By CARL D. GHOAT
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Wilson's reply to the Teutonic peace offers will be a refusal to accept, according to strong indications from a high official here today.
This authority, who predicted accurately the rejection of the last Austrian peace note, said he "assumed" the answer would be a rejection.
The state department declined officially to comment on the above note situation. It was officially noted that the Swedish minister had delivered the Austrian note. At about the same hour the British minister, who had received the German note, delivered France's Max's peace negotiation plea to the president at the white house.

President Wilson passed up his morning game of golf—an unusual proceeding—and had his dinner in his study, when he turned himself to writing. It was understood he was drafting some reply to the Teutonic peace offensive.

The Swedish minister had an appointment at the White House this morning, but this was understood at both Swedish and American sources to deal with a topic entirely aside from the latest Teutonic peace move.

Apparently the only matter undecided at the moment was the content of the reply, and whether the Allies should be consulted before the answers are dispatched.

Whether the president will include in his answer a statement that peace can be made if it is a general surrender is made is a matter of speculation. That the country demands an unconditional surrender as a preliminary to any peace talk was clear from the report of White House tongues today. The Austrian note was delivered shortly after 10:30.

Former Position Unaltered
Secretary of State Lansing was to see President Wilson today, but his visit was social, inasmuch as he was introducing the British naval party previous to luncheon at the White House.

State department authorities made it plain that while President Wilson did not give them his confidence, it was safe to assume the American position many a kilometre before American Allied arms can visit territories on the Boche armies. Inasmuch as the offers contain no proposals for withdrawing troops from allied territory, plus laying down of arms, they are not acceptable, international authorities declare.

Wilson Ready to Respond
That one or both of the hypothetical walls for peace would be ready for presidential inspection before the night approach likely. The government stood ready to send upon short notice, the reply of President Wilson.

The proposals are timed to before the air at a moment when American troops are pushing their westward effort with its fourth Liberty Loan and

ALLIED ARMIES SEEK TO TURN GIGANTIC RETIREMENT INTO DISASTROUS ROUT

WAR SUMMARY
THE German retirement north of Rheims, which freed that city from artillery domination for the first time in four years, is expected to be followed soon by a general retreat along the whole line from that region northward into Flanders.

Unofficial reports state the enemy has set fire to cities and villages behind their lines throughout this area. Foreign military experts declare this presages a retrograde movement by the Germans.

The present fighting, which is said to be the greatest of the war, is regarded as a gigantic rear guard action to protect the retreat to new defense lines, which are not yet completed.

The allied armies are making their own answer to Germany's peace drive by attacking furiously at every point on the battle front in order to throw the Germans into confusion and turn their expected retirement into a great disaster.

Meanwhile the Allies are pressing forward in Serbia and Albania, defeating Austro-German reinforcements in the former country and harassing the Austrian retirement in the latter. Capture of Debra by the Serbians, menace the east flank of the Austrian—this place east and north of Durazzo, which the Austrians are not yet officially reported to have reached.

CONGRESS ASSURES PEOPLE NO COMPROMISE WITH WAR LORDS WILL BE TOLERATED

Germans Willing to Debate Peace Terms But Fail to Comply With Fourteen Points—Imperial Chancellor Strives Hard for Delay in Allied Military Program — Congress Sets Its Foot Down Hard on Armistice

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The United States congress, which must ratify the treaty of peace with the central powers when it is made, is said to be the American people today definite assurance that this government will not for an instant seriously consider the Austrian-German armistice proposal.

Democratic and Republican leaders joined in the most decided statement, declaring unthinkable "a compromise with the enemy," and urged only acceptance of the terms laid down by President Wilson.

While messages from all over the country continued to pour in by mail and telegraph urging congressmen to close their ears to the German cry for peace, senators vied with each other in demanding the most condign punishments for Germany.

Senators and Republicans, declared no peace talk can be thought of while Germany is enabled.

The war is to be carried to Berlin, they say. The Kaiser must be court-martialed and the German murderers punished, said Pointdexter.

"There is only one thing to be done—put Germany behind the bars—force her by physical guarantees into a position where she can never again break out."

Taking up the president's proposal for a league of nations to enforce peace, Lodge said: "Can you imagine such a league with Germany as one member? There is today a league to enforce peace—it is America and her allies."

"The only way to enforce peace is to whip Germany so badly she can never make war again."

"I am sorry anybody gives any attention to these proposals which come from Germany to chill our blood and retard our advance toward victory."

"The time for peace will come

SELLING BONDS A CINCH SAYS SECRETARY M'ADOO

Makes Personal Canvas and Raises Two Million in an Afternoon

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo says it "is a cinch" to raise money for the liberty loan.
He knows, for yesterday he canvassed a middle class neighborhood personally, and he and his co-workers checked up close to $2,000,000 after a brief afternoon's work. McAdoo's calls took him to the homes of rich and poor. From Bernard Baruch, chairman of the war industries board, McAdoo got a $100,000 subscription while there was another for $50,000 from President Wilson.

The Liberty loan committee is redoubling its efforts today in view of the general world peace situation.

SUPREMACY COURT OPENS
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The United States supreme court opened its fall term today. Two South Dakota cases involving questions on the enforcement of June, 1917, and constitutionality of the provisions of the selective draft act and prescribed duties of governors in apportioning draft quotas among the counties of their states were among the first scheduled for argument.

BOTH WINGS OF YANKEE FORCES PUSH FORWARD

French and Americans Advancing on Ten Mile Front Across Suippe—Progress Continues Along Aire Valley

By JOHN DE GANDT
PARIS, Oct. 7 (4:35 p. m.)—French and American troops, across the Suippe river, on a 20-mile front, are advancing against the town of Leneville and Bonville, Leneville is 15 miles northeast of Verdun.
Despite their resistance in this region and south of St. Quentin, the Germans are reported to be withdrawing their material and destroying that which is too bulky to move quickly.

Captain Selmann, who is in the Yser valley, urged the German high command to shorten the west front.
"It does not matter if we make a vast retreat provided the front holds," he declared.

"It is vitally necessary to hold the front at any cost."

Progress Continues in Aire Valley

WITH THE AMERICAN FIRST ARMY—The Americans have made some additional progress in the Aire valley, on the eastern edge of the Argonne forest, despite strong resistance.

Captured documents establish that the enemy plans to hold the Kremling-Stelling line at all costs. Heavy resistance is being put from the direction of Cuscl-Brillone road running westward from the Meuse, and in the woods and hills in other sections of the line.

Pigeons dropped from American airplanes in baskets attached to parachutes enable our infantry in the forward positions to maintain communication with headquarters.

Bombing Expeditions Raid Hun Towns

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Successful bombing expeditions against Kaiserslautern, Pirmasens, Metz, Tilonville, Ouprelles and the airparks at Morange Hillcock, chairman of the foreign relations committee, Senator Pointdexter declared Hillcock appears to favor such an armistice.

This Hillcock hotly denied, declaring an armistice now is "preposterously impossible."

SOLDIERS WANT TO FINISH WAR FOR ALL TIME

Sentiment Against Letting Present Conflict End as a Temporary Job — Would Teach Enemy to Love Peace

By LOWELL MELLETT
WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Oct. 7.—The British army is ready to answer Germany's peace proposal today as it answered that of Austria a short time ago.

"Let them talk peace while the fighting continues," is the spirit of the soldiers. I had the pleasure this afternoon of breaking the peace news to many officers and men of the British forces, beneath a big tree at Milling station.

It was apparent from what was heard on all sides, immediately word of the latest proposal went the rounds, as the British army is concerned (being more definite in the way they offer is necessary before serious consideration will be found).

Keep Enemy on Run
"We must keep the Germans running until we find out what is behind this, said most of the men.

"The world has had enough of war to last its forefathers," one officer asserted. "This war should be finished so it will be the final war."

The German resistance along the present front in Flanders and northern France is believed to be a gigantic rear guard action for the purpose of holding the allies until the Valenciennes line is completed. Only a few days ago, enemy prisoners reported that the defense system was not yet ready.

The roads between the Helderberg line and the northeast are jammed with traffic of all character, including civilian equipage.

NEW YORK MAKES BIG GAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—A total subscription of $30,474,100 in the New York district to the fourth Liberty loan was announced today by the Liberty loan committee. This represents an overnight gain of $35,377,400. The New York quota is $1,800,000,000.

UP TO WILSON SAY PARISIANS

But Not One Willing to Quit Until Germany is Thoroughly Licked

By WERNER MILLER
PARIS, Oct. 7.—To hear the people's cry in the German proposal, I went into the boulevard and talked with the people. "It's up to Wilson," declared Frank Carter of Chicago. "Whatever he says goes with me. I don't believe he'll quit before the Germans are licked."

"The Germans are burning our homes, and stealing our furniture and machinery," Henri Vourin, of Brussels, told me.

"Belgium shouldn't give them an armistice, so they will have time to start the remainder."

Foch Can Answer
"Marshal Foch will give sufficient answer for me, and millions of other Frenchmen," was the statement of Georges Baron, of Paris.

"I'm ready to quit when it's finished—not now," said Edward Hill of Adelaide, Australia.

"We shouldn't make peace while Fritz has got his navy, air force and planes equipped Allied territory," was the belief expressed by John Stool, of Monmouth, England.

"There will be no peace while the Germans occupy conquered territory," said Joe Robinson, of the Polish Legion, (but President Wilson's patron saint: "We are ready in 24 hours he says.")

Crowds Parade Twin Falls Streets All Saturday Night—News Reports Fail to Alter Actual Status

Saturday night in Twin Falls was the night which will not soon be forgotten in the midst of a pouring rain which fell at intervals all night. Long hundreds of people paraded the streets armed with every sort of noise-making machine imaginable, including an occasional six gun. Gaiety caps and duty for drums. A horn or two tooted holes of joy, men and women howled, cheered, shook hands with each other and themselves, and indulged in a general jubilation. Many believed that the German army had surrendered, others that Germany had acknowledged herself beaten and had sued for peace. All

CORONER INVESTIGATES CIRCUMSTANCE OF DEATH

District Court Decree Confirms to State Accident Board Findings

An inquest to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Mary Young of Napa, who was drugged Friday night at Tiler and who died here a few hours later, was convened here at 8 o'clock this afternoon by Coroner O. J. Crosby. James Young, husband of the deceased, arrived here Sunday from Kenyon, Idaho, where he had been for two weeks arranging to take charge of a store there formerly conducted by his father. He had had no intimation of any trouble to his young wife, until word of his wife's death reached him. He had left her at their home at Meridian, he said, with their five-year-old daughter, and had recently received a letter from her telling him to hasten arrangements for her coming to Kenyon.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Allied operations in Serbia are being resumed against the Austrian and German troops who still hold about half of Serbian territory.

The abandonment by the Austro-Hungarians of Albania, which bordered Serbia on the west, has been undertaken for the purpose of reinforcing the Teutons in northern Serbia.

Drastic action by the Allies is probable in this sector and might lead to an invasion of Hungary. The fact that the Allies have secured full use of Bulgarian territory for military purposes

Local Operations Favor British

"In local fighting yesterday in the north of Arras," said Hill, "we took a half north of Locatelle, we took 400 prisoners," the statement said.

"Yesterday afternoon one of our patrols in the Oppy sector brought in 34 prisoners and four machine guns."

"During the night we captured posts north of Boncourt-Au-Bois, east northeast and west of Oppy."

"A German post east of Berclay was captured. We made a slight advance north of Wetzemahart."

Pershing Reports Slight Advances

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Slight advance by American troops in the region of the Meuse and much artillery action by both sides Sunday, was reported by General Pershing today. His communique follows:
"Our troops have made slight advances during the day. Between the Meuse and the Boles Des Agones, there has been stubborn infantry fighting. Further to the west, machine gun and artillery combat were constant and heavy with everywhere increased artillery fire by both sides."

RHEIMS FREED FROM MENACE OF INVADERS

Hun Claw That for Four Years Has All But Grasped Famous French City, at Last Pushed Back by Allied Victories

PARIS, Oct. 6.—The Germans have been pushed more than six miles back from Rheims at their nearest point, completing the liberation of the city, the French war office announced tonight.

Several additional villages have been captured in the Rheims region. More progress was made north of St. Quentin.

North of St. Quentin, the battle continued all day between Morcourt and Beaucourt, the communists said. Our troops captured Remarcourt, Toley farms, two and a half miles northeast of St. Quentin, in addition to several woods and good points of support. The enemy retreated furiously but did not succeed in stopping the advance of our troops, who captured ground first by foot and took several hundred prisoners.

Force Crossing of Sappe

North of Rheims, we reached the Sappe at 10 o'clock. The German force, composed of the communists, strongly, counter-attacked repeatedly. We drove them back, inflicting heavy casualties.

We hold the southern outskirts of Agulcourt village and Beiricourt, nine miles north of Rheims.

North of the Sappe, further to the right, we forced a crossing of the river east of Grainville, capturing Pontevicq cemetery, seven miles north of Rheims. Lively fighting in the region of Bazancourt and Baul-Sur-Sippes, eight miles northeast of Rheims, enabled us to reach the outskirts of these villages.

Violent machine gun and artillery duels were fought between the two debouches from the Thensvalles east of Rheims, and Grand-Hars as well as north of St. Clement-Arce, two miles and a half east of Bethleville. Our troops withstood the strongest counter attacks without flinching.

Never Stop Oily

Three days' fighting has completed liberation of Rheims, with our own casualties not exceeding 10,000 men, and our own losses.

The enemy, who attacked it several times and who, in his impotent rage, set fire to it, nevertheless, was unable to take it.

French Account for 21 Enemy Planes

PARIS, Oct. 7.—In spite of most unfavorable weather conditions French aviators operated with success, the French official said, detailing the operations of the day.

Several tons of bombs were dropped on objectives behind the enemy lines and 21 enemy machines were either shot down or forced to land out of control.

Thirteen and a half ton bombs were dropped during the day on enemy assembly areas and batteries, which were forced to cease firing. It was stated.

Fires were started in the railway stations at Chelot-Sur-Bezonne and Neuflize.

Donald Crisp, who directed "The Firefly of France," which will be seen at the Idaho Theatre commencing tonight, is a director with a high quality of imagination and artistry. He has many fine pictures, but it is doubtful if he has excelled this new Paramount offering in which Wallace Reid is starred, with Ann Little featured as his leading woman. Mr. Crisp has a thorough knowledge of military matters because he served in the line war, and as a result was fitted to make this picture-accurate in its militant details. He has faithfully reproduced the story, from the scenario by Margaret Turnbull, based upon the famous story written by Marion Tolk Angellotti, and published in the Saturday Evening Post.

"ROMANCE AND BRASS TACKS"

Every American girl wants "Romance," but most of them come down to "Brass Tacks." Lucille McManus, the daughter of the Star King, is engaged to Gladwick Stone. Her betrothal is a prearranged affair of the two families. At a musicale she falls in love with a long-haired musician, and plans an elopement with him. She runs off with the "dinky" musician (Olin Howland). She tells him "He has the joy of life—he must elope, and that which will adorn each other and LIVE—LIVE." She thinks she has romance at last. She's through with love, kind, stupid people. From now on she's not coming going to brush her own teeth if she doesn't want to. But her "Romance" comes to a sudden stop when she finds that he wears a "dinky shirt" and separate cuffs. She finishes. The moral is: "Romance in real life so often takes you but of your own choice." This delightful comedy is also a part of the Idaho's program for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

BURN TOWNS PREPARATORY TO RETREAT

Flames From Cities Behind Hun West Front Lines Announce Enemy Intention to Commence Big Evacuation

(By WEB MILLER)

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The Germans are burning villages and towns behind their lines along the whole front from Lille to Rheims.

This is believed to preface a retreat in several sectors. South of Cambrai, the enemy is reported already to have fallen back two miles on a seven mile front.

Leon Burning

At least a score of places are in flames. Leon, the great communication center and base of the St. Gobain Massif was set off yesterday. Allouville, east of Lens and several villages southeast and west of Lille and between Douai and Soissons, are burning. The French found villages in the Sappe valley in flames.

(Christie, writing in the Matin, says: Great Evacuation Near)

"The fighting will continue to the end until there is a general German retreat. Their retreat is announced by the burning of villages. The great evacuation seems near."

BOYS TAKE HOLD IN GOOD OLD AMERICAN WAY, SOLDIER SAYS

Hardships Ignored, Wounded Man Tells, Mother—Don't Let Them Hinder Your War Work

By Mrs. Hazel Pedlar Faulkner From a hospital somewhere in France a wounded American has written to his parents: "I am going through hardships, but the boys are taking hold in the good old American way."

What a message for those of us who have remained at home! What a challenge to the vast army of men and women who are in the home guard, carrying on in the thousand and one ways that the exigencies of war have brought upon us.

We can believe that, when we recall the countless charges which our boys have been making over there, and the daily lengthening casualty lists which are resulting from their fearless devotion to the task that is set before them.

We know they are going through hardships, when we stop to think of the hundreds upon hundreds who are wounded, and who for the time being at least need care and attention.

WHAT TROOPS MAKE UP A UNITED STATES ARMY DIVISION

Latest Figures on the Composition of the Forces We Have and Shall Have in France Show American Additions to Firing Lines Give Preponderance of Smashing Proportions to the Allies

The average civilian is very much at sea over the figures with respect to the number of men the United States expects to place in the battle line and what the figures actually represent.

General Peyton O. March, chief of staff of the army, has told the senate committee on military affairs and the correspondents that he expects to have 80 divisions in action by the middle of the coming summer.

Just what that represents is not clear as so many guesses as there are. The organization on the latest tables of the organization that the army let us have, show that only a little more than half of the total force overseas will be at grips with the Germans.

Organization of Division As the staff originally outlined the division, it contained 29,250 men. Then came a suggestion from abroad that the organization be revised, and it was changed to give a total of 27,152 men, divided as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Unit Name and Count. Includes: One division headquarters (104), One machine gun battalion (703), Two infantry brigades, each of two regiments and one machine gun battalion of three companies (18,420), One field artillery brigade of three regiments and one trench mortar battery (5,068), Total combatants (22,400).

Of the 4,732 non-combatant troops attached to a division it has been determined that many have dropped their pace during pursuit and taken a hand in the fighting, notably the engineers, who more than one have left their pickets to shoulder rifles and give a fine account of themselves.

But they do not properly belong to the list of fighting troops, and there is usually plenty of work for them without making them do double duty. They are actually auxiliary to the combatant troops.

Work Behind Lines General March has told the newspaper correspondents that the division actually represented 40,000 men, and then added that to get a safe multiplier they had better take 45,000. He meant that the fighting forces began operations at the base ports where the troops are embarked, and that lines of communication, supply and medical attendance, to say nothing of the air service and such army troops as are represented by heavy artillery, cavalry, medical troops, engineers not attached to divisions and the like must be maintained. This maintenance requires an average of 18,000 men for each division in addition to its own organization.

Thus, when it comes to separating the rifles on the firing line from their auxiliary troops there is the difference between 22,420 actual fighters and 45,000 engaged in the great enterprise of fighting 3,000 miles from home in a strange country.

Each branch of the service—cavalry, artillery and air—is its part in the general result, but in matching divisions against enemy divisions, to current estimates only the rifles should be considered. The enemy also has army troops and organizations that do not figure in his base divisions.

German Organization The 80 divisions that we shall have on the front represent the equivalent of 118 German divisions, considered on the same basis. The German division originally had two brigades of two regiments of infantry, each making 12,000 infantry troops, with the artillery and other branches added. As the war progressed on the German side the brigade organization and formed three divisions of three regiments of 3,000 men each. The regiments detached were organized as special troops for flame throwing and other detachable forms of German infantry, with machine guns furnished throughout.

The Germans increased their artillery until the divisional quota of artillery was about proportional to the American force, making the division consist of 9,000 infantry, 3,000 of the new special troops and 3,000 artillery.

The theoretical total of fighting men in a German division is now 15,000 of all arms, excluding cavalry. Their auxiliary troops are used on much the same lines as the American auxiliaries, with heavy guns, air men and the like operated in addition to the firing line troops.

U. S. Shoulders One Half. The result of the American feeling of the line until there are 80 divisions of our troops on the west front will be to offset better than half of the total German forces on the west, at the fattest estimate. This will leave France and Great Britain, with Belgium, Italy and Portugal, to take care of the other half. The combined force will give to the allies a preponderance of smashing proportions, and will afford a mobile army to strike where the supreme command wishes, when it gets set for the main offensive, and to strike with enough force to break the German lines at the selected point or points. With the German troops required to police the growing Russian discontent, to take care of the weakness of the Austrians in Italy and bolster up the Turks, the German forces in the west can hardly keep their present equipment, and the impotence of the American addition will be the more apparent.—The National Republican.

PAYETTE—The state Federation of Women's clubs closed a most successful convention here with the election of officers. The meeting was one of the best ever held, about 300 delegates being in attendance. Mrs. J. W. Thomas of the meeting was "War Activities of the Women of Idaho."

Mrs. M. J. Sweetley was persuaded to accept the presidency for a second term as war measure. GOING HOME

Home. It's the word that means most to all mortals. The thought of home is the strongest human tie. Man will face any foe for home. Here is an example of the human yearning for home. It is a new picture from the battle-scarred western front in France. French peasant women are returning to their homes—under the very noses of German tanks, where the hateful Hun has been driven back by the allies' big drives. With it all this humble act is a lesson for America, in patience, humility and confidence.

With the Red Cross Work At Home and Abroad

Story of Red Cross Here
The Twin Falls chapter of the American Red Cross, started in Twin Falls in 1915 under the name of the auxiliary, grew by a small group of women, has developed in two years' time from a small, little known group of workers into an immense, well-organized institution having many thousands of members.

The work of the auxiliary at large was merely to give comfort and cheer to the Twin Falls unit of the Idaho regiment, then on the border. The idea was to do what when our boys returned home, but later, thinking that the United States might be drawn into the conflict across seas at any time, these women met and decided to organize a chapter from the auxiliary line. A chapter was granted on March 29, 1917. Since that time and especially since the United States has entered into the war, the chapter has developed into an organization of great magnitude.

We now have five branches—Twin Falls, Hays, Hamlet, Hamlet, and Kimberly. These branches have under them twenty-two auxiliaries. Each branch is allotted its work from chapter headquarters and they in turn allot the work to the various auxiliaries. The work given to each branch is decided by the number of members and workers in the branch. At the beginning of this work the expenses of the whole chapter did not exceed a hundred dollars a month, while now they run close to three thousand. We seldom shipped more than two boxes of finished work each week, and at the present time from 20 to 25 boxes are shipped each week. All materials are shipped from chapter headquarters in Twin Falls to the branches, to be returned finished and shipped to headquarters at Seattle. The office of secretary is also at headquarters rooms. Each branch has its own headquarters, surgical dressing and knitting rooms. Surely Twin Falls chapter has a right to be proud of her chapter and its workers.

WILL FURNISH BRASSARDS

The Red Cross War Council has undertaken to prepare brassards for distribution to the bereaved families of soldiers and sailors, who have lost their lives in the service. A brassard consists of a band of black cloth three inches wide to be worn on the left arm. A gold star is placed in the center of the band. Chapter headquarters can now furnish these bands.

Annual Election Announced
The annual election of officers of the Twin Falls County chapter of the A. R. C. will be held at Twin Falls October 23, at the various auxiliaries. The Filer branch has a knitting machine that was exhibited at the county fair last week. The work done on this machine is a revelation to many. Mrs. Freda Hayes, who is an expert in this work, in one day knit ten pairs of socks, besides doing household work. The hand knitters of the branch knit the tops and the machine does the rest. Filer branch reports 1235 pounds of clothing shipped to the Commission for Relief in Belgium—12 boxes of clothing and three boxes of shoes.
Call for Professional Man
Great difficulty is being experienced in the recruiting of professional men for the front. The present call is for dentists, physicians specializing in tuberculosis work, hospital supply clerks, etc. Those wishing information communicate with Dr. Sharples, Northwest Division A. R. C., White building, Seattle. The need is urgent.
Hazelton Branch in Own Home
The Hazelton branch of the chapter will move into their completed Red Cross house this week. The house has been built entirely by personal subscription and is very convenient. It will be used for Red Cross only. The branch completed in September three sweaters, 30 pairs of socks, 20 surgical aprons and 71 pianofors.
Mills Donate Prizes Now
The Twin Falls flour mills have donated $10, to the chapter. This was taken in price at the state fair for various grains.
Need for Nurses Urgent
With more than 18,000 nurses withdrawn from communities for war service either here or abroad, and the necessity for withdrawing more during the next few months, has come the need for more complete information concerning the nursing resources of the country. A complete classification of the nursing resources of the United States will include graduate nurses, nurses' aides, registered and unregistered, and undergraduates, pupil nurses, and large class of women who are called semi-trained nurses. Under this last group come trained attendants, midwives, and practical nurses. This survey means the conservation of our nursing forces by equal distribution. The duty of registering is as important upon nurses as military duty is to men, and the need for them is as urgent. Mrs. Andrew Robinson, Twin Falls, will take charge of this work for the county chapter. All nurses coming under this head will please communicate with her. Phone 687-7.

KAISER PLANNED TO RULE WORLD AFTER 6 MONTHS WARFARE

Thought Theft of Iron and Coal From France, Land From Russia, Would Pay Bill

Planning world trade domination, if not actual world rule, as the outcome of a short six-months' campaign in Europe, Germany now finds herself outcast from among civilized nations, and is being proscribed, her honor irretrievably stained by the blood of Belgium, and facing a future of fathomless ignominy and disgrace.

"I will make room for my growing power by taking some more of France and a few thousand square miles of Russia," said the Kaiser. "We will get the iron and coal in Northern France for manufacturers which we will use to conquer Poland, Rumania, and the rest of the world. We will more than pay for the war. England will not dare come in, and our merchant fleets will soon crowd her from the world's trade routes." "If the United States does not acquiesce, her manufacturers will get no more of our dyes and chemicals, her farmers no more of our fertilizers. And we will also take away from her all South American commerce."

GERMAN GRAVES GRIM ANSWER

Now, across the graves of a million of his young men, the Kaiser is beginning to see the sun set on the empire of his ambitions. "The sun will never cross the Rhine," is now the German watchword. German cities, shrieking beneath the visitation of Allied and American airplanes bombard the cities of the barbarians. Such cries are echoed in the ghastly laughs of thousands of Goths and Zepplins visitants in London and Paris. The Rhine will be crossed, and Cologne and Berlin will dance beneath the shells of Allied guns.

"Five million men in France," cries America. "Remember Belgium—and the world is his!"

To America and her five million fighting men in France will come the greater glory of the world war. But that end will not be achieved without the sacrifice of thousands of these men, nor without the most earnest and united support of those of us at home. Where we have given valiant efforts to war work heretofore, we must thrust our shoulders desperately against the wheel of war preparations from now on. To no one person or class is it given to do a greater share in this war than any other group or class. Each must do his utmost.

WEIGHT RESTS ON AMERICAN FARMER

Upon no one class rests a greater responsibility than upon the American farmer, who with his wives and children, has borne the brunt of the third of our population. He has the first and great responsibility of providing food for the nation at home, food for our allies in the field, and their civilian population.

England, with millions of acres of parks and hunting grounds converted into farms can only raise crops to feed her people here and the rest of the world. Every man in uniform, and nearly half her fields overrun by armies, does even less. The farmer, for his future honor and standing in the nation, must see to it that every man of his class can spare is retrained in war. The Fourth Liberty Loan, now upon us, calls for but a portion of what America must spend in war efforts in the next few months. It must be subscribed promptly and overwhelmingly. That "the man who is not for us is against us" is as true now as when it was written centuries ago.

If you buy a fifty dollar bond when you COULD BUY a five hundred dollar bond, you are not doing your full duty as an American.

FARMERS KILL HUN STARVATION PLAN WITH BIG CROPS

Pinched by Own Hunger. Germans Watch American Wheat Flour in Plenty to the Allies

The soft, the two-fisted fighting men that spring from the soil, and the unconquerable determination of the American who till it, are beating the Germans.

Thrown back from his first rush across the Marne and held at Verdun by the valiant French, the Hunns cast all the resources of humanity and civilization to the winds and ushered in unrestricted submarine warfare with the boat that England would be starved in six months.

How nearly they approached success will form one of the most gloomy chapters in the world war history; how and why they failed, one of the most dramatic sections of the epic chronicle of the world's greatest struggle.

AMERICA SENDS FOOD TO ALLIES

British and American seadogs hunted the submarine; American shipbuilders launched the ironclad; shipbuilders made it impossible for the Hun sub-terror to sink all of them; British land operations turned hundreds of thousands of acres of park and hunting preserves into crop- and stock-raising areas; Hoover and American food economy saved millions of bushels of wheat and billions of meat for fighting men and civilians in France and England.

But in the last analysis it was the farm and the farmer of America that kept allied hosts on every Western front in plenty and added despair to the Hun line.

His bumper crops lured hopes at Potsdam and Vienna as severely as his fighting sons lured Texas generals at Cantigny and along the Marne, and his expectations of American crop failure were based with Germanic complacency on carefully plotted campaigns of propaganda and sabotage in the United States.

HUN AGENTS BURN CROPS

The general public is too little aware of the bitter battles the crop grower has had to fight to bring his wheat to harvest.

Burned tarps, standing crops, harvestors and threshing machines were only a part of the widespread ruin planned by the fellows of "Boy-Ed," Von Fritsch and his associates, and in too many instances their plots were successful. That more were not was due only to untiring vigilance which can never be relaxed while the war lasts.

New goals, not easy of attainment, are placed before the farmer through the plan for raising an army of five million Americans to crush Germany next year.

He will be further handicapped by the loss of hands to the army, and he must raise greater crops. Plans of the Department of Agriculture call for the increase of wheat acreage in the West by as much as 80 per cent.

NEW EFFORTS CALLED FOR

No one doubts that he will rise to the opportunity for service placed before him, any more than any one doubts that he will play his own part in the perfectly co-ordinated fighting machine revealed when America turned as a nation to win the war.

Not the least of these parts was his own in the financing of the battle, though previous history had written down much effort to finance the farmer.

Several articles were uniformly more prompt than metropolitan areas in their response to the Third Liberty Loan. Honor flags first flew from country flagstaffs, and those with the greatest number of honor stripes likewise.

The Third Liberty Loan, the greatest financial achievement in the history of the United States, and therefore in the world, is to be perhaps doubly eclipsed by the Fourth Liberty Loan.

The part of the farmer probably will be as proud.

SOME PEOPLE FIND THE "HOUSEHOLD HELP PROBLEM SIMPLE"

—because they use the classified advertising columns "both ways"—watching the "Situations Wanted" ads carefully, and at the same time using the "Help Wanted" columns for their own messages to household workers. Sometimes they find the help required through the first, sometimes through the second method.

COUNTY SHORT BY $100,000 OF ITS BOND QUOTA

Chairman C. O. Thomas Makes Financial Statement and Promises Effective Work as Part of Committee

A statement showing total volunteer subscriptions for Liberty Loan bonds of the fourth issue, exclusive of those made through the bank to the sum of $90,000 in Twin Falls county, given out by County Chairman C. O. Thomas. This statement shows that the county is $100,000 short of reaching its quota of $1,000,000.

In order that the quota may be reached Chairman Thomas declares that every person must buy bonds up to the limit of his assessment as determined by the district assessment board. A campaign toward this end is to be conducted by the county chairman states. A list of those who are able to buy bonds and who have refused to do so will be given out for publication.

Committee Will Go to Work

"There will be no publishing of names, except those that are able to buy and positively refuse to buy," Mr. Thomas said this morning. "The committee will go to work about Tuesday on Wednesday and will raise the balance in one day."

CELEBRATION ANTICIPATES HUN'S DEFEAT

were certain that the best of reasons for a celebration existed and everybody was in a mood to celebrate.

News Office a Center

The office of The News was the center of an excited throng, whose members clamored for news of the latest news. The news that it had to supply them. But it was difficult to entice from the standpoint of a newspaper man. The night press wires carried stories of peace moves not more important than those at intervals during the past few weeks. There was no definite dispatch bearing on the subject, no record of any single act on the part of the Central governments which seemed to in any manner alter the war status of the belligerents. There were references to momentous happenings, "events of grave import," "startling developments," and of speeches made and to be made which might or might not prove to be news.

All these things were apparent in The News office, which kept closely in touch with the situation from 10 o'clock at night until 4 o'clock in the morning. The news might be the latest dispatch from the "Dover" accepted the dispatches as being in any manner out of the ordinary course of the events predicted as a result of the Chancellor's speech, and a subject that the "Dover" of Saturday as carried in The News of Sat-day's served to still further strengthen the belief that no definite step had been taken by any European government. At the same time it was apparent to all that big news might break any minute, and that all the indications led straight to the fact that what was happening was surely in the right direction.

Neighboring Towns Celebrate

News began to pour into "The News" about 10 o'clock at night. "Hollister, Wendell, Filer, Butte and other towns," said the editor, "are celebrating in various ways. The towns of Wendell, Filer, Butte and other towns are celebrating with those at Twin Falls. Autos paraded the streets and many of the men were drunk and bonfire kindled. Some of the celebration was kept until 11 1/2 hours.

Wires Kept Open

The News cheerfully answered the excited queries of all who called and wanted to do so all day Sunday. To be sure, it was hard to satisfy some of the more enthusiastic, but the facts were cheerfully dealt out and the wires kept open for possible developments. The daylights the evening had quieted down to some extent.

By day or night The News stands ready to hand out to all its chief commodity, NEWS, good, bad, or indifferent, but it tries to hand out news in the most judicious manner at such times as it is a little weak on the rumor part. But it was a good-natured crowd throughout and its members thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

OBSCURES ASSURES PEOPLE

"I infer that you think when Germany has evacuated the occupied territory, we can talk peace," said publisher.

"Without your inferences," "I'm going to state my position clearly."

"President Wilson's fourteen peace terms have become the foundation stones of the peace settlement not only for America but for the Allies," said Hiltbeck. "You say the Allies agree to these terms," said Senator McCumber.

"There is no word in them of repatriation," retorted Clemenceau who then insisted there must be repatriation."

Discusses Wilson's Terms

"The president has never said," replied Hiltbeck, "and these are complete terms, or the only terms. For instance, we have no right to dictate to the German people who their rulers shall be. But we have a right to say whether they shall enter into a contract with those rulers if they are the Hohenzollerns. I believe we should add to the peace terms that we'll make no peace contract unless representatives of the German people are empowered to contract with us."

Senator Borah declared President Wilson in his speech of September 27, 1918, said that we can negotiate with the present rulers of Germany "because they do not speak our language."

"Therefore the suggestion of Senator Hiltbeck is already one of durable peace terms," said Borah.

Senator Lodge, ranking Republican member of the foreign relations committee, declared the committee should not be allowed to get the impression that any branch of the government regards the German proposal seriously.

"France will never agree to accepting less than the unconditional return of Alsace-Lorraine," said Lodge. "The production of the world demands that Lorraine, with its iron, be taken from Germany. Our recognition of the Czech-Slovakia committee is to take them from the Austrian yoke. With them goes Poland. Are we now to leave them in the lurch and forever hang our heads in shame at a break of faith? I don't believe such a thing is contemplated for an instant."

The merchant who has a price-escalator for you will always break the news in his advertising.

PRESIDENT TO REJECT OVERTURE

When American-Allied forces are smothered the Boche armies back along the west front.

But in so far as America is concerned, there is a unity of feeling against the proposal. Both England and France are likely now to make a statement of war aims attuned to President Wilson's desire along that line.

Max Would Talk Terms

Prime Max, German chancellor, has asked that President Wilson communicate with the allies about the peace proposals.

The president may discuss with them the subject of a re-statement of war aims, making the allied purposes unmistakably clear. In any event, he will let Germany and Austria know that America's terms are plain and that an insincere peace offers will worsen this nation from its purpose.

Must Swallow Own Medicine First

Some authorities believed he might talk the terms that peace negotiations could be instituted if Germany cleared her armies out of the occupied territory absolutely, if she also lays down her arms and gives the United States control over them; if, in other words, she made a complete military surrender—not a breathing spell armistice.

This would be comparative to the terms given Bulgaria. Bulgaria surrendered when she accepted, but there are no suggestions that Germany is ready to accept the peace of her conqueror.

On the contrary, authorities say that she is attempting to deceive the world by appearing to have had a change of heart.

But the state department has said privately on a number of occasions, sections speak louder than words," referring to the fact that Germany will not give peace unless she will maintain a strangle hold on parts of Rumania and Alsace and while her armies are still on the soil of France and Belgium. Officials at Washington can be said to favor military action, without which, until Germany is forced to surrender—until she is ready to clear out of these occupied lands, and until there is a real spokesman representative of the German people rather than of the Kaiser.

Victory on the Horizon

Army men point out that victory is a certainty next year. They say it would be the greatest tragedy of all times were the allies now to wipe the slate clean after sacrificing hundreds of thousands of lives. Quitting now would leave Germany intact and not quipped. The old military rule would be in force; and the world would have not a guarantee that this clique, headed by the Hohenzollerns, would not attempt in the next generation to inflict its gluttonous desire for world domination upon its neighbors.

A continuance of the war into 1919, say the military men, will effectively crush the military spirit of Germany. She will be ready then to put things in order in her own house, and will speak quite really to the terms of President Wilson.

Criticizes Allies

Incidentally Prime Max's speech as revealed through the committee on information, shows that he criticized the allies as Germany after the war.

"It would be a bad advice of the German nation who would take an example from Clemenceau and Lloyd George," said the chancellor, "this plan President Wilson's earnest declaration against the post-war boycott, is likely to bring a definite statement from the allies regarding with the president's position."

Peace More Forecasted

The "victorious peace more caused no surprise here. This government has had every reason to believe that Germany intended to prosecute a peace offensive of more extensive proportions than ever before undertaken. We only give up this latest maneuver may be even followed by further efforts later, for it now appears that the German war lords are telling the German diplomats that an American-Allied victory is in sight."

New Lord Camouflage

Prime Max is looked upon as the lord high camouflage for the Prussian autocracy.

Though he has set up a cabinet which includes socialists and liberals, the power of the Prussian war lords has not been diminished, allied diplomats pointed out.

Furthermore, this and a slight franchise reform modifying the system of plural voting will serve only to notify the masses and insure them to further sacrifices. The Kaiser is still the war lord of the German empire and the German Reichstag still remains a debating society, diplomats were heard to say.

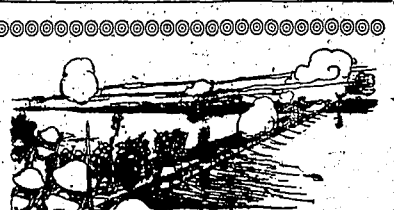

Austria Has Proposal Too

The Austrian proposal, lined with that of Germany, is German engineered, though officials are inclined to believe that internal troubles are rushing the hand more than is the cause with Germany.

The latter it is pointed out, realize Austria's precarious condition and is trying to get peace talk started before the volcano erupts.

The middle west is demanding the unconditional surrender of the Germans as the only peace terms this nation will consider, according to a telegram reaching the white house from Kansas today.

Wilson's Fourteen Peace Points Not Accepted By Huns

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Germany does not accept the Wilson terms for peace is the message that the Reichstag has just given to the world. The message is that the fourteen and four points form a basis for negotiation. There is no question as to the fact that Germany makes full reparations and gives guarantees that will insure the future.

This is the stand taken in Paris and all of France on the peace statement coming from Germany.

Armistice Breathing Spell for Huns

As stated in the French press there is no consideration of the proposal in its present form. There must be concurrence, it is declared, in the evacuation of Belgium and France and other more extensive propositions than ever before undertaken. We only give up this latest maneuver may be even followed by further efforts later, for it now appears that the German war lords are telling the German diplomats that an American-Allied victory is in sight."

World Mean Disastrous Peace

Meanwhile the victorious allied troops are advancing while the millions of eyes of fighters and people are turned hopefully to President Wilson.

"Germany hangs upon this which would be the peace of infamy and prevent the devastation of Germany as she has devastated those weak nations which have opposed her.

One fact stands out: Germany knows and admits she is beaten, but this does not mean that the war is ended.

OF VAN ERCT

This interesting area is through Serbian territory, leading to the famous iron gate, which marks the passageway down the Danube into Hungary. A movement by the Allies through the iron gate would compel the Germans and Austrians to evacuate Rumania and concentrate for defense of the Hungarian grain and cattle lands. These are the principal sources of food supply for the Hun army and have been drawn down upon to feed the Germans.

A threat by the allies to eastern Hungary would result, and for this reason is a situation of utmost danger to the Central powers. Starvation would certainly Austria-Hungary if the Allies could reach the Magyar plains. The unconditional surrender of the Hapsburgs might even be brought about by the development of a serious threat against the wheat lands without the actual accomplishment of conquest.

Glans Up on Serbia

The reported capture of Nish by the Serbians put the Allies astride the main railway leading through Northern Serbia into Belgrade. The operation of this railway would have as their objective the rescue of all that remains of Serbia in the economic hands.

The capture of Belgrade, which borders Hungary, would put the Allies astride the main artery of Europe. Of the two objectives, the seizure of Hungary's grain is more important than the seizure of the capital.
