WAR SUMMARY

WHILE the Allies continue to drive the Germans back on the west front from the Dutch frontier to the Verdun region, French troops have reached the Rumanian border.

The French war office announces that just 24 days after the Balkan offensive was launched, French detachments arrived Sunday at the Danube, near Vidin, in Bulgaria, 95 miles north of Sofia and only 45 miles from Hungarian soil. This represents an advance of about 200 miles northward from the Lake Dorain region.

Further progress all along the Balkan front was reported in official statements. Serbian troops are in contact with the Germans, who are strongly entrenched north of Aleksinat and Krushevat, north of Nish.

British troops, driving ahead in the Valenciennes region, have approached to within two miles of that important city and have rendered useless the Valenciennes-Hirson railway, a vital enemy supply line.

Tournai has been flanked from the north and south, the British reaching the Scheldt river on a 5-mile front north of that city.

The Belgians have crossed the Scheldt canal, on a front of nearly fifteen miles, from the Dutch frontier southward of Moerend, only five miles west of Ghent. Between Ghent and Tournai, the Allies are approaching Audenarde.

British and Americans are across the Sambre and Oise canal in force and are reported to be pushing eastward.

Between the Oise and the Sambre the French have made further progress, capturing Mesbrecourt and Richecourt and reaching the outskirts of Villers-Le-Sec.

French and Americans have broken up repeated enemy counter-attacks in the Vouziers region, where fierce fighting is still under way.

In the Argonne region, the Americans have captured Jappep wood and Hill 209.

"SHOW ME" WILL BE ATTITUDE OF THE PRESIDENT

Several Days May Elapse Before Reply to Latest German Note Is Forthcoming, If Reply Is to Be Made

By ROBERT J. BENDER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Germany must come to military terms with Marshal Foch.

This was the outstanding feature of developments here up to noon today, following the receipt of the latest reply to President Wilson.

The next logical step appeared to be an announcement from Foch of the terms on which he would consider an armistice possible.

Whether the president will request Foch to make this statement at this time is purely problematical.

It is believed in military circles that Foch's minimum terms will include Allied occupation of Metz, Strasbourg and Cologne.

Meantime public pressure from the entire nation, in the form of telegrams and editorial opinion, was combined with the strongest demands from congress, expressed by members' indignation that any conditional surrender be made the only basis for further negotiations.

President Wilson this afternoon discussed the situation with his cabinet. Great emphasis is being placed on the reply to the German demands before further steps are taken.

Time alone can tell as to the efficacy of Germany's restraining orders to her submarines and her troops, and the closest scrutiny must be made. It was pointed out, however, that the German government to show whether it measures up to requirements set by the president at Mount Vernon.

The official text of the German note has been received by the State department and is now being decoded. It will be delivered to Secretary Lansing shortly.

If the reply stands the test, peace maneuvers will pass from diplomatic to military control and Marshal Foch will take the wheel from the president.

Foch to Conclude Job

President Wilson's case has been to determine definitely Germany's acceptance of the American terms laid down in his several messages and then turn the whole job over to Foch to conclude.

A pause in the next step is necessitated by the need for carefully checking up on the German declaration of intentions, to preclude trickery. Any exchange of opinion already under way, must be carried on between the government and the Allies. And further, the reaction of the American people to the latest German note must be taken into account.

It is deemed likely, however, that after the president has an opportunity to study the official text of the German note, some indication will be given as to his attitude. Meantime many in congress and the press of this and allied nations demand an end to his parley and application of "unconditional surrender."

French Advancing Rapidly in Flanders—Battle in Vouziers Region Renewed With Intense Violence—Artillery Active on Other Fronts

Pressures Renewal of Fight on Large Scale—Brueilles in Flames as Germans Retreat

PARIS, Oct. 22, 4:05 p. m.—The battle in the Vouziers region was renewed today with redoubled violence. The Germans, who are using enormous numbers of men in their determination to prevent flanking of the Argonne massif on the north, are suffering heavy losses in the hard fighting.

General De Goutte's army is reported to be advancing swiftly in Belgium.

Brueilles has been set fire by the Germans and is burning fiercely. Clercy-Le-Fort, two miles north of Brueilles, also is burning.

There is a marked increase of German artillery against the American line, where the enemy is exhibiting signs of nervousness, evidently fearing an attack.

Artillery fighting is increasing along the whole front from the Foyers region into Lorraine, according to battle front dispatches received here this afternoon.

French and American reconnoitering parties on this front have penetrated deeply into the German lines on multiple expeditions.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Germans continue to hurl great masses of reserves against the French and Americans in the Argonne-Meuse region in a desperate effort to prevent a breakthrough there that would turn the retirement north into a gigantic disaster.

A captured order issued by General Von Der Marwitz frankly admits this is the most vital point in the whole west front. The fighting east of Vouziers, where the enemy launched a series of heavy counter-attacks, has diminished in violence, according to the French war office, indicating that the Germans have temporarily become exhausted in that sector.

To the eastward, however, the Americans are heavily bombarding German positions between Grandpre and the Meuse, apparently as a preliminary to another drive forward.

Resistance in Belgium Slight

The German retirement in Belgium is being stopped only at a few of the most important resistance, in scattered sectors. Field Marshal Haig reports stiffening opposition in the Valenciennes region, where the British are within two miles of that important town.

The French, according to latest reports, are advancing rapidly in the direction of Ghent and Audenarde. Fall of those cities, as well as Tournai and Valenciennes, is expected hourly.

Between Valenciennes and Ghent, the British and Americans, reported to have crossed the Sambre canal in force, are gradually drawing nearer to Hirson, possession of which will practically split the German armies. They are within 16 miles of that village.

Paris, Oct. 22.—The news of the late 48 hours is corroborative of reports that the Germans are falling back on the short line from Holland, through Liege, Metz and Strasbourg, to the German border.

The eleventh hour armistice apparently having failed to save them from disaster, von Hindenburg and Ludendorff are working hand in glove with Berlin, playing for time.

Meanwhile, they are praying to avoid variety of booby bickens that something will happen to prevent a debacle.

Apparently the rainy season has commenced, holding out the hope that General Winter will grant the truce which the allies refused. However, the battle is rattling on. Ludendorff's general plan seems

Thirty-five Per Cent Increase of Influenza

DES MOINES, Ia., Oct. 22.—An increase of thirty-five per cent in new flu cases was noted in the official figures posted by the state health board today. With 2,340 new cases today, the state's total mounted to 30,533. Today's deaths reported up to noon were 28, making the death toll in Iowa from the flu and diseases resulting therefrom 337.

On the Sambre front, we reconnoiter our progress and reached the railway northwest of Aasi-Sur-Serre, also the St. Jacques farm, north of Chaulandry, a mile south of Grey-Sur-Serre.

West of Chateau-Portelin, both armies are active.

On the plateau east of Vouziers, the battle has diminished in intensity, but the enemy attacks were extremely violent. We identified elements of sixteen divisions.

This morning, an enemy tentative attack against La Perdonne farm was completely repulsed.

In the Vosges, patrols took prisoners in the region of Col-Du-Bonhomme, northwest of Colmar.

Huns Abandon All Their Coast Guns

LONDON, Oct. 22.—British troops have reached the Ecaut river on a five-mile front north of Tournai, and Marshal Haig announced in his special Belgian communique early today.

The British advanced about a mile between the Ecaut and the Lys, while the French improved their positions along the latter river.

The Germans, it was announced, abandoned all their coast defense guns.

British troops have reached the Ecaut between Bailleul, four miles northwest of Tournai and Hechin, five miles northeast of Bailleul," the statement said.

"We advanced over 1,500 meters between the Ecaut and the Lys." The French improved their positions along the Lys.

"The Germans have abandoned all their coast defense guns."

HUNS BUSHING NEW TROOPS TO MEUSE REGION

Orders Captured From German Officers Indicate Determined Effort to Hold Fast to Certain Lines

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Oct. 22.—The Germans continue to strengthen their forces opposing the Americans in the Argonne-Meuse region by rushing in units of new divisions.

A captured order issued by General Von Der Marwitz appeals to the German soldiers to hold this sector at all costs, which he declares is the most vital to German military movements.

Officers report their orders are to be determined to hold back the Yankee push.

In clearing out the Eppes wood, which the doughboys accomplished yesterday afternoon in three hours, despite heavy machine gun and artillery fire, they have removed one of the most serious obstacles to their continued progress.

PROMISES GAIN NO CONFIDENCE

French Official Says Military Situation Alone Actuates Hun Peace Plea

By JOHN DE GANTZ

PARIS, Oct. 22.—"The German reply gives no satisfaction to France," a high government official stated to the United Press today.

President Wilson stated that the Allied commanders should dictate the conditions of an armistice. Germany asks it on bases advantageous to Germany. She agitates the question of honor, after the most numerous loss.

"I am sure President Wilson cannot be pleased that Germany attempted to make the world believe he was busy when he denounced her murderers. She would like to induce neutrals to verify things which already have been verified, thus to gain time and prolong the conversation.

Berlin vainly waited for improvement in the military situation. Then Von Hindenburg brought bad news to Berlin, which consequently set forth in its reply a more ardent desire for an armistice.

It is possible that President Wilson will make no reply. In case he does, France is utterly confident of his decision."

Austrians Will Ask Latest Peace Terms

PARIS, Oct. 22.—"The Austro-Hungarian government soon will reply to President Wilson's note inasmuch as he has not answered the question concerning possible conditions for peace negotiations," declared a semi-official dispatch from Vienna, received here today.

CITY AGAIN BIDS A FAREWELL TO FIGHTING MEN

Demonstration for 29 Registrants Entaining to Enter Service at Fort Rosecrans, California, Is Planned.

A farewell demonstration and march to the railway station led by the Twin Falls band and members of Dan McCook post, Grand Army of the Republic, is the order of public exercises marking the entrainment here this evening of 29 registrants of this county called into the military service at Fort Rosecrans, California. The demonstration, as usual, will be staged at the intersection of Main avenue and Shoshone street, from which point at 5 o'clock, the march to the depot will start.

Are "Barin" to Go?

Indicative of the spirit of the men who are leaving here this evening to enter, upon an active part in the war against the enemy of humanity, is the fact that each and every one of them when they assembled this morning at the office of the local board, refused to consent to postponement of their induction in the face of the requests of others also called but not needed to fulfill the quota, who are equally anxious to go.

All but two of the men leaving this evening are registrants of the class of September 12, 1918.

Walter Deforested Classification

In command of the party of registrants leaving here this evening, the local board has placed F. R. Taber of Twin Falls, a proprietor of the Fidelity Abstract and Trust company, and a former member of D company of the Second Idaho regiment. Mr. Taber was deferred classification to enter the military service at this time, as also Charles H. Browne and Harley Butler, two of the men whom he has selected as assistant leaders of the party. Browne is a former deputy in the office of the county treasurer and of the county assessor. He has been employed lately by Magel Brothers, automobile distributors. Mr. Butler, who leaves a farm on the Salmon River project to enter the service, was employed some time ago in the real estate office of J. E. White and was a member for several seasons of the Twin Falls baseball team. Ray M. Boechnig, the third man named as assistant leader, is the secretary of the Salmon River Settlers association.

MANY ITALIANS NOW IN FRANCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Italian forces numbering nearly half a million men are in France. General Mangin, in a telegram of congratulations to the Italian minister of war, disclosed the fact that Italy has a full army corps in the great battle in France.

The Italian command has pointed out that in addition to this combatant force of more than 500,000 troops, the Italians have had approximately 20,000 non-combatants and work troops behind the French line since early in the war.

The embassy today made public General Mangin's message to Rome which was:

"The second Italian army corps has driven before it the German remnants, advancing sixteen kilometers in 36 hours. The Italian flag is borne proudly on the French front by General Albertini. I am happy to have him under my order, fighting for civilization and forging on."

FALL OF TOURNAI EXPECTED TODAY

British Forces Encircling City on North and South Making it Untenable

By LOWELL MELLETT

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Oct. 21.—British troops are rapidly encircling Tournai, both to the north and south. Deep wedges have been driven into the German lines on both sides of this important city, and its fall appears imminent. The enemy is stubbornly defending the approaches with machine guns and machine guns.

The Germans heavily shelled Neuville tonight, but when I saw wet and bedraggled, but happy, women, children and old men escaping this afternoon. They were being escorted by Tommies, who were carrying chickens, household goods and other valuables.

who have been transferred to entrain from other points, is as follows:

HUNS SEEK TO WITHDRAW TO HOLLAND-LEIGE LINE

German Generals Devote Efforts to Getting Forces Safely Back to Starting Point

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMS

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The news of the last 48 hours is corroborative of reports that the Germans are falling back on the short line from Holland, through Liege, Metz and Strasbourg, to the German border.

The eleventh hour armistice apparently having failed to save them from disaster, von Hindenburg and Ludendorff are working hand in glove with Berlin, playing for time.

Meanwhile, they are praying to avoid variety of booby bickens that something will happen to prevent a debacle.

Apparently the rainy season has commenced, holding out the hope that General Winter will grant the truce which the allies refused. However, the battle is rattling on. Ludendorff's general plan seems clear. It consists of retaining battle on the northern flank, while stubbornly holding on to the positions in the center.

Reports have reached Paris that the Huns do not intend to defend Antwerp. Masses of Boches are pouring past Antwerp toward Liege, likewise, much material.

Military circles do not believe the Germans would have quit the Belgian coast unless they realized the necessity of giving up practically all of Belgium. Things are also lying up on the Alsace-Lorraine front, where the Germans are very nervous. Developments are expected there, especially by the enemy.

This, while the prize goal of Ludendorff's maneuvers can still only be guessed, the scheme of reaching it is perfectly clear.

MEMBERS GAUGE LEAGUE IDEALS SAYS MCKAIG

Nonpartisan Leaders Discuss Campaign Issues in Open Air Meeting in Twin Falls City Park—Predict Success

Addressing an audience of about 150 persons assembled Monday afternoon at an open-air meeting in the Twin Falls city park, Ray McKaig, Idaho state manager for the Nonpartisan league, declared that members of the league were responsible if leaders of the organization were guilty of disloyal utterances. He predicted that the league candidates would receive at least 60,000 votes in the coming elections in this state.

Other speakers on this occasion were H. F. Bannick, Nonpartisan candidate on the Democratic ticket for governor; W. P. Rice of Jerome, Nonpartisan candidate for state auditor, and J. D. Brown of Baker, first vice president of the Idaho State Federation of Labor. All of the speakers were introduced by O. G. Zuck of Kimberly, Nonpartisan candidate for lieutenant governor.

Give View on Origin

W. P. Rice was first introduced. He spoke briefly, outlining his policies as state auditor, if elected to that office. He said that he would use his influence to secure an equitable distribution of the tax burden and that as a member of the state land board, he would endeavor to get at the bottom of the difficulties besetting some of the irrigation projects of this state and arrive at a solution of them. An effort to secure an amendment of the constitution whereby the farmer would get a fair proportion of the profits of farming, he declared, was a principle reason for the starting of the Nonpartisan movement.

Says He Advises Labor

Organized labor in Idaho was welcomed by the Nonpartisan league and entered its ranks after the statement of the seventeen articles of proposed legislation determined upon in the interests of labor at a convention in Moscow had been presented both to the Democratic and Republican state platform conventions and had been cordially received by each, said J. D. Brown, who was appointed a member of the committee which drafted the Nonpartisan league platform.

"The regulations of labor organizations provide that in political, religious and family affairs each member shall be left to act in accordance with the dictates of his own conscience," Mr. Brown said. "We do not attempt to direct the acts of our members in these matters," he added. "We have a different way of doing it. We advise our members, and those who have any brains and who are real union men know what to do."

Samuel Detmold Patriotic

H. F. Bannick opened his remarks with the statement that every American is proud of the manner in which Woodrow Wilson is handling the war and he proceeded to a definition of a 100 per cent American, declaring that one who would not lay all his possessions on the altar of his country in this crisis could not be classified in that category. "I am not attacking me in this campaign as qualified as 100 per cent American according to this definition, I shall have nothing more to say about them," he stated.

Talks on State Issues

Referring to state issues, Mr. Bannick discussed policies of taxation and development of water power, mentioning also that the banks of the state were fighting the league for the reason that the league policies would afford cheaper money.

Declaring that taxes should be paid in proportion to the holdings, Mr. Bannick stated that mines in Idaho pay the least on their improvements and that the production of the mines in Utah, he said, mine owners accepted the principle imposed by officers of the people, requiring them to pay taxes on an amount far in excess as great as the annual production of the mine. The net production of the mines last year was approximately $13,000,000, he stated, arguing that the more equitable Utah basis would have added some $52,000,000 to the tax rolls of the state.

Timber land is much more valuable than the agriculture, Mr. Bannick stated, adding that the assessment of farm lands was about twice that of timberlands.

"The mine owners and the timber interests who are spending thousands of dollars and buying newspapers to attack me in this campaign are simply looking after their own interests," he declared.

nor," he said. "Don't vote against any league candidate for the legislature because you personally don't like him," he urged. "We were not in the league against the patriotism of any Nonpartisan candidate, because every man on the ticket was given the acid test before he was nominated and every one is 100 per cent American."

Reads Advertisement

Ray McKaig, introduced as the cyclone from North Dakota, took issue with Bannick's advice not to resent the epithet pro-German. Concluding a statement in defense of the character of citizens who had nominated Nonpartisan candidates on the Democratic ticket in Idaho, Mr. McKaig launched into a discussion of the charges made against the league by Frank E. Gooding, Republican candidate for the short term United States senators. He read from one of Mr. Gooding's published advertisements.

Discusses Le Bourc

In respect to Arthur LeBourc, mentioned in this advertisement as the secretary of the Nonpartisan league and attorney for Hayward, Mr. McKaig said that LeBourc was secretary of the league, it was never claimed that the secretary of the organization department of the league was another man, and that LeBourc had never occupied that position. LeBourc has no more to do with the Nonpartisan league in the state of Idaho than has Frank E. Gooding—and that is very little," he stated.

Continuing he said, "Disloyal as McKaig and Scholtz are according to this, you are responsible. If I ever gave birth to one day disloyal utterance, you are responsible. If Scholtz is disloyal, when Gooding says he is, you are disloyal. If you vote for someone who is disloyal and don't repudiate him you are disloyal."

Mr. McKaig exhibited a photograph copy of the latter writing in a letter to have written to B. D. Taylor, former chairman of the Republican state central committee, wherein it is stated that he would accept the Nonpartisan endorsement in the spirit in which it was given.

Estimates Campaign Cost

He entered upon a discussion in respect to the cost of Gooding's advertising campaign. He invited any newspaper editor present to give him the cost of a page of advertising in one of the daily newspapers of the state. J. W. Hays volunteered the information that a page in the Capital News would cost $100.

McKaig declared that in one instance he was glad to observe an editor who had shut his doors against the "slush fund" of F. R. Gooding?

He said that he was glad to be associated with an organization which derived its income of war from the farmers only, and toward which as long as there is no resistance organization and no power interest contributed.

Predicts League Triumph

"When you fight the Nonpartisan league," he asserted, "you are fighting men nominated as Democrats in the most democratic organization in Idaho, and that is the Democratic party. If its platform is absolutely right, how can it be fought, except by calling it pro-German. Slanders won't win and money won't win in this campaign, but truth, honesty and conviction will."

'Charter of Liberty for Jugoslavs' In Opinion of London Mail

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Universal approbation of President Wilson's reply to Austria, is reflected in editorial comments in London newspapers. His attitude is generally praised as that of a champion of oppressed nationalities.

"It is a charter of liberty for the Jugoslavs and a permanent bar to Germany's eastern aspirations," said the Mail.

Yes we are going to stick in business

That is our answer to the question you have been asking us

Ever since "Hudson Enlisted with Uncle Sam," our friends have questioned us about our future plans.

First of all, we are going to get just as many as possible of the remaining Hudsons to be built so that just as many prospective owners of Hudson Super-Sixes in our territory as possible will be able to have the car of their choice.

This is not entirely unselfish on our part, we admit. We are building for the future. The more Hudson automobiles there are in this neighborhood demonstrating the caliber of Super-Six construction and performance, the greater the goodwill and demand for Hudsons after the non-productive war period is over.

We realize the substantial foundation of quality upon which the Hudson reputation rests and which has built up Hudson's success. It does not require a prophet to predict the future of Hudsons. To say that permanence is assured is only half stating the case. We can see nothing but increasing progress and prosperity following the present, and we sit hope, very temporary conditions. That is another reason why our good friends may expect us to stay in business.

But there is still one more reason—sufficient for us if it were the only one.

Hudson Super-Sixes are built on the theory that the motorist buys the use of his car, not merely the joy of possession. We sell on the same basis.

So we are in business to stay because we owe a duty of service to Hudson owners. Our Service Department will continue to operate with a complete stock of replacements and a corps of capable mechanics.

In conclusion—once more let us remind you who have been considering a Super-Six that with the passing of each day your chance of getting one decreases in proportion.

British Urged to Keep Goats.

"Goat getting" is coming right along at a national sport in England, says a London dispatch. Everyone who knows anything about Namble is writing to the papers urging everyone to set one goat at least and more if possible on each farm. The raising of goat yields about two quarts of milk daily and the gentlemen of the pectos—the boys with the Farmer Brown whiskers—are said to produce first-class mutton.

World's Coal Areas.

A good authority gives the coal area of the world in square miles as follows: United States, 102,000; British America, 13,000; Great Britain, 12,000; Spain, 4,000; France, 2,000; Germany, 1,800; Belgium, 618; rest of Europe, 100,000; China, 2,000; Japan, 5,000. Coal is found in considerable quantities in 27 of the states and territories of the United States and Alaska.

Famous Blarney Castle.

The ruins of old Blarney castle are a few miles outside of Cork, surrounded by pleasant hills fertile and gorgeous lawns and heath. The huge square tower stands as firm and true now as in the days when old Cormac McCarthy ruled over the land of Munster. The old chieftain built his castle to withstand English guns and English diplomacy and Blarney castle has kept the trust.

Preserving Frescoes.

A novel method of preserving frescoes, recently discovered by a Japanese, consists in coating them with a substance which is made to adhere through the agency of specially prepared chemicals. The new method is said to make the frescoes proof against the injurious action of the atmosphere.

Red Arrow Benefit Sale!

HUNDREDS of people have heeded our warning of last week and taken advantage of the big savings offered here. Thrifty folks from all over the county have purchased a good supply of warm winter needs---blankets, underwear, woolen goods, etc., and they have all bought them below the wholesale cost of today. This sale cannot last long--the load is being lightened every hour and as soon as it reaches a point where we can carry it we will SACRIFICE NO LONGER.

Come while you can make big savings on dependable merchandise---on the things you need RIGHT NOW.

YOU WHO KNOW COME AND SEE

You seasoned shoppers--you women who KNOW values--come in and see the prices we have made. We know what your answer will be--it will be the same as that of the hundreds who have already supplied their winter needs.

Many heeded My Warning of last week--and I want to repeat it again. Try as he will, no merchant can hold prices down--rising wholesale costs make this impossible. I am selling in this sale a blanket for $10.95 that costs wholesale today $16.50, and the makers will not guarantee delivery.

SAMUEL HART.

Goat Furnishes Milk and Churn.

About 70 miles eastward of Mount Stiel--where, as you remember, Hays received the Commandments--is a factory, the machinery of which has not been improved since his day. It consists of a bag of goat skin suspended from a tripod of poles. The Hodelan women party fill the bag with goat's milk and then have plenty of time to discuss the neighbors as they patiently rock the bag until the butter is separated from the whey--Poplar Science Monthly.

Great Mystery Solved.

Doctor Hiltzberg says one of the most common causes of stammering is the temporary interruption of speech. You know it is one of the compensations of human existence to have the mystery of a lifetime solved. The HX. We ascertained some time back that hunger is frequently caused by a prolonged interruption of the movement of vitals to the stomach--Houston Post.

Beesie Queer.

"Stek and ye shall find" is a great truth (says the Philosopher of Polly) but it can be overdone. For instance the man who is always hunting for a job is the man who never seems to find one.

Somewhat Mercenary.

Bob was to have a birthday party. (His best friend, Dick, met him in town the day before. "Say, kid," he asked, "what do you want me to bring you? Bob, who was saving for a bicycle, replied: "If it's all the same to you, Dick, I'd rather you'd give me the money." The following day as Bob's mother received the little gifts, Dick presented 25 cents, saying: "Mrs. G. Bob said he'd rather have the money."

Speed of Carrier Pigeons.

On fairly long journeys, say to 100 miles or more, the carrier pigeon will average a speed of from 37 to 43 miles an hour. The best birds in the world can only keep up a speed approximately to that for six or seven minutes at most. The pigeon's speed is about 33 yards a second.

Told in a Few Words.

A Brunswick soldier, who was taken prisoner by Americans in the war, said: "Ah! America is a fine free country; it is worth people fighting for; I know the difference by knowing my own; in my country, if I said 'Yes,' we ascertained some time back that hunger is frequently caused by a prolonged interruption of the movement of vitals to the stomach--Houston Post.

If you have anything to sell see the NEWS for sale column.

To Retain Friends.

To retain friends of the right sort requires that one must prove a friend of similar caliber. But on the other hand, if a girl or woman is influenced only by display (which at best is an empty, shallow affair) she cannot hope to hold the sincere regard of persons who in truth are worth while. The really true friend will cling fast to the honest friends or other less palmy days--perhaps to the friends who make no display but who are sterling in their regard and through--Exchange.

All is Not Lost.

Boys no longer have the opportunity to learn their lessons by the light of a pine knot. But opportunities to master dress poker in a quiet bay left, and by the light of a smudged lantern still are available in many rural communities--Topski Central.

Hughes--Yuzvika.

The first successful iron and steel mill in northern Russia having been established forty years ago by a man named Hughes, one of the largest centers in Utkola bears the name 'Hughes--in his honor--Gas Logic.

Optimistic Thought. The highest virtue of all is victory over ourselves.

Origin of "Lawyer."

The word lawyer is said by authorities to be a modification of the old English "law-er." Literally "law-man," the second portion of the word being a corruption of the Latin "vir" man.

Uncle Eben.

"A lazy man" said Uncle Eben, "wouldn't be so had if he didn't allow want a lot of other folks to knock off do sake of sociability."

Optimistic Thought.

Observe thyself as thy greatest enemy would do; so shalt thou be thy greatest friend.

THEN AND NOW

Slowly but surely it is becoming born in upon the most skeptical that Germany is after peace. Indeed, there are those in high official circles who profess to believe that this time Germany is sincere.

As a possible aid to thought on the subject, here are the terms proposed by Count Bernstorff as fit to be imposed upon France four years ago:

- All French colonies and all north-eastern France to be taken by Germany. An indemnity of 400,000,000 pounds ($6,000,000,000) to be paid. A tariff to be established allowing all German goods to enter France free for 25 years without reciprocity for French goods entering Germany.

ROCK CREEK SOLDIER VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

Guy H. (Denver) Tanks Succumbs at Camp Lewis, Leaving Young Widow and Child

Guy H. Tanks of Rock Creek, familiarly known as "Denver" Tanks, died at Camp Lewis, Washington, from pneumonia, according to word received Saturday by friends here.

Guy H. Tanks had been for six or seven years a resident of Rock Creek, being employed there as a farm laborer. He was well and favorably known by every resident of that community.

LOST NORTHERLYE WARMS AGAINST PHOENIX OFFENSIVE

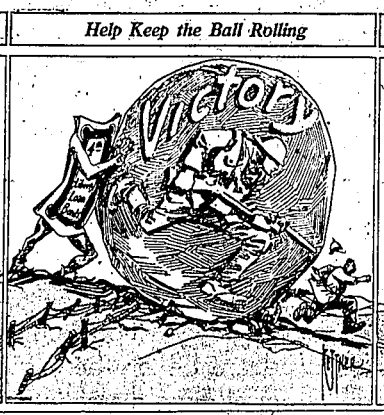

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Lord Northcliffe speaking at a luncheon in the American officers' club here, today, characterized the German only as an attempt to gain time and confuse the issue.

"Unless we face resolutely and clear-mindedly the present peace offensive, it may become more dangerous than the military offensive last spring," he said.

He declared his belief that President Wilson will handle the German note as it deserves.

Help Keep the Ball Rolling

Absent-Minded Governor Almost Got Stranger's Hat

NEW YORK.—Governor Whitman, at the meeting of the National Union at the Garden theater, didn't know his own hat and sought to grab another man's. And the two lids didn't resemble each other in the least.

The governor was escorted to the platform, where he spoke at length on the issues of the war and the Liberty loan. Pausing at length, he cast his eyes behind him. Though still under the spell of his own eloquence, he realized that he needed a hat in order to go forth.

The benefit man was a good sport and made no protest. But Mr. Herfield was not going to see a fellow member of the National Union—who, by the way, happened not to possess much hair—getting a cold in the head through losing his hat, even if it was to the man who had been introduced as "our great war governor."

Express Thanks for Loyal Support in Two Successful Drives

Having given four months of his time to war work this year, conducting with great success both the third and fourth Liberty loan campaigns in this county, U. D. Thomas has resigned as chairman of the Twin Falls County Liberty Loan committee.

"I wish to extend my thanks also to the newspapers for their support, and to assure them that without that support my plans would have been a failure."

MEMBERS OF COMMONS AGAINST PEACE REPLY

Amistice Plan Not Sufficient Is Belief of Great Majority

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The majority of the members of the house of commons are hostile to Germany's reply, regarding it as an attempt to split the Allies.

Solf's armistice plan is not sufficient, they declare. The constitutional changes referred to there point out, also contained in a bill which has not yet been passed by the re-laying.

BERRY SHRUB

By FRANCES LINSKY. (Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was a typical summer hotel veranda. At least so thought a peripatetic and very much disheveled young man who looked up at it from the bottom of the somewhat steep and very dusty hill.

"An Admiring Eden, I'll warrant," he muttered. "I'm from a young Indian from weeks of outdoor camp life, and covered with dust and perspiration, certainly no one would have recognized in this very bedraggled young man Max Harding, whose aristocratic mother was a guest at the hotel on the hill.

Scowling fiercely, he dragged his heavy suitcase up the path, only to be met at the veranda steps by a pompous-looking individual who effectively barred his further progress.

"Have you a moment to spare," he asked, removing his hat, and speaking in his most engaging manner. "I am sorry, but I haven't," said the young woman, very promptly, scarcely glancing up at her work.

"Well, do you mind if I sit down on the lawn a moment?" he impudently asked for his hat. "I do not," again responded the "fair lady of the peas," taking him in with one all-encompassing glance.

So Max sat down on the little plot of grass in front of the house, and laid his head back against the building, and closed his eyes. "Poor fellow," thought the girl, her sympathy aroused at last, "he must be pretty tired. I'm afraid I was rather sharp with him. Well, he's dark enough for one of those Syrian or Armenian peddlers, but he certainly doesn't talk like one. I'll just run in and get him a glass of raspberry shrub. It'll cool him off before he goes."

She was back in a moment with a glass of delicious looking liquid, and, tapping the young man on the shoulder, she offered it to him.

"I'm sorry I couldn't stop to look at your wares. Have you made many sales today?" "No, not one," answered Max, quite truthfully, and he swallowed the refreshing drink with genuine appreciation.

"This time his mother was seated on the veranda, and she greeted him enthusiastically, but he managed to make her understand that a bath and some clean linen were the two most essential things in his life at that particular moment, and so he excused himself to the lady's room.

"And, Max," she said, "there's the loveliest girl here. I want you to call on the military station today, on the morning of the German army to rest and recuperate, instead of weakening steadily as would be otherwise inevitable."

"Do you know that Katie the cook left this afternoon?" asked the girl of Mrs. Harding some moments later, when she was herself again. "Good gracious," gasped that lady, "who took her place?" "I did," said the girl, quietly, measuring glances with the young man opposite her.

"Why, my dear, aren't you clever!" exclaimed his mother, looking at her son with an "I-told-you-so" expression. "Just then the waitress entered the dining room with liquid refreshments clinging in a silver pitcher.

"By-the-way, Mrs. Cabot," said Max, "since I understand that you are up in such matters—what drink would you recommend for these hot days, as well as most economical?" "Why," said the girl, daintily raising her glass as he raised his, "why—raspberry shrub."

And over their glasses their eyes met in a look of complete understanding.

GERMAN PEACE REJECTED BY BRITISH PRESS

Unconditional Surrender the Only Basis Which is Satisfactory—Armistice is Not Taken Seriously

WILL ALLOW NO CHANCE OF REST TO HUN ARMIES

Cessation of Hostilities Would Give Enemy Advantage of Unscrupulous Liar Over Honest Men

LONDON, Oct. 22.—London morning newspapers reject the reply to President Wilson, pointing out that it contains no offer of unconditional surrender, which is the only terms upon which the allies can afford an armistice with the unscrupulous enemy.

Other press comment was as follows: "The pacifist, incoherent misfeasance of the German government for Germany to prove her sincerity in the surrender to Marshal Foch."

"The 'nigger in the wood' is the request for an armistice on the military status today, on the German army to rest and recuperate, instead of weakening steadily as would be otherwise inevitable."

"The Times: 'The note is ambiguous regarding the issue and is trying to confuse the Allies. Regarding armistice, instructions to the German army are proof of their existence hereafter.'"

"Chronicle: 'It (the note) is unacceptable. It has not expressed a word of regret regarding atrocities and merely protests against the accusations. Solf's armistice plan is not sufficient.'"

"Manchester Guardian: 'The note goes a long way to meet President Wilson's main points, but atrocities have not ceased yet. The most difficult issue of reconstruction cannot be transformed in a day.'"

GERMAN WORD WORTHLESS IN WORLD COURT

Past Record Makes Present Assurances of Little Value—Would Lie Again if Lying Would Avert Consequences

HALF MILLION ITALIANS FIGHTING ON WEST FRONT

Full Army Corps Maintained on Great Battle Front of France by Italy

By J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Germany is trying to use her peace offensive to entice America into protecting the German nation against the righteous retribution for its crimes against humanity. By seeking to encourage international sentimentalism among Americans Germany hopes to escape with some of her loot, at the same time dividing the democratic nations against one another.

Plans for Justice Fake

While pleading for a peace of justice, the German government has taken no action against its military criminals who have tried to conquer the world by rape, incendiarism, murder and robbery. All of the old gang retain their positions, from Von Hindenburg to the lowest, their hands still dripping with the blood of civilization.

False Promises Unavailing

A German chancellor who pleads for the salvation of the honor of the people, and at the same time denounces the cruelties of Germany's submarine piracy, cannot be trusted. Having outraged Belgium, defiled France, bombed the open towns of Great Britain and murdered American women and children on the high seas, the Germans will henceforth lie to the uttermost, believing false promises may save them.

Now that their bloody crimes have failed, they engage before the least harmed of their marked victims and plead that their interests be safeguarded.

They cannot speak honest words having but a single meaning. Their acceptance of conditions for an armistice is no phrase as to mean anything or nothing. Their promises of constitutional reforms have no present value. Prince Maximilian has not summoned the Reichstag and secured a vote of confidence since he became chancellor changed by the kaiser to initiate a peace offensive.

Forfeits World's Trust

Maximilian is as much an absolutist in his power as were any of his predecessors. Yet he declines no German government can take office without the support of a majority of the Reichstag. No peace agreement with Germany is worth anything unless it is guaranteed by the military might of America and the Allies. No armistice can safeguard the interest of democracy that is dictated by Marshal Foch, General Pershing and the Allied commanders. Germany has forfeited the world's trust. The penalty for that is unconditional surrender. Otherwise democracy will be betrayed at the hour of its triumph.

PERSONALS

Chas. W. McGary of Hanson spent Monday in Twin Falls transacting business.

Mrs. Mary Mickelwhite and son Lowell leave Wednesday morning for Long Beach, California, where they will spend the winter.

Miss Mrs. M. Riley, who have resided for several years on a ranch east of Twin Falls, left Monday for Gooding, Idaho, where they will make their home.

With Host's and Hostesses

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKinley entertained delightfully at a six o'clock dinner Sunday evening honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Van Rensel, the occasion being the anniversary of the marriage of both parties.

The M. N. S. society have postponed their Wednesday evening meeting and will not meet again until further notice.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

LOCAL BRIEFS

BACK FROM SANITARIUM

Mr. J. J. Pletcher has returned from Denver where he spent several weeks under treatment in a sanitarium for the benefit of his health.

ANOTHER PERSHENTATIVE

Street Commissioner J. J. Pletcher requests Twin Falls business men to sweep walks in front of offices and stores early each morning in order to cooperate with other efforts to prevent the spread of Spanish influenza.

SPENDS FURLOUGH HERE

William Wagner, formerly a seaman for the Skeels-Wiley drug company, who enlisted last summer in the navy and is stationed at Bremerton navy yard in the medical department, arrived here last week to remain until Thursday next on a brief leave of absence.

ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

Nahum Ellis of New York, a traveling representative of the Brown-Durrell company, New York, who was stricken here with Spanish influenza, is making satisfactory recovery at a local hospital, having passed the crisis Monday morning, according to attending physicians.

JARVIS NEEDS MINN

That the Jarbidge, Nevada, gold mining camp is not prospering as it otherwise would on account of labor shortage and that one concern there seeks to employ at least 200 men in the world brought back by Judge E. A. Walters on his return after spending several days there on mining business.

EASTBERRY VISITS

Wm. DeFenthaler of Decatur, Ill., who has extensive orchard interests here left Monday after spending several weeks in Twin Falls overseeing the harvesting of his crop. He states that the fruit crop in this county exceeded his expectations and that he might prove the worth of Idaho apples took 600 boxes east with him.

OIL PROSPECT PLEASES

George D. Alken, secretary, and W. F. Guthrie, attorney for the Twin Falls Oil and Development company, returned Sunday from a visit to the holdings of the company in the Sunshine anticline region in northwestern Wyoming. A well being drilled on this property has reached a depth of 600 feet, confounding the geologist's preliminary report. The company is prepared to sink the well to a depth of 1350 feet or deeper. Both officials expressed satisfaction with the prospect.

CONTRACTORS GET WARRANTS

The city council at its meeting Monday, authorized the issuance of warrants in payment of estimates submitted by Supervising Engineer Carl E. Brien for work completed on the waterworks improvement contracts. The contracts receiving warrants pursuant to this action are those having in charge the work on the site of the filtration plant, the trenching and pipe laying and the furnishing of material for the filtration plant.

ENLISTS CITY'S AID

O. E. Carlson, chairman of the board of county commissioners, met Monday evening with the Twin Falls city council at the regular meeting to invoke the cooperation of the city in carrying out the orders of the state board of health issued to prevent the spread of the influenza epidemic. As a result of this conference a meeting of the city board of public health, with the county board of health, was arranged to be held this afternoon. The members of the city board are A. L. Swim, chairman, F. F. Bracko and E. J. Ostrander.

Returns From Work Among the Fighters

Loyal L. Breckenridge manager of the Twin Falls Mill & Elevator company, returned Monday to Twin Falls after spending six months in France in the work there of the American Red Cross and of the Young Men's Christian association. Mr. Breckenridge was met at the depot by members of the Rotary club and a number of citizens including several relatives of his in the service overseas who had been appraised of his expected return at that time and were anxious to receive from him some word from their boys among the fighting men. Mrs. Breckenridge, who went to New York to meet Mr. Breckenridge, on his return from Europe, returned with him.

City Council Adopts Ordinance Setting Aside Districts West of Stock Creek for Show Grounds

Carnivals and street shows, since the passage by the city council at its meeting Monday evening of an ordinance regulating their performance hours, can no longer stage their performances within the original favorite of Twin Falls. The ordinance passed provided that the only districts here open to these enterprises are the districts lying west of Stock creek canyon, and for the privilege of staging performances there they must pay into the city treasury $100 for each day of such performance.

E. M. Herriott of Twin Falls is in receipt of word from Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Blate of Panama, California, that their son, Lieutenant Edgar P. Blate, who was a member of an aviation corps at San Diego, died October 24 under peculiar conditions.

The young man, who was well known in Twin Falls, experienced a premonition of his approaching doom and sent explicit directions to his father to come at once by a certain route that he might reach him before the end which resulted from pneumonia.

BUHL MAN IS AN ACCIDENT VICTIM

Eric Sandwall Meets Tragic Death When Caught in Coupling Wagon

Caught with his head between the bench of a lead wagon and the wagon runner, Eric Sandwall was killed Monday afternoon at about 10 o'clock Monday morning on the farm of G. A. Hull, six miles southwest of Buhl, by whom he had been employed that morning. Eric Sandwall, aged 38, unmarried, a native of Sweden, was crushed in such a manner as to produce instant death. Corporal C. Crosby was notified by Undertaker W. M. Schmidt of Buhl, and proceeded to that city to hold an inquest Monday afternoon. No blame for the fatal accident attaches to anyone concerned in it, according to the verdict returned by the jury.

Mr. Hull testified that he led the team drawing the lead wagon back to the trailer under which Sandwall was lying in position to make the coupling. After allowing time for the coupling to be made, Mr. Hull called to Sandwall, but received no response. Looking under the wagon he found Sandwall caught with his head between the temples, crushed in the manner described.

Sandwall had been employed at Buhl for about one year on the farm of Albert Technason. So far as is known he has no relatives in this country. Funeral services probably will be held in Buhl.

HER NEW CAREER

By KITTY PARSONS.

(Copyright, 1934, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

When Nina Benson received word that her boy had been injured playing hockey, she cancelled her first big concert engagement and then hurried to the boarding school where he lay ill.

At the station she was met by Doctor Norwood, who had been kind and consideration itself, and had helped her by his own cheerfulness to fight the battle that went on day and night to save her boy.

In the middle of the fourth night, the boy called for his mother, and the nurse was forced to call her. Through the long hours that followed, she sat beside him, and when Miss Cross came back after a short rest, Nina had fallen asleep, her hand in the boy's.

"Hush," whispered the doctor. "Don't wake her."

"No, indeed," snapped the nurse. "But I've stood as much of this as I intend to—from my future husband—and I won't have you sitting up all night with other women, either!"

"This sick room is hardly the place for a jealous quarrel, Gladys," the doctor warned her, "and I shall not ask you to apologize to Mrs. Benson now. But I think you had better consider well before coming up to a marriage with a man you can trust so little."

Nina was only thirty-two, but she had a hard-life of work and shifting for herself ever since her husband died, ten years before. She had plenty of sleep and rest, but the strain of the last week had told on her. When she came to, and lying on a couch in her own room. She recovered herself quickly and got up.

"I'm sorry, I was so weak. Is Carl better?"

"Doing famously. We'll soon have him about him. If you don't take better care of yourself, we'll have a new patient on the ward, though."

"Oh, I'm all right now. And if the boy's really better I'll have to go home this week—I have an engagement to sing—and if all is well, I must keep it."

"You're not fit to work yet—it's preposterous!"

"No, it isn't, doctor. I have to earn my living and I'm quite happy. You've all been very kind to me, too."

"You're really a good nurse," said the doctor, then he collected himself and added professionally: "Drink this milk now, and rest as much as you can for the next day or two, so that you will be more fit for your journey."

"Nina thanked him and when he had gone, she thought a good deal about him."

Everything continued to go well, and in four days Nina left the school for New York. Doctor Norwood drove with her to the train.

About a mile from the station, as they were rounding a corner, a woman, driving at a reckless rate of speed, came at once. Doctor Norwood was very ill and might be fit to operate. The nurse's reply was short to the point.

"I am no longer engaged to Doctor Norwood. I've looked after sick people so long that I don't think I'm going to be a single name, Good-by."

Nina was dumfounded and dragged carrying the bad news to the doctor. But when they sat for her she smiled herself and went up to him.

"I'm sorry I made you miss your train," he sighed, looking at her gratefully. "Did you telephone Gladys?"

"Yes, but she couldn't leave just now—I'm so busy."

"You needn't be—I understand perfectly. We both made mistakes and the best we have been doing for a long time." He closed his eyes with a sharp gasp of pain.

"Can I do anything?" asked Miss Cross, gently stroking the contracted hand.

"Yes—a great deal!"

"Tell me please!"

"Never leave me again. Oh, what am I saying! I forgot that I may be a cripple. Please go before I forget myself again."

"I want you to forget—whatever happens—don't want to leave you again. I know it as soon as we had the accident. I'm dreadfully lonely and no one else really needs me, and I love you."

Fine Morning

"You don't mean to tell me that as long as you have lived in cities it makes you dizzy to go up in an express elevator?"

"It did this time."

"I'm surprised at you."

"You wouldn't be if you had seen the man in the express elevator."

Real Estate Man Thinks Women Talk Too Much

TWO women were being shown an apartment by an agent. Sure, it is possible to get an apartment in Washington—if you know where. That's the trouble, knowing where they are.

These women knew, evidently, because there they were, being shown around by the real estate man himself.

As the trio passed up the steps, who should issue forth from an apartment but Mrs. Smith, friend of the two ladies.

"Oh, Mrs. Smith, so glad to see you," said one lady. "You can tell us about this apartment we are going to rent."

The real estate agent had stopped, waiting for the women. He was about three feet away. "I sure can tell you about that apartment," said Mrs. Smith, falling utterly to see the agent.

And, what was worse, it wouldn't have made any difference if she had seen that gentleman, because it happened that she had never laid eyes on said agent in all her life. She always paid by check.

"By check," breathed Mrs. Smith, "oh, you let the agent fool you on that apartment. Ask him about the advice that stops up, and—"

Then came a whirlwind of adjectives, which the two prospective tenants took in eagerly—a big the agent.

"That worthy began to blurt. It must be confessed, and the two women began to blurt a little themselves, but innocent Mrs. Smith kept right on.

"You know," she continued, "that apartment is exactly like mine. What is he going to charge you for it?"

"Sixty dollars," said one of the two ladies.

"I pay $30 for mine," said the all-reverend Mrs. Smith.

Boy Did His 'Rithmetic and Won a Pair of Shoes

PHILADELPHIA.—Mediatroly, Eddie scratched his head. "Nine times five is 45. The guess instantly was perceived to be the wrong one. It's 51, isn't it?" Eddie loudly corrected himself. Thus Eddie won a pair of shoes.

Louis Gilchrist, Eddie's parent, was in court charged with failing to send his ten-year-old son to school.

The boy's father had wanted to see his father before the latter went to jail.

"He owes me 70 cents I made selling papers," he explained. "You see, I want to get some shoes. The boy displayed a shoe, the sole of which weeks ago had worn through."

"I can get a first-rate pair of tennis slippers for 50 cents; I'm a good counter and I've figured it all out."

"Little boys must know arithmetic, and I want to see if you're benefited in the little time you're allowed to go to school. Start your multiplication table," the court ordered.

Contentiously running through the tables of twos, fours and fives, Eddie branched into troubles. "He rattled off 'six times,' the 'sevens' and started on the 'eights.'" With a good deal of head-scratching, shuffling of feet, and other muscular efforts, he reached nine times nine—erroneously.

"Find that answer and your lesson ends for today," the court promised. Eddie eventually got out his shoes.

"Get Eddie a pair of shoes," the court ordered, handing a bill to a policeman.

Eddie's father was placed on probation for a year.

GETTING THERE BY DEGREES

Jiggly—Hello, Chalkie, you're looking fine! On the water wagon now?

Chalkie—No, quite, but I'm on the hot-water wagon—I'm driving a milk route.

CERTAINLY

Hastus—It certainly ain't easy to abuse a good thing.

Edwemer—Dat's right. Now, a razor an all right in a barber shop, but it's a mighty troublesome thing at a social ball.

TO MEMORY DEAR

Brown—When a man is dead he's soon forgotten.

Slown—Nonsense! I've married the Widow Squiggins and she's always coming up to me the virtues of her first husband.

Now, What Will Selfish Bachelors Be Doing Next?

A MAN was buying dining cotton. The woman next had just unfastened a little deal in pins. Counting by reasons, he was early summer and she was autumn tipped by frost. The classification is necessary to explain the impersonal chumminess of the two.

"Hello, Frank, boy. Looks as if you have been getting married!"

"Never trust to looks, Miss Ann. We ran out of thread and Joe tied a string around my finger—see? He's the family member."

It sounded somewhat cryptic as autumn asked for enlightenment, and this is what she got:

"Two years ago four of us department fellows set up housekeeping, and have just renewed the lease. It's a bully way to live, Miss Ann. Each of us has two rooms which we furnish to suit ourselves, and there is a man to cook and a Saturday cleaner to make the wheels go round. Bob attends to rent and wages, Joe markets and mends, Billy keeps tab on fuel and light bills, and I'm the official shopper. Say, Miss Ann, this housekeeping stunt is great. I don't blame you business women for not getting married unless you've felt like it—because I'm that way myself. I used to think I'd have to get me a wife just to have a home—every man wants a home, but—now that I've weathered the infatuation of childhood you don't catch me ever giving up my home with the boys, except for solid love. What do you say to that, lady?"

And lady said—but never mind what she said. He didn't.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANDY

How Does Candy Compare in Food Value With Other Well Known Foods?

The amount of food value in things we eat is best expressed in calories.

Taking a pound of good, standard quality chocolate creams, such as you buy in all first-class stores, we find that

Table with 2 columns: Food Item and Calories. Items include Whole Milk, Cream, Whole Eggs, Hot-Astat, Corn, Rice, White Bread, and Corn Bread.

As against this we find: The world war has put everything to the acid test, and only that which is fit survives. Candy is recognized as one of the best and most essential foods for soldiers.

There was a time when rum and whisky were thought to supply the ideal body fuel. But war has proven beyond a doubt that alcohol can no longer be classed as a food product.

On the other hand, candy, which went into the war practically unrecruited, has come to the front as a food of tremendous value—something which is very, very essential to the soldier.

The British army reports that its soldiers in France have required five times the amount of candy first estimated for their use.

A constant stream of candy, aggregating many tons, is going regular to our own soldiers in France—while thousands of pounds are used weekly by the boys in training camps in this country.

This is because candy supplies a natural craving for something sweet to supply the carbohydrates (fuel for the body). That's why candy is recognized as a food instead of just a luxury. It happens to be the sweetest through which most people like best to supply their system with the fuel it needs.

At normal times the candy industry uses only 5% of the sugar consumed per capita in the country. Right now this amount has been cut squarely in two.

GERMAN PRESS SHOWS TRICKS OF HUN PEACE

Professions of Sincerity Not Borne Out by Attitude of Newspapers on Question of Armistice

PEOPLE NOT YET READY TO ACKNOWLEDGE DEFEAT

Plan Provides for Breathing Spell to Be Used by Enemy in Effort to Create Discord Among Allies

LONDON, Oct. 20 (British Administration)—The German "conducting" international discussion makes it difficult to believe in her sincerity or professions of sincerity. Examination of the original German second note to President Wilson shows numerous shiftings in pretending to accept what she certainly does not seem to accept.

No Agreement on Terms

Acceptance of these was taken on all hands to mean only acceptance of the basis for negotiations and the whole press continued its assertion that Germany would not surrender either Alsace-Lorraine or Poland.

Believe Germany Desperate

As to the question of German sincerity in wanting peace, it can be said that some persons close to the president seem to be skeptical.

Looks Like Peace Drive

Military men and others say that, while there may be trickery in Germany's recent maneuvers, the military economic situation confronting her is so bad that there can be no question that she is making a sincere drive for peace.

Views in Senate

Senator McCombe, characterized the answer as "camouflage."

Another Fake Uncovered

Senator Lodge, republican leader, withheld comment pending closer study of the German note.

Wiley—You used to say you loved every hair on my head.

Hubby—Well, since we've married and I've found that the sores of most of that hair is uncertain, I've changed my mind.

'SHOW ME' WILL BE ATTITUDE OF PRESIDENT

Confession of Defeat
Instincts of the president see in Germany's latest move an abject confession of defeat and culpability to which that government would submit only in the hope of obtaining a tolerable peace, or failing that, securing humane popular determination of its people to fight against "extermination."

President Wilson's labors during the present peace drive have been to prevent the pan-German junkers from convincing the German people that military leadership is an available "Germany" to survive. This plea on the president's part will figure in the forthcoming action.

British Within One Mile of Tournai

LONDON, Oct. 20.—British troops are now within less than a mile of Tournai, Field Marshal Haig announced today. The Germans in that region were driven out of Oreg and the wood near Froyennes.

Never Suffer From Overwork.

"People who keep their minds clear and cool, who take things philosophically as they come; who discipline their wills to look on the cheerful side of things; who eat what they need, proportioned to their physical activity; who take stimulants not at all, or, if they ever do, use them to whip their flagging strength; such people can do a prodigious amount of work and never dream of such a thing as 'overwork'."
