ARMISTICE TERMS COMPLETE PICTURE OF GERMANY'S DEFEAT

Nation in State of Total Subjugation--Continuance of War Is Definitely Impossible

GERMANY LICKED GREAT WAR OVER

Hun Forces Routed on Land and Sea When Former Empire Takes Only Course Possible as Means of Saving Shattered Remnants of Once Prosperous People

LONDON, Nov. 11 (11:10 a. m.)—Marshal Foch issued the following to all Allied army commanders today:

"Hostilities will cease November 11 at 11 a. m. along the French front.

"The Allied troops will not, until further orders, go beyond the line reached at that hour."

Huns Branded As Beaten

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Germany signed today an armistice that branded her before the world as a beaten nation. By its terms, she surrendered in the field to a better force than the mighty military machine her autocrats had built.

By it, she agreed to the evacuation of occupied territory. She swore away her hold on a generous portion of her battleship and submarine fleets. She agreed to demand for surrender of a portion of her war material. In other words, she admitted that America and its Allies were victorious and agreed to strong stipulations which made the nation unable to recover the straits, even if she shattered people were so inclined.

Big Wave of Abdications

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The flight of the Kaiser and crown prince into Holland has precipitated a wave of abdications in Germany.

The Wittensberg, Hesse, Brunswick, Oldenburg, Schleswig-Holstein and Poland dynasties have crumbled and others are tottering toward a republic. Bavaria's royalty is fleeing into Switzerland.

In Berlin, the crowds were fired on by machine guns once at the beginning of the revolution but the situation is now getting better, the representatives having joined the socialists' movement.

Along the Rhine region, the prisons have been opened and socialist councils control a number of cities.

ROME, Nov. 11.—The total of Austrians who have been taken prisoner by the Italian and Allied forces is now 600,000, and is increasing hourly.

PARIS, Nov. 11.—The French torpedo boat Mangard, with Briggen Du Nout aboard, entered the Dardanelles. It was officially announced here today.

THE MESSAGE

The President's address follows:

"Gentlemen of the Congress:

"In these anxious times of rapid and stupendous changes it will in some degree lighten my sense of responsibility to perform in person the duty of communicating to you some of the larger circumstances of the situation with which it is necessary to deal. These terms are as follows:

Evacuation

"5.—Evacuation by the German armies of the countries on the left bank of the Rhine. These countries on the left bank Rhine shall be administered by the local authorities under the control of the allied and United States armies of occupation. The occupation of these territories will be determined by allied and United States armies holding the principal crossings of the Rhine, Mayence, Coblenz, Cologne, together with the bridgeshead at these points in thirty kilometer radius on the right bank and by reference to the frontier. Holding the strategic points of the region.

Neutral Zone Arranged

A neutral zone shall be reserved on the right bank of the Rhine between the stream and a line drawn parallel to it forty kilometers to the east from the frontier of Holland to the parallel of Gerstein and as far as practicable a

CROWNED HEADS SCATTERED TO THE FOUR WINDS

Kaiser, Kings, Grand Dukes, Princes and Royalty Generally Relegated Forever in Final Hours of the War

By ED. L. KERN

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Germany today is Kaiserless and kingless. All reports tended to show that in addition to the emperor, all the kings, princes, grand dukes and other royalty of the empire had renounced their "divine right" to rule over a people which already had abdicated that right by revolution.

William Hohenzollern, the former Kaiser, whose wife and son, the former crown prince, were believed to have reached the castle of Count Von Bentinck, at Desseg, near Uterich. With them were said to be Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and a suite of ten.

Socialists in Ascendancy
Germany was still dominated by the revolutionists; but reports indicated that the socialists were rapidly assuming control of the governmental functions.

The biggest figure in Germany was Frederick Ebert, socialist and sardonic, who had assumed the chancellorship. Prince Maximilian of Baden, former chancellor, was a new lay figure as self-appointed regent.

Republics have been set up in Saxony, Baden and Wurtemberg, Bavaria and Schleswig-Holstein.

Many States Affected
Other German states were in temporary control of Workman's and Soldiers' socialists. Some parts even stated that a movement was under way to make the whole empire a republic. The Local Anstager said that social democrats and independent of the king decided to take action toward that end Saturday morning. Anarchy was

WILD SCENES AS YANK FIGHTERS GET GREAT NEWS

War Weary Troopers Shout, Laugh and Sing as Couriers on Motorcycles Announce Signing of Peace Agreement

By WEBB MILLER
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Nov. 11 (2:10 p. m.)—Motorcycle couriers tore along the roads today shouting:

"It's over boys!"

Marching columns, tired and mud-spattered, were galvanized into new life, they shouted, laughed and sang.

I saw several doughboys under lull pucks fox-trotting in the middle of the road. The cheers rang from column to column.

In the race back to the nearest cable office, I passed many detachments who had heard the armistice. It was easy to tell by their appearance who had heard the news and who had not.

Two words—"It's over"—changed the grim men into laughing boys.

STATE DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES SIGNING OF GERMAN ARMISTICE

Kaiser's Plenipotentiaries Attach Signatures to Momentous Document at Foch's Headquarters at 5 O'clock This Morning—Hostilities Cease at 11 O'clock French Time—After War Problems Already Begin to Occupy Official Minds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—At 6 o'clock this morning (United States Eastern time) the greatest war in history came to an end.

The state department officially announced early today that German plenipotentiaries signed the United States-Allied armistice terms at Foch's headquarters at 5 o'clock this morning and the hostilities ceased at 11 o'clock (both French time). While an armistice merely halted the war and does not end it, the terms laid down by Foch are such as to prevent Germany from reopening hostilities. The war, therefore may be regarded as definitely ended.

There remain now the great problems of the peace, looked upon as the gigantic work of returning the fighters to their home lands. As to the first, Geneva and Brussels are mentioned as the most likely points for the peace negotiations and as far as the second, the general staff already completed its plans for demobilization.

President Wilson, aroused from his bed at an early hour, was told the news and prepared a statement for the country. From the White House to every land, there was rejoicing. Thousands of telegrams poured into Washington, reflecting the great relief that the struggle was over and the anxiety of relatives for news of when they boys might return.

Battlegrounds Silent

America, free from the ravages of war, unscathed by the destructive hand of the Hun hordes, looked across the sea to find the battlefields of France and Belgium silent for the first time in four years. Where, for fifty-one months, giant guns, poisonous gases and

President Takes The News Calmly

Aroused From Sleep at 3 A. M. By Notification From State Department

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—It was shortly before three o'clock this morning when President Wilson, aroused from a deep slumber, walked to the door of his bedroom and received from a white house attendant the official state department message that the great war had come to an end.

He had remained up until nearly two o'clock for the news and finally had retired believing it might not come before dawn.

No comment was made by the president at the time. He took the official message, quietly closed the door and read it.

Lloyd George Offers His Fervent Thanks

Says British Empire and Allies Have Won the Greatest Victory in History

LONDON, Nov. 11.—"The empire and its allies have won the greatest victory in history," declared premier Lloyd George today, in an address from the steps of his residence.

"You are well entitled to rejoice. It is you, and your sons and daughters who have done it. Let us thank God."

FORMER KAISER IS IN HOLLAND

Perplexing Question Presented Through Presence of War Lord and Party

THE HAGUE, Nov. 11.—A perplexing question was precipitated by the arrival of former Kaiser and his party in Holland. They were all heavily armed and their internment therefore is suggested. The Dutch officials are silent on the question of internment.

When the former Kaiser's train arrived at Eysden Station, 7:30 yesterday morning, it was seen that all the attendants of the ten cars were heavily armed.

Wilhelm, who walked up and down the station platform, calmly smoking a cigarette, was attended by the former crown prince and an old man in uniform, supposed to be Field Marshal Von Hindenburg.

AUSTRIAN FLEET IS HANDED OVER TO THE ITALIANS

Bulk of Warships of All Kinds Now Safely at Rest in Harbors of Venice and Spalato

ROME, Nov. 11.—The entire Austrian fleet has been handed over to the Italians and is interned in Venice, Spalato and Buccari. Located in the Adriatic peninsula, six miles southeast of Trieste, Spalato is in Dalmata, 76 miles southeast of Serbia.

Supplementary clauses of the armistice, it was announced, provided that by 10 p. m. November 9, Austria must place in Venice the vessels Regolador, Prince Eugenio, Diana, Mazzanti, Novara and Hellgoland, nine destroyers, twelve torpedo boats, fifteen submarines and all German submarines in Austro-Hungarian waters. Other units of the fleet were assigned to Spalato and Buccari. Restoration of merchant ships to the allies was carried out according to agreement.

An explanation has been made concerning occupation of Fiume, which was not intended in the pact of London. On October 30, the Italian national council, assembled in Fiume, passed a resolution declaring that city united to "Mother Italy" and asked the cessation of the peace congress.

COMANDEER MANY SHIPS FOR TRANS-ATLANTIC USE

United States Shipping Board Takes Action Looking to Needs of Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The United States shipping board has commandeered all ships belonging to the Mail Steamship companies and the United Fruit Steamship company, it was learned today. These boats, which are in trans-Atlantic and South American service will be placed in trans-Atlantic service immediately.

Officials declare that the expected withdrawal of British and other tonnage now forces this government to take extreme measures in obtaining tonnage to supply the navy. The commandeering of these ships was said to have taken place on request of General Gotha of the war department.

GOVERNMENT TO AID IN FARM BUREAU CAMPAIGN

County Agent Leader H. W. Hochbaum Outlines Plans for Recruiting Members to Organization

In the last monthly review of Farm Bureau work, State of Idaho, County Agent Leader H. W. Hochbaum has the following to say concerning the state-wide Farm Bureau campaign: "It is planned to conduct a state-wide campaign for the reorganization of every farm bureau in Idaho immediately after Thanksgiving and closing not later than December 31. This campaign will be given state-wide publicity and works outside of the extension force will be selected to carry the farm bureau message throughout the state. The United States government will at the same time conduct a nation-wide campaign to develop interest in a nation-wide agricultural war program.

"The state-wide campaign will center about the reorganization of the county programs of work. As a result, the farm bureau should develop a state agricultural war program and the people as a whole in the state of Idaho should know more fully what farm bureau means. It is expected, furthermore, that the organization throughout the nation will be strengthened by the addition of at least five thousand new members."

INDEMNITIES ASKED FOR WILL REACH HUGE TOTAL

Germany Will Be Hard Put to It to Pay the Enormous Sums Called For

LONDON.—According to reliable authorities, the allies will not attempt to saddle their bill on the central powers as one of the peace terms. The kind it is figured, will have enough to do to pay the indemnities that will be demanded.

As an instance of what the enemy will have to pay, the United States Press has been given to understand that the indemnity Belgium alone will ask will be close to $2,000,000,000. The enemy also will have to pay huge indemnities to Serbia, Rumania, Montenegro, Italy, Russia and France. Not only will she have to pay for property destroyed but she will have to pay rental on it.

FILES PROTEST IN INTERESTS OF YANK PRISONERS

Practice of Forcing Americans to Work While Sick in German Camps Violates Laws of Humanity

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The state department has protested to the German government through the Spanish embassy at Berlin against the practice of forcing American prisoners to work while ill or physically unable to do so, compelling American prisoners to work in mines, compelling American civilians to do any work of the kind save such as may be necessary for their own care and upkeep, or in connection with the care and upkeep of their own quarters.

The embassy also was requested to insist that there must be action stopping the robbing and loss of parcels in American prisoners. The United States government is not disposed to create excuses by Germany to the effect that none of the parcels lost is due to the confusion in transit.

The immediate removal of an officer, camp of all American merchant marine officers held prisoners in Brandenburg was also demanded.

Text of Statement: The state department's announcement follows: "The department of state through the American minister at Berne, has asked the Spanish embassy at Berlin

"Second, compelling any American prisoners of war to labor in mines; and third, compelling any American prisoners of war to perform any work of any kind, save such as may be necessary in connection with their own care and upkeep or in connection with the care and upkeep of their own quarters.

Working Sick Soldiers

"The Spanish embassy is requested to urge the immediate releasing of American prisoners from all work when physically unable to perform same and also to urge that they be freed from work in mines.

"The embassy is also requested to inform the German government that the United States government insists that there must be a cessation of the robbing and the loss of parcels in that it is not disposed to give credence to the excuse the German government is laying the blame upon agencies which handle parcels before they reach Germany.

Insist on Removal

"The Spanish embassy is further asked insistently to demand the removal to an officer's camp of all American merchant marine officers at present in Brandenburg. The department requests that the attention of the German government be called to the fact that according to the latest information a prisoner named David Johnson is still in Brandenburg, notwithstanding the statement of the German government that he would be transferred. Furthermore, the department requests that the German government be informed that the personnel of the German Merchant marine who are interned in the United States are only required to do work having to do with their own care and upkeep or the care and upkeep of their own quarters."

LEAGUE TURNS TO STUDY OF NATION'S NEED

Post War Educational Problem Claims the Attention of All Public Spirited Citizens

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—That the National Security League is already looking forward to post-war problems, particularly along educational lines is shown in the quarterly report of Dr. Robert M. McElroy, Educational Director of the League, made public today.

Dr. McElroy outlines the plans of his bureau for the immediate future and lays particular emphasis on the necessity for a more complete knowledge by the people of the meaning and sources of American ideals.

Dr. McElroy's report reads: "The National Security League was originally founded to promote military preparedness. Hence in this field, its influence is generally recognized to have been potent. That question ceased to demand active propaganda when universal service became the accepted policy of the government."

Long before that question was settled and equal privileges were accorded as implying equal obligations, another great cause demanded systematic propaganda. It was imperative that Americans of every race, creed or place of birth should be made to understand why Germany was hated. They understood it now and they know what we are trying to destroy. The next imperative need is for a campaign designed to make clear to all just what we are trying to preserve.

Campaign for Teachers "The American people now understand the meaning of the menace of militarism, a menace incarnate in Prussianized Germany and her vassal states. But they do not as fully understand the domestic dangers which menace the full success of the Representative form of government."

"The more education of a Federal Secretary of Education will not produce this result. We need Americanism, not Nationalism. We need national preparedness only after the people had been aroused to the need of national preparedness. And so it must ever be in a republic. The machinery of the state is the machinery of the people; and the teachers, in the last analysis are the rulers of free government; for they point the young minds, soon to be the controlling minds, in the one direction or in the other. They are like the prevailing winds which by slow degrees determine, in the sapling, which way the great oak shall lean in the days of its growth.

"We do not aim to make them patriotic. They are enthusiastically and instinctively patriotic as a rule. We aim rather to turn the enthusiastic Americanism of the individual into a common channel, that those who understand the educational needs of the nation may be able, by concerted action, to make others understand them. We aim to give to teachers, furthermore, concrete material which will help them in the task of imparting their loyalty and their love of America to the children of many races, but one nation, whose opinions they are molding."

"This is not the work of a day or a year. It is a task as permanent as the need of educated voters. It is a task which belongs to the nation, whose ultimate success is inseparably bound up with the task of insuring to every community an adequate supply of teachers adequately trained for the task. But until the nation provides for its accomplishment, there is here a legitimate field for valuable public service for our League and for as many others as are willing to serve for the satisfaction of coexisting service."

"Van Tralack's face wrote: 'The whole position of Germany depends upon the question—how many millions of men will in future speak German?' Professor Carl Johann Heinrich Vase wrote in 1916: 'It is a beautiful and profitable task to prepare the way in this country (the United States) for the German spirit and the German conception of life.' And the world is familiar with the way in which Germany has attempted to carry out these aims."

FARM BUREAU OPENS UP MARKETS FOR $20 HAY

Brings Growers Into Touch With Buyers Who Need Surplus Product

Through the Twin Falls county bureau offices, farmers of this county during the past week have sold five carloads of baled hay on north Idaho markets at $20 per ton.

Another market that may be made available to hay growers of this district is that offered by Texas where drought has cut down the forage crops and the livestock industry is threatened with disaster.

The War Today J.W.T. MASON.

By J. T. MASON NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—William Hohenzollern, supreme war lord, is the first German to desert. The day of the war's end finds him running away from his army and nonchalantly seeks asylum in the nearest neutral country, with the blood of 20,000,000 dead and wounded men smattering his soul.

Intelligent Maine Dog. A Gardiner (Me.) dog was caught on the trestle over the new Maine Central viaduct and could not reach the end ahead of the fast-coming train.

Easy to Recognize. Helen, four years old, went to the movies and was much interested in the war pictures. When the statue of Liberty was projected on the screen, she exclaimed: "I can allus tell the Goddess of Liberty, 'cause she has an ice cream cone in her hand!"

Ideal Union. What greater bliss is there for two human souls, than to feel that they are joined for life—to strengthen each other in all labor, to rest in each other in all sorrow, to minister to each other in all pain, to be one with each other in all silent, unexpressed memories at the moment of the last parting—George Eliot.

Electricity for Tractors. A Swedish inventor claims to have satisfactorily applied electric power to tractors and other farm machinery.

A PROTEST. The citizens of Twin Falls who have the best and highest interests of the city and community in mind, express their disapproval of, and voice a protest against the form of celebration indulged in on Thursday, November 8.

town where our best citizens have looked so hard to secure laws to protect our community. It was an instance of flagrant violation of the law. It is a blot upon the fair name of this city that will require a long time to be effaced. It is astonishing how many men in the community in whom confidence has been placed and upon whom public trust has been imposed, failed miserably altogether to see the line of keeping between the method and the presumed reason for the celebration. It will take a great deal of effort to overcome the evil effects of this occurrence and we had exampled before the youth of our community. The citizens feel that the people have not played true to the boys and men who have gone to the front who did not expect their mothers, sisters, wives and children to suffer the dangerous experience of an insult by a drunken crowd.

On a request of certain officers and members of the W. U. of Twin Falls as well as certain citizens, this statement has been prepared and is candidly submitted. (Signed) M. C. MITCHELL.

A PROTEST. Editor News: I am only one of the mothers of boys who are fighting our battles "over there," but I wish through the columns of your paper, to call upon all mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of our country's defenders, whose homes are in this community, to unite with me in a protest against a repetition of the unseemly and humiliating carnival following Thursday's patriotic parade.

IT'S OVER This time the war is over, let us hope, for good and all. And as the curtains are drawn from before the gaze of an expectant world, the full extent of war's devastation is seen in all its naked horror. Germany today is in a state of chaos, with German Socialism in the ascendancy. To the Allied powers remains the task of rehabilitating the remnants of the once powerful German empire. The task may take years. The terms of the armistice fully warrant the belief that the war is finally over, although there is nothing to prevent Germany's re-entry into the war at the conclusion of the armistice, barring the matter of the ability and willingness of the German people. The German people are neither able nor willing. The war is over.

SERVICE THAT WINS THE SOLDIER HEART

Fred Lockey, Y. M. C. A., Tells of the Gratitude of the Boys at the Front.

"One of the discoverers men are making over here," Fred Lockey, of the Y. M. C. A. of Portland, Oregon, writes from London, "is that more pleasure can be had out of giving than getting. Many a man who has spent money freely in the old days to buy pleasure is finding that he gets more pleasure over here by the spending of one's self in the service of others. A few months ago I went out to a fellow Y. M. C. A. secretary to hunt up out-of-the-way detachments of troops. A stable guard here, a machine gun company there, a platoon somewhere else. We carried our goods in a automobile. We had plenty of writing paper and envelopes for free distribution, and chocolate, cookies, chewing tobacco and smoking tobacco, cigarettes, razor blades, tooth paste and things of that kind for sale. American war service workers were busy everywhere. We found Salvation Army lassies making doughnuts for the boys and K. of C. secretaries giving help. Books furnished by the American Library Association were to be seen on all sides.

"Hearing firing at a distance, we drove down the road and found a score or so of men at machine gun practice. The officer gave the men half a dozen rounds of ammunition. "At another place we had the sight of a lieutenant drilling a platoon. I said to the lieutenant: "How soon before you demits the company? We have Y. M. C. A. goods for sale." "He said: "Right now, Sergeant, demits the company!" "And ten seconds later the company was in line waiting to buy goods from our first Y. M. C. A. grateful to us name for it. "The men can't do enough to show their gratitude."

A SCRAPPER

"Don't tell me I have a rival, dearst; it would break my heart." "If I knew you were here he would break your head."

Possibly Hadn't Been Introduced. Arthur owned a bulldog that he had been teaching to hunt rats, and whenever he called out the word to him he would run frantically to various places to scratch. A neighboring woman was so amused at the performance that she wanted to show the dog's trick to her son, but when he would run frantically to various places to scratch. "Oh," said Arthur coming up at this point, "he doesn't know your rats."

Translated into English. All books of the Old Testament apocrypha, 14 in number, have been translated into English, and are included as apocryphal books in some editions of the Bible. They were formerly printed under a distinctive heading between the Old and the New Testaments, and in that form can still be found in many old family Bibles. They are always included in the so-called Septuagint, a version of the Bible used by the Greek church.

Commonwealth and Coffee. The introduction of coffee into England dates from the period of the Cromwellian Protectorate; according to a Restoration pamphlet, "Coffee and Commonwealth came in together."

LAUNDRY DEPARTMENT OF ARMY HAS TROUBLES WHICH ARE ALL ITS OWN

Men Enlisted for Purpose of Washing Clothes Protest Strenuously When the Tools of Their Trade Disappear From Sight

(By FRANK J. TAYLOR)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE.—At a muddy cross roads near Verdun, a sergeant with a deeply lined face stepped up and asked if he might ride to the next batch of trucks, which he called a town. The following conversation was educational, to say the least, to the occupants of the passenger car.

"You chaps ain't seen my laundry anywhere have you?" the sergeant asked.

"Laundry? we didn't know there was a laundry in this part of France."

"Well there is and it belongs to us. At least it did yesterday. This mornin' I got orders to report to the corps you see, we've been transferred from the division to the corps, when I got back from headquarters the division had moved, and the laundry was gone. I think they stole it—that's the way they got us."

"Who'd they steal you from?"

"Oh, a hospital we used to be attached to. The division was there a couple of weeks and when they moved they hauled our laundry on a truck and took us with 'em. We were ready to go through. Some division, these Ohio fellows."

Wheels Necessary.

"Your laundry is on wheels, then?"

"Yes sir, haven't you seen it? It needs wheels, the way this division keeps moving. Our laundry is a couple of big tanks on a wagon, with a steam engine apparatus to run it. First, we wash the duds in suds then we steam them, and next we wring them. In an hour everything is washed, rinsed and dried."

"Pretty hard to clean, some of these duds, isn't it?"

"Not when you know how. You see we were in the business before the war. We were enlisted to wash clothes. All we're doing now is O D shirts, socks and underclothes and run the old ones through our wringing machine. Fifteen hundred outfits a day—that's our average. Three weeks to launder the whole division."

"But here's where the division left with my laundry. I'll catch up with 'em now, all right. So long."

SHERIFF KENDALL DENIES GIVING OUT INTOXICANTS

Declares Stories the Liquor in His Custody Was Secured by Celebrators Are False

Denying false reports that have gained some circulation here to the effect that the sheriff's office last Thursday during the celebration of the reported surrender of the German armies, release some of the liquor in its custody to persons who demanded it, Sheriff F. M. Kendall this morning stated, "There is absolutely no foundation for the report. The sheriff's office has not in the past, and will not in the future, release the booze in its custody without proper authorization. Furthermore there is no truth in the report that the sheriff's office gave his permission to a number of unlicensed celebrators, and there was no drinking here Thursday with my sanction."

"As soon as I returned from Bunday at about 5:30 o'clock Thursday evening, I personally exerted every effort to restore order in places where such effort seemed necessary."

PROMPT PAYMENT WINE BONUS

Men who are listed under the selective service regulations in Twin Falls county, and who are of the age of 18 years or of from 30 to 45 years both inclusive, are standing today, as they have for two or three days past, in long lines at the doors of the local board of fire in the court house where members of the local advisory board and their assistants are helping the registrants to fill out their questionnaires, now in the process of being mailed out.

The legal advisory board is composed of all of the attorneys of the county, and one member of the board, at least is at the office of the local board during the day, in supervision of the work of assisting the registrants.

The assistants to the attorneys in this work are young women members of the high school faculty. They have been chosen in an exceptional manner to the board, and are empowered to acknowledge the affidavits of registrants to statements in the questionnaires. ## He wants to play as hard as he fights!

YOUR boy has carried his love of sports overseas. Almost within hearing of the Hun, he wants to knock out grounders and have a catch. He has learned two new games—bomb-ball and volley-ball and he has introduced one-o'-cat to the vacant lots of France.

"Come on, buddies! Put it over the pan!" he yells, and the pan is the tin hat which he wore a few hours ago when he went over the top to find the Hun.

Further back, in the training areas, track athletics and boxing are on an organized basis. There are "twilight leagues" where every unit in an area has its team. World's series players this year wear a new uniform—the uniform of our fighters overseas.

There's military value in these sports, the high officers believe. For play can turn a fighter's leisure hours into making him a better fighter. His periods of idleness are taken out of the liability column and made into assets. Play means an outlet for surplus energies, and an intake for morale.

From the start the job of putting system into sports has been entrusted to these agencies of morale. They have provided balls and gloves and bats and masks and nets. They have rounded up 2,000 of this country's best directors of athletics.

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

THE need is for a sum 70% greater than any gift ever asked for since the war began. The Government has fixed this sum at $170,500,000.

By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns is saved.

Unless Americans do give twice as much as ever before, our soldiers and sailors may not enjoy during 1919 their

- 3600 Recreation Buildings
- 1000 Miles of Movie Film
- 100 Leading Stage Stars
- 2000 Athletic Directors
- 2500 Libraries supplying 3,000,000 books
- 85 Hostess Houses
- 15,000 Big-brother "secretaries"
- Millions of dollars of home comforts

When you give double, you make sure that every fighter has the cheer and comforts of these seven organizations every step of the way from home to the front and back again. You provide him with a church, a theatre, a cheerful home, a store, a school, a club and an athletic field—and a knowledge that the folks back home are with him, heart and soul!

You have loaned your money to supply their physical needs.

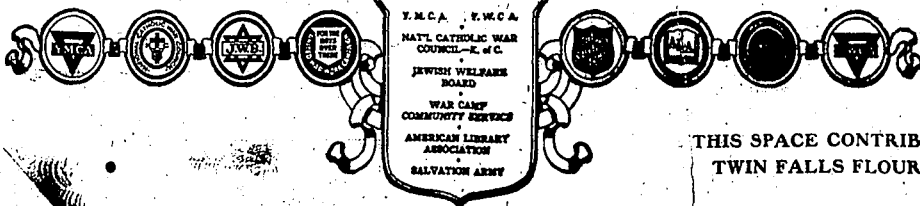

Now give to maintain the Morale that is winning the war!

They have sent the kind of men who can make up new games to suit conditions and who can organize the old games well.

The orders which these organizations have placed for athletic materials are the largest single orders now on record—enough to go to every town and village where Americans are billeted. And more must follow every week.

They say the Germans have no love of sports. That may explain a lot of things! Let's keep our boys as fond of play as when they left for France!

"Just Terms" as The Hun Saw Them in 1871

The negotiations between the commander of the French army and General Von Moltke were held at Donchery during the night between September 1st and 2nd. The Germans were forced to consider that they must not forego the advantage gained over so powerful an enemy as France. When it was rumored that the French had regarded the victory of German arms over other nationalities in the light of an insult, any act of unbecomingly generosity might lead them to forget their own defeat. The only course to pursue was to insist upon the disarmament and detention of the entire army, but officers were to be free on parole.

SOCIALISTS OF GERMANY WILL DO GOOD WORK

Party Expected to Prove Backbone of Nation in Trying Times Ahead, Say Students

By CHARLES E. ERVIN (Socialist candidate for Governor of New York in recent election). NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—There is no doubt in the minds of all who know something of the German socialist movement that chaos and the dark will not descend on that country, that order, real order, the real will of the self-controlled people, will come and come quickly. The news dispatches very significantly called attention to the fact yesterday that the socialists were restoring order in Berlin. The socialist party of Germany is the oldest socialist party in the world and was the strongest at the outbreak of the war. It maintained a close relationship with the labor unions and the co-operatives and had the largest treasury of any workingmen's party in the world. Organized in the late sixties, it polled three per cent of the vote in 1871, electing August Bebel and William Liebknecht to the reichstag. Both were imprisoned for opposing the government in the Franco-Prussian war.

Rumors had been afloat through the army all night, that the armistice would not be signed. At dawn the Americans and French started to advance. Some places they found no bodies to oppose them, although they encountered stiff resistance. Artillery were ordered not to attack the enemy. The German orders to cease hostilities, sent out by wireless, instructed the German soldiers to stop firing at 10:55, which is 11 o'clock French time. Owing to the thick fog, the American aviators, which included Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, were unable to observe the German movement.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CANDY

Shall we save the Candy Industry?

It is not the wish of the government to destroy industry. When people know the truth about the candy industry, they immediately recognize candy as a wonderful food product—one that is rich in nutritive values—a necessary food for people who work hard.

Sugar is a necessity. We do not take our requirements of sugar, a spoonful at a time. Some people like their sugar in candy form. And they are just as much entitled to it in that form as others are entitled to have it melted in their coffee.

In 1913 (the last normal year in the industry), there were approximately 2500 candy factories in the United States, using about 8% of the sugar consumed in the entire country. A much smaller percentage than anyone thought. You thought it much higher, didn't you?

The capital invested in the industry was then more than $110,000,000; greater now.

It is the thirty-eighth largest industry in the United States.

It employs normally 100,000 people, 75 per cent of whom are women.

It makes possible, to a large extent, the chocolate and paper box industries, with their millions invested, and employing thousands more people—mostly women.

There are still people who believe that the candy industry is using from 25% to 50% of the national sugar production, and that the wiping out of the industry would save the sugar problem.

The truth is that only 8% of the sugar was used in normal times, and today this has been cut to 4%.

Reasonable people, with these facts before them, are realizing that with only this small amount of sugar going into candy, and in view of the high food value, it is time to consider effecting further savings by conserving in other directions as well.

—In normal times the candy industry uses only 8% of the sugar consumed per capita in this country. Right now this amount has been cut squarely in two.
