HALE'S WORK OF LITTLE VALUE TO THE FATHERLAND

Hearst's Correspondent in Germany Is Main Feature of Session of Senate Propaganda Investigation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The expected storm in the senate propaganda investigation broke today when Senator Reed, after vainly protesting against the admission of certain evidence, declared he would "voice his protest on the floor of the senate."

Reed's objection, which was one of many made by different members of the committee during the day, was based on the propriety of admitting an article in the New York Call commenting upon the acquisition of William Bayard Hale to the ranks of the supporters of Morris Hillquit.

The article stated in effect that Hale had collaborated with President Wilson in writing "The New Freedom."

Reflection on President Wilson's "I protest against that. It is a reflection upon the president of the United States," declared Reed.

RETAIL SALES OVER COUNTRY BREAK RECORD

Canvas of Many American Cities Shows That Christmas Buying Is of Extraordinary Heavy Volume

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—St. Nicholas never up-ended his purse more greedily than he has this year in Chicago. Department store managers viewing the ravages of a locust swarm of shoppers which stripped shelves bare, said it was the biggest business Christmas in their experience.

Dr. Thompson, J. said D. F. Kelly, manager of Mandel Brothers' store today. "The signing of the armistice has caused a period of buying—not only of necessities, but of better class of merchandise—never before experienced by store men."

"The volume of business this Christmas is larger than I have ever seen," declared E. J. Lehman of the Fair. "A feeling of confidence pervades that has prompted prompt and sensible buying of high class goods."

"Tremendously increased volumes of sales have been experienced this season," said Henry G. Hart, telegraph manager of the Boston store. "The volume of sales has far surpassed the biggest in the history of the store and there is no doubt that the signing of the armistice is the cause."

John V. Farwell's business review today said: "Tremendous retail trade for the holidays throughout the country is greatly increasing the volume of the wholesale business."

Defendant Admits Doing His Part to Oppose Bond Sales

Adolph Germer Says He Distributed Pamphlets Denouncing the War

CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—Adolph Germer, one of the five socialist leaders on trial on espionage charges here, declared from the witness stand today that he could not answer "yes" or "no" to the question whether or not he believed he had supported the war.

Germer admitted distributing pamphlets which denounced the war and opposed the sale of Liberty bonds.

Germer said he had never given advice to any one to refuse to register for the draft. He denied any part in an alleged scheme of a radical wing of the party seeking to defeat the draft.

Germer denied authorship of a letter shown in evidence and which was purported to have been sent by him to Walter F. Dillon, a socialist organizer. He said he never saw the letter, which declared that "one must resist to the point of rebellion."

MILLIONS ARE WASTED THROUGH GROSS EXTRAVAGANCE AT PLANT

Report of Investigation By Department of Justice Into Affairs and Conduct of Hog Island Shippers Shows Extraordinary Mismanagement, Wifful Waste and the Dissipation of Enormous Sums of Money

TOTAL CONSTRUCTION COSTS NEARLY THREE TIMES THE ORIGINAL ESTIMATE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Gross mismanagement and extravagance permeated affairs of the American International corporation in building the great Hog Island ship yard at Philadelphia, according to findings of department of justice investigators made public at the White House today.

While no criminal responsibility is fixed, recommendations were made for examination by a board of experts into the corporation's expenditures. The investigators are G. Carroll Todd and Mark Hyman, assistant attorney general.

NO CHANGE FOR DEPRESSION IN ANY INDUSTRY

Investigation of Business Conditions Generally Leads to Belief That Country's Prosperity is Assured

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—Reassurance of the country's business conditions by the addition of new industries such as dye making and the boom expected in the building trades, will carry the United States at once into a period of great prosperity, according to reports gathered today by the United Press.

When restrictions on holding trades are fully raised and the need for manufactured and raw materials in Europe becomes keenly felt, business depression which may result from the stoppage of war work will be rapidly over come, it is believed.

Job Vacancies

Representatives of industry in thirty-four states, just concluding a conference of the advisory committee of the national council for industrial development, declare the nation is on the eve of "good times" with jobs a plenty for returning soldiers and men and women thrown out of work in munition plants.

Thomas McCusker, manager of the industrial association of Oregon, declared women were good enough for war work and they will be good enough for peace pursuits. They will not be dropped now that men are returning.

"Our section of the country has raled no war babies," said J. C. H. Reynolds, secretary of the Employers' Association of the Inland Empire, Spokane, Wash., and therefore, we are not affected by the loss of war contracts. We have about three years' work to catch up with and that alone will give employment to hundreds.

"Washington and Idaho alone covering a territory greater than France possesses vast natural resources and gigantic opportunities."

Similar optimism was expressed by H. E. Steward, manager of the Alabamian Manufacturers' association, Birmingham, Fred Bagley, secretary of the California Manufacturers association, Oakland, Carl M. Hinton, manager of the Colorado Manufacturers and Merchants association, Denver, and Frank Ringer, commissioner of the Nebraska Manufacturers' association, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Reports from Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Virginia, Ohio, and other war industries centers showed remarkably good in the trade possible picture. Dye factories of huge dimensions have been built, the Dept. interests to take place of the monster shell and explosives producing plants which made new cities in several sections.

After turning back to the building of automobiles.

Detroit, industrial center of Michigan, is gradually returning to old time pursuits, with automobile manufacturing leading.

IDAHO WEATHER
Rain or snow tonight and Saturday.

The report says officials of the corporation attempted to justify their position by explaining that they were forced to sacrifice economy for speed. They claimed also that, in giving them a second contract, the United States shipyard had received "one of the best legal managements but the increase from $21,000,000, the first estimate of the yard's cost, to $61,000,000, was not accounted for to the full satisfaction of the investigators, says the report.

GAVE HUSBAND POISON UPON QUEER EXCUSE

Los Angeles Woman on Trial for Murder Offers Peculiar Reason for Desiring to See Him Dead

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 28.—"I gave him the poison because I loved him and he was suffering so."

That is the explanation given by Mrs. Gertrude M. Gibbons, held in the city jail, charged with first degree murder, of why she bought poison for her husband, Frank Gibbons, who died Sunday.

"We were unhappy," Mrs. Gibbons admitted, "but I loved him and oh, how I miss him."

"At three weeks she cried for the first time since her arrest late Tuesday."

"If you love some one so much you cannot bear to see him suffer—to see him change and grow sullen and unhappy—is it murder to help him die?"

"Yes, it is not. His soul was reborn immediately in the body of a new born babe. I know that. And I know he is happier than he was here."

Not a Murderer

"I am not a murderer."

But the police think differently.

"She" was tired of Gibbons," declared Captain of Detective Haim in a statement today, "and she justified her act with the belief that his soul would return to earth reincarnated."

Investigation of the case of Mrs. Mad Murphy, said to have become ill Sunday after eating holla, was sent by Mrs. Gibbons at noon today, had revealed nothing of importance.

Investigation of a report that Mrs. Gibbons had a legal husband living in Boston was started by the police.

Capitalists Were Strong for League

Rockefeller and Carnegie Corporation Gave Liberal Sums to Institution

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—John D. Rockefeller and the Carnegie corporation were the largest contributors to the national security league, whose aim is propaganda, Charles E. Lydecker, head of the league, told the house investigating committee.

Lydecker said, gave $25,000, and the Carnegie corporation had promised $100,000 and actually given $100,000. Lydecker himself disclaimed any connection with steel or munitions makers.

The session was largely taken up with organization of the league, the personnel of its active officers and executive committee and a list of eight measures, which the league took as "an acid test" of congressmen's attitude toward preparedness.

Stewart Menden, in 1904, was in conference with Representative Augustus Gardner, who perceived the defenseless condition of this country. Lydecker said: "The result of those talks was a meeting November 23, 1914, and the national security league was organized."

Robert M. Milroy, now receiver of AMGO from the league as head of its educational committee, and Henry La-West $8,400 as secretary, Lydecker said.

TOOK NO CASH FROM GERMANY

Berger Defendant Declares Socialist Party Was Never Subsidized

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—"The American Socialist party has never received one cent from the German Socialist party or any other German or pro-German organization," declared Adolph Berger, one of the five defendants in the Socialist trial here.

Answering a direct question by Assistant District Attorney Fleming whether financial aid had been given the Socialist party by German interests, Berger asserted the party's books were available for proof of his statement that no such aid had been received.

Berger said that the mailing list of the American Socialist had been sent to Victor Berger, publisher of the Milwaukee Leader and another defendant at Berger's request.

Mrs. W. I. Thomas, wife of a former professor at the University of Chicago, was asked by the prosecutor whether she felt obligated to the government after it had entered the war.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Thomas.

"Then why did you make statements opposing the conduct of the war?" she was asked.

"Because I believed we ought to have had a political offensive against Germany instead of a military one to assure a just and lasting peace."

Sends Representatives to Points of Demobilization in Effort to Provide Work for Soldiers and Sailors

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 28.—Representatives of the United States employment service now are stationed in approximately 60 army camps and cantonments in this country to furnish information to called men as to employment after discharge. Instructions sent today to these representatives state that as each soldier goes through the discharge procedure, he is to be asked if he wishes to have assistance in finding work from the bureau for returning soldiers now being established in every city and town in the country.

Each man desiring such assistance will have filled out for him a card, showing his name, the town at which he expects to apply for assistance, the kind of position wanted and such other information as the time allowed will permit.

Wherever possible, the name of his last employer also is to be included. When filled out, the representative of the federal employment service will sort the cards by states and mail them to the federal bureau of the employment service for the states in which the men intend to apply. Soldiers also are to be told that the bureau for returning soldiers are ready to advise them on questions which will confront them on their return.

The camp representatives of the employment service also were instructed today to wire the federal directors for the states when any large number of men are being discharged for their states, giving the number who will apply for assistance, the predominating kinds of occupation sought, the approximate time of arrival and the important points in the states to which large numbers are going.

W. W.'s on Trial Laugh Heartily as Various Documents are Read Into Record

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 28.—Reading from edited I. W. W. literature, the government today in the conspiracy cases against 48 defendants presented propaganda declared to be in direct violation of the espionage laws of America into the war, in I. W. W. printing establishments.

The defendants gleaned considerable amusement from the reading especially of poems. Many of them laughed so loudly that the United States marshal rapped for silence at times.

Following is the ending of one chorus: "You shall not keep them in the pen or send them forth to die Or fifty thousand men shall know the reason why."

Death in Colorado of Son of Fred Foss of Twin Falls Mourned

The death from pneumonia following influenza on December 10 at Golden, Colorado, of Henry Foss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foss of Twin Falls, was the subject for the following article from the Colorado Transcript, published at Golden:

Henry Foss, one of Golden's prominent young business men and one of the city's most popular citizens, succumbed to influenza and pneumonia on Tuesday morning, at 3:30, after an illness which extended over eight days. The death of Mr. Foss came at a great shock to every one in Golden, who he was so well known, and he will be missed by a large circle of friends.

Deceased was a native of Iowa, having been born in Earlton, last state, thirty-one years ago. He received his schooling in Noola, Iowa, graduating from high school there. After leaving high school he studied pharmacy, and came to Colorado twelve years ago, being employed in drug stores at Greeley. He later entered the drug business for himself, owning stores in Evans and LaSalle. A little over five years ago he purchased a drug business in Golden and formed the Foss Drug company, which became one of the city's most successful business enterprises.

Six years ago Mr. Foss took as his bride Miss Dorothy Allan, of Georgetown. His wife and an infant son survive him. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foss, of Twin Falls, Idaho, two sisters and three brothers. All three of the brothers are in the army, two being in France.

Mr. Foss was a member of the Golden Masonic lodge and the Greeley lodge of Elks.

Henry Foss was a big-hearted, generous man, always ready to aid a friend, or to extend a helping hand to a person or a family in distress. He had extended aid to scores of poor people, and few people ever knew of these unassuming kind acts. A needy person in distress was never without assistance if Henry Foss knew of the case.

Henry Foss, with his big heart and cheerful disposition, will be missed in Golden, and scores of friends join in mourning his untimely taking away.

Nation Requires More Winter Eggs

Department of Agriculture Agency Gives Facts in Situation

Every poultry farm house in the United States should be made a busy egg factory this winter, according to the home demonstration department of the Twin Falls county farm bureau which offers its services at the disposal of anyone interested in the production of the proper methods of poultry raising.

An urgent necessity existing for a large output of eggs this winter is pointed out in the following statement of the home demonstration department: Storage stocks are 21 per cent less than a year ago and are being consumed rapidly.

The United States must share its egg output and its storage eggs with Europe.

Importation of Chinese dried eggs stopped in February, 1918, and bakers are now using shell eggs, thus adding to the demand.

The needed increased output of the egg this winter is the chief reason for the skill and resourcefulness of every farmer and poultryman.

Even with maximum production, conditions point to profitable returns from every fresh egg marketed.

THE HELPING HAND

Every soldier returning from France is loud in his praise of the Red Cross, not only because of its service among the sick and wounded but because of the manifold ways in which it has aided the soldiers and kept them in touch with their families.

For example: "A mother in this country is anxious about her boy who has not written home for some time. She makes inquiry through the proper bureau of the Red Cross at Washington. This request is forwarded to France and a Red Cross searcher is immediately assigned to locate the boy. In a short time he is found and the anxious mother is relieved by word from him or as to his condition if he has been injured. If he has been killed the exact place of his burial is furnished and a photograph of the grave will later be sent to the family. In this manner also the Red Cross has located men in German prison camps and relieved the anxiety of the parents and friends by advising them of their condition.

The Red Cross has also been extremely helpful to the families of soldiers and sailors. In many cases allowances to wives and mothers and allowances under the war insurance law have been delayed. The Red Cross has furnished temporary aid to thousands of such dependents.

Far more important, however, than any financial assistance is the other class of help that has been extended to the families of soldiers, such as in cases of sickness and inability to keep in touch with loved ones at the front. The family should bear this in mind when asked to renew membership in the Red Cross and to secure new members. This wonderful organization has done much and it now asks but little from the people.

Lower Prices?

—Not Yet Awhile

SOME people are hesitating about buying clothes now. Because war is over, they assume that prices will suddenly drop.

All wrong: The wool from which next Spring's clothes will be made is already delivered to the manufacturer. He paid a high, war-time price. He will have to sell them to the dealer—and the dealer to you—at a price in proportion to the cost of the raw material. When the price of wool lowers, clothes for the following year will be cheaper.

But so far, wool is still up.

Authorities state that according to present indications, it will stay up for six months after the Government releases a large supply for civilian use. If raw wool comes down in price by next July, you can expect to buy cheaper clothes in the spring of 1920—but not until then.

The Kuppenheimer Suits and Overcoats we are showing at $30, $35, $40, $45, $50 and $60 are unusual values which will be unsurpassed for a long time to come.

ASKS DAMAGES FROM TELEGRAPH COMPANY

John Finks Claims Delay in Transmission of Message Caused Financial Loss

John Finks, manager of the Anchor Hay, Grain and Seed company, through his attorney, H. C. Hazel, filed Thursday in District court here an action against the Western Union Telegraph company claiming damages in the sum of $1,000 on account of the alleged failure of the defendant corporation to deliver promptly a message under date of August 31, 1917, ordering a wheat settling device known as an Emerson skitter from a Detroit manufacturer. The use of this device, or one similar to it was made incumbent upon dealers in wheat under the provisions of the grain standards act of 1916. Failure to deliver the message ordering the device to be shipped by express, the plaintiff alleges, resulted in financial loss to him in the sum named.

TWIN FALLS MAN INVADES CHICAGO WITH IDAHO SPUD

H. J. Kingsbury Sells Two Car-loads to Former Neighbors for $3000—Uses Advertising to Eliminate Middle Man

That the consumer will buy direct from the farmer if given the opportunity has been proven by H. J. Kingsbury, who returned Saturday from Chicago after spending a month in the windy city. While there, Kingsbury disposed of two carloads of apples and two carloads of potatoes, the latter at a fancy price.

Flaunts Patrons Among Neighbors

Last year, Kingsbury was unable to dispose of his apples, which he grew on his ranch adjoining the city, at a figure which would net him a profit, and he took them to Chicago and sold them at a good price to his neighbors at the year's end. So, please direct your purchases to him. He has friends with whom they sold their friends found a much greater demand for them and could have sold hundreds of boxes more than he had. Consequently for him to sell the price at $2.75 a box before the others would have netted a much larger sum for them.

Adds Spuds This Year

This year he added potatoes. Specially selected, "Netted Goms" were taken. They were put up in 100-pound bags and sold at a good price. The Chicago buyers had eight hours to look at his goods and in that time Kingsbury was able to deliver right from the truck to the homes of his customers.

Orchards Good Investment

That the local farmers will soon be pulling up their trees is the opinion expressed by Kingsbury. The late Jonathan is making a reputation that cannot fail to bring a great demand for it in the future. They are selling at $4 a box and the demand is greater than the supply.

While in Chicago, Kingsbury arranged for three distributing centers in other parts of the city and next year expects to be able to dispose of a considerable quantity of apple and potato. His apples are sold under a special trade mark and every mail order for apples which he cannot fill.

A third car of potatoes is now en route but that is all that is sent until after the colder weather is over. It is his expectation to make a large shipment in the spring, taking advantage of the fact that eastern potatoes do not keep as well as western. A carload will be packed in apple boxes and sold to a fancy trade at a fancy price.

Printers' Ink Pays

At the present time over 2,000 people are eating what they know to be Twin Falls products. With the extension of this mode of selling on a large scale, Twin Falls will naturally become a household word in thousands of homes in the east. The advertising campaign to sell the apples and potatoes cost about $300, which brought orders for over 3,000 boxes of apples or bags of potatoes.

DECKER & HUNT

TWO SHIPLoads OF TROOPS ON AMERICAN SOIL

Transports Dock With Distinguished Army of Military Talent Fresh From Battle-fields of Europe

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The 23th brigade, field artillery, commanded by Brigadier-General R. W. Young, a grandson of Brigham Young, reached New York today aboard the U. S. transport H. R. Mallory. The brigade includes the 143rd, 144th and 145th field artillery, which will entrain at once for Chicago. The men come principally from California.

The steamship Manchuria, also an American transport, arrived today, bringing 160 officers and 4,003 enlisted men. They include a part of the 12th field artillery, part of the 50th field artillery, the 104th ammunition train, headquarters company of the 62nd infantry, the 117th field artillery and 10 officers and 90 men of the 31st division. Also aboard the Manchuria were 200 sick and wounded men. This ship brought Brigadier-General Robert E. Steiner and John L. Hayden.

Lieutenant I. G. Cox, Lexington, Virginia, recommended for the D. S. C., jumped from the Mallory as she tied up at her dock and pressed for an explanation of his wounds and war cross, modestly said he had been accused of attacking a machine gun nest, single-handed. From others aboard the ship it was learned that during the advance in the St. Mihiel salient, Lieutenant Cox crept behind a German machine gun and put it out of business without any help.

Shell Gata Several D. D. Duncan of Portland, Oregon, wounded in the Argonne fighting, told how a colonel, a major and four others were wounded by the shell which put him out of business.

Lieutenant Harry Donkerly of Yuma, Arizona, was the most seriously wounded aboard the ship. He was carried off on a stretcher.

Lieutenant Bill Slick, Denver, was among wounded officers aboard the ship.

Rate Lower Than Canadian Charge

Evidence Before Utilities Commission Brings Out Later-est Testimony

BOISE, Ida., Dec. 20.—At the electric heat hearing Thursday before the Idaho public utilities commission, it was shown that the average cost to customers of the Idaho Power company for electric energy was less than 1 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour, or a cent less than the price of 2 1/2 cents per kilowatt hour in Canada under the Toronto government ownership system, which had been testified to by a leading advocate of state ownership in Idaho as being a fair charge.

The Idaho average rate was obtained from the company's total gross annual revenue and its delivered output for the past year. Idaho farmers are given a rate of 1/2 cent average per kilowatt hour and in the case of the largest electric mining power for irrigation pumping, less than 2/3 cent. The total taxes paid by the Idaho Power company represents a cost of a quarter of a cent per kilowatt.

General Manager W. T. Wallace testified that if his company had the Canadian rate quoted, its gross receipts for the year ending November 1, 1919, would have been a million dollars more.
