

BILL CREATING CLARK COUNTY PASSES HOUSE

Division Act is Third Measure to Pass Legislature in Twenty Working Days of the Session

REPRESENTATIVES MAKE NAMPA COUNTY SEAT Appropriation For Lewiston Normal Building Gets By With Slight Opposition Primary Bill in Sight

(Special to The News) BOISE, Jan. 25.—Creating a new county to be called Clark out of the western end of Fremont county, the house passed senate bill number 151 this morning after it had previously gone through the upper body. The vote was 50 to 11. This is the third measure to pass both houses during the session of 20 working days.

House for Normal Bill With but two "Nay" votes the bill appropriating $150,000 for the building of an administration building at the Lewiston Normal met passage today in the house. Reports were made by Morgan of Washington to have all objections appropriated considered at the same time, but his suggestion met no support. Representative Harrison of Shoshone explaining that the matter had been thoroughly gone over in the committee.

Primary Bill in Sight It is believed here today that the proposed primary bill which is being written by a joint committee of the house and senate will be ready for introduction by the first of next week. While members of the committee are reticent regarding its provisions it is known to contain paragraphs which would abolish the nomination of state officers by primary, while it retains the provisions of the present law in its relation to county officers.

Five Bills Started in the House During the short morning session. One of these was a county union measure asking for legislation to provide a referendum to separate parts of Owyhee and Ada counties, to create "Nampa county." The others were unimportant. No senate session was held.

Says Soviets Agree To Meeting Proposal French Socialist Daily Publishes Unconfirmed Acceptance of Russians

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The Humanitist published an unconfirmed report today saying the Russian soviet government has agreed to the principle of the joint meeting proposed by the associated powers. The report said the Bolsheviks believed the Prince's Islands to be too far from their seat of government, but were ready to make this concession. The soviet government, it was said, had asked further confirmation of the proposal which was sent out by wireless. The Russian Socialist Daily is the first newspaper to publish Foreign Minister Pichon's recent reply to the original British proposal for partial recognition of the Soviet in which Pichon refused to consider such a proposition.

Defense Council Makes Census of Labor Situation

National Organization Is Assisting in Finding Employment for Soldiers

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A nation-wide census of all jobs available for returning soldiers will be taken by the United States council of national defense, it was learned here today. The council, in a statement, said that the entire nation-wide machinery of the organization is being put behind the United States employment service in an effort to meet the unemployment problem. The situation is regarded as serious as a surplus of common labor exists in fifteen states and the area of this unemployment is reported to be increasing, the statement said. More than 1,000 bureaus for returning soldiers have already been created by the council and the employment service, and in these bureaus positions open to returning soldiers and sailors are being listed. Governor Clarkson, director of the council, has telegraphed all state councils to furnish at once data to show the needs of the employers.

Great Issue of the Peace Conference Is Struggle of Nationalism

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The peace conference must settle the great issue of nationalism versus Bolshevism, one of the most important British statesmen participating in the conference, declared today. "There is no use discussing the fact that nationalism is on trial," he said. "If nationalism is unable to prove its case then Bolshevism wins. Bolshevism proposes a clear distinction against national distinctions. Co-operation among the nations can solve the problems which provide the whole basis for Bolshevism." The statesman declared that one of the biggest steps toward checking the spread of Bolshevism will be international labor legislation, particularly laws providing a uniform wages and hours of employment. Such legislation he pointed out, will also result in favor of better industrial and commercial conditions.

LABOR LEADERS PRESENT PLANS ON PEACE TERMS

Program Contains Schemes Which Organization Hopes to See Incorporated in Settlement of Difficulties

INTERNATIONALISTS ARE STRUCK FROM ALL SIDES

Seventeen Nations Are to Be Represented at the Congress Held in Switzerland to Draft Resolutions on Peace

By FRANK J. TAYLOR BERNE, Jan. 24 (delayed).—Leaders of international labor and socialism, the influence of which has been officially recognized by the Versailles congress, expect to make an important contribution to the peace settlement. Arthur Henderson, British labor leader, told the United Press today that they hope to obtain endorsement by the peace delegates of the following program:

Full Program First, establishment of the league of nations, with authority to prevent wars and enforce its decisions; all nations to be members, including Germany, as soon as she complies with conditions of the armistice and pays for the damage she has done. Second, acceptance of an international labor charter securing a world standard of social and economic conditions. Third, universal abolition of compulsory military service, general disarmament and prohibition of the manufacture of war material, except by international control. Fourth, non-intervention in Russian affairs, but the exercise of moral force against the different elements of Russian socialism together and afforded them representation at the peace table.

Henderson expressed confidence that this program would be ratified by the international labor and socialist congress, which is to be held here. The congress was scheduled to meet January 27, but may be delayed by the inability of some of the delegates to arrive by that time. Henderson admitted the congress is having its difficulties. "We are under fire from both sides," he said. "The Bolsheviks condemn us as being 'yellow international politicians.' On the other hand, Samuel Gompers' refusal to participate, claiming socialism has no connection with labor and trades unionism. Both factions, therefore, look askance upon us and we regard it as a sign that we are somewhere near right."

Pacifist Ideas Are Proclaimed By Jane Addams

Famous Chicago Woman Asserts Loyalty But Does Not Believe in War

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—"I am pacifist," declared Jane Addams today, after yesterday with other "intellectuals" by Archibald Stevenson of the military intelligence service, in a report to the senate German propaganda investigation committee. "I am a member of many pacifist organizations—national and international—and head several of them," asserted Miss Addams, "but I have been loyal to my country. I did not see the Stevenson list and I do not know how far it goes, but I cannot change my convictions. I have been against war for many years. I believe there may be found other methods of adjusting relations between nations, and I believe it will be speedily found at the Paris conference."

Naval Plans Waver Under Strong Attack

Many Advocates Are Reconsidering Their Decision at Request of Taxpayers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Plans to congress for governmental economy are threatening the administration's large naval program. Several big fleet advocates on the house naval committee are wavering because of letters from constituents who oppose extensive naval construction on the sole ground that it would increase the already large federal taxes.

This situation has prevented the committee vote on the now three year building program scheduled for last Thursday and delayed final action for a week to see if naval constructors cannot make another cut in their plans without materially injuring the big navy plans. Administration supporters in committee have enough votes to put the Daniels recommendations for a new three year program through but do not want to bring in a bill that cannot get support in the house.

WILL HEAR MOTION FOR ANOTHER BERGER TRIAL

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Fate of Victor Berger and four other convicted socialist leaders was to be decided here today by Federal Judge Landis at the hearing of a motion for new trial. Machinery Set in Motion to Get Supplies to the Needy and Suffering WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—House conference on the $100,000,000 famine fund bill will be appointed Monday. An effort will be made to hasten final enactment of the measure already greatly delayed by the senate fight. When the measure passed yesterday, it was only after nearly every senator had expressed opposition to it, or had explained he voted for it only because convinced it was necessary to enable President Wilson to succeed in his peace mission. The bill is expected to be sent to President Wilson for his signature, but congressional leaders understand that news of its passage was to be the signal for getting in motion the machinery for setting food to the needy of Europe. Senate conferees named are: Martin, Virginia; Overman, North Carolina; and Warren, Wyoming.

Declares That United States Will Feel That She Has Fought in Vain if Settlement Is Based Solely Upon Attitude and Sentiment of European Nations

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS ENDORSED COMMITTEE AT WORK ON DETAILS

By FRED S. FEBRUON PARIS, Jan. 25.—The league of nations received formal endorsement by the general peace congress this afternoon when a special committee was appointed to work out its details. President Wilson, in opening discussion, declared the league "seems necessary, both in reaching the conclusion of peace, and in preserving the peace of the world," he said. "America's ardor for the league is not the result of fear, but because she will feel she has fought in vain if the peace is only one of European sentiments."

TO Determine Responsibility The congress also appointed committees to determine the degree of responsibility for the war and its "conduct." (Attaching to particular members of the enemy forces, however high they are placed, and to investigate international labor and world transportation problems. The congress adopted resolutions providing for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the responsibility for the war and breaches of international law in connection with its conduct. Other committees were authorized to take up international labor legislation and consider details of internationalization of certain transportation facilities. The committee to investigate responsibility for the war will include two representatives each of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan, and five representatives of the so-called allied powers. It will inquire into the following: Scope of Inquiry Authors of the war; facts regarding breaches of the law, and customs of war committed by the central powers on land, on sea and in the air; the degree of responsibility for "offenses" attaching to particular members of the enemy forces, including members of the general staff and other individuals; how far the present conditions in connection with the procedure of the tribunal appropriate to try these offenses; and any other matter cognate, or ancillary to the above which may arise in the course of the inquiry. Labor Committee's Part The special labor committee of similar composition will "inquire into conditions of employment from the international aspect; international means necessary to secure common action affecting conditions of employment; recommendation for a permanent agency to view such inquiry and consideration and cooperation with and under the league of nations." The transportation committee will "inquire into and report regarding an international regime for ports, waterways and railroads." Employment of the phrase "however highly placed" in the resolution regarding responsibility and punishment in those who started the war, was accepted as a direct reference to the former kaiser. Wilson Opens Session President Wilson opened the sessions of the league of nations at 3:10 p. m. The league of nations was the first subject taken up by the delegates. A resolution was presented providing that the league should be open to "every civilized nation which can be relied upon to promote its object," that it shall provide safeguards against war, and that it "should meet periodically in international conference." "It is essential to maintenance of the world settlement which the associated nations are to establish that the league of nations should be created to promote international cooperation to insure fulfillment of accepted international obligations, and provide safeguards against war," the resolution stated. Integral Part of Treaty The league should be created as an integral part of the general peace treaty. It should be open to every civilized nation which can be relied upon to promote its object. Members of the league should meet periodically in international conference. It should have a permanent organization and a secretariat to carry on the business of the league in the intervals between the conferences. "The league of nations seems necessary to us, both in reaching the conclusion of peace and in preserving the peace of the world," declared the president. "Some nations which are not amenable to competent judgment at present possibly will need readjustment in the future." (Continued on page 7)

16 GUARANTEE IS OFFERED TO FIGHTING JESS

Largest Sum Ever Presented to Boxers Will Be Given at the Willard Match Now Being Arranged

By H. C. HAMILTON
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—It is uncertain whether Jess Willard really believes he is good enough to fight Jack Dempsey or whether the lure of a hundred thousand dollars stacked high by Tex. Richard's agents proved strong enough to drag him from his pacifist avocations.

Long Retirement

Willard's retirement extended over such a long period that he hardly is likely to reach the superb condition he attained before he defeated Jack Johnson.

Richard knows the ins, outs, back-wards and forwards of the promoting game. No one would accuse him of being near-sighted enough to believe that any one but Jack Dempsey is capable of drawing enough money with Willard to make the transaction guarantee at the gate and provide something for the promoter. Therefore, Willard, it may be deduced, expects to meet Dempsey.

Big Guarantees

When Johnson defeated Jeffries in Reno almost ten years ago the fighters split $127,000, with Jeffries pulling down a big sum for his efforts. Willard is getting the biggest guarantee ever offered a boxer. It is probable, however, that Dempsey will decline to fight for less than $25,000 for he would be at great expense in making ready for the bout. Therefore the amount that will go to these battlers, probably will equate the largest sum for which any two boxers ever agreed to mingle.

Great Crowd Expected

Richard is not only the most famous gambler with attractions of this sort that the world has ever seen; but he plays in necessary good fortune with his bouts. Taking this as an indication, it may be expected that the greatest crowd in pugilistic history will help to pay for the exhibition. He promoted the Moran-Willard bout in Madison Square Garden and made a big sum for himself and the Jeffries-Johnson match as well as his pocket. Willard stated to the writer before leaving New York that he intended making an effort to land Willard and that he expected to build an arena to seat about 50,000 persons. He then had his eye on Illinois, provided the boxing will under consideration there was passed by the legislature. The fact that articles of agreement were signed calling for any number of rounds up to forty, probably puts Illinois out of the running.

WILL NOT FAVOR THE CLOSED SHOP

War Labor Board Will Not Be Back of Union to Force the Closed Shop Rule

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Recognition of labor unions by employers as ordered in may war labor board award was passed by a closed shop, John Chairman Taft declared in a statement today.

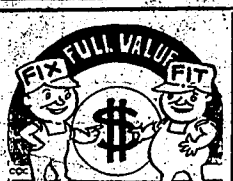

Taft's statement emphasized that the employers shall not interfere with the organization of unions and shall deal with their representatives but that the war labor board will not stand back of the union's attempts to force a closed shop on employers. Both employers and employees have misconstrued the board's meaning of the term "recognition of the union," Taft said.

Investigation First

Taft's statement was made in his decision of the labor dispute of Omaha and Council Bluffs car men, which he and Joint Chairman Manly heard January 21 at Omaha. He refused to sustain the employees in their demand for a closed shop and higher wages at the present time, stating the labor board's previous award expired February 1 and increases would not be allowed until after an investigation of them.

Taft said there was no evidence that the companies were now discriminating against the men because of union affiliation. The men's contention for a minimum wage of 41 1/2 cents an hour was sustained and Taft recommended that the companies' system of short piece runs be changed to remove some injustices. Any retroactive allowance for this was left to the board's examination.

Londoners Want to Stage Great Fight

LONDON, Jan. 16 (by mail).—George Carpentier vs. Frank Goddard, Jimmy Wilde vs. Jacques Ledoux.

This is the star program that London fighting promoters are trying to arrange for St. Patrick's day at Albert Hall here.

Carpentier, who has dodged all efforts to engage in flat-out combat for gain, since his enlistment in the French army, is said to be amenable to a long contest with Goddard, Eddie McGoorty, Billy Wells, Mike O'Dowd, Jack Dempsey or Battling Levinsky.

The Frenchman, it is said, is in top condition. The only thing which is keeping George from the squared arena is a far-seeing manager, who, anxious to see to it that his man doesn't lose out on a chance to swell the family bank roll, is adopting a policy of "wait and see."

He has received scores of offers to fight since the signing of the armistice. These offers come from all parts of the world, the majority, of course, coming from American promoters.

Chances for the staging of a bout between the two are considered good, with the odds favoring Goddard to be selected as his opponent.

Des Champs, Carpentier's manager, has given more favorable consideration to the offer, but is holding off until a local promoter had made an offer for a bout between O'Keefe and Carpentier. If the O'Keefe bout won't more than equal the Goddard offer, Des Champs will consent to a bout with Goddard. No definite details as to the length of the bout have been made but it is proposed to run it over the 20-round limit.

The Ledoux-Wilde affair, which was considered good, with the odds favoring Goddard to be selected as his opponent, will prove a big drawing card in itself. London's oat end is ready to stake its last shilling on Wilde, who served as a sergeant during the war. Ledoux, a Frenchman, it touted, as Wilde's most dangerous challenger.

SOLDIER WANTED. ICE CREAM AND WORKER GOT IT

Wounded Soldier Had Only One Wish and That Was for a Dish of Old Fashioned Ice Cream Like Mother Made

MAINEZ, Jan. 3 (by mail).—Manna for one thing, is the only thing comparable to the ice cream which was assembled in a place which had neither ice nor ice cream components, all for a wounded American soldier whose favored mind dwelt continually on that favorite throat cooling dish of his native land.

A young woman canteen worker of the Y. M. C. A. wrought the miracle with the aid of the wounded soldier's buddies, after the boy had confided that he had only one wish in the world, for a dish of old-fashioned vanilla ice cream. He was in the emergency ward of an obscure hospital, far from city comforts such as freezer or ice, but he admitted, "I guess I'm a nut, but I say awnke nights thinking how good it would taste. I know I can't get it up here."

The Y. M. C. A. canteen woman knew he couldn't, too, as she turned away. Condensed milk she had in her canteen, and sugar she could get from the night from one village to another, home-made ice cream. ("I think I'll put some water outside tonight, and see if it will freeze, though that won't be much good without eggs for the cream," she finished.)

"That will be all right, we'll tend to the eggs, half a dozen of the dough-boys assured her. And they did. Two of them walked over twenty miles the night from one village to another, milk almost house-to-house canvases for eggs, and coming back tired but triumphant with them at dawn. It had been a crisp, winter night, and the water that the Y. M. C. A. worker had put outside had frozen solid in its bucket. She made a rich custard, and the boys came up for her by using a small bucket around and around inside a larger one full of cracked ice. Then she carried it to the boy in the emergency ward. He lay rather pale and quieter than he had been the day before, but his smile was just as quick.

"Ice cream? Not!" he said. "Don't make me up! I'm dreaming!"

He couldn't get a great deal of it, after all, only a few spoonfuls, but it seemed to satisfy him completely.

"It tastes just like that I used to freeze for mother on Sundays," he said. "Maybe you wouldn't mind writing a letter to mother for me? Tell her—Oh, well, just tell her I had some ice cream."

DENY THAT IDAHO MINES CURTAIL THEIR OUTPUT

Coeur d'Alene Men Reply to Resolutions of State Federation of Labor Given Legislature

BOISE, Jan. 25.—Denying that the operations of mining in the Coeur d'Alene district have been curtailed or that Liberty bonds purchased by miners have been discounted, Stanley Eastman, manager of the Banker Hill and Sullivan mines of Kellogg, Idaho, has written a letter to Representative Thomas of Shoshone county which was placed in the records of the house of representatives here yesterday.

The communication said that the operations of the companies under Mr. Eastman's management were going ahead with a normal crew. It also said that there were known cases of where a Liberty bond had been discounted.

Further communications from Shoshone and Bonner counties state that while there is no certainty of market conditions which will determine the operation of the mines, yet it is believed that a normal crew can be carried indefinitely.

In a letter from James F. McCarthy of the fourth Idaho legislative committee of Shoshone county in September, Mr. McCarthy states what is said to be the only promise made relative to relieving working men of their bond obligations, when he says: "Any one subscribing for a bond of the fourth lib-

LEAGUE WILL BE VITAL TOPIC AT PEACE CONGRESS

Discussion of Possible Form Will Be the Chief Consideration of Today's Session of the Conference

By WILLIAM PHILLIP SIMMS
PARIS, Jan. 25.—Discussion of the league of nations was expected to form the principal business of the second session of the peace congress, which met in the grand d'Orsay this morning.

Other subjects which had been whirled into shape for open debate during this week's sittings of the "steering committee" were responsibility and punishment for the war damages; international labor legislation; internationalization of certain ports, waterways and railways and the procedure for bringing territorial questions before the delegates.

Meeting Is Public

Correspondents were admitted at today's session in observance with the present program of five secret meetings to one open meeting.

Premier Lloyd George was to begin debate on the league of nations by presenting the British plan. Whether the American program would be brought forward also was uncertain. It is understood that both the British and American plans, according to the latest modifications, provide for establishment of what amounts to an enlarged and improved Hague tribunal. The principal provisions of the British scheme are understood to include establishment of its findings by public opinion rather than a supranational "police force"; some form of disarmament; cancellation of all treaties which would interfere with the working of the league; formation of a board to pass on international labor problems and exclusion of the central powers until they had proven their fitness for membership.

ASKS EQUAL AID FOR AMERICANS

Having Dispensed Help to Europe Home Needs Must Not Be Forgotten

By L. C. MARTIN
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Having dispensed aid to Europe's starving millions, Congress next week is to be called on for an action on the pressing domestic problem of unemployment.

Senator Kenyon and others to whom appeals for emergency legislation are coming from mayors, governors, chambers of commerce and plain citizens out of work, will demand immediate consideration of the bill creating an emergency public works board with money to employ thousands.

Aid For America

"We have voted $100,000,000 to Europe's hungry," said Kenyon today. "Do we refuse to appropriate at least an equal sum to keep thousands of Americans from going hungry?"

Kenyon's bill provides $100,000,000 as an emergency fund to start public works.

"Of the money we spend for food for Europe, much will never be returned to the public treasury and we don't grudge it," he went on. "But every dollar used in the United States to work means dividends to America. Public works provide permanent public improvement."

APPROVE PRINCIPLE BUT NOT RESULTS OF SCHEME

Idaho Senators Oppose Education of Foreigners in Public Schools

BOISE, Jan. 25.—Strong opposition to the present wording and provisions of the Americanization act by Senator McMurray made its appearance in the senate yesterday with Senators Adams and Walker as its chief opponents.

Both men indicated that they believed in the necessity of educating non-English speaking people, but they in no uncertain terms stated their feelings relative to the results that might come in the event that the bill was passed in its present form.

Senator Adams of Madison led the assault when the bill was being considered on its second reading. His stand hinged on the fact that in southeastern Idaho hundreds of Mexicans are imported each year to work in the sugar factories. These men and women under the provisions of the bill would be forced to attend either day or night school. He did not want, he said, the school districts to pay for the education of this imported labor and said it was up to the institutions that imported them to pay for their schooling.

He further clarified his position by saying he was determined to not allow foreigners above 21 years of age to be in a school room with American children. He told of numerous cutting affairs and brawls which occur among foreign speaking people and said that the atmosphere these people would create in a school was not conducive to proper discipline.

The senator from Madison also stated his views as being for the state at large to provide school room and teaching facilities for foreigners allowing them, however, the use of school rooms.

case of Germany, any particularly onerous burden will fall upon the people of the warring nations.

If Germany does experience difficulty in meeting its war obligations, she will have only her own behavior to blame. She cannot expect, in the light of her conduct throughout the war, to count on any considerable degree of sympathy and cooperation on the part of other nations to assist her in fulfilling her obligations; nor can there be in justice any disposition to lighten her burden on this account.

Friends of justice will much prefer, if that consequence is inevitable, that the descendants of the devastators of Belgium and of France shall bear the financial burden, than that the cost of restoring these devastated nations should be saddled upon their unborn generations.

SERVICE MEN

It is eminently suitable that veterans of the Civil war, members of Dan McCook post, Grand Army of the Republic, with the assistance of the Sons of Veterans and Ladies of the G. A. R., should be the first among the organizations of Twin Falls to undertake a reception in welcome of returning service men of the great war, and it is much to be desired that their lead should be followed by other organizations acting as hosts at similar occasions.

Perhaps no other organization than the Grand Army could so well receive the returning service men with so full a measure of benefit to be derived by its guests, and certainly none could serve so effectively and well at an occasion when speaking and the banquet are to be the attractions of the Grand Army men.

The bond among service men extends beyond the present generation, and the lessons which the veterans of the passing generation may draw from their experience for the guidance and assistance of the men in uniform today in meeting problems of readjustment that were common to the men of '65 and the men of '18 are of estimable value and not likely to be neglected by any who are now vitally concerned in these problems.

WHAT IS BOLSHEVISM?

Only Conflicting statements Come From Russia But Writer Attempts to Supply Answers Based Upon Facts So Far As Facts Are Available

(EDITOR'S NOTE.—What is Bolshevism and what are the soviets? These are among the hardest questions in the world to answer today. The Bolsheviks refuse to let the cables or the mail carry one of Russia anything that may prejudice people of other countries against their theories. On the other hand the outside governments in whose hands are cable and mail transportation refuse to pass uncensored the things the Bolsheviks really want the world to know. Giving ear to travelers from Russia is just as bad. Those friendly to the Bolsheviks tell only that side. They are usually exceedingly strong for them. But the traveler from Bolshevism has only denunciation, good and bad, as he works. NEWS-PAPER REPORTERS and magazine writers entering Russia are given every facility and every courtesy if they are found to be at all favorable to Bolshevism. But the writer who refuses to promote anything until he has seen for himself has no chance. He is hounded by spies until nobody will be seen talking to him.

As a result it is next to impossible to print the exact facts in this country at this time. But the public interest is so great that a writer for the Journal-Standard has spent considerable time and trouble gathering printed material of all kinds from many different sources. He has read books accessible to the Bolsheviks and numerous foreign and American magazines and newspaper articles on both sides of the Russian situation. The following article is the result. It may contain mistakes but an honest attempt has been made to be absolutely fair.

Who Are the Bolsheviks? The Bolsheviks are the majority faction of the old Social-Democratic party in Russia. Allied with them are the radical or "left" Social Revolutionaries, mostly peasants, whereas the Bolsheviks proper are city workmen.

What Is Their Program? They propose to abolish private property and private profits. They would not only seize the railroads, telegraphs, mines, etc., but also the farms, homes, and personal property of all the people in the name of the state. They propose to extend Bolshevism rule all over the world, but every power in their control and by force if necessary. To this end they are conducting an enormous propaganda, which is now reaching but extensively in the United States.

How Do They Rule? The Bolsheviks rule by their control of the local soviets, which are the only governing bodies left in Russia. The soviets elect delegates to an "all-Russian soviets," which in turn selects a "council of people's commissars," a sort of cabinet, in which the executive power rests. The "people's commissars" at present are the leaders of the Bolshevik party.

What Are Soviets? Soviets are group organizations of city people and peasants, organized by factories, stores or neighborhood. They are not labor unions in the American sense. Anybody belongs—laboring men, physicians, lawyers, farmers—as long as he works. THE SOVIETS RULE THE FACTORIES; in fact, cases have been reported where they have commandeered them and paid the original owners nothing in return. Groups of soviets rule the cities and the rural districts.

How Did the Soviets Originate? After the czar was overthrown, workers in factories, soldiers in the trenches, and peasants on the farms, met and elected delegates to go to the capital and see how things were going—how the revolution affected the people. These meetings became "soviets"—the word means simply "councils." There was no thought of the soviets governing. But the extreme Bolsheviks seized on the presence of the soviets' representatives in Moscow, loudly proclaimed, to overthrow the Constituent Assembly, elected by all the people, which they denounced as representing the "bourgeoisie" (middle class) and the old oppressors.

Russians always have met in factories and villages to discuss affairs. The village "mir" was a meeting much like the New England "town meeting" in this country. Soviets were simply a natural outgrowth of this old custom.

Are Soviets Democratic? In theory, yes; but not in practice. Only those who favor the soviet form of government can vote. Opponents of the soviet have no say in government. The "bourgeoisie" (middle class) cannot vote. Nobody who profits by another's labor can vote. Merchants have no vote—only their clerks have.

The men in control of the soviets want everything owned by the government. The soviets have voted to abolish private property. Even a workman who owns his own home or a small farm can be dispossessed.

Workers in each shop, peasants in or near each community, elect delegates to a central soviet—one delegate for about 500 workers. There are soap factory delegates, munition mill delegates, tannery delegates, brickyard delegates, etc., and delegates from the labor unions and from the farming districts.

How Long Do the Delegates Serve? Until the men who elected them become dissatisfied and want someone else. Any delegates can be recalled at any time by the people who elected them.

What Is the All-Russian Soviet? It is a body of delegates from all the city and provincial soviets. The organization is rather loose; there seems to be no definite number of voters represented by each all-Russian delegate. This organization in November, 1917, succeeded the regular government headed by Kerensky.

Where Does This Soviet Meet? In Moscow, the ancient capital of Russia, not in Petrograd, which was the czar's capital. Moscow is in the center of Russia; Petrograd on the extreme west.

Do Soviets Represent the Majority? Some estimates of the soviet power say 85 per cent of the people in Russia are represented. Other estimates as low as 20 per cent. The truth probably is that either figure is correct for certain districts. There is no certain evidence yet that the soviets represent a majority of the people throughout Russia.

Are the Bolsheviks in the Majority? No. They are merely the majority faction of one party, and in Russia, there are half a dozen parties. The Social-Democrats were not even the largest party, but the extremists in this party and in the Social Revolutionary party, together, swung enough votes to overthrow the old-style congress and put the soviets in power.

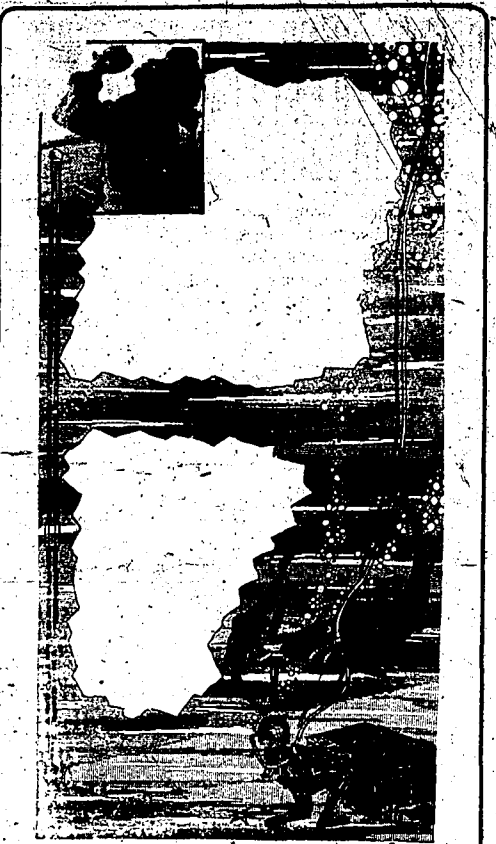

What Keeps the Bolsheviks in Power? The soviets owe their power to Bolshevik leadership, and, as long as affairs continue to favor them, they naturally decline to kick out the party which brought them into power.

Besides, if anybody within the soviets raises a voice against the Bolsheviks, the latter are very likely to make him appear as an enemy of the government. This keeps "down opposition."

What Keeps the Soviets in Power? Terrorism keeps the soviets in power. The Bolsheviks have invoked the "red terror" against those who plot to overthrow the soviet government. The Bolshevik machine rules with an iron hand over great masses of unorganized workmen and peasants.

Are the Bolsheviks Anarchists? No. Anarchists believe in no government. The Bolsheviks make everything subordinate to the government.

Are the Bolsheviks Pro-Germans? Evidence conflicts. Documents offered as proof that the Bolsheviks lead ers were in the pay of the imperial German government have been denounced by friends of the Bolsheviks as forgeries.

But there is no doubt that the Bolsheviks, whether purposely or not, played into the hands of the German imperialists when they signed the separate peace of Brest-Litovsk.

Are the Bolsheviks Murderers? Yes, by their own admissions. They defend the execution of many opponents by calling the condemned men and women "enemies of the soviet government."

Of course, not all the murders and assassinations in Russia have been officially countenanced by the Bolsheviks. Some Bolsheviks have been killed by their own opponents.

Also, there have been exaggerations of Russian conditions. On one occasion the world was revolted by the story that the Bolsheviks had ordered a wholesale massacre of opponents on a certain date. There was no massacre; instead, several political prisoners were released from jail.

Is Free Love a Bolshevik Doctrine? Several local soviets have declared in favor of "nationalization of women," which means abolition of marriage and substitution of free love. These actions have been widely heralded as official decrees of the Bolshevik government. The latter has not denied it.

Some Americans returning from Russia explain that these decrees are merely the work of irresponsible anarchists in the soviets. They explain that, under Bolshevik rule, marriage consists simply of filing an intention to marry with the proper bureau; no ceremony is required; divorce, also, is just as easy. This corresponds, roughly, to what is known in this country as common-law marriage.

Have the Bolsheviks Abolished Debts? Among conflicting news reports out of Russia there have been many rumors that the soviets planned to wipe out all debts, including the Russian national debt. There has been no certain information that this has actually been done.

What Turned the Bolsheviks Against the Allies? German propaganda profited by the failure of the soviet government and the allies to understand each other as first.

The soviets were represented to the allies as pro-German; the allies were represented to the soviets as anti-soviet.

The "red terror" and the separate peace with Germany convinced the allies that they should have no dealings with a government which, ruled by terrorism, broke its treaties and threatened to repudiate the nation's debts to other peoples.

This corresponds, roughly, to what is known in this country as common-law marriage.

Who Are the Bolshevik Leaders? Lenin, the premier, is a Russian (real name Ulianov), whose father was a merchant in Moscow.

DECLARES DEBS IS NOT ENTITLED TO NEW TRIAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Alleging that by appropriating the platform adopted by the St. Louis convention and through his speech at Canton, Ohio, advocating opposition and resistance to the draft law, Eugene V. Debs should not be entitled to a rehearing before the supreme court, the government filed its brief today.

The brief points out that Debs was engaged in influencing his hearers at Canton against military service, according to evidence submitted to the jury, which would support the verdict.

ARMOUR ADMITS PACKERS UNITED AGAINST ACTION

Head of Big Meat Corporation Says Defeat of Borland Resolution Subject of Organized Opposition

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Packers worked together to oppose the Borland resolution and other legislation. J. Ogden Armour admitted before the senate agricultural committee today.

Francis J. Henry forced a qualified admission by a clever series of questions. "If there were no agreement between Armour, Swift, Krome, Goddard and Wilson by which they jointly bear litigation and legislative expenses, by dividing them on a percentage basis," Henry asked.

"There is no agreement," Armour replied. "I don't know what you mean by agreement." "What do you mean there is no agreement? Do you mean you just do it?" Henry pressed.

Shared Jointly "If there is anything of interest to the industry, we look after it jointly, the same as any other industry." "Who looked after it for you?" "Most of the time Mr. Voorde." "Voorde is counsel for the packers. He is also charged the big packers were secretly controlling market and livestock trade papers."

Henry, with J. Ogden Armour sitting opposite, read letters passed between packers as evidence. Henry's fire centered around secret control of the "National Provisioner."

Packers Paid Fees "Packers 'chipped in' to pay George A. McCarthy, general manager, a year fee in 1916, Henry declared. "That was the year the Borland resolution was up," Henry asked.

Food Administrator Hoover depended on big packers to name the small packers as "representatives," Henry declared. "The federal trade commission can produce the evidence," Hucy asserted.

Switching to poultry, Armour said he had not tried to force little fellows out. "We prefer to buy them." Henry asked if Armour would not pay more for poultry when it was necessary to shut out some stubborn individual.

"Small packers make more money than the big ones," said Armour. "Big item left." "I suppose this statement was prepared to influence congress," Morris said, leaning across the table toward Armour.

"Now it develops something was omitted which is of considerable importance. It makes a difference of about $10,000,000." "A difference of about ten percent?" Senator Gore observed. "Mayer said it did not figure out that way. Senator Gronna said he had favored giving the packers a hearing, out of fairness to them."

Profits Not Included "But Mr. Armour has admitted that part of this capital included in the statements issued in South America," Gronna observed. "The profits are included. If this is true, it would not matter this a correct statement until these figures—some $10,000,000 are included."

"Hasn't Armour refused the federal trade commission his South American figures?" Henry asked. "It has, sir, on my advice," said Mayer.

"As I get it, the statement showed earnings of $21,000,000 last year divided by the whole capital investment to that arrive at the percentage of profit," said Senator Gore. "But the $10,000,000 profit from South America was not added. It seems to me that you should have added the $10,000,000 to your profits here and then divided to get the per centage of profit."

The question is often asked what part of an acre an ordinary city lot is. One 62x125 feet contains just a quarter-acre and contains 10,800 square feet. Ten acres, if square, would measure 660 feet across each side and a strip of that length and one-tenth the length, or 66 feet, would make an acre, and it but one-fourth as long or 165 feet would make a quarter acre. This is a good-sized city lot.

DECLARE WAR IN COUNTY AGAINST SPARROW PESTS

Farm Bureau Works With Farmers to Bring About Extermination of Feathered Raiders of Grain Fields

Sixteen busy farmers attended a sparrow poisoning demonstration conducted Friday afternoon by County Agent Donald McLean in the Pleasant View district. Each one of the six farmers brought with him a two quart jar of wheat and had it dosed up with the poison which they took back to the place in effort to rid their farms of the feathered pests.

The demonstration at Pleasant View is but one of a number to be waged through the county farm bureau to the end that the English sparrow may be eradicated as a pest from this county.

Expensive Guests.
"Two thousand sparrows will consume one dollar's worth of grain in one day," says the county agent prefacing the following statement relative to the pest and the steps which the farm bureau is taking to get rid of it:

Kill the Sparrows.
Sparrows eat very few insects but consume enormous quantities of grain and wheat and become as thick as flies where they destroy the nests and eggs, kill the young, and drive away the beneficial birds.

Last winter the people in the district around Idaho Falls got together and killed several million sparrows. They had become a serious nuisance up there. In Washington County, and around Boise, this winter Farm Bureau members have had success in killing off these pests.

Poison will be furnished free by the county from the Farm Bureau office to any district where a few farmers will work together to get rid of the pests. It doesn't pay to try to poison sparrows on one place only, unless farmers in a district become interested.

How to Proceed.
The following method is very satisfactory and convenient:

Put one-eighth ounce of powdered strychnine in a scant-half cup of hot water. Add 1-2 teaspoons of starch or flour which has been moistened with a few drops of cold water and heat, stirring into the wheat and stir until every kernel is coated. Small kernels of wheat best to use. Small glass jars is the best vessel to mix in as it is easily shaken and allows the condition of the contents to be seen. Shake hard for ten minutes until all the kernels stop sticking to the glass.

Roofs, back yards and unused poultry runs are favorable locations to put out the poison and every precaution should be taken to not poison cats or chickens. The best time to poison sparrows is probably as the snow is on the ground when food is scarce, and when of the other more valuable birds have gone south. It is of great importance to the farmers to preserve the other birds for they are very beneficial in destroying all injurious insects. Sparrows are very wise and learn where danger lies, so the lead birds should be removed from the place where the poisoning is done as soon as possible. IT IS USELESS TO PUT OUT POISONED GRAIN IN ANY IN ANY PLACE WHERE THE SPARROWS ARE NOT ALREADY IN A HABIT OF FEEDING.

Dissolve one-eighth ounce of strychnine in one pint of boiling hot water, then in this poison solution soak about two quarts of wheat for about twelve hours.

The poisoned wheat should be scattered thinly where the sparrows are likely to feed.

More complete directions will be given at any time as the farm bureau office and the county agent will meet at any time with a few farmers who are interested in poisoning sparrows.

FEDERAL AGENTS ON JOB

BURLEY—Agents of the federal government have been in Burley during the past week making investigations in connection with the affair which took place near this place on the night of December 13, when Deputy Sheriff Christopherson and Kennedy held up two automobiles containing booze, and which were later allowed to get away from the sheriff's office, says the Burley Bulletin. The government's investigation may lead to indictments for violation of the Webb-Kenyon law governing the shipping of intoxicating liquors into a dry state.

NORTH SIDE STOCKHOLDERS MEETING IS POSTPONED

On account of the prevailing epidemic and in accordance with the advice of physicians, the annual meeting of the stockholders of the North Side Canal company, Ltd., has been postponed from Thursday, January 22, 1919, to Tuesday, February 25, 1919, at 10:00 a. m.

STRAIGHT STREET

From time immemorial "What-its-name" has been a country cow path straggled through the nucleus of what finally became Grovedale. As houses were built here and there along its sinuous length, it assumed, or absorbed, or was given a name: "Crooked Lane."

When the first small stores began to find a location on a line with the depot, the town commissioners cut a broad line west, condemned curves and windings and laid out a compass-correct thoroughfare. It was not a pretty, appetitive they bestowed on it, but a thoroughfare, but it was appropriate as a contrast. It became Straight street.

To do business on Straight street was to be quite in the business sphere, to live farther out in its residential section was to be acknowledged and accepted socially. One day a stranger entered the town, a jaunty, fairly well-dressed fellow, about twenty-two. He was straight as an arrow, supple, swift of gait, bright-eyed, wide awake, suggesting a person seeking a brand-new environment and on the alert to seize its best opportunities. A whimsical smile crossed his expressive face as he glanced at the sign on a lamp post.

"Straight street," he read, as though it had made a pleasant sound. "That suits me and I take it as a harbinger of fortune. I've the road I've had in mind."

The young man started looking for a cheap room, a jaunty, fairly well-dressed fellow, about twenty-two. He was straight as an arrow, supple, swift of gait, bright-eyed, wide awake, suggesting a person seeking a brand-new environment and on the alert to seize its best opportunities. A whimsical smile crossed his expressive face as he glanced at the sign on a lamp post.

He became a favorite all around. There was one peculiarity about him—he took long jaunts, and it might have been remarked that he never left Straight street. He went to the dance hall, drinking places, tawdry side shows and rollicking crowds, but in town or leaving it, Straight street became his beaten path. One moonlit night he was pacing its middle pavement, for the sides were blocked where a horse was being led. A brumby, a spirited horse attached to a high trap turned into the street. The animal became frightened at the presence of a road roller and made a wild dash across the rubble stone and filling-in debris. A handsome girl held her breath as she caught the danger, but the horse was frantic. As the vehicle was all but upsetting, the young man sprang at the head of the speeding animal. He clung to the bridle, was dragged, swung, almost trampled, but halted the affrighted steed at last.

"What a beautiful horse," he burst forth, among the cinders and glass called out Miss Eva Powers, his driver, and Morse led the horse to the center smooth roadway. "You had better let me drive him home," he said, and that was how it came about that he first saw at the suspicious "Powers" mansion modest, petite Mary Lane, seamstress.

Thereafter when he called to see Mary at home or to chat with her in the garden, Miss Powers smiled indulgently and Mary was flattered and pleased at the attentions of the manly, good-looking young fellow. There seems about a rapidly occurring series of events. The war came on, Mary was proud about her lover when he was the first to enter the service. Miss Powers gave him quite a public reception when he came from encampment, a first lieutenant. Some weeks later Morse had learned the plain, self-control and the power to lead men. He and Mary had become engaged. He was popular with his comrades, a model to the young men of the town and in direct line for further advancement.

He had met Mary one afternoon and was crossing the garden to the street when a hurrying, flushed and hard-breathing man almost ran into him. Then the latter halted, stared and regarded Morse with a certain insolent, triumphant look.

"Do not look at me, well, Ned Durand and a blooming lieutenant! I've heard of you, I saw you before. And transformed into Abel Morse, U. S. A. Some rise in the world—eh, from convict 2244? What is it worth to shut my mouth?"

"That man!" burst forth sharply, and Miss Powers came rushing forward. Her direction was to Morse. "He has just entered the house, and has stolen a case of jewels. There they are, in his pocket. Bring him to my father, and we shall see how far his unmanly threat will carry him." Todd Brewster, ex-convict, thief, left Grovedale that evening a cowed skulker, with evidence sufficient behind him to send him back where he belonged. If he dared even to menace Abel Morse again. Within a week the assumed name of the latter was legalized.

To heartbeats and to drumbeat, a real soldier led his comrades through the little town in farewell. From the Powers automobile Mary Lane kissed her hand to this beloved fiancé, and Eva Powers who had been the father's knower of his buried past, her hand in fervent recognition and encouragement that told him that whatever came, honor and glory were his portion.

Does Not Worry Yet About Light Snaus

Pioneer of Owyhee County Recalls That March Weather Often Saved Situation

George Biddle was over from Little Valley Saturday, says the Owyhee Nugget, Brumby. He isn't alarmed at the absence of snow in the hills, not yet. February even, says George, can make have as regards snow, and he'd still remain but slightly anxious, for the month of March has many times saved range food with a snowfall which wearied by its persistence and duration. Even that blustery month, falling in line with its snowless predecessors in the county's past record, failed to result in drought, for April brought such compensating downpour of rain as made the desert earth with glaze, driving, discouragement and gloom into their hiding places with scowls and cries of baffled rage. According to George calamity howling time is yet a long way in the future.

An Authoritative Opinion.
When does the hobo season end? In a question which has been discussed for a good many generations. It would be presumptuous, perhaps, notes the El Paso Times, for us to try to settle it, but just the same we have a strong suspicion that this little sentiment could be prolonged if she when she comes to foot with her dog on the door and greet him, rather than skid into the kitchen to hurry up a dinner which has languished while she gossiped with the neighbor or bathed the cat.

"Turn a Deaf Ear."
To be able to hear well is a great blessing, but one should be able to "turn a deaf ear" to what is unwise or unkind to hear. If the noisy words that stir up strife, or the harsh, critical words that hurt one's feelings, or defame another, never found listeners, how much less pain and trouble the world would know. Learn to use the "deaf ear" and the "deaf ear" upon the right occasions.—Exchange.

Paper Clothing.
Paper clothing has long been known, sometimes for its succulence, but recently there was discovered a method of making it which greatly increases the life of the garment. Some paper cloth is brittle, but there is one variety known to the Japanese which will withstand 37,000 foldings without breaking.

A Legal Pun.
"A petition for an injunction, based upon a somewhat doubtful assertion of fact," says a New York lawyer, "came before one of the justices of the supreme court of this state. After consideration of the affidavit of the petitioner, the justice remarked: 'In this case an injunction will not lie even if the relator does.'—Case and Comment.

To Destroy Plant Worms.
Worms may be killed in jars of potted plants by taking a dozen horse chestnuts and pouring over them two quarts of hot water. Let L. M. T. in the Mother's Magazine. Let and overnight and with this water thoroughly saturate the earth in the jar. It will not injure the plants, but the worms will be dead in a few hours.

Kept Him From Sleeping.
Once there was an Eastern showman who said that when he went to bed, knowing there would be buckwheat and sausages for breakfast, he couldn't sleep for thinking about it. And when he went to bed with the information that there would be no buckwheat and sausages for breakfast, he couldn't sleep for worrying about it.

Time for Discretion.
"Why, I've got one foot in the grave and the other foot on a banana peel, so to speak," responds a man of sixty-five, expert for breach of promise in New York. Under such circumstances there is every reason why a man should exercise discretion.—Boston Globe.

Colors That Fade.
Aniline colors often fade to entirely different colors, while vegetable dyes usually fade to tones of their own particular colors. The best Oriental rugs owe their soft, wonderful colors entirely to vegetable dyes—in fact, the Persian carpets have for years prohibited the importation of aniline dyes.

Drink Buttermilk Freely.
The use of buttermilk is largely a matter of habit. Southern cities consume almost as much buttermilk as sweet milk. The difficulty of keeping milk sweet has been largely responsible for the popularity of buttermilk as a beverage.

About Your Errors.
Remember that to change thy opinion and to follow him who corrects thy error is as consistent with freedom as it is to persist in thy error.—Marcus Aurelius.

Warning.

Burley Man Reported Missing in Action Returned From Front

Henry T. Stevens of 91st Division Has Interesting Experience to Recount

BURLEY—Henry T. Stevens arrived home from France Sunday morning, and has a pretty mighty interesting story about the big fight over there to let in. Mr. Stevens was with the 91st until he fell to his friends, for the month of March has many times saved range food with a snowfall which wearied by its persistence and duration. Even that blustery month, falling in line with its snowless predecessors in the county's past record, failed to result in drought, for April brought such compensating downpour of rain as made the desert earth with glaze, driving, discouragement and gloom into their hiding places with scowls and cries of baffled rage. According to George calamity howling time is yet a long way in the future.

While his knee is giving him considerable trouble yet, he signed up for his release so he could be home with his parents. He expects to be fully recovered in a short time.

HEALTH CONDITION MUCH IMPROVED IN MINIDOKA

Disease Seems to Have Run Its Course—Early Opening of Report Now Predicted

RUPERT—Although the influenza death toll this week amounted to seven persons, conditions in the county are much improved, and those in touch with the situation feel that the disease has been almost stamped out and will soon be eliminated, says the Minidoka County Patriot. It is predicted that an early opening of business throughout the county will result, and a rumor is current that the ban will be lifted Monday.

CLARENCE GRAY WHILE WAITING

Jerome Milling and Elevator company is building an addition to its already large plant, says the North Side News. A room 143x with 10 foot ceiling is being built above its automatic wagon dump at the scales in which will be installed a grain cleaner, driven by a 10 horse motor. By this installation all grain will be cleaned before it goes into the mill, and also any seller of grain who is dissatisfied with the grading of his product by the simple cleaner can have his load cleaned while he waits and see for himself the result.

Cause of Cold Feet.
Cold feet may be habitual, constitutional or from general ill health, commonly they are so by habit. Tight shoes, a sedentary life and overeating are often guilty, asserts an authority. When there is too little ventilation of the feet or the stockings are too thick the relief isn't easy. The feet are kept warm better by wearing thin hose and low shoes, cold baths and vigorous massage, active exercise outdoors—especially walking—than by inactive in-door life. Frequent daily washing of the feet helps to restore their warmth.

Care of Telephone.
The telephone is a fine receptacle for germs of every kind, and little attention is paid to sterilizing this much-used machine. It should be washed out with alcohol as often as required, and to keep the dust out of it make a small round cover of soft leather or heavy cloth and stitch a broad ribbon around the edge, through which can be run a drawing string or elastic. Put this over the transmitter.

Thieves Bury Auto.
Somewhat out of the ordinary in making away with stolen cars was the method of Springfield, Mass., thieves, who buried a car in a lonely wooded spot not far from the state line. Boys passing discovered what appeared to be a newly made grave and notified the police, who when they dug a short time, uncovered a windblown, the car bore a Massachusetts license.

Every now and then there comes a substitute for gasoline, amply filling the place of the old discoveries of perpetual motion.—New York Sun.

WESTERN STATES LEAD IN PER CAPITA SAVINGS

Bulletin of American Institute of Banking Shows Thrift Practiced to Greatest Extent in Recent Year

A bulletin issued by the American Institute of Banking shows that the saving of the American people during the past four years have been greater than in any previous similar period, an index the per capita figures on saving during this period are highest in the western states.

According to Bradstreet's, in the eastern states, where the volume of total savings is greatest, the increase per cent is the lowest, or 10.7 per cent. The southern states, which have often been derided for the improvidence of their people, have increased in savings more than four times that of the eastern states, or 44.9 per cent, and more than twice as much as the New England states, which have by far a much larger percentage of savers to population. The middle western states have increased 39.3 per cent, while the western states have reached the highest percentage of any, or 101.1 per cent. The south, the middle west and west have saved vastly more proportionately in the last four years than during any four year period. The establishment of savings departments in commercial banks and trust companies seems to be accountable for such result.

California's Weeping Trees.
 California has but two species of native trees that are normally of weeping habit. One is Quercus lobata, the valley oak, having its most southerly range near Burbank. Idahoan Is Decorated For Unusual Heroism

Sergeant Guy L. Zilkley of May Receives Distinguished Service Cross

A list of members of the American expeditionary forces who have been awarded by the commander in chief in the name of the president, the distinguished service cross includes the name of Sergeant Guy L. Zilkley of May, Idaho, a member of Company L, Second Infantry, for extraordinary heroism in action near Steenbrugge, Belgium, October 31, 1918. According to the official citation Sergeant Zilkley, after reorganizing badly shattered forces, took command of the location and by good distribution of those under his command ably protected his flank. Assisted by two comrades, he attacked and drove out a machine gun nest that was holding up his advance, reporting the situation to his company commander by establishing an efficient liaison.

Birds' Nest Soup.
 The birds' nests from which the famed Chinese soup is made are built by a species of swallow that abounds on the coasts of Java, Ceylon and Borneo, and consists of a gelatinous substance obtained from marine plants. The nests are boiled either in chicken broth or in milk of almonds, and the result very much resembles vermicelli soup, except that it is far more costly.

Being Ahead of the Times.
 "The world calls every man that is ahead of his age a crank. There is no disgrace in it. It may be a little hard not to be understood and appreciated when you know you have what the world needs, notes an exchange. But remember, that's the way with the world. It sometimes takes years, and even centuries for people to appreciate what's before their experience.

The Old Gettogen Coin.
 The most valuable coin authorized in the United States is the double Eagle, worth $20, of course. But there was formerly struck in California what was called an "octagon" because of its shape, and it passed for $20. It was current elsewhere, but never legal tender.

PEACE DETAILS WORKED OUT BY SPECIAL GROUP

Supreme Council Will Handle Only the Biggest Problems and Render Final Decisions on Committee Plans

By FRED S. FERGUSON PARIS, Jan. 25.—Details of the peace settlement will be worked out by special committees, leaving the supreme war council free to handle only the most important and most difficult decisions, according to present plans.

Following today's session, it was believed that all principal powers will transfer virtually their whole foreign offices to Paris for work on the various committees, the personnel of which will be made up largely of men experienced in international affairs.
