WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The regularity with which domestic and world conditions are shifting makes any attempt to prescribe the taxes for 1920 now "fallacious and unwise," minority members of the senate finance committee declared today in rebutting their minority report on the tax bill.

The report was signed by every Republican member of the committee save Mr. Fletcher who announced he would file a separate report after he had read all other minority reports. Thomas, Colorado, filed a separate report, as did Smoot, Utah.

These were presented just after Senator Simmons, committee chairman had formally filed his majority report and opened discussion on the bill. The general minority report accepted the 1918-1919 part as fair and equitable but condemned any attempt to bind the government to taxes for 1920.

Stunning Document in Interests of Program of Mercy for Germany Makes Its Appearance Through Diplomatic Channels—Menace of World's Attitude Towards Defeated Nation Declared to Spell the End of European Social System

INFLECTING OF "BISMARCKIAN" PEACE WARNED AGAINST IN STRONG TERMS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A warning against inflecting a "Bismarckian peace" on Germany and credited to the London Daily News was made public here today through Allied channels. The text of the article was picked up in this country from a wireless apparently sent out from Lyons, France, over the signatures of the committee on public information Paris representatives.

Backers of the Wilson principles were called on "to make themselves heard before it is too late." The document, written from Lyons, France, first appeared in the London Daily News, but apparently was not permitted to pass the censor in the regular way. It became significant by virtue of the diplomatic sources and the fact that it was signed by the well-known "Sisson-Sharp" signatures.

"President Wilson comes among us next week," the article states. "There will be much flag-waving and speculating. But the things for which President Wilson stands are being ridiculed and bespattered by the only voices one hears. If the spirit animating at the present moment, the press and politicians of Europe and America, gains control of the peace conference, it will be the end of the European social system.

MORE MEN ARE BADLY NEEDED FOR NEW SHIPS

Report of Bureau of Navigation Says Present Complements Unable to Take Care of Pending Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—A considerable increase above the present authorized strength of the navy is necessary, according to the bureau of navigation annual report, made public today.

"Since the last annual report," says the message written October 15, "the permanent navy has been increased from 87,000 men and 6,000 apprentice seamen, to 131,485 men and 6,000 apprentice seamen. This number is insufficient to man the ships of the regular navy in commission and to be commissioned by the end of the present fiscal year, on the basis of the former complement schedule.

"Since the last report, however, the commander-in-chief has submitted the final recommendations of the fleet, as a result of actual experience, with new and perfected instruments and more modern methods. This will require an increase over the old complement in order that our efficiency may not be behind that of other naval powers.

Increase Necessary "For the regular naval vessels that will be in commission by the end of the next fiscal year and for the reorganization of complements brought out by sea experience, there will be required a considerable increase above the present authorized strength."

The report showed that the war strength of the navy had been developed from about 50,000 men to over 300,000. The training system, fleet and sailors' life is "feasible" to convert men from civil life quickly into capable sailors. The great lakes and other stations efficiently cared for the shore work.

SAME OLD METHODS ARE STILL BEING EMPLOYED

Berlin Declared To Be Engaged in Studious Effort to Divert Public Enmity Towards the Allies

LONDON, Dec. 10 (British Admiralty wireless)—The Baltic national Zeitung says: "Unfortunately the people on the side of Germany are still, as before, employing the old methods of incitement and false insinuation, except that now a note of complaint over incidents is mingled with them. Berlin wishes, as before, to divert the wrath of the German people to the enemy, and is behaving in the midst of the revolution exactly as in the time of Ludendorff.

The German people were to believe that the enemy was committing monstrous crimes against Germany—that the armistice conditions were unprecendented. But the red cockade is in a way ruined.

Arrogance and Cunning "The old spirit of arrogance and cunning remains." The Bavarian herald, regarding the Bavarian revolution, says: "It is what hateful light appears the well known stand of Imperial Chancellor, Bethmann Holweg in the Reichstag, when he justified violation of Belgium's neutrality with a 'so-called' knowledge of law but the most hateful of all was the attempt of the German government to accuse Belgium of a breach of neutrality.

Public Attitude Towards Fourteen Peace Points Greatly at Variance With Original Interpretation

By ED. L. KEEN PARIS, Dec. 10.—Do the European allies intend fully to carry out the spirit of the fourteen points? This is the question most ardently raised recently in American quarters, both in Paris and London, as the result of statements by prominent French and British, supported to a considerable extent by the press—indicating a disposition to go far beyond the limitation of some of President Wilson's principles while ignoring others.

Making all due allowance for pressure from certain elements of the population of both countries, this disposition is especially accentuated in Great Britain, on account of the hottest general election campaign in years. Americans are generally bewildered. Some are frankly astonished, in view of the allies' unequivocal pledge to make peace on the basis of Wilson's January 8 speech, and his subsequent addresses.

Presently Vital Point "The United States is in a position to state that the president expects the allies, as well as Germany, to adhere to the principles laid down in these speeches, with the exception of clause two, upon which the allies reserved freedom of action. Plans of Russian Bolsheviks to Dominate Fatherland Run Contrary to the National Spirit

By J. W. T. MASON NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The efforts of the leaders of the Russian Bolsheviks to strengthen themselves at home by forming an effective alliance with the extreme left-wing government in Berlin, and by forming an effective alliance with the extreme left-wing government in Berlin, are not proving successful. The Germans are adopting some of the outward forms of the Bolshevik governmental system and the administration of Germany by the Bolshevik method of "soviets" is now in operation. But the essential factor in the Bolshevik theory, that the workingmen should possess all political power and should abolish the middle and upper classes, has made no marked impression upon the German people.

There is now proceeding a silent but persistent conflict between the Bolshevik ideal of class war and the German ideal of orderliness as to which shall dominate the other. The soviet principle of extensive self-government in local administrative districts has probably been accomplished by the Germans for good. But having gone this far, the Germans are now planning to dominate reform.

It is highly probable that if the Bolsheviks do not in the end, they will impress an orderly influence upon the

FORMULATION OF PEACE TERMS TO COMMENCE SOON

January 3 Mentioned as Probable Date Upon Which Work Will Start in Connection With Framing of Peace Pact

BY ED L. KEENE
PARIS, Dec. 10.—The formal sessions of the associated governments conference will begin about January 3, it is believed here.

They will be held in the French foreign office and will continue five or six weeks. After fully formulating the peace terms, the Germans will be invited to send their delegates to Versailles for the general peace conference which will take place.

The peace congress will be largely a mere formality, as Germany presumably will accept the terms without much haggling, inasmuch as she has acknowledged she is beaten and unable to resume hostilities in any event. In this respect the peace treaty will be similar to the armistice terms—not quite a "sign there," proposition but almost.

Hold Informal Session
In the meantime, Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Secretary Balfour will visit Paris next week and informally confer with President Wilson, Colonel House and the other American representatives. There will be similar conferences with Premier Clemenceau and other Frenchmen; also with Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino, who will accompany King Victor Emmanuel to this city.

Owing to the French people's enthusiasm over Wilson; and their desire to give him an appropriate ovation, the visit of the Italian king has been set for December 19. He will remain until Christmas, when Wilson hopes to visit and address the American troops and inspect the devastated regions.

He said the church had instructed its members to avoid working in military plants and not to register for military service.

Students of the university of California burned the church when its members' activities were disclosed last July. Since then moved his congregation to Denver.

Germany Says Terms of Armistice Surrendered Ent England Stands Fast

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The British admiralty confirms the additional naval terms announced yesterday, from Berlin.

These terms included the surrender of all Allied merchant vessels interned in German ports, fully cooled and provided, as well as German warships under construction. The Berlin dispatch said an allied naval commission had arrived in Germany to superintend the carrying-out of these provisions, which, the German government protests, exceeded the terms of the armistice.

MORE DEAL ON PROPAGANDA OF GERMANS IN U.S.

Department of Justice Man Continues as to Methods Employed Here to Assist Fatherland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The government has no evidence whatever that William Randolph Hearst has received any funds or profits from Germany or German interests. A. Bruce Bielski, of the department of justice, testified in the senator's propaganda investigation.

Bielski said that the German agents in this country considered Hearst the most important newspaperman in America, from that standpoint.

He asserted that Hearst had published articles in his newspapers after the United States entered the war that would have rendered him liable to prosecution, had the espionage law been in effect at that time. That law passed June 15, 1917.

"After the beginning of the war his attitude continued to be very questionable," said Bielski.

Bielski said that the Hearst chain of papers had been very friendly to Germany from the start of the war until we became a belligerent.

Cable Loss Annoyed Hearst
He declared that the bitterness of the Hearst papers toward England seemed to increase after the British submarines had taken away Hearst's articles published in Germany. He also mentioned Hearst's policy of the United States entered the war in reply to a question by Senator Nelson, Minnesota.

Dr. Heinrich Albert, chief financial agent of the German government here, said that the German government had had $700,000 for use in its campaign of sabotage and destruction, Bielski said.

"Dr. Albert spent millions trying to get materials into Germany under the guise of American enterprises," said Bielski. "Most of his cargoes wound up in the prize courts.

Will Involve U. S.
"He sent the steamer Wilhelmina and led to Hamburg with wheat andlard and caused statements to be issued saying that the wheat was for the army. His plan was either to get the much needed supplies into Germany or to involve the United States in diplomatic differences with England. The facts came to the attention of the state department in time to prevent serious trouble, with England."

Bolo's American Record
When Bolo Pash's name was mentioned, Senator Nelson asked Bielski to give the connection he had with our people replied that the only persons in this country now who can tell about Bolo are Germans. Adolph Pateron, a wealthy German, who was interned some months ago, knows more about Bolo than anyone else, Bielski said.

"We do not know whether Hearst knew the facts about him or not," said Bielski. "He was intimately associated with Bolo at conferences and representative of the latter over here."

The representative, Bielski said, was C. F. Bertelli, then connected with the Paris Bureau of Hearst's news service.

Wrote Him Telegram
"The only new thing about Bolo," said Bielski, "is an entry in a book written by Albert Under the date of September 25, 1914. Albert wrote a prepared telegram to Bolo. This would seem to indicate a much earlier connection between Bolo and German interests than was known to exist."

"How do you account for the German agents in this country," Bielski asked. "I declared that he understood that thousands of Germans in the country were working in munitions plants, which was in direct violation of an imperial order."

A letter written by Bernstorff, June 19, 1915, to all German consuls in this country, was introduced by Bielski.

"They are not, however, and I am glad to hear that," Bielski said, "for their past articles not to our cause." He further explained, adding that the Hearst papers stood on the ground of "pro-American policies."

"How do you account for Mr. Hearst's attitude?" asked Senator Nelson, Minnesota.

CHILE WILLING TO STAND UPON PRESENT TREATY

Country's Minister for Foreign Affairs Outlines Attitude of His Government in Dispute With Peru

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 10.—Chile believes her rights in the "Tacna-Arica dispute" on the treaty of Ancon. She remains faithful to that treaty and no consideration would dissuade her from accomplishing exactly and honestly the terms of the treaty she signed. She has repeatedly presented to Peru the original text of bringing about a plebiscite.

Statement
Senator Luis Barros Borgoño, Chilean minister for foreign affairs, made the foregoing declaration, in a statement to the United Press in response to a request through Peres De Arca, editor in chief of El Mercurio of Santiago, for an explanation of Chile's attitude in the controversy with Peru over the provinces of Tacna and Arica. Senator Borgoño's statement to the United Press follows:

Chile believes the Tacna and Arica affair has fundamental characteristics which cannot be considered as debatable.

The recent incidents have been prompted by the Peruvian foreign office in order, artificially, to move public opinion.

Chile founds her rights in the matter on the treaty of Ancon. She remains faithful to that treaty and no consideration would dissuade her from accomplishing exactly and honestly the terms of the treaty she signed.

The Chilean government has made efforts for many years to bring about a settlement of the controversy by proposals. From the Peruvian government loyal accomplishment of the treaty's terms but has never attained that purpose.

The treaty contemplates the protection of the full rights of both countries. From the Peruvian government Peru and all the same time it is to her own rights, has repeatedly presented to Peru the urgent need of bringing about the plebiscite contemplated by the third article of the treaty. This requires the free vote to decide the legitimate nationality of Tacna and Arica.

By Popular Vote
The last proposition made by Chile in 1910 can be adhered to now. This proposed that the right to vote in the plebiscite be given to Chilean, Peruvian and foreign voters over the age of 21 living in Tacna and Arica, who have to read and write and who have resided in the provinces for six months. The commission to receive and canvass the votes was to be composed of one Chilean, one Peruvian and a third man to be elected by the majority vote of the Tacna and Arica consular agents. This commission would be under the presidency of a Chilean.

Any differences regarding the voting right will be settled by the majority vote of this commission.

No historic precedent regarding plebiscites approaches this Chilean proposal for liberty. Every temporary transfer of territory in the past, which have been submitted to plebiscites, have always involved the cession of territory. Peru objected to the proposal that foreigners be allowed to vote, demanded that the right of Chileans to vote be limited, rejected the condition that voters must be able to read and write, objected to Chilean presidency of the proposed commission and demanded that the period of residence required for voting should be much greater than six months. In plain language, Peru wanted the voting confined to Peruvians alone, especially the unlettered aborigines. At the same time, she wished to deny any rights to Chileans over her right as a sovereign nation.

Would Forego Sovereignty
The Chilean government, however, insisted that Peru examine the proposals which implied the Chilean proposition, if Peru really desired to settle once and forever this problem. Instead, Peru suddenly broke her relations with Chile, giving as a reason for this action that Chile had expelled from Tacna some Peruvian clergyman who had violated our country's laws.

This has fallen the best Chilean efforts and purposes. Peru has always remained opposed to the accomplishment of the terms of the Ancon treaty. Chile is sure that when the truth is known, the widespread Peruvian publicity and this momentary success will be truly appreciated.

INVESTIGATORS FOR RELIEF IN EAST EMBARK

American Committee to Send Commission Headed by Dr. James L. Barton to Turkey—Workers to Follow

The American Committee for relief in the Near East has appointed a relief commission of seven to proceed to Turkey as soon as permission can be obtained from Great Britain and France who now hold military control there, and the state department in Washington is approaching these governments for the purpose. The chairman of the commission is Dr. James L. Barton of Boston and the other members are E. B. Stephens, of New York, Prof. Edward G. Moore of Harvard University, Judge Victor Dowling of New York, President J. H. T. Main of Grinnell, Iowa, Dr. William W. Peet of Washington, and Mr. Harold A. Hatcher of New York. It is the plan of the commission to go directly to Constantinople and, after getting into touch with the local relief committee, there, proceed into the interior of the country about whose physical and economic conditions little is known at present except that widespread distress prevails.

A body of 250 relief workers are to follow soon after upon a government transport loaded with medical and other necessary supplies and motor trucks with which they are to carry out the interior sections away from the railroads. The trucks will also be used to bring the more than one and a half million refugees back from exile.

The entire country from Constantinople to the Caspian Sea and from the Caucasus Mountains to Syria and the Mediterranean, a territory approximately as large as the United States east of the Mississippi river, will be covered by the commission.

The military conditions in the interior of Turkey are known to be horrible. The American Committee for Relief in the Near East has decided to send with its relief expedition to Turkey a medical commission under the direction of Dr. George H. Washburn of Boston, Massachusetts. Dr. Washburn, the son of Dr. George Washburn, for forty years the distinguished president of Robert College, Constantinople, was born in the United States east of the Mississippi, where he lived for sixteen years. He is familiar with the languages of the country which he has frequently revisited. Dr. Washburn graduated from Amherst College in 1882 and took his medical degree at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1886. He is a well-known surgeon and general practitioner and is eminently fitted for this important commission. It is expected that the medical staff will consist of at least ten physicians and ten nurses with a sanitary engineer and a bacteriologist. Reports from German sources indicate that over 2,000,000 people have died in that country, typhus, dysentery and cholera since the war began.

Human Soldiers' Smokes.
Records recently discovered show that the Roman soldiers in Caesar's time had their pipes. Of course they knew nothing about real tobacco, as that was not at that period been discovered. However, they did have pipes and they smoked lavender and hemp, and from all accounts they liked it and it served almost the same purpose. In fact, it is said to have been a great source and stimulus to the soldier.

The Great Test.
Self-control is an easy matter when we are alone, says New Success Magazine. But the moment our lives are thrown in with others, then comes the struggle. To maintain our equanimity, to restrain the sharp retort, the impatient exclamation, to get along smoothly with disagreeable people, without friction or furring—this is the great life test. This is what builds character, what tests manhood or womanhood, what makes the ideal employee.

Two Discoveries.
A long time ago, a keen observer of human nature put on record his discovery that a small borrower never leaves the doorway of a bank without looking one way and walking the other. A rival of this observer has just turned up. His conclusion, after years of patient observation, is that one never sees a small boy and a brass band moving in opposite directions—Christian Science Monitor.

Soul That is Truly Great.
Emerson, that greatest of modern philosophers, has told us that it is easy when in a crowd to allow ourselves to be swayed by the opinions about us and comparatively easy to keep our individuality and sweetness when alone. But that the great soul is he who in the midst of a mass of other individuals can still keep the pulse and sweetness of solitude.

U. S. HEALTH SERVICE ISSUES WARNING

Increase in All Respiratory Diseases After the Influenza Epidemic Probable.

Influenza Expected to Lurk for Months. How to Guard Against Pneumonia. Common Colds Highly Catching—Importance of Suitable Clothing—Could Save 100,000 Lives.

Washington, D. C.—With the subsidence of the epidemic of influenza the attention of health officers is directed to pneumonia, bronchitis and other diseases of the respiratory system which regularly cause a large number of deaths, especially during the winter season. According to Rupert Blue, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, these diseases will be especially prevalent this winter unless the people are particularly careful to obey health instructions.

"The present epidemic," said Surgeon General Blue, "is a cause for bitter experience how readily a condition beginning apparently as a slight cold may go on to pneumonia and death. Although the worst of the epidemic is over, there will continue to be a large number of scattered cases, many of them mild and unrecognized, which will be danger spots to be guarded against." The Surgeon General stressed the fact that after a cold, a heavy dose of hours and even days, for he knows that there is danger of the fire rekindling from smoldering embers.

"When you fear another outbreak of influenza you are asked, 'What necessarily another large epidemic,' said the Surgeon General, 'but unless the people learn to realize the seriousness of the danger they will be compelled to pay a heavy death toll from pneumonia and other respiratory diseases.'

Common Colds Highly Catching. It is encouraging to observe that people are beginning to learn the difference between colds and influenza. Colds are highly catching and are spread from person to person by means of droplets of germ laden mucus. Such droplets are carried into the air when careless ignorant people cough or sneeze without covering their mouth and nose. It is also good to know that people have learned something about the value of fresh air. In summer, when people are largely out of doors, the respiratory diseases are kept to a minimum.

baggy re-lined, overhauled rooms, the respiratory diseases become very prevalent.

Suitable Clothing Important.
"Still another factor in the production of colds, pneumonia and other respiratory diseases is carelessness or ignorance of the people regarding suitable clothing. The season has now been so the weather suddenly changes, sitting in warm rooms too heavily dressed or, what is even more common, especially among women, dressing so lightly that windows are kept closed in order to be comfortably warm. This is a very injurious practice.

Could Save 100,000 Lives. "I believe we could easily save one hundred thousand lives annually in the United States if all the people would adopt the system of fresh air living followed, for example, in tuberculosis sanatoria. There is nothing mysterious about it—no specific medicine, no vaccine. The important thing is right living, good food and plenty of fresh air.

Droplet Infection Explained in Pictures.
"The Bureau of Public Health, Treasury Department, has just issued a striking poster drawn by Berryman, the well-known Washington cartoonist. The poster explains the common method of health education. A few years ago, under similar circumstances, the health authorities would have issued an official flyer but scientifically accurate means of teaching the role of droplet infection in the spread of respiratory diseases. The only ones who would have understood the bulletin would have been those who already were kept from the subject. The man in the street, the plain citizen and the many millions who toil for their living would have had no time and no desire to wade through the technical phraseology."

NOT TOO FAST

There is a tendency on the part of students of industrial and commercial conditions over the country to regard as a distinct menace the possibility that a too rapid return of soldiers from Europe is being provided by the administration.

It is sincerely to be hoped that this very vital point will not be lost sight of in the natural eagerness of all to get their sons and husbands back just as soon as possible.

ONE MAN'S VIEWS

Will the war prove the solution of the Irish problem? There are those who profess to believe so and there are not lacking signs which point to a distinct amelioration of the present state of feeling between the two countries.

agreement, England stands ready to grant every demand, but this is a position which none can prove free of the taint of selfishness for the reason that the home rule element outnumber the anti-home rule class about seventy-five per cent, and under the conditions which obtain under civilization a rule in every country in the world the majority view is allowed to obtain.

Be that part of it as it may, here is the way one man views the question of the effect of the war upon the floundering controversy, Sergeant Frederick Calma, who served fourteen months in a Canadian infantry regiment speaking at Boise a day or two ago said:

"The English lion not only woke up, but her cubs, the colonies, woke up too. Canada came forward with 300,000 men out of her 4,000,000; nearly every one a volunteer."

"You people cannot realize how I feel about England today. I am Irish and came from Dublin eight years ago. I, too, had the Irish in the front of the English, but there I have fought with them side by side. I have reformed my opinion. I saw what Germany did in Belgium, in France, and God help Ireland if Germany had won this war and set up German rule there. I am with England now, as long as the grass grows green; and that is some time, too."

As far as this man is concerned there is no Irish question. To him there are bigger things in the world than a political controversy, even when one's own country is involved.

A MESSAGE FROM THE PEOPLE

The next session of the legislature will have a message from the outgoing governor and one from the incoming executive if the usual custom shall be followed. But it will have a third message—none from the people. It has already been written and delivered. It was transcribed during the recent campaign and it was presented to the members of the legislature—and to the new state administration—in the form of election returns.

In the history of Idaho there never was a more emphatic instruction to legislative and administrative bodies than this declaration of the people. It told them exactly what was expected by the citizenship of Idaho and exactly what duty must be performed if the wrath of the public is to be avoided. These bodies were told:

TRAINING LITTLE CHILDREN

(By Mrs. Gertrude E. Campbell)

Many mothers have asked me, "Do you find that your kindergarten training really helps you when you are dealing with problems in your home?" My answer is invariably, "Yes."

Two years of thorough and stimulating training in Froebel's wonderful methods for teaching little children and several years of trying to put those methods into practice could not fail to give a mother a more intelligent and spiritual grasp of the meaning of her children's activities.

I thinking back over the past year I have been trying to formulate some of the practices that have helped me over the hard places, and offer the following to the mother who wishes to make of her children's early years a period that they will not forget.

1. When it is necessary to restrain a child from doing something wrong or harmful, always suggest something else to do. Never issue a "no" without offering a do.
2. In giving a child permission to play take care that his activities do not develop into idleness. For he will be happier if some limitations are imposed to test his powers and help him concentrate. For instance, if he is playing with blocks or cutting from paper, giving him permission to do anything else often results in idleness or destructive activity. Some suggestion from the mother to make something to furnish a house, for instance—stimulates and directs his mind, while leaving him free to express himself.
3. Before a command is given always consider whether it is going to raise an issue. If a child refuses to obey, do not always insist upon implicit obedience; your command may have been entirely wise one. Punish for disobedience, if necessary, but do not raise available issues. "Breaking a child's will" is cruel and most harmful.
4. When a child is naughty always be sure that the cause is not a physical one, for fatigue and hunger come first to little people. Many problems that are untraceable before a meal are no longer problems afterward.
5. Try to follow your children's activities and to understand the instincts and inner laws from which they proceed. View what they do in the light of your intelligence and of your spirit. Such a habit of watchfulness and care prevents nervous irritation and enables you to enter into and to encourage sympathetically activities which are pleasing.
6. Be confident in what you approve and disapprove. Do not one day, because you are tired, reprove a child for something he had done and the next day ignore the same thing because you are rested.
7. Answer questions truthfully. A child's mind does not always crave details. Give him only broad statements. Build a strong foundation of truth, to which details may be added later. As regards the vital question of the origin of life be careful not to give the child more than he asks for. Do not force your buds to open too early. The life of flowers and birds is analogous to human life and will tell you how to answer this question.
8. Avoid useless negations. If there is no real reason why a child should have his requests denied, do not deny them.
9. In regard to children's interruptions, consider whether what they want to do is not more important than the special activity you had planned for that moment. In the last analysis, why do we mothers exist at all if not to give of our best to our children and to meet their needs, as they show them.

TOWNLEYITE HELD BY JURY

T. A. Gaston, Nonpartisan Organizer, and Twelve Others Are Indicted

MOSCOW—The federal grand jury in seclusion here this week has found true bills against a Nonpartisan league organizer and 12 others, says the Idaho Statesman. The offenses the men are charged with range in importance from selling liquor to Indians to abuse of the government. The grand jury closed its session Friday.

T. A. Gaston, Nonpartisan league organizer, was committed to trial. Gaston is charged with abuse of the government, the Red Cross, and opposing the sale of Liberty bonds. He was arrested in Spokane and will probably be tried this term of court.

The case of the other Nonpartisan league organizers were continued and will probably come up at the spring term of court. They are under bonds to appear and are charged with offenses under the espionage law.

J. W. Brigham, former state senator, who was held to the grand jury on a charge of hoodluming, was not called at this session. His case will probably be heard during the spring term.

SEA SAFETY IS UP TO ENGLAND WITH AMERICA

Two Countries Should Engage Upon Work on Mutual Basis of Understanding Declares President Press

LONDON, Dec. 10.—"The United States should continue, in association with Great Britain, the work of making the seas safe," the Morning Post declared editorially today.

"Nothing could be more gratifying to England. No arrangement could be more effective to insure world peace," the newspaper said, it believed America is making the unfortunate misapprehension regarding the British naval policy as the result of statements by Winston Churchill, Minister of Munitions and First Lord of the Admiralty, who is called a tactless, impulsive politician.

The English, in discussing freedom of the seas, it is pointed out, think only of the German definition, which means piracy. Therefore it is impossible to relax the least precaution. President Wilson's actual is in favor of continuation of America's thorough naval building program, the Morning Post says, "is applauded here."

DEMANDS SETTLEMENT OF PEACE TERMS IN SPIRIT OF JUSTICE

before us, it is statesmanlike to drive the German people to despair. For our editors and politicians see no danger for the rest of Europe in an alliance of despair between avaricious forces of "the world's evil." Our behavior, organized and strengthened, be depended upon to halt at the Rhine? Are there no explosive elements in Italy and Spain? Is France herself so utterly immune from every human emotion? Are English lower orders willing as terms as our capitalist press imagines? Has America no labor problem of her own? Is the trust magnate's easy chair so secure against all world convulsions?

"A Wilson peace bringing reconciliation to a people, English, Spanish and French, giving to the world no longer world war hopes, new visions, may yet deliver Europe."

Such indignity as many are calling for, the article declares, would mean occupation of Germany by Allied armies, the article declares, which might be French, American and Italian workmen will occupy German territory and set the role of slaveholders to the German people. This would make mammoth armies.

President Wilson's demand for peace without annexations is not forgotten, the article states. As for a lasting peace, as demanded by Wilson, the article declares that the "chauvinistic press of Paris is demanding the proper moment for the next attack on Germany."

lowed in the wake of the Americans, but their elders generally continued their strolls along the boulevards. The Americans entered the town without any bands playing or flags flying, an quietly completed the task for which they occupied the capital of peaceful occupation of Coblenz—without any loss of formality.

Great Historic Event Those, the first American soldiers under arms to set foot on the banks of the Rhine, occupied the capital of Rhenish Prussia, consummating a momentous historic epoch.

Today the main forces had reached the west bank of the Rhine from Bielefeld, some 20 miles, and were within less than ten miles of the river at all points along the entire zone of occupation.

ty. Furthermore, it is considered that the question of honor is involved, inasmuch as Germany accepted the proposals in good faith. It is true that the severity of the economic conditions is largely due to the war, but this fact is not to be used as an excuse for the Wilsonian viewpoint, which makes all the more binding the allies' moral obligation to limit peace exactly to the contract to which they were a party.

ROBINSONS

TURN-OVER Distinctly Unusual, This Proposition

"TURN OVER" in this instance is used as a business expression, meaning the turn over of the capital invested in a business.

If a merchant makes a three times turn over of his capital it is considered doing well; if he makes a four times turn over, it is regarded as good; and the more often during the year that his sales show a turn over of his capital, the better it is.

So far this year I have made more than a five times turn over of stock capital, and I want to make a turn over for the single month of December. If this can be done it will be quite remarkable, and will certainly be very satisfactory to me. But I shall want a lot of help from the customers of the store; and as an inducement towards this end, I make the following unusual offer:

No Harmony Here Nor can there be found, even by the most liberal interpretation, any justification of the recent authoritative British statement that the central powers must pay the cost of the war to the limit of their capacity.

The relative importance of Peru's interests in Africa were shown by 1914 statistics quoted in the report: "Sixty-two-fourth of houses and a total capital of $39,100 were Chilean owned and 104 firms with a capital of $629,110 were Peruvian owned."
