PARIS CONSTITUTION IS DECLARED DESTRUCTIVE, UNJUST, REACTIONARY

Speech By Senator Cummins Taken to Forecast Popular Disapproval of League of Nations Compact as Drawn—Outlines and Urges Substitute Plan

PREDICTS PRESENT PROGRAM WILL FAIL UPON CLOSE INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Popular disapproval of the proposed league of nations was forecast by Senator Cummins, Iowa, republican, today in a speech to the Senate.

States thoroughly grasp the meaning of the proposed agreement and fairly understand its inevitable consequences," Cummins declared, "it will be rejected in a spirit of obduracy, in the face of which has never been witnessed within the borders of the republic."

He then outlined the following plan, which he said, would meet the hopes of the American people:

First: All nations should agree to settle justifiable disputes by arbitration or adjudication and agree without reserve to abide by the award or judgment.

Second: All nations should agree that in all other international disputes that war should not be made until some international body in which every member has a voice, and which is not a permanent body, has rendered its decision.

Third: Ostracism for any nation refusing to submit a controversy properly or perform the judgment rendered or to obey war until combined powers shall be given full consideration.

Fourth: The compact should sustain a program of disarmament.

Cummins described the Paris draft as "the most destructive, unjust and reactionary proposal which was ever submitted to a patriotic and intelligent people."

EBERT FAVORS A SOVIET FOR LOWER BRANCH

German President Would Create a Workers' Body as Part of the Executive Office of the Country

NO OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION TO THE PLAN IS REPORTED

There Is a Growing Split in the Assembly Over the Proposition of the Government to Form a New House.

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR
WEIMAR, Feb. 25.—(Delayed)—The creation of a national workers' soviet as the lower executive branch of the German government is favored by President Ebert as the only solution of the political and economic situation.

Cannot Crush Soviets
Ebert believes that the soviets cannot be crushed and that they will not be pacified until they are formally recognized and given governmental responsibility. According to his plan, the proposed national soviet would deal with all industrial questions and have no power to vote measures passed by the Reichstag, which would remain the sovereign department of the government. The Reichstag, which is powerless and virtually useless, might be abolished to make way for the soviet.

No Official Acceptance
Chancellor Scheidemann and other members of the cabinet have not yet accepted the president's radical scheme. They deny the necessity for recognizing the soviets, hoping these bodies will disappear gradually or be crushed. But many strong leaders in the Reichstag and the assembly are in favor of Ebert, and there were indications today that the issue may shortly be forced to a decision.

A Growing Branch
The matter is carefully avoided in public discussions, but rumors are revealing the growing split regarding the soviets.

The Bavarian Reichstag delegates who left Munich immediately after the arrest of Premier Ebert were stopped by Bavarian guards and forced to return to Weimar. Official reports received from Munich today said the soviets had for a long time been active in Bavaria, and that affairs were being administered amicably by both factions. This situation has put the Weimar government in a quandary, for while it is declared it will not recognize a soviet, public in Bavaria, it has gone on record as favoring socialist control. It can be stated, however, that under no circumstances will Prussian troops be sent into Bavaria owing to the bitter feeling in that country against Prussia.

Makes Appeal to People
Minister of the Interior Pruss made a lengthy appeal to the delegates to break away from old traditions and pointed out the necessity for socialization of public utilities, including railway and telegraph. He encountered the strongest opposition principally from the Bavarians.

GOVERNMENT HAS GOOD JOBS FOR ACCOUNTANTS

Seeks Expert Assistance in Dispatching Work on Hand as Result of War

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—The government has some big tasks in accounting and auditing on its hands as a result of the war, and is willing to pay good salaries to men and women who are qualified to perform them.

The income tax unit of the bureau of internal revenue, treasury department, is in urgent need of 350 traveling auditors and resident auditors at the higher grade positions, which pay entrance salaries from $3000 to $4500 a year.

The interstate commerce commission wants 50 examiners of accounts. These are usually appointed at entrance salaries from $1800 to $2100 a year, the higher the degree in accounting. The commission also needs 100 clerks, being filled as a rule by promotion.

All of these positions are open to both men and women, except positions of examination in the interstate commerce commission, which are open to men only.

The United States civil service commission will receive applications for the positions of any time until further notice. Full information and application blanks may be obtained by calling upon the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the customs office in any important city, or by communicating with the United States civil service commission, Washington, D. C.

PHOENIX HOSE

A STATEMENT:

Probably you have noticed all winter, in fact all during the war that Phoenix hose have been much lower in price than other hose. We have often had customers remark on it but we laid it to Phoenix having a better organization and our willingness to take a small margin of profit, thereby cooperating with them for a large volume of business, keeping costs down to a minimum.

We have received the price lists of several different houses who have claimed they are reducing prices. Even then every one of them are higher priced on the same grade or as near the same grade as they can get to Phoenix. Here is what one of them offered as an excuse for the reductions: "That in making our arrangements for Spring selling so far in advance and under such uncertain conditions it was necessary to add a certain amount to the known cost for the unknown cost, which we felt, while we did not know exactly what they might be, there was a certain element of speculation in our calculations."

In other words the buying public has been paying for a lot of their guesswork, protecting them absolutely against all risk, and had the war continued they stood ready to rake in a nice profit. No wonder they can reduce—anyone could who had nothing to reduce but wind that held up their prices.

PHOENIX—Phoenix—the hose house that had the courage to stand by right principals and to believe that right dealing with the public pays in the long run—the hose house that considered it a privilege to protect their customers because they were not too lazy and grasping to deal with the markets as they knew them to be at the time of purchasing their raw supplies, which is the difference between figuring prices on "cost basis" rather than the "get what you can" basis.

And we appreciate their way possibly a whole lot more because that's been our policy for years past. It makes us feel that our judgment in stocking Phoenix for our customers proves that we know our business and their welfare is first and foremost in our minds at all times.

CHURCH FUNDRAISERS TO AID CAUSE OF CHAPLAINS

Inter church Organizations Start a Drive to Raise a Vast Sum to Help Along the Work Already Begun

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—"Don't let the work of the chaplains lag" is one of the appeals made by the Inter church Emergency Fund committee, which is now in the midst of its drive to raise $100,000 for the after-war work of fourteen of the leading national church organizations.

Means of Quick Travel: A chaplain needs means of quick locomotion, so that he can care for all the duties of his office to raise $100,000 for the after-war work of fourteen of the leading national church organizations.

Need Typewriters: Another urgent need of every chaplain is a typewriter, for he is forced to write many letters to and in behalf of his men. Not a few of these letters are sent to relatives telling of the condition of a wounded soldier or conveying details of a brave man's death at the post of duty.

Part of the chaplain's salary and an allowance made by each church are used by him in strictly benevolent work. Some of the churches allow from $100 to $200 as an emergency fund to each chaplain for extending help to soldiers, but these comparatively slender amounts do not go nearly as far as is desirable.

Each chaplain on entering the service is given his own emergency fund to each chaplain for extending help to soldiers, but these comparatively slender amounts do not go nearly as far as is desirable.

APPROPRIATIONS ARE LIKELY TO BE HEAVY No Official Statement Yet But Total Sum is Apt to Run Near Six Millions

BOISE, Feb. 25.—While an official statement has come from the appropriations committee of the house giving the information as to the exact total of the amount of state funds which will be appropriated and provided for by the fifteenth session of the Idaho legislature, it is believed the amount will reach a total of between $5,500,000 and $6,000,000.

But there is no disposition on the part of either the administration or the majority in the legislature to sidestep any of the major appropriations. Probably never before has there been such unanimity of opinion over the necessity of wise appropriation of state money and of the necessity of large expenditure as exists at this time.

Only One Bill In: At the Monday afternoon session of the senate a bill which was the only measure introduced. This totaled $2,143,000. To the University of Idaho would go $1,123,995, of which the college lecturer, agriculture, engineering, forestry, law, mines and summer school would get $489,898; administration, operation and repairs $175,290; agricultural experiments and home stations $19,200; the Sandpoint farm, $13,150; Caldwell farm, $20,200; Aberdeen farm $7,950; station at Felt, $11,000; insect and soil survey, $8,500; alfalfa waste, $45,000; the cooperative extension work $280,934; for the completion of the south wing of the administration building $44,000; fire protection system, $50,000; dry land laboratory $5,000; new walks and lighting system $4,000; tile floor in dairy building $1,200; and poultry house $1,500.

For the Idaho Technical Institute the bill provides salaries, $120,000; operating expenses $60,000; completion of the physical education building $6,000; campus extension $6,000; heating plant $1,000 and farm land $4,000 with a total of $206,000.

CENTRALIZING RESPONSIBILITY

The state of Idaho has taken unto herself the principle of the short ballot in the management of state affairs.

Notwithstanding the very definite and decided opposition to this measure, we are inclined to believe that the passage of the measure constituted a step in the right direction.

COMMENT, BY AND LARGE

Pertinent paragraphs on current events, official acts and the general trend of events, at home and abroad. Edited by Captain C. L. Longley.

County Division Enabling Act. It would seem that bill assigned to give 35 per cent of the voters of a county the right to decide a matter so important to the entire body of its citizens.

The general features of this bill, which is tremendously lengthy and is evidently drafted by the only legislative circumscription, are doubtless generally known.

When the farcical election shall have been held, in case the 65 per cent have not changed, their individual "winds" shall align the position upon certification of the result, the governor is directed to appoint officers for the new county.

That old democratic war horse, David Jayne Hill of New York, speaking before the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution, declared the proposed League of Nations "an abandonment of the traditional policy of Washington, against which there are grave constitutional objections."

The good old Second Iowa national guard infantry having been federalized out of the state's jurisdiction, it is planned to begin the organization of a new guard regiment—authority for which was given by the present legislature—so soon as pending congressional legislation upon state militia shall be completed.

A delegate convention which met at Omaha last week under the high sounding title of Trans-Mississippi congress, declared in favor of the League of Nations and vehemently opposed government ownership and operation of railroads.

Congress seems about to allow returning soldiers travel pay from point of discharge to their respective homes at the rate of 50 cents a mile. It is a shame and a disgrace that any soldier was ever turned loose without transportation to his home.

"During the recent months I have been very long, indeed, without your comradeship and counsel," said President Wilson to the crowd that greeted him in Boston, Monday. Wonder if Senator Lodge was present!

The alleged unnecessary hardships visited upon returning American soldiers at the debarkation port of Brest are vigorously denied, and with every indication of truthfulness.

AVERAGE BUSINESS-MAN'S PROBLEMS OF PUBLICITY

Some of the Questions Which Suggest Themselves and the Answers

JAMES A. CALLAHAN. There are two kinds of newspaper advertising—the Paid and the Unpaid. The Unpaid is again divided into two kinds—the kind that most want to get into the paper and the kind they want to keep out.

The average advertiser's publicity problems are many and varied. In this advertising age every man in business wants to advertise. He must advertise in some way, some where, some when. You have got to let people know what you have got, why they should have it, and how they can get it.

Is your place of business latched up to your publicity? Is it reflected in the people who are helping you build up your business? Can it be possible your clerks are behind the times? Have you got the goods behind your advertising? Are you an enthusiast surrounded by a bunch of enthusiasts, or are you drifting along in this "let-it-go" attitude, carry you behind the lighthouse of publicity and land you on the rocks?

There are hundreds of questions for you to ask yourself about your advertising—can you make the most of them. I believe the average advertiser does not put enough time—enough brains—enough steam into his advertising. He buys silks, he buys shoes—automobiles like a man—like a merchant prince, but when it comes to buying the most important commodity of his whole business, he does it without any brains, any money, any way to get it off his mind instead of buying the best brains available to look after this money-getting, trade-building asset for him.

great many business men advertised in the same manner that they give to charity, with a notion that it may be a worthy cause, and to get rid of the solicitor. Then advertisers say advertising doesn't pay. So another scheme is charged against his advertising appropriation when it should go to charity, or the "hold up" column. Pure and simple advertising fog should be blown away against the legitimate advertising expense.

ARMY SUPPLIES NOT EXPORTS

By those who use the expert statistics of this country, it is important to note that the reports to date do not include supplies carried on army and navy transports for use of our expeditionary forces abroad. However, supplies carried on vessels other than those mentioned or sent abroad by the Red Cross or other agencies are included in the domestic exports of the country.

ENGINEERS SAY BUILDING NEW SPAN DESIRABLE

Director of Highways and City Engineer File Report on Inspection of Wood Bridge Across Rock Creek

From a structural standpoint the bridge across Rock creek canyon at the city of Shoshone appears to be in no immediate danger, but as a matter of expediency it may be wisdom as well as economy to replace the present bridge with a new structure at this time.

This is the recommendation of a report on the condition of the bridge filed with the city council by W. L. Johnson, director of highways, and E. V. Berg, city engineer, who were instructed by the council to make such an investigation. No action has been taken by the council on the report, which is in full as follows:

An examination of the bridge lumber showed the same to be in a very good state of preservation. There appears to be no rotting at the end of posts at the present time, or in the laps cut in the sills and girders. The apparently has been some rotting of the ends of the posts, since short concrete piers have been built to replace the rotted parts. No indications of decay of sills or bolts were found, and no brass split at the ends which might be caused by rocking or swaying, were seen. The stringers apparently are also in good shape with the exception of the stringer at the first span at the south end, where they come in contact with moist earth and had rotted to a depth of two or three inches. These stringers have been reinforced with new timbers.

The piers are all in good shape with the exception of one which is being undermined at one end by small streams of water. This pier is in no immediate danger, but it would be well to divert the water and refill the washed places.

The guard rails are weak in places and would suggest that they be either replaced or reinforced. The roadways also need some attention. The slope of the approaches to the bridge is such that wet weather water and mud are carried out on the bridge, greatly to the detriment of the bridge flooring and joists. Drainage should be provided to carry off the water if possible. In addition to the deterioration of the floor caused by the elements is the wear due to the large traffic. In considering the maintenance, a new floor costing from $7000 to $8000 should be figured each year.

In checking up the design of the bridge it was found that the deck consists of 16 stringers, fourteen of which are 2 1/2 feet wide and 12 inches apart. The stringers are spaced 9 1/2 inches in the middle and 15 inches at the outside, making the average spacing 12 inches. The spacing of the floor joists is 19 foot centers, so that the stringers span would be a little less than 19 feet. On the basis of the 19 foot span, the stringers will carry a safe and uniform load of 25,000 pounds and load concentrated in the middle of about one-half that amount. The beams in the substructure consist of 25 foot long beams, each section having five 8x10 dimensional beams. Sway and longitudinal beams are bolted and spiked to the posts. The calculated carrying capacity of the substructure is such that the load, which can be carried by the stringers.

Our examination would indicate that on the whole this bridge is in a good state of preservation and nearly, if not quite as safe as it ever was, though if it should be decided to operate it for any number of years it will be necessary to use a good coat of caliche, creosote or other bituminous paint. The proper maintenance of this bridge consists largely of the repainting, the tightening of bolts and general overhauling, and painting, which run upwards of a thousand dollars each year if the bridge were to be maintained in service for a number of years.

The main objections to the use of this bridge as they appear to us are the fire hazard, always present in case of wooden bridges, the deterioration of the roadway requirements for carrying much heavier loads in the near future, and the yearly maintenance expense. Fire not only involves loss of material, but would necessitate a delay of many months before a new steel bridge could be erected. The narrow roadway may be the cause of serious accident at any time, due to collision. While the bridge apparently is strong enough it would be unwise to run loads over it such as very heavy trucks, threshing outfit, etc., which weigh in the neighborhood of the safe calculated load. The yearly maintenance expense, as previously stated, amounting to one thousand dollars a year or more, would of necessity divert the interest on a considerable sum of money.

In view of the above facts your committee wishes to report that from a structural standpoint the bridge is in no immediate danger, but that as a matter of expediency, it may be wisdom, as well as economy to replace the present bridge with a new structure at this time.

Respectfully submitted,
W. L. JOHNSON,
Director of Highways,
E. V. BERG,
City Engineer.

Ribbed Bonnets Voice Spring

The word spring means just one thing to woman. That thing is "Hats." The fashion artist in portraying three distinct types for early wear holds the spotlight of attention. Upper left's broad brim tips the key to spring lines when the crown of violets leads away into a broad brim topped with purple de luxe ribbon. On the right a million straw reaches unthought of heights in black gros-grain ribbon. Lower motor models have touches of leather, the left a perky bonnet for the open-faced miss—the right a blue leather brim on tan colored body, and a veil of Berlin for the lady who just can't make her own hats.

BIG CROWD ON HAND AT START OF SIMS TRIAL

Audience Fills District Court Room When Prosecuting Attorney Makes Opening Statement—Witnesses Called

An audience nearly filling the district court room here was in attendance at 9:30 o'clock this morning when prosecuting attorney Frank L. Stephens made his opening statement in the trial of the case of Harold M. Sims, newspaper man and former state representative who is accused of committing a statutory offense. Testimony for the state was given this morning by Miss Ruth E. Jester, in respect to whom an information charging her with complicity in the alleged offense was dismissed on motion of the prosecuting attorney by J. C. Osgood and by R. E. Morehouse, a druggist of Hollister.

Witnesses for the state, of whom about 40 are named in the information filed by the prosecuting attorney, have been excluded from the court room except when called to testify.

Securing Jury Big Job
The whole day Tuesday in district court here was occupied in securing a jury. The jury was sworn in just before adjournment Tuesday evening.

Two special juries, one calling for 10 prospective jurors and another for 8, were served by Coroner P. J. Grossman, acting in the stead of the sheriff.

The defense exercised five of the six preemptory challenges of candidates for place in the jury box while the state removed one without assigning its reasons.

Big Special 6-Part Production By Ralph Ince, Featuring

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN in "HER MAN"

The Romantic Story of a Kentucky Vendetta

From a scenic standpoint, "Her Man" is a perfect production. The first half reel shows scenes of New York society life, the polo grounds, etc., but the entire balance of the story was photographed in the very locations of the play, i. e., in the Cumberland mountains of Kentucky. The grandeur of the mountain scenery, the fertile valleys, the rock-strewn hills, the actual Kentucky homesteads and mountaineers' cabins, are all features of "Her Man."

So far as direction is concerned, need we say more than that Ralph W. Ince directed, and Lee Shubert supervised, both of whom had the cooperation of Arthur Hammerstein? It would be indeed difficult to conceive of these three men collaborating on anything but an artistic and highly creditable production.

KIMBERLY

(Special to The News.)

KIMBERLY—A reception will be given by the Kimberly branch of the Red Cross at the high school auditorium on Tuesday, February 25, at 8 p. m. This will be an old time social given as an informal welcome to the returned soldiers. A short program will be given and refreshments will be served. Everyone is invited.

Carl Ridgeway has sold his residence property to R. E. Thomas for $2800. Mr. Thomas will locate in Kimberly as he sold his farm west of town.

A new bakery will be located in Kimberly about the lot of Marell and will occupy the Odd Fellows building. Mr. F. W. Dodds will move his pool hall one door north and Mr. Karl Burkhardt, the shoemaker, will move to the carpenter shop one block north.

Lee Steiner has returned from the coast where he shipped a car of logs.

M. D. Morgan has the plans drawn for a new brick residence which he will erect on his farm a mile east of Kimberly.

Owing to the weather and the roads the farmers meet meeting was not well attended last Saturday afternoon. Possibly another meeting will be called later.

Those taking the work of the home dressmakers' three schools under Miss Georgia Bello Elwell of the university extension division, will find good and cheap filling for the dress forms at the Red Cross headquarters rooms at Stone and Third avenue south. Mrs. C. H. Brown, home demonstration agent, advises. There are scraps left from cutting surgical dressings on sale at 10 cents a pound, and eight-pound bats at 30 cents a pound. The rooms are open every afternoon. This is a chance to get good filling very cheap and to help the Red Cross dispose of unused material.

ROCK CREEK

(Special to The News.)

ROCK CREEK—Sgt. Viggo Rasmussen came home Thursday, having received his discharge at Fort Logan. Short time ago Sergeant Rasmussen enlisted in May, 1917, at Salt Lake and was assigned to the 43rd infantry. In the fall of the same year his regiment moved to Camp Pike, Ark., and later to Georgia, where the regiment was divided for guard duty over various government works. Late in the fall of 1918 the regiment was reconstituted as Fort Logan at the nucleus of a division to be sent to France. The division was formed and lacked, but a few men when the armistice was signed and the boys were disappointed. Mr. Rasmussen was made a corporal, while at Savannah and later a sergeant. At the time the armistice was signed his application for a commission had been received. Sergeant Rasmussen is at present visiting with friends at Twin Falls but will make his home here for a time at least.

Hazel Brown returned Wednesday from Los Angeles, Cal., where he has spent the winter in a hospital being treated for ulcers of the stomach. Mr. Brown has been greatly benefited by his trip.

Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Albee returned from Twin Falls Saturday. Mr. Albee had been receiving medical treatment while Mrs. Albee attended the home service lectures.

Mrs. Vera Larsen spent several days in Twin Falls the last of the week returning Saturday morning.

The directors of the Rock Creek Cemetery association met at the home of Mrs. Mary Larson Sunday afternoon. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Mary Larson; secretary, Mrs. Hannah Petroski; treasurer, Mrs. Laura Albee; secretary, Mrs. Mary C. Danmore.

Mr. Topel of Chicago is visiting at the Albee home while here on business in connection with his ranch in Pleasant Valley.

Robert Gray spent Friday and Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Jones. Mr. Jones is a nephew of Sergeant Gray.

Fay Van Eaton who has spent the winter at his old home in Arkansas, came home Sunday accompanied by his mother, Will Van Eaton, Fay a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Van Eaton.

T. J. Jones and Robert Gray went to Goat Springs Sunday. Mr. Jones' mother and father have been reported suffering from the influenza and as there is no telephone communication between here and Goat Springs they went to ascertain if any help was needed. At present nothing has been heard from them.

PACKER WOULD SHOW CAUSE OF PRESENT PRICE

Year Book of the Company of Swift Attempts to Explain the Reason for High Price of Produce

Some of the reasons for the prices of poultry, butter and eggs are explained in the 1919 year book of Swift & Company, which has just been issued.

Butter, eggs, poultry and cheese are highly perishable products, which are subject to rapid deterioration, according to the book which contains a list of factors which require suitable facilities for their collection and distribution.

Distributing System

"The principal reason why we handle these products is that we have a nation-wide distributing and selling organization composed of 7000 refrigerator cars, over 400 branch houses, regular refrigerator car trips to towns not having direct refrigerator service, and cities, cops of salesman and delivery handlers of perishable products, and delivery equipments for reaching remote markets. This distributing organization is a large number of trucks, of our own, which we use for other perishable products, which require similar handling, and which require the same class of retail dealers, would otherwise be an economic and social waste."

"Swift & company handles such a small percentage of the total trade in poultry, butter, eggs and cheese that it is, of course, not a market maker, and market prices we also are in keen competition with all other packers in the buying and selling of these commodities."

Many Plants Established

"In order to make still more effective our handling of these products we have established properly equipped plants throughout the producing sections where butter, eggs and poultry are grown. These are skillfully prepared and graded for market. These commodities are then largely shipped in carloads direct to our distributing houses in all parts of the country, thus enabling them to arrive at the principal population centers in the very best condition. The route from producer to consumer is the most direct that is possible, and amount of handlings is reduced to a minimum."

"This system of gathering and marketing results in an over-ready cash market for the producer, and also for the consumer, because of our extensive distributing facilities. The use of cold storage warehouses in connection with this system has also tended to broaden the market, make it more steady throughout the year, and generally tended to increase production of the commodities handled. At the same time it affords consumers the opportunity of securing their supplies at ducts throughout the whole year, and at more uniform prices than would otherwise exist."

Domestic Demand Heavy

"The extremely high prices of butter and eggs during the winter of 1918 have been causing considerable alarm and misgiving, especially since the production of both these commodities during the past year has been heavier than usual."

"The three principal reasons for the extremely high prices of these products are, first, that domestic demand has been very heavy because of high wages and general prosperity; second, the fact that the government was obliged to make tremendous inroads on the stocks held in storage; and third, the fact that the profit margins allowed by the food administration kept the price of these commodities high. These storage stocks were used up too rapidly."

"In the case of butter, the government, without any warning, commandeered 60 per cent of the stocks held in storage in August, 1918. This left only a small fraction of the usual storage stocks available for ordinary commercial channels, and this amount was soon practically exhausted. Because of the resulting shortage in storage butter, the demand for fresh butter has been so great as to raise the price to a high level. No substantial relief from the high price can be expected until the heavy production season begins in the spring of 1919."

Cold Storage Value

"The economic value of cold storage has never been so universally appreciated as during this year. Because of the antiprejudice against cold storage products is gradually disappearing, and the United States food administration, from the very first, has recognized the necessity of conserving the surplus products of months of over-abundance for use during the months of scant or no production."

"The profits of dealers who store commodities are no more than reasonable in the long run; years during which losses are suffered are almost as frequent as years when profits are realized. For this reason the price of the food administration in limiting the profits on cold storage operations, and not at the same time guaranteeing against losses, although it has undoubtedly benefited the consumer, has never done during peacetime, and would discourage the putting away of storage goods. Swift and company makes no misrepresentation in the present yearbook, and the producer correctly shows the nature of the contents."

We are again making stockfood. (Adv.)

Mr. and Mrs. Hart left for Moscow last night.

CHURCH FINDS MORE ROOMS A NECESSITY

Christian Scientists Plan to Erect Now Edifice in Twin Falls and Arrange for Services During Interim

First Church of Christ, Scientist, has found it necessary to provide larger quarters, having outgrown its church building located at 230 Third avenue east. The church has rented the Orthodox theatre building, having a seating capacity of about 350, for the purpose of holding its church and Sunday school services, beginning with Sunday, March 2, 1919. For the present the church will hold its Wednesday evening services at the rented church edifice at 230 Third avenue east. The church owns corner lots 100 by 125 feet on Ninth avenue east and Second street where it expects to erect a larger edifice.

At the last meeting held in the old church building an announcement was read that the church was ready to build a new edifice as soon as funds are available. The church is now ready appointed to consider plans for building. The Christian Science reading room heretofore held in the church building has been moved down town into rooms 217 and 219 on Seventh street. It is believed and is planned to be open to the public from 12 m. to 4:30 p. m. every day except Sundays and holidays, and on Saturday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30. The church library will have charge of the reading room during the day, but the men of the church have volunteered to keep the reading room open on Saturday evenings. It is believed that having the reading room down town will give a greater number of persons in the business district, as well as other residents of Twin Falls, a more opportunity for meditation and study.

Work for Family Is Judgment of Court

Young Husband Charged with Disturbing Peace at Home Gets Judicial Advice

Under requirement of going to work and using his earnings to provide sufficient food, clothing and comforts for his family, a young wife, charged with disturbing the peace at her home, was arrested Monday evening and charged with disturbing the peace as a result of an altercation in which he took a leading part at his home in the Golden Rule addition, was released from custody Tuesday by Probate Judge O. P. Duvall. Yielding to the court that the trouble at his home had arisen out of disagreement as to domestic arrangements in the event he accepted preferred steady employment. The court was not inclined to sympathize with him.

Wanted Patience.
He was a green Scottish lad, and one of his duties was to answer the telephone. When first called on to do so in reply to the usual query: "Are you there?" he nodded assent. Again the question came and again he nodded again, and each time the boy gave the answering nod. When the question came for the fifth time, however, the boy, losing his temper, roared through the transmitter: "Mind, are ye blith? I've been noddin' my head 'for the last half o' er!"—Boston Transcript.

THE UNITED STATES has more automobiles than all the world put together. The Twin Falls tract has more high grade automobiles than any other place of its size in the United States. This latter fact we took into consideration when we built our new garage. We believed that nothing was too good in the way of a garage to serve the car owners of Southern Idaho. As one must have high grade equipment in order to take care of high grade cars, we have recently installed nearly ten thousand dollars worth of new machinery and this added to our previous equipment makes our garage the best equipped garage in the West. We are now in position to give you that special service that no garage can give without this special equipment. Included in our new machinery is a Heald grinder, for the grinding of cylinder blocks. This is the same machine all the highest grade automobile and aeroplane manufacturers use and is admitted to be the most accurate machine for this purpose made. This particular machine we have was sold, boxed and ready for overseas shipment for Uncle Sam when the armistice was signed and the order cancelled. It was boxed under the supervision of an officer of the United States army and the packing slip bears his signature.

HEALD CYLINDER GRINDER

We have secured also a Universal grinder for the grinding of pistons and piston pins and many other parts that require extreme accuracy and high finish. This is the only machine of its kind between Denver and the Pacific coast.

Our new lathe, just set up, is the largest lathe in southern Idaho, having a 21-inch swing and a 16-foot bed, and complete with all its various attachments. Consequently we have not only the best arranged shop, but also the best equipped shop in the west. The public is cordially invited to inspect our shop and see this equipment in operation.

TELLS OF WORK OF THE SERVICE CORPS IN FRANCE

Captain P. W. McRoberts, Recently Returned from Overseas Duty, Discusses Part Assigned to Him in War

Captain P. W. McRoberts, who has recently returned to Twin Falls after fourteen months service overseas, was during several months next preceding his departure from France an officer of the American service corps, an important branch of the "service of supply," his work taking him at various times to Paris, Tours and Le Mans.

All Couldn't Be At Front
Commander in 1888 of a company of Iowa volunteers in the Cuban campaign and commander for eight years of Company D, the Twin Falls unit of the second Idaho national guard regiment, which has become headquarters company of the 148th artillery regiment, his transfer to another field of service on the eve of the departure of that unit for the front is a matter of keen regret to Captain McRoberts as it is to the men from whom he took leave. He says, however, that men in the service were scattered from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast and throughout France, and only a few of them could be on the firing line. Each was served where in the estimation of his superiors, he could serve best.

In Is-sur-Tille, where Captain McRoberts was stationed longest as an officer of the army service corps, he was placed in charge of a camp of French women war workers in the department of salvage, a work, he says, which would have increased in importance had the war continued for a longer time. In this position he was responsible for the conditions under which the women workers lived at times other than when they were employed in the shops. He was assisted by American non-commissioned officers, a French nation and the matron of an American Y. W. C. A. recreation room.

In Service Since 1916
Since June, 1916, Captain McRoberts has been in active military service with the exception of two months in the case of spring of 1917 following the return of the Idaho regiment from the Mexican border and before it was called to the federal service for guard duty in northern Idaho and later sent to France. During that interval he served as a deputy sheriff under the administration of Frank M. Kendall. He is the principal owner of the Lind Automobile company, but has not taken an active part in the management of this institution.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET
CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—February corn down 1-2c; March corn unchanged; May corn up 5-8c; July corn unchanged.
February oats unchanged; March oats nominal; May oats up 3-5c; July oats up 1-4c.
Provisions steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Closing grain—February, up 1-4c; March, up 1-2c; May, up 1-5-8c; July, up 1-1-2c.
Oats—February, up 1-2c; March, up 1-2c; July, up 1-2c.
Provisions—Higher.

GRAIN REVIEW
CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—There was a lower tendency in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Uncertainty regarding the March hog premium was the largest influence among traders. Men in the pit believe announcement by the shipping board of twelve extra shales to be used for grain exports forecasts a continued hog price of $17.50 or lower. Provisions were lower.
February corn, down 1-2c at the opening, 1.32 1-2, was 3-4 lower. March corn, unchanged at the opening, 1.32 1-4, later lost 1-4. May corn, up 5-8 at 1.25 5-8, the opening, was down 1-2. July corn, unchanged at the opening, 1.21 5-8, subsequently lost 1-8.

Discharged Soldier who was Shot While Trying to Open Safe, Psychology Teacher
OAKLAND, Feb. 26.—East Bay police today uncovered evidence indicating that Thornton Underch Rollins, who died today after having been shot a bullet, had been living a dual life.
Two traveling bags, one of which contained jewelry worth several hundred dollars, were found in his room. The police believe the jewelry was stolen from Berkeley homes.
University Instructor
Rollins, who formerly was an assistant instructor of psychology at the University of California, and who was recently honorably discharged as a sergeant of the medical corps, was surprised while tampering with the safe of the Western Motor company last night. He was mortally wounded by Policeman Peters.
Professor Warren Brown of the university's psychology department, said Rollins was an unusually intelligent young man.

A Deep Student
"He came here from the University of Chicago where he had made an enviable record. He was a deep student of psychology," said Brown, "and gave promise of attaining a professorship."
Rollins had delivered lectures on criminology. He wore his uniform undisturbed when shot.
Detectives are seeking to learn whether Rollins was responsible for mysterious fraternity house robberies in Berkeley.
