President Showed With Petitions to be Presented at the Conference—League Plans Are Well Under Way

CLEMENCEAU AND WILSON HOLD INFORMAL MEETING

Believes Understanding Was Reached by These Two Allied Statesmen at Unexpected Conference With House

By ROBERT J. BENDER

PARIS, Jan. 8.—Premier Clemenceau and President Wilson were believed to be approaching some understanding regarding their apparently conflicting views on the balance of power and the league of nations. The two leaders certainly had an opportunity to exchange views in this matter as a result of their unexpected meeting late yesterday in the office of Colonel House. Great interest is attached to this meeting, and it was the first time Clemenceau and Wilson had met since the former's frank declaration in favor of retention of the balance of power and the latter's simultaneous statement in Manchester that this ancient institution must give way to the league of nations.

American circles here all along held the opinion that the divergence in Clemenceau's and Wilson's views was more apparent than real, and that both were working toward the same end, only along different channels.

The meeting took place in the Hotel Orlon at dusk, the president walking from the Marat palace to the hotel in a drizzle of rain. He was accompanied only by secret service men and was wholly unrecognized by the public. Clemenceau had gone to the hotel to see Colonel House. While the meeting was wholly unpublicized, it is believed to have anticipated by only a few hours a scheduled conference between the leaders.

The president feels that his trip to England and Italy have fully prepared him for the important conferences with allied leaders, scheduled for the week end. While nothing final was determined, the recent conversations with British and Italian statesmen resulted in the thrashing out of perplexing problems connected with application of his fourteen principles to which the allies are all bound and from which none is expected to recede.

Commissioner Advocates Five Year Control and Reduction of President's Power in Railway Affairs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Congress should take away President Wilson's power to surrender the railroads without notice, Commissioner Clark of the Interstate Commerce Commission declared at the senate railroad hearing today.

"Congress ought to withdraw the president's power to surrender the railroads on an hour's notice and congress should determine when they shall be given back," Clark declared.

Clark also declared one year was long enough to work out a solution. He opposed turning the roads back without legislation that would permit unified operation in some degree.

SPARTACANS SPURN ARBITRATION PROPOSAL MADE BY GOVERNMENT

Revolt of Radical Socialists Spreads to Mannheim, Where Serious Rioting Is Reported—Post Office and Great Spandau Arsenal in the Hands of Rebels, with Almost Inexhaustible Supply of Arms and Ammunition

WILD SCENES MARK PROGRESS OF CIVIL WAR—GOVERNMENT POWERLESS

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 8.—The Spartacans have spurned the government's proposal to arbitrate on condition that they disarm all their followers except soldiers, evacuate all public buildings and surrender Police President Eckorn, Berlin dispatches reported today.

According to other reports, the revolt has spread to Mannheim, where Spartacans raided a social democrat meeting, smashed the furniture and attempted to wreck the offices.

The rioters were dispersed. Spartacans Hold Ground Taken. The Spartacans still control the post-office and other government buildings and have frustrated attempts of the government forces to retake the Spandau arsenal.

Several Hundred Killed. Several hundred persons were killed in Monday's fighting, the dispatches said. Twenty Spartacans and three soldiers were killed in the attack on Chancellor Ebert's palace alone. The Spartacans are reported to have seized the great Spandau arsenal, giving them access to the biggest supplies of arms and ammunition in the Berlin district.

Infuriated Crowds Cause Entente Officials to Lower the American Flag, Raised with Idea of Protection. By JOHN GRANDENZ. BERLIN, Jan. 7 (Night).—Rioters forced General Harries to haul down the American flag, which was raised over the Alton hotel to protect entente officials today.

Shooting in front of the hotel caused the entente officials to seek refuge within. They suggested that General Harries, as head of the American mission, hoist the American flag as a measure of protection. When the flag was raised, the crowd went wild and threatened to storm the hotel unless it was lowered. This was finally done. Scores of persons were killed in the rioting, which resulted from collision yesterday morning between rival processions of Spartacans and government demonstrators. Motor cars, armed with machine guns and manned by sailors, raced through the streets shouting wildly. The fusillade could be heard throughout the city.

FINAL CHAPTER IN USEFUL LIFE COMES TO END

Last Rites Duly Performed and Body of Theodore Roosevelt Consigned to Grave With a Simple Ceremony

FINAL RESTING PLACE IS IN A PEACEFUL SPOT

Noble Man Died as He Lived, a Man of the People, Loved and Honored by All, Whose Loss Is Felt by Whole Nation

OSTER BAY, N. Y., Jan. 8.—Theodore Roosevelt was buried today. He rests on the crest of a steep hill, above Long Island Sound—a spot selected by himself.

The pall bearers bore his flag draped coffin on their shoulders up the hillside, the feet slipping and sliding in the muddy snow, and he was consigned to the earth with the simple ritual of the Episcopal church, spoken by the Rev. G. E. Talmage.

Vice President Marshall, representing President Wilson; Mayor Hyland of New York; former President Taft; Governor Smith of New York; a congressional committee; and other notables were at the graveside. Taft was deeply affected. He went as the casket sank slowly into the last resting place of all that is mortal of Colonel Roosevelt.

ENGLAND'S KING PAYS TRIBUTE TO COL. ROOSEVELT

Cable Expressing Sympathy of British Royalty Is Received by Widow of Distinguished American and World Citizen

OSTEN, N. Y., Jan. 8.—A cable expressing sympathy with Mrs. Roosevelt in her bereavement and paying high tribute to the late Colonel Roosevelt, was received last Tuesday from King George. It follows:

"The queen and I have heard with profound feelings of deep regret of the death of your distinguished husband and we offer our most sincere sympathy for your irreparable loss. We have a great personal regard for him and we always enjoyed meeting him. He will be missed by many friends in this country to whom he endeared himself by his attractive character and many talents."

(Signed) "GEORGE R. I." Ambassador's Tribute

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Lord Reading, the British ambassador to the United States, gave the following to the United Press today on the death of Colonel Roosevelt:

"The death of Colonel Roosevelt was received by the peace of his country with a sense of shock and personal loss. He was one of the greatest figures in the world. Endowed with limitless energy he spared neither brain nor body to further the prosperity and advance the prestige of the America he loved so well. There was a place in his great heart for England. The knowledge that he was our friend caused his achievement in politics, war sports, and literature to be given special prominence, and he became a familiar figure in the minds of our nation. From the outset of the war he was ever the stoutest champion for England. We are grateful that he was spared to see its final triumph."

British Capital Moved

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Colonel Roosevelt symbolized the spirit of Americanism, London newspapers declared. Word of his death, conveyed to Europe by the United Press, deeply moved the British capital. Morning editions devoted columns to his biography and to the story of his fight against graft. They clearly showed he was one of Britain's best friends in America.

"All the English speaking peoples share America's sorrow," said the Times.

"Lamentably," said the Daily News, "will Roosevelt one of the republic's greatest presidents."

No other American in public, except Woodrow Wilson, loomed so large, in the opinion of the Post.

"A great American; a great friend of England has disappeared," declared the Mail.

The Express said: "Death has robbed us of a world famous personality."

"Roosevelt was one of the men who no more than two or three times in a generation strike mankind's imagination as personifying supremely human force working during that time," said the Telegraph.

Buenos Aires Regrets

Buenos Aires, Jan. 8.—Regret at the passing of Col. Theo. Roosevelt, whom one journal referred to as the "most distinguished citizen" of the United States and the "most popular man in the world," was expressed today by Buenos Aires newspapers.

Found in a Park with a Gun in His Lap—Thought to Have Been Murdered

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—Patrick J. Keenan, chief special agent for the detective bureau of the Southern Pacific railroad, was found dead in a park today.

Police believe he may have been murdered. Death was caused by a bullet wound in the right temple. A gun was lying in his lap. The police are working on the theory that the gun was "planted" there.

Kendion was seen this morning in the heat of spirits and no motive for a suicide has been discovered.

LEADERSHIP OF LABOR PARTY MAY BE A GROUP

The committee will meet daily and decide which parliament member will lead in debate.

James Thomas probably will be the leader in debates on railway matters; John Clynes on food matters, etc.

TRANSPORTATION SUFFICIENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Government operation of the railroads for one year has demonstrated that the country has sufficient transportation facilities to meet its needs, according to the annual report of Cay D. Gray, director of the division of operation of the railroad administration made public today.

FIX BLAME FOR LINER WRECK

Court of Inquiry Will Decide on Responsibility for Grounding Northern Pacific

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The chief question to be determined in the forthcoming court of inquiry of the Northern Pacific grounding will be whether or not the navigating officer was taking proper soundings.

As he was running in a fog this was his only means of ascertaining his course. If he were careless as to soundings or running too fast, then a court martial will be ordered. Navy officers believe that the Northern Pacific was "set to Northward," by the current; that is, driven northward by one of the offshoots of the Gulf Stream about retreating the drift. This can happen comparatively easy off Long Island. There is general doubt here that there was any New Year's celebration aboard the vessel, as some of the rescued army men had claimed.

LAST ROOSEVELT SPEECH USED IN BERGER TRIAL

America Has No Room for the Red Flag of Socialism with Stars and Stripes

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Victor L. Berger socialist congressman-elect, expected today to learn the verdict of twelve men as to whether he is guilty or not guilty of violating the espionage act. The jury which heard evidence against Berger and four other defendants, indicted on twenty-six counts, was to receive its instructions from Judge K. M. Landis at the opening of the court.

The last bit of argument against the five socialist leaders was Colonel Roosevelt's last address, in which he declared there is room in this country for but one flag.

FEDERATION LEADERS LEAVE FOR ENGLAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Samuel Gompers and four other labor officials sailed today for England on the Carmania. The others in the party were James Duncan, vice president of the American Federation of Labor; John R. Alplane, William Green and Frank Duffy. Getting Too Realistic

Rosemary and her brother Edward were playing when Rosemary said: "Now, let's play supposing you be papa and I'll be mamma." The game proceeded nicely until Rosemary said: "Papa, Edward was a bad boy today." Whereupon Edward said: "Oh, I didn't want to play no more—you're not supposing, you're playing real."

The White Elephant

A good many persons have, no doubt, got a wrong impression of the Siamese white elephant. It is not pure white, as is generally supposed, but is a sort of albino among his race. He is a very light gray, but never a pure white color. Outside of this, he is little different from the rest of his race.

So He Had to Help

Nation's Religious Beliefs

The most prevalent religious belief in England is Lutherism. The Church of England prevails in Great Britain, known more familiarly in this country as the Episcopalians. However, all churches are accepted in England, now, Belgium, France and Italy are Catholic in tendency.

WESTERN PAPER IN LIBEL SUIT

Court Declares that Man Has Right to Protect Himself from Pen or Gun

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 8.—Judge Butler in the district court today overruled the demurrer of the Denver Post in the $75,000 libel damage suit brought by Ernest Morris, chairman of the Denver County Defense Council. The court ordered the case be submitted to a jury but gave attorneys for the newspaper thirty days in which to perfect an appeal from his decisions if they chose such a course.

"A man has as much right to defend himself from attacks by a pen as by a gun," the court said.

The attacks of the Post against Morris featured the losing days of the war in this city. Referring to the paper's charges against Morris being a "Prussian Hun," "a skunk," and a "rat," the court declared, that an man could be so assailed by any newspaper without having recourse to justice.

REMINDS THAT WAR SERVICE IS NOT AT AN END

Federal Reserve District Committee Issues Stirring Appeal Predicting Launching of the Victory Loan Bonds

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—Predicting the launching of the fifth Liberty Bond issue which is to be known as the Victory Loan, and reminding of the necessity for holding bonds of prior issues, the publicity committee of the twelfth federal reserve district today issued the following appeal:

How quickly we forget!

Only yesterday that long range gun opened fire on Paris and we felt the Hun had won. A few hours later the Germans swept through the battered lines with victory at their finger tips.

Then Chastan Thierry leaped to an undying page in history when America raced to meet that roaring tide of death singing "The Yanks are Coming." Following the beginning of the Yank offensive that was to roll on and on to St. Mihiel, the Argonne Forest, Sedan and turn the German flag to white.

Now we're discussing peace. Our troops are coming home. The edge of our enthusiasm is wearing off a little, the burning is dying out all too fast, the business and dollars are getting up steam.

These tragic days at the Marne are beginning to seem pretty far away. The thrills we had in the war news are becoming a bit hazy. We read an interview with the cocky Quentin Roosevelt who wants to come to America and we realize that truly the war is over. But we must not forget. Let us keep before us the deeds of our men who have put deeper color into the red of their uniforms, a new white to the starry field, and a purer white that betokens a hope for world peace. We must freshen our minds with memories of American service and sacrifice. We dare not forget.

Our service is not ended. Our job is not finished. In the memory of the deeds of the valorous Yanks, subscribing our part of the Victory Loan becomes rather a pleasure than a stern duty and in the meantime let us help hold their victories by holding our Liberty Bonds.

AMERICAN DISTILLERS TO FIGHT DRY MEASURE

Base Claim to Life on Theory of Local Self-Determination Amendment Ratified

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—American distillers will fight the various dry measures now threatening. The gauge was thrown down today with the announcement that attorneys had been appointed at a meeting here to fight both the constitutional amendment, now ratified by sixteen states as well as the wet time prohibition law preventing sales of liquor after July 1.

Investment of a billion dollars was said to be imperilled by the legislation. The distillers' fight will be based in part on the claim that the right of local self-government is being taken away.

Two states, Ohio and Oklahoma, ratified the dry amendment, while the distillers were in session here.

BAKER GIVES REASONS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Secretary Baker today explained to the senate military affairs committee his reasons for purchase of three centomats as artillery and machine gun training camp. Baker said a large establishment for the training of artillery and machine gun men must be maintained even in peace time, if the United States army is to keep pace with modern developments.

GIVES GRAVE WARNING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Senator Ashurst, Arizona, warned the senate that Lower California may at some time be used as the base from which an oriental power will strike the United States. Ashurst, speaking for his resolution for the United States' purchase of Lower California, said that the land is no good to Mexico and is "Achilles' heel" to the United States.

Nightingale Leads Song Birds

The sweetest singer among birds is the nightingale; then comes the linnnet, the lark, the skylark and woodlark. The mocking bird has the greatest powers of imitation.

Lark Not an Early Riser

The reputation for early rising that much celebrated bird is quite a sluggish, as it does not rise till long after chaffinches, linnets and a number of hedge-sparrows have been up and about.

Not So Deep

Use for Prejudice

Prejudice must serve some useful purpose since we all have it. Demosthenes valued distrust. When the argument of antecedent probability is shelved, for all time there will be no partisans, no nations—only uncreated creatures.

Commonplace

One of the persistent charges of the intellectuals against the majority of people is that they are commonplace. That, of course, is a thing only a few avoid. Out of every hundred, ninety-seven are certainly commonplace, and what we call the intellectuals are not the exceptions.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

The Last Word

The sweet young thing thought she was making a huge success. "There is only one thing I can't understand," she started to say. "Only one," she asked, without letting him finish. "There was one. Now there are two. The second is why some girls never learn that it is only the pretty ones who can afford to be impertinent."

Don't Exaggerate

The girl who stretches every statement she makes out of all resemblance to the actual facts of the case may imagine she is strengthening what she is trying to say. But that is a mistake. People who listen to an exaggerated statement invariably discount it, and usually more than it deserves, and in addition they feel a distrust of anything which has to be so overemphasized. Every exaggerated statement is weakened in proportion as it is emphasized.—Grit.

American Relief Worker in Persia Gives Description of Appalling Conditions Existing in Stricken Country

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The American Committee for Relief in the Near East, which is to conduct a campaign to raise $30,000,000 January 12-19, for the purpose of its work, has received from one of its workers in Mesopotamia, Persia, a letter in which the following statements are made:

"Patients are not coming as well as last year, for the villagers are so poor that they cannot get to the city; with straw selling at the rate of $2.50 per bushel, barley at $4.00 per bushel, most of the shepherds in the villages have disappeared or become poor, that they cannot do much work; and the poor villagers themselves have so little to eat that the only thought they have is to get a little food. So our patients are practically all from the city of Meshed itself; we are getting almost no patients from other cities of Persia or from Afghanistan, as last year. The last few days we have started a fund for feeding a few people every day at the hospital, for so many of our patients are out of work and out of money. This work will probably overwhelm us in the winter, as the temperature has gone a little; the temperature last night was 0 above zero, which makes the suffering of those with poor food all the worse. News from Teheran and other places in Persia tell the same story."

Buying Armenian Captives

A very medieval seeming form of relief work is the ransoming of Armenian captives from their Turkish or Arab masters which has been done to a certain extent already in England, although the task has been hitherto very difficult. With more settled conditions it is expected that many more can be secured.

Trust in American Generosity

One Armenian mother left her child on the doorsteps of an American home with these words on a bit of paper: "I cannot feed it. I know you will not let my baby starve." American generosity during the past four years has had a profound effect on internal conditions in Turkey and will therefore greatly influence the future of that country after the war.

Prisoners in a Quarry

Outside of an important city in the southern part of Turkey is a great quarry. The caravans of refugees from the north were halted for a few days near this town and at night were driven into this quarry without food or the chance to receive or procure any and guards were set at its only outlet. The Armenian women of the city whose own turn had not yet come, as it did later, to be driven away from home at midnight at great risk of detection and danger to themselves, would walk the four miles to the quarry with dishes of cooked food which they would lower by long cords to the starving creatures in the deep pit below.

Pola an Old City

Pola was a Thracian colony when the Romans swooped down and took it in 178 B. C., and a few years later in the dawn of the world-conquerors. In 1870 it was virtually blotted out of existence when the Genoese, daring forbearers of Admiral Christopher Columbus, defeated the Venetians in a great sea fight off the port, and then wrecked the town—and kept the remains for a century and a half. It came back finally and woned important again and since 1846 was Austria's principal naval harbor.

Had Excuse for Eating Candy

Edith's aunt had come for dinner and brought the little girl a box of candy, but warning her not to eat any of it until after the meal, as it would spoil her appetite. Edith turned to her mother and asked what the menu for the meal was and was informed that lamb stew had been provided. "Oh, then I des' I'll eat tandy and spoil my appetite. I don't care for lamb stew."

Ivory in the Middle Ages

In the middle ages ivory was extensively used for writing tablets. One of Chaucer's characters has "A pair of tables all of ivory"; and in the same writer speaks of ivory chessmen: "The chess was all of ivory, the meyne fresh and new." Ivory was also much used for making caskets and mirror frames during the middle ages, and these were often elaborately carved.

Self-Denial Went for Nothing

A young woman was staying at Jack's home, and seeing a menu for her table, he went into her room and helped himself. His mother told him how wrong it was, and said he must apologize. That night, before going into her room, he was heard to murmur: "If I has to 'pologize, which I took more than one piece."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The supreme court today affirmed the lower court's decision which sustained Ohio officials who refused to allow the sale of Hebe, a milk product, within the state. The ban on "Hebe", a combination of skimmed milk and condensed milk, was based on Ohio laws which prohibit the sale of condensed milk from skimmed milk. The company questioned the constitutionality of the statute and its constitutionality on the ground that it was in contravention of the federal pure food and drug act.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The meeting of the Republican national committee in Chicago next Friday took on added importance because of the death of Colonel Roosevelt. TELLS WHY U. S. WAS RELUCTANT TO ENTER WAR

Wilson Tells People of Turin American Adherence to Tradition Kept Us Out of Struggle for Long Time

TURIN, Jan. 6.—(delayed)—President Wilson, speaking at the Municipality here today said:

"Mr. Mayor! Both on the streets of this interesting city and here you have made me feel at home. I feel almost as if it were the greeting of a people of whom I was indeed a fellow citizen. I am very much honored that this great city, playing so important a role in the life and in the industrial endeavor of Italy, should have conferred this high distinction upon me and I take the liberty of interpreting your action, sir, not merely as a personal compliment to myself, to whom you ascribe virtues and powers which I feel I do not possess, but as a tribute to the people whom I represent.

Realization Came Slowly

"The people of the United States were reluctant to take part in the war not because they doubted the justice of the cause, but because it was the tradition of the American republic to play no part in the policies of other continents, but as the struggle advanced from stage to stage they were more and more impressed by the conviction that it was not a European struggle, that it was a struggle for the freedom of world and the liberation of humanity, and with that conviction, it was impossible that they should withhold their hands. Their hearts had been torn from the start and it was at the time of their conviction came they throw over resource of men and money and enthusiasm into the struggle."

Rivalries Betray Trade

"Perhaps you, gentlemen, think of the members of your government and the members of other governments who are going to confer in the city of Paris, as the real makers of war and peace, but we not. You are the makers of war and of peace," he said. "Unjust national rivalries," he said, "stand in the way of industry and trade."

"I have only this suggestion before me to go to Paris to continue it. We can start the peace. It's your duty to continue it. We can only make the large conclusions, you constantly transact the detail which constitutes the process of the life of a nation."

Can't Give New York

Wilson emphasized close relations between Italy and the United States and said that when Benito Mussolini was arguing for extension of Italian sovereignty over Italian people, "I said I am sorry we cannot let you have New York which I understand is the greatest Italian city in the world. I am glad there are more Italians in New York than in any city in Italy."

TRIBUTE PAID TO MEMORY OF EX-PRESIDENT

Uninvited Throngs Gather to Offer Respects to Colonel Roosevelt—Floral Offerings Flood Home and Church

OYSTER BAY, Jan. 8.—Hundreds of men and women, representing a national mourning, gathered here today to pay the last tribute to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. Throngs were badly delayed by a snow storm, but each one brought a throng, some of them invited, most of them not, and content to stand outside, Christ church of in the road during the service at the cemetery to attend the funeral.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who has borne up bravely since her husband's sudden death at 4:15 o'clock Monday morning, did not leave the house at Sagamore Hill after the brief memorial there.

This observance consisted merely of a prayer, uttered by Rev. G. E. Talmage.

Funeral Obituaries

The funeral procession from the house to the church was composed of fifteen automobiles. Those assigned to the first car were Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt, Mrs. Richard Derby and Mr. Doug E. Robinson.

Proceeding from the house by ten automobiles, Captain Archie Roosevelt and Theodore Douglas Robinson went to the ivy-covered church to make final arrangements. Every sea in the church was occupied.

Flowers coming in on trains and motor cars were sent in some at the Roosevelt home—Sagamore Hill; they were piled up in the little church and stacked in the Oyster Bay post-office. This in spite of the family's request that there be no floral tributes.

During the storm a number of uninvited and unofficial mourners appeared at Oyster Bay early in the day. With their coat collars turned up about their ears they stood in little huddled groups about the church or near the gates to the Sagamore Hill estate, determined to pay their respects to the dead ex-president.

Guard of Honor

A detachment of twenty-four New York patrolmen and a squad of mounted men—the latter officers who had been promoted by Roosevelt when he was New York's police commissioner—were on the scene as a guard of honor. Ostensibly, they were sent to preserve order.

The casket containing the body of Colonel Roosevelt was placed in the lower room, scene of the family services during the night. The casket was plain, its only adornments are in silver handles and a silver plate with the name of the father of his birth and that of his death.

Invited Guests

Among those invited to the church were a number of former Rough Riders, Governor Smith of New York and members of the legislature, Major and Mrs. August Belmont; Truman H. Newberry; Otto Kahn, Ogden M. Reid, Frank A. Munsey, George Otis, chairman of the Republican state committee; Charles Scribner, William Pinchet, Dr. Albert Shaw, Willard H. Taft, Charles E. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. William Loeb, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Cortelyou, Raymond Robbins, Oscar S. Straus, Henry B. Steiwer, Mr. and Mrs. Langdon Warner; John K. Roosevelt; Mrs. J. West Roosevelt; Mrs. H. L. Roosevelt; John E. Roosevelt; Mrs. Monroe Robinson; Mrs. Fairman Dick; Mrs. James Roosevelt; Samuel M. Roosevelt; Miss Nellie Tyler and Mrs. Fred Roosevelt.

Message from Soldier Sons

Cablegrams were received from Kermit Roosevelt and Theodore, Jr., with the American forces in Europe, saying they had been notified of their father's death and probably would soon return to the United States.

A movement was started today to collect funds to be set up in Oyster Bay. Oyster Bay went into mourning as the funeral hour appeared. Shores were closed, many wore bits of crepe in their button-holes. Roosevelt's picture, heavily crepe bordered, made its appearance in windows.

In front of Sagamore Hill, a small flag flapped at half-staff. Guards paraded the Roosevelt estate. No person, except members of the family and very close personal friends who had special invitations to the services at the house was permitted to pass the gates.

Sale of Pure Bred Sows and Gilts at Swine Growers' Meet in Twin Falls Is Attracting Attention

In connection with the State Swine Growers meeting to be held at Twin Falls during the night conference of Idaho agricultural, livestock, engineering and irrigation societies, January 12-16, there is to be held a sale of bred gilts and sows consigned from the leading pure bred herds of the state. No breeder has been permitted to place more than two animals in the sale and those selected have been personally inspected by William Kerr, state swine specialist, and are very choice animals.

Regarding this sale Mr. Kerr says: "No breeder contributing to a sale of this kind could afford to consign any but very choice animals and there has never been gathered together a better representative exhibit of hogs in the state than will be found in this sale. In most cases the breeders have sacrificed their best animals raised this year and were intending to keep them in their own herds."

IRRIGATION CONGRESS. Joint Conference Week, Twin Falls, Idaho. JANUARY 13, 14, 15, 16, 17. HEAR DR. SAMUEL FORTIER. World's Greatest Authority on Irrigation Problems. OTHER PROMINENT SPEAKERS: Professor O. L. Waller, A. E. Chandler, D. W. DAVIS, Governor of Idaho.

THE GOVERNOR'S CABINET

In his message to the State Legislature Tuesday, Governor D. W. Davis proposed the reorganization of the executive department to provide among other things the institution of the Governor's Cabinet so "that the heads of the several departments, including the constitutional elective officers, shall constitute a Governor's Cabinet, or Council, thereby furnishing a vehicle through which all the departments of the state government can be coordinated and correlated in their functions."

Objections to this proposal would be similar in their design to opposition that might be made to replacing a shotgun with a high-powered rifle in the hands of a hunter. The shot-gun, hurling its hundreds of little pellets, is most effective at short range and at small game. The rifle, with a single projectile, is used to bring down big game at a long range. The question arises, is the state administration big or little game.

The principle of appointment by the national executive of the heads of departments as members of his cabinet is accepted without question. The national administration is regarded, so to speak, as "big game," and centralization of authority and responsibility is considered desirable in its affairs. Just so soon as the affairs of the state administration are regarded as of an importance comparative with those of the national administration, the same principle of centralized authority and responsibility will be accepted in relation to it.

Little is to be feared from such a policy. The "one man power" menace is generally a bogey that vanishes with the sunrise. The prototypes of Richelieu and Metternich and Bismarck in America have been few and far between and carefully suppressed where they have made their appearance. The responsibilities of great offices in America almost always have exerted a sobering effect upon the temperament inclined to be erratic or inflammable.

More is to be feared from absence of responsibility. Governor Davis has given a plain and cogent statement of the administrative situation as it exists in Idaho today, and his argument for the proposed change given in these words is, worthy of the most careful consideration: "You need not fear that the governor, whoever he may be, will abuse his power. He cannot and will not do so to the extent that those do now who are exercising the scattered and unsupervised executive authority. The governor is directly responsible to, and more than any other officer is held responsible by the electorate. Any failure on his part to function as an efficient manager will, under a system of centralized responsibility, be quickly apparent to the public and the consequences of such failure visited upon the delinquent."

WATER EXPERTS TO TALK HERE ON BIG TOPICS

Dr. Samuel Fortier and Others on Program of Joint Conference of Idaho Agricultural and Kindred Societies

Dr. Samuel Fortier of Berkeley, California, one of the prominent men of the department of agriculture, who is to be one of the speakers at the joint conference of Idaho agricultural, livestock, engineering and irrigation societies, here on January 13-16, will deliver an illustrated lecture on the preparation of land for irrigation.

Dr. Fortier is regarded as a dean of irrigation in the United States. For more than forty years he has been engaged in this line of work. No one is better qualified to treat this question than he. He will also take part in the various debates at the congress and will be able to render great assistance.

An illustrated lecture will be given by Barry Dibble, manager of the Minidoka project and one of the prominent engineers of the reclamation service, will illustrate his lecture by means of pictures and lantern slides, showing the work of the reclamation service.

Talks on Proposed Change

One of the very important questions for consideration is changing the control of the public water of this state, placing the same in the hands of the state hydraulic board. The speakers from California, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming, will explain the methods now in practice in their various states. Among these speakers is Professor O. L. Wollay, vice president of the Washington state college, and who is the author of the present law of this subject in Washington. California will be represented by A. E. Chandler, president of the Ogden committee, and J. B. True, for many years the efficient state engineer of Wyoming and Percy A. Cupper, recently elected state engineer of Oregon, also will discuss this question.

In the question as to whether maintenance charges should be based on the amount of water received or upon the acreage served, will be presented by W. M. Wayne and C. E. Atwood of the Valley project of Montana. This is a live question will interest all water users.

Governor to Speak

Governor D. W. Davis will address the convention at which time, it is expected, he will outline the policy of his administration of all agricultural questions.

No question is of more importance or great interest than that of good roads. An illustrated lecture will be delivered by the state highway engineer, Mr. Allen, showing the present work of his department.

This is a day when the great use of electric power on a farm is engaging the attention of thoughtful men. The production of power by the government on the Minidoka project will be discussed. Other speakers on this subject will be N. C. Gover, chief hydraulic engineer, and W. B. Harry, chief of division of power resources of the United States Geological Survey. The advantages and disadvantages of irrigation districts is another subject to be discussed.

A former family physician and trained nurse have been called in attendance, and are on their way here from Portland.

Hold up Approval—No action was taken at the Monday meeting of the city council on the request of the Twin Falls National bank, made through its architect, John Visser, for permission to encroach to the extent of six inches on the sidewalk for the purpose of facing its quarters at the Hogerson hotel building with terra cotta.

Returns from Capital—Miss Lena Eckert and Miss Mattie Coats have returned from Washington, D. C., where they have been employed for some months in war work as stenographers. Two Timely Tips.
Iodine stains may be removed from linen shirts, towels, etc., by using benzene. If the first application does not remove it, let the article dry and try again. Do not use benzene on colored clothes, as the color will come out as well as the stain.

Need Animal Food.
It has been found that such animal food as milk, eggs and meat contains growth-producing substances in quantities sufficient for the rapid growth and development of the body. While these substances are found in certain vegetables and grain, they are in quantities so small that often in the ordinary diet sufficient quantities are not consumed to meet the needs of the growing body.

"Take them out out of your display window immediately!" demanded the irate woman. "I am surprised that you would exhibit my photograph to the common gaze!" And the profile was substituted for the offensive front view in the display window, and all were happy ever after.—Kansas City Star.

It will not unlikely, Mr. Alworth says, that there will be discussed subjects at the conference which the stockholders, if asked of them, might desire to emphasize...

One of the most important questions to be considered at the joint conference is the proposition of placing the control of the public waters of the state from the province of the state board and placing it in the hands of a state-hydraulic board...

LEVATOR MANAGER DIES AT HIS HOME IN HANSEN

Miss Laycock Succumbs from Pneumonia After Recovery from Influenza—No Funeral Plans

Miss Laycock, for eleven years manager of the Hansen elevator, died early this morning at his home in Hansen from pneumonia. The remains have been taken to the Grossman & DeWitt undertaking establishment in Twin Falls. No arrangements for the funeral have been made.

Mr. Laycock had recovered from an attack of the influenza which had been his office for about ten days when he was stricken with pneumonia, which ended his death after an illness dating from December 29.

He was about 45 years of age, and was a resident of Logansport, Colorado, before coming to Idaho in 1907 to become manager of the Hansen elevator. He leaves his widow and three children, no one brother in Colorado and another in California.

For several years he had served as publican precinct committeeman at Logansport. He was a member of the Odd Fellows' lodge.

Few men have taken so large and active a part in the building of the Hansen district as has Mr. Laycock and his stood higher in the estimation of his neighbors and acquaintances.

MANY PROBLEMS OF CONFERENCE ARE NOW SHOWN

labor legislation will be enacted at the peace congress, including probably a universal eight-hour day and anti-child labor laws.

General improvement in working conditions will be urged by American and other labor organizations.

The president is known to be deeply interested in the problem presented by the adherence of some Italian factions to the pact of London by which Italy was promised certain territorial concessions in return for participation in the war.

A strong propaganda campaign has been launched in Italy for annexation of Dalmatia as well as Trieste, Trent, Istria and Fiume. The streets through which the president passed in various cities were plastered with posters and his carriage was showered with leaflets bearing such inscriptions as:

Floods of Petitions: "To Wilson, president of all the peoples: Four hundred and eighty thousand dead; 970,000 wounded; 200,000 permanently disabled—this is what Italy has given to the victory of right over force, civilization over barbarism. Keep these figures in mind, Mr. President, while at the peace conference. They speak of Fiume and Dalmatia."

Others said: "Istria and Dalmatia are for Italy over France. Civilization over barbarism. Keep these figures in mind, Mr. President, while at the peace conference. They speak of Fiume and Dalmatia."

The problem of the disposition of Dalmatia appears to be only the leading difficulty in the Italian situation. Other territorial questions probably will be easily compromised.

PROPOSALS OF GOVERNOR MEET WITH APPROVAL

Party Lines Are Dropped Among Legislators in Favorable Comment on Message of New Idaho Executive

BOISE, Jan. 8.—All party lines were dropped among the legislators in their favorable comment on the message of Governor Davis of Idaho, delivered to a joint session yesterday afternoon.

From Democrat floor leader of the house Charles S. Moody of Boise, county came the comment: "It is wise, statesmanlike, fair and one that every citizen in the state of Idaho can subscribe to."

Freddie Democratic Support: Beecher Hitchcock, another regular Democrat, was equally as complimentary when he said, "The keynote of the message was the suggestion to centralize the power of the governor and displace it to give a business-like administration."

Senator Seaver's View: In the senate, the comments are equally complimentary. Senator Armstrong, Halley banker, expressed himself in this way, "The strongest and most forward looking in the history of Idaho," while Senator Seaver of Twin Falls characterized it as "timely, progressive, strong and constructive."

The first real speech of the session has been delivered and by one of the women members—Mrs. Emma F. A. Drake of New Plymouth, who eloquently supported her own resolution to "rid the nation of prohibition amendment." The first real laugh also came yesterday when, following a supporting speech for prohibition resolution by Representative Storey in which he referred to the "abominable habits of the Mohammedans," C. S. Moody said he was ready to join the far east sect and called for a vote on the resolution.

Criticism Outgoing Body: The outgoing Democrat administration was sharply criticized at the morning session by Senator Enoch Whitcomb for failure to provide stationary and other necessary supplies for the use of the incoming bodies.

Senators Vroman and Robertson and Representatives Shearer and Gibson were appointed on a joint committee late in the afternoon to prepare resolutions in respect to the memory of former President Theodore Roosevelt. A memorial service will be held in joint session tomorrow afternoon.

His Favorite Dish: A Chinese merchant, being questioned as to his favorite article of food, prefaced his reply by stating that many foreign dishes which we consider appetizing are disgusting to the Chinese. With the way thus prepared, he announced that of all foods he cared most for a stew made of a particular kind of snake, costing from six to eight dollars.

SOLDIERS COME BACK BY STATES

Rollo Crater of Twin Falls, in Quarantine in France, Gives Demobilization Order

Soldiers returning from France embark where a section of a certain number of men returning to their state or zone is filled. To facilitate demobilization the states are divided into eight zones and Idaho is in the seventh zone.

This is information given in a letter to his parents Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Crater of Twin Falls, by Private Rollo Crater of the medical detachment with the 103rd engineers regiment who was on December 15 in quarantine at St. Nazaire, France, having been ordered to return to the United States. His exalted word "Coming" arrived here on December 4. In the letter received January 8 and dated December 15, he mentioned another letter in which he explained the reason for the quarantine. This earlier letter has not yet been delivered. He stated that he is himself in perfect health.

Boarding on Big Scale

The following is an excerpt from his letter: "You just ought to see how Uncle Sam cooked us on large orders. I never saw anything on so large a scale before in my life. This is an immense camp and the problem of feeding the thousands upon thousands of men who come here is a mighty big one. There are scores of kitchens everywhere, but one main big kitchen where all our 'casuals' (a term applied to all soldiers who for any reason are separated from their organization) are fed. This great kitchen accommodates about 8,000 men 'standing room only.' There are furnaces all down one side and narrow plank tables everywhere else with bare standing room between. The men come in in seven lines and their mess-kits are filled as fast as they can walk by, yet it takes three hours to feed them all. It rains almost all the time here and with so many feet to stir it up you can imagine the mud. Dirty soldiers cook and serve the food and as fast as they run out they yell 'Corned Willie on 5' (some corned beef for line No. 5) or 'Gold Fish on 7' (salmon for line No. 7). After you have eaten, a colored guard tells you to 'stretch them pots o'vah yondah' and the meal is done. It's a great life if you don't weaken."

CONFERENCE TO MAKE PLANS FOR HERO MEMORIAL

Council of Defense Calls for Assemblage Here of Delegates From County Organizations to Take Definite Action

The secretary of the Twin Falls county council of defense was instructed at a meeting here Tuesday evening of its members to request every lodge, church, school, club and farmers' organization in the county to elect three delegates to attend a conference to be held here February 4 to decide upon what manner of memorial is to be built or erected to the honor and commemoration of Twin Falls county men in the military and naval service in the great war, and to formulate plans for carrying into execution the decision of the conference.

Among the Possibilities

A diversity of opinion has been expressed since the matter was first broached as to the form this memorial should take, and it is probable that the conference will consider among other suggestions, the propositions of a Y. M. C. A. or club construction of a monument, the erection of a monument, or the building and dedication of a memorial highway.

The Tango.

The tango is a dance of Mexican origin, which is supposed to imitate the actions of the negroes. It has the same rhythm as the Spanish habanera, but is played much faster, and is worked up faster and faster, till it ends like the dances of the modern ballet dances. Sometimes it has five notes in the melody to four in the accompaniment, and vice versa and its peculiar harmonic progressions give it a weird fascination that has much to do with its popularity.

Shocks Retard Drug Action.

"Shock retards the action of drugs," says the Revue de Medicine. "Frogs in a state of shock from a blow on the head or the effect of a poison antidote respond to the effect of a poison antidote after a period of eight or ten times longer than under normal circumstances, even when strychnine, for example, was injected by the vein."

JURY RECEIVES SOCIALIST CASE

Judge's Instructions Were to Use Common Sense and Consider Acts

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The case against Victor Berger, congressman-elect from Wisconsin, and four socialist co-defendants, charged with espionage act violations, went to the jury here at 11 a. m. today.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Landis declared the defendants had a right to entertain, publish, speak and write their views on the war, from economic, political and religious standpoints, so long as they did not attempt or conspire to interfere with the military and naval operations of the government.

"If you find these men guilty," he told the jury, "you must find they acted in bad faith and encouraged dissimilarity or incited opposition to the operation of laws for the conduct of the war."

Not Words Alone

"There can be no conspiracy unless there is action taken in carrying out plans against the government. There is no conspiracy unless two or more of the defendant stood part, and then it must be shown the third acted in carrying out plans of the other two."

"The espionage act was passed to prevent hindrance to the successful operation of the war. If the defendants acted with a common purpose of co-operation of hindering the war and the conspiracy is proved by an open action they must be found guilty."

"There can be no substantive charges accepted, there must be active co-operation proved."

Landis instructed the jury to disregard the opponent of postoffice authorities in Washington in barring socialist papers from the mails.

"When you go into that room," said the judge, pointing to the jury's deliberating room, "take your common sense with you. This is a situation for which there is a motive for the future."

Birth of Great Organization.

The first organization under the name of the Young Men's Christian association was effected June 6, 1844, in England, due to the efforts of George Williams, for the purpose of prayer and Bible study. Library and reading rooms were later added, and lecture and other courses provided. The association in America is the outgrowth of the English movement in 1844. The organization in America now has almost a million members.
