GERMANY'S WESTERN ARMIES RAPIDLY BEING TRAPPED

WAR SUMMARY

THE German armies along the southwestern edge of the Ardennes are rapidly being trapped by the simultaneous Allied drives eastward from Valenciennes and northward from Verdun.

The Americans already have closed the main avenue of retreat in the latter region by closing the Stenay gap. Two or three days more fighting at their present rate of progress will carry them to Sedan or Montmedy and complete the shutting of the gate.

The British, aided by the French, have surged forward on a forty-mile front from the Meuse canal to the Oise, advancing five miles at some points, and taking more than 10,000 additional prisoners in a day. The Allied lines in this region are within ten miles of the fortress city of Maubeuge at two points, north and south of Le Quesnoy. Capture of Maubeuge will close the northern exit for the enemy forces from that vicinity southeastward to the Meuse.

The Belgians made some progress between the Dutch border and Ghent. Capture of the latter city, unofficially reported yesterday, has not been confirmed. The Serbs, continuing their occupation of the right banks of the Danube and the Save, captured Valjevo and Shabatz, and reached the Bosnian frontier west of Kraljevo.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 5.—Count Karolyi has resigned the presidency of the Hungarian national council, according to information received here today. Deputy Johann Hord will succeed Karolyi. The latter has taken over the office of Hungarian foreign minister.

The Allies are attacking over a front of nearly 150 miles, from the Meuse canal southeastward to the Meuse.

The inter-Allied diplomatic conference completed its work at Versailles yesterday. It was announced today, and reached unanimous agreement on the armistice terms to be presented to Germany. The Bolshevik government is reported to have officially asked the Allies for cessation of hostilities in Russia and the opening of peace negotiations.

Officials at Washington Differ in Opinions as to Disposal of Enemy Government—Will Make Pre-Peace Conditions

ALLIES UNITE SQUARELY ON WILSON PEACE BASIS

ANNOUNCES TERMS PARIS, Nov. 5.—Premier Clemenceau today announced that the armistice conditions to Germany are the conditions laid down by Marshal Foch.

The conditions, Clemenceau said, are as follows: First—Military guarantee of the security of the Allied troops. Second—Maintenance of Allied military supremacy, in case hostilities are renewed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Germany by this time is probably acquainted with the terms of the armistice, signed under conditions of diplomatic nity between the United States and Allies at Paris. Though no announcement had been made as to procedure with the armistice, it was believed here that no time was lost in sending in the terms to Germany.

That she will accept was the first statement of one official and the confident prediction of many others. But the situation in Germany now is not clear and there is a chance that the militarists may refuse to yield yet.

VICTORY WON BY ITALIANS IN TEN DAYS' FIGHTING

Greatest Military Victory in World History Accrues to Glory of Italian Armies in Recent Battles

MORE THAN 300,000 PRISONERS TAKEN

Liberate 3,000 Square Kilometers of Occupied Territory and Free Over 1,000 Villages—Details Planned in Advance

By HENRY WOOD
WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES IN THE FIELD, Nov. 5.—At the moment the Austrian armies, which became effective the Italian and Allied forces in a 10 days' battle, had attained the greatest military in the world's history.

When the battle opened, more than a million bayonets, with an auxiliary million in the year, opposed them. The victor obtained by the Italian practically single handed, only five Anglo-French divisions and one American regiment aiding them.

Take Many Prisoners

During the ten days the Italians and Allies captured more than 300,000 prisoners and 5,000 guns. They liberated more than 5,000 square kilometers of territory and over 1,000 villages, which exceeds the losses of every item in the Caporetto disaster although they operated with forces far inferior to the enemy in number.

Every detail of the battle was planned in advance, not a word of the progress of a moment. The progress of the Italians from their starting points averaged 50 kilometers (31 miles) although the distance traveled over the winding roads exceeded 100 kilometers.

Enemy Opens Negotiations

The effort to negotiate with Italy for an armistice was made October 29, when an Austrian captain, with a white flag, presented himself before the Italian lines in the Adige valley, south of Rovereto. The Italians refused to negotiate, as his credentials were insufficient.

On following day, nine military, and naval officers, headed by General Vono, accompanied by their orderlies, presented themselves at the same place, after a signal by bugles.

They were taken in automobiles to the headquarters of General Diaz, where the request was immediately transmitted to Versailles.

The final signature took place there at the earliest possible moment after the terms were accepted.

SPEED OF ALLIED ATTACK BROUGHT QUICK VICTORY

Choice of Right Moment and Efficiency in Direction Elements Responsible for Italian Successes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Choice of the right moment, efficiency in direction of the attack and the rapidity in execution, were three big military factors that contributed to the crushing Austrian defeat, Major General Emilio Guiglionotti, military attaché at the Italian embassy, explained.

"The happy successes of the Allies on the French front, the withdrawal of Bulgaria and Turkey from the war, left Austria for the first time, although with forces greatly superior in numbers, alone against us," he said. "Bad weather had begun to make the provisioning of the armies in the mountain zone difficult, the swollen streams produced the same situation along the Piave. Such conditions narrowed the Italian front of attack and made counter attacks by the enemy on our flank impossible.

Austrians Divided

"From the opening of the offensive the evident aim of General Diaz was to divide the Austrian armies in the plains from those in the mountains. Hence the rapid, vigorous and successful push toward Vittorio Veneto, Ponio, Nello Alpi and Longone. The distribution of the army to the distinct sectors was effected with ease. "The rapidity of the offensive is unequalled in history. The initial bombardment began October 24 and on November 4 the Italian flag floated over Trento and Trieste.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon,

Allies' Military Melting Pot Greatest in History

Here is the reason Germany is using every means at her command to get a compromise peace. It is men, men, men. Everywhere along the allied western front, General Foch has millions of men in ever moving and shifting strategy which gives the Hun no rest. And the allies have the men to win. The victor knows this now. That's the reason that like all "billion" once he knows he is whipped—he howls "Let's talk it over." This new picture from the western front shows British, French, American and Italian troops in the greatest "military melting pot" of world's history, at one of the important western front reserve points and all headed toward the east.

DEMOBILIZATION OF HUGE ARMIES WILL TAKE TIME

Return Process Will Be Slow—England to Use Her Transport Facilities to Bring Canadians and Australians Home

By GARI D. GHOAT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—American armies will in a year or two years be returning and demobilizing. That is the general war department estimate to day, though the department is doing nothing toward demobilization until the armistice terms.

Demobilization plans, however, are all made. In fact, they were mapped out along with plans with the general staff. On the whole, the demobilization will follow the selective system.

Britain Plans to Withdraw Her Troops

Britain plans to withdraw her troops from the American service, taking care of her Australian, Canadian and Indian troops. Hence, the process is retarded, but will be moved up immediately. Still another phase of demobilization which spans a year to two years, foreign service for many troops, is the need for police duty.

One phase of the demobilization call for return of men to this country, for sending them to camps and feeding them back into industry as industry adjusts itself.

Secretary Baker has given the plain warning that it will be many months before the last man is out of khaki and back at a productive task.

The general staff plans are so adjusted that there will be no sudden glutting of the labor market with a resultant "hard times" era.

Stopping of further drafts will probably follow announcement of Germany's acceptance of armistice terms.

However, until that armistice is proclaimed and delivered, the war department is proceeding on the theory that there can be no slackening. Though it has machinery ready for slowing down certain war work, it has not decided it should stop it and continue troops shipments according to demand.

When War is Overed in the Air

THE eyes of the army were first set in the sky when the French Revolutionary forces, using the first war balloon, won the battle of Fleurus, 1794.

It was a Montgolfier balloon, the type the Montgolfier brothers developed from Cavallo's crude experiments in 1766 with hydrogen-filled pig bladders.

Goodrich follows the flag into the sky.

One hundred and twenty-five years after the first war balloon, the battles of the air find not only Goodrich Dirigibles and Montgolfier balloons in the thicket of it, but also—

POTASH DEAL TO BE PUSHED BY LOCAL MEN

Well Known Men of Boise, Twin Falls and Salt Lake Incorporate Under Laws of Nevada to Develop Resources:

Articles of incorporation were filed Thursday by the National Potash Corporation, under the laws of Nevada, with Boise as the principal place of business.

The company owns many thousands acres of cement rock land near Huntington, Pocatello, McComman and Lava, together with Salt Lands on the great desert west of Salt Lake. It also has the first applications for leases on government potash lands near Sweetwater, Wyo.

Own Valuable Patents By owning the patents for the manufacture of potash from silicate rocks which are the basic patents for the production of potash on a large scale, the company is prepared, it is said, to open up the biggest potash producing plants in the United States.

Amos Moore of Salt Lake has been president of the corporation since its inception. Mr. Moore has spent years in the business of building and operating Portland cement plants. He built five of the largest factories in the United States, including the factory at Devil's Slide, Utah.

The corporation expects to build a potash factory in eastern Idaho, but on account of the immediate needs for potash by the government, it is leasing the factory of the Nairo Portland Cement company at Devil's Slide. This will be equipped with the necessary potash machinery in about two months. The company expects to be operating by January 1, with a factory having a capacity of approximately 200,000 tons of potash.

The officers and directors of the National Potash Corporation are as follows: Amos Moore, Salt Lake, president and general manager; C. B. Channell, Twin Falls, first vice-president; Charles E. Murphy, Salt Lake, second vice-president; B. D. Sherman, Boise, president; E. B. Sherman, Boise, secretary; O. C. Beebe, Boise, treasurer. Directors of the corporation are: L. C. Merrill, A. J. Wiley, E. F. Kemp, B. M. Davidson, C. R. Shaw, J. A. Fenwick, E. B. Sherman, B. D. Sherman, D. W. of Boise; C. B. Channell and R. J. Ostrander of Twin Falls, and Charles E. Murphy, Marcell Holzer, O. C. Beebe, W. J. Burton and Amos Moore, all of Salt Lake. The executive committee is composed of A. J. Wiley, E. M. Davidson, Charles E. Murphy and C. C. Beebe. Edwin Shaw of Boise is named as attorney for the corporation.

Jazz and Ragtime Go Hand in Hand Canny Scott Develops Keen Admiration for Quickstep Tunes of U. S. A.

A PORT IN SCOTLAND, Oct. 19 (By Mail).—According to K. J. Hord, librarian of Evanston, Ill., secretary in an American U. S. A. naval ship somewhere in Scotland, the cargo of the liner is succumbing to the lure of our navy's jazz bands, and in many a "woe house on the heather" the bagpipe stands in the corner unplayed.

Along with the craze for jazz there has naturally developed a love of the trot and one-step. When Jack comes ashore he wants to dance. But in Scotland he didn't find much satisfaction in watching the lassies doing a hornpipe, nor did the bagpipes seem like music to his "jazzed" ears. At one port where our navy men couldn't find a dance hall of any sort, they went to Mr. Hollishead of the "Queen A." and asked his help. After securing the town, he found the only available room was the upstairs of a second-hand shop. With the aid of a working party from the ship, he was able to have the junk removed after four days of labor and the place converted into a very nice ballroom. Mr. Hollishead then introduced the boys to a number of the Scotch girls of the town, the ships jazz band played American rag, and soon the lassies were swinging into steps. The first of a series of many dances was inaugurated.

Texas Turkey Crop High But Plentiful

No Danger of Shortage of Birds But Restrictions Cause Some Trouble

DALLAS, TEX., Nov. 5.—American will have its annual Thanksgiving turkey crop this year.

However, the time honored place of resistance of the holiday feast—like everything else—comes first, according to dealers who handle the Texas annual contribution of a million or so birds.

Under a ruling of the food administration, no turkeys may be dressed before Nov. 8. The season will then be on in full swing.

No hens under eleven pounds weight, and no hens under seven pounds may be slaughtered.

Prices are higher. Prices will be five to six cents pound over last year's figures, at the opening of the season and probably will mount steadily as Thanksgiving approaches, dealers said. Opening prices last year were about 70 cents for the hen and this year will be 82 cents to 85 cents.

The Texas crop, although 55 per cent short of last year's production of 8,000,000 pounds will be augmented by record breaking shipments from Missouri and Kentucky, it was said. These three states produce the bulk of the turkeys for the eastern market. Extreme drought is blamed for the reduced Texas crop, dealers say.

GAS MASK DAY IS PROCLAIMED

Governor Alexander Calls for Collection of Fruit Pits and Nut Shells

Governor Alexander has issued a proclamation asking citizens to observe "Gas Mask Day" in Idaho, to be devoted to the collection of fruit pits and nut shells to be used in the manufacture of gas masks. A campaign for the collection of these materials is being carried on in the business districts of the city for the reception of these materials. The demand is now that the campaign shall be brought to a successful conclusion throughout the state in one day, that Idaho shall be the state to produce 1,000,000 pounds that is required will be furnished by the evening of that day.

Following is the text of the governor's proclamation: WHEREAS, The Chemical Warfare Service of the United States has made plans upon the people throughout the United States to save fruit pits and nut shells to be used in the production of carbon of superior quality which serves as an absorbent of the poisonous gases in the gas mask; and WHEREAS, One million pounds of this carbon is required daily for the use of our soldiers to save them from the deadly poison of our enemies and in human foe, it is requested by the National Warfare Service to set aside a certain day for the gathering of pits and nut shells in order to save many lives on the battlefield; and NOW, THEREFORE, I, Moses Alexander, Governor of the State of Idaho, do hereby set aside and designate November 9, 1918 as GAS MASK DAY, and I urgently request and appeal to every man, woman and child in the state of Idaho to make every effort on that day to gather nuts and pits of all kinds of all fruits and take them to some central point in each county or city and turn them over to the Red Cross organization of their communities. Special attention is directed to these communities where there are walnut trees so that the same may not go to waste and the product thereof may be dedicated to the noble work of saving the lives of our boys who are fighting their life for liberty and democracy. Let every woman and child of our State forget all other work and duties on November 9th and collect this essential substance and thus affectionally help our Nation in this crisis and struggle.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and have caused the Great Seal of the State to be hereunto affixed. DONE at Boise, the Capitol, this thirty-first day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand Nine hundred and Eighteen.

M. ALEXANDER, Governor.

W. T. Dougherty, Secretary of State.

WANT GERMAN Y TO PAY HEAVILY FOR ANY DELAY

London Press Suggests Idea of Added Cost to Hun for Every Day the War is Prolonged Now

LONDON, Nov. 5 (British admiralty wireless)—Specific penalty for every day the war is prolonged after the allies submit the armistice terms to Germany, with consequences definitely worse for the enemy if she fails to recognize the armistice as an ultimatum, is the explanation of the Sunday Observer, as a means of letting Germany know there never will be a statement of the severity of the protest allied terms.

A continuance of war on Germany's part, already responsible for four years of inconceivable horrors, cannot be tolerated, says the Observer. "The time has come to force the issue by diplomatic as well as military means.

Now the main enemy is isolated and helpless must be tempted to throw the halve after the hatchet and pay blindly for some supposed chance of a better term. The time has come to speak plainly to Germany. Allies and America must speak at last as masters.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANDY

Candy Takes the Place of Alcohol

There was a time when the army and navy supplied their men with rum and whiskey. But today, while recognizing the need of supplying heat for the system, it is known that alcohol is not the proper thing. Sugar has taken its place, because sugar supplies the carbohydrates which every human body needs.

Leading American officers endorse chocolate candy as an essential food for soldiers. The various "quarter-master" departments draw large supplies of candy for the soldiers to eat. These requirements run into the hundreds of thousands of pounds.

For example, on a recent cruise, the Atlantic ocean liner, carrying NO LIQUOR aboard, had on its various ships 40,000 pounds of candy because it recognized candy as among the most nutritious foods for its sailors.

The added test of war is putting candy down as a FOOD—a food which supplies the body with its energizing fuel. Physicians and scientists claim that candy will supply the taste for alcoholic beverages. This is probably one reason why, as candy is becoming more and more firmly established and recognized for its value, alcoholic drinks are declining. Right along with the decrease in whiskey drinking, one notes the tremendous increase in the recognition of candy as a food.

Men who once thought that whiskey would bolster them up, now find that in candy they have a real source of body fuel and energy. People have wondered what would be the substitute for drinking if supply heat for the system. They have found that sugar is the real source of body fuel, as it supplies the carbohydrates. Sugar is enjoyed most when it is made up into a food product, mixed with fruit, nuts, etc., all of which are high in food value.

Sugar is recognized as a food product—and milk as a food product—and cocoa as a food product—and nuts and fruit and raisins are food products. These are the chief ingredients of candy. Logically, then, the combination of all these products is bound to be a wholesome, nutritious food, isn't it?

—In normal times the candy industry uses only 1% of the sugar consumed per capita in this country. Right now this amount has been cut squarely in two.

HELPING THE BOYS

Beginning next week the United War Work Campaign will claim the attention of the country. By means of this campaign it is hoped to raise a sum of money sufficient to defray for a long time to come all the expenses of the Salvation Army, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A., and kindred organizations whose labors are helping to lighten the load of the soldiers in France.

The amount of money sought to be raised in Twin Falls county is small compared to many of the drives which have gone before, and yet it is just as necessary for a one hundred per cent successful finish this time as it has been in the past. Twin Falls county must do her part, and to that end an organization has been formed with L. L. Brockbridge as chairman and W. R. Friebe as campaign manager to see that every one is given an opportunity to subscribe.

The effort is entitled to a hearty response from every good citizen. Too much cannot be said in praise of the magnificent work now being done by these various organizations. Rain or shine, day or night, the comfort of the fighting man is never neglected. After a hard shift on the road or in the thick of the fighting, the solace of cigarettes and coffee, hot food and warm blankets has lent added strength for the work of next day to thousands of boys, every last one of whom is entitled to every atom of comfort which can be given.

These things the workers do and do well, and in order that they may continue to do them they must be provided with the necessary money.

The United War Work Campaign needs to provide a means for the gathering of the necessary money. Let's all help.

BUSTS INTO BIG LEAGUE BANKING

The war gave Miss Lillian C. Jones of New York her chance. Starting as a $12-a-week stenographer a few short years ago she was qualified in all the affairs of the New York branch of the National Bank of Cuba to step into the cashier's office when the opportunity was presented. The draft took the former cashier. Now Miss Jones handles $400,000.00 annually and exploded the theory of "Wall Street" that only men are to be entrusted with responsible positions.

It costs us 24 billion to keep him equipped and only 170 million to keep him smiling. Let's do it.

Pictures-Transmitting Set

An apparatus for transmitting pictures electrically is among the latest scientific toys. It is described and illustrated in Popular Mechanics Magazine. The sending and receiving instruments are synchronized by a steel rod, although another system may be used for longer-range work. A photograph must first be reproduced on a copper plate, which is rolled over the cylindrical platen of the sending machine. A needle held against it travels from one end of the roll to the other, and the picture is reproduced on paper at the other end of the line.

Few Really Sincere. Sincerity is an openness of heart; we find it in very few people; what we usually see is only an artful dissimulation to win the confidence of others.

The War Today J.W.T. Mason.

By J. W. T. MASON

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Austro-Hungarian armistice conditions make the Hapsburg empire impotent to resume the war, but it does not necessarily mean that the terms of peace to be imposed upon the dual monarchy by America and the Allies will be decided by the Allies without consultation with representatives of the enemy powers.

Whether the peace treaty shall be discussed at a conference of both sides, or whether the victorious nations shall simply declare their purpose to be vanquished has not been announced. There is reason to believe, however, that former precedents will be followed and the defeated nations will gather together with the victors for a diplomatic struggle at the conference table. This was what happened when Europe united against France during the Napoleonic era. After France was forced to make an unconditional surrender, French delegates attended the peace conference at Vienna and were astonishingly successful in what they avowed from the wreck of Napoleon's fortune.

One of President Wilson's terms of peace is that a league of nations shall be organized at the peace conference to reduce the possibility of future wars. The central powers must be permitted to join this league in accordance with the president's purpose or the league would become no more than an alliance of certain powers joined against certain others and might be a cause instead of a deterrent of future conflicts.

If, therefore, all the world's principal powers are to be brought together to make a league of nations to be created at the peace conference, the defeated belligerents must be represented in company not only with America and the Allies but with neutral powers as well. It is inevitable that diplomatic skill and finesse will play an important part in such a congress. What the final terms of peace will be, therefore, may not depend on the military conditions of the armistice.

The war is now moving from the first to the second phase. All strategy and tactics will find their place at the new meeting as at the old.

Most Primitive Still

Probably the most primitive still in use is that used by the Chinese in the distillation of camphor, which is said, however to be very effective. The leaves are placed in a wicker basket, which is fixed over an iron chandelier containing water. On the top of the basket a basin of cold water is placed. The steam from the chandelier passes through the leaves of the basket and carries over the camphor vapor, which is deposited in the form of camphor on the cool under surface of the basin.

Alleviates Earsache

If earache does not occur often possibly home treatment will alleviate the suffering, which is always so severe while it lasts. Wring out hot cloths and apply them to the ear. This often brings quick relief. Or moisten a small piece of cotton, saturated with sweet oil or laudanum and place it carefully in the ear. This is generally efficacious if the trouble is caused by the hardening of the wax.

ALL HARMONIOUS AT ARMISTICE CONFERENCE

Colonel House Pivotal Figure in Meetings in Current Report

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The inter-Allied diplomatic council at Versailles terminated its work yesterday, it was announced today. All members were in entire agreement concerning the armistice terms to be presented to Germany, it was reported.

The outstanding feature of the meeting was the total absence of press conjecture. The developments were as regular as the clock but none was announced until it was clinched. The constant high spirit of ordinarily grave statesmen and military officials gave the most eloquent proof of the harmony in the conference.

It was freely stated that Colonel House was the pivotal figure in the meetings.

COUNTING IN KANSAS GIVES G. O. P. LEAD

Election Judges Begin Counting at Noon—Show Republicans in Lead

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 5.—Republican candidate jumped into the lead when the count of today's ballots began in Topeka precincts. The first ballot counted gave Governor Capper, republican for the senate, 217 votes against 87 for Senator William H. Thompson, democrat.

The first congressional district at the same time showed 78 votes for Dan R. Anthony, republican incumbent to 24 for Frank E. Whitney, democrat. Henry J. Allen, republican candidate for governor, led W. C. Landis, democrat, by a vote of 230 to 48. Under the dual election board system operative in Kansas, the count of the ballots begins at noon.

NOVEMBER THE BANNER
MONTH OF THE SEASON

A feast to the general public who care for the best at remarkably low prices.

NOT knowing what may happen this season we have prepared and purchased the grandest line of Coats, Suits, Dresses, Waists, Skirts, Furs and Millinery. Never in the history of a town or community of this size has there been shown such a splendid assortment of Women and Misses Wearing Apparel. Our buyer has spared no time or efforts in selecting such an assortment. At the early season highest of prices prevail. Then comes a slump in the market on account of the eastern manufacturers receiving enormous cancellations of orders from the largest and the best department stores of this country. Our buyer purchased and we have just received a new and large assortment of outer garments of all descriptions, bought practically at 65 cents on the dollar. We have taken this opportunity and we are now putting on sale our entire stock at 30 and 40 per cent less than we could have done a month ago. Thus making this November the banner month of the year.

We cordially invite you to take advantage of this big price cutting event. This benefit means dollars to you.

FRENCH BASEBALL CODE IS CONSIDERABLY DIFFERENT

Poitus Pick Up Principles Rapidly But Necessary Words Cause Trouble

PARIS—With the French army adopting baseball and the poitus picking it up rapidly, the day of the real world series may not be far off.

Although the French learn the principles of the game easily, and like it for its speed and excitement, they have found American baseball terms very difficult.

So the holders and ballers club of Paris has prepared and issued a "Code Simplifié du Baseball" which renders the tongue-twisting American phrases less harsh.

According to the "Code Simplifié," the game went into this: The pitcher, Lieutenant McCosh, walked out and dusted off the plate.

One of the features of the game was the sensational catch by Dick of the Triple A's.

But even the compilers of the "Code Simplifié" admit that it is far from complete.

MARRIAGE AND BIRTH RATES FALL IN ITALY

Inevitable Decline of War Times Very Noticeable for Long Time Past

ROME—Italy's birth rate, which before the war was one of the highest in Europe, has suffered the inevitable decline that takes place under war conditions.

The number of marriages has decreased as it has in all other belligerent countries, and while Italy is not alone in suffering from any threat of race suicide, this decrease in marriage and birthrate, together with heavy loss of life in the war, creates for Italy the same problem of re-population after the war that is facing the other warring nations.

During the years preceding the war the average number of marriages in Italy was 250,000 annually.

A similar decline has also taken place in the Italian birthrate. For four years preceding the war Italy's average birthrate was 1,123,000.

During 1916 the Italian government arranged for its soldiers at the front to have occasional leave periods during which to visit their families, something they had not enjoyed previously.

To tell what you want, in the classified columns, is to make the strongest possible effort to get it.

Dominick Simply Could Not Give Up Uniform

ST. LOUIS—If Provost Marshal Crowder had visited the children's court the other day when Dominick Galano was called to the bar of justice to answer to a charge of mischief, he might have thought he would be dropped to fifteen.

When that came Dominick informed his parents he would enlist. They would not hear of it. So last July, after taking an active part in the celebration of the Fourth, Dominick enlisted in the state guard.

For a while he only did duty at the armory, drilling and the routine work of the rookie. Toward the latter part of the month he was ordered to guard the armory, where he was the butt of a German agent's derision.

Justice Wilkins seemed inclined to deal severely with the boy. He said: "If I find that this boy deliberately paraded about in uniform I shall send him to the house of refuge. I am a stickler for respect for the uniform and this boy showed no respect when he refused to return the uniform to the state and continued to wear it without the right."

NEW AMBASSADOR TO BRITAIN

When President Wilson selected John W. Davis of West Virginia to succeed Walter Hines Page as ambassador to Great Britain, it was a considerable surprise but not a single adverse criticism of the appointment.

Mr. Davis, who was then solicitor general of the United States, arrived in Europe with the American delegation at the Brest conference between American and German missions on the treatment and exchange of prisoners of war.

Since he went to Washington seven years ago as a member of congress from the First West Virginia district, Mr. Davis has been an active figure in the capital. He was elected to succeed himself in the House, but hardly had begun his second term when President Wilson appointed him solicitor general in August, 1913.

Mr. Davis is forty-five years old. Beginning life as a lawyer in his home town of Clarksburg, W. Va., after graduating at the Washington and Lee university and the University of Virginia, he became prominent in Democratic politics and served in the West Virginia legislature before congress and was a delegate to the Democratic national convention of 1904.

Where Are the Cars For Boys' Christmas?

The Blue Goddess

By LOUISE OLIVER

Peggy lay awake at night listening to the rain. It was only 10:30. She had played so many things last night that she had no sleep.

She had played so many things last night that she had no sleep. The next day, the old Captain Pearson was to be in town and had asked her if he could come to see her.

Then Peggy had done some offering herself, as Peggy could. Her little hands, which took only a five-and-a-half-gro, could make Phil and his mother's eyes around more than in one minute than father and mother combined could do in a week.

The offering Peggy did, in receipt of Captain Pearson's letter, consisted of disposing of the family for the day, bringing with Phil and Charles and had gone on down the line until no one was left but her mother and father and herself.

Afternoon—The boys to go fishing after school and to Aunt Mary's for supper and to stay all night; Lola and the club to go to Mabel Brown's and Lola to stay for dinner and all night, as Mabel had so often teased.

Peggy planned just on her new sport suit of army blue jersey and with her own little car sparkling clean was to take the captain for a ride out to Bowling Rocks to see the view, stop at the club and introduce him to a quiet, delicious coffee and dinner for four, Peggy in her new pink dress; a whole delightful evening alone on the moonlit veranda (there was a moon).

After a sleepless night Peggy was up and ready for the morning. Her mother, sitting in the hall, Peggy opened her door. "What is it, mother?" she asked.

"A day or two! But, mother, Captain Pearson's coming to dinner and there's so much to be done today." "I'm almost too tired to get breakfast."

"Peggy's face changed instantly. "Don't you worry, mother, dear. I'll get breakfast. You telephone for the doctor, and he'll be down. I'll get the bottles off to school."

"After that there was no rest for Peggy. The rain kept up and Susan got worse. The doctor came and stayed, and Peggy had to be everywhere from the kitchen to the medicine, filling hot water bottles the next, answering the telephone, making beds, washing dishes, getting lunch, and a hundred other things.

Lunch over, the boys had to be warned to come straight home from school. It was the kind of a day when mother worried too far away, Lola and the Browns lived too far away, Lola forgot about the company and at four o'clock the entire knitting club was in the house.

She was out sweeping some extra large chunks of mud off the front steps when Captain Pearson arrived. Peggy did not run, nor hide the broom. She stood smiling down at him from the top of the steps—a blue goddess with the emblem of woman's sphere in her hand.

"It's a dreadful day, isn't it? I have some small brothers who won't wipe their feet, and they in turn have a dozen or two friends who won't wipe theirs. But just come in and see what I have on my hands today. I have a combination day nursery and a hospital. I'm two kinds of nurse."

"Lucky people!" said the captain, warmly holding her hand. "Also I'm not sure that you're going to get any dinner. If Susan sleeps, I can cook it. If not, I can't. Mother has developed neuritis, so the family can't care to eat crackers and cheese in the pantry."

"But I can't stay away," said the captain. "I just came to tell you I can't come—that is, not till Thursday. I'm on my way to New York on business and stopped over a few minutes between trains."

In fact, he did stay just long enough to meet the admiring friends of Lola and the boys. Then he had to go. "I'll be back on Thursday for all day, Miss Peggy. If it suits you," he said he would come.

"Thursday it didn't rain. Susan was better and able to cook the delectable meal. The boys went to Aunt Mary's, Lola to Mabel Brown's. The road to Bowling Rocks was good, the car perfect, the view of the sea and the mountains flowers had come out in the garden, and the house looked wonderfully sweet and attractive.

"Peggy, dear, I love you," said the captain suddenly. "Why—why, captain?" said Peggy, breathless.

"Yes, I love, and I may as well tell you now. Why wait? I've known it all along, but I'll confess if I hadn't seen you Monday I should probably have waited. I can hardly tell you why. It's because, perhaps, I've always had a horror of disease and I wish you could know how adorable you looked that day in your blue dress. Most girls would have been worried to death. Peggy, dear little Peggy, tell me you care a little, won't you?"

"I love you very much," said Peggy, happily. "I love you very much." But, when she thought it wasn't the blue dress and the broom at all that did it. It was the pink dress, and the shadows, and the garden scene, and the moon.

REALLY BEARER OF MESSAGE Pain Has Its Purpose and Should by No Means Be Looked Upon as an Enemy.

Pain is a message sent to the brain, to report that some part of the body is in trouble, and to ask for relief. It is a warning of an accident, or a pain or a bleeding, according to the view that we take of it.

In certain kinds of accident, such as extensive burns or lacerations, the physician always gives the speediest temporary relief that is in his power and such removes the sufferer to a place where he can give him proper attention. It does not give the call for the morphine needle, or for some other anodyne, is a perfectly legitimate one. But there are certain kinds of intense pain that are not to be immediately masked with an anodyne, because it is very necessary that the physician should be able to incorporate his messages in his diagnosis.

Many of the pains we suffer are coward pains. We know very well that a little courage would give us relief, but we are so much afraid of the dentist's chair or of the surgeon's lance or probe that we temporize from day to day and so endure a great deal of unnecessary suffering.

Pain is a good servant and a bad master. We should learn to heed its message and then dismiss it as quickly as possible. When it is of the chronic type and cannot be dismissed, we should always consult a trained physician. He will do his best to render it bearable and he will save us from adding the blunders and penalties of self-doing to our troubles.—Youth's Companion.

VETERANS PAY FINAL HONORS TO SEAMAN

Veterans of the Spanish-American war conducted military funeral services Sunday afternoon at the Twin Falls cemetery for Alfred Henry Mathieson, aged 23, son of Mrs. Y. Simonson of Jardsburg, who died October 28 at Ft. Lonsdale, California.

In St. Louis it has been maintained that idiots are incapable of sending and the power to do so has been deemed evidence of the possession of a certain degree of intelligence. It is a Finnish belief that a sneeze during a conversation for a moment proved that what you said was truth. The Chinese believe that a sneeze on New Year's eve means bad luck through the coming year. The Japanese hold that one sneeze means that some one is praying you show blame, whereas if you sneeze three times, you are merely ill.

Earthquakes in Italy. Statistics gathered in Italy throw some light on the question of the relative frequency of earthquakes by day and by night. It has been alleged that the supposed greater frequency of nocturnal quakes is only apparent, being due to the fact that quiet conditions at night make the shocks more readily perceptible.

Reverend Bruishes. When an evangelist has been seen from long ago and not appear, up lift as well as when still put a little common looking soap in some hot water; take the brush out of the soap and dip it up and down in this. Let it dry in the sun and it will be like new. Hair brushes or any brush can be treated in the same way, with the best of results.
