GREAT MASS OF OFFICIAL DUTIES AWAITS WILSON

Piles of Letters and Measures Face the President on His Return from the Peace Conference

WILL MEET MEMBERS OF HIS CABINET LATE TODAY

Many Positions are to Be Filled By His Appointment and State Governors to Be Interviewed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Wilson returned to Washington early today, completing one of the most unique trips of history. Since his departure from home last December, the president has traveled over 12,000 miles, has been made a citizen of approximately 1,600 cities, towns and hamlets in Europe, has been housed in the royal palaces of two kings and one prince, has ridden on the royal trains of two ruling families, delivered nearly two score of speeches and short addresses and received six college and university honorary degrees.

Europe Trusts America

He returns to the capital intent on convincing congress of the need of America's participation in a league of nations. The background of this need he summed up in Providence, R. I., last night, when he said that now that Europe has pinned her faith to America "it would break the heart of the world" if America failed to respond.

A Busy Day

The president's day promised to be full. He was expected to give his first explanation of the league of nations constitution to his cabinet this afternoon. At the same time the president probably will give his official family his plans to obtain nation-wide approval of the league. Because of the president's short stay in this country, it is believed, cabinet members will deliver a series of addresses in support of it. This probably will be done while the president is again in France attending the peace conference.

Many Reports Ready

Today's cabinet meeting is the first with the president in 13 weeks and each department head has a report on hand. Chief among these are the financial and labor situations, which the president will be asked to disentangle, as well as future army and navy plans, the railroads and construction work in general.

May Meet Governors

Secretary of Labor Wilson is anxious that the president reserve at least one day in his short stay for a conference with governors and city officials on the unemployment situation and the general industrial unrest.

The president found a mass of executive business awaiting him. About a dozen bills passed in congress were on his desk for approval. There was a mass of personal mail and the American delegation which had been accumulating since he sailed from France, but he planned to clear this up rapidly.

To Fill Positions

Several important positions must be filled by him within the next few days, chief among them being a successor to Attorney General Gregory. His selection will fill vacancies in the interstate commerce commission, the federal trade commission and the federal reserve board.

Conferences with party leaders have been reserved for tomorrow as the democratic national committee meets here, then and probably will choose a chairman. Wednesday evening with the congressional foreign relations committee to explain "article by article" of the constitution of the league of nations.

To Review Parade

Thursday the president will march in and review from a stand in front of the White House a parade for returning fighters.

Arrangements have been completed for the president to keep in closest touch with the peace conference. Almost instantaneous communication with the American delegation will be maintained. The president's stay in this country may be governed by the developments at the conference as he has made his plans to return hurriedly should any matter demand his personal attention.

Twin Falls music lovers are looking forward with great interest to the coming engagement of Maud Powell at the Lyman Water Register office on Monday evening, March 3. All critics agree that she holds not only the premier position among violinists of her sex, but that she, without rival, stands out conspicuously among her masculine confreres "getting something from her work no man could ever reach."

In the United States no other violinist has attained as high a goal as Maud Powell, nor has any other violinist held a sustained popularity among his own countrymen as has she. Maud Powell has appeared in all of the principal cities of Europe and America, and her playing has always received the most favorable comment. It is seldom that an artist of her rank is heard outside of the larger places.

Memorial at Marine Wood Proposed for Colonel Roosevelt

Friends of Former President Suggest Use of Area Consecrated by American Blood

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The Roosevelt Permanent Memorial national committee, of which Col. William Boyce Thompson is chairman, has just published a proposal made by a number of close friends of Colonel Roosevelt that Belleau Woods, where the first American soldiers fell in France, be acquired from the French government and purchased or otherwise converted into an American national cemetery in memory of Theodore Roosevelt. It is suggested that this forest, which has been bought by the French, be made the final resting place of the bodies of those of the American dead whose families prefer to have them remain where they fell in France to bring brought back to this country. The grave of Quentin Roosevelt, who fell fighting in the air over the German lines last July, is situated just outside of Belleau Woods and would undoubtedly be included in the national cemetery. Suitable architecture and landscape treatment of this historic place of ground would, it is thought, give it the dignity of fittingly a memorial suitable to Colonel Roosevelt and worthy of those who are to be buried there.

Among those who made the proposal are the following: Lawrence F. Abbott, Richard Washburn Child, Arthur F. Cooby, John C. Greenway, John Mitchell, Samuel Parsons, W. F. Purdy, Cushing Stetson.

It is hoped that in case the Roosevelt Permanent Memorial committee adopts this proposal, some plan of co-operation may be worked out with the American Field of Honor association which is planning to select and beautify an estate of 500 acres in France as an American national cemetery. Representative Simon Press, a member of the Roosevelt Memorial committee, recently introduced a bill in congress to incorporate the American Field of Honor association.

WOULD CHANGE NAVAL LAWS TO FIT THE DRAFT

May Revolutionize the International Rules of the Sea to Agree with the New League Constitution

BY FRID S. FERGUSON PARIS, Feb. 25.—Revolutionary changes in international naval laws which, fitting in with the rules of the league of nations, would make war virtually impossible, regarding munitions.

Regulations under which munitions are shipped from neutrals to warring-nations would be completely overthrown. Under these regulations freedom of the seas would not be theoretical but real.

Principal Points Favored The United Press is able to state that the principal points favored by the proposed delegates regarding munitions shipping in the future are: 1. Each nation shall be held responsible for any unneutral act by its citizens.

All contraband must be established at the outbreak of the war and lists cannot be changed during the period of hostilities. Carrying contraband naturally is forbidden, the flag of a non-warring nation flying over a ship would be a guarantee that she was not carrying munitions or other prohibited materials.

It is obvious that under such rules no nation will be able to carry on a war beyond the limit of her own production of munitions. The practice of buying munitions from neutral nations, and the payment of enormous prices and obtaining shipment through payment of high freight rates with shippers taking the risk—no longer possible—would be eliminated by point one, and the nation from which a ship was sailing would ascertain that she carried no contraband as a measure of self-protection.

No Neutral Favoritism There would be no neutral power in the strict sense, after establishing the league of nations, but assuming that despite the rigidity of the league laws some powers would start to engage in what is the new world war, as a further deterrent. If a belligerent violated the rules governing its movements at sea, it would bring upon it the judgment of the league, and a violation by non-belligerent would render the latter an accomplice in war making.

As the discussion progresses, the idea that the league would be a framework for non-belligerent would render the latter an accomplice in war making. As the discussion progresses, the idea that the league would be a framework for non-belligerent would render the latter an accomplice in war making.

Supermen Are Busy Fixing Yanks' Shoes (By United Press.) COBLENZ, Feb. 25. (By Mail).—From fighting American soldiers in the Argentine, the volunteers of the Red Cross for these same Americans are a long jump. Several score discharged German soldiers have made it. In their withdrawal from the Rhine the German army left behind about 50,000 pounds of shoe leather, and a large quantity of shoe machinery. Maj. Lewis Landes of the salvage department conceived the idea of using the leather and machinery to make the footwear of the troops in the occupied area, thereby saving the shipping space necessary to ship the shoes to France and back again. So he got a good repair shop with about 100 German employees hired in Coblenz. About half of these are demobilized soldiers who were glad to get work, even at repairing the shoes of their enemies.

RUM RUNNERS IN MICHIGAN LEAD ROMANTIC LIFE

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 25.—A colorful chapter in the history of prohibition is being written by numerous dapper bands of whiskey smugglers operating in Michigan. Their attention is centered principally on Detroit.

Smuggling whiskey into the state today is not the crude, haphazard business it was when Michigan went dry last May. Brains, daring and ingenuity are necessary to circumvent the forces engaged in enforcing the dry laws. The principal source of supply for Detroit and vicinity is Toledo, O. Two good automobile roads connect the cities. Along these roads, at the Michigan border and at Monroe, Mich., a stopping-off point between the cities and the state constabulary, deputy sheriffs and agents of the state pure food and drug bureau are mobilized in force.

They daily intercept automobiles laden with liquor. Some of them they capture. How many get by undetected is problematical. Not a night passes without having its tale of exciting races through the dark. Anywhere from one to four wrecked automobiles are found in the ditches by the road, saturated with their ill-gained cargoes. Practically every weapon known to war, except poison gas and bowiters, is to be found in the smuggler's arsenal. Clubs, revolvers, knives, rifles, blackjacks, shotguns, rocks, slugs of iron and bottles are used.

Officers peering into freight cars in search of contraband have been pumpled with clubs, beaten with blackjacks, stabbed, shot at and otherwise discouraged. Many runners often smuggle themselves and their goods into freight cars, under piles of material in the hope of evading detection, and always fight with every weapon at hand to escape arrest and jail. The automobile whiskey smugglers often work in squads, one machine acting as a scout car, well in advance of the main body, to discover traps and to report the location of any trap, bringing in anywhere from 1000 to 5000 quarts of whiskey in one trip. At current prices the value of the larger amount would be close to $400,000. Individuals travel daily between Detroit and Toledo and seek to smuggle back a few quarts for home consumption. They use suit cases with false bottoms, hot water bottles, capacious pockets and double compartment cans. Women have been known to carry a girl's or a child's bonnet about their waist, under coats or skirts. Officers search all interurban cars thoroughly. Automobile owners make use of practically every part of their cars to smuggle in a supply of drinkables. Camouflaged tires and inner tubes succeed for a while, but the police found a leaky one and now all tires and tubes are examined. Taps with double linings, top kits, hollow shafts, extra gas tanks, special compartments built around the motor, hollow doors and other parts of the machine were successful in the early stages, but today they are hopeless.

Probably the most successful of the rum runners are those who use the railroads. They operate on a large scale, rickety cars of liquor at a throw. The whiskey comes buried in piles of vegetable, stuffed in tin cans and shipped as furniture, bibles, ink, rag, oil and a hundred other common commodities. A carload of huge, padded armchairs arrived from Chicago and an inspector noticed the wrapper of eggblender on one chair appeared to be damp. One of the bottles inside the upholstering had broken. A can of cement yielded several cases of whiskey. Lending cases of books and other non-look-alike articles often announce the real nature of the shipments. Other cities in the state offer a good market, but Detroit is the recognized retail market where good prices obtain. Most of the whiskey is sold in small quantities, at a high price, and disappears like so much rain in the desert. The margin of profit is great. The whiskey, purchased in wholesale lots at about 45 per gallon is sold at from $7 to $10 per gallon.

Marvelous tales of wealth are told. One man is credited with having cleaned up close to $500,000 in less than three months. Others are said to have made anywhere between $100,000 and $200,000.

MINERS WORKERS WILL NOT YIELD TO PARLIAMENT

Miners, Railway and Transport Employees Refuse to Give in to the Government Officials' Terms

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Representatives of the "Triple Alliance"—miners, railway men and transport workers—met today to discuss the proposals regarding demands to be made upon the government and to decide whether a general strike shall be called. The miners did not yield an inch in their fight against a resolution, replying to Premier Lloyd George's offer of compromise, "accede to our demands to avoid a strike." The bill introduced by the premier created a special committee to investigate the proposals regarding demands to be made upon the government and to decide whether a general strike shall be called.

JAPANESE FAVOR LEAGUE DRAFT Only Dissatisfaction is that No Mention of Race Equality is Made TOKYO, Feb. 19.—(Delayed).—Japanese newspapers commenting on the covenant of the league of nations, which has just appeared in complete text here agreed for the most part today that it sounds the death knell of militarism. The newspapers appear to be satisfied with regard to the arrangement for the detroit islands in the South Sea. In one respect they are unanimous. They regret that in the covenant there is no declaration of the equality of races and nothing to abolish discriminatory laws.

CHICAGO CLOSES HOT FIGHT AT PRIMARIES CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Chicago closed one of its hottest municipal campaigns with two primaries here today. All the old time bludgeoned were in use by the six majority candidates with a few new ones invented by the war. Gen. traction, civil service and other familiar wars rang in the campaign's oratory. The war brought charges, counter charges and promises in regard to reconstruction, care of the soldier and a clean city to back up war time prohibitions. Then, too, the war figured in attacks on Mayor William Hale Thompson, cancelled for re-election. Thompson's attitude, failing to receive Marshal "Papa" Joffre and his invitations to peace leaguers to meet in Chicago were referred to constantly as an indication of his war attitude. "Big Bill" came back vigorously. Aside from socialist candidates the big battle was between six men—all fighting each other as well as the enemy of the other ticket. Candidates for mayor were: "Big Bill" William Hale Thompson, republican, now mayor, defeated at the polls; Carter H. Harrison, a candidate for United States senator. Capt. Charles E. Merriam, republican, defeated in 1911 by Carter H. Harrison in the same year of race. Merriam, university professor, alderman and lately Red Cross official in Europe, represented the "reform" element while in the council. Harry E. Olson, republican, municipal auditor, put forward by "harmony" republicans. He was defeated by Thompson in 1915. County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, democrat, the "harmony" candidate for his party. T. W. Carey, democrat, running on a platform called for "good utilities management."

State Attorney MacClay Hoyme, independent, especially vigorous opponent of Thompson. Carter H. Harrison, five times mayor, may enter the race by petition upon his return from Europe, where he is with the Red Cross. THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

The idea of a League of Nations is sound only so far as it accomplishes the primary principles for which it was in the first place conceived. As to just how it will do this, and as to what measure of success the workings of the plan will harmonize with the thought of the men responsible for it, time alone will tell.

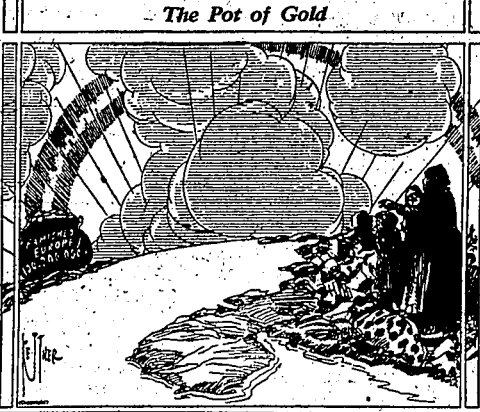

The retirement into oblivion of the American Monroe Doctrine is in itself a step of great responsibility. By means of this greatest of all unwritten laws the United States has been enabled to keep all other powers from interfering in the affairs of Central and South America—and it has also provided a means whereby this country has been able to sit quietly by and watch the virtual disintegration of at least one American country, without raising a hand in the protection of either American interests or the interests of the country in question.

Under the old order of things an abandonment of the Monroe Doctrine would have meant that a persistent refusal of America to take a hand in the pacification of Mexico would have brought about definite interference by some other power.

Mr. Wilson has not yet made clear the inner workings of the League plan, although he has offered plenty of highly convincing argument in favor of the League. When he shall have done this, Congress will either accept or reject the proposition.

As matters now stand it would appear that a League of Nations offers the only means of providing against future European wars. Probably it does not mean the end of all war, but it would probably render impossible any repetition of the events of the past few years upon any such flimsy excuse as that offered in the present war.

Among the Japanese especially, a directly divine origin is attributed to music. The mythical legend runs that the art was invented by the gods to appease the anger of the sun goddess and to induce her to shine once more upon the earth and upon the other divinities.

The Pot of Gold

The "Bum Lamb" Business—How Being Good Samaritans Profits Western Boys

When the sheep came in on the western ranges the coyote took a new interest in life and found the interest fully justified by developments. Now, however, all up and down the Mountain states, he finds that interest becoming a pale and unprofitable abstraction, bearing no fruit but that of the human variety. He is finding a niche between the coyote and his tenderest and most delectable prey. That something is a boy.

In the old days it was any picking. Great multitudes of sheep drifted across the open range, thousands upon thousands and myriads upon myriads of them, and day by day a certain percentage of the very young lambs dropped out of the ranks—the lambs that were too weak to keep the pace, the lambs that became bewildered and went down under hoof. The bands swept on and the coyote simply followed after and made the lost lambs his own prey.

Now all is changed. The bands of sheep still go by as of old, and the coyote still follows afar off, just as of old, but where are the lambs that used to be the reward of his vigil? They still drop out, but they drop down on the job just as regularly, just as consistently as they did five years ago. No longer do they drop into the hands of the coyote.

The "bum lamb" clubs are of but few years' standing, but since the outbreak of the war, organized in the United States and in the West, they have been the means of saving many thousands of lambs from becoming the prey of wolves. The movement has spread to Idaho, Oregon, Montana and Utah, and has become one of the most fruitful branches of the boys' and girls' club work conducted by the United States and the state agricultural colleges.

The club boys systematically follow the droves of sheep that pass to and fro on the ranges near their homes, and take possession of the lambs that the shepherds abandon. "Finders are keepers" is the motto of these investigators of the valleys of the lost lambs, and the boys and girls boast a thrifty flock of sheep, all salvaged from the lambs that used to be the coyote's share of the sheep business.

What Jimmy Jones Did The experience of almost any member of these clubs may be taken as representative of the way they go about the business of saving "bum lambs." That of Jimmy Jones, for example, Jimmy lives in one of those little valleys in Washington where the apples come from and his father owns a little orchard there. Beyond the orchard that bounds the valley proper lies the open range, where the bands of sheep come and go in season. Jimmy became interested in the "bum lamb" business and began to follow the sheep bands. Day after day, during the lambing season, he went out into the range and hunted for lost lambs. Some days he covered miles of sage without finding a single lamb; some days with the help of the herds he was lucky enough to find three or four. At the end of the season he had saved 43.

All these lambs had to be bottle-fed. When Jimmy was in school his mother cared for them and say that they had the frequent habit of yelping. When the home milk supply became inadequate Jimmy bought milk for his flock. As soon as the lambs were big enough to take a change he began taking them out along the irrigation ditches, where they thrived on grass weeds that otherwise would have been mowed to keep them from choking the ditches.

This Jimmy became the possessor of a fine bunch of sheep. As soon as the weather began to be ready for market he began selling to a buyer in a nearby town. Then, seeing a weather that he had sold for $7 headed back before his own door he decided to sell to a road contractor camp, dressed for $10, he promptly went into the dressed-meat business. After that it was Jimmy Jones, not the man from town, who sold mutton to the construction camp. He has been making a net profit of about $10 a head on his wethers. Furthermore the home orchard has been stocked with a profitable bunch of ewes.

THE NEXT LIBERTY LOAN

These Washington correspondents who tell us this morning of the rejection by the ways and means committee of Secretary Glass's plan for the next loan, had apparently never read the secretary's plan. The central idea of the secretary was to offer short-term obligations maturing not less than one year—nowhere than five years from the date of issue. He asked authority to use this form of obligation, instead of a 4 1/4 per cent long-term bond, for the $5,000,000,000 still unraised under the last authorizing act, and for an additional $5,000,000,000 borrowing. In this proposal the house committee concurs. Mr. Glass had expressed the wish to retain authority for putting out bonds with a longer term instead of these short-term obligations. But this was merely as an alternative, whichever form of obligation should be selected, the limitation in the amount of loan would remain the same. The reason why he desired the right to put out ten-year bonds he explained last week to the committee. "It might be regarded as desirable to make an alternative offer of bonds and notes, leaving the subscriber a choice between the two," or it might be advantageous to offer subscribers to the short-term obligations the right to exchange them for bonds at maturity. But to make that offer, the bonds would have to be authorized.

This suggestion does not seem to meet the committee's approval, and the committee does not appear to favor granting the secretary the right to determine tax exemptions. As an alternative, we are told that a bill is discussed giving the treasury the power to choose between four descriptions of short-term obligations—the first exempt from all taxes but bearing a low rate of interest; the second subject to all taxes but with a high interest rate; the third exempt only from the normal taxes, and the fourth exempt up to a certain amount. This, to all practical intents, would be granting what the treasury asks; but the question seems to be left open whether congress is to stipulate in advance the maximum rate on each of these four descriptions, or whether the fixing of the rate shall be left to the secretary. It will probably be left to him; first, because congress will have adjourned before the new loan has to be arranged for, and conditions of the market may have changed in the meantime; second, because the stipulation of a maximum rate by statute invariably results in that rate being demanded by the market.

Great and Small Minds. If you would stand well with a great mind leave him with a favorable impression of yourself; if with a little mind leave him with a favorable opinion of himself.—Coleridge. Work While at Work

It's a good thing not to take your hobbies to the office. It's also a good thing to dispense with easy chairs and other luxuries in your place of business. Take the rest cure at home. The office is a place of toil. It should be comfortable, but its appointments should be suggestive of work and efficiency rather than leisure. Instead of making a man feel like taking a nap the office environment should be an urge to his best efforts.

English Lavender and Mint. The great secret of English lavender and mint lies in the soil—a light, friable, chalky soil, not often found in a climate congenial to both plants, yet essential to a perfect result. Each, in fact, may be grown with a certain measure of success on hill, in meadow, or meadow, for both are hardy, and, when well rooted, are nearly impervious to drought and frost.

Why Business Falls. Dr. Malcolm Ketr of the University of Pennsylvania attributes the 15,000 to 20,000 business failures which occur annually to one or more of the following causes: Inexperience, unwise use of capital, employment of relatives, poor location and accounting, extension of credit and dishonesty.

To "finance" a "To Let" advertising campaign you need only set aside for perhaps a few days—a part of your pocket money.

Handy Plant in Desert

In the desert of Sonora, Mexico, there is a plant, the guarquil, which husbands its water supply. The guarquil is a relative of the squash and pumpkin, and inhabits a locality in which practically all the rain falls within a period of six weeks. The base of the stem is swollen to form a hard, woody structure, which in time attains the size of a large squash. It is really nothing more than a vegetable reservoir designed to hoard up the scanty moisture and dole out the precious fluid in time of need.

Christmas Box Nuisance. The Christmas box was at one time greatly in evidence—so much in evidence that it finally became an intolerable nuisance, and the people rose up in rebellion against it. At Christmas time hordes of boys and journey-men and apprentices crowded the shops and ran about the streets in certain parts of England begging coins for the small boxes they carried. One can readily imagine how much of a nuisance the boy might make himself under such circumstances.

CELEBRATED WAR HERO TO RELATE HIS EXPERIENCE

Captain F. R. O'Leary, Premier Ace of Royal Flying Corps, Twice a Prisoner, to Lecture in Twin Falls.

Twin Falls people at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Lavington theatre will have an opportunity of hearing from his own lips an account of his experiences in the world war. Capt. F. R. O'Leary of Seattle, Canadian ace who claims credit for bringing down 21 German planes and six balloons, who has been wounded 11 times, escaped twice from German prison camps and been decorated by the governments of France, Italy and the United States.

Surrenders to British.
Captain O'Leary enlisted in August, 1914, in a Canadian infantry regiment and continued in the service until after the signing of the armistice when he returned to his country to claim at Heyburn, Idaho, as his bride, Miss Vera Campbell, culminating a romance dating from their first meeting at Shoshone, Idaho. He was here Monday arranging for his lecture.

The exploits of Captain O'Leary have figured large in stories of the great war published in the local newspapers and periodicals in this country and he is a nationally known character.

Directs American Guns.
The first 18 months of his service was in the infantry arm in which he rose to the rank of major. He transferred then to the Royal Flying Corps in which he won distinction. He was awarded the French croix de guerre by General Foch after he had cleaned out a German trench with a machine gun from his plane, getting 125 bombs in the forenoon and 34 in the afternoon. This is said to be a record day's work for any army aviator.

The American distinguished service cross was awarded to Captain O'Leary for brilliant service in directing American artillery fire at Chateau Thierry. He also flew on the Italian and other French fronts.

Leaves Prison a Skatolon.
Weighing 163 pounds when he was captured once by the Germans, Captain O'Leary tipped the beam at just 92 pounds when he arrived in Switzerland after escaping through electrically charged wires that separated Germany from the neutral country.

Captain O'Leary expects to remain for some time in Rupert, finding that southern Idaho climate is a material factor in bringing about his recuperation from wounds and effects of gas. Not long ago, he says, he could neither walk, hear or talk. He is recovering his voice and his wounds are healing although he still walks with a slight limp and uses a cane.

GOODING COLLEGE TO INAUGURATE PRESIDENT
Charles Wesley Tenney to Be Formally Installed as Head of Education Institution.

GOODING—The inauguration of President Charles Wesley Tenney of Gooding college will take place March 21. The committee on arrangements includes Secretary J. Wesley Miller, Rev. A. C. Evans, Supt. J. E. Baker, Mrs. John Thomas and Mrs. W. J. Douglass.

President Edward H. Todd of the College of Puget Sound will be the principal speaker and many other leading educators will represent their respective institutions.

EXTENSION AGRONOMIST BEGINS MOSCOW, Idaho, Feb. 25.—R. J. Leth, extension agronomist, has returned to take up farming in Iowa. Mr. Leth has been instrumental in securing the adoption of the federal wheat grades in Idaho. During the past year, he has supervised the grading campaign in Idaho and helped in encouraging the production of pure seed wheat and other crop seeds.

DOLLARS AND CENTS
Counting it only in dollars and cents, how much did that last cold cost you? A man may not always stop work when he has a cold, but perhaps it would be better if he did. It takes about ten days to get completely rid of a cold under the usual treatment. That time can be much shortened by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and preparing of yourself. In fact, a bottle of this remedy in the house is a mighty good investment during the winter and spring months.—adv.

PERIODIC BILIOUS ATTACKS

Persons subject to periodic bilious attacks will observe that their appetite fails them just before an attack. That is, they do not really crave food but eat because it is meal time. If they will eat only a light meal and no meat, then take two of Chamberlain's Tablets, the attack will be avoided.—adv.

With Hosts and Hostesses

Miss Helene Almanninger entertained a small party at dinner on Sunday evening.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Stiles were surprised by a number of friends. They have recently moved into a new home and the affair was in the nature of a house warming.

The members of the Shamrock club entertained their families and a few other guests at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Glinstead. After dinner the guests spent the evening with games.

Miss Thelma Dawson entertained at a Washington party on Saturday evening at the Smith home. The house was decorated in the national colors. The evening was spent in games. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess late in the evening. The guests were Misses Florence Denton, Viola Lowe, Violet Holdman, Mildred Son and Marjorie Jewell.

The guests of the Justamero Inn entertained a large number of friends at a Washington dance in the living rooms of the inn on Friday evening. A program was given by Mesdames Reat, Warren, Longley, Steifler, Jones and the Misses Toadale and Steifler and Messrs. Reat and Watson. The rooms were beautifully decorated with red, white and blue streamers running from the chandeliers, also covered in the red, white and blue in the corners of the rooms.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Robert King entertained for her daughter, Mary Ellen, at a Martha Washington dinner. The guests wore colonial costumes and looked quite very quaint in their long dresses and whitened collars. The table was decorated with hutchins and red, white and blue bachelors. From the chandelier in the dining room a red, white and blue shield was hung over the table. The evening was spent in playing games. The guests included Marjorie Wood, Helen Fisher, Lucy Munson, Mary Virginia Hart, Jane Maxwell, Patricia Wilson, Peggy Wall, Clara Kale, Alice Taylor, Florence and Margaret Crozier.

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

There are people who never have a movement of the bowels without it is produced by a cathartic. Most of them have brought that condition on themselves by the use of mineral waters and strong cathartics that take too much water out of the system and aggravate the disease they are meant to relieve. A mild laxative tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets affords a gentle movement of the bowels that you hardly realize has been produced by a medicine, and their use is not so likely to be followed by constipation.—adv.

PEACE WORK IS BEING SPEEDED TO COMPLETION

The New Revolution in Germany is Making the Delegates at the Conference Hurry Their Plans

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
PARIS, Feb. 25.—The new revolution in Germany is giving added impetus to the work of preparing the outline for a preliminary peace. The conferees are anxious to reach a point where food and material may be shipped into Germany to restore economic and political conditions to normal basis.

No Official Information
The peace conference had not yet received official advice on the situation in Germany today, owing to the fact its representatives in that country are sending reports by courier rather than telegraph. But there was a disposition on the part of the delegates to feel that speed in effecting a preliminary peace is becoming more essential each day from a standpoint of self-protection, if for no other reason.

Awaiting Wilson
While the question of whether peace with Germany or final disposition of the league of nations shall be taken up first after President Wilson's return probably will remain open until he is present to participate in the discussions, there appears little doubt at this time that the preliminary peace will be given precedence.

Working Out Details
The various committees are progressing rapidly in the working out of details of the general peace settlement. The sub-committee of the body which will determine responsibility and punishment for authors of the war is reported to have completed its report on individual guilt, though the whole committee has not yet acted. The sub-committee's report is said to have been unanimous.

Agrees on Reparation
The committee on reparation is reported to be approaching agreement on the principal upon which damage will be collected. It is further reported that early high claims are being consistently shaved down to conform with what can be obtained. The committee is understood to show a preference for making the period of payment as short as possible—inside of twenty years—rather than permit the cry of "commercial slavery" to go up from a couple of generations.

Territorial Claims
In the matter of territorial claims, informal discussions regarding the western frontiers of Germany are going on. Only the Moroccan and Armenian questions remain of the minor problems to be taken up.

Representatives of various league of nations societies of the big powers will meet in London this week to confer on amendments and additions to the constitution, which they will present when the peace conference opens debate on the covenant.

Asking Changes
Oscar Strauss and Hamilton Holt will represent the league to enforce peace. Senator Bourgeois of France and Premier Venizelos of Greece will attend, giving the conference a semi-official standing, so far as recommendations are concerned. The Americans are said to be desirous of adding an article making equality in religious and civil rights obligatory to all signatory nations. The French seek some compromise within constitutional bounds, in lieu of the international police force which they unsuccessfully attempted to incorporate in the third original draft.

Responsibility.
If we are not responsible for the thoughts that pass our doors, we are at least responsible for those we admit and entertain.—Charles B. Newcomb.

PRESIDENT SURE OF SUCCESS OF NATION LEAGUE

New York City League of Nations Union President Sends Pledge of Support to Wilson

BY ROBERT J. BENDER
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Wilson today stated he was "confident that the people of the country will rally with practical unanimity to the support of the league of nations."

The president expressed this belief in a telegram to Theodore E. Burton, president of the league of nations union, New York City.

Text of Message
The telegram read:
"Your message was greatly appreciated. Am myself confident that the people of the country will rally with practical unanimity to the support of the league of nations plan in which the whole world is looking to them to be the leaders."
The president of this message was practically the president's first act upon returning to his office. It was in reply to a message from Burton pledging support of the league of nations union.

The president desires to leave for France again on March 5, Secretary Tumulty stated and is making plans to clean up all executive business by that time.

Many Pledge Support
Burton's telegram follows:
"League of nations union, merging world court league and New York peace society, welcomes you as recognized leader of league of nations movement and pledges co-operation in rallying public opinion and in securing united action in support of the league."
Other telegrams pledging support and expressing the belief that the country will approve the league of nations plan poured into the White House. Some particularly praised the president's speech at the annual convocation.

To March in Parade
The president was at his desk shortly after ten o'clock this morning. No appointments other than the cabinet meeting for this afternoon had been arranged. The president announced that the president will march in and not simply review the parade for returned fighters Thursday.

No definite date has been set, Secretary Tumulty said, for the president's conference with governors on the unemployment situation, but the president is anxious that this be arranged. However, it may be postponed because of the fact that many governors are now closing up the work of state legislatures.
