Allied Troops Pouring Forward on Heels of Flooding Huss While the Kaiser Considers Peace Terms

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The great fortress city of Maubeuge has been captured, Field Marshal Haig announced today. The British made good progress south of that place also.

"The fortress of Maubeuge was captured by the guards and 52nd divisions," the statement said.

"We made good progress south of the town and are well east of the Avesnes-Maubeuge road."

Yanks Drive Huns Like Sheep

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—American forces Friday afternoon drove the Germans from their last hold on the heights east of the Meuse, second the great Verdun in 1916, General Pershing reported today.

"On both sides of the Meuse the day was marked by heavy machine gun fighting and sniping," the statement said. "There was heavy artillery fighting in the region of Sedan and east of the Meuse."

The Yanks advanced six kilometers on a front of fourteen kilometers, taking

FIGHTERS NEED WAR WORK NOW

Campaign Manager W. R. Priebe Pleads for Over-subscriptions

Over-subscribe the amounts assessed for the United War Fund by at least 50 per cent, is the word given out this morning by W. R. Priebe, Twin Falls county campaign manager.

Personal letters are being mailed to every person who is expected to subscribe during the next week to the United War Work Fund. These letters state the amount each person is expected to subscribe.

On account of the probability of an early peace, Mr. Priebe states many persons are inquiring whether the War Work Fund is necessary.

"The War Work Fund is more importantly necessary during the months following peace than it ever could have been while hostilities continued," Mr. Priebe states. "Appreciation of the efforts of the fighting men who have made peace possible demands that support shall not be lacking when peace comes, when they will need help of this kind most," he declares.

WELL KNOWN EDITOR CROSSES DARK RIVER

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Robert J. Collier, editor of Collier's Weekly and president of P. F. Collier and Son, publishing house, is dead. He died suddenly last night, of a heart attack, while he was seated at his dinner table with Mrs. Collier.

Collier, a few hours previously, had landed from an army transport after a trip to Europe, where he has been following the various battle fronts for the past few months.

He was born in this city, June 17, 1876.

Would Seat Women At the Peace Table

Suffragist Leader Believes Man Alone Should Not Settle Terms

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, suffrage worker, believes women should have seats at the peace table.

As president of the national woman suffrage alliance, she has sent a communication to all national women's organizations urging them to stand together to have women adequately represented on the peace commission.

NATION WAITS FOR SIGNING OF ARMISTICE

No Question in Official Circles But What Reply Will Be a Full and Complete Acceptance

By CARL D. GROAT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The nation waited today for signing of the armistice with Germany. Officialdom, long since made up its mind that the German answer would be an acceptance. So today it only devoted itself to speculation as to how soon the reply would be announced.

Some thought by tonight; others tomorrow, while another group believed Germany would take the limit and that the actual answer would not be revealed before Monday, when the seventy-two hours deadline comes.

Internal German events, as well as the pressure of the victorious American-led armies, are making an affirmative reply to the German offer a matter to escape complete ruin. Geneva is reported to have laid the foundation for a republic; new pressure is reported on the kaiser to abdicate; the Kiel disturbances spell a condition which surely would be the most hopeful prospect of a revolution.

Autocracy Wreaking The report that Prince Max had stepped down as chancellor, but that his resignation had not yet been accepted was taken as another strain showing the way of the wind. If it is true, it is another evidence that the German is constantly growing more sympathetic with autocracy and its helpers. Reports that the kaiser would quit are still taken reservedly, though the government feels certain that his tenure of office is about closed, regardless of how the armistice goes.

German wireless reports say he has refused for the moment at least, the demand of the German socialists that he abdicate. Fear of revolution in Germany

Turns Down Single Tax Legislation

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—California has turned down single tax legislation by a three to one vote, incomplete returns from all parts of the state included today.

Owing to the length of the ballot, complete returns, even unofficial, were not available today.

Every part of the state voted against the measure. Single tax has been submitted to voters of Florida a number of times, and each time rejected by an increased majority.

KAISER DECIDES ON ABDICATION SAYS STATEMENT

Momentous Decision Reported Reached, German Official Announcement By Chancellor Declares

LONDON, Nov. 9.—(British admiralty wireless).—A German wireless message received in London on the afternoon of November 9, states:

"The German imperial chancellor, Prince Max of Baden, has issued the following decree: 'The kaiser and kug have decided to renounce the throne.'

"The imperial chancellor will remain in office until the questions contained with the abdication of the kaiser, the renouncing by the crown prince of the throne of the German empire and of Prussia and the setting up of a regency have been settled.

"For the regency he intends to appoint Deputy Ebert as imperial chancellor and he proposes that a bill shall be brought in for the establishment of a law for the immediate promulgation of general suffrage and for a constitutional German national assembly, which will settle finally the future form of government of the German nation and of those peoples which might be desirous of coming within the empire.

Berlin, November 9, 1918.

(Signed)

"The imperial chancellor will Max of Baden."

HENDENBURG TO GO TOO

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 9.—The Kaiser today telegraphed Prince Maximilian asking him to remain as chancellor until the kaiser made up his mind regarding abdication.

Field Marshal Hindenburg has decided to resign in event the kaiser abdicates.

All railways communication to Berlin has been stopped.

All railroads in the neighborhood of Berlin are being guarded by military authorities. A strong patrol is stationed in the streets of the city day and night.

ONE KILLED AND THREE INJURED

Troop Train Struck By Passenger, Two Coaches Derailled With Fatal Results

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—One Camp Grant soldier was killed and two died later of injuries sustained when a troop train on route to Chicago was struck by C. B. and Q passenger No. 33 at Sugar Grove, Illinois, today. Three more were seriously injured and fifteen slightly hurt.

The soldiers were to attend a football game here between Camp Grant and Taylor. Railway officials hurried to Aurora, where the injured were taken, to determine responsibility for the wreck.

Private E. J. Dupont of Chicago was unofficially reported one of the killed.

ATTACKS CONTINUE STEADILY ALONG FRONT OF 200 MILES

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Allies are continuing their liberation of French and Belgian soil, while Marshal Foch awaits the answer of the German high command at Spa to his terms for an armistice. Latest official reports showed French, British, Belgian, Italian and American troops attacking along a front of about 200 miles, from the vicinity of Ghent to Verdun.

Important new gains have been made on a wide stretch of this line. In addition the enemy is reported to be undertaking a great retreat on the Meuse front. Details of any American advance in that region have not been received.

The French and Americans now hold the line of the Meuse from Metz to the north. The great fortress cities of Maubeuge and Hirson are practically within the grasp of the British and the French. The British have taken Gond and Hautmont, and hold the western portion of Tournai. Field Marshal Haig announced that his armies have taken 18,000 prisoners and several hundred guns since November 1.

French troops have crossed the Scheldt on a wide front side of Audenarde.

In the Balkans, the Serbs have defeated the Germans along the Danube and have advanced across those rivers into Bulgarian territory. They also have taken up the march to Sarajevo.

Trotzky Resigns Russ War Ministry

Twelve Thousand Counter Revolutionists Reported Marching on Petrograd

ZURICH, Nov. 9.—Leon Trotzky, war minister and former foreign minister to the Russian Bolshevik government, has resigned, according to a dispatch today from Helsingfors. M. Sibirsky is reported to have succeeded him.

Twelve thousand counter revolutionists from Pakoff are reported to be marching on Petrograd.

NO TROUBLE IN PASSING BACK TO PEACE BASIS

Head of War Industries Board Says Same Agencies May Be Employed With Equally Good Results

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Chairman Barnet of the war industries board is preparing to give American industries back to a peace footing as soon as assurance is received that hostilities are definitely declared at an end. He says the same agencies that converted industries from a peace to a war footing, will with equal facility, place them back where they were, increased in size, efficiency and strength.

Barnet has given all manufacturers of war materials the assurance that they will be protected against loss if contracts are cancelled. The priorities division of the board will request its list of industries to which steel and other war materials will be allotted.

Close Figures Available

J. Leonard Begloppe, steel administrator, has complete figures on pig iron and steel production and can determine exactly how much steel will be available with the discontinuance of the munition program. This is equally true of the hides and leather section, wood, cotton, lumber, minerals and other developments of the board in control of the commodities in which there is a possibility of a shortage. The war bureau chiefs are preparing legislation which soon will be laid before President Wilson for submission to congress, covering the work of transition from a war to a peace basis.

Muddy Fields Face Gridiron Battlers

Unusually Heavy Football Program Scheduled Over Country

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Weather that would not permit free use of forward pass but would force only straight football was in prospect today for gridiron contests in the middle west. Muddy fields awaited the toss for games that were to be among the most important of the season.

Coach Yost's Michigan eleven was the popular favorite here today in its scheduled bout with Stagg's Chicago team, admittedly below standard. Hundreds of Wolverines were in the city to witness the first revival of the rivalry between the schools since 1905.

The streets here were filled with over half a million soldiers here to see the Camp Taylor-Camp Grant game at the Chicago Cubs park.

Bad Roads Likely To Cause Delays

Kaiser's Answer to Peace Terms Not Yet Received By Marshal Foch

PARIS, Nov. 9. (4:20 p.m.)—No word had been received at the time of enabling of the return of Germany's answer from general headquarters at Spa, who is expected to bring Germany's reply to Marshal Foch's armistice terms.

The roads are known to be unusually bad, bridges have been blown up and the highways are seas of mud.

WHOLE EMPIRE SEETHING IN GRIP OF REVOLUTION

Entire Sea Coast Under Red Flag Domination and Kiel Canal Completely in Hands of Soldiers and Workmen—Unconditional Abdication of Kaiser Demanded at Munich

RIOTING IS REPORTED AT ESSEN HOME OF GREAT KRUPP GUN WORKS

Bavaria Said to Have Succeeded From Central Government and to Have Established a Republic—Important Cities in All Parts of Germany in Hands of Mobs

The German revolution has spread throughout the empire, according to reports from neutral sources. An unconfirmed dispatch from The Hague today even declared that the insurgents have seized Berlin, setting fire to the city hall and postoffice.

Bavaria Seething

Bavaria is reported to have announced its secession from the central power and to set up a republic. The workers' and soldiers' council at Munich, the capital, is said to have demanded immediate abdication of the kaiser and deposition of the Wittelsbachs, the royal family of Bavaria. The revolutionaries now appear to hold Bamberg, Bremen, Brunswick, Schwelm, Tilsit, Wilhelmshaven, Osnabruck, Bremerhaven, Altona, Kiel and other important cities in all parts of Germany. They are also believed to control Dresden, the capital of Saxony, while the military of Wurtemberg, at Stuttgart, is said to have resigned. Riots are reported in Essen, where the great Krupp works are located.

Red Flag Dominates

Practically the entire seacoast is now under Red Flag domination, and the Kiel canal is entirely in the hands of revolutionists. The destination of the warships reported to have left Kiel under the Red Flag remains a mystery. The kaiser is believed to be at German general headquarters in Spa, where he and his staff are considering the armistice terms sent by German courier from the town in the department of the Aisne, where the German delegation is in conference with Marshal Foch. All German cities, considering their advance between Ghent and the Meuse region, are rapidly driving the Germans out of the small strip of French territory remaining in their hands.

Maubeuge Falls Easily

Field Marshal Haig announced that Maubeuge had been captured and the Germans made no effort to defend that famous city, with its ring of forty fortresses. The British, in their great retreat in the early days of the war, held out in Maubeuge for two weeks after they had been completely surrounded.

Advance in Heavy Rain

Reports from the American front said that General Bullard's men have resumed their advance east of the Meuse, despite a heavy rain. It was believed that the Germans had begun another retreat between Verdun and Metz, in the direction of Briey.

The French are marching forward on their whole front, the Paris communique said.

Today's Battle Line

The battle line now apparently extends from the Meuse to the Scheldt, southward to Aulnoy, southward along the Scheldt to Herfles; southward through Tournai to a point north of Cologne; eastward along the Meuse canal to Thulin; southward to a point east of Maubeuge.

Will Await Decision

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The social democrats have decided not to resign from the German government pending decision of the armistice, according to a wireless dispatch from Berlin today.

Trouble Spreads to Bremen

THE HAGUE, Nov. 9.—An unconfirmed report was received here today that insurgents have seized Berlin, setting fire to the postoffice and city hall.

MAKE GAIN OF THIRTY MILES IN EIGHT DAYS

General March Says American Troops Have Established New Record When it Comes to Sustained Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—American forces on the Sedan front advanced 30 miles in eight days, General March said today in his weekly conference with correspondents. In a brief summary of the military situation, he said the Germans now have been deprived of all railway lines parallel to their front. They hold only lines radiating toward the fronts which make the shifting of troops difficult.

The American advance severed the Valenciennes-Metz railway at Sedan.

The Allied advances have pushed the German front from a position thirty-six miles from Paris to more than 100 miles away and have reduced German occupation of French territory from 20,000 square miles last July to 2,500 square miles today.

Announced Some Changes

General March stated that the organization of American forces into a

MAKES NO COMMENT ON PEACE STATEMENT

Premature Announcement of Signing of Armistice Is Relegated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today said that he has no intention of making any further inquiry of Admiral Henry D. Wilson concerning the admiral's announcement to the United Press Thursday that the armistice had been signed.

The secretary spoke in the most complimentary terms of Admiral Wilson's services, characterizing him as one of the very best officers in the American navy. He said that everyone who had dealings with Admiral Wilson in France brought the same high reports of him. Secretary Daniels thought, too, that the admiral had pursued a manly course in acknowledging his responsibility and exonerating the United Press.

LAYING PLANS FOR FEEDING GERMAN PEOPLE

Strict Food Conservation Must Be Kept Up for An Indefinite Period Says Administration Officials

WORLD'S SUPPLY BINS ARE NOT WELL FILLED

Doctrine of an Eye for an Eye Must Be Set Aside When the War Comes to a Final Close

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—"The German people will have to eat and the American people will have to continue strict food conservation measures."

That will be the post-war food officials, as food administration officials saw it today. Despite the intense disinclination of the American people to deny themselves in order that the enemy countries may have food, the denial must be made, officials say.

"Whether the Germans actually get and consume American food does not particularly matter," they said. "Peace will permit them to buy food in the world's markets and the food situation must be viewed from the standpoint of the world supply. All the world probably is short.

"They may go to Spain and the Spanish colonies, or to the neutral states of South America. But it will be necessary to consider their food demands. It is certain that the United States and the Allies will make a united effort to put aside the old testament motive of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, that has actuated them in the war and substitute a less hostile attitude."

Balkan-Slavic People Prepare to Hold Conference in Paris

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Balkan-Slavic central European nationalities are planning to assemble in Paris shortly to deliberate on conflicting territorial and nationalistic claims of southeastern Europe.

The admitted purpose is to give these recently ennobled peoples an opportunity to iron out minor differences in opinion, to prepare to coordinate a workable program for the great peace conference. Chiefly among the issues are:

Conflicting claims of the Jugo-Slavs and Italians in Istria and the Adriatic. Alleged trickery of Hungary, acting as a tool of Vienna, to lure Bosnia and Croatia into an alliance.

"Disputed Balkan aspirations in Albania. Holding of Serbian-Jugo-Slav program.

Fear of duplicity on the part of Hungary in her dealings with the Jugo-Slavs has been expressed by Italian diplomats, as well as by Czech-Slovak and Balkan representatives here.

It is the diplomatic opinion that the Serbian problem will require the detailed attention of the conference. Sentiment seems to have crystallized on a strong Jugo-Slav state to embrace all of Serbia, Bosnia, Croatia and Montenegro.

BURLEY WINS COUNTY SEAT BY VOTE OF THREE TO ONE

The people of Cassia county decided by a vote of three to one at the election last Tuesday to move the county seat from Alfton to Burley, says the Burley Bulletin. The vote as it stands at present is 2,604 in favor of removal and 841 against. A number of precincts a solid vote for Burley.

Burley made a number of promises to the people of the county before the election, and some persons questioned the sincerity of this city, but we wish to say that every promise made by Burley will be carried out to the letter, and the people of the county who so loyally supported this city will never have reason to regret their action.

Hun Delegation In Gloomy Humor

Members of Peace Mission Show Little Disposition to Quibble on Terms

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The German armistice delegates, during their interview with Marshal Foch, appeared greatly dejected, it was learned today.

They arrived at the French lines during a drenching rain Thursday night. The French guard, under a high officer verified their papers, then carefully hunted all of them. The supper accompanying the delegates to repair the roads, were sent back.

The German representatives were taken to a designated point where they ate and then retired for the night. They were awakened early yesterday morning and departed for the meeting place, somewhere in the department of the Aisne. Their motor journey required four hours.

The interview with Marshal Foch, it was stated, did not take place at his regular headquarters. The Germans are reported to have attempted to draw in new conditions which they asked Foch to make public.

The enemy delegates asked permission to send wireless reports of the mission to their government and the German high command. When Foch replied that they must use the French wireless, they changed their request to permission to use a courier, and this was granted. The courier for the German headquarters at Spa and the German command was notified by French wireless of his coming.

FRENCH TROOPS GO STEADILY ON

Progress on Entire Front From the Sambre to the Bar River

LONDON, Nov. 9.—French troops have progressed along the entire front from the Sambre to the Bar river, where their lines join those of the Americans. They approached to within less than two miles of Hilsen, the railway town which forms the westernmost bastion of the Ardennes. In this region they reached the general line of Etry and Origny-St. Menchier. Further east, they occupied the line of the Thon river as far as Ibaux. On the Aisne front, they held the southern outskirts of the Rigney forest, Wagnon, Vieux-Bony, Maury and Lalorgne.

On the front of the French troops advanced along the Bar valley beyond St. Aignan-Bur-Dar. In all, more than 100 villages were liberated by the French.

The British have advanced on their right flank. South of the Sambre, they have reached the Lacapelle-Mauzeberg road, on both sides of Avenue, reaching the western outskirts of the latter city. They have captured Bayay and reached the vicinity of Haxton, Blouges and Henies, are occupied.

Most Valuable Garnets.

The oriental garnets are the most valuable and beautiful. They come principally from Togo; and the town of Sirian having formerly been the chief mart for them, they are hence by corruption known among lapidaries by the appellation of Sirian-garnets. They appear to be the cambium of the ancients; their color is crimson, very like the very red violet; they are transparent, and have a conchoidal fracture.

Historic Island.

Blennerhassett's Island is a small island in the Ohio river about two miles below Parkersburg, W. Va., which figures in history. It gets its name from having been once owned by Blam Blennerhassett, a wealthy Englishman, who built a fine residence on it. While living there he became financially involved in Aaron Burr's stationary and treasonable schemes, and they proved his ruin.

Origins of Military Titles.

Commodore and commander are terms borrowed and corrupted from the Spanish commander, a knight, a commander, or the superior of a monastery. The French have the word commander, the Italian comandante. Commandant, however, meaning the officer of a fortified town's garrison, etc., comes from the medieval Latin commandator, a commander, and commander, to command.

LATE FIGURES GIVE MAJORITY OF TWO VOTES

United States Senate Will Be Republican if Appears, But Margin Is Narrow and Uncertain

MEANS GREAT THINGS FOR PROGRESSIVES

Interesting Set of Possibilities Looms Up When New Congress Shall Convene Next March

By L. C. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—With almost complete returns from Tuesday's elections indicating the senate will be Republican by a majority of two, the so-called progressives in the upper branch will hold the balance of power when the senate convenes next March.

According to indications today, there will be forty-nine senators on the Republican side and forty-seven on the Democratic side. Any one progressive vote swinging to the side of the Democrats could therefore command a majority for the minority with Vice President Marshall's vote.

Thus, chief interest today centers in the course which will be pursued on great reconstruction issues by such men as Burnh, Johnson, LaFollette, McNary, Oregon, and Kenyon, Iowa, all of whom are more or less independent of party. The Democrats are counting strongly on the support of these men—at least some of them—in preventing repeal of many laws which the Democrats have passed during their reign of power and in which substantial Republican opposition has been made.

HOME TROUBLES OF GERMANY ARE DEEPLY SERIOUS

Revolutionary Situation Such As May Require Drastic Action to Re-establish Orderly Conditions

SPREAD OF REVOLT GENERALLY FEARED

Extreme Caution Will Be Necessary in Handling Situation in Manner to Prevent Break-down

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Authorities here are inclined to believe comparative silence of the European capitals on the armistice, may be due to the revolutionary movements in Germany which will require the most drastic action to suppress. It was pointed out that Germany might well have asked as one condition of signing armistice terms, the privilege of announcing her action to her own people before the news was broadcast through out the world.

This course, it was suggested, would give her an opportunity to take adequate steps for suppressing a revolt in Germany before her capitulation became known to the people.

It has been the openly expressed fear in Allied quarters here for some days, that Bolshevism might break out in Germany—a development which authorities here say it is little more to be desired than Hohenzollernism.

Fear Spread of Trouble.

Lord Milner, the British war Minister, recently warned against the possibility of revolt in Germany and urged every caution in handling the situation to prevent such an eventuality which might carry on into France and even Great Britain.

There is some confusion in official minds here as to just what has transpired on the other side. Wednesday night the German parliamentarians were reported to have arrived at Foch's headquarters. This group was said to include Admiral Von Hiltz among others.

Unofficial reports here today mention another group, apparently separate from the first, for Von Hiltz is not named in it as having arrived at Foch's headquarters.

Not Originally Military Title.

General, the noun, and the adjective general, the adjective of particular, go back to the Latin generalis, meaning belonging to a race or kind, and itself tracing to genus, genus, from gignere, to beget. Generals in Caesar's and Pompey's day had nothing to do with the army; the Roman general was an imperator. The title general primarily means an officer holding a general command.

THE TIE By GARRIE L. P. CURTIS. (Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.) Don's mother went out wearily to look over the bloom of the garden, but the garden, like all things about the little home, had lost interest since Donald went to war.

Always she had loved her boy with a selfless love. Fiercely she had claimed him in her widowhood, her own. Donald's father had died when the lad was young, but his mother had taken the efficient, almost unobtrusive way, so that she must live to care for her, even as his father would have cared, if he had not been spared.

The little home became eloquent of those things which pleased his mother. Donald did not realize that young women whose acquaintance he made, and for whom he entertained at times a passing interest, were not made welcome in this home of his endeavor; he wondered vaguely, why mother found him so the victim of disappointing quality.

He had hidden her good-by, standing on the vague disapplying porch, where naturals nudged their bright heads, and though Don had been chery and brave, a shadow lurked in his eyes, a shadow which his mother could not define. Now, he was in France, far away from home, where guns boomed their warning, where each fought for the safety of this beautiful land spread about her.

Donald's mother sank down upon the porch. So many years she had devoted herself jealously to her son, there had been but one fault, one stain, one blemish. Now she was alone. Tears made their way through her wrinkled fingers, she did not hear a light step on the path at the side. It was a girl's voice which roused her.

"That I could not care for any one— Donald's mother was beginning, when the girl interrupted eagerly. "That I would not ask, only that it might be a mutually beneficial arrangement—Plu taking me into your home, I holding in every way." "And, because of her loneliness, because her need of human comfort was so great, Donald's mother did, what she never would have believed herself willing to do, she took the strange girl into her home.

As time passed, she was glad. It was good to hear footsteps at night in Don's room, even though the steps were so different and light; it was good to see a bright young face opposite her own at table. But the girl, of all, were the confidences over Don's pictures, pictures in childish frock, the latest in soldier's uniform. Myra—that was the girl's name—came to the post office each day, returning with her letters. Together they read them.

It was Myra at last who answered letters, her firm hand tracing ready lines which the trembling fingers would not muster; so that Donald's letters came to be a composite of them both. Donald was reported missing; killed, it was believed, by a German plane. After light step dragged Myra moved with uncertainty up the flower-bordered path. Donald's mother was there on the porch where he had hidden her good-by. Twice Myra tried to speak to tell her terrible news, but that duty was spiced her. The mother looking into the girl's eyes read their message and understood.

Diffidently the young woman followed the bent form of the other into the house. "I," she murmured, "oh! I suffer with you."

Donald's mother turned in unexpected fashion. "What do you know of suffering?" she cried. "You! I love him, I am his mother."

The girl raised her white tear-stained face. "I," she quietly replied, "am his wife."

"When?" the mother asked unbelievably. "Could that have happened?" "In the city," the girl answered. All life had gone from her voice.

"And you knew when you came to me that I was his mother?" "Don sent me to comfort you," she said.

The mother looked again into the young face whose sorrow was now her own. She remembered all once she opened the arms which had been closed to all but her son, so the two clung together.

It was a messenger on the porch who called the young wife to answer his summons when, presently Myra returned, her eyes were shining with some great inner joy. "Can you bear happiness?" she asked Don's mother, "the great happiness of knowing that your son was not killed as reported, that he is but wandering about in a hospital, longing to hear from you and me— and slowly the rigidity left the older woman's face. When she spoke her voice rang with a tenderness it had never known. "Daughter," she said, "we will write to him now."

Man's Suit Cost $300 in Austria By HENRY WOOD "HOMER," COT. (By Mail).—Men's clothing in Austria-Hungary was cost from $200 to $300 a suit, while women's tailor-made gowns average from $200 to $400 each, according to the "Krojovalsky Listek," the official organ of the League (Czech) tailors in the dual monarchy.

Copy of the last number of this periodical have just reached Rome by way of Switzerland and give interesting details as to the present cost of clothing at Vienna and Budapest. According to this trade journal all of the cloth manufactured in the dual monarchy since the beginning of the war is absolutely worthless and the League tailors practically refuse to make it up into suits and women's gowns for the reason that the result is not worth the cost of the labor expended on it.

The only cloth that remains in Austria-Hungary that is fit for clothing consists of the few remnants of stocks that existed there before the war. The cloth manufactured in the dual monarchy and what is left of it commands fabulous prices.

For a man's suit, cloth averages $50 a yard; lining, $25 a yard; flannel, $25 a yard, and lining for the pockets, $10 a yard.

To overcome this situation, the government is planning to manufacture a single style of cloth and issue tickets to the civil population permitting them to have suits from it. In this connection the same requirement that already is in force in Germany, will be adopted, namely, every person ordering a new suit from this government cloth first must turn over to the government clothing department his old suit. The same rule also will apply to women's dresses and dress goods.

Under new arrangements for sale of government shoes, no one is allowed to purchase a pair unless she has one pair of shoes at that time.

The price argument, in selling merchandise, has not lost its force. You'll find it in the ads now, as always.

America, most of them to stay. They not they will be sent to America as well as a gambling proposition, which they are about to lose. Harboring no hate themselves, these Hungarians assume they will be welcome, and can find friends anywhere but in Germany.

German officers still maintain their arrogant bearing though when they are frank enough to speak honestly their remarks show they are weakening in their confidence. However, they still seem militaristic. You fail to find a note of sympathy in talking to them. Their overbearing attitude prevents my understanding.

The German soldier is a different proposition entirely now. He has given up that belief instilled in him by officers that Germany is supreme. His last of the military class in Germany is marked, and he frankly expresses his opinion now. The German soldier is exceptionally serious in his conversation.

You are surprised at the underground life in the rear of the front. He has studied history and can back up his views with it. "We have looked to the people at home to bring about a revolution and they have looked to us at the front," he tells you, "neither of us can do anything now."

The biggest detraction the soldier carries with him, apparently, is as to the purpose of the Allies in the war. Either he has not been allowed to read Allied statements or he does not accept them, for the German soldier thinks he is fighting a defensive war to prevent the dividing up of Germany among other nations.

Most Germans think they are going to lose the war, but that they must resist as long as possible. They say they must resist because their present leaders, because there are none among the people, their attitude, coupled with that of their officers, shows that only defeat can influence them. Comparison of the German captured today with those in a year ago shows that war is softening morals.

Liasion

One word, as a result of the war, has taken root in the language of civilization. It is the word liasion. It is the military term for cooperation.

Liasion is demonstrated when the artillery at the rear, at the designated moment, lifts its barrage ahead of the advancing infantry shutting off the possibility during the attack of reinforcements reaching the enemy who has been baffled up to that time by the big gun fire.

The difference of one minute's time between the watch of the artillery commander and that of the infantry commander, in a situation like this, would result in defeat of the plan for the attack if the barrage were raised too soon or in the annihilation of the attacking foot soldiers if it were raised too late.

The principal of liasion is one applicable alike to the civil regime as to the military, not less in time of war than in time of peace. There must be liasion, in war time in the "second line of defense" between the workers in every field of endeavor. It is not enough that farmers should produce bumper crops and that in every patriotic household the conservation program should be law, but there must be a corresponding degree of activity and patriotism among the workers on the railroads and in the shipyards in order that this food which is the result of increased production and conservation, can be delivered to the fighting men abroad who are dependent upon it.

In every other industry the principle of liasion must be adhered to or the result will be disaster. The defection of one element in the whole scheme is sufficient to offset and defeat the most arduous and devoted effort in all the rest.

Liasion is to the morale of the soldier what cooperation is to the social relations of the civilian. There has been, in the past, too much of a disposition among civilians for the individual to regard too much his own effort and sacrifice and to compare it to the disparagement of what he considers a smaller effort or sacrifice on the part of individuals or elements in other walks of life.

The infantryman, because he comes to actual grips with the enemy, does not seriously consider himself a better or more important soldier than the artilleryman who fights at long range. The man who works with his hands to the end of the war may be brought soon to a successful conclusion ought not to regard himself as a better or more essential factor to that end than the man who can serve best with his brain and with his money to that end and also so.

Whatever results in a breach of liasion is an unparalleled military offense. Practically without exception, carelessness is responsible for the commission of this offense on the field of war.

If as much could be said for lack of cooperation in civilian affairs, conditions unquestionably would be better than they are.

It ought to be the constant purpose of every individual at home to be as good a citizen as every soldier or commissioned man is a soldier.

In the language of England's war poet, Kipling—

There will be a mighty impetus toward this end when the mechanic has fought the battles of civilization abroad, and who have learned in a stern school the lesson of cooperation, return to take up their work at home. It is results that will count with them. They will not be disposed to concern themselves with petty bickerings and little jealousies. Their influence is going to be the dominant factor in this country; and it will be good for the Nation.

GEN. MYERS DOESN'T SEEM TO LIKE HUNS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Germans have been likened to the Seminole Indians, with the odds all in favor of the noble red men.

"The Seminole Indians were cultured gentlemen and Christian philosophers before the Germans," declared Sam Myers, Montana, in the senate, urging fitting punishment for the Hun. Myers thought some such punishment as General Jackson meted out to the Seminoles, the cut-ups of their day, would be appropriate for Germany. "When they refused to surrender unconditionally, he burned their towns and villages and camps and pursued them into swamps and surrounded and practically annihilated them," said Myers, tracing the Indian legend. "The punishment administered to the Seminoles by General Jackson would be, in my opinion, a hundredfold more fitting to the German army."

Tests Straw. Experiments have recently been carried out in two Scottish mills for the purpose of determining the yield and of testing the utility of straw pulp. Both wheat and oat straw were tested, and fairly satisfactory results were obtained. A yield of pulp was obtained from oat straw equal to 35 per cent of the weight of bone-dry straw. There is said to be a surplus production of 450,000 tons of straw in Scotland alone.

Caught On to Sellers' Trick. If a man's hat blew overhead while leaving port many British skippers would turn back and delay sailing until the next day. It was an open trap, one of the crew would be lost over the side during the trip. This sign, however, became discernible as the deckhands, desirous of another day's shore with their wives and families, constructed the habit of going aloft and nosing the wind to forestall disaster.

Wild Canaries Not Yellow. Canaries on their native islands are found in great flocks—striped green and blue, by no means resembling in color our cage canaries. The yellow canary is a result of selective breeding, and of the same may be said, of course, of other cage varieties, such as the hump-backed Belgian canary and the "Mead" canary of curious feather-pattern.

Washing Poor People's Feet. The custom of washing the feet of the poor on Maundy Thursday at Whitehall was observed by English sovereigns until the end of the seventeenth century. After that the ceremony was performed on their behalf by the Archbishops of York until the middle of the eighteenth century.

FATAL ACCIDENT WAS UNAVOIDABLE IS JURY VERDICT

Panel at Inquest Attaches No Blame Upon Anyone for the Death of Mrs. Amos Wright, Killed During Celebration

WITNESSES AGREE CAR DID NOT STRIKE WOMAN

Edgar Brosseau, Held on the Charge of Manslaughter in Connection With Accident, May Be Released

Mrs. Amos A. Wright, who was killed during the celebration here Thursday, met her death as the result of an unavoidable accident, according to the verdict returned by a jury empaneled Friday afternoon at the Grosman & DeWitt undertaking establishment by Coroner C. J. Crosby. It is regarded as probable, in the light of this verdict, that Edgar Brosseau, bartender here, who was charged with the accident, will not be brought to trial.

The testimony of several witnesses was introduced at the inquest, among them being Ira Brewer, Martin Stranlund and Edward Tuckman, companions of Brosseau in his car. Also present were Knapp and Mrs. Francis Beuning, who had met Mrs. Wright just before the accident; V. H. Decker and City Clerk W. A. Minnick, who were witnesses of the accident; Chief of Police William Taylor, Dr. T. O. Boyell and Dr. C. A. Eames.

Agree On One Point

All of the witnesses agreed that Mrs. Wright had not been struck by the car driven by Brosseau or by any other car, but that she sustained the fatal injuries either through being thrown against another car by the breaking of a rope stretched across the street when the Brosseau car passed, or that Milner attached to the rope struck her.

There was considerable discrepancy in the testimony with regard to the rate of speed at which the Brosseau car was driven and also as to whether he struck and passed her car. Mrs. Decker agreed with the passengers of the car that it was proceeding at not more than 10 or 12 miles an hour; Mrs. Taylor declared that it was traveling at between 20 and 25 miles an hour; Mrs. Minnick estimated its speed at 30 miles an hour.

Says Driver Was Drunk

Mr. Taylor testified that in his opinion Brosseau and other persons in the car were intoxicated. J. M. Dimond, a deputy sheriff, stated that when Brosseau was brought to the jail he appeared to have been drinking but did not seem to be drunk.

The members of the coroner's jury were J. H. Cooper, Stuart H. Taylor, J. E. White, J. C. Sanger, C. B. McMartin, O. E. Carlson.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Wright have been held up pending the receipt of word from her married daughter in Spokane. She leaves her husband, a son and another daughter living here.

Ten Year Old Offender Confesses Startling Crimes—Steals From Mails

In the case of a 10-year-old boy, who has forged and stolen checks and drafts during the past 30 days totaling $169 in amount, the juvenile court and Probation Officer John R. Ault are confronted with one of the most unusual cases in the history of the court. Not only has the boy forged the name of his quarrels to several checks, but he has taken two drafts out of the mails and cashed them. He has made a full confession of his guilt.

The money he has shared generally with his boy companions, several of whom are known to have secured amounts in the approximate sum of $5 from him. He also purchased three shirts, a blanket and a diamond ring. He paid $60 for the ring and later traded it for a box of marbles.

Complaint against the boy has been made on the grounds of his tampering with the mails, an offense punishable by the federal statute. In view of the extreme youth of the boy, however, it is presumed that he will be left with the local probation officers to deal with.

Mr. and Mrs. Officer Seemed to Have Right Idea

WASHINGTON—There are two people in this town good enough to be framed in gold—meaning an army officer and his wife. That they live in the suburbs of Yazoo City, Mississippi, more than the mere luck of money and is only mentioned because of the thing that money cannot buy in these days of enlistments and war work—house help. You mustn't say servants any more.

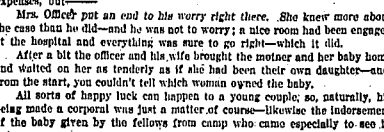

One day they got in touch with the young wife of a private in a nearby camp. She had come from the West, where everybody works, and being a stranger here and uninitiated by experience and physical condition for clerical employment, was glad to enter Mrs. Officer's employment to the fine capacity of "mother's helper." The young private came whenever he was on leave and everything roared along beautifully until one day he had to confide to Mrs. Officer an anxiety in regard to his wife. He had money enough for all expenses but—

Mrs. Officer put an end to his worry right there. She knew more about the case than he did—and he was not to worry; a nice room had been engaged at the hospital and everything was sure to go right—which it did.

After a bit the officer and his wife brought the motor and her baby home and waited on her as tenderly as if she had been their own daughter—and from the start, you couldn't tell which woman opened the baby.

All sorts of happy bits can happen to a young couple, so naturally, his being made a corporal was just a matter of course—likewise the indorsement of the baby given by the fellows from camp who can especially to see it, but—

The really worthwhile thing about the incident was the repudiation by the officer and his wife of the salted-down class distinction that puts the mistress a mile above the maid—to say nothing about the good common sense of an army big girl who could see in the young private something more human than an automaton wound up to salute.

Word from Boise and other points where celebrations were in progress Thursday is that booze flowed freely there.

In the Meuse on the front of the second American army our patrols were very active capturing prisoners in the course of several successful enterprises near Lake Lathuise.

Corporal is derived from the same Latin word as captain, but with an addition of the meaning and spelling of the English word corps. Corporals in medieval Latin meant a chief or commander; hence the French corporal.

Sheriff's Office Wrestles With Difficult Situation When City Celebrates

The stock of confiscated booze in the custody of the sheriff at the court house was increased Thursday night by the addition of 61 quarts of whiskey, wine and other liquors taken by deputies from persons bringing it in from Twin Springs and other Nevada points to add flames to the celebration here over the reported surrender of Germany. ## What shall he carry to Your Boy tonight—out there in No-Man's Land?

OUT in the open, across the border of No-Man's Land, the Soldiers of Cheer are going tonight. In their packs they are carrying the comforts which your fighter wants. In their hearts they are carrying a message of cheer and hope.

To the most advanced positions they are crawling with those little things which loom up big in France—their bars of chocolate, their cigarettes, their rolls of cookies and cans of fruit. Yes, and sometimes, letters from home!

Under the very eyes of German snipers they are crossing open fields, dropping flat to the ground as each flare goes up, then creeping further forward.

Soon they will reach the gun-nests where a handful of fighters will whisper—"Good for you, old boy! What would we do without you?"

Off in another sector an advance will begin at dawn. In the thick of it will be these men—perhaps of the Knights of Columbus or Y. M. C. A., perhaps the Jewish Welfare Board or Salvation Army.

Whatever uniform they wear, the hot chocolate which they serve tastes just as warm and comforting. The cigarettes they light and hand the wounded will be as good first aid.

"These men need smokes much more than what we give them," say the surgeons.

When daylight comes the wounded will be streaming back. The cigarettes and chocolate may be nearly gone—given away. But your money will replace them. Meanwhile these men will say:—"Put us to work!"

The surgeons will give them the arm-bands of the army's stretcher-bearers.

Then up beyond the front lines they will go, to bring back those too badly hit to walk.

Once, twice, three or four times they will make the trip before they too are hit.

Wherever there are fighters, the Soldiers of Cheer have their canteens, scores of them under shell fire.

Throughout the days they serve the crowd a mile or so behind the lines. At night they go forward, packs on their backs, to reach the men who occupy the outposts of civilization.

When the order comes to go over the top, they follow too. Wherever the troops go, there go these men who serve.

No wonder their names are in the casualty lists. No wonder they are cited. No wonder the fighters elect them honorary members of their outfits.

Keep the supplies coming! Help the Soldiers of Cheer to help your fighters! Give now—all together!

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

The need is for a sum 70% greater than any gift ever asked for since the world began. The Government has fixed this sum at $170,500,000.

By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns is saved.

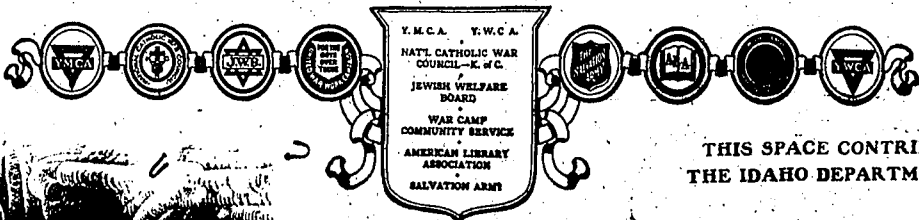

Unless Americans do give twice as much as ever before, our soldiers and sailors may not enjoy during 1919 their:
