MONSTER DIVER LIES QUIETLY IN BRITISH HARBOR

Potentiality for Evil in Days Gone by in Sharp Contrast to Present Conditions Among German Submarines

By EDWIN HULLINGER
ABOARD UNDER-SEA CRUISER U 117, HARWICH HARBOR, Dec. 10 (By Mail).—The U 117, which during June, July and August cruised up and down the American Atlantic coast, sinking sailing vessels, tugs, barges, and coast-wise passenger liners, lies under a thick fog tonight in Harwich Harbor, relaxed to a curiosity.

Just up the harbor floats a fleet of 10 other former German U-boats, tied up in rows and threes.

Stripped of her crew and potentiality for frightfulness, the monster submarine is nestling alongside a sister diver, while English sailors search her for looby traps.

In her empty control room the butt ends of her two periscopes—one for navigation and the other for range-finding—jawing useless, with no one to look through them.

She returned last September to Kiel from a 3-months cruise in American waters, with a record of 40,000 tons of shipping sent down, according to her crew.

From her cargo racks in the rear to the torpedo tubes in the bow—through a greasy, queer-smelling jungle of steel rods, and tubes, tiny steel-walled compartments joined by manhole doors, through the crew's quarters, the office and captain's cabin, the control room, the kitchen, the engine and electric board rooms—is close to 300 feet.

The only variation in the steel lining of the passageway is the captain's cabin, where I am writing this—a pretentious little den about eight feet square, with oak-paneled walls. The door is the door of a cupboard. There is just enough room for a lounge, upholstered in beautiful imitation leather (the captain's bed) a little oak desk, where he wrote his log, and a small oak armchair, with an upholstered cushion.

The only other hint of luxury in the ship is the leather upholstery on the officers' berths in the adjoining cabin.

Both are simple enlargements of the direct end-to-end passageway of the ship.

Had Large Capacity
 The U 117 could shoot twenty-eight torpedoes without refueling in less than a mile-carrying capacity of forty miles, and a 4-inch gun on her deck in front of the conning tower.

She has three shelves of conning tower on top of the conning tower surface travel, in the upper control room (in the lower part of the conning tower) for semi submerged or near-the-surface travel, and the lower control room, still further down, for deep submerged sailing. A third steel deck, running along through the manhole, in the ceiling connects the three.

Here, squinting into the periscope, with one hand resting on the engine room telegraph handle, the captain directed the actions. Behind him, with his back to him, stood the pilot, at an iron steering wheel set perpendicularly in the wall.

The life of a German submarine sailor was a series of climbs. He climbed from his narrow iron bunk in the morning to bump into the bunk across the aisle. He squeezed down the narrow passageway to the tiny wash-room. He ambled a little further along to another small compartment, where the cook bashed over a square electric cooking range with a cooking surface about thirty inches square on top and a small oven below.

He probably returned to his bunk to eat his rattled, for there is no dining room. Perhaps he went back to the torpedo or mine room, where there is a small open floor space about 10 by 8 feet.

Or, if the submarine happened to be running on the surface, he climbed by the narrow aisle ladder through the hatch (a manhole with a water-tight lid) to the deck.

Then, if he were an engineer's helper, he worked in a narrow aisle between two sets of Diesel engines.

If he were in the torpedo crew he would sweat under a constellation of steel-cased electric bulbs in a long, low-ceilinged compartment on the lowest deck of the boat. He entered through a manhole in the wall, squeezed down an aisle between two rows of torpedo racks to the tubs one, where he had a small free space.

Riots Start When Negro Soldiers Look Balloon

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Seventy-five negro soldiers, members of the quartermaster corps and the Fifteenth infantry, are under heavy military guard at the army building in Brooklyn today after having looted several saloons and starting a riot late last night.

The saloon men refused to serve men in uniform, whereupon they helped themselves. Police were called but being unable to cope with the situation they notified the quartermaster's department, which sent military police to quell the riot.

ROAD THE CLASSIFIED AD

Germany Can Rebuild Boats But Never Morale

A silence which spoke only of contempt was the attitude of the British naval officers and men when this great event in the history of the war transpired, at Harwich. It is the first picture to arrive here of the surrender of the German submarine to allied naval leaders. The morale of Germany's navy is broken for all time—the surrender of such a great sea fleet without making one real fight of it. The inserted picture is of Admiral Tyrwhitt of the British navy, who took the surrender of the U-boat.

FIXES LIABILITY FOR MAN HURT

State Industrial Accident Board Allows Alex Lawson Sum of $2,640.25

Findings of fact and conclusion of the state industrial accident board in the application of Alex Lawson for compensation under the workmen's compensation law of Idaho, against Charles H. Moll of Twin Falls, have been filed for record in the office of the county clerk. The board finds that Lawson is entitled to compensation in the total sum of $2,640.25, of which amount $276.25 is for medical attention, $372 is for loss of time and $1,992 is for specific indemnity for permanent injury. Of this amount $876.25 already has been paid by the employer.

Lawson was hurt while at work on March, 1918, in the construction of a steel bridge near Twin Falls. He was struck with a 1,500 pound steel girder with the result that he sustained a compound fracture of his right ankle and other injuries, totally disabling him from that time to the present.

FORMER STATE OFFICIAL IN OIL FIELDS OF DIXIE

Ex-Tennessee Governor Sweatt Starts the Game in Kentucky with Excellent Prospects

BOISE.—The lure of oil took Lou Sweatt, former lieutenant governor of Idaho, to Louisville, Ky., says the Capital News. Report from there indicate that he is on the highway to fortune as against the possible political fame once presumed to be his ambition. Mr. Sweatt is up to his neck in oil, judging from newspaper and other reports. He has organized the Frye-Sweatt company, with offices at 1404 Starke building and nearly 100 acres of land in a heavy oil producing section.

Makes Money Hitting Bull

Money is being made down there by leasees or owners of oil land by doing nothing, for a Louisville newspaper records a refusal of $20,000 for a two-thirds interest in a 400-acre lease, representing a rate of $600 an acre. Another lease refused $500 an acre and the Sweatt company figures it has been ordered to an equivalent of the capitalization of $50,000 by increase in the value of its holdings irrespective of any oil.

The company is going ahead with drilling, however, the Louisville paper states.

Going Up

The Louisville market reports quote several stocks at over $200 that were sold at $10, the par value, with dividend statements from 5 per cent a month to 100 per cent, as in the case of Laurich, from August 1 to December 1 of this year.

Like the ladies wearing apparel in Hawaii, they seem to "be going up, going up all the while."

The many friends of Mr. Sweatt in the state will rejoice at his good fortune.

HELMET SAVES LIFE OF KIMBERLY MARINE

Bryan Coppinger Writes of Narrow Escape from Death in Action—Is in America

(Special to The News)
KIMBERLY—A letter received from Bryan Coppinger states that he is back in the United States here, and that he was wounded October 6, 1918, by a shell which exploded and a piece struck his helmet above the eye and glanced backwards to the back of his head, leaving a bad scar but that he is rapidly recovering and hopes to be home soon.

C. E. Tozier is recovering after an attack of pneumonia following influenza.

W. H. Gosword has moved to the north side, where he purchased a ranch from Dr. T. O. Boyd.

The picture show in Kimberly opened Christmas day, after being closed several months on account of the influenza epidemic.

Dr. J. N. Davis has rented the room above the drug store and will have his office in connection with Dr. W. W. Fisher, dentist.

Mrs. J. N. Davis and baby have had a slight attack of the influenza. Dr. H. Denton expects to leave for California on a business trip for the Farmers Grain & Milling company. F. E. Wilson and P. H. Jones are in Seattle this week with a shipment of three cars of hogs.

BABY PAINFULLY BURNED IN KETTLE OF HOT WATER
 Youngest Child of Clyde Duncan of Coak Creek Meets With Serious Accident.

(Special to The News)
ROCK CREEK—Monday morning the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Duncan fell into a kettle of boiling water and was severely scalded. The mother, just cleaning the kettle from the stove and placed the lid loosely over it. The child leaped against it and the lid slipped, leaving the child into the water to such a manner as to scald his back from the neck to the knees. A doctor was called and made the little fellow as comfortable as possible, but he is still in much pain.

Robert Brose returned Friday from the Diamond A. ranch, where he had gone to take Miss Helen to nurse the family of her sister, Mrs. Jones. He is now able to be up but Mrs. Jones has the pneumonia, following influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Cooper and Mrs. Cooper's brother, Douglas, of Burley spent Sunday visiting at the home of Mrs. Cooper's aunt, Mrs. D. P. Albion. They returned to Burley the same evening.

Griff Erickson, who was called for the service, in September and he located at Gary Lewis returned to Crooklet home Friday. Mr. E. was detained at Rutledge, Montana several weeks because he failed his registration card, on his return when called on to present it.

Among the Twin Falls shoppers from here Friday and Saturday were Mrs. and Mrs. L. M. Van Eaton, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Larver, Mrs. Robert Brose, Mrs. Bernard Stricker, Mrs. A. P. Murray, Mrs. C. V. Donora, Ashby Murray, Jr., Dolph Murray, Robert Brose, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Crockett and C. J. Donora spent a short time in Twin Falls Monday.

IN RUSSIA Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, has voted in this country an inquiry which has previously been urged in Great Britain and possibly in other allied nations, serving to draw public attention to the fact that our fighting men with those of our allies are even at the present time waging grim warfare in Russia.

It is to be anticipated that an explanation as satisfactory as that given by Sir Admiral Goddard of England in response to the British inquiries is to be rendered by those in charge of affairs in this country.

Altho intervention in Russia was made imperative, Admiral Goddard reminds, not only to assist the Czecho-Slovakia in their struggle to escape from Russia and take their places with the forces fighting against the arch-enemies of human rights, and to prevent the further removal to Germany military stores at Vladivostok and other ports that the Bolsheviks are turning over to the enemy, but to repossess the champions of civilization were in duty bound to make the appeal of those who were struggling to establish a responsible democratic government in Russia.

It will not do in the same breath to approve warfare against the Hun and condemn the use of force against the Bolshevik.

Recent events, indeed, have shown beyond peradventure of a doubt that the Hun and the Bolshevik are one and the same.

The overthrow of the Bolshevik wherever he is to be found is a duty incumbent upon the champions of the rights of humanity which is as imperative as life itself to be evaded as was ever defensive warfare against the Hun.

Parsons: A collection of the best to be found, and treated, the smaller murrain, but the deep are dumb—Sir Walter Raleigh.

Inconceivable: "Did you ever notice" queried the speaker, "that man who will stick his hand out to see if it's raining and then become puffed if it catches a drop on it?"

The Old Order Changeth: The old-fashioned lover who used to pluck a guitar under his sweetheart's window now has a son who phones to his girl to meet him at the drug store.

Famous Names Come High: A collection consisting of the autographs of Lord Nelson and the captains who fought under him in the battle of Trafalgar was recently sold at auction for $200.

What's a Feller to Do? "It's a funny thing," observed the facetious philosopher, "my friend Jones says he isn't married because he can't afford a wife, and I can't afford a wife because I am married."

Homonym: "Considering the rapidity with which a dollar slips away from one," observed the too small, too quiet man, "who were the lope large-coller, 'one dollar under that it is made of quick silver.'"

One Thing Man Must Do: Nature never provides for man's wants in any direction, bodily, mentally, or spiritually, in such a form as that he can simply accept her gifts automatically. She puts all the means of power at his disposal—but he must make his lever.

Majesty of the Law: "There, now!" sternly commanded Constable Sam T. Sloopington, the recognizable member of Petrus. "You fellows have on there! Scatter out! You're blocking the sidewalk so folks can't get along. And, besides all that, I want to see a little of that: there dog fight myself before it is all over!"

Barnacles on Warships: Warships have to be cleaned on the outside. On one ship alone 200 men worked all day scraping off 600 tons of animal and plant growth. This incredible quantity of sea life had accumulated in less than two years, during which time the ship had traveled many thousands miles. The weight of the barnacles was so great that from 25 to 40 per cent more coal was consumed in maintaining the normal speed of the boat.

Many Have Felt the Same Way: Nothing is to be said in commendation of the spirit of the man who recently advertised in a London newspaper: "Loud; second-hand gramophone, bowler hat, top hat. Many people, however, not in London but in many other towns the world over, are only too familiar with the circumstances which provoked this venturesome determination. Such circumstances certainly constitute one of the mistakes which will need to be seen to sooner or later."

Wet Moon: A "wet moon" is when one horn of the crescent of the new moon is much lower than the other. It is a bowl turned up on edge and liable to hold water. The wet moon is a popular but fallacious sign of coming wet weather.

COLORED LIST Killed in Action: Capt. J. Moore, Denver; Pvt. R. E. Seibert, Colorado Springs; Pvt. Stephen T. Hart, Denver; Pvt. Wm. E. Jeffrey, Hotchkiss.

Wounded Severely: Pvt. Alex Berger, Denver; Pvt. Marcel Trullio, Clover. Wounded—Degree Undetermined: Pvt. Earl L. Lumm, Colorado Springs; Pvt. Earl L. Payne, Olin; Pvt. Henry W. Johnston; Pvt. Roy A. Eppers, Flager; Pvt. Vinton A. Buding, Florence.

Wounded Slightly: Lieut. Robert S. McBride, Denver; Pvt. Fred DeLo, Montrose; Pvt. Wesley E. Stevens, Fort Collins.

Don't Judge Harshly: Many times out of ten there is an explanation for what seems unreasonable upon first thought. Wait a while before passing judgment.

The Prehensile Buffalo: A huge buffalo with enormous horns is conspicuous in prehistoric rock drawings lately found in Africa. The African elephant is also a striking feature, and other animals such as the lion, leopard, gazelle and domestic goats and sheep.

She Knows What It Means: A teacher was reading the Christmas narrative piece to her class and some of the boys "saw" and "heard" asked if anyone knew its meaning. One small girl timidly raised her hand and gave the following definition: "Unaware is what you take off the last thing before you put your nightgown on."

Literary Result: Robert Cook, exposing the folly of those complaining that the Elizabethan drama is coarse, remarked: "They call that its realism is mingled with its poetry more than three repeated. True literary realism, they think it is a fancy in reproduction of that real living men say when there is a clergyman in the room."—Boston Herald.

The Only Thing: "Some 'people' observed Colonel Beaulieu, "never utter a word except on election day, and then they overdo the thing."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

How He Made It: "I've, said the millionaire, "I not only made my money in the same alone, but I made it from the grass that grew under other people's feet."

Simple Recipe for Happiness: In certain of the rural portions of England it is a belief that a bit of salt at the altar, to insure a happy wedding life, should on no account allow anyone to speak to her husband before she has addressed him by name.

Overpowering Deaf for Faint: Were not this desire of faintly very strong, the difficulty of obtaining it and the danger of losing it when obtained, would be sufficient to deter a man from so vain a pursuit.—Addison.

No Cause for Alarm: Little John wanted his playmate to play football with him, but feeling it necessary to apologize for the worn appearance of the ball, he said, "It's all scabby, but it ain't catching."

Disposing of Jews: Knoch, of the age of seven, was discussing with his grandfather the exciting details of an imaginary trip of adventure, including all hazards of land, sea and air. They had just summarily dispatched a lion which might spring upon them unwares from the jungle, when grandfather modestly asked, "Enoch, what about Jews?" "I've got 'em all," said the boy, "but you won't see any of 'em because it was made 'before' you was discovered!"—Alice Van Leer Carrick, in the House Beautiful.

Figures Never Lie: It is amusing, though, how much the public have been led by the imagination astray. One good lady recently sold a quite modern coffee pot, with the catalogue number, 1431, stamped on the bottom. Now, it might have been worth perhaps a dollar and a half, but she asked five dollars for it because it was made "before" you was discovered!—Alice Van Leer Carrick, in the House Beautiful.

Military Preparedness for Future Will Not Include Old Organizations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—That the general staff recommendations for the country's future military preparedness will not include any of national guard is the belief in some war department groups today.

Practical killing off of the national guard through the decision of Acting Chief of Staff General Augustus K. Sigsbee, will necessitate substitution of some method of reorganization of the guard in practically all states.

It is too early to know what the country's attitude will be toward the guard, however, it is felt here that the political considerations and community pride will result in an effort to revive the guard in many places.

NEW YORK STOCKS NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Prices throughout the entire list were fractionally lower at the opening of the stock market today. U. S. Steel advanced 1/4% off; Baldwin, 7/8% off; Anaconda, 5/8% off; Southern Pacific, 9/8% off; Mexican Petroleum, 1/8% off; Standard Oil, 1/8% off; American Smelting, 7/8% off.

THE ONLY THING: "Some 'people' observed Colonel Beaulieu, "never utter a word except on election day, and then they overdo the thing."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

HOW HE MADE IT: "I've, said the millionaire, "I not only made my money in the same alone, but I made it from the grass that grew under other people's feet."

SIMPLE RECIPE FOR HAPPINESS: In certain of the rural portions of England it is a belief that a bit of salt at the altar, to insure a happy wedding life, should on no account allow anyone to speak to her husband before she has addressed him by name.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM: Little John wanted his playmate to play football with him, but feeling it necessary to apologize for the worn appearance of the ball, he said, "It's all scabby, but it ain't catching."

DISPOSING OF JEWS: Knoch, of the age of seven, was discussing with his grandfather the exciting details of an imaginary trip of adventure, including all hazards of land, sea and air. They had just summarily dispatched a lion which might spring upon them unwares from the jungle, when grandfather modestly asked, "Enoch, what about Jews?" "I've got 'em all," said the boy, "but you won't see any of 'em because it was made 'before' you was discovered!"—Alice Van Leer Carrick, in the House Beautiful.

FIGURES NEVER LIE: It is amusing, though, how much the public have been led by the imagination astray. One good lady recently sold a quite modern coffee pot, with the catalogue number, 1431, stamped on the bottom. Now, it might have been worth perhaps a dollar and a half, but she asked five dollars for it because it was made "before" you was discovered!—Alice Van Leer Carrick, in the House Beautiful.

Rock Creek Passes First Christmas in 40 Without a Dance

Year of Spread of Epidemic Prevents Festivity Heretofore Considered a Necessity

(Special to The News)
ROCK CREEK—For the first time in more than forty years, there will be no dance at Rock Creek on Christmas. Having been the only restriction for the young people, a Christmas dance has heretofore been considered a necessity, but because of the danger of outsiders bringing in the influenza, there will be no public gathering at all. At the present time there is no influenza here, nor has there been any since the last of November.

Love and Sympathy Needed

Goodness should be the most attractive thing in the world, but we do well to remember that mere correctness of life and principle, unutilized by love and sympathy, lacks the qualities that charm.

For Why

"Thanks to the X-ray photograph," said Mrs. Leontina W. VanCoppeth before her death, "we may keep the memory of her operation alive even after the pleasure of the pain and suffering are long since gone."—Pittsburgh Leader.

Women and Housecleaning

When a woman returns from a month's visit she says: "Oh, how I dread to begin cleaning up this house." But she doesn't. You can tell by the glee with which she adorns the broom and the duster and stirs up a great cloud of dust that she is how re-creating that which she has eagerly anticipated all the time she was away. There is nothing a woman enjoys so much as sticking up a dust. For the dust is sure to come down again, and the source of fun is never exhausted.—Kansas City Star.

A NEW YEAR

Let gratitude urge to a pledge. At this hour of universal thanksgiving and relief, for that which we have so successfully passed thru, let us give to one another the right hand of fellowship good cheer and jubilation.

To those who have sacrificed of their own kindred we bow our heads in appreciation and humility.

To those who have given of their own means we offer congratulations for having used their privilege.

To the youth of the land, whether tried by the fire of struggle, or in service on these shores, or again back with us, we tender our fervent thanks.

And in dearest thought—there are those of sanctified memory who will never return to us. In acknowledgement of what they have done, it behooves, in every relation of life, to a better world.

And in conclusion permit us to extend to you our very best wishes for

A Happy and Prosperous New Year

GIVES RECIPES FOR MEATLESS MINCE MEAT

Directions Used by Two Twin Falls Women Are Published Through County Farm Bureau

The recipes of Twin Falls women for preparation of meatless mince meat and of green tomato mince meat are given by the home demonstration department of the Twin Falls county farm bureau as follows:

Meatless Mince Meat
Two pounds chopped meat, two pounds carrots, two pounds rutabaga, sugar to suit taste, one-half pound onion peel or citron, add apples to suit the taste, chop; add two quarts cider vinegar to suit taste, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon nutmeg. Mix well and bottle.—Mrs. C. H. Eldred.

Green Tomato Mince Meat
One-half peck tomatoes chopped fine, two tablespoons salt. Let stand three hours. Drain and wash. Add one pint vinegar, two pounds brown sugar, one pound onion peel and onion carrots, one pound nut, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon nutmeg. Add jamon peel if liked. Bring to boil and bottle.—Mrs. Gus Johnson.

DISEASE GERMS LURK IN FOOD SUPPLIES

Home Demonstration Department Calls Attention to Necessity for Care as to Diet

The relation of the diet and of sanitation in the kitchen to the influenza epidemic is the subject of the following bulletin issued by the home demonstration department of the Twin Falls county farm bureau:

Caring is an important matter at all times and our diet during an epidemic should be given particular attention. In the first stage of a cold, eat laxative foods in small quantities. At the height of a cold eat an additional quantity of highly nourishing food to rebuild the waste tissue. Particular caution should be taken in handling food during an epidemic. The following are suggested:

Unwashed bread for instance, may carry the germs to your door. Fruit skins may be covered with bacteria. Bakery products exposed to the air and handled carelessly by salesmen who take no sanitary precautions may be the source of someone's serious illness. Your mail, if she does not wash and scald the dishes properly, may be the cause of your downfall. Your cook, if she tastes and stirs with the same spoon, is a health hazard, albeit perhaps a well-intentioned person to have around. Know that your milkman is an honest and a sanitary man. Try to eat at restaurants which have been inspected and pronounced safe.

HANSEN PHYSICIAN IS BACK FROM ARMY CAMP

Dr. C. G. Paxton Returns from Fort Ogilthorpe, Georgia, to Resume His Practice (Special to The News)

HANSEN—Dr. C. G. Paxton, an officer of the army medical reserve corps, has received his discharge from the service and returned Saturday to Hansen from Fort Ogilthorpe, Georgia, where he was called to report for duty on August 28.

Called Aid met at the church Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ed Ogilby and Mrs. Frank Galley as hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Lute Prillio have taken their 10-year-old daughter to Twin Falls to be near medical aid. The little girl is in a serious condition.
Having completed work at his residence, N. B. Provest and family have moved onto their recently purchased ranch.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gately and Otto Bailey were Twin Falls visitors Tuesday.

W. E. Hubbard entertains a number of his friends at his home east of Hansen Tuesday evening. Chess was the game which lasted till the small hours. Mrs. Hubbard served a delicious lunch at midnight.
Mrs. Eve Smith has gone to Moscow to spend the holidays with her daughter, who is a student at the university.

Miss Mabel LaCourse, who is a student of the state normal at Albion, is home for the holidays.
George Meador has recovered from his recent illness.
Mrs. Ray Vanderpool and children, including Jeff, are expected to arrive in a visit with relatives and friends.

Miss Blackhurst and Miss Ruth Parncoat, two of Hansen's teachers, were unable to teach their rooms on account of illness for a part of the week.
Mrs. Bruce Boas and children of Twin Falls were visiting relatives in Hansen Saturday.
George LaCourse, who entered the army last summer, has received his discharge and has returned home.

Colors of Paints

The color of paint is sometimes more than a matter of appearance. A black body more readily absorbs heat than a light body and in certain cases the light-colored paint seems to be preferable to the dark. This reason, Transformer burnouts in hot climates are reported to have been apparently due to the continuous high atmospheric temperatures. With this heat the further heating from the load has proved excessive and damage has resulted that might have been avoided with different painting.

Felt Need of Change

Charles was staying in the country where playmates were few. So long as it was Hobson's choice he amused himself with a little neighbor girl some years younger than himself, but on being invited to play with an older girl well supplied with toys, he entirely abandoned his former playmate regardless of all her attempts to lure him back. On being remonstrated with by his mother for his neglect of Julia, he disgustedly remarked, "Oh mother, I'll go back to Julia some day, but a fellow sometimes wants a change."

Little Things Cause Sunshine

The number of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time. To give up something, when giving up still prevent unhappiness; to yield, when persisting will chafe and fret others; to go a little round rather than come against mother; to take an ill look or a cross word quietly, rather than resent or return it—these are the ways in which clouds and storms are kept off, and a pleasant and steady sunshine secured.—Aldin.

Nero's Golden Palace

The golden house was the palace of Nero in ancient Rome, which occupied the valley between the Palatine and Esquiline, and connected the palace of the Caesars with the gardens of Maecenas. It was built after the great fire of 64 A. D., and was so large that it contained positive 2,800 feet long and inclosed a lake where the colosseum now stands. The forecourt contained a colossus of 120 feet high.

EUROPE'S BOAST MAY TRY ROUND WITH GIBBONS

Good Prospects for Match Between American Middleweight and Georges Carpentier of France

By H. C. HAMILTON NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Two offers are now under consideration by Eddie Kane, manager of Mike Gibbons, star of American middleweights, as to a meeting between the famous American and Europe's most renowned boxer, Georges Carpentier.

There is little doubt that such a match can be made. The only question arising in the minds of the boxes is the amount of cash that will be offered for their efforts. Kane, just returned from England, has been offered a state what sums have been offered, but declared he was giving each offer careful consideration and intimated that one will be accepted.

Kane, still an American seaman, had not communicated with Gibbons regarding the offer and can not tell in what condition Mike is, and whether he is willing to go to Europe for the bout.

Now in Air Service Carpentier, in the air service for his country, had with him, has had no time since his flight over the sea with the exception of short excursions behind the lines with men of doubtful ability. He has, however, kept himself in excellent condition, if reports are to be believed, and is ready to give Mike the fight of his life.

Carpentier outweighs Gibbons, but sufficiently to give him some advantage, but despite reports of Carpentier's speed, it is certain he will be at some disadvantage when he is pitted against the flashy methods of Gibbons.

Interest Not High The bout would create great interest, for it would establish sports records again with "Ed" and "Big Boy" Gibbons and Carpentier together, the promoters would be displaying the highest type of boxer from each country.

Efforts are now being made to match Gibbons with Jack Dempsey, heavy weight, but the St. Paul scrapper would prefer a bout with Carpentier.

CREELE'S WORK COMES TO END

Chairman of Government Publicity Committee Anxious to Get Back into Private Life

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—President Wilson and Chairman George Creel of the committee on public information, said today they doubted Creel had the time for any more work other than the one assigned in published reports, namely, that his work is finished.

Creel went to Paris to assist the public work there and that the system has been arranged that Creel's services can be spared. He is anxious to get back to private life as soon as the publicity work for the government has been established. President Wilson is understood to be giving his personal attention to publicity at present.

Creel has long been a target for congressional and other criticism, but the friendship between him and the president has enabled him to hold the executive order behind the committee against Creel. On the other hand, Secretary of War Baker, Secretary of the Navy Daniels and others acquiesced in Creel's plans and purposes, steadfastly resisted his spiteful opposition.

Buller, Admiral Balfour, Premier Hughes of Australia, Premier Borden of Canada, the Marquis of Blandford, and Lord Curzon, Sir Eric Godwin, and many others. They waited on the platform for some time before the train pulled in at 2:20 p. m.

The distinguished personages surged forward as the train stopped. The president left his train at Charing Cross station in the midst of a scene of epiphany. In the train shod flags, pennants and banners were removed from the train, from steel pillars and awnings and hanging decorations that were strikingly effective.

Decorations Magnificent The president left his train at Charing Cross station in the midst of a scene of epiphany. In the train shod flags, pennants and banners were removed from the train, from steel pillars and awnings and hanging decorations that were strikingly effective.

Between ranks of United States troops, a guard of honor, the president collected what was due him, and found that the money was in his safe. At that moment he had six different keys. Each member of the firm had one key, and it was necessary to have all the keys to open the safe.

At the head of the masses of people behind lines of British troops caught their first glimpse of the president. The route all the way to Buckingham Palace was a mass of color, the Red, White and Blue of Britain and France, and the black and gold of the United States.

Crowds Arrive Early The great facade of the national museum was filled by flags, banners, pennants and enormous gilded eagles and lions. Forces of motorcars were busy all day Christmas and all last night. Christmas crowds and early arriving spectators were dodging streetcars. All along the two mile route from the railway station to the palace the way is lined with lights, to blaze forth tonight.

Pat Mall and Sir James Strates are joined with famous clubs, the windows of which were filled with members and their wives. Coasting Raymond, the prince with the president and King George passed close by the statue of King George III.

The greatest color-throw was at Hyde Park corner. Thousands of flags in black, white and gray blue, with red and white stripes, were the royal force in sky blue, were massed on the park slope.

FLEET CHEERED BY THOUSANDS UPON ARRIVAL

Victorious Battleships from European Waters Given Magnificent Reception by Enormous Crowds

The Atlantic fleet, with sightseeing and a freight craft, kept up a respectful salute at anchor, respectively to its anchorage in the Hudson for long in conjunction with the home fleet.

The home fleet, whose base was in the York river during the war, consisted of the battleships, the New York, the Oregon, the Alaska, the Michigan, the Wisconsin, the Iowa, the Delaware, the Maryland, the Pennsylvania, the New Jersey, the North Carolina, the South Carolina, the Virginia, the West Virginia, the Texas, the Arizona, the New Mexico, the Nevada, the Oklahoma, the Colorado, the Connecticut, the Massachusetts, the Rhode Island, the Vermont, the New Hampshire, the Maine, the New York, the Oregon, the Alaska, the Michigan, the Wisconsin, the Iowa, the Delaware, the Maryland, the Pennsylvania, the New Jersey, the North Carolina, the South Carolina, the Virginia, the West Virginia, the Texas, the Arizona, the New Mexico, the Nevada, the Oklahoma, the Colorado, the Connecticut, the Massachusetts, the Rhode Island, the Vermont, the New Hampshire, the Maine.

Surrounded by Craft All the official welcoming craft were anchored around the Mayflower, of the salute of liberty. They included the Astor, with the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the prize boat "Aurora" and a number of others.

As each of the home-going ships drew abreast of the Mayflower, the secretarial salute of nineteen guns greeted them in salute. The joyous salutation of the yacht "Aurora" and the acknowledgement of the Pennsylvania in a greeting—seveneen guns in honor of Admiral Mayo.

As soon as the ship dropped anchor, the flag officers and captains came aboard the Mayflower, which had followed the ship in the harbor. They were picked over the side with true nautical ceremony.

The Mayflower proceeded slowly along the Jersey shore to Fort Washington pier. Each ship's band played "The Star Spangled Banner" as the yacht steamed past. The crews maned the rail with their hands on their hearts, and the ship's band played "The Star Spangled Banner" as the yacht steamed past.

The old wooden ship "Eagle," Granite State, shored of its towering masts and rigging of canvas and with port jibs flying and empty, strikingly illustrated the progress in American maritime power.

Only a few rows away were the Mississippi and New Mexico, reaching the very peak of naval air power. Behind them, the battleships, the Iowa, the Delaware, the Maryland, the Pennsylvania, the New Jersey, the North Carolina, the South Carolina, the Virginia, the West Virginia, the Texas, the Arizona, the New Mexico, the Nevada, the Oklahoma, the Colorado, the Connecticut, the Massachusetts, the Rhode Island, the Vermont, the New Hampshire, the Maine.
