DEATH ONCE PENALTY FOR STUBBORN YOUTH

Changes in Juvenile Laws Since Days of Blue Laws Shown in Report.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The legislative progress of Connecticut in dealing with children, from the foundation of the colony in 1635 to the present time, forms an interesting chapter in the history of the state.

This progressive amelioration in the treatment of youthful offenders in Connecticut is marked, according to the bulletin, by three distinct epochs: (1) The period of the old laws (1635-1815) during the greater part of which medieval methods of punishment, such as the stocks, the pillory, flogging and branding were made use of.

Illustrating the rigors of the colonial "Blue Laws" in their dealings with youthful offenders a clause from the revised code of 1672 is quoted: "If a man have a stubborn or rebellious son of sufficient understanding and years, viz. 16 years of age, which will not obey the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, and that when they have chastened him he will not hearken unto them; then may his father or mother, being his natural parents lay hold on him and bring him to the magistrates assembly in court, and testify unto them that their son is stubborn and rebellious and will not obey their voice and chastisement, such son shall be put to death."

NEW CAMPAIGN IS UNDER WAY IN ALL PARTIES

The End of This Session of Congress Finds the Coming Election a Very Prominent Subject

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The end of this session of congress finds the campaign of 1920 under way in all parties.

An announcement by Senator Kenyon that progressives plan to unite to unite on the man they will support for the republican nomination for president caused a stir in "regular" republican circles.

The question was being asked today how the progressives will settle their obvious disagreement on the league of nations which holds to be a campaign issue in one way or another, in the view of most Washington politicians.

Immediately after adjournment many congressmen of both parties are to hurry home for political pow-wows with their state leaders.

The democratic organizations through the national committee plans to begin at once a series of conferences in every state, to lay the groundwork for the 1920 fight.

AMERICA HOLDS FOOD SUPPLIES FOR THE WORLD

Quarreling Nations Will Be Shut Off from the Source of Existence if War Breaks Out

BY FRANK J. TAYLOR
 PARIS, March 1.—America's standing today as the chief factor for averting the last threatened European war.

The squabble between the Italians and the Jugo-Slavs for control of the Adriatic has reached a stage bordering actual hostilities. Both countries, however, are dependent on America economically. In case open warfare results, America will immediately cut off their supplies of food and money, rendering them practically impotent. It was understood from reliable sources.

Closing Frontier
 Just how near Italy and Jugo-Slavs are to an armed clash is evidenced by the fact that the Italians have closed their frontier, and that the Austrians, giving as their reason that they "do not wish to have immediate resort to military action in occupying the territories consented to in the armistice."

The Italians claim the Jugo-Slavs have eleven divisions mobilized near the border. They say an Italian food train has been attacked near Trieste. In one instance the flag on a train bearing repatriated Italians was torn down and burned.

Basis of Quarrel
 The trouble so far has centered in Ljuboch. The Italian Jugo-Slavs forced departure of the Italian military mission which had been stationed there in conformity with the armistice for the purpose of restricting Jugo-Slavs and Austria.

The Jugo-Slavs explain they based their claim on the ground that they have been recognized by the allies, as a result of which Ljuboch must have been considered a part of the former empire of Austria-Hungary. The Italians deny this, saying recognition has not been granted.

The Jugo-Slavs deny the charge that they have ordered a general mobilization and make the counter-charge that the Italians have still urged arms an army of more than three million.

No Action Taken
 The peace delegates are understood to be discussing the situation informally, but have taken no action. It is considered probable that when the general conference to consider the terms of the peace treaty returns, it will be necessary to lay down definite boundaries in disputed territories, beyond which no encroachment will be permitted.

Meanwhile, the allies are holding the club of American economic pressure ready. Supplies furnished by the allies to both Jugo-Slavs and Czech-Slovakians must be through Ljuboch and if the situation seriously interferes with their movement it is accepted that the club will be wielded.

STREETS SOUND BETTER
 STRASSBOURG, Feb. 4 (By Mail).—The city council is working day and night renaming the streets of the city from their German designations to appropriate French names. Naturally the big French battles and generals furnish most of the new names for the streets.

Rue Marechal Joffre, Rue Foch, Rue Gouraud, Rue Petain and Rue Clemenceau have already been formally christened. However, old French names are not being forgotten and Rue Gambetta, Rue Drouot, Rue Turenne, Rue J. J. Rousseau and Rue Lavoisier are now down the city's street list.

A few of the other new ones are Avenue de la Marcellaise, Avenue de la Victoire, Boulevard de la Merne, Rue de Verdun, Rue de Valenciennes, Rue d'Angone, Rue de Liege, Rue de l'Yser and Rue de Cerde, the latter in remembrance of the hate kept up in the students' circles throughout the German occupation during the war.

THIS STATUE IS APPROVED WITH THE THIRD ARMY ON THE RHINE, Feb. 4 (By Mail).—In a public square near the center of Strassbourg stands a monument erected by Napoleon while on the march toward Russia. After Napoleon's disastrous retreat the Russian entered Coblenz. Instead of razing the monument the Russian general merely added with exultant irony, the inscription in French "Seen and approved by me Jan. 1814."

When the American doughboys entered Coblenz a field kitchen outfit was parked around the base of the monument. With keen appreciation of the situation, some doughboys ordered the Russian general one better and added in chalk, "O. K. 18th U. S. Infantry."

Rugby Football.
 At the famous school of Rugby, England, originated the form of football now bearing the name of the school. An inscription, at Rugby reads: "This stone commemorates the exploit of William Webb Ellis, who, with a fine disregard for the rules of football, as played in his time, first took the ball in his arms and ran with it, thus originating the distinctive feature of the rugby game. A. D. 1823."

Yank Movie Man Halted Battles

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
 BERLIN, Feb. 3 (By Mail).—Battles between Spartans rioters and government troops in the principal streets of Berlin had to stop several times to enable an American movie man to set up his camera.

The movie man was a chap in uniform who had been taking reels of most battle front in northern France. He followed the Yankees into Coblenz, and then set out for Berlin to complete his series of pictures there. He arrived just in time for the January fighting.

Eyewitnesses tell with amazement how this movie man took his reels of revolution in Berlin. Perhaps his most dramatic feat was getting the details of the machine-gun engagement in Wilhelmstrasse from both angles.

The movie man started out cranking it off from the Brandenburg Gate side of the street near the Union Linder. It was a pitched battle and machine-gun bullets were raining horizontally and both ways. From his position on the second story of a hotel he cranked up the government end of the action extremely well.

Then he decided to take the other side. Shouldering his camera he walked out into the street between the front and rear of the American uniform; both sides stopped firing, while the American leisurely crossed the street and set up his camera. When he got behind it, the shooting began again.

Another time, he was cranking his camera from a second story window overlooking a lively engagement, when German mothers and children came down the street. They thought he was operating a machine-gun, and a rain of bullets whizzed around him. He finished his picture and moved the camera put up a sign.

The Yank movie man has a charming life, according to people who saw him.

WAR REVEALS FOREIGN AUTOBOY IN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, March 1.—War revealed an astonishing condition in the bureau of naturalization, which many parts of the United States which the bureau of naturalization, department of labor, has just made public. A statement by the bureau dealing with the growth of foreign "quintations in America" follows:

"Section after section of the country has been disclosed as being under the domination not of American institutions of government but of the most insidious form of foreign control."

In many cities children who have not been allowed the inherent right to speak in the schools of their training in the English tongue. They have been taught a foreign language. They have been disciplined for failure to use the foreign tongue. They have been trained to sing of their native land, rather than the country of their birth. They have been taught so that they would grow up to a firm conviction that righteous government should be achieved by force or by force more than that which is here created and carried on by all of us."

WIDEBE HUNS GO TO PARIS

PARIS, Feb. 10 (By Mail).—When a German shows up in Paris, it's a sensation. So far only eight have succeeded in reaching the French capital, and all have been quickly rounded up by the police. The latest arrival was a wealthy individual, who just casually came over from Hanover. He registered at one of the best hotels, and kept the police busy for hours trying to find out how he got here.

Immediately after the signing of the armistice conditions on the old fighting front were in a very quiet state. Getting into France from Germany or into Germany from France was an easy matter. Seven Germans, including a woman, crossed the frontier at this time and reached Paris by train, with the police waiting for them at the station. All immediately were arrested, and explained that they lived in Paris before the war and thought that the signing of the armistice permitted their return.

SEEKS NEW CITIZENS AMONG SERVICE MEN

Bureau of Naturalization Conducts Americanization Work Among Aliens Who Served Abroad.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Alien soldiers in the American army will be welcomed back to America with the opportunity to become citizens, according to plans now under way by the bureau of naturalization, department of labor.

Large numbers of aliens enlisted in the army or were drafted and waived exemption. Many thousands went overseas before any Americanization program was taken up in the military camps and cantonments of this country. Now that these men are returning, after a most convincing demonstration of their loyalty to their adopted land, the bureau is endeavoring to interest them in becoming citizens and will give them every facility to do so.

Any soldier may become a citizen without payment of fee and with no requirement as to residence in this country. He is only to appear before a naturalization examiner, who comes frequently to every camp, and to bring with him two superior officers who will vouch for his loyalty and character. If then makes application for citizenship, and at any time thereafter may take the oath of allegiance before a judge having jurisdiction in naturalization cases. When he takes the oath of allegiance he must be identified.

Aliens who have been discharged from the military service may become citizens without the usual residence re-

DOUGHBOYS ARE PUBLISHERS OF THEIR WAR STORY

German Printer Turris Out Neat Job for Members of Ninth Infantry Company — Twin Falls Boy a Member.

From Syracuse, New York, to Bend, Oregon, with Pershing's Petal is a little of a pamphlet dealing with the movements of the Ninth United States Infantry regiment, Second division, just received by Mrs. R. M. Strubling from her brother, Chapman McDermott, a member of this organization. Another brother, Horace McDermott, was one of the first two men listed among the casualties of Company A, this regiment, having received fatal wounds from high explosive shells in the first position occupied by it at the front in the "Marie Louise" sector out of Bouqueton, France, into which it moved March 29, 1918.

In respect to the introduction of the company to the fighting front this pamphlet, which is written by two non-commissioned officers of the company, says: "We moved out of Bouqueton at 8 p. m., and landed into trenches in the 'Marie Louise' sector. You would not have thought there was any war on. We did not hear a shot fired by either side. This quietude spread out. No raids took place while we were in this sector, but the enemy shelled us heavily with gas and high explosives. We had two casualties caused by enemy fire."

"Official Stop Over" The pamphlet covers the movements of the company from September 5, 1917, when it left Syracuse to embark for France, until January 3, 1919, when it was stationed with the American army of occupation at Bendorf. The date of each move is given in a time table at the foot of which the following "official stop over" is given: Verdun sector, 40 days; Chateau Thierry, 46 days; Soissons 6 days; Pont-a-Mousson 40 days; Meuse-Arnonne 15 days; Saint Mihiel sector 5 days; Blanc-Mont-Raid 10 days.

A summary of the casualties sustained by the company shows 37 killed in action; 9 died of wounds, 173 wounded in action; 9 evacuated to sick hospital, 19 missing in action; 4 were transferred and 7 enrolled in the army candidate school.

The name of Chapman McDermott appears among those evacuated to sick hospital and again in the present roster of the company.

The pamphlet which consists of 12 pages and covers is printed by a German printer and German type is used almost entirely, the matter being written in English.

The House of Illumination. A visitor to an old English cathedral was told that up in the vaulted roof there was a wonderful bit of carving, but that he had come at the wrong time of day to see it properly. One of a certain board of the morning did the light fall on it and reveal its beauty. Those early workers in stone were content that for the greater part of the time their work should remain hidden and unappreciated, and that it should only appear to the visitor at some rare moment of illumination.

Arabs Love Turkish Delight. The confection known as "Turkish delight" is the most important used by the Arabs of Arabia, reports United States Consul Addison E. Southard of Aden. This is made from sugar and American starch, with favoring and sometimes almond or other ground nuts. Turkish delight often makes up the bulk of the Arab's breakfast, and it is eaten often at other times.

Won a Wife by Billiards. "Three years ago," writes W. N., "a friend and myself were equally infatuated by a certain young lady, and seemed to have about equal chances of winning her. In order to play fair, we decided to play 100 up at billiards, the winner to have the first chance of proposing. After a neck-and-neck struggle I just won by a whisk. All I exchanged was that 'I wish I hadn't'—Exchange.

Honest Confession. No man can ever lack this mortification of his vanity, that what he knows is but a very little in comparison with what he is ignorant of. Consider this and instead of boasting thy knowledge of a few things, confess and be out of countenance for the many more which thou dost not understand.—Thomas A. Kempis.

To Detect Coloring Matter. To ascertain whether artificial coloring matter has been added to tea, place a small quantity of tea on a piece of white paper, and rub with an ordinary table knife until the leaves become a fine powder. Now brush the paper with a bristle brush, and if any Prussian blue has been used for coloring purposes there will be little streaks of this all over the paper.

Wind and Trees. The existence of tall plants and trees depends largely on the wind force. A tree with square trunk and branches would offer so much resistance to the wind that it would be continually having its branches snapped.

CROWDS SHOW CONTINUED INTEREST IN SIMS TRIAL

Accused Takes Stand in Own Behalf — Argument Will Be Reached Soon

Popular interest, as evidenced by crowds in attendance, continuing unabated today in the sixth day of the trial in district court here of Harold M. Sims, newspaper man and former state representative, who is accused of committing a statutory offense. Sims took the stand yesterday in his own behalf to refute the testimony of the complaining witness, Miss Ruth E. Jester, and other witnesses for the state. He was cross examined this morning by Prosecuting Attorney Frank L. Stepien. He was the last witness called for the defense, and the prosecution opened its rebuttal at 1 o'clock, calling Mrs. M. H. Sims to the stand. Attorneys on either side stated that arguments in the case before it is submitted to the jury will begin early this afternoon.

His Terms. "Hit-bub!" a trifle grimly replied the landlord of the inn, as he met me at the horse-faced guest who had just stated, in an uncompromising tone and at considerable length his desires as to apartment and services. "Well, Mr. Sawney, my rates are two dollars a day, American plan, cash in advance and catch-on-the-heel—you take what you get and like it or leave it, just as you please. And no drawing maps, solving ciphers or composing national anthems on the walls of your room with a lead pencil, either."—Kansas City Star.

The Humanities. The humanities are those branches of education or study which are included in what are called elegant learning, as languages, grammar, philosophy and poetry, including the ancient classics, an educator says. The name implies that the study of these branches has a tendency to humanize man, to cultivate particularly those faculties which distinguish him as a man in all his relations, social and moral; that is, which make him a truly cultured man.

Faring Wedged Drinking Glasses. Drinking glasses and similar articles often become wedged together so firmly that it is difficult to part them without damage. A simple method of parting glasses is to pour cold water into the inner glass and set the wedged glasses in a dish of warm water, which should then be gradually heated by pouring hot water into it. The contraction of the inner glass and the expansion of the outer one will release the two.

Less Than a Glass of Water. Fog, mist or dew is composed of tiny drops of water, hundreds and thousands and millions of them, so small that they will float in the air. If you should get up early some morning, especially if you live near the river, you might find the houses, trees and the people on the street covered with a thick fog. Yet a block of this fog, 12 feet long, 12 feet wide and 12 feet high would contain less than 1/7 of a glass of water, divided into 60,000,000,000 drops.

Keep Grapes Fresh for Months. Grapes can be kept fresh for several months by inserting their stems through the corks of glass bottles, filling these with water, preading the corks firmly in, sealing them if necessary with paraffin and inverting the bottles on wooden racks in a cool, dark cellar. The bunches will hang green, their stems sticking up into the water.

Why They Are Called "Posters." Posters took their name from the fact that in former times the footways of London were separated from the drives by a line of posts, on which advertisements were displayed.

Shakespearean Brides. None of the wedding of Shakespeare are conventional and no thought of the display wedding that women are said to love disturbed these brides who all seem sadly jacking in the reserve attributed to women. The Shakespearean bride does not have to be coaxed to name the day. Fellow, Fortin and Olivia forestall their lovers in mentioning the ceremony, the latter two hurrying their bridegrooms to church with a haste that is almost unseemly, and we have the testimony of Othello that Desdemona did the most of the courting.

Day of Gull Pen Gens. Trite as true is it to say that time change and the manners with them. Although the habit of carrying the pen behind the ear has not altogether disappeared in this day of the fountain pen, typewriter machine and other similar devices, the gull pen, so far as the present generation goes, is now more of an adjunct of romance, stage settings and motion pictures. The fountain pen does not lend much artistic atmosphere to such as these.

Where the Trouble is... If we cannot agree with our present co-workers or neighbors making a change will in no way help to mend matters. It is almost a certainty that we shall find the new folks just like the persons we left behind us, as far as indifference and inconsideration are concerned. The trouble is with ourselves, and until we realize it and make an attempt to change our own unfortunate habits, no arrangements we will not be happy anywhere.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOGNS

THE WORST THING ABOUT WANTING TO GET SOMETHING THAT WHEN YOU GET IT YOU FIND IT'S SMART AND GETS SOMETHING MORE... I MA I DON'T SEE WHY YOU ALWAYS LET ME GET SOMETHING FIRST! IF YOU NEED SOMETHING DON'T SEE WHY YOU ALWAYS WANT FOR ME FIRST!

YOU'RE RIGHT, DAD, AND I MIGHT AND I MIGHT NOT WANT YOU THAT I WANT YOU TO BUY THE THING FIRST, I CAN SURE GET SOMETHING MORE SMART AND I'M MERRY!

THAT WORKED FINE! MA GOT ME SEVEN DOLLARS, I'VE BEEN WANTING FOR MICH I'VE BEEN WANTING FOR MICH ABOUT TWELVE MONTHS LATE OR HE!

MA, I MUST HAVE NEW MONEY TO SWEAR! HEAVENS, YOU JUST GOT ONE!

I KNOW! BUT YOU OUGHT TO SEE THAT ONE'S SMART! I'M BETTER TO HAVE ONE AS GOOD AS NONE! I HOPE!
