Evidence in German Propaganda Investigation Shows Newspaper Man to Have Played Active Part

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A "leak" enabled J. J. Dickinson to obtain most confidential information in cabinet and conference circles, which was transmitted to the German agents and sent by wireless to the foreign office in Berlin, Lester testified in yesterday's German propaganda hearing.

These reports, at least some of them, were accurate in some respects, Dickinson evidently obtained his information by means of confidence on his part, Lester said.

Lester was asked to give the names of the thirty-one propagandists, but said that it was inadvisable to name them all at this time.

AGAINST LEAGUE OF NATIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A resolution declaring it to be the sense of congress that the United States should not enter into a league of nations, which would require us to aid in the settlement of European disputes, was introduced in the house today by Representative Huxley.

LASTING PEACE WITH JUSTICE IS THE OBJECT

League of Nations and Freedom of Seas Must Be Established As Part of and As Principles of the Treaty

BY ROBERT J. BENDER (Copyright 1918 by the United Press) PARIS, Dec. 14.—President Wilson, while still in bed, directed at 10 o'clock this morning that the American delegation to the peace conference, in carrying out this principle, stands squarely on these fundamental contentions:

First—The league of nations must be a part of the treaty, in order to insure a square deal for all the peoples concerned.

Second—The object of the sea must be one of the chief principles established through the league of nations, thus making it unnecessary for America to build a navy big enough to insure her against arbitrary action by any nation.

As Representatives Only FIFTH—All peace delegates should act as representatives of the new world, not as members of any nation.

The American conferees are understood to favor inclusion of Germany in the league of nations, but only on condition that she be treated as a belligerent.

No Pre-arranged Plan There has been some talk of a pre-arranged program having been formulated by Premiers Lloyd-George, Clemenceau and Orlando at the recent London conference.

The president feels strongly that Germany must pay for her crimes, but it is known to believe that the right way to collect—a way that would be consistent with high principles—is to determine just claims, then the method and possibility of payment; not to ascertain what Germany has that can be taken, and then parcel it out.

There are no difficulties between the view of President Wilson and the Allied committee regarding the wrong done by Germany. The only possible difference is regarding the method and scale of payments.

It is known that the president determined an agreement for establishment of the league of nations should be embodied in the treaty, for the reason that the treaty would be valueless were the league left to subsequent conference.

To Reduce Armaments A decision also is expected to be reached concerning reduction and apportionment of armaments both on land and sea, making it unnecessary for America to build a vast navy. It is believed that American public opinion, which is expected to favor construction of a navy equal to that of Great Britain if the league of nations is not formed, will play a most important part in determining the wrong done by Germany.

Says World Must Be Made Aware That Such Acts Cannot Be Ventured Upon Without the Certainty of and Adequate Punishment—Head of French Nation Replies With Review of Country's Aims in Development of French Ideals

By PHIL S. VERGUSON PARIS, Dec. 14.—President Wilson arrived in Paris, the present capital of the world, at 10 o'clock this morning.

Kaiser and Son Had Very Little Power

Crown Prince Tells of Incident in Which Both Had to Give in to Ludendorff

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 14.—Wilhelm as Kaiser had far less "power" than generally believed, according to remarks made by the ex-crown prince, in an interview published in the Handelsblad.

The former prince asserted that once, when the Prussian guards were ordered to make a frontal attack on a strategic position, he opposed the command and the Kaiser supported him. However, General Ludendorff threatened to quit and the Kaiser had to give in. The attack was made.

As to his own authentic locomotion in which the German general staff developed with astounding egotism its program of pillage and industrial annihilation, your noble conscience will pronounce a verdict on these facts.

President Wilson, in his address of welcome at the Paris conference, said that France and France awaited you with impatience. They were eager to acclaim in you the liberator of France.

France offers you her thanks. She knows the friendship of America. She knows your rectitude and elevation of spirit. It is in fullest confidence that she is ready to work with you.

President Wilson replied in replying to the address of welcome, President Wilson said at the official luncheon at the Palais Elysee today.

Great Efforts to Keep America Out of War

Berger Trial Given Over to Study of Literature Used by Various Defendants

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—"Forget the Lusitania" sentiments were read to the jury in the Berger trial here today. They were excerpted from appeals by various of the five American leaders on trial here, to keep America out of the war.

"Down with war," identified by Sam Lowenthal of a Radio Wisconsin printing house, as an order printed at Chicago, national socialist secretary, was read out by District Attorney Gilra.

"The submarine warfare is terrible. It is a part of the appeal," but so all war. The submarine is not directed at us. It doesn't threaten a national enemy. Letters of Adolph Germer were identified by his attorney, Joseph O'Connell. One of these urged a fight against the "American censorship law," described in the letter as a capitalist effort to get more men to fighting for them.

FRENCH PEOPLE OFFER WELCOME TO PRESIDENT

Demonstration as Special Train Pulls Into Paris Greatest Ever Witnessed in History of City

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMS
PARIS, Dec. 14.—"You will see in a minute what the people of Paris think of you, Mr. President," was Premier Clemenceau's radiant greeting to President Wilson, as the latter smilingly stepped down from his train at the Bois Boulogne station today. And he did.

Already from the packed windows on both sides of the station cheers were echoing cheer—"vive Wilson."

These demonstrations were started the instant the special train was sighted. They were redoubled when President Poincaré clasped Wilson's hands in both of his and said in English: "Mr. President, I am very glad to meet you."

Oratorical Basis All Records
But when the presidential party appeared on the street and came into view of the thousands there, the previous cheering seemed as a whisper. No such ovation had ever before been heard in Paris.

The president, who was the first one to leave the train, after shaking hands with President Poincaré, was presented to Madame Poincaré. Mrs. Wilson then stepped down to the red carpeted platform and, in the presence of the French president and his wife, Madame Poincaré handed Mrs. Wilson a bouquet of her favorite orchids, around which was bound a small American flag.

President's Lunch Together
Premier Clemenceau was next presented. He was followed by the members of the senate and chamber of deputies and other officials.

After the introductions were concluded, Poincaré slipped his arm through Wilson's and led the way to the far end of the grand avenue. There they inspected the guard of honor, which was drawn up in a rigid line at present arms. A band played "The Star-Spangled Banner," while the official party stood at attention. After the inspection, the party went upstairs to the waiting cars.

The president and his immediate party will lunch with President Poincaré at the Palais d'Elisee.

AMERICANS IN PARIS PLEASED WITH PROSPECT

Great Majority Heartily in Favor of Presidential Trip—Many Misunderstandings Will Be Cleared Up

BY ED. L. KEEN
PARIS, Dec. 14.—President Wilson's far-sightedness in visiting Europe is becoming increasingly apparent to the Americans here. They are generally convinced that it American ideals are to prevail and the United States is to take its proper place in world affairs, misunderstandings must be cleared up, as well as vital misinterpretations corrected.

There is no doubt that the proper gratitude for America's timely help in ending the war was strikingly demonstrated by the unexampled enthusiasm with which the president's arrival in Brest was hailed, but undeniably there are strong currents of jealousy and nationalistic self-interest in the outside countries which have been appreciably encouraged by anti-Wilsonianism here.

Utterances of Wilson's opponents in America have been spread throughout Europe. Some of these quotations are even more pro-British than the British themselves.

Want to Hear Wilson
All of which might seriously handicap the president's mission there were not a genuine, popular disposition on this side to listen and judge according to its merits, Wilson's own exposition of his principles.

Interest is most keen in how he will handle the arguments of those who have been recently misconstruing his principles especially such of the fourteen points as he considers most fundamental.

Tremendous questions are awaiting the arrival of the president, notably freedom of the seas, a league of nations, extradition of the kaiser and indemnities.

Better Get Your Hudson Now

No Open Model Super-Sixes to Be Built During Next Few Months. Factory Capacity Is Limited and Goes to Closed Cars.

Our allotment of Hudsons does not provide for open models—the seven and four passenger types—until late next spring

This means that all who get cars of that type in this territory during the next several months must choose from our present stock. It is not large. Only a few cars to meet four or five months' needs.

Just think, for a moment, of the value of the Super-Six and why it is so popular. More than 80,000 are in service. It has proved its value under every possible circumstance. During the past year and a half, when cars had to be of the right stuff or they failed because there was no expert service to keep them in condition, the Super-Sixes never faltered.

The reputation Hudson made for itself during that trying period has added a new glory to an already supreme car.

The reason is this: Production of Hudson Super-Sixes was to have been discontinued January 1st. Then the war came to a sudden end and automobile production was allowed to proceed. But a factory cannot instantly be turned from war activities to building motor cars. It will be June, at least, before Hudson production can be brought back to normal.

We now have a few cars of some of the more popular models. Don't you think it advisable to come and see what we have? When you know how limited our stock is, you will realize the need for prompt decision.

For the past four months we have been trying to accumulate a stock of Super-Sixes, but we were never able to get ahead. The demand took the Hudsons practically as fast as they were shipped.

PEACE CHANGES SITUATION FOR WAR WORKERS

Girls Returning to Homes From Employment in Departments Mingle With Soldiers in the Union Station, Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—In the procession of young soldiers that passed through the union station at Washington, D. C., in the first days after the ending of the war were many young women. Among the heterogeneous piles of luggage from camps were numerous suitcases. The luggage was destined for all parts of the United States; but it all might have been classified as "girls' home."

And "going home" was written on every tag hanging face. Girls released from government offices were not less happy than boys honorably discharged from army service. Both the girls and boys had accepted the burden of what was brought to them, and now more than ever were they glad to go home. For the government had taken care that the going home should mean more than mere family reunions; that it should mean waiting positions, real chances to build for the future.

Prepared for Homecoming
Through the United States employment service the most careful preparation has been made for reconstruction work. Each of its 800 branches has been asked by Mrs. Margaretta Neale, chief of the women's division of the service, to arrange for great community projects, and in this work the District of Columbia branch has given the fullest co-operation.

The women's division of the District of Columbia branch had provided first for the girls who wished to remain in Washington by obtaining lists of the needs of bureaus to which peace will divert much business. These bureaus quickly absorbed many clerks, whose experience in government work would be of value here as well as to other girls were placed merely by a transfer from one department to another.

Many Anxious to Go Home

Careful inquiry at the various bureaus brought out the fact that large numbers of the girls were impatient to return to their homes. In many cases the clerks desired to go back to domestic responsibilities, as scores had volunteered for war work while their husbands served in army or navy. Most of the expert stenographers had the assurance that their old positions would be open to them when they returned.

One of the activities of the employment service has been to encourage applicants for minor clerkships to take the civil service examinations, and more than 1,000 girls have qualified or taken the test. These girls are in line for vacancies, and while filling contingent positions have been able to wait patiently for their chances to procure permanent positions.

To Shorten Period of Illness

The District of Columbia branch of the United States employment service does not expect many difficulties in the demobilization of the girls, for their work will end gradually, since the period of non-employment shall be as short as possible, or that it shall not exist at all. With living expenses at their present mark, this is a most important consideration. When it is remembered that women's first economy is generally in food, the danger of impaired vitality or even illness from undernourishment is to be avoided.

In the redistribution of the workers many will leave the government service with experience that will be valuable and with training that will add to their efficiency. During the period of the war girls have been encouraged to improve themselves and to prepare for promotions. In numerous cases they have been able to raise the standard of their work and incidentally to increase their salaries.

FORMS NATIONAL CHAIN OF FORUMS

Security League Backs Plan for Consideration of Reconstruction.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—To stimulate public interest in the pressing problems involved in the readjustment of the affairs of the nation to a peace basis, and to provide an opportunity for the participation of all the people in the discussion of reconstruction measures, the National Security League announces today that it has taken the first steps in the organization of a nationwide system of "National Security Community Forums." Bodies of civic-minded citizens in cities and towns, large and small, throughout the country will be gathered together by the league upon the plan of the bylaws well known in rural districts. The league will perfect the organization of the "forums" through the medium of its 281 branches, scattered in all the states.

The attention of the "forums" will first be directed toward a discussion of the seven basic post-war activities of the National Security League, as set forth in the recent announcement of the reorganization of the league's work:

League's Plans

- (1) Urging a just and careful peace treaty.
- (2) Steadying the nation by a great propaganda for the maintenance of the principles of freedom, justice, law and morality.
- (3) Following up the post-bellum needs of sympathy and recognition of the soldier wounded.
- (4) Obtaining a just administration of law regarding naturalization.
- (5) Teaching the meaning and value of our constitution and the maintenance of our national integrity.
- (6) Creating a greater regard for representative government, as distinguished from mass administration. Protecting our national legislature from dangerous proletarians.
- (7) Maintaining a campaign for the use of the English language by all citizens and permanent residents.

BELGIANS IN ENGLAND ARE GOING BACK HOME

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(By mail)—There are 160,000 Belgian refugees in England, mostly in the London area. The question of their repatriation is being carefully thought out. The reconstruction committee, which has left London for Brussels, will work in consultation with the minister for the interior.

It is planned to send the railwaymen and the families back first to the coast, then repair and rebuild the railroads, thus facilitating transportation of refugees who return later. In many cases men will return to Belgium some time in advance of their families in order to help build their new homes and make things ready for their women and children.

Many Belgian children who arrived here at a tender age cannot remember any home other than England, and they speak English better than their native tongue. It is quite a common thing for Belgian parents to make use of their offspring as interpreters in the courts, at the doctor's, and recently, even to translate the posters which are posted over England regarding precautions against "flu."

England has done her best for the comfort and protection of Belgians who sought refuge here, and as the Belgians as a whole have been very frugal, most of them will carry back a little nest egg.

It is a far cry back to those heart-breaking days of 1914 and 1915, when the piteous groups of Belgians first arrived here, clanking their packages that held all their worldly goods, dazed and bewildered by the malignance of their flight.

WOULD MAKE MANILA GREATEST FREE PORT

MANILA, Nov. 13.—(By mail)—That Manila may enjoy all the commercial advantages to which her geographical position entitles her in the trade of the Far East, the Philippine legislature will be asked to declare her a free port. This recommendation has been made by the bureau of commerce and industry, and probably will be embodied in the annual message of the governor general, Francis Burton Harrison.

Hongkong and Singapore, the only free ports in the Far East, although not so advantageously situated as Manila, owe much of their prosperity to the vast bulk of commerce that enters freely and without tariff restrictions, the bureau states. With Manila a free port the Philippines could compete favorably and strongly with the other commercial centers lying at the gate of China. At present, Manila cannot be used as a base for the trans-shipment of goods, as the customs regulations cause expensive delay to the movement of commerce.

Within 1,000 miles of Manila are all the important commercial centers of the Far East. The bureau holds that Manila, as a free port, would become the greatest distributing center of them all.

HE USED TO SMILE BUT NOT SINCE WAR CLOSED

PARIS, Dec. 14.—The grandson of "Sitting Bull," the famous Indian chief of America, was an interesting convalescent in Base Hospital No. 49. He had enlisted in the early days of the war, had gone over the top and worked hard among the Hunns before he was wounded.

Nurses and doctors caring for him tried in vain to get more than a grunt out of him in response to questions while the other men in the ward called him "Gloomy Gus," because he never cracked a smile.

The Red Cross representative in the hospital, becoming interested, tried his hand at "cheering up" the Indian. Gifts of cigarettes and chocolate were received but without a change of expression.

"Don't you ever smile?" he demanded of the Indian one day, and for the first time Sitting Bull's grandson grinned.

"Sure!" he replied, "when I kill a boche!"

BUY NOW FOR CHRISTMAS

It was better to have finished holiday shopping before now, but it is better to buy for Christmas today than it will be to postpone shopping until next week.

The War Industries board and all the other governmental war-time agencies "in restraint of trade" have lifted their limitations upon holiday buying, and have switched around to the place where the government is urging "Christmas as usual."

Shoppers are urged to increase their sales forces to provide extra employment during the transition period from war to peace.

The true spirit of Christmas demands the consideration that is manifested in the "policy of shopping early."

A NEEDED "CLOSING ORDER"

The people of the Twin Falls country, where the ultimate development and prosperity has been held back for years pending the building of railroad outlets to the south and west, have more than an academic interest in securing as early "closing order" against the juggling in Congress of the question of the ownership of railroads.

It is impossible that relief is to be had in this direction until some definite policy is determined upon. With a definite policy established, however, there is every reason to believe that the gutting heads of the railroads will not long overlook the possibilities of providing adequate outlets for the Twin Falls county, nor linger longer in taking advantage of these possibilities.

AN INSIGNIA OF IDEALS

One hurried glance at the coat lapels or blouses next week will tell a lot about the ideals of Twin Falls men and women.

If the 1919 membership button of the Red Cross is being worn, the glance will register a flattering impression. This button is to be given to every person who pays the one dollar membership dues, but the dollar is the least significant thing about the transaction.

What the American Red Cross wants this Christmas is to have the world see that the American people are behind the Red Cross spirit. Universal membership will prove this. To record such membership, the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call is to be held the week before Christmas. No quota has been assigned to Twin Falls because it is planned to enroll everybody.

A NOBLE SOUL

William H. Hearst is a noble character, so much so that the Hearst press is willing to defend him to the bitter end in the ordeal to which he is subjected through the revelations of the various documents now being presented to the Senate investigating committee in connection with the work of the German propagandists in America during the war.

that the German government looked upon him as its best friend in American journalistic circles, Hearst is too smart for that, but it is interesting to note that it is in evidence that had certain of his literary creations seen the light of day after, rather than before, the passage of the Espionage Act, Hearst would have been amenable to the law, in the opinion of the Department of Justice Bureau chief, in charge of the investigations.

An interesting light is shed upon the attitude of the people of New York towards the famous publisher. New York, it is remembered, is where Hearst is chiefly active in a newspaper sense.

Mayor Hylan, supported by election by the Hearst press, and elected through the unpopularity of his opponent rather than because of any particular strength of his own, proposed a week or two ago to name Hearst as chairman of a committee having in charge the arrangements for the welcome of returning soldiers to America. Here is a resolution presented which shows how fully the New York public appreciated the fitness of Mr. Hearst for the honor sought to be conferred:

Resolved, That Mayor Hylan's appointment of William H. Hearst as Chairman of the reception committee to our boys returning from the great war is an insult to every soldier, sailor, parent, or kinsman of the same, and to every American, and the Mayor's action should be condemned by every good and loyal citizen.

A WORD TO CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS AND TO THE SHOPS

The war over, men coming home from the camps every day by the thousands, thousands more on their way back across the sea, still other thousands to follow in ship after ship, there never was any doubt that the American people as a whole would make of this the most joyous Christmas of their lives. Their never was any doubt that after satisfaction in the clothes they wore and the food they ate as their part of helping to win the war, the American people this year would yield themselves to a great, big burst of Christmas giving, which always means Christmas shopping. Now that the government has taken off the lid, giving a free rein to industrial, wholesale and retail interests for holiday trade, there isn't any doubt that many of the shops are

PREDICTS NEW OWNER OF BOSTON AMERICANS

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—That there is likely to be a change of ownership in the Boston American league team was indicated here today by Ben Johnson, president of the league.

"Several groups of men have come forward," said Johnson, "with offers for the Boston club. There will be a change this winter."

Johnson made it plain that the team will be home-owned, home-managed and home-controlled. He said that Harry France has agreed to sell and that the deal will be put through before the spring training trip.

GIVE REASONS FOR ENDORSING DISTRICT PLAN

Directors of Salmon River Settlers' Association Issue Signed Statement on Proposition Up for Vote

Over their signatures the directors of the Salmon River Settlers' Association have issued a statement of their reasons for endorsement of the plan for organization of the Salmon River irrigation district, which is to be submitted to vote of the resident electors on Wednesday, December 18.

The statement takes up and dispenses of the possible objections to the organization of the district and points out the following as advantages to be gained through its formation.

All resident electors eventually become members of the district organization.

They contribute very little of their own an equitable basis to the expenses incurred by the organization.

A dissenting minority cannot disturb or set at naught the wishes of the majority.

The organization has legal standing.

Upon vote of two-thirds of the resident land owners it can bond the lands within its boundaries.

It is vested with the authority to acquire, either by negotiation or condemnation (under the laws of eminent domain) such property rights as may be essential to the fullest success of the organization.

The irrigation district is a public institution similar to the school district or the city or the county government. Its expenses are met by taxation, collected through the usual tax gathering channels of the county.

Water for irrigation can be taken legally, either by its electorate directly or by its directors, is binding upon every water user of the district.

CHILDREN CROWD HALLS OF SCHOOL BUILDING WHEN WORK OF IMMUNIZATION BEGINS

Children Crowd Halls of School Building When Work of Immunization Begins — 200 Treated in One Day

OPEN ALL DAY

The office of the superintendent of schools will be open from 10 to 10 o'clock Monday morning as well as from 1 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. This is because of the great number taking advantage of the opportunity to take the serum.

The halls of the high school building here were crowded with little folk at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon when Mrs. Austin D. Thomas, a graduate nurse, began the work of immunizing against influenza by use of the serum inoculation. All of the pupils of the Twin Falls schools who applied for the treatment. A long line of children during the day passed through the superintendent's office, which had been fitted up for the purpose, and at the close of the afternoon 200 children had received the treatment here.

Balustrade Brags Better

Tiny flats were crowded and little faces expressed serious concern and determination not to whimper, as the children rolled up their sleeves and received the jab of iodine, administered by Mrs. Mary Murray, principal of the school, which was to mark the spot where the needle would be inserted. The look changed to one of immense relief after the operation was completed and they turned to give their names to Miss Frances Apple, principal of Washington school. Experience had shown them that "it wasn't nearly as bad as he thought it would be."

About one child out of ten was accompanied by its parents. The youngest child to receive the serum treatment was a baby 10 months old. Another child 14 months old also received the treatment.

Sanitary Precautions

Extraordinary precautions are taken against possible infection as a result of the inoculation. Several needles are used and each child receives the serum through a needle that has been freshly sterilized. Even the swabs with which the iodine is applied are used only once.

Three treatments with the serum at intervals of two days are required.

Plenty of Serum on Hand

It is supposed to extend the opportunity to every child in Twin Falls to receive the influenza inoculation. The enrollment of the Twin Falls schools is approximately 3,900. A considerable number are being inoculated prior to the provision for immunization.

An adequate supply of the serum has been procured for all children who may apply, and the work will continue until all the opportunity has been extended to all who wish to avail themselves of it.

IRRIGATION OF KENYON LANDS SEEMS CERTAIN

Further Investigations of Engineer Places Proposed Project in Favorable Light—Adds Lands to Twin Falls County

BURLEY—Approximately one hundred people interested in the irrigation of the lands southwest of this project and in the neighborhood of Kenyon gathered in the high school building on Saturday afternoon to hear Engineer E. V. Berg's report upon his further surveys and investigations of the proposition as outlined by him, says the Burley Bulletin. While the surveys and other investigations are still in progress, Mr. Berg is confident that the proposition of irrigating these lands and also a large body of land on the west side of the butte in Twin Falls county at the same time by pumping water directly from the river, after a point between Millar and Burley is practical, and that the costs are entirely in keeping with the high value of the lands when brought under irrigation.

The work of surveying the lands to be watered in Twin Falls county is going on at this time. It is hoped that the preliminary surveys and investigations of the entire project will be completed during the present month, so that a definite proposition as to lands to be covered and time and costs of constructing the irrigation system can be placed before those interested early in January.

Keeps Costs Down

The one thing in Engineer Berg's previous report upon this project regarding which many people were in doubt was the estimated costs of irrigating these lands. However, after a closer is still of the opinion that the costs can be kept down to his first estimates, or even brought under those figures, which follow:

A lift of 175 feet above the river will cover approximately 130,000 acres of land which will require 225 cubic feet of water, allowing one second foot for 80 acres.

Concrete.....$180,000
Pumping machinery.....$100,000
Transformers and switches.....$40,000
Pipes.....$100,000
Distribution system.....$50,000
Buildings, excavation, etc......$50,000
Engineering, superintendence, etc......$4,000

Total.....$704,000

Cost of pumping system approximately $40 per acre.

By irrigating another lift of 225 feet above the river an area of probably 20,000 acres more could be covered. A large part of this would be on the west side of the divide. The total cost for this lift would be approximately $350,000, or $17.50 an acre, and would include $12,000 and $40 an acre for the 35,000 feet, under an average lift of 200 feet.

If flood water is used with the exception of 1 acre foot per acre storage water during the summer season, an addition of about $5 an acre, as cost of this storage water, should be made to the above cost making a total of $40 an acre cost of system including water right.

INTEREST IN IRRIGATION DISTRICT ELECTION SMALL

Light Vote Is Cast for Directors of Burley Irrigation District

Ans. Submitted

BURLEY—Practically no interest was taken in the election of directors for the Burley irrigation district last Tuesday, says the Burley Bulletin. Few of the city voters were cast in all, and indications are that all members of the old board were re-elected.

Lack of interest in the election was due to the fact that there were no issues at stake, and that it was taken as a matter of course that the members of the old board would be re-elected. Just at the present the Burley irrigation district has little work to do, excepting acting in an advisory capacity with the reclamation service in the operation of the project. It was organized for the purpose of taking over the project at a later date, and in the hope that it would enable the farmers to take advantage of the cheap money offered through the farm loan act.

ENGINEERS PLAN FOR WIDE RANGE OF DISCUSSIONS

Head of Idaho Society to Meet Here in Joint Conference in January Outlines Topics for Consideration

At the coming engineering congress to be held in Twin Falls, in connection with the joint conference of the agricultural, livestock, engineering and irrigation societies of Idaho, January 13-16, discussions will deal with the various phases of engineering and its unifying branches of "special interest in Idaho," according to W. O. Cotton, head of Idaho Falls, president of the Idaho Society of Engineers.

Profit by Mistakes

"Our society has endeavored in the past few years to pay more attention to rendering papers which are not only readable by the layman, but are very interesting," Mr. Cotton said, "and it is through these annual conferences that our society has been able to discuss mistakes that have been made in irrigation, power and flood control already built and study a way in which those matters can be taken care of better in the future."

Transportation Big Item

"The matter of transportation by rail and by highway is now of great concern to the state. Now that we have an enormous production we must have transportation facilities not only to take care of these commodities, but to take care of them at the proper time, as some of the commodities raised in the state are perishable and must be taken care of at the proper time."

Conservation of Water

"The conservation of water in irrigated communities is also a very important subject. This conservation probably will depend upon the price of products and the scarcity of water, so in other words, as we have had more in demand water will be more carefully husbanded. Idaho is not lagging in her efforts to determine the source of the first and greatest losses which should be taken care of first."

ASK MEMBERS OF RED CROSS SHOW BUTTON

Christmas Roll: Call Workers May Repeat Solicitation to Join if Affiliation is Kept Concealed

On the even of the Red Cross Christmas Roll to enroll every American as a member of this great relief organization, Miss Beatrice E. Ostrander, county Red Cross chairman, has issued the following statement:

"Monday is the day when you will be asked to join the Red Cross. If you do not then, you will be asked, for during the week of the Roll Call, December 16-23, you probably will be asked again to join if you neglect it."

"Those who are unable to be reached by Roll Call campaign workers on account of sickness or other causes are asked to send their membership fees to Miss Ostrander. Their names will be entered on the records and later they may call at Red Cross chapter headquarters in connection with the hours of 8 and 5 o'clock and receive their buttons, window cards and anti-tubercular Christmas stamps."

"Business houses where all the employees are enrolled as members of the Red Cross during the Roll Call, will receive an honor roll."

For Permanent Record

"No receipts are to be given this year to subscribers to Red Cross membership in the campaign beginning December 16. Instead, each subscriber is to sign his or her name to a blank provided for this purpose. Space is provided for twenty-five names on each blank and the name of the campaigner. These blanks are to be collected and bound in a permanent record to be kept on file at the Twin Falls county chapter headquarters."

"Headquarters will be opened at the Hotel Arctic where the workers may make their reports and where those who escaped solicitation may pay their dollars and receive their buttons."

AUSTRALIA WILL DEMAND THAT HUN GAIN NO Foothold IN THE PACIFIC

Far Off Country Proclaims Monroe Doctrine for Its Protection Against Possibility of Future Trouble With Despoilers of Europe—Leaders Believe That America Will Not Find Fault With Their Point of View

BY W. W. DAVIES
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—America can hardly blame Australia for the adoption of America's own principle—the Monroe doctrine. This is exactly what Australia has done—she has proclaimed the Monroe doctrine for the South Pacific. This is the selfish aggression in the Australian attitude—it is simply a desire to work out her destiny free from aggressive enemies, free from the dark shadow of impending trouble which would forever hang over her shores if the Hun were allowed to return to the Pacific.

We do not know that America will desire to question Australia's claim to live in a good neighborhood. For that is what it amounts to. We do not like a burglar in the house, much less a war-murderer, living at our back door. The German has proved an indispensible evil to all these titles, and to whom He is a Hun. It matters little if we do not like the murderer, he reforms. There is no evidence of reform, yet, says the year to repeat the awful crimes that beset the years of Germany's military success. The German promise has been pronounced by the great leaders of the world, including President Wilson, to be worthless. What evidence have we that a pledge of good conduct, wrong grudgingly in the hour of abject defeat, will be anything but another scrap of paper? So Australia, happy at last to reach out again to the peaceful property, wants no sinister pickethausen, to mar her fair horizon.

Hope for Support

As I have said we do not know that America will dispute Australia's claim. We hope she will wholeheartedly support it. Australia says to one province "Hands off the southern Pacific!"

She says that the islands in the Pacific which were previously held by Germany must not go back to her misadministration. She asks practically nothing else out of the war. There may be a disposition on the part of some to say that Australia is too small a place, in point of population and influence to merit serious consideration. But this is essentially a war in which the rights of small nations have been vindicated, and although in this case Australia is not a nation, it is in the part of the great empire of Britain. In this matter she is almost in the position of a small nation asking that her own personal rights should be guarded. And the commonwealth, as one of the earliest participants in the war, has a right to be considered. She has not fought with any idea of aggression or plunder. The most of her men—the very flower of Australia, free volunteers in the cause of right, fought in the hopeless campaign at Gallipoli, for 400,000 men, with 100,000 dead, and 50,000 left in dead in-lieu hands. She had no territorial interest in fighting the Turk. It was but her willing, and glad contribution to the battle of righteousness that they were after ten of thousands had been slain at Gallipoli, no word of reproach was heard in Australia itself. I mention this campaign merely to show that Australia has a right to be heard.

The Case in Brief

This is her case:
1. The islands in the Pacific are capable of great development in the near future. They were never properly developed by Germany, but were mismanaged, and held as strategic points in case of conflict. So quickly did the Australians and New Zealanders develop them, however, that they were taken over by Germany before she could use them as bases to destroy trade.
2. The German administration of the islands in the Pacific reveals a record of cruelty to natives—a record of utter failure to colonize successfully.
3. If these islands were to be given to Germany they would be used as a base of possible naval operations. It is impossible to keep under strict surveillance the operations of a power on such remote waters. Even walls protesting the most peaceful intentions Germany might be sending submarines in pairs to these quiet islands—there to start at a given signal, a campaign of frightfulness against peaceful commerce such as we have witnessed during the past four years.

One of these islands, the German portion of New Guinea, is within 50 miles of the mainland of Australia. The coast line of what was once German New Guinea is made up of a series of small bays and inlets which would be admirable as a base for Uboat operations.

Large Country, Few People

5. Australia, a large country, but sparsely populated, has but limited financial resources. With her population of only 5,000,000 souls, she cannot afford the tremendous financial outlay that a policy of coastal defense against such a potential danger would entail. Nor should she be asked to face such an expenditure. She like other small communities, has won by her blood immunity from the specter of war, with this immunity she denied her.

6. America in common with Australia has an interest in keeping the Pacific free from the German. The trade routes from America to the Far East, from America to Australia, are menaced if ever the German is allowed to go back into the waters. There is a stretch of many thousands of miles of ocean between the west coast of America and China and Japan—from San Francisco to Australia, there is 6,000 miles. There is one way to guarantee that this great sheet of water shall be kept free for commerce. Shut out the Hun. The alternative is to keep up a tremendous costly system of policing these waters. Is there any choice?

7. Finally, Australia can be at once acquitted of any desire for territorial aggrandizement, because she does not necessarily ask that she herself shall occupy these islands. She simply contends that they shall not go back to Germany. If it can be shown that they should be taken by some other friendly power, Australia will not object. But Germany, she contends, must be barred.

PRESIDENT DECLARES CONFERENCE MUST REBUKE GERMAN TERRORISM

sympathy and unaffected friendliness toward the representatives of the United States and the representatives of France.

"You have been very generous in what you were pleased to say about myself, but I feel that what I have said and what I have tried to do has been said and done only in an attempt to break the thought of the people of the United States truly and to carry that thought out in action.

Right and Justice

"From the first, the thought of the people of the United States turned toward something more than the mere winning of this war. It turned to the establishment of eternal principles of right and justice. It realized that merely to win the war was not enough; that it must be won in such a way, and the questions raised by it settled, in such a way as to secure the future peace of the world and lay the foundation for the freedom and happiness of the many people and nations."

"Never before has war so terrible a vienge or exhibited more grossly the debasing influence of illicit ambitions. I am sure that I shall look upon the ruin wrought by the armies of the central empires with the repugnance and deep indignation that

Loyalty—

Loyalty does not pertain to words alone or deeds on the battlefield. It has a broad meaning which covers practically every deed of our lives. The nation has shown its loyalty in sending its armies to France. You have shown your loyalty in conserving food and other war necessities. You have bought Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps. You have given freely to War Work funds and Red Cross. You have shown your loyalty in honest support of your country in both word and deed—now.

Loyalty Makes a New Demand

During the war we were asked to conserve man-power—now we are asked to use man-power—to use materials as far as we need them. The reason for this request is to furnish employment for the returning armies. For that reason.

The Ban Has Been Lifted

No restrictions are placed on your Christmas buying. You may buy what you wish—no further need to stint yourself, your relatives or your friends. They should be remembered and made happy at this happy Christmas time.

We have stocked this year as never before. We are prepared for the biggest Christmas business Twin Falls has ever known. And every piece of merchandise is reliable and dependable.

Prices that will never be lower. Ninety-five per cent of our stock was bought before the last advance in prices. Come and see. Buy of Priobe, the Christmas Joy Maker.

they stir in the hearts of the men of France and Belgium, and I appreciate as you do, sir, the generosity of such action in the final settlement of the issues of the war as will not only rebuke such acts of terror and spoliation, but make men everywhere aware that they cannot be ventured upon without the certainty of just punishment.

Gave of Their Best

"I know with what ardor and gallantry the soldiers and sailors of the United States have given of their best that was in them in this war of re-emption. And they have expressed the true spirit of America.

"They believe their ideals to be so acceptable to free peoples everywhere and so rejoiced to have played the part they have played in giving reality to those ideals in cooperation with the armies of the Allies. We are proud of the part they have played—and we are happy that they should have been associated with their comrades in a common cause."

"It is with peculiar feelings, Mr. President, that I find myself in France, joining with you in rejoicing over the victory that has been won. The idea that had France and the United States are peculiarly close. I do not know in what other commensally we would have fought with more zest or enthusiasm. It will daily be a matter of pleasure with me to be brought into communication with the students of France and Mr. Allies in concerning the measures by which we may secure permanence for these happy relations of friendship and co-operation and security for the world at large such ready and devoted to its life as can be secured only by the constant association and

BIGGEST TREE DEMANDED HERE

Community Christmas Committee Meets and Formulates Plans for Event

The biggest Christmas tree that can be had, Christmas melodies and carols in symphonies and choruses, tableaux, a Santa Claus, toys, nuts and candies, all features in tentative plans formed at a meeting Friday evening at the rectory of Assumption Episcopal church of the Community Christmas Tree committee.

The tree's activities are so arranged as to be permissible under adverse conditions. The committee is desirous of securing the names of all children at the earliest possible date. Anyone who knows of children is asked to send the names to a member of the committee to make the survey, composed of R. H. Stenerson, Mrs. Kennedy Packard and Rev. E. B. French. A strict account is to be kept of all funds received and expended. Those who wish to donate to this purpose are directed to leave funds in care of Stenerson, E. B. French.
