were ordered from the building as a precautionary measure.

10,000 Huns Taken In Belgian Advance

HAVRE, France, Oct. 5.—Belgian and British troops operating in Flanders have taken 10,000 prisoners, 400 guns, 200 trench mortars and more than 900 machine guns since their latest offensive against the Germans began, it was announced today by the Belgian war office.

HUN MAIN LINE IS THREATENED

American Advance Between Argonne and Meuse Serious for Germany

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The American advance between the Argonne and the Meuse threatens the main rail artery of Germany to the western front.

The United States' push has taken our forces up to 15 miles in direct line from that railroad.

General March, chief of staff, pointed these vital facts out today, along with a statement that our drive has compelled the Germans to throw "many divisions" into the park. They have been held there by our forward movements.

Despite the German show of strength, the Americans have driven bravely on

MENACE TO HUN GROWS FAST IN THE CHAMPAGNE

American-French Operations Less Spectacular But of More Real Consequence than Offensive at Metz

FOCH HOLDS KEY TO ENTIRE SITUATION

Strategy of St. Mihiel May Be Duplicated Along the Meuse—Hindenburg's Hazard Is Steadily Increasing

By J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—American and French operations in the Champagne while not as spectacular as the drives in Picardy and Flanders are developing a far greater menace against the German than any other movement along the Meuse front.

The strategic objective of the Champagne offensive is to outflank the German position in the Argonne Massif, and permit General Foch to proceed with his advance down the Meuse to cut off von Hindenburg's communications through Luxembourg. The Champagne operations are on the west side of the Argonne, while General Pershing's principal forces are on the east side. The French and the Americans have completed half of the distance to the northern end of the forest. They are now at the western terminus of the Grandpierre pass, which cuts the forest in two and permits a movement all the way across the massif to the eastern side. The passage, however, is very narrow and if the French and Americans were to attempt to seize it, they would expose themselves to a terrible cross fire from the northern and southern flanks, as if they were in a gully.

Key to Main Lines
It is therefore, improbable that the risk there will be taken. Instead, the Allies will doubtless continue to advance northward along the edge of the massif, keeping to the main line of defense.

An excellent railroad and a splendid highway flanking the Argonne in the west are being followed by the French and Americans. These communications lead to the important stream center of Vouziers, five miles north of the Franco-American front.

The occupation of Vouziers would permit Marshal Foch to begin to swing the direction of the Champagne drive toward the northeast. This would constitute the beginning of the turning against the Argonne. Threatener von Hindenburg would be compelled to accept a grave risk if he continues to keep his troops within the massif.

Puts Hun in Pocket
It would require only a brief prolongation of the American advance along the Meuse in conjunction with the Franco-American strategy at St. Mihiel. The Argonne then would become a pocket and from it very few Germans would escape.

TREND STEADILY FOR DEMOCRACY

Fall of Autocracy in Germany Is Presaged by Public Thought

By ED. LARSEN

LONDON, Oct. 5.—There are indications that the process of wiping out the militaristic and autocratic government of Germany, which President Wilson declared is necessary, is already being accomplished, it is already being accomplished, it is already being accomplished. While it is not believed that the present crisis in Germany will result in the setting up of anything resembling a democratic government, it is evident from the back passing of those dodging officers of the chancellery that the Kaiser and Hohenzollernism are on the downgrade.

Makes Second Appeal
The Kaiser's recent appeal for recognition "people's government," and another appeal which is now being being, but of which the details have not yet been received, are regarded as camouflage to fool the German public and the outside statesmen.
An intense feeling in connection with this is the report from American stating that the majority members of the Reichstag have opened the following program:
The consent of the July, 1917, peace resolutions; restoration of the German declaration of Germany's readiness to join the league of nations; autonomy for Alsace-Lorraine and equal rights for Poles.

EXPERIENCES OF NEW YORK BOYS PUT FICTION WRITERS TO SHAME

Former Students of College and High School Tell of Adventures in Fighting Germans Which Vie With Work of Best Known Novelists—Face Death in Many Forms, But Escape Almost Without a Scratch

By LOWELL MELLETT

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Oct. 5.—Fresh from a breathless contest with the enemy, former New York high school and college students today told stories of military exploits calculated to stir the imaginations of the folks of their home town. Wet, caked with mud, ragged and weary, these boys are now resting safely this side of the Hindenburg line after adventures such as even boys scarcely dream of.

These boys are part of the American troops who smashed their way through one of the strongest points in Germany's greatest defense system. Leon Davidson, aged 18, of Brooklyn; Walter Barry, 20, a Cornell student; Arthur Giles, 19, of Brooklyn; Ernest Menden of the Bronx and Gilson Anderson, Brooklyn, participated in last Friday's fight to prepare positions preliminary to the big attack staged Sunday. When the barrage fire ceased the boys became separated from the rest of their platoon, and found themselves facing a battery of machine guns.

The boys promptly dropped into a shell hole, where they remained several hours. Under cover of battle smoke they found their way to a dugout thirty feet deep and with two exits.

Bullets Rain on Dugout.
Enemy machine gunners quickly discovered the presence of the lads and rained bullets upon both openings to the dugout. Being an opportunity early Saturday morning they stepped out of their hiding place, and returned to the shell hole, where they remained all of Saturday, subsisting on stale black German bread and drinking rain water. Once outside the shell they smelled gas and for several hours lay gas masked.

Saturday night they stole out again and finding a wounded comrade lying in a shallow trench, carried him to the dugout and gave him first aid. All that night the boys remained in their shelter. Sunday morning they heard the shells of a new American barrage breaking in their vicinity and presently the voices of American troops at the entrance of the tunnel, leading to their dugout. The lads staggered from the shelter too weak to walk and were carried to the rear on stretchers.

Hans Pfan Bolt
Captain Harry Close, son of the athletic coach at Princeton, and Joseph Giovanni, Brooklyn, with a platoon, were passing the entrance to a German trench Sunday when they saw the curtain before a dugout move slightly. Close called upon the occupants to come out and also German soldiers and one officer emerged. Giovanni was ordered to conduct the party to the rear. During this journey, Giovanni, who understands German, overheard the officer suggest to his men that they go to bolt. Instantly Giovanni ordered the officer to stand aside and threatened to kill the first man who tried to escape. The officer then offered to guide Giovanni to the American lines, but the dogboy would have none of it and found the way himself, turning his party over at headquarters. The prisoners were immediately put to work serving as stretcher bearers despite the protests of one, who spoke of the "infidelities of it."

The New York officer at the entrance of the main Hindenburg tunnel found a German officer. The German explained the tunnel was lighted by electricity and the New York sergeant ordered him to turn on the lights. Before obeying, the German carefully disconnected wires running into the light switch which were connected with his explosives.

Girls Cleverly Concealed
New York troops described fierce hand to hand fighting Sunday night. Masses of machine guns carefully camouflaged had been hidden so cunningly by the enemy that the first the dogboys knew of their presence was when they opened fire at close range.

"Our boys were dropping all around," said one of the Americans, "but they couldn't stop us. Our orders were to keep on going, and we went on."
After this fight, an American captain was found dead locked in a death grip with a German lieutenant. Another captain, wounded, lay in a shell hole, with 12 of his men. He ordered the men to leave him and seek safety. They went as far as the next shell hole, where the sergeant in command called a conference and the men decided they couldn't abandon their of-

U-BOAT IS SUNK BY FREIGHTER'S GUNS

Vessel's Owners Offer Graphic Account of Work of Crew Against Submarine

New York, Oct. 5.—The Uboat which destroyed the French Cruiser De Petit Thomas in European waters on August 7 was sunk by gunfire from an American freighter which was part of the convoy of twenty-four vessels which the French warship was escorting through the danger zone.

This information was received at the office of the owners of the vessels in this city today. After the French cruiser had been hit, the submarine was sighted and the crew of the American vessel opened fire on the raider. An explosion followed and the surface of the water was soon littered with parts of the submarine.

flier that way. All immediately returned to the captain's side. They were exposed to shell fire for several hours and all the men were wounded when rescued.

No Match For Tanks.
A major, unscathed and unharmed, who had not slept for 40 hours, had lost none of his enthusiasm for the conduct of his men as he described their exploits to correspondents. The fiercest fighting, he said, took place south of Holtzourt, beyond the canal. American and German met there hand to hand in savage physical encounters. The Germans at this point proved better fighters than had been expected, the major declared, but were no match for the magnificent dash and enthusiasm of the tanks.

OFFICER STOPS FOR VISIT HERE

First Lieutenant D. N. Randall Takes Troops to Eastern Camp

First Lieutenant D. N. Randall, formerly of Twin Falls and Buhl, after spending a day with friends here, left Friday evening for Huntington, Oregon, where he will visit for a day or two before returning to Camp Lewis, Washington, where he is stationed now as an officer of the depot brigade.

Lieutenant Randall in civilian life was a railway mail clerk, working one time on the Twin Falls branch. He was for several years a member of the national guard of Idaho, and as stable sergeant with the Second Idaho supply company, he saw service with that organization on the Mexican border in 1916. He transferred later to the Twin Falls unit of the Idaho regiment and was a member of that company when recommended as a candidate for the second officers' training camp at the presidio of San Francisco, where he won his commission.

Whetstone in Tree Trunk. While sawing down a large poplar tree on the Weimar farm two sons of Joseph Weimar found that the tree would not penetrate. They began a little higher, and after the tree was down they discovered a whetstone in the heart of the trunk. What Becomes of Your Money? Ever wonder where your last month's salary went? There is a way to tell where every penny goes—a way that will show you where you are spending too much and will also prevent the payment of the same bill twice through error.

It's an Easy Way, Too— On the first day of each month every check you have drawn on your account with this bank is returned to you, also a statement showing how much money you have deposited here and just how much you have spent—the checks show to whom you have paid the money—and by looking over the returned checks you can easily note the ones that were unnecessary; then, knowing just where the leaks are you can easily stop the waste. Suppose you open your account TODAY—begin to cut off the useless expense NOW. TWIN FALLS BANK AND TRUST CO. TWIN FALLS

THE WAR TODAY

The American and French advancing on the west side of the Argonne Massif are using the succeeding operations to rid themselves of a threatened flank attack by the Germans farther to the west in Champagne.

Slightly west of the main railway, the Americans are moving forward. The front of the pocket is now pocketed. The front of the pocket is now pocketed.

On the eastern side of the mass the Americans yesterday captured several villages. These defensive positions were held by the Germans on the outer fringe of the forest.

The progress of the French-Americans on the west side of the Argonne has been more rapid than on the east side. General Pershing is now seeking to equalize this advance.

ATTENDANCE AT FAIR ON LAST DAY HAS RECORD

Receipts for Three Days This Year Exceed Those of Four Days in 1917 By Over $300 Says Secretary

Fair weather crowned the third and final day of the fourth annual Twin Falls county fair at Filer Friday, and the success of the enterprise was proven in the attendance breaking the record for a fair in this county.

The race track tied with the crowded exhibition halls and the midway as centers of popular interest. The track was in excellent condition following the rain of Thursday, and good time was made in the several events.

ENEMY LINE IS SHATTERED IN THE CHAMPAGNE

Furious Battle Raging Along Fifty-Mile Front—Heavy American Artillery Supports Infantry Advance

By FRED S. FERGUSON

WITH THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY, Oct. 2.—Furious fighting continues today along the whole fifty-mile front in the Champagne Argonne region.

Heavy American artillery fire is supporting the infantry assaults. The weather is light and there is a stupendous amount of aerial activity.

Violent German counter attacks in the region of Floville, on the eastern edge of the Argonne forest, were repulsed last night.

Strepituous of the American first army's attack on a 20-mile front west of the Meuse, together with a 5-mile advance of the Americans east of Rheims, has brought the Americans within striking distance of the German line at two important positions on the west front.

In the Champagne the Americans crossed the plains beyond Blamont and reached the outskirts of the Eilance-Armees, increasing with the French advances, the possibilities of complete relief of Rheims.

West of the Meuse, General Bullard's corps has reached the Krimmling-Gleichen line. Troops from Illinois, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia in a pivoting movement advanced more than two kilometers. Regulars in hope progressed two kilometers.

Many Towns Fall

The attack west of the Meuse began at 5:30 yesterday morning and by mid-afternoon hill 240, Gones, Floville, Cheusey and La Forge had fallen. Severe counter attacks in the center were repulsed with heavy losses and the advance was fully maintained.

The attack was carried on successfully in the Argonne despite the greatest difficulties. The boche had felled trees and interlocked them with barbed wire. Machine gun nests were cleverly concealed in this tangle. Tanks "crunched" their way up.

Numerous explosions of ammunition dumps in the rear of the enemy lines throughout the city gave additional evidence of the heavy losses suffered by the boche from artillery fire.

Units Caught Napping

The attack, stopping at some points without artillery preparation, surprised the Germans, who were quickly disposed of. But the enemy's heavy concentration of artillery and machine guns afforded a general stubborn resistance all day. The Krimmling-Stellung line was reached first by a pivoting attack, swinging northwestward from the Meuse. Every kilometer gained was won by straight American punching power against strong divisions, which included guards. Two guard divisions have been badly cut up on the American front and one has been filled up with hand-weber troops.

The Franco-American attack east of Rheims was pushed vigorously, the French helping on the American left and following up our advance. A determined enemy counter-attack was repulsed after a considerable advance had been made by the Franco-American.

Allies Stick to Lines

The doughboys did not budge an inch from their new lines. The enemy's hold was broken by the capture of Blanch Mont, which was taken with surprising rapidity. The Franco-American artillery laid down a barrage on the road leading toward Blanch Mont all Thursday night. Behind this the infantry moved up to the jumping-off positions. Even the hospitals moved forward.

One unit which was under shell fire for three days, but whose position became safe again through removal of the German artillery, asked to be allowed to go forward so as to enable quicker handling of the wounded.

The capture of Blanch Mont was of similar importance in this immediate area as the fall of Montfaucon was in the Verdun region. These are two important key positions which have been taken by the Americans within a week.

Barrage Like Clockwork

The Germans' four-year-old grip on this is now being shaken by the Allies' cast west of the city. Let up on a bright hot day at the front and saw the Franco-American barrage rolling up great clouds of chalk dust as it mattered the way ahead of the advance guard doughboys in continuance of the attack which started early in the morning.

It was like fighting across a western prairie. There was scarcely a tree in sight over the vast stretches of flat grass, with only a dominant hill here and there to break the monotony of the terrain. The attack swung forward in a northwesterly direction, thus placing in the salient about Rheims. Every step forward rendered the bocha position about the city more difficult. In conjunction with General Barbot's attack on the west, it is opening the way to freeing the city from artillery fire.

Yank Attack Spectacular

The American attack was highly spectacular. It resulted in General Gouraud sending his personal congratulations to the American divisional commander.

The French had taken a position known as "Elba trench."

With the crash of the opening of the barrage the infantry jumped off. Their confidence in the artillery, well so great that one officer and 10 men just leaped against the barrage.

The first positions were quickly crossed. Further on numerous pill-boxes were encountered. French tanks assisted in clearing up some of them. In other instances the pill-boxes were smothered with smoke bombs, the Americans then closing in with their bayonets. A corporal of a famous unit captured 10 officers, including a major and 50 men in one segment. The major, who was in command of an artillery group, was greatly downcast when brought to the rear. He and all the other officers wore iron crosses of the first class.

Invitation Accepted

The corporal was approaching the entrance of a dugout when the boche came out. The doughboy quickly covered and disarmed him. He then rushed for the other entrance and encountered an officer coming out, with a revolver in his hand. The corporal demanded the surrender, adding that he had better tell all the others inside to come, as he was about to smash all his grenades in the dugout. They complied and the corporal pitched them back to the rear.

With the capture of Blamont, the Americans now have doubled fighting all the way to the Aisne. The ridge over which they passed was the enemy stronghold in this region.

The wonderful comradeship of the French and Americans was again demonstrated in this fighting.

In Close Cooperation

American motorcycle drivers dashed by carrying French officers in the side cars and vice versa. Ambulances hastening to the rear carried French and American alike.

Overhead was the familiar sibilanting in the sky by French and American shells. An American rolling kitchen served puddings and doughboys. Late in the evening the scene was almost dramatic. The flash of guns preceded the horses in the northward, silhouetting men, guns and horses as they moved forward across the plateaus, while to the westward, a blood-red sun sank slowly overboard. The sky was tinted, as though with the blood of the thousands of Freemen who have died in the city's defense.

It costs more to live—so you must increase your earning power. Why not advertise for a better position?

REEL STUFF

AN UNUSUAL PROTOPLAY IS "THE PIRATE OF FRANCE"

Pictures dealing with varying phases of the great war in Europe, but it is doubtful if there is any in which there has been crowded more action than has been provided for "The Pirate of France," which will be shown at the Idaho Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Wallace Reid is starred; Ann Little is his leading woman. Raymond Hatton plays the title role, and Donald Crisp was the director.

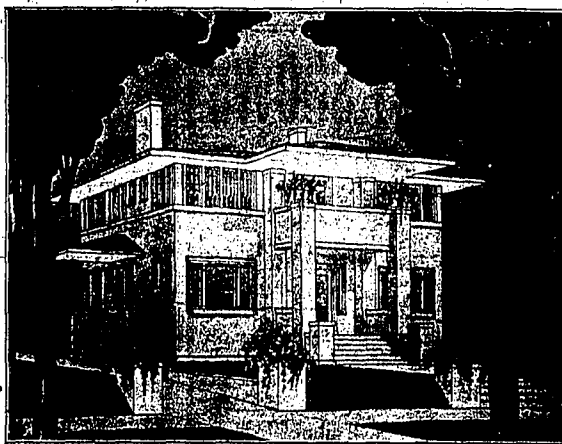

The heavy part of the spy is admirably portrayed by Queen Olga. Indeed, the cast is a superior one in every respect. Marion Poff, Angellotti wrote the story for the Saturday Evening Post and it was translated to the screen by Margaret Turnbull.

It concerns a German spy whose plot against the allies is frustrated by a daring young American, who saves important papers obtained by the Freely, an aviator with the French army. A dainty love story relieves the strain of the plot and suspense and thrill. It is a picture to make spectators sit on the edges of their chairs and hold their breath continuously throughout the development of the stirring story.

A BOX FROM HOME

Drawn by Gary Williams, Division of Pictur

Food savings of millions of Americans during our first year of war enabled ment to send enormous food shipments abroad for our fighting forces and the Allies. Our savings in cereals—out of a short crop—amounted to 154,900,000 bushels; all of which was shipped to Europe. We increased our meat and fat shipments 844,600,000 pounds. This was America's "box from home" to our army abroad and the civilians and military forces of the Allied nations.

HUN EXHAUSTS
INQUIRIES ON
TWIN FALLS MEN

Idaho Artillerymen Pass
Through Stirring Experiences
at Front Unscathed
—In Comfortable Quarters

How the Twin Falls artillerymen are conducting themselves under fire in France is graphically told in a letter under date of August 9 received by J. C. Beuchamp from his son, Lynn Beuchamp, a member of headquarters company, One Hundred and Forty-sixth Field Artillery regiment.

So far we have had everything happen to us that the Hun carry, Private Beuchamp says, but most of their shells are bombs and gas which miss us, for which we are thankful.

Wine Cellars as Protection

There are four large wine cellars which carry remaining distance that we are quite frequently taken off the ends over his compliments, and although there has been several gas alarms, no shells have come very close. We are prepared in that case with our masks and helmets to move in shell holes.

I wish you could see some of the traffic that goes over these roads. It is wonderful. An ambulance driver after the war, will think Broadway, is nothing but a side street. The roads have miles of convoys going over them, mostly at night; too ammunition trucks, quartermaster supplies, regiments of infantry, artillery and cavalry going in or out, some English, many French, but mostly American in this sector. I often wonder how much they are making to carry their messages down the roads to any nothing of demand shells bursting every so often. But they do and collisions are very rare.

Shut During Blast Fire

One gets used to everything here. It seems odd but you soon are able to sleep in the middle of a battle. I have seen the lights at night, and the air fights are surely interesting, and you sleep a sharp lookout for enemy planes, for one must hide to keep from being shelled out of his temporary quarters.

But then everything soon becomes an everyday occurrence and you get used to your work or else trying to rest between times. One thing I can't get used to, and don't expect to, but it is a certain amount of whiffling of an incoming shell, that is, that you might hear and don't argue matters like that, but flitting on in the mud like a horned toad, watching that my tin derby was as big as a wash tub.

Pratise Soldiers Aids

If it were not for the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. I don't know what we would do, for they help out every way possible. At present, no place coming to this front, I've seen only one 'Y' canteen and was too busy to stop long. You see, they have a hard time keeping up with this advance of men, and the men are getting so hungry and clear to the first line, and the doughboys need those supplies worse than we do.

The Red Cross—Well I can't express myself well enough to try and say how good and wonderful their work is, or how it is valued.

CHICKEN COOP BUILDER MUST GET WAR PERMIT

New Ruling Removes $2,500 Minimum Building Limit, Chairman is Advised

(Special to The News)

BOISE, Oct. 5.—There can be no construction of any kind retroactive cost in this state except new farm buildings where the aggregate cost is under $1,000. The minimum limit of $2,500 heretofore established has vanished, advice received by the state board designated to take charge of the permits, of which C. O. Hage is chairman, has been advised. This board has not yet held its organization meeting, although it met formally the other day and after taking up the matter of construction of two small school buildings in Blaine county, authorized that permits be granted.

Under the ruling of the war industries board, absolutely no new construction work can be taken up in cities, towns and villages without a permit being first secured. Building operations are therefore definitely suspended. The minimum of $2,500 applies only to repairs and extensions. That is to say, that it was desired to make repairs and alterations to a building this could be done without first securing a permit and the parties so desiring this work could make such repairs up to $2,500. However, in the case of erecting a new building of any kind, that is impossible without a permit being first secured. Some confusion has existed on this point. Under the explanation originating from the war industries board at Washington, it will be impossible in the future to even erect a garage or a chicken coop within the limits of a city or town without a permit.

HIGH SCHOOL TO HAVE STUDENT MILITARY BAND

Director J. T. Balbridge, President
Captain's Authority to Order Band
Drums and Cornets

In addition to a cadet battalion of about 150 members, the Twin Falls high school will have this year a military band of between 20 and 40 members, according to the statement of Director J. T. Balbridge. Uniforms, the same as are being secured for the cadets, have been ordered for the band, and as soon as the students have made sufficient progress in their military training, the Twin Falls public may expect to see parades and other military exercises carried out in the same manner as they are executed by the men in the regular army.

Director Balbridge promises not only the annual band high school band concert, instituted this year in conjunction with the commencement occasion, but a series of concerts to be given periodically throughout the school year. There are at the present time in the high school band, 20 experienced musicians, and others are under the instruction, so that before the close of the year, Director Balbridge expects to have a band of not less than 40 pieces.

THE LIFE HARASSING IN PRISON CAMP

Prisoners Stand at Attention as German Officer Passes to Review Them

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
AN AMERICAN HOSPITAL IN FRANCE, Sept. 3. (By Mail).—Hendburg and his retinue of generals are the only Boches who ride on rubber tires. Ordinary staff cars, camions, and other vehicles rattle and bump over German roads on iron tires.

So says George Tully, of Southfields, County Devon, England, who has been over to the other side of the line. He was captured in an early German offensive against the English, and with a group of 500 English and American prisoners was made to work continually under shelling just behind the German lines, contrary to international agreement to keep prisoners at least 30 miles behind the lines.

Tully escaped during the American and French push from the Marne, but just as he neared liberty was caught between an American and German barrage outside Fere-Bardouille, Womdeuil. He was picked up when the Americans drove the Germans farther, and was sent to an American base hospital. He has recovered to the extent of hobbling about on crutches, and his story interests everyone.

Scarcity of Food.

"Americans and Germans are working in gangs of 500, spread out behind the German lines," explained Tully. "We were treated to English, and with a never had enough sleep and enough to eat.

"The Germans think we are doing the same as German prisoners. They are all told that. Only once did I see a decent German. He was a guard who had four sons in the British army. The old man was caught in Germany and made to serve.

"The food was just black bread, and not very much of that. Sometimes we had soup, made of nothing but water in a big tub with a horse's head or something like that to flavor it. We were in terrible condition when I escaped. But the German soldiers are not much better off, judging from what I saw.

Saw Hindenburg

"I worked on the roads most of the time, though we loaded shells for a while. No rubber was used for the automobile tires. It was iron, even for the staff cars. They bumped over the roads, and made a terrific noise, and could not get stuck. Most staff cars were on narrow gauge tracks along the roads.

"I saw Hindenburg once. They made us stand erect and still when he passed. He opened the car window when he passed me. He looked like a monster, but I think he had a rubber tire on it. I'd have given my life gladly for a grenade then. Any one of us would—it would be worth it, just one chance at him."

"I create spiritual values; and the priceless ideals by which men live and for which they die are treasures out of my storehouse."
"Am the mother of heroes uncrowned and crowned. The vigor of nobler manhood has been nourished by my divine motherhood."
"By speak with assurance in the midst of the world's confusion. Where others survey prospects, I give abiding principles."
"Bring good news: My gospel is the only remedy for the need of the whole world."
"Be the light of righteousness; justice, brotherhood. They are the alphabet of my language."
"Have an open house of refuge for the oppressed. My ministry to the sick and desolate, to the sorrowing and stricken to the blind and dying souls of men are as the stars for multitudes."
"Am the guardian of the public peace, a conservator of its abiding peace, with my altar fire burning brightly. Deprived of my saving presence, the law of the land would become the law of the jungle."
"Behold, the scorn and evil suspicion of those who hate and do not know me is the badge of every worthy warrior. The wounds of my friends, I suffer not good strong."
"Bring forth noble sons and beautiful daughters. Nursed at my side they go forth to serve in my name."
"Stand. For twenty centuries I have survived through flame and flood. Today with a Heavenly Book and a Heavenly King, I stand dauntless in the face of wind and tide."
"Call you to me, O mothers and daughters of men. I trust you forth. O soldiers of righteousness, and I will build a wall of prayer about your immortal spirits. I will wait for you return, with my altar fire burning brightly. Your sacrifice and faith will not be vain as together, one, unbroken army we shall march forward through the portals of the dawnning day into the new era, our promised land, the world wherein dwelleth righteousness."
The voice of the local churches calls every good citizen to the House of Worship on the coming Sabbath day, October 6. Come morning or evening to the church of your choice. Music, message and fellowship await all.

CALL MADE FOR MORE BOOKS FOR SOLDIERS
Twin Falls Public Library Will Receive and Forward Volumes Given Here
The Twin Falls public library has received a request for more books from this community for the men over sea. The appeal from Washington states that new novels and good western stories, whether new or old, are most needed. Books by Zane Grey, Rex Beach, Jack London, Ralph Grant, Owen Wister, and O. Henry are very popular. The library will forward all suitable books that are turned in. It urges the friends of the soldiers, many of whom have already responded so generously, to give more books.

NEW BOOKS FOR TWIN FALLS PUBLIC LIBRARY SHIRLEYS
The following books have been added to the Twin Falls public library the past week:
"An Our First Year of the War," Wilson.
"Short History of Australia," Scott.
"Everyday Foods in Wartime," Rose.
" Fighting Starvation in Belgium," Kellogg.
"Survey of International Relations," Scott.
"Governments of France, Italy and Germany," Lowell.

CHILDREN RUN TO SOLDIER PALS AT ARMY MESS CALL

French Tots Share Yankee Soldiers' Rations—Women's War Parts Great

By Mrs. Hazel Pedlar Faulkner
 "The little children in this neighborhood have learned to distinguish the difference between a soldier and a man."

"Immediately it is sounded, they trudge out from every conceivable corner, taking their places around the mess, watching with eager, hungry eyes every bite that is dished out. A fellow can't eat the grimes very comfortably with such an audience, and the men have had to divide every meal with these little fellows, who are the children of men."

A "home-town" private, one of the Engineers who has been building railroads in France, sent that message home. He is one of the men who has been rationed of soup and beans, of meat and prunes, with the children who are the soul of France.

WOMEN GIVE WHEAT, SOUS AND MONEY

Western women send to war, have borne their part in the fight. They have saved their meat and their wheat, they have given their husbands and sons. Their money is going now. In the first, second and third Liberty loans they have forwarded their dollars. Opportunity to serve has come again. The government is seeking women, and it is asking for the kind of its three-fold need—men, munitions and money.

Germans Imperiled In New Pocket
 By JOHN DEGANDE
 PARIS, Oct. 5.—The French and American forces in the Argonne and Rheims are imperiling the Germans in the Argonne and in the newly created pocket northeast of Rheims.

French-American troops are now strongly established on the Orval-Tablens.

The French have reached the Arnes stream and are threatening to envelop the enemy still holding Nogent-Aubaine, Belle and the Moronvillers area, all between Rheims and the Sipa river.

This operation is in conjunction with General Berthelot's drive north of Rheims.

The American advance east of the Argonne is timed to progress with General Gouraud's right and is menacing the Germans in the great forest, evacuation of which is expected.

York by means of messengers sent to telephones from the area.

Thrills of Bombardment
 New York experienced the thrills of a bombardment by the heaviest guns. Giant crashes boomed through the lower section of the city. Staten Island and parts of Brooklyn were rocked at times by the force of the blast. Blackland and Kingsford explosions which were heard the city, before the United States entered the war, pale beside the tremendous force of this crash.

The property damage will run into the millions. The plant alone according to estimates, was valued at $18,000,000. This has been utterly destroyed, that part of it remaining at dawn today was slowly crumbling under the explosions of shell stores or was being struck down by a fire which couldn't be controlled.

Thousands in Plant
 There were thousands in the plant when the first explosion took place. As those men hurried toward their positions, other blasts followed. Remnants of human bodies, according to reports, were found in various places. One man declared he had seen a twisted mass of arms and legs in a blacksmith shop. Three hundred men were in the building when the first blast let go. How many of them escaped or whether any died is only a matter for speculation.

this double offensive, it is favored by men of military importance and signs are increasing that this will be a portion of General Pich's strategy.

Application of the laws to Austria-Hungary, it is held, would force her to make a general peace offer. The present reported Austrian request upon Holland to seek a peace conference is regarded here as only another step in the known plan to develop a wedge of fear throughout the fall and winter. However, if the claws were sunk into the monarchy, it is felt here that it would be only a matter of a very brief time before Austria would be out with a real offer to quit.

Expect Him Effort

Incidentally, some authorities here foresee plainly that Germany will propose a particularly sinister peace offer for offensive before long. It is indicated that lines are based upon a retirement from Belgium and northern France. When this retirement has been executed, it is expected that the Hun will appeal to the pacifistic Great Britain for particularly Great Britain. Such an appeal must be combatted, authorities here say, especially as it would be based largely upon restoration of an entangled grasp on Russia.

Military men viewed the war situation today with increasing delight. The success in the north and big American smashes in the south were taken as spelling the ultimate military doom of the Teuton.

England Wants Explanation

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 5.—Replying to an alleged request by Austria-Hungary for a peace conference of all belligerents, Great Britain is reported to have announced that the British government explain what it means by a "non-committal conference."

Austria-Hungary's request was made through Holland, according to the which the cabinet members of the Berlin government. She asked that Holland place the Hague at the disposal of the belligerents. Holland promptly notified all belligerents, the correspondent says.

It is reported that Professor Lammacher, who is rumored may succeed Austrian Minister Zamiatk, has prepared a memorandum stating Austria's conception of President Wilson's fourteen points which will be sent to the latter.

Officials at Vienna
 The Cologne Gazette says that Hungarian Minister Wekerel, Count Tisza, Count Andrássy and Count Apponyi have arrived in Vienna, in connection with the new peace efforts.

"We are laboring unwearingly in the interests of peace," Wekerel declared in an interview.

"We are already negotiating," Wekerel and the others will be received by Emperor Carl to discuss the situation.

No Reply To Austria

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Telegraph declares it has authoritative information that the only reply Great Britain has made to Austria's peace proposal consists of foreign minister Balfour's speech of September 18.

Peace Talk Puzzles Washington

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—State department officials were inclined to believe today that the above reference to the reply to Austria's offer in which the cabinet members of the Berlin government, nothing had come to the state department, to indicate that Holland was medium for a new peace offer, though it was rumored some time ago had been asked to provide a place for a non-binding peace session.

Additional Progress Made By French

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The French made additional progress north of St. Quentin, northwest of Rheims and in the Champagne yesterday, the war office announced today.

The Germans in the Meuse region, threatened with envelopment by the Franco-American advance toward the Arnes river, have evacuated the eastern portion of that area.

North of St. Quentin, fighting continues with the same violence, it is communique said. "We drove the enemy back, fighting foot by foot, from the height located 1,200 meters southwest of Chardon-Vert, adjoining Bequart on the south, and from the neighborhood of... More prisoners were taken.

Take 2,500 Prisoners

The northwest of Rheims we again started a push against the enemy on the whole front of the Argonne, which we crossed in several places. We progressed until we reached the borders of Bergercourt, six miles north of Rheims.

A large number of prisoners taken in the first five days is more than 2,500. Thirty-two guns have been captured, including 20 of heavy calibre, among which were five of 21 centimeter size.

Sharp attacks by French and American troops in the Champagne, the progress made yesterday toward Arnes forced the enemy, who was threatened with envelopment on his left, to evacuate hurriedly the eastern part of the Meuse sector.

French troops in the sector west of the Sulpice progressed in the hill maintaining contact with the enemy's rear guards. Last night, they reached the height located 800 meters south of Moronvillers, 12 miles directly east of Rheims.

South of Monthois, we broke up a German counter-attack at Croix-Des-Bois. All our gains were maintained.

The Germans, greatly re-inforced, disputed with us the ground on the

 The Germans are hurling the flower of their reserves against the leaps and bottoms of these two areas in a desperate endeavor to check the clamping movements. There are other main areas in the Champagne district where American troops are going forward across the most difficult country, pulling their ring tighter and tighter. The American capture of Mont Blanc and the French success at Cormery accentuate the encircling, allowing the 35th to facilitate the enemy positions along the chain of hills at Moronvillers.

Draft New Signal
 The French press is adopting a slogan of "village for village; church for church; town for town," in reprisal for the German assaults on French towns. The newspapers are urging the government to issue an ultimatum to Germany, declaring that a German town will be destroyed for every wrecked French town destroyed during the present German retreat.

Viewing the military situation, March declared the news from the whole front the past week had been "excellent." "The three drives begun during the last week-end have been effectively pressed."

The American advance between the Argonne and the Meuse has gone on despite the enormous Russian reinforcements.

Protect Constantinople
 Enver meanwhile is rushing troops from Persia to protect Constantinople against an Allied advance. But extreme sympathies in Turkey are greater in number than is ordinarily supposed, and are ready to take up the fight against their pro-German overlords.

Mohammed, who is anti-German in his leanings, is also jealous of the new order created by Enver as war minister and is believed to be sympathetic toward any move in opposition.

It is even thought that David Zeynel, minister of finance, is ready to desert the young Turks. He is understood to have been partly responsible for the federalists which reached England through financial channels a few days ago.

Confers With Austrian Emperor
 The Sultan recently held a conference with the Austrian emperor Karl, at which the question of peace and foreign policy was thoroughly gone over. Both are understood to be in accord.

Enver is taking his head on being able to hold the allies away from Constantinople.

Allied armies are preparing a march inland toward Constantinople. Over fifteen million oppressed people in Turkey are clamoring for peace and begging for bread and clothing.

It is understood the new Sultan is trying to win popular favor by seeking to end the war and thereby discredit the young Turks.

Senator Robert E. Stevenson of Wallace Takes Over Chronicle Plant

Announcement was made this morning that a deal had been closed whereby Senator Robert E. Stevenson of Wallace becomes the owner of the Twin Falls Chronicle. Senator Stevenson is widely known in newspaper circles in Idaho. As editor first of the Gooding Herald, later of the Gooding Leader and still later of the Wallace Press-Times.

The new owner of the Chronicle said this morning: "There will be no immediate change in the physical plant of the paper. It will endeavor to brighten and strengthen the paper which will be Democratic in politics, but not a political hack for any faction."

The paper will oppose the absorption of the Democratic party into the finances, according to the statement of Mr. Stevenson. "This is taken to mean that it will energetically oppose the Nonpartisan League candidate, Mr. Dorey, who has owned and published the Chronicle since it remained in the city for the present, devoting his time to the Patriotic League, of which he is the secretary.

Sheriff F. M. Kendall has put in a telephone call to the relatives of the dead woman, who are believed to reside at Hink.

Drunk Makes Deathly Sick
 According to the story told of the officers by a man, whose name is withheld, the case of the death of the woman, she arrived in Elmer Thursday. She said she was on her way to Hink. She seemed to be despondent, and was drinking from a bottle of whiskey. She gave the man a drink out of the bottle, as a result of which he says he became deathly sick. He made his way in this condition early this morning to the residence at Elmer of Dr. J. A. Dwight, who had been called to attend the dead woman, and there his story in regard to the circumstances was told.

Mrs. Young is said to be the mother of a five-year-old daughter. Her domestic life is said to have been an unhappy one.

Sheriff and Attorney Investigate
 Investigation into the case was made this morning by Sheriff Kendall and Prosecuting Attorney F. L. Stephan. A search of the contents of the Yells barn was made and there it was found that a woman was found. The bottle from which she is said to have drunk whiskey has not been discovered.

When discovered in the barn, Mrs.
