IT'S HERE

Those who fall to see in the passage of the Road Bonds yesterday, a definite announcement of a program of progress and development along civic and industrial lines over Twin Falls County are surely a sadly short-sighted lot.

The roads themselves will constitute the biggest single improvement over undertaken in these parts since the establishment of the great South Side irrigation system, and if the benefits stopped right there it would be enough.

With the announcement of building plans by more than one set of local interests, the purchase of property for building purposes of the last twenty-four hours, the movement may be said to have already set in.

HEARST?

William Randolph Hearst, the man who taught American people that the real mission on earth of the American flag was to help sell Hearst newspapers, steps gracefully into the spotlight via the New York "American" to announce that a protective tariff for this country is the only almost-pure political issue in the whole deck.

Mr. Hearst up to this time has been attached to the Democratic party. He has been its candidate for several offices from the presidency down, and he has never before been known to kick over the traces in any really vital Democratic principle.

Mr. Hearst now wishes himself onto the Republican party. His letter cannot be interpreted in any other light. He offers them the support of himself and his chain of chain-lightening engines of moral reform in the interests of the principal of protective tariff.

Now just exactly what does Mr. William Randolph Hearst ask in return? Is it possible that his conviction that what the American people needs is issues can extend to the little matter of candidates for the presidency?

Get some INFORMATION about it—what it will cost, where it may be bought to best advantage—through reading the ads.

COMMENT, BY AND LARGE

Pertinent paragraphs on current events, official acts and the general trend of events, at home and abroad. Edited by Captain O. I. Longley.

Chicago Tribune: "Unless objection be made, the nomination of Woodrow Wilson to be grand idealist of the League of Nations will be considered equivalent to election."

The French feeling about the League of Nations is given by a Dallas wit thus: "The league is indispensable and impossible."

WINDMILL OF ONE DEAD. By McLandburg Wilson, in the New York Sun. To "Old Glory" spoke the Moon.

"Now your stars pursue their course At their will. There is nothing that can force Good or ill."

"If the league should come to birth—Wait and see; You will run around the earth Just like me."

It has always been favored to claim that ex-President Taft opposed the Wilsonian league of nations. It is, as this column has before said, the purpose and not the method as at present stated, which Taft is opposing.

About a billion dollars was expected by the United States treasury officials to be the amount of the new income tax communications mailed last Saturday—when they can find the time to open and examine them.

The secretary of war is about starting to join the president and secretary of state on the other side of the Atlantic. This may look badly, but is not dangerous.

The Russian situation is evidently giving the peace conference great concern, as well it may. It is unthinkable to accept in any form the bloody hands of Lenin and Trotsky; and it seems wicked to ask American soldiers to die in the wastes of Siberia in the effort to pacify the country by force of allied arms.

Bad for Discipline. "I understand there's a tendency to drop 'aye, yes, sir,' in the army." "That would never do." "Of course not. It's one of the traditions of the service. If that sort of thing were encouraged it wouldn't be long before a 'job' would be saying 'Yep' to an admiral."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

criticism and admits that certain amendments may be needed. While president, it will be well remembered, Mr. Taft took the constitutional view of the co-ordinate rights of the legislative branch of the government and accepted and approved (much to his personal political detriment) congressional action with which he was not in mental accord.

Some writer upon the proposed league of nations puts the proposition both correctly and cogently, so far as the United States are concerned, with the following business simile:

It destroys the greatest political corporation in the world to merge it with every bankrupt governmental corporation in the United States and international company wherein we are to enjoy the well known privileges of a minority stockholder in a company controlled by one's competitors.

The Indianapolis Star certainly makes a caustic and unkind remark when it says: "The league of nations may be all right, but how are you going to keep Baker and Daniels from coming out in favor of it—to say nothing of Burleson?"

While Democratic Chairman Cummings is belaboring republican statesmen for not swallowing the Wilsonian brand of national leagues, he better bestow a little attention to his own side of the political fence.

N. P. LEAGUE VS. ITS LEADERS. Attention was called at the time to the rank and revolutionary character of some of the bills that were being jammed through the legislature of North Dakota by the Nonpartisan league in attempting to carry out socialistic "industrial program" devised by Towley and the other leaders, and upon the glittering promises which the successful campaign had been won.

What is especially strange, however, in the present situation is the fact that the resistance comes from state officials who were, like the legislature itself, elected by the N. P. leaguers. The secretary of state, the state treasurer, the state auditor and the attorney general, all of whom were elected by the league, are standing together in open rebellion against carrying out the league program, the auditor insisting that the law as passed forbids absolutely no check on the expenditure of public moneys for industrial purposes.

The difference between the attitude of ex-President Taft and President Wilson upon the league of nations is as marked as the difference in the characteristics of the two men. Wilson is perfectly sure, not only that the league plan should be made a part of the peace treaty, but also that its present form is right and perfect.

Visit Our Windows
Seeing is Believing

WE have always claimed, and still claim, and can prove by direct comparison, that we can and will save you from $5.00 to $10.00 on every suit you buy from us.

Mr. M. Glauber, our New York buyer, secured some wonderful values in suits to sell for

$25.00 and $30.00

We are now operating on a smaller profit basis than we ever have since embarking in the retail clothing business 10 years ago, but we do that to maintain our reputation of buying and selling only the best merchandise obtainable, as we never sacrifice quality for price. We buy and sell merchandise that has always proven dependable.

WE urge and solicit everyone who has ever bought or is now buying clothing from us to report any misfit or unsatisfactory wear, and it will be adjusted to the satisfaction of the customer.

We carry the largest stock of clothing in the city. We buy and sell more suits than any three stores combined in the city.

The suits we sell for $25.00 are sold elsewhere for $30.00.

The suits we sell for $30.00 are sold elsewhere for $35.00.

New customers we surprise. Old customers we delight.

TIMES-NEWS PRINTERS IN BOWLING MEET

Key-Ticklers and Type-Lice Chasers of Twin Falls Made the Pins Fly in Bowling Contest Last Evening

Last night the printers from The Times Printing company matched their ability as bowlers with The News printers. 'Twas some game. The only trouble seemed to be that they could not keep the ball on the alleys. Boone made a poor score because the alleys were too long and not wide enough. Bourdette tried to follow the ball down the alley. Bonster swore that the pin setters glued the pins down. Boyden didn't shoot where he looked. Williams claimed they set up 11 pins instead of 10 as he always left one standing. Look wanted bigger pins. West took fell a couple of "pines" short of making a strike. Wallace complained of the balls not being round, while Hart tried his darndest to beat Bourdette in throwing gutter balls. Nims was there but didn't bowl, he wanted to "sue" for any players who might drop dead.

The Times bunch pulled the short straw, 1,150 pins, while The News rollers piled up 1,320. The stake was a supper where all made a 200 score. The contest was a (b)owling success.

MEMORIAL PLAN TAKES DEFINITE SHAPE AT MEET

Articles of Incorporation Are Adopted and Candidates for Directors of Association Named

Articles of incorporation for the Shoshone Falls Memorial association were adopted at a largely attended meeting in the high school auditorium here Tuesday evening of delegates from civic and social organizations of the county enlisted in the undertaking of improving the park and erecting in it a monument in memory of the service men of this county in pursuance of the plans formulated at a meeting called here for this purpose in February.

Toward the improvement of the park the recent session of the state legislature appropriated $10,000.

Organization Next Step

The next step in the achievement of the plan will be the election and organization of a board of directors which will name the officers of the association, to be followed by a campaign for subscriptions to a fund for carrying the entire plan into execution. It is estimated that $200,000 can be raised in the county for the purpose.

The election of directors is to be held under the provisions of articles of incorporation adopted Tuesday at a date to be announced. The qualifications of participants in this election are set out in a resolution offered by Captain C. L. Longley and adopted at the Tuesday meeting, providing that one representative from each church, society, club or other civic or social unit of this county as chosen by delegates therefrom to the original memorial meeting held here in February, whether in attendance at this meeting or not, shall be qualified voters in the election of directors for the association under the articles of incorporation.

Nominations for Directors

A list of nominations for the offices of directors of the association made at the Tuesday meeting is as follows: Murtough—R. D. Naah. Hansen—Gustav Severson. Kimberly—W. F. Bracken. Filer—Guy Shearer. Buhl—H. W. Allred, Mrs. W. H. Harvey. Castleton—Senator J. H. Seaver, C. J. Miller. Rogerson—J. S. Russell. Hollister—W. C. Curry. Ma. W. F. Alworth. Goodwin—M. A. Thometz. HANDSOMEST OF IDAHO'S BANKS PROMISED HERE

Builders Strive to Produce Quarters Suitable for Home of New Financial Institution in Twin Falls

The building of the handsomest banking house in the state of Idaho, if not in the northwest, is the aim toward which every effort is being made to complete the construction of the home of the Twin Falls National bank in striving.

Workers Give Views. The result, according to Architect John Vasey, who designed the building, is that the bank building is to be the handsomest banking house possible to construct for a bank doing business in the southern Idaho field.

Attention to Details. The cost of remodeling and of new and elegant furniture and fixtures when installed, contractors say, will not cost less than $150,000.

At the rear of the vaults is the directors' room which remains to be finished and decorated. Massive doors at the entrance of the bank on Main avenue also are yet to be put in place.

The Twin Falls National bank is organized by men well known in financial circles of the intermontain region in a large way in the state of stock-growing. The paid up capital stock is $150,000 and the surplus paid in is $150,000.

The directors, in addition to the officers named, are the following: N. J. Keefe, assistant cashier; Conrad Mager, James O. Johnston, Robert Rogerson of Twin Falls, and G. J. White of Jerome.

Says She Signed Without Looking. Mrs. Cora L. Crowell Charges Fraud in Suit to Cancel Contract

Ignorance of business forms is the cause given of the unhappy situation recited by Mrs. Cora L. Crowell, formerly Cora L. Atkinson, in a complaint filed Tuesday in district court here through her attorney, T. K. Heckman, in which she seeks to cancel a contract which, she says, she was induced to enter into under fraudulent representations and which, unless the relief asked is granted, she says, may deprive her of other property holdings in and about Twin Falls, including her residence and a tract of 11 acres.

In May, 1918, Mrs. Crowell sets out, she contracted to buy this property. In February, 1919, she says, one Gordon, the defendant in the suit filed Tuesday, presented to her a certain paper for her signature, representing that it was a statement of the property she owned. Mrs. Crowell says that she signed the paper and accepted no consideration.

Now, she says, she has come to believe that the paper she signed was a quit claim or a deed conveying the property to Gordon. She says the court, therefore, to declare the paper null and void, to cancel the deed if it should prove to be such; and to adjudged her the lawful owner of the property in question subject to conditions under which she contracted for its purchase.

H. L. Crowell, who married Mrs. Crowell subsequent to these transactions, also is named as a party plaintiff.

Uniforms Not to Be Accepted as Gifts

Clothing Collected for Refugees in France Must Not Include Military Issue

Uniforms that may be proffered by discharged soldiers and sailors as their contributions to the collection of clothing for the refugees in France are to be declined with thanks, according to instructions from the northwestern divisional headquarters of the American Red Cross by Miss Stella Hubbard, under whose direction a quota of eight tons of wearing apparel is to be collected during the week beginning March 24 within the jurisdiction of the Twin Falls county chapter.

EDUCATIONAL LEADERS TO ATTEND MEET HERE

Annual County School Trustees of County School Districts Scheduled

Dr. E. A. Bryan, commissioner of education at Boise, Idaho, states superintendent, and Prof. Frank Howard of the Albion normal school, are to be in attendance at a meeting of the trustees of Twin Falls county school districts to convene here at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, March 27.

It is the purpose of this meeting, Miss Wolfe says, to have a practical discussion of the problems that trustees have to meet and to formally organize the trustees of Twin Falls county. It is hoped that as many as possible of the members of the district boards will attend this meeting.

MARRIAGES

Miss Edna Ann Noh and Charles Shaft of Elmer, were married here Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony taking place in the home of the officiating minister, Rev. A. H. Brand of the Presbyterian church. The young couple left on the evening train for an extended wedding trip.

Ortchfield-Syphus. The marriage of Miss Viola Syphus and Raymond Critchfield, both of Twin Falls, took place Tuesday afternoon in the probate court rooms here, Judge O. P. Duvall officiating.

Boward-Sampson. Mrs. Bessie Sampson of Kimberly Monday afternoon became the bride of James Edward Boward, a former member of the Second regiment of engineers, stationed now in Twin Falls. The ceremony was performed in the probate court rooms by Judge O. P. Duvall.

THE AIRPLANE IN AGRICULTURE. In connection with scouting and other survey work in Texas, the United States department of agriculture is putting the airplane to its first practical application in agriculture. A tryout of this method of survey was made last year along the Trinity river and resulted in the discovery of several outlaws, including now in Twin Falls, which had previously escaped detection. This year the airplane is to be used more extensively. It has been found a valuable aid in pink bollworm work, as it makes possible the easy mapping, by means of photographs, of the quarantined territory, and facilitates the inspection work in forested areas, especially in such long stretches of country as the valley of the Rio Grande and its tributaries.

With Hosts and Hostesses

The Ascension Guild will hold its regular meeting on the rectory's study at 2:30 o'clock on Thursday.

The Business Women's association held its weekly lunch on Monday evening. There was a very good attendance. Mrs. Carry Harper White will speak before the association soon on her experiences in the legislature.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Booth entertained at a dinner dance on Monday evening. This was the second of a series of such parties. The house was decorated in pink and white roses. The dining table had a centerpiece of the same shades of roses and the covers were marked by dainty pink and white carols.

The Shamrock club met with Mrs. E. H. Olmstead Thursday. Practically all the members were present, it being the election of officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. Olmstead was chosen president; Mrs. Griffith, treasurer; Miss Alice Peterson, secretary; Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Iron, delegates to the federation board.

Mrs. Allen Fisher entertained for her daughter, Miss Helen, Friday evening at a birthday party on the occasion of her thirteenth birthday. Thirteen guests spent the evening in playing games. Much delight was caused by the fish pond from which each guest secured a prize. The decorations were green and white and the supper was carried out in this same color scheme.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. W. B. Son gave a delightful St. Patrick's party for her daughter, Dorothy, whose birthday it was. The guests spent the time from 4 to 5 playing games of the St. Patrick variety and singing. The hostess was assisted by Misses Irene Myers, Louise Hackman and Mildred Son.

Officer Checks Up Juvenile Offenders

Finds Youth in-Bull Credited With Issuance of Many Bad Checks

Issuance of bogus checks in the amount of $229.50 is the financial record so far accounted for by the officers of a 15-year-old youth brought here Monday evening with two other youthful male delinquents of that community by Probation Officer John B. Ault and lodged in the county jail. This boy is accused also of burglarizing two houses at Bull, and carrying away jewelry and other articles including a $60 Liberty bond for which he is said to have obtained cash.

The second alleged offender, aged 16 years, is accused of the theft of automobile tires and is reported to effect the sale of the same when arrested, displaying a gun to make possible the indulgence of his whims.

Plain stealing of sheep points is the charge against the third member of the trio.

MANY MERCHANTS HEAR TALK ON MERCHANDISING

More than 150 merchants and salespeople were present at the high school auditorium last night, when G. W. Sully expert lecturer of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, O., gave an interesting and educational talk on retail merchandising methods. By means of stereoscopic slides and motion pictures, Mr. Sully depicted the troubles of the retail merchant, and showed how to avoid them in a graphic manner.

During his talk, Mr. Sully laid emphasis on the value of newspaper advertising to the retail merchant. He said in part: "Except for the small store in an outlying district of a large city, more people can be reached often by newspaper advertising than by any other medium. But don't spend a few dollars advertising, and then say advertising doesn't pay. Make advertising a continuous policy, year after year, and you will not be disappointed with results."
