

PEACE TREATY INCORPORATES LEAGUE DRAFT

Terms, Including the Nations' Covenant Are to Be Ready for the German Delegates on Saturday

BY FRED S. FERGUSON

PARIS, March 15.—The league of nations covenant, as it is to be submitted for inclusion in the preliminary peace treaty with Germany, will be ready Saturday. It was indicated in certain official circles today.

At the same time it was stated that the entire treaty, including the covenant, will be completed by a week from Saturday.

In view of varying reports as to whether the covenant would be a part of the preliminary treaty, it was pointed out that its inclusion is further indicated by the speed with which the constitution is being perfected. Some reports have dwelt especially on the allegation that an attempt to incorporate the league in the past will slow up the general progress. This argument is met by the statement that the covenant is now further advanced than any other feature of the treaty. The committee on responsibility for the war has reached the stage of combining the reports of its various sub-committees into a single recommendation, but the other committees are not nearly so far advanced.

Neutral representatives are now calling on Colonel House daily to present their views of the league. Sweden, Switzerland, Denmark and Holland already have been heard from. Added to the prospects for early completion of the peace program is the fact that President Lloyd George has practically decided not to return to England this week as he has planned. His and President Wilson, Premier Clemenceau and Premier Orlando will hold frequent conferences during the week. In addition to the regular meetings of the supreme war council, the president is organizing the league with Lord Cecil and other experts. Senator Bourgeois, the French expert, has conferred with House and others and his views have made no suggestion that the covenant not be included in the preliminary treaty.

Some discussion has arisen in favor of making the preliminary pact cover the Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey, so as to make Germany responsible for her allies. This is regarded as unlikely, however, as it would require a change in the treaty in this respect, whereas the demand everywhere is for making peace with Germany as soon as possible, taking up the other treaties later.

GUARD HEALTH OF DOUGHBOYS ON THE RHINE

Inhabitants of Occupied Region Share of Necessity With American Troops in Sanitary Precautions Taken

By WEBB MILLER

WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE RHINE, Feb. 20 (By Mail).—While American troops are on the Rhine, the inhabitants of the occupied region must stay healthy, or at least observe unusual sanitary and health precautions. This solicitude does not arise from any undue regard for the health of the Germans, but is an added protection to the American troops.

For that reason a special department of the civil affairs department is keeping an eye on the German sanitary arrangements and health supervision. This department is in charge of Lieutenant Colonel James an experienced health department official.

By orders of the American authorities, the local public physicians in each district of the occupied area report the results of the tests to their army headquarters. The American commander in each town also sends in a report of each case of illness among the civilian population. In case of a contagious disease, Colonel Bessel at once investigates in order to halt any spread of the disease, which might affect troops quartered in the town.

In the little town of Linz 450 cases of typhoid were reported. An investigation showed that the infection started from an unsanitary well, which was ordered destroyed, thereby stopping the disease. In case of an epidemic before a single soldier was infected. Several other incipient epidemics have been halted by prompt investigation and strict measures.

The American health department has ordered the local German authorities to test the water of every well from which American soldiers derive water supply each month and submit the results of the tests to their army headquarters. In case impurities are found, the well is shut off.

In his office in Coblenz, Colonel Bessel keeps a series of charts for each disease with the names of sick soldiers marked with a pin. When the number of pins begins to increase at any one point, an investigation is started. So far not a single case is reported of an American soldier becoming infected from civilians.

The strictness with which the sanitary regulations are enforced is shown by the fact that 219 arrests of civilians throughout the occupied area during the first two months of occupation, forty-two were for disobeying sanitary orders.

CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT IS CREATING INTEREST

Boxing Enthusiasts Predict Record Crowd for Willard-Dempsey Go

By TOM LEWIS.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Interest in the forthcoming championship fight between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey is increasing daily, according to well informed boxing enthusiasts. It is predicted here that the bout will draw a record-breaking crowd if the fight is staged within easy accessibility of the eastern and middle western states.

The fact that Dempsey has disposed of many of his opponents with such a remarkable ease has made him tremendously popular with fight-lovers and many here are inclined to believe that the challenger will give the champion the confidence on the theory that Willard, too, is assured of the support of thousands of fans who believe that he will dispose of Dempsey with comparative ease if he can throw off his surplus weight and get into good condition before the July 4 contest.

Some believe that Tex Rickard, the promoter of the scheduled bout, took a huge chance when he offered such a huge inducement to get the contestants together, but Rickard, an old hand at the game, smiles confidently and declares that he has no misgivings as to the total gate receipts. Rickard bases his belief on the theory that the country is ripe for a championship contest in the heavyweight division and he believes that the returning soldiers will be very eager to witness the fight.

Hundreds of thousands of Americans have learned to box, as a direct result of their war training, and Rickard points out that these men will not only want to box themselves but will also be keenly interested in the sport from the viewpoint of the spectator. This circumstance, coupled with the fact that the best men in the heavyweight division have been idle for a long time, leads Rickard and others to believe that the big bout will find immediate popular favor.

THE SIXTY DOLLAR BONUS.

Because of the fact that, up to the present time, Uncle Sam's soldiers have received but little in the way of consideration for their services aside from the customary three meals, and that, it was well that a thorough understanding as to just who may or may not receive the promised sixty-dollar bonus be reached.

The News has received scores of letters asking for information on the various points involved. The following, from a recent bulletin issued by the American Red Cross, appears to answer a great majority of the inquirers:

The law applies to all persons serving in the military or naval forces of the United States during the present war. This is taken to cover the following: Officers and enlisted men of the regular army and navy; all men in the service of coast guard, coast geodetic survey, light house service, who have performed active duty with the navy during the present war, army field clerks, members of the army nurses corps, and army nurses in corps.

The sum to be paid to all of the above persons who have resigned or received honorable discharge since April 6, 1917, who have, if reservists, been placed on inactive duty; to all persons who served in the army or navy before the war and who shall hereafter be honorably discharged not later than the end of their current enlistments or terms of service; to officers who shall resign or receive honorable discharge within one year of the end of the war, or if reservists, shall be placed on inactive duty.

It will not be paid to the following: Any man who had not reported for duty at his station prior to November 11, 1918. Men who have already received one month's pay under the special provisions of Section 9 of the Act of May 18, 1917.

Men entitled to retired pay. The heirs of a man who has died or may die, before receiving the payment.

Officers and men who were discharged or relieved from active duty without receiving the benefits of this Act should present their claim as follows: If service was in the army, to the Zone Finance Officer, Leavenworth building, Washington, D. C.

If service was in the Navy, to the Disbursing Officer, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

If service was in the Coast Guard, to the Coast Guard headquarters, Washington, D. C.

If service was with the Marines, to the Paymaster, Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

Thought Something Missing. Marion's grandfather was Scotch and a musician. Consequently he was delighted to entertain a gifted professional countryman, who was to appear at a theater. After dinner, when the guest had donned his kilt and was waiting for the car to take him to the theater the children were admitted to the living room. Marion eyed the celebrity in wonder and saw him walking up to him, and saw that his bare knee in amusement inquired, "Where your pants?"

FIRST PRINTING BY STEAM. Date in November, 1814, is One Worthy of Remembrance by All the Civilized World.

The 20th of November, 1814, forms an important date in the history of printing, and consequently in that of civilization. It was the day on which a newspaper was for the first time printed by steam. Instead of manual power, the common printing press, though much improved during the second half of the last century, could seldom strike off more than 200 or 300 impressions per hour.

Made Thimbles Works of Art. In the little Ages there were many thimbles made of gold and silver, designed by the goldsmiths for the use of rich and highborn dames, for presents for the pretty bride or the good wife; and now and then a goldsmith would on his own account expend time and talent and money in order to produce a perfect and costly thimble for his sweetheart.

Among these was one Nikolaus von Benschoten, who lived 207 years ago. His work was so beautiful and called so much attention to the thimble, that it gave rise to the fable that he had invented it; whereas, in fact, it was that by his bringing it into notice it became an article of everyday necessity. What Benschoten did invent was not the thimble itself, but the artistic ornamentation of it.

Keep Your House Sweet. An excellent deodorizer is a little pan of cloves which have been sprinkled with a few drops of spirits of lavender. Put a few bits of charcoal into the bottom of the pan. If charcoal is not convenient some bits of orange peel will do, as they soon turn into charcoal. Sprinkle the clove liberally on these and when wanted to perfume the house place on the stove until they begin to smoke. The fumes soon will penetrate the house, and the odor is much like that of the carnation. It will effectively cover the odors of fish, cabbage, turnips and the like.

Beware of It! There are two kinds of ignoble old age. One is decrepit, leary, tottering to the grave. It is the kind which mortals can use as a warning and a test. The other is the infinitely more dangerous kind. It reveals a sound constitution beneath the rags and defilement. It cannot be used as a text, for it is a man may drink, loaf and otherwise transgress, and yet keep going physically—Atlantic Monthly.

Be Optimistic. Believe and hope, says a writer. Hope so much that it will be difficult to believe all of it, but believe it anyway. In short—believe and hope that all you believe will come true; and hope and believe that all you hope will come to pass some day.

Expansion of Concrete. Concrete roads expand most in winter and contract most in summer, according to the United States bureau of standards, because of increases or decreases in the moisture they contain.

Ivory Billiard Balls. The tusks of the cow elephant have been found best adapted to the making of billiard balls. The tusk of the female is not so curved as that of the male, and the fine nerve passage is not so clearly seen.

DESIGNED FOR THE CURIOUS. Net Hard to Trace Origin and Reason for the Gaudy Architectural Designs.

No name could be more descriptive than gaudy for a building, whether it assume the form of a tower or balcony, which was erected for the purpose of enabling anyone to see about and there is no need to hunt through the pages of a dictionary for the origin of so obvious a term. Curiosity is common to the race, and contrivances of all kinds have been called for throughout the ages, and will continue to be, to enable people to pry into their neighbors' affairs; an architectural solution of the problem must always be as interesting as they have frequently proved most picturesque.

Doubtless in the remotest antiquity such means of prying were in vogue, and the banging gardens of Babylon may have presented replicas of the towers of Kent or Chambers; but we will go no further back for examples than Pliny's villa at Laurentum. The Plinys, as we know, were of a very inquiring turn of mind, and are most appropriately commemorated at Comon, their supposed birthplace, on the west front of the cathedral, by a sculptured representation of each engaged in looking out of a window. Thus it was that when Pliny the Younger built his celebrated villa he gave it two towers, and as they could be used neither for defense in such a place nor for watching rooms at such a period, we can only suppose them to have been erected to serve as gazebos where he could look into the grounds of his neighbors and watch their incomes and expenditures.—Traveller Perry in Architect (England).

Meat or Shocks. Sometimes I think the best part of cracking butternuts is cracking them. What are we going to get? Meat or shocks? Never mind if there be nothing more than an empty hole once in a while! The next time it will be all of muscle in the arm that swings the hammer. Makes us stronger for cracking the harder nut tomorrow.—Vincent in Farm Life.

Insect Language. Insects, like birds and animals, have their calls, naturalists say. But the sounds they produce include the rubbing together of their limbs or wing covers and the vibration of their wings as they flap. Flies and bees undoubtedly mean something when they hum louder and louder.

EIGHTH AVENUE IS DESIGNATED FOR PAVEMENTS

Council and Property Owners Reach Basis of Agreement for Extending Improvement District to Thoroughfare

On condition that the property owners along Eighth avenue subscribe to a waiver of claim against the city for construction of an aqueduct to convey the water in an open ditch now running through that thoroughfare, the city council at its meeting Monday evening voted to include Eighth avenue between Blue Lakes boulevard and Addison avenue in the improvement district to be created for the purpose of paving several streets and avenues in Twin Falls.

Several petitions for the inclusion of this avenue in the paving district were on file in the office of the city clerk and most of the property owners of the avenue have appeared at various meetings of the council for the furtherance of extending the paving district to include this avenue. It is the opinion of Mayor A. L. Swain and other members of the council and property owners of Eighth avenue that a solution of the problem involving the pavement of Eighth avenue can be worked out on the proposed basis.

The council at its meeting Monday, considered somewhat but took no action in respect to the extension of the Twin Falls paving company's construction of an aqueduct through Eighth avenue on condition that the city assume responsibility for the maintenance of the watercourse so enclosed. Second avenue east from the end of the pavement now in place to Blue Lakes boulevard will be included in the new paving district in accordance with action taken Monday by the council in approving a petition of property owners of this avenue for inclusion in the district.
