American-Allied Advance on Fifty Mile Front in Italian Theatre Releases Over Hundred Towns From Hun Domination

DOUGHBOYS FROM OHIO CROSS PIAVE RIVER

King Victor Emanuel Takes Part in Attacks and Is Wildly Cheered By Captured Austrian Prisoners

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES IN THE FIELD, Oct. 30.—The allied advance continues on the whole fifty mile front from the Brenta to the Trevviso-Oderzo railway. Progress is greatly accentuated on the right flank, north of Treviso.

The Italian and the British armies, completely piercing the Austrians' line of resistance, are advancing rapidly on the western end of the two railway lines facing the Austrians on the Piave front. They have cut off all lines of communications on the Venetian plains.

The two lines of railway run from Treviso to Casarsa, 35 miles northeast of Treviso. The northern line crosses the last front at Conegliano, the southern at San Dona di Piave.

American troops, comprising Ohio units, have crossed the Piave and are ready to take up the advance with their Italian and British comrades.

More than a hundred villages and communities east of the Piave have been liberated. The Italians occupied Conegliano, an important railway and communication center fifteen miles north of Treviso yesterday. At 9 a. m. a heavy corps entered the city. Artillery pieces signalled their arrival and a home brigade completed the occupation.

Use Austrian Guns The tenth army is advancing rapidly eastward employing many abandoned Austrian batteries to shell the retreating enemy.

The Italian twelfth army, scrambling over the mountains northeast of Valdobbiadene has passed Refrontolo, seven miles southwest of Vittorio, which is the base of the Austrians' whole system of communications from the Venetian front to the north.

King Victor Emanuel crossed the Piave with a regiment of Bersaglieri. He was greeted with cheers. A large contingent of Austrian prisoners, comprising, say, cheered him.

Spectacular Warfare The constant surge of Italian and British troops across the Piave is one of the most spectacular features of the war. The Austrian artillery is making incessant efforts to destroy the ever increasing number of bridges. Many of the largest caliber shells strike in the middle of the rushing current, landing on the rocky bed and sending great columns of water hundreds of feet toward the sky. A stretch of fifty kilometers (30 miles) resembles a vast field of gypsum.

Many Prisoners Killed When several thousand Austrian prisoners were an island in mid-stream, the enemy artillery cut the bridge leaving the prisoners under a terrific bombardment which was kept up for hours in an effort to prevent the Italians from rebuilding the bridge. The prisoners suffered heavy casualties.

LOSE 25,000 PRISONERS IN THREE DAYS' BATTLE

Front Extended to Adriatic—Width of Allied Drive Exceeds Sixty-two Miles—Vittorio, Great Austrian Base, Menaced By Close Approach of Italians and British—Lines of Communication Destroyed and Enemy Faces Rout

WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES IN THE FIELD, Oct. 30 (cont.)—The Italians have extended their offensive southward to the Adriatic, increasing the width of their drive to a front of more than 100 kilometers, 62 miles. They are now pressing forward from the Grappa region to the sea.

The new advance, begun last night by the third army, under command of the Duke D'osta. At the time of cabling, bridgeheads had been established on the east bank of the lower Piave at Salsogreda, at San Dona di Piave, and opposite Zenson. Salsogreda is six miles directly south of Oderzo. Zenson is a mile south of Salsogreda. San Dona di Piave is ten miles from the main mouth of the Piave.

The twelfth army, after a night of forced marching, captured Follina, eight miles northeast of Voldobbiadene, in cooperation with the eighth army, advancing from Conegliano, they are threatening the Austrian base of Vittorio. The twelfth army, after a night of forced marching, captured Follina, eight miles northeast of Voldobbiadene, in cooperation with the eighth army, advancing from Conegliano, they are threatening the Austrian base of Vittorio.

35,000 Prisoners The Italians have taken 25,000 prisoners and more than 200 guns in their present offensive. It was officially announced today.

Italians Reach Livisva River ROME, Oct. 30.—The Italians have reached the Livisva river.

The Livisva river is 12 miles east of the Piave. Vittorio, the great Austrian base, is situated on the west bank.

GERMANY SENDS SUPPLEMENTARY PEACE MESSAGE

Voluntarily Describes Changes Constitution is Undergoing Text Not Made Public—Will Not Affect Present Plans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Germany has sent a supplementary communication to the United States on the subject of peace. It reached the Swiss legation this forenoon and was delivered by the Swiss charge shortly before noon.

The new message describes what Germany is doing in the way of constitutional changes to make the government responsible to the people. It was said that it does not alter the peace situation as it stands today by making any new proposals.

It is understood to have been unaccepted and constitutes a voluntary move on the part of Germany. The text may not be made public immediately.

Repeats Assurances The supplementary message was by way of amplifying previous statements of the German government that it had politically referred. The note, which it supplements, declared that the president "knows about these reforms."

HIS ARMIES FACE COMPLETE DEFEAT

EMPEROR KARL

The fortunes of so man, perhaps, never faced more complete disaster. Revolution at home, Prague, capital of Bohemia, in possession of the Czech-Slovaks, and Hungary granted complete independence, are only half his troubles. For, while peace pending, and the diplomats at Versailles use previous time in drafting armistice terms, the Allied armies are hammering their way to Austrian territory, tearing his forces to pieces, cutting communication lines, capturing thousands of prisoners and vast quantities of supplies.

ALLIES ARE CLOSING IN ON AUSTRIA FROM ITALY, BALKANS AND ALBANIA

WAR SUMMARY

WHILE Austria-Hungary, torn by internal dissension and fruitlessly seeking peace, the allies were battering her army to bits on the Italian front and rapidly approaching Hungarian territory at several points in the Balkans.

The Italian front offensive is rapidly assuming the proportions of an utter rout. The British and Italians are across the Piave on a 40-mile front from west of Valdobbiadene to the Treviso-Oderzo railways. They have advanced about eight miles beyond the river on this front, capturing more than a hundred villages, including the important railway center of Conegliano. More than 25,000 prisoners have officially been counted.

American troops, comprising Ohio units, are across the Piave, ready to participate in the advance.

King Victor Emanuel passed over the river at the head of a regiment of the Bersaglieri. He is reported to have been cheered by Austrian prisoners.

The allies are within seven miles of Vittorio, the principal Austrian supply base for the whole Venetian plains region.

In the Grappa district the Italians are advancing slowly in the face of stubborn resistance. The battle front is blazing westward clear to the Asiago region, making a total active front of more than fifty miles.

The battle front now extends as follows: South of Asiago; northward of Mont Sisenol; east-

SUPPORT LINES OF GERMANS ARE DEEPLY PIERCED

French and American Troops Attacking Northwest of Rethel Rout Enemy From Positions at Many Points

By JOHN DE GANDT PARIS, Oct. 30 (2:45 p. m.)—French and American troops, attacking northwest of Rethel, have penetrated deeply into the German positions at many points, reaching the support lines, which were almost empty of defenders.

General Gallantu's picture in this region is being accentuated along the Hannogne road, in the neighborhood of St. Pergeux, where violent enemy counterattacks were repulsed.

The French are at the outskirts of Chateau Perot, striking the junction of Rethel-Solvigny-L'Abbaye roads.

MILITARY ARM HAS LAST WORD ON ARMISTICE

Agreement Reached to Adhere Strictly to President's Peace Program, Subject to Views of Army Advisors

By ROBERT J. BENDER WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Versailles conference will agree to adhere to President Wilson's peace points.

This was stated in authoritative American circles today and extensive diplomatic quarters today. As a corollary to this basic acceptance the question of an armistice has been given over to the military advisors, and according to the United Press' information, similar to the Versailles conference will close with a completely unified diplomatic front.

Austria Scrambles for Peace With armistice terms about ready for presentation to Germany, her broken ally, Austria, was today madly scrambling to get a separate peace before the complete crash comes.

President Wilson was reported this morning as preparing a reply to the latest Austrian peace plea, which was expected to be completed and made public some time today—probably not until late this afternoon.

The President would surely use on the Austrian appeal to Versailles for settlement, notifying Austria of his action, was the conviction here.

ARMISTICE WILL CONTAIN TERMS HARD TO AVOID

Conditions Surrounding Cessation of Hostilities Probably More Severe Than Those Offered to Bulgaria

WILL TAKE NO CHANCES ON GERMAN DUPLICITY

Inter-Allied Conference Believed to Have Reached Agreement on Main Points Under Which Huns May Quit

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMS VERSAILLES, Oct. 30.—It was anticipated today that the armistice terms to Germany will be similar to those offered Bulgaria, although extra precautions will be necessary and there may be some harsher clauses.

The inter-allied conference, I understood to have already agreed on the main political points of the armistice.

The terms must be severe; it was agreed in authoritative circles, because Germany began the war, the renewal of which must be made impossible.

Eight of the military and German are attempting to hold the Allies on the present lines long enough to obtain an armistice.

Thus, while the Allies are fixing conditions for the capitulation they will impose on Germany, the Hun chiefs are forcing their unwillingly to hold on.

President Wilson's correspondence with Germany, which he stated in his last note he would turn over to the other allies, has been received here.

Colonel House was slightly indisposed today. Nevertheless, he planned to call on President Wilson this afternoon and present his presidential as "special representative of the United States in Europe." Later, he intended to see Marshal Foch.

Lord Bessing, British ambassador to the United States, arrived today and took lunch with Colonel House and General Orlando. The inter-allied technical council, at which the United States is represented by Admiral Benson, was in session today.

Fixing Up Quarters

Colonel House has moved from the hotel where he first stopped and now is occupying a residence on the left bank of the Seine, headed by a front and located in the old aristocratic quarter near the house General Pershing lives in when he is in Paris.

United States signal corps men are installing telephones in the building and Parisians remark that an air of importance surrounds Colonel House's establishment there.

Few believe the inter-allied conference will last more than a week. Since the allies already have reached an agreement, little remains to be done except to get the terms fixed up in official form for representatives' signatures.

Man at Conference

The American representatives at the conference are Colonel House, Admiral Benson and Admiral Sims. The British are represented by Premier Lloyd George, Foreign Secretary Balfour, War Secretary Milner, First Lord of the Admiralty Geddes and First Sea Lord Wemyss. Premier Orlando, Foreign Minister Bonino, Admiral Di Revel and Admiral Grandi represent the Italians.

Admiral Lougey, French minister of Marine, presided at the naval conference yesterday. Admiral Bosc, Chief of the General Naval staff represented France.

AMERICAN DEFENSE SOCIETY OBJECTS STREMNOLY TO HUN MADE MANUFACTURER NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The boycott committee of the American defense society today sent letters to several firms, requesting them not to accept German-made goods consigned to them, which arrived here recently on the Holland-American liner Erie.

No open statement has been forthcoming from any of the purchasers of these enemy products except Butler brothers, which firm refused to accept the German toys consigned to it. The firm wants large size up 100 games against the arrival of German goods in this country and it has been suggested that the Hun cargo be thrown into the bay.

Charges Arch Duke Joseph to Effect Arrangements—Peace Request Forwarded to Ver- sailles Conference

ANDRASSY APPEALS TO SECRETARY LANSING

Urged Lansing to Use His Good Offices and Influence to Se- cure Prompt Action on Ar- mistice Request

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 30.—Arch Duke Joseph, a second cousin of the Austrian emperor, has issued a proclamation declaring that Karl charged him to effect complete independence of Hungary which would join the league of nations, according to a Budapest dispatch received here today.

Reports received yesterday stated that Count Andrassy, now elected head of the national council, already had formed an independent, anti-militaristic state in Hungary, which the Czech-Slovaks and Jug-Slavs had joined.

That the Allies and the United States are ready to make terms on the basis of renunciation of Austria is considered likely. But the entente, it was learned authentically, will stipulate that Bohemia and Slovakia be occupied as a base for future operations against Germany before an armistice will be allowed Austria. Austria is regarded as in the position of having to take practically any terms the entente and Americans present.

Give Up U-Boats and Ships

The original treaty was that Germany would have to give up her submarine fleet and permit occupation of her grand fleet pending the outcome of the final peace negotiations. British press reports may have altered that, for press dispatches from abroad now suggest that surrender of not only the U-boats but the grand fleet would be required.

Austria's note of yesterday will probably be forwarded to Versailles at once. Her supplementary appeal from Count Andrassy, the new foreign minister in Lansing, is being considered. Diplomatic procedure ordinarily would require that she ask a neutral to aid, rather than ask an enemy secretary of state directly for his good offices.

Must Satisfy Allies

The semi-official Austrian explanation to the press that her appeal would imply she was asking for a separate peace, apart from the armistice interpreted here merely as a feebly fortified show that Germany and Austria are still united. However, the explanation showed that what was wanted would be a separate peace in the interest of general peace.

President Wilson has said that the Czech-Slovaks and Jug-Slavs must be satisfied with the peace outcome. The Czech-Slovaks' national council is understood to insist on nothing short of unconditional surrender of Austria, Hungary, with complete military and political evacuation of the Hapsburg regime from Czech-Jugo, Pole and Italian territory.

FRESHING REPORTS INCREASED ACTIVITY IN AIR FIGHTING

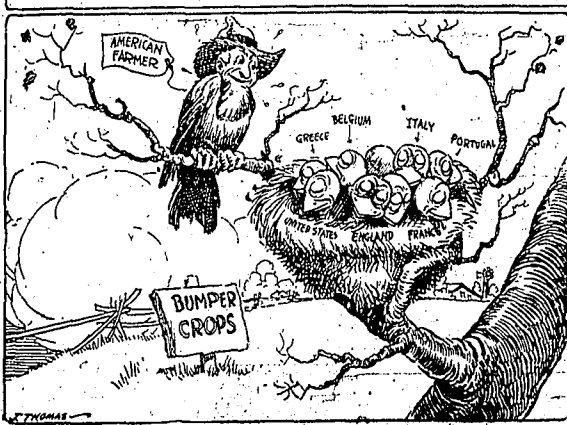

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Capture of a number of German prisoners in a raid on the enemy's lines and the bringing down of three German planes by American aviators, was reported by General Pershing today.

"In spite of the poor weather conditions our activities again active on the front of the first army and shot down three enemy airplanes and shot observation balloon. All our machines returned."

THOSE HUNGRY MOUTHS HAVE BEEN QUIETED AT LAST

WAR, PEACE AND REVOLUTION GNAW AT VITALS OF THE GERMAN EMPIRE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—German opinion is torn between desire for war, peace and revolution. This was the declaration of diplomatic cables from neutral sources today.

The perturbation of the German people as a result of the law to bring the military power under civilian control, Ludendorff's resignation and Berlin's request to the entente for armistice terms, has brought passionate and contradictory comments from the press and public, the cables say. Partisans of the democratic idea are gathering around the government while the junkers and conservatives of the old regime still strive to maintain their power. In addition, the cables state; there are the independent socialists, "who form the center of a movement that could be called revolutionary but which the more moderate call bolshevik."

LONDON PRESS REGARDS AUSTRIAN NOTE TANTAMOUNT TO SURRENDER

By ED L. KEEN
LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Austrian note to President Wilson is tantamount to surrender, in the opinion today of well-informed authorities and the press of London.

The Express says it is informed from authoritative sources that the Allied conference at Paris soon will present to Germany the terms of an armistice, which, it is believed, will include the occupation of Metz, the Kyburg Arsenal at Essen and other fortresses of the enemy.

It is believed in diplomatic circles that the publication of the Allied armistice terms will lead to hoisting of the white flag of surrender by the enemy's forces.

PROMNENT UTAH MEN CHARGED WITH THIRST

Brownrigg, Eccles and Devine Held For Illegal Importation of Liquor

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—John H. Brownrigg, Utah capitalist, said to be a son of the Machine gun inventor, Joseph Eccles, president of the Amalgamated Sugar Company of Ogden, and James H. Devine, an attorney, are charged with violating federal laws prohibiting the shipment of liquor from wet to dry territory and warrants for their arrest were telegraphed from San Francisco Tuesday afternoon.

Brownrigg, Eccles and Devine were involved in the operations of an alleged bootlegging ring through reputed confessions of Florence M. Russell and Joe P. Delaney, train messengers of the American Railway Express company, who are now under arrest. R. E. Pryor, haggard, and Jas. H. Brown, railroad dietitician, are other members of the alleged ring.

Twenty-five thousand dollars worth of liquor, federal agents declare, have been shipped by the ring in the last few months.

Agents of other wealthy Utah men and prominent San Francisco liquor dealers are said to be involved and further arrests are expected.

REPUBLICANS BITTER AGAINST PRESIDENT

Storm of Opposition Aroused Over Country to Action by Over- Executive

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Republican headquarters here announced that telegrams to Chairman Hayes were being circulated from all parts of the United States, congratulating him on his statement in answer to President Wilson's call for a vote of confidence in the administration.

It was declared at headquarters that President Wilson's appeal had aroused the republicans to unprecedented activities in the congressional campaign. "The corn belt is on fire," read a telegram from the Mississippi valley, "as a result of Wilson's unwarranted attack on republican patriots who are making daily sacrifices to help win the war and defeat Germany."

Republicans and Democrats Prepare to Wage Bitter War at Polls

By L. C. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Republican senators met today in the office of Senator Watson, Indiana, to plan the next move in their campaign of rebellion against President Wilson's appeal for election of a democratic congress.

Republicans are determined to keep congress in session right up to election day in spite of democratic threats to adjourn the political discussion is being raised, the committee urges upon the government associated in the war the necessity of constituting an inter-allied independent air force for the purpose of overcoming it not by the last resistance of the enemy by a campaign of the aerial bombardments and suggest that the most effective method of accomplishing this would be by common industrial control of the production of aeronautical matters.

Sixth, that the committee suggests the associated governments to set forth with a commission to make proposals for international aerial legislation with the object of organizing definite air routes.

UNSCRAMBLING PROCESS AFTER WAR DIFFICULT

Evacuation of Russia By Huns May Force Allies to Police Territory — Would Avert Possible Reign of Terror

MORALE OF AUSTRIANS REACHES LOWEST EBB

People Know No Real Stand Can Be Made Short of the Rhine — Feel Governments Must Yield at Early Date

By CARL D. GBOAT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—American or Allied troops or both, probably will have a long time of police in Russia after the Teutons vacate.

In fact it was hinted today that the associated contingents may have to be evacuated rather than decreased when the hordes haul out the remainder of his legions.

The problem, according to a member of the general staff, offers one of the most perplexing features of the so-called "unscrambling" process which is now held to be only a matter of a comparatively brief time.

Reign of Terror Feared

While the German has been evacuating the Baltic provinces and has stripped down his forces in the Ukraine, he still has a wide belt of influence and a considerable number of troops in the territory between the Gulf of Riga and the Black Sea. Military authorities here today say that if immediate evacuation of the Teuton is compelled, a reign of terror and anarchy may ensue. Hence there is some division of opinion as to whether this evacuation should be compelled hurriedly or gradually.

In either case, it was said that the allied forces should undoubtedly have to stop short for a considerable period so the region could regain a footing politically and economically. If it decided to increase the allied forces, their occupation will be merely for police purposes and it will be made tantamount to the fact that this goal will be accomplished as speedily as possible and the troops then withdrawn immediately.

Austrian Morale Low

Military developments of the past few days are convincing war experts here that German and Austrian morale is only a shell.

The Austrian shows signs of cracking badly under the united offensive in Italy. While the German is hanging on grimly along the west front, he is in constant danger of being shaken loose from the pivotal hold in the Verdun region, thus being forced back beyond Namur.

Military men say he has concentrated his all and can make no real stand short of the Rhine. The German occupation based on morale reports and knowledge of internal Teuton conditions may lately be said to be that while the German may protest at the forthcoming armistice terms, it probably will sign rather than go on with a losing fight.

CANCELS LARGE CONTRACT WITH STEEL COMPANY

Shipbuilding Project Involving Sixty Millions Is Annulled—Couldn't Provide Transports Before Usefulness Ended

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The United States shipbuilding board has cancelled its contract with the Bethlehem Steel corporation for a $60,000,000 shipbuilding plant at Alameda, Calif., work on the project which amounted, practically to doubling the plant located there was stopped two weeks ago. Officials explained the plant could not be completed before the period of its usefulness would have passed.

When the Bethlehem group was given the big contract it intended to make the Alameda plant a transport building yard. No ships smaller than 15,000 deadweight tons were to be built. Early in the summer it was seen, according to officials, that the first transport ship could not be turned out before fall of next year. In cancelling the contract then, it was pointed out, officials believe they have saved the government $60,000,000.

Heavy Pressure Brought

Officials of the shipping board and emergency fleet corporation were in perfect accord, as to the disposition of the Alameda project.

Pressure of the strongest sort, however, is known to have been brought to bear on Chairman Hurley, to permit the building of the plant.

This pressure, according to officials close to Hurley and Director General Schwab, was exerted by commercial interests which were expected to supply the material required in building the plant as well as building the ships.

Classify Yards

Shipping board officials have almost completed the list of ship yards which will be placed on their resources to operate independently of the government, it was announced today. All yards have been grouped, according to their efficiency, in four classes. Class four, which now includes seventeen yards, will be eliminated and other yards which drop in efficiency will be cut off also, as they fall below the required standard.

Protect Good Faith and Abandonment of Illegal Practices But Disgrace Promises

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—That the Germans have not abandoned tactics they employed when they overran Belgium and France in the early days of the war and when they violated every clause of The Hague convention is evidenced by the latest British official report received here today by the British bureau of information.

Advancing troops of the British Fifth Army, under General Birdwood, the famous Anzac leader, according to the report, recently captured Red Cross wagons loaded to the tops with ammunition. This capture, it was pointed out, was made at the time the German high command was protesting sincerity in its plea for an armistice.

Buy Thrift Stamps With Movie Money

County Director A. Gilbert Has Suggestion for Patriotic Investment

Invest in War Savings Stamps the quarters that ordinarily would be spent at the motion picture show. This is a suggestion made by A. Gilbert, county director of War Savings Stamps who is consistently and constantly bending every effort to the end that with the coming of the new year, Twin Falls county shall have subscribed its full quota of War Savings Stamps, even as it has oversubscribed every other war quota since the entrance of the United States into the war. This is what Mr. Gilbert says:

"Now that the moving picture houses are closed over the state it would be an excellent idea for the people to buy Thrift Stamps with the quarters which they would spend at the movies, were they in operation. If each family would figure approximately how many movies would be attended by the family as a whole in the course of a week, and would agree to put that number of quarters in Thrift Stamps in addition to what they are already doing, a very considerable sum would be realized. Furthermore, it would be to the advantage of the people themselves and it would also help to keep their minds fixed on the idea of getting all money which they can save or which they would otherwise spend for some needless article or amusement."

Emperor's Action Starts Trouble

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The ferment in Budapest is becoming chaotic, it is indicated reports from Zurich and Copenhagen. Street fighting in which machine guns are employed is common and many have been killed and injured. Great demonstrations were organized hourly yesterday. There were some violent combats, generally between loyal soldiers and students. The republican movement is still brewing and a general labor revolt is feared.

The Chronicle and Daily News suggest the trouble perhaps is the beginning of a revolution against the Hapsburgs. It is reported that Emperor Karl's opposition to Count Kaszary's proposition for a majority coalition touched off the recent outbreak.

SOCIALIST'S MAIL HELD

Federal Court Refuses to Intervene in Postoffice's Refusal to Turn Over Candidate's Literature

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—More than 40,000 pieces of mail, the campaign literature of William Gross Lloyd, socialist candidate for United States senator, will remain in the postoffice here today. Judge K. M. Landis refused to issue a restraining order against its being held up by Postmaster Carlisle for investigation as to whether it would incite opposition to the government's war program. The literature was deposited as mail more than a week ago.

Derivation of "Major." Major, like mayor, is from the Latin word major, greater, the comparative of magis, great. The French for the same adjective is majeur, the Italian maggiore; mayor, by the way, is the Spanish form. A major is "greater" than a captain, but less than a lieutenant colonel. He is the lowest field officer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The crafty statement of Germany are now using all their cunning in an effort to break up the coalition of the democratic nations in the war.

Through the subtle influence of history and by favoring at America's side, the Germans are trying to put the United States in the position of judging between Germany and the European nations arrayed against her.

Avoid Just Fate

The Kaiser cannot expect to emerge from the nations of Europe he has sought to rob of their liberties and flay with his secured militarism.

Divide Allies

The Kaiser therefore, expects the United States to accept his flattery and to summon all the rest of the world as sinners to hear the irrevocable judgments of the American nation.

Germany must not be allowed to gain the victory by subtly planting seeds of future strife between America and the democracies of England and France.

FOREST SERVICE THROWS OPEN DEAD WOOD AREAS

Necessity for Securing Free Use Permits is Disposition With to Provide Fuel

The supervisor's office of the Minidoka national forest at Darley announces that on the Minidoka Forest the past requirement that a free use permit be secured for the removal of dead and down timber from the forest has been suspended. The forest people who are otherwise well situated to secure free use of dead and down timber from the forest are to be placed where dead and down timber is available and secure what they need for their individual and private use, without first securing a free use permit from a forest officer. It is expected and hoped that the public will continue to be the fullest extent possible with the forest service to make this new plan a success, and the users of the forest should take particular pains that no unnecessary damage occur in the fall of logs or getting out of the material should be careful that injury is not done to young, live growth.

It should be remembered that free use permits are still necessary for the cutting of any green material from the forest as in the past. It is believed that the waiving of the permit requirement for dead material will encourage the use of dead wood for fuel, thereby relieving, to a considerable extent, the demand for coal and, thus, relieve a present fuel shortage. Also, it will mean a considerable saving in time and, possibly, expense to the consumer, by not having to make a special effort to secure the permit which has been required in the past.

The suspension of the requirement that a free use permit be secured for dead wood will remain in force as long as the privilege is not abused and results are found satisfactory.

SEVEN WELFARE ORGANIZATIONS UNITE IN DRIVE

Plans for Campaign for Raising Twin Falls County's Quota of $45,000 Being Rapidly Worked Out

Seven welfare organizations serving American and Allied soldiers at home and overseas have combined, at the request of President Wilson, in a drive for war funds during the week of November 11 to 18.

These organizations are the Young Men's Christian Association, National Catholic War Council, (includes the Knights of Columbus), Young Women's Christian Association, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association, Jewish Welfare Board and the Salvation Army.

A Nation-wide campaign to raise $170,000,000 will be carried on. Eight western states together with Alaska and Hawaii have been asked to raise five per cent of this amount of $45,000,000. This apportioned as follows: California, $4,988,750; Washington, $1,278,750; Oregon, $767,250; Montana, $511,750; Idaho, $428,250; Utah, $341,000; Wyoming, $190,000; Nevada, $85,250; Hawaii, $21,250; Alaska, $10,000.

The Idaho campaign is under the general direction of C. A. Barton, chairman; Richard E. Randall, campaign director, and a state executive committee, consisting of representative members from each organization participating.

Plans for the campaign are being rapidly worked out and the most effective combination of workers ever united in a single effort in Idaho is being built up.

Directors for District The campaign in southern Idaho is under the general direction of E. L. Macvair, Twin Falls, district manager, with an executive committee composed of the following: Dr. A. E. McCune, Buhl, representing the Y. M. C. A.; Charles J. Macauley, Twin Falls, representing the Catholic War Council and Knights of Columbus; Mrs. H. W. Clouchok, Twin Falls, representing the Y. W. C. A.; C. F. Greig, Twin Falls, representing the War Camp Community Service; Selmon Straus, Twin Falls, representing the Jewish Welfare Board; W. Zenas Smith, Twin Falls, representing the American Library association; Herbert B. Grant, Twin Falls, representing the Salvation Army.

The southern Idaho campaign to be carried on in the several counties with in the district under the direction of the following campaign managers: W. R. Priebe, Twin Falls, Twin Falls county; W. A. Forrest, Buhl, Buhl district, Twin Falls county; Dr. A. E. Sanderlin, Burley, Cassia county; A. C. DeMay, Rupert, Minidoka county; J. A. Armstrong, Jerome, Lincoln county; L. E. Taylor, Gooding county; H. D. Smith, Hells, Blaine county; George A. Horn, Fairfield, Camas county.

Campaign in County Twin Falls county's share in this campaign is $45,000, or approximately $20 per capita.

W. R. Priebe, chairman of the first Red Cross drive waged with splendid success in Twin Falls county, has been recently returned after spending six months in France as a Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. worker, has been named as the chairman of the executive committee for the campaign in Twin Falls county. The other members of the executive committee are the following: W. R. Priebe, campaign manager; C. J. McCormick, city director; Stuart H. Taylor, publicity manager; C. R. McMartin, campaign treasurer.

"All if needed!" The slogan of the workers in the campaign will be: "Every person in Idaho seen and given the opportunity to give!" The slogan for the state: "All if needed!" Every cent of the great national fund of $170,000,000 will be prorated among the affiliated organizations and used in war work. Even the cent of Utah's $420,250 contribution will be spent for the welfare and to sustain the morale of American and Allied soldiers and sailors.

ARMY DEMANDS MANY MORE MEN YET THIS YEAR

Local Board is Instructed to Hasten Plans for Entrainment of 193 Registrants of County

Pursuant to selective military service calls, Twin Falls county will send its quota of registrants and December, approximately 193 men from among 404 qualified registrants of the September 12 registration. The local board has been directed by the adjutant general to advise his office as to the earliest date on which it will be ready to entrain this number of men.

Odds Coming Soon Following are excerpts from the adjutant general's letter in respect to these calls, which was received Tuesday by the local board.

"You are advised that we are in receipt of a telegram from the adjutant general in the effect that requisitions have been made upon this office for a large number of fighting men to be furnished during the months of November and December. This will require the early calling of class one fighting men of the September 12 registration of 19 to 36 class.

"The quotas out of which calls to meet these requisitions must be met will be fairly equalized among the states on the basis of exact national and state strength of net class one of September 12 registrants between the ages of 19 and 36, both inclusive. But as registrants belonging to this class have not yet been wholly classified and physically classified, it is not now possible definitely to determine the strength of such class one therefore not possible to determine and allot exact final quotas.

"The provisional and temporary allotment for Idaho under this plan is 2529 fighting men. Calls for these men will come at intervals in the immediate future.

"You are further advised by the adjutant general as follows: As the military program cannot be delayed at this time, nor the steady flow of men into the mobilization camps interfered with, you will understand that in view of the influenza epidemic it may be necessary to entrain a great part of the provisional allotment of one state before the allotment of another state can be moved.

STORY OF THE ASSASSINATION OF GOVERNOR STEUNENBERG AND ITS APPLICATION TO PRESENT CONDITIONS IN IDAHO

By FRANK R. GOODING

DO YOU believe in presentiments? Maybe you don't, but Mrs. Gooding and I do. Something happened in our life that forced us to believe there is something in life that is not understood; which nowadays is called mental telepathy—but I am not going to tell you about it.

Surely Governor Steunenberg had a presentiment that morning as he drove from his ranch on the Malad with Charlie Coon, his partner in the livestock business, to the little railroad station of Bliss, when he urged his partner to come to Caldwell to put their business in better shape in case anything should happen. Governor Steunenberg was never able to shake off that presentiment that his days on this earth were but few.

Immediately after arriving at Caldwell he proceeded to put his personal affairs into better shape. All day Saturday he was busy and there was a strangeness about Frank Steunenberg that day that his friends could not understand. At the family table, where it was the custom to have prayers and service, there was a depth of feeling in him that day that will always be remembered by those who sat around the board.

When They Last Saw Him Alive

Darkness had settled over the earth, and his friends' last sight of Frank Steunenberg alive was as he sat in the lobby of the Saratoga Hotel, looking over some papers. The assassin, the tool of Bill Haywood, who had been watching Steunenberg for months and knew his habits better than his own family, saw his opportunity. He knew that Steunenberg would soon return to his home.

Stealing out of the hotel, he placed his hellish contrivance at the gate of Frank Steunenberg's home, and hurrying back to the hotel met Frank Steunenberg on his way home. He almost reached the hotel before the explosion occurred that ended the life of the man who had had the courage to stand for the enforcement of law in Idaho and the protection of the home and everything that is sacred in this life.

Sacrificed Life for Duty

Frank Steunenberg died a martyr—he gave his life for the state that he had served so well for the protection of its citizens and for a government of the people, for the people, and by the people.

It was Saturday night. A heavy snow had fallen that day and made traffic almost impossible. I arrived home from the office a little later than usual that day. Dinner was waiting on the table, and we were about half through when there was a violent ringing of the phone. I answered the call myself that told the story of Frank Steunenberg's death. The news came as a great shock to Mrs. Gooding and myself. I went back to the table, but not to eat. I threw my hands over my eyes—my brain seemed to be paralyzed. It took me a little time to get hold of myself and steady down. Looking across the table, I saw Mrs. Gooding looking straight at me. I saw the same light in her eyes that I had seen on the banks of the Snake River when she was but a girl of 15, when I would have turned back if there had been any encouragement on her part. The strikes in the Coeur d'Alene country are a part of Idaho's history—Mrs. Gooding and I both understood what Steunenberg had died for and that it was my place as Governor to hunt down the assassins and try to bring them to justice.

Search for the Assassins

The blood that had been frozen in my veins seemed to be warming up, and my brain began to work. With the encouragement I received from Mrs. Gooding, I was ready for the great task that was before me. I rushed back to the phone and commenced to give orders. The girl at the other end of the line seemed to be waiting for me; there was no trouble about getting connections that night. My first order was for a special train to Caldwell. I asked the railroad officials to see that no freight trains stopped at Caldwell during the night. Getting in touch with Caldwell, I gave instructions to guard every road and see that no one left the town.

It was not strange with my knowledge of the affairs of Idaho that I should connect that awful crime with the mining camp over at Silver City, where Bill Haywood had made his home for many years.

Arriving at the depot, I found Senator Borah and Harry Crane waiting for the train to be made up; together with others who joined us, we were soon on our way to the city of Caldwell. Upon our arrival there, we found most of the people of that town waiting for us. An organization was soon perfected, and the man hunt was on. All night long we searched the town for strangers and suspicious characters of every kind.

When daylight broke, there was only one stranger in the town who had not been investigated and worked over to the satisfaction of the committee. When his name was suggested, those who had met him during his stay in Caldwell said, "Ho! all right—for God's sake leave someone in town that you aren't going to suspect." Bill Haywood's tool had played his part well. He had been a good fellow: Some of the boys at Caldwell had learned that he could play a good game of poker. Occasionally he went duck hunting—he had the coat, cap and boots, and had no trouble in borrowing a shotgun. He was "hail, fellow, well met," but the committee was determined that no stranger who could not give an account of himself should be left without an investigation.

Orchard Breaking Down

During that morning Orchard had mixed very freely with the crowd, but as the crowd grew in numbers, it began to affect his nerves. Finally he took his place in a chair in the lobby of the Saratoga Hotel, and sat there for some time gazing out of the window. There was much speculation in the lobby as to who Orchard was. Orchard knew that he was under suspicion and he was making, the fight of his life to hold himself together. I walked up to where he was sitting and in a rough way, shored against him. He never turned to see who had jostled him, and when I apologized, he made no response.

Did you ever see a man under a great strain? If you have not, the first time you see one, look straight in his eyes. Orchard was looking out of the window into the street. I passed through the door, walked by in front of him, and looked squarely at him. He could not hold his eyes still. They were completely beyond his control.

Harvey Brown, who at that time was sheriff of Baker County, Oregon, was in Caldwell that night, attending to some duty of his office. Because he was an officer of the law, I accepted his assistance. Mr. Brown was quite sure that he had met Orchard before, and it was arranged that he should invite him for a walk, while his room was searched. It was Joe Hutchison, at one time Lieutenant Governor of Idaho, who searched Orchard's room, and found little pieces of dynamite which Orchard had used in making the bomb that killed poor Steunenberg. Hutchison called my attention to what he had found, and all doubt as to who was Steunenberg's assassin was removed when the little gray pieces were placed on a hot stove and a small explosion occurred. I ordered Orchard arrested.

I cannot tell you all the story of what followed, but some day I may conclude to tell it all. I entered into that case with all my force and energy, for I knew it was my duty as Governor to defend the good name of the state of Idaho. I soon learned that I was facing the greatest criminal organization that the country had ever known. It was well that I gave myself up to the one great task, or else the story of the assassination of ex-Governor Steunenberg would never have been told.

A Traitor Detective

The first detective employed and recommended by those whom I know to be right, proved a traitor, and was in the employment of Bill Haywood. It didn't take me long to find out that things were not going right, and I began to make a search for the right man. I found him in James McPartland, who was then at the head of the Pinkerton Agency in the western states, to my mind one of the greatest detectives this country has produced. His first work after he was employed by the state was to send one of his representatives to Caldwell. He was known in the case as Detective No. 21. The attorneys for Bill Haywood employed this man and he served them for more than a year. Every morning I received a copy of his report to the attorneys for Bill Haywood. These reports were very interesting reading—some day you may know more about them.

After some delay Orchard was transferred from the jail of Canyon County, which was not considered altogether safe, to the penitentiary at Boise. Those were anxious days—Orchard was making the fight of his life to hold himself together. We found he had taken the crystal from his watch with the thought of taking his own life, but the teachings of Him who died on Calvary stayed his hand. Orchard had been reared in a good home on a farm in Canada, and his parents were of a wholesome kind. Orchard as a boy knelt at his mother's knee and said his evening prayers. As regular as the Sunday came, he went to Sunday school. It was the early training of his youth that he could not shake off that kept him from taking his own life. His early impressions of Christianity as a boy unshaken him completely. He knew and felt that his time had come, and confronted with his crimes, he tried to make peace with his God. Believing in God, he believed that there was time for repentance, even up to the eleventh hour. To my mind, Orchard's confession is a great sermon for Christianity.

McPartland's Visit to Orchard

It was at the time that Orchard was in this mental condition that James McPartland appeared upon the scene. He visited Orchard at the penitentiary, and told him frankly who he was and what his business was. He got a promise from Orchard that he would see him again the next day. The next day's visit was a long one and the two men came to an understanding that on the following day Orchard would tell the story of his life and the killing of Frank Steunenberg. When McPartland returned to the hotel after his visit with Orchard the next day, he told the story of Orchard's confession of his crimes in Idaho, Colorado, and California—the story of 26 murders and many attempts on the lives of men who held high positions.

Did you ever carry a great secret, a secret that six men had pledged themselves should not be revealed until the appointed one should give permission to tell it? It was the only secret I ever kept from my wife, and I had to keep that secret for days, for not all of the assassins of Frank Steunenberg were in Idaho. The chief conspirators of the crime lived in Colorado—they had to be apprehended and brought to this state for trial, and it must be done legally. I have told the story of their coming to Idaho, and how the courts of Idaho and the United States court passed upon the legality of their extradition. It took days for things to shape themselves so that all three could be arrested at the same time. When I received the telegram telling me the story of the arrest of Bill Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone, and that they were on their way to Idaho on a special train and that I was privileged to give the news to the people of my state, the relief I felt told me plainer than words that it was not easy to keep a great secret—one that you knew the people were interested in.

I am not going to carry you through the struggle to get a jury and the long trials that followed; but I do know that if we are going to save this great government of ours, that all classes of this country must come to a fuller realization of the duty they owe their government. Men disqualified themselves on that jury that should have been willing (and I believe they were willing) to serve their state, but they were so busy with their own affairs that they could not give up the time. When the jury system of this country fails, this government will fail with it. No greater mistake can be made by the citizens of this country than that of shirking their duty as jurors, for without an honest enforcement of the law, no country can long exist. I want to repeat the words of a great bishop:

"If this country should ever fall, when the story is told of its downfall, it will be said that it crumbled and went down to destruction because the business men of America failed in their duty to their government."

Thousands in Corruption Fund

The jury was finally secured, but it was a jury of old men. Great lawyers say, strange as it may seem, that old men rarely ever bring in a verdict of guilty in murder cases. The story of intimidation and corruption is too horrible to be told here. A little bank over in Silver City, where Bill Haywood had made his home, played a dramatic part in these great trials. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were deposited there subject to the draft of the attorneys of Bill Haywood.

The work of intimidation and corruption was on. Whenever I left home, as I was forced occasionally to do on account of my business, the hounds in the employ of those attorneys made the night unpleasant by shadowing our home. I returned one Sunday at 2 o'clock in the morning and found all the lights burning. It was then I said to Mrs. Gooding that we would go to the hotel. She insisted that she was not afraid, but I felt that it was only fair to her that we should go some place where the hounds of Bill Haywood would not disturb her rest, and we gave up our home. Soon after that threatening letters began to come in her mail by the hundreds. For a year and a half she did not receive her mail except as it passed through my office. They would write letters to me and address them to her for the purpose of making her a nervous wreck, if possible.

Threatening Letters

These letters came from all over the world. Every sign hangs to the Black Hand of the ancient Greeks appeared. Hundreds of such loving messages as "If you have any choice of palibetters, choose them now," were received. WILLIE BOOSEWELL, PRESIDENT OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE PEOPLE'S COLLEGE, AND ASSOCIATE OF ARTHUR LE SUZOR, EXECUTIVE SECRETARY OF THE NONPARTISAN LEAGUE, WAS ATTEMPTING TO AROUSE CLASS PREJUDICE IN THE EAST, AND THREATENED TO MARCH ON IDAHO A MILLION STRONG. The misguided people did march in the streets of New York City thousand strong, but they were afraid that they called the kidnapping of Bill Haywood, Moyer and Pettibone.

It is easy for me to understand how Ray McKelg and Scholtz, the agents of Towmley and Arthur Le Suzor, should want to attack that great American, Old Theodore Roosevelt, because he then, as now, was fighting for the people of Idaho. He will never know the assistance and encouragement Theodore Roosevelt gave me in my work to protect the good name of Idaho. It is not strange that those agents of Towmley and Le Suzor, fellow workers of Bill Haywood, should attack him openly in their dirty, vile abuse.

Work of Yellow Dogs

Mrs. Gooding could scarcely go up the street in those days without some yellow dog in the pay of Bill Haywood's attorneys, saying to her, "Oh, that fellow Gooding will get his eye. They let Steunenberg live for years—his time will come." Fortune tellers were brought to the town and hunted down the jurymen's wives. With their corruption fund, men were bought, strange as it may seem, regardless of the position in life that they occupied. The older I grow the more I understand that it is not the man's position nor his dollars that make a man, after all.

An I look back over what happened in those days I realize more and more what German propaganda means. Sure it existed in Idaho to such an extent that I sometimes think that the Kaiser may have learned something from the intimidation and corruption that fastened it self on Idaho, during the time we were trying to bring the criminals to justice for the greatest crime ever committed on American soil. Bill Haywood was acquitted, and everybody who lived in Idaho in those days understood and knew how his acquittal was brought about. Intimidation and corruption tell the whole story, but we convicted Bill Haywood and his companions at the bar of public opinion, not only in Idaho, but in the whole world.

Assassination of Harvey Brown

Bill Haywood saw and understood the feeling of the people of Boise the day he was acquitted. He became alarmed as to what might happen in the next trials. Something had to be done. He did not dare take those who were closely connected with the great trials, and he found in Harvey Brown the proper instrument that fitted into the conditions of the time. The assassination of Harvey Brown would bring back to the minds of the people the fact that he had something to do with the running down of Orchard, and that it was he, as sheriff of Baker County, Oregon, who had arrested Steve Adams at Haines. Adams had been associated with Orchard in many of his crimes in Colorado. Orchard had told the story of two murders that Steve Adams committed in northern Idaho. Harvey Brown arrested Steve Adams for those crimes and Adams was brought to Boise, where he confessed, corroborating Orchard's story of the crimes they had committed together. Something must be done to put fear in the hearts of the honest men who would act as jurors in the Pettibone case. A bomb was planted at the gate of Harvey Brown's home in Baker City, and he, like Steunenberg, died because he had assisted the country in the protection of law and order and decency. His death served the purpose that Haywood intended it should, for the jury that tried Pettibone returned a verdict of acquittal in about an hour after the case was in their hands.

Murder of Harry Crane

Harry Crane, who went to Caldwell with me that night as the reporter for the Boise Statesman, and who told the story of the Steunenberg assassination and wrote practically everything that appeared in that paper, found himself a nervous wreck when the trials were over. His doctor ordered him to leave the state. He finally found employment with the Los Angeles Times and there met his death with 23 others, by the explosion of a bomb from the same "direct action" force of the country. Other sad things happened, but there is no space to tell them. The only jurymen who voted guilty and hung the jury for a few hours was hounded by threatening letters. He was urged by his friends to leave the country, but he thought he could not escape them and he hid down and died of a broken heart.

I am telling this story with the hope that the people will better understand the methods of Bill Haywood and his fellow-workers, such as Arthur Le Suzor, the executive secretary of the Nonpartisan League. I am telling this story hoping it may save some good men or women from becoming associated with an organization headed by Towmley and Arthur Le Suzor, and others that are no better than they. I am telling this story because I hope to save Idaho and the good name from the men who I know will destroy it if they are given the power through the ballot box at the coming election.

I have forgotten all about the senatorship. To me it is an empty honor. I am glad that I have had the opportunity to make this fight for my state—I am proud to be a citizen of a state that is worth fighting for and a country worth dying for—and I ask the mothers, the fathers, the wives and the sweethearts who have loved ones in the trenches to help me keep this state clean until the boys come back home. They will take care of it after that.

Fate seems to have decreed that Mrs. Gooding and I shall be the ones to make these fights in Idaho against treason, disloyalty, and rebellion, but together we will continue the fight to the end. No man ever made a great fight without a woman by his side, or a picture of one in his heart.

FRANK R. GOODING.

VACCINE FOR FLU RECEIVED

Twin Falls: Druggists Secure Supply Which Is Distributed to Physicians

A limited supply of vaccine for use in the prevention of influenza was received Tuesday from Seattle by the Sherrill drug store and has been distributed among physicians of the county. The supply received Tuesday is sufficient for the vaccination of about 120 persons. Additional supplies will be received, so long as there is a demand for it. The vaccine is administered hypodermically, the second dose being given under normal conditions, 48 hours after the first. The use of the vaccine in Seattle and elsewhere has been very successful, according to reports received.

Receipts of the vaccine Tuesday marks success attending extensive effort put forth here to secure it. Application has been made by Physicians and druggists to the Mayo Brothers of Rochester, Minnesota; to the Massachusetts state health board and elsewhere, without success.

Eight New Cases
The number of influenza cases in Twin Falls, reported, as being 77 at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, was increased four Tuesday, according to the report made by Chief W. A. Minnick, Dr. E. T. Silver, secretary of the state board of health. Mr. Minnick states that four additional cases were reported by one local physician this morning. He states also that another Twin Falls physician reported Tuesday that he had investigated the case of a 11-year-old child who had been in a serious case, but who had recovered cases were not previously reported.

FORMER AMBASSADOR UPHOLDS PRO

Gerard Says German People Interpret Republican at Poila
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The former ambassador in Berlin, who may would misinterpret a victory in the coming election as a claim of ex-Ambassador Gerhart M. O'Sullivan, today in a statement through the Associated Press, said he would not understand our political system; that if a congress opposed to the president is elected, they will believe again, what they believed before we entered war with them, that there is in the United States a great number of people favorable to the German cause and opposed to the president and to war. And encouraged by this belief, the military resistance of the people will again stiffen and the favorable moment for the enemy may be near.
"I am so sure of this that if I were opposed to every other policy of the president and were he my bitterest enemy, I should nevertheless beg the American people to support him at this fat moment."
At the same time, the committee made public a letter to Senator Lodge from Ex-Senator Hansbrough, former North Dakota republican, saying he could not escape the conclusion that the military campaign "really amounts to a scheme" "deliberately intended to counteract the great democratic movement now going on in the world."

PRESIDENT MAY VISIT EUROPE

doubtless would be made chairman of the peace conference if he goes.
Might Change Status
Should the war go on for years, as is possible, the president's reported desires might be altered, should he go the constitution provides; that during the period of his absence, the vice president will direct the executive work of the president.
It would be the first time in the history of the nation that the president has visited Europe while in office.
Colonel Roosevelt went to Panama while president.
Report of the president's possible course met particular sympathy among diplomats of the smaller countries who have applauded his attitude toward Austria and his expressions on the rights of small nations.
Incidentally, this new gossip added zest to discussion here because of the president's known conviction that the doors of the peace conference should be swung wide to the east and all arrangements should be arrived at openly.

ward of Poza; northeastward to Mont Solara; eastward to Alanno; eastward through Valdobladiene, San Pietro, Farra and Refontolo; southeastward through Conegliano, Cimetto and Fontanello, southward to Ponte di Pinve.
The allies are sweeping through Serbia like prairie fire. At three points—northwest of Negotin and northwest and southwest of Uzhitz—they are within twenty miles of Hungarian soil. The Serbs, in the great Moravia valley are within 40 miles of Belgrade, their former capital.
Jugo-Slavs operating in Montenegro have passed Ipek and Diakova, and further to the westward are nearing the frontier of Herzegovina. The battle line in the Balkans apparently runs as follows:
From Negotin in practically a straight line westward to a point northwest of Clujchak; southward through Montenegro to Tukulis, in Albania; southwestward to the Adriatic, at a point north of Alessio.
The latest reports from neutral sources indicate that the Hungarian Czechoslovak and Jugo-Slavs have set up an independent state with Count Karolyi as its head. Street fighting is going on in Budapest, where some opposition has developed to Karolyi's proposed government.
No important gains have been made at any point on the west front within the last two days. The Americans are still fighting desperately to conquer the important heights on both sides of the Meuse which will give them command of the valley extending northward to Montauden.
The French advanced slightly on a seven-mile front west of Bethel, and improved their lines along the Aisne. The remainder of the front was comparatively quiet yesterday.
Field-Marshal Haig reported that in Flanders, the allies took 18,493 prisoners from October 14 to 27, making a total of 30,000 since September 28. They also took 500 guns between the 14th and 27th.

SAILING VESSEL IS SENT TO THE BOTTOM

Japanese Steamer Bama and Sinks Schooner Mooted to Buoy in Elliot Bay
SEATTLE, WASH., Oct. 30.—Ranuel during a heavy fog, as she lay at buoy number two in Elliot Bay, the sailing vessel A. J. Fuller was sunk after being hit by the Japanese steamship Bama.
The A. J. Fuller now rests on the bottom of the bay in thirty fathoms of water. The mate and night watchman were the only persons aboard the Fuller who escaped. The Bama was on her way to Pier six when she rammed the schooner, which sinking, took the buoy down with her.

SPANISH FLU PATIENTS ALLOWED EXTRA SUGAR

Food Administration Lets Down Bars to Those Afflicted
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The food administration today notified all state food administrators to increase sugar allotments to Spanish influenza patients and to persons caring for such patients. This action was taken because of hundreds of requests from hospitals in cities where the epidemic has prevailed.
Steam Engine Helped.
It is an historic fact that the development of the steam engine enabled England to stand the cost of the wars with Napoleon and speedily enjoy a more widespread prosperity than the country had ever before known.

Italian Official Statement

ROME, Oct. 30.—The allies vigorously pressing their advance, have advanced seven miles beyond the Piave on a front of more than twenty-five miles, the Italian war office announced today. They have captured nine additional villages, including the important railway town of Conegliano and the strong enemy base at Yablonice. A thousand prisoners and 90 guns have been added to the captures. Many of the guns have been turned against the Austrians.
"The enemy has been forced to abandon positions on the heights along the left bank of the Piave," the statement said.
"The villages of Valdobbiadene, San Pietro di Dierbach, Farra di Soligo, Pieve di Boligo, Coltano, Refontolo and other important villages have been liberated and we have entered Caltico Torretto. Bitter fighting is under way in the Orsatta region.
"An additional thousand prisoners and more than 100 guns have been taken. Many of the latter are in action against the enemy."
Ainerville Taken Reports Pershing
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—American occupation of Ainerville, north of Verdun, was reported by General Pershing in today's communique.
"North of Verdun, our troops have occupied Ainerville, and have established their lines just north of the village," the morning's communique said. "Lively artillery fighting occurred during the night at various points along the front."
"In the Woerpe our patrols successfully engaged hostile detachments and captured prisoners."
PARIS, Oct. 30.—French troops made additional advances between the Oise and the Serre last night, the war office announced today.
"North of Oulne our troops made progress along the east bank of the Meuse and took Beaumont (Beaufort) farm west near Les Quille," said the communique.
"On the right bank of the Peron we made a new advance east of Montcauleux and took some prisoners."
"At Loraine, two enemy raids were unsuccessful. The night was calm everywhere."

GERMANY SENDS SUPPLEMENTARY FRONT MESSAGE

fully of the explanations was not forthcoming.
The note, which is quite long, is unsigned and directed not to President Wilson but to the United States government. It is more in the nature of a memorandum for public consumption in the United States than an official document solely for the review of the officials.
Send Peace Terms Too
With the increasing offers of the central powers for an armistice before they are definitely beaten, there was growing belief here today that the United States and the Allies should dispatch their armistice terms and peace terms simultaneously, the former to be granted upon the condition that Germany and her allies accept the latter. As some expressed it, there would be no us in granting an armistice if there was then to be prolonged wrangling and chances for discord at the peace table. Germany, they said, should be given an armistice only if she agrees to the Allied peace terms.
