WILSON'S BID STILL TEMPTING POLITICAL BOLT

Chairman Cummings Thinks President Will Be Forced to Make Race in Event League Should Fail to Get Endorsed.

LITTLE DISCUSSION ON MEN AMONG BOURBOONS

Determination Voiced to Carry on Militant Campaign in 1920 by Leaders at Committee Meeting Gathering.

CHICAGO, (AP)—President Wilson's candidacy for a third term will be determined largely by the fate of the league of nations in the opinion of Hon. B. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, who came to Chicago today to preside at a two days' session of that body.

"While I have no information regarding President Wilson's intentions about becoming a candidate for a third term, I believe that the question largely rests on the fate of the league of nations," said Chairman Cummings. "If the league of nations which has no chance of being defeated and this to my mind is unshakable, the pressure brought to bear on the president to run again would be very great and I feel certain that he would be re-elected. If the league of nations is successful I do not think the pressure would be nearly as great."

Two Candidates Mentioned

In the absence of definite word from President Wilson on the subject there was little gossip of candidates among the party leaders. The names most frequently mentioned were William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, and A. Mitchell Palmer, United States attorney general who will address the committee tomorrow night.

Every state was represented by either a committeeman or a proxy when Chairman Cummings called the body to order in a session which officially marked the closing of the presidential campaign of 1920.

Chairman Cummings praised the record of progressive achievements of the Democratic national administration and declared that the republican party again is falling under reactionary leadership as indicated by the recent organization of congress. He urged closer cooperation between the different departments of the party organization in preparing for the next national campaign and invited the national party men to take in future political activities. He said he expected to visit every state in the union before returning to New York in a few days. He will appoint a number of committees to take up active work for the next presidential campaign.

Militant Campaign

"This meeting today marks the opening of an active and militant campaign for 1920," said Chairman Cummings in addressing the committee. "We are able to point with pride to the record of President Wilson and the Democratic national administration in the matter of progressive legislation. We will continue to urge congress to reduce the income tax law to the establishment of the federal reserve bank system the movement of the democracy has been steadily forward. When war came it seemed for a time as if daylight had dropped out of the world. The democratic party successfully fought the country through the darkest and most critical period. No matter what critics may say, history will record this period as the golden age of American achievement and American heroism. The full story is written in the American people will be satisfied and grateful. I look forward to the campaign of 1920 with utmost confidence. We are confident of the righteousness of our cause but in its triumph."

The selection of the meeting place of the next democratic national convention was informally discussed by the committeemen although the question will not be decided until next winter.

Hobby Reversal of Position Is Annoying

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The government has asked Governor Hobby of Texas to reconsider his refusal to permit Carranza troops to pass through the state to hunt Villa bandits in northern Mexico. The governor first announced and then declined because of protests from Texas who feared possibly a raid on the border in reprisal.

It was said at the state department that Governor Hobby's change of mind had caused a definite rift between the Mexican authorities and the United States should give them every facility for fighting Villa.

United States Gov. Hobby reconsiders the government can take no further action.

The 10th field artillery may not get home as early as expected in the opinion of Frank Brown, private secretary to Governor D. W. Davis, says the Idaho Statesman.

Some days ago the governor requested the release of Charles E. Herman of Montpelier, an enlisted man in battery "B" of Nampa, who is held at home because of the illness of his uncle, the editor of the Montpelier Examiner.

UNIONS SEEK OUTSIDE AID FOR STRIKERS

Endeavor Made to Extend Winnipeg Struggle Beyond City Continues; Government Declares That It Is Unalarmed.

WINNIPEG, Man., (AP)—Efforts of leaders of the general strike movement in Winnipeg to enlist sympathy from unions in other cities was the outstanding development in the local situation this morning. Ernest Robinson, secretary of the trades and labor council, said the communications have now received from unions throughout Canada and one union in Great Britain.

Federal government officials who have denounced the strike leaders as revolutionists said they were not alarmed at the efforts to obtain sympathetic support. They pointed out that ten days ago the strike forces everywhere were officially announced that the Calgary strike would be general. At the council meeting Monday night a labor representative said the Calgary situation was general. His dispatches yesterday and today directly contradict this.

The new postoffice force which replaced the striking clerks was increased today. Railway service in and from Winnipeg is normal, the question of immediate resuming street car service in Winnipeg will be determined at a meeting held late today.

PARIS, (AP)—A request by Germany to Austria that the faculties of medicine of various Spanish universities send delegates to report the effects of famine due to the allied blockade has met mainly with a negative response. The universities of Barcelona, Granada and Valencia have refused to cooperate in such a movement. The University of Seville decided to send a delegate, but before the university's representative had left the Spanish government proposed that the university should that the university ought not to intervene in an essentially political matter.

The message reads: "Please accept my heartfelt congratulations on the success of your flight and accept for yourself expression of my deep admiration. We are all heartily proud of you. You have won and deserved the distinction of adding still further to the laurels of our country."

FOURTEEN POINTS ARE AGAIN IN LIMELIGHT IN PEACE SETTLEMENT

Famous War-time Utterances of President Wilson Again Rise to Plague Allied Delegates; Germany Insists That Final Agreement Cannot Be Based Upon Any Other Foundation.

PEACE OF RIGHT, NOT OF VIOLENCE IS BASIS OF LATEST GERMAN WHOOP

ENORMOUS SUM IS DEMANDED BY GERMANY FOR DAMAGES.

VERSAILLES, (AP)—The German peace delegation here, it was learned today, will present a counter claim of 12,850,000,000 marks for damage from the allied blockade as an offset to the reparation demands of the allied powers.

BERLIN, (AP)—The German counter proposals to the terms of the treaty of peace will in the opening section argue for the existence of Germany's continued right to be based on President Wilson's fourteen points, because the fourteen points agreed to a peace on that basis and neither Mr. Wilson nor the representatives of any other allied government have since demanded that peace be established on any other basis.

Mr. Burns said he found a German flag flying from the staff when the Reading soldiers of the great division came home, and that he tore it down, putting up the only American flag in the house. "I was misinformed as to the real character of the club and the courts ought to close the place, because of what has happened in the past," he is quoted as having said.

AUSTRIAN PACT TO INCLUDE THE NATION LEAGUE

Italian Opposition Delays Efforts to Arrive at Decision Regarding Southern Boundaries of Austrian Nation.

COUNCIL WOULD DEFER DALMATIAN QUESTION

Germany Ready to Submit Answer and Push Claim That Ousting of Old Regime Should Materially Change Conditions

PARIS, (AP)—The Austrian peace treaty, the newspapers say, will include clauses on the league of nations by which Austria, which was a part of the German peace terms. The Austrian treaty will be presented Friday at noon.

Although arrangements have been made to present the treaty to the Austrian delegates Friday noon, efforts by the peace conference to reach a decision relative to the southern boundaries of Austria, have been delayed because of the position of the Italian delegation.

Link Two Issues.

The Italians are linking questions regarding Austrian boundaries and the Dalmatian coast together, but the council of four hopes to have the Dalmatian problem postponed for subsequent action by allied governments. The council and the council of four had the southern boundaries in Austria under consideration today.

Follow House Plan.

The council of four of the peace conference is making a determined effort to effect a settlement of the Italian question today. Andre Tardieu of the French delegation has framed a formula which is understood to follow the House of Commons of a compromise proposed by Colonel E. M. House of the American mission which was considered last week.

Associated Press Summary.

It is expected the German peace delegation will present its counter proposals by about 11 o'clock at Versailles today. The German reply has been completed.

Parley Will Be Short.

There are reports which seem to reflect that the German reply will be accepted the offer of the allies to conclude peace on the basis of President Wilson's 14 points, and other assertions by allied representatives that the peace would not be one of violence. It is said that the Germans will claim to have ousted the old imperialistic regime and substituted for it a democratic government and will for this reason ask for amelioration of the price they must pay for peace.

It is declared by the Germans that although the speech made by President Wilson in October, 1918, recognized that responsibility for the war rested on the entire European system, the treaty requires Germany to acknowledge that she and her allies were responsible for all damage suffered in the war. It is asserted that it is incontestable that some of the allied and associated powers, such as Italy and Rumania, entered the war for the sake of power.

The German counter proposals argue that there is no basis of right for the obligation to make compensation which is to be imposed on Germany. Complaint is made that the amount of compensation is to be fixed by a hostile commission whose powers would enable it to administer Germany as a bankrupt state. This, it is declared, is incompatible with the innate right of the nations.

NC-4 CREW IS DECORATED IN CITY OF LISBON

Portuguese Foreign Minister Confers High Honor on Aviators Who Made First Flight Over Atlantic Ocean.

LONDON, (AP)—The crew of the American seaplane NC-4 which made the first trans-Atlantic aerial passage, landing at Lisbon last evening from John W. Fuzeur, was decorated with the Grand Cross of the Order of the Tower and Sword, says a message to the Wireless Press from Lisbon. The decoration was presented by the Portuguese foreign minister.

The Order of the Tower and Sword was founded in 1808 in Brazil by the regent who afterward became King John VI of Portugal as a reward to the Order of the Sword founded by Alfonso V in 1459. It was again remodelled in 1832. It is a general order of military and civil merit and has five classes.

The award is a five-pointed star in white on the center of which is imposed a sword surrounded by a laurel wreath and words signifying merit, valor and loyalty. A laurel wreath connects the points of the star and at the top is a tower in gold. The ribbon is blue.

HAWKER GETS DECORATED BY KING GEORGE

Tells of Trip; Wireless Weak; Used Cloud Horizon; Saw Little of Sea; Strong Wind Diverted Ship from Course.

LONDON, (P)—Harry G. Hawker and Lieutenant Commander MacKenzie Grieve who reached here yesterday from Thurso, Scotland, after being rescued in mid-air when their airplane in which they were attempting to cross the Atlantic alighted near the Danish steamer Mary, were received by King George at Buckingham palace today.

King George bestowed on Hawker and Grieve the insignia of the air force cross. They are the first actual recipients of this order.

Weather No Hindrance

Describing weather conditions and how his airplane ran into strong northerly winds, Harry G. Hawker said to a representative of the Daily Mail: "The weather was no hindrance and we should have made the flight but for the trouble occasioned by the water boiling in our cooling system. We could have got through the worst of the weather in a couple of hours."

Wireless a Failure

"The wireless was not a great success," Lieutenant Commander MacKenzie Grieve said. "On starting we found the spark very feeble and only a small amperage obtainable, owing to the undersized propeller used to drive it. I sent out messages every half hour and think they should have been heard if any ship had been near, but never had any reply. My chief object was to let them know we were still in the air. During the last few hours when the engine was throttled down, the speed of the machine was insufficient to drive the wireless equipment and no spark could be generated but I sent 'S. O. S.' signals every fifteen minutes on an off chance of the spark operating."

No Light Seen

"From a navigating point of view I placed no reliance on the wireless other than as a means of asking the positions of such ships as we might pass. The ships had previously been asked by wireless from St. Johns to make known their position if they saw us by day or if we fired lights by night. As they saw no vessel, no light was fired. One vessel has reported having seen a light but the observers on board may have described the red glow of the exhaust."

Observe the Sky

"We preferred to navigate chiefly by celestial observations and my position as I worked it out by the stars was virtually correct. I found, when picked up, I used a cloud horizon instead of sea horizon as the sea was hardly visible any of the time we were in the air. During the first four hours after leaving we passed over fog banks. The clouds below were like a sea, giving a perfect horizon. I had only to judge our distance above them and take the sun as on a sea horizon. About 7 o'clock Greenwich time, I saw the sea for a few seconds seconds through a hole in the fog or cloud bank. I obtained some idea of the drift of the machine by using the breaking waves through the drift indicator. We were then at a height of four thousand feet and climbing, the drift being ten degrees to the right of our course, which I had already allowed for on starting, owing to the northeast wind that was blowing.

Steered Due East

"Up to 10:15 o'clock we steered to make a true east course, not magnetic east. During that period I took eight or every hour. At 10:15 I made out that we were four hundred miles from St. Johns. We then altered our course to north 73 degrees east true to keep in the track of ships, which we should just have entered at that time. The clouds were badly broken up and made sights impossible until about 1:38 when I managed to get the pole star down in the place of clouds and was surprised to find we were about 150 miles south of the course. We immediately altered our course a little to the northward but continued on this drift but from a further sight obtained half an hour later, I found we were still settling to the southward, and realizing that a very strong northerly gale must have been blowing, made a decided alteration to the northward and worked the machine up to latitude fifty degrees north and into the track followed by ships."

POLAND FEARS GERMANY SAYS I. PADEREWSKI

Premier Claims Reports of Pogroms Is German Propaganda and Declares He Fears Attack; Blames Ukrainians.

PARIS, (P)—Fears of a German attack upon Poland were expressed today by Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish premier who arrived in Paris from Warsaw last night. He said the Germans were active in a preparatory way and might strike in several places.

The reports of pogroms in Poland were denied by the premier. He declared such reports were purely German propaganda. With regard to the Ukrainian situation, the premier asserted that the recent fighting was brought on by the Ukrainians, who signed the armistice May 12 and then attacked the Poles at two places May 12.

LUXEMBOURG DELEGATES LEAVING FOR PARIS

Wish Country to Remain Free and to Enter Economic Union and League.

LUXEMBOURG, (P)—Secretary of State Ruler today read in the chamber of deputies a letter from President Wilson inviting a Luxembourg delegation to come to Paris. He said the government was ready to leave tonight for Paris to tell the peace conference that the people of Luxembourg wish their country to remain autonomous and to exclude an economic union with France or Belgium or if that was found impossible to open negotiations with those two countries to learn their conditions.

He added that the government was also asked that Luxembourg be admitted to the league of nations. According to a Paris telegram the delegation will be received on Wednesday afternoon.

KAVALLA HAS MANY YANKEES

City Basis of Red Cross Operations; Bulgarians Indulge in Ruthless Practices.

KAVALLA, Macedonia, (P)—There are so many Americans in Kavalla, the first city in the Balkans to become a basis for American Red Cross operations, that it has some of the aspects of a real American city. Here the bulk of opium in the world—the bulk of which is consumed in America—is grown. Here the great American tobacco companies have export headquarters.

Bulgars Want Country

For years Bulgaria has looked upon Kavalla with a covetous eye. Although defeated and subdued, she looked hopefully to the peace congress at Paris to give her Kavalla as a port. Kavalla is not a harbor but Bulgaria, which now has only the shallow port of Dogubozdji at the mouth of the Gulf of Sams, is anxious to get any outlet through Macedonia and the sea for her large output of tobacco, wheat, livestock, silk and other goods, and would be quite ready to spend any sum in developing and deepening the harbor.

Are Ruthless Set

During the war the Bulgarians adopted the same ruthless practices they followed in all occupied territory. They pillaged and destroyed. They made every effort to make the land uninhabitable. They cut down the trees and carried off furniture and everything made of wood. They sacked the homes and drove the Greek inhabitants out. When the Greek commission of the American Red Cross established relief posts here, after the armistice, no section of the Balkans ever presented a more depressing picture of misery and squalor. The Americans found the inhabitants dying by the dozens from famine, exposure and typhus. They established soup kitchens and dispensaries and gave out tens of thousands of American made garments. They sent physicians, nurses and medical supplies; distributed hundreds of thousands of loaves of bread made of American flour.

established shelters for the homeless women and children and cared for the herds of broken and deplorable Greek and Serbian soldiers who had been released from the prison camps in Bulgaria.

LEAGUE OF RED CROSS SOCIETIES IS ACTIVE

New Organization Begins Battle Against Typhus in Poland.

PARIS, (P)—The league of Red Cross societies, in announcing the spread of typhus in Poland says that "although officially organized only three weeks ago by representatives of the Red Cross societies of America, England, France, Italy and Japan, the league is prepared to begin work at once."

Reports from Poland and from other afflicted parts of eastern and southern Europe picture the suffering there as beyond comparison. Thousands are dying for lack of medical care and there is a serious scarcity of all medical necessities.

"The menace to the rest of the world," says the league, "is fully appreciated by the supreme economic council which has reports from various sources regarding the rapid spread of typhus and the necessity of taking immediate action to prevent the spread of the contagion further west."

PADEBREWSKI AND MASARYK TO HEAD ROW OF NATIONS

COPENHAGEN, (P)—Premier Paderewski, of Poland, has arranged with President Masaryk, of Czechoslovakia, according to a dispatch from Prague, that the Tscheken question, which has caused much difficulty between Poland and Czechoslovakia, shall be settled by a Polish-Czech commission, which will sit at Gracov.

Eight Hundred Returned Troops Will Hold Crowd at Battle at Toledo.

Thatcher, matchmaker of the Toledo Athletic club, has practically decided upon leasing a $30,000 cottage on the shore of Maumee bay for Willard's training camp. CENSORSHIP IN ENGLAND GOES BY THE BOARD

Story of Bureau That Had Many Ups and Downs and Received Much Criticism During the Stormy Days of the War.

LONDON — (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—On the evening of the Sunday before the declaration of war British soldiers walked into all the London newspaper offices where there were telegraph wires connected with the cable stations and quietly cut off the telegraph instruments and took them away. Editors and correspondents who hurried to the cable offices to inquire what had happened found all the offices guarded by sentries with fixed bayonets. Outsiders were forbidden to enter, and the men in khaki were forbidden to talk. Thus unexpectedly came the beginning of the British press censorship.

Reserves Mobilized

The mobilization of the Naval reserves had started that afternoon. All the streets and railways were filled with sailors hurrying for their stations, arrayed in blue uniforms from the shelves, and carrying their canvas kit bags. This was the first act of war that Londoners witnessed and the news of it was the last uncensored news of war preparations which the cables transmitted abroad.

Good Out of Business

Now, almost as unexpectedly comes the happy bulletin that on the last day of April the press bureau puts up its shutters and goes out of business, and no more cheering announcement could greet the newspaper world, unless possibly that of a drop in the price of the print paper. The experience of an official muzzle and inhibition upon the press has been a novel one for the British papers and public, and no other people except those of the United States could have suffered it more unwillingly. Most other European countries have press censorships in times of war and peace, and some have had secret censorships which the public knew nothing of.

Verdict Shows Mercy

The general verdict of the newspapers, reviewing the past five years in a spirit of forgiveness and peace with earth, is that all things considered the censorship was not much more unreasonable than must have been expected in an imperfect world. They say that the first few months were the worst and that there has been a progressive improvement since. The extenuating circumstances were that the government had to organize a very big and complicated machine practically over night to do a work that had never been done before in this country and that was bound to be irritating in an atmosphere where freedom of speech had been held not lower than the ten commandments.

Bureau Was Complicated

The press bureau was complicated because four different cooks—the War Office, the Admiralty, the Foreign Office and the Home Office—each had a spoon in the broth. Their work fell under three heads, the censoring of domestic news and special war articles for the British papers, of the telegrams which came from abroad for them from an immense mass of matter written in different languages by correspondents for the allied and neutral countries.

Home Secretary Head

The nominal head of the censorship was the home secretary but Lord Kitchener was its founder and for a long time an autocrat whose prohibitions were law, without any appeal save to the British cabinet. For months the cabinet was far too busy with other matters to consider the working of what was first regarded as a very minor department. Time altered that point of view.

Departments Became Important

Before the end of the war the press departments of all governments became very important and militant enterprises, so that even in England the newspapers express misgivings whether they will not have a struggle to return to the old conditions of entire freedom from official pilferage. Kitchener, like Sherman and Wolsey, regarded newspapers as dangerous. The old guard of British war correspondents whom Kipling photographed in "The Light that Failed" suffered a slight at his hands which their dignity never forgave when Kitchener officially recommended a soldier for medals "for saving the life of a camp follower"—the camp follower being one of the most important of the corps of professional war writers.

Five Home Secretaries

Five home secretaries passed across the stage of the press bureau. They were Sir F. E. Smith, the present lord chancellor and always a Liberal; Sir Kenhead; Sir Stanley Buckmaster, who also served a brief term on the woolsack of the lords; Sir John Simon who opposes Sir Edward Carson in nearly all the most important cases in the English courts; Sir George Cavo; and, lastly, Sir Edward Shortt, a Liberal Scotchman who was transferred to the home office after brief service as the chief secretary for Ireland.

Had Equal Power

Early in its history the administration of the bureau was confided upon two directors, each with precisely equal and similar powers and duties. Each was a "Dug Out," which is the term for the army of retired officers and civilians who put on the harness again when war came, and which does not imply disparagement because many of them did valuable service. Sir Frank Swettenham's active career had been on the civil staff of the straits committee and he had retired from the post of Governor General with a reputation as an authority on the Malay language, and a list of several books on Malay life to his credit. Sir Edward Cook had a long record in journalism ending with the editorship of the Daily News, and afterward devoted several years to the editorship of Ruskin's works and authorship of the biography of Ruskin and critical writings on the English literature.

General and Admiral in Charge

Real control of censorship, as American correspondents found it, rested with neither the home secretary nor the controllers of the bureau. Questions of military and naval news were passed upon by military and naval censors, the head of those departments being Major General Cockerill and Admiral Sir Douglas Browning, while matters of foreign and diplomatic affairs often went to the foreign office.

Different interpretations given of their rules by different censors. An Associated Press message giving the admiral's announcement of the first important British naval victory was stifled because the censor to whom it came had hanging over his desk the rule that the names and locations of ships must not be published, and this bulletin was reeking with names and locations of ships.

On the comedy side one classic incident still abides. A correspondent with the British army had quoted from Kipling's "Recessional":

"The shouting and the tumult dies, the Captains and the Kings depart." The censor did not recognize this on a telegraph form as a quotation, and being a literal minded man he erased "the Kings" because, as was afterward explained in parliament, there were no kings present at the front, hence the statement that any had departed was untruthful.

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS GET SAME PRICES AS ARMY

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Under a bill transmitted to the senate today by Secretary Baker, widows of officers and enlisted men of the army, navy and marine corps who lost their lives in the war would be permitted as long as they remained unmarried to purchase subsistence stores from the government at prices charged officers and men. Mr. Baker said, "this would mean a great deal to the widows in view of the excessive cost of food in the open market."

If you can save something, through reading the ads, on half of the things you purchase—what a tidy total of "earned income" this would represent in the course of a year.

How This Astounding Opportunity Became Possible

THE WAR ENDED suddenly. Everybody was glad—hilarious with joy that the awful carnage was ended and the victory won. But Uncle Sam was just as well prepared to go on as to stop. Supplies of all kinds had been bought at market prices. Among these supplies there were thousands of fine Blankets and Auto Robes—and Uncle Sam bought only the best. The ending of the war ended the government's need for the surplus. A group of local men have purchased thousands of these Auto Robes and Blankets direct from the government and they offer them to you at about half the price the government PAID FOR THEM only a short time ago.

The Sale of These Government Standard Auto Robes and Blankets Begins Thursday May 29---Continues 3 Days

A TERSE DESCRIPTION OF THESE ROBES AND BLANKETS

The Blankets and Auto Robes in this collection are all U. S. Government standard without flaws or defects. Colors are olive drab, grey and dark blue, as well as other colors in the Auto Robes. The figures above say $5.50 and that's correct—your unrestricted choice at $5.50 each. None are worth less than double and some as high as $20. Wise buyers will be on hand Thursday morning at our store.

A TIP TO WHOLESALEERS AND RETAILERS HOTELKEEPERS

The more you know about merchandise the more we want you to attend this sale. Hotelkeepers better snap onto this chance—you never had such a one before.

CENSORSHIP.

The story of the British press censorship told in Associated Press correspondence today is a reminder of the fact that during war time many things are found necessary which would be intolerable in time of peace. The censorship was one of these. Like most infringements of government with management of things essentially private and individual in their nature, it would speedily become a menace if persisted in except in the presence of a greater immediate danger.

Of course, free mailing privileges and a free press do not mean that anyone can send anything he wants through the mails, any more than free speech means that anyone can say anything he wants to under all circumstances. This is a matter on which many poverished minds become confused. The greatest crank on the subject of free speech would appeal to the law against obscene language were his peace broken by foul words uttered in the presence of his family. Hence, laws which prohibit the sending of obscene matter through the mails, or over the wires, or which prevent people from using the mails for the purpose of defrauding others are no violations of principles of free speech or of a free press, if impartially enforced.

It is inevitable that in the enforcement of a censorship much injustice should be done, and many errors made, since those who have charge of enforcing the laws are merely human. The operators who refused, without notice to their chief, to transmit criticisms of Postmaster General Burleson to the New York World, furnished a case in point. So did the postmaster general himself when he made a perfectly idiotic ruling against sending abroad copies of the Congressional Record which he asserted contained false statements regarding the condition of the country with reference to the carrying out of its war program.

A similar state of affairs was found in Great Britain. Early in the war the friends of Lord Kitchener endeavored to secure the suppression of certain attacks made on the war department, and tried to prevent the publication of these in the newspapers. "But," says the correspondent, "Sir P. E. Smith, the censor, accepted the responsibility of licensing this over Kitchener's head because he held that the country should have its eyes opened to the darkest side of the struggle it was in for. He also assumed responsibility for permitting the Northcliffe papers to wage a campaign to remedy the shortage of shells, which many construed as an indirect attack upon the popular hero at the head of the war office, and some criticized as giving information to the enemy."

That the Northcliffe papers at times exaggerated the evils existing is probably true. It is also probably true that smaller journals would have been denied the mails for less stringent strictures. But this, too, is an inevitable result of the operation of human nature.

If it's desirable apartment there should be a demand for it—a demand materialized through the classified.

GERMANS TREAT DANES BADLY IN SCHLESWIG

Efforts to Receive Food from Their Own Countrymen Prevented by Officials.

LONDON.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—While the attention of the allies is concentrated on the Germans along the western front, German government officials in Schleswig are preventing the Danes, who have the consent of the entente, from shipping food to their own needy countrymen in Schleswig.

German's Refuse Consent

This information has been received here by Edmund Gosse, well known English literary critic.

"I learn," he said in a letter to the Morning Post, "that the burgomaster of Flensburg declares that the hungry inhabitants of that town, the largest in Schleswig, have no need of Danish food."

Denied a Passport

The same German official, according to Mr. Gosse's information has refused passports to any families in the town and district of Flensburg to cross over into Denmark to accept an offer of Jutland and Funen to receive several thousand Danish speaking Schleswig children.

Straited Was Bad

Mr. Gosse terms as "scandalous" the treatment of Schleswig soldiers repatriated through Denmark.

"These unhappy men," he said, "are arrested as they cross the frontier, are prevented from even visiting their relatives and are immediately conveyed to the Polish frontiers to swell the German army there. North Schleswig is at the present moment more severely persecuted than it was even through the war. There is proceeding a em-mandering of cattle and horses which is paralyzing to the population, and this is emphasized by the indulgence with which South (or German) Schleswig is being treated."

Closed to All Danes

Schleswig, he understands, is now closed to all persons coming from Denmark.

"On the Rhine, under the eye of England and France," Mr. Gosse observed, "the boche may be meek enough, but he shows his claws at least when he escapes from the eye of the victorious allies."

DEVONSHIRE AND SMUTS MENTIONED AS AMBASSADOR

PARIS, (AP)—The names of the Duke of Devonshire, and Gen. Jan Christian Smuts are among those now mentioned as possible appointees as a British ambassador to Washington.

COMMENT, BY AND LARGE

Pertinent paragraphs on current events, official acts and the general trend of events, at home and abroad. Edited by Captain C. L. Longley.

The Twin Falls people are advised that Hon. T. A. Walters, late attorney general and who has been secured by the local G. A. R. to deliver the memorial address on Friday next, is one of the most graceful and attractive public speakers in the state of Idaho.

Twin Fallians should begin to think how the center of the little old town will look to them when two five-story buildings face each other at the corner of Shoshone street and Second avenue. One of them, 75 by 110 feet, will be erected by W. H. Eldridge at Shoshone and Second avenue east; the other, 109 by 110 will be diagonally across Shoshone street—and the two of them will certainly make that part of the city look quite differently.

If you care to "get a line" on property and rental values in Twin Falls, please make notation of the fact that one of our merchants has just leased an average 25-foot front store room on Main street for a year at $250 per month—paying $1200 bonus for the privilege.

As the "last hour" for Germany's protests and complaints draws near, it becomes more and more apparent that she was not really surprised at the terms of the peace treaty and will sign it, as

And now comes ex-Senator Ham Lewis, who erst was President Wilson's official propagandist and personal mouthpiece, and frankly declares the people of the west and south are dead against the "entangling alliances" of the league program. In his own words: "They are opposed to any alliances with any European land, and only if the league does not enforce an alliance with any for it. They are for the United States taking control of Mexican affairs and by force stopping the outrages on Americans and their property."

Some member of the last legislature whose patriotic zeal seems to have outran his discretion, secured the passage of a bill appropriating $1000 toward the erection of a soldiers' and sailors' monument in each county in the state—provided as much more was given by the county therefor. Looking to results, some counties proposed to increase the local appropriation and thereby secure a more desirable structure; but now comes a ruling by the attorney general of the state to the effect that under the terms of the act, the structures in the various counties must be identical, following a form and style prescribed in advance. This is the very feature of the legislation to which objection was raised when first proposed; and the idea of a "job lot" of cheap, factory-made, memorials being flung out over the state is no more pleasing now than it was then.

Among the 1000 bills submitted in the house of representatives during the first day of the present session of congress was one increasing to $50 the present service pension of $40 per month accorded to veterans of the Civil war; also materially increasing the amount of widows' pensions bringing forward to 1919 the date of marriage necessary to secure the latter, and generally liberalizing the terms upon which either may be secured. This seems neither necessary nor opportune. The government of the United States has been liberal to its soldiers of the sixties beyond all precedent; and at this time when it is already overloaded with obligations and expenses, there does not appear any adequate reason or excuse for further demands or concessions along the line indicated by this proposed legislation.

A friend sends the "Comment" column the following clipping from some unknown source which, although it purports to be "comment," seems quite too good to be lost: "Do you remember the down-trodden citizens the democratic orators and editors used to picture as having been born in a cradle, taxed 35 per cent, and finally, after paying tribute to the infamous protective tariff all of his life, finished up in a coffin taxed 42 per cent? What's become of him? We heard of him again the other day. He was just buying some bacon, up 170 per cent since the infamous Payne-Aldrich tariff law was repealed, and some eggs, up 180 per cent, some oranges, up 200 per cent, and some lard, up 140 per cent, with some sugar, up 110 per cent, and some butter, up 100 per cent. As luxuries he bought some cigars, up 80 per cent and some candy up 40 per cent. He had been thinking of taking a trip, but decided to stay at home when he looked up the railway fare, up 50 per cent, and the sleeping car rates, up 75 per cent. He decided, instead, to write a letter, postage up 50 per cent, and ship the stuff he had intended to carry with him by express until he found the rates increased 37 per cent, or by freight, rates up an average of 30 per cent. He asked at the drug store for poison, but found it was up 327 per cent, and on inquiring at the hardware stores found that revolvers were up 62 per cent and rope had increased in price 85 per cent. He then went home and read the democratic national platform of 1912, promising to reduce the high cost of living by abolishing the tariff, and demanding a "return to that simplicity and economy befitting a democratic administration," whereupon he laughed himself to death. Even this was no economy, however, for his wife found the cost of coffins had gone up 57 per cent and tombstones 71 per cent."

Some southern editor wishes Bryan would mail to Germany a copy of one of his "arbitration" treaties and reminded them that they once incipiently turned it down. The New York Commercial says that the ad that sank the Lusitania also knocked the bottom out of the German ships of state. Apropos of the statement that Germany "will not sign the treaty except under duress," the Omaha Bee kindly suggests that "We have plenty of 'duress' left over if it should be needed."

BUHL CITIZENS VOTE BONDS FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Issuance of $134,000 Worth of Securities Authorized for Waterworks, Paving, Fire Department and City Hall.

(Special to The News)
BUHL — Citizens of Buhl Tuesday voted by wide majorities the issuance by the municipality of $134,000 worth of bonds to provide for enlargement and extension of the municipal waterworks system, equipping the fire department, paving certain streets and avenues and erecting a city hall. A vote on all four propositions submitted was about 85 per cent in favor of the bonds and 15 per cent against. A total of 210 voters, representing practically all of the registered voters for this election, was cast.

The city administration will proceed at once to carry into execution the improvement program for which the bonds were voted.

In the extension of the waterworks system and replacement of wood with metal mains, $62,000 is to be expended. New equipment for the fire department including one or more trucks will cost $15,000. Erection and furnishing of the city hall is to involve an expenditure of $25,000.

Thirty-two thousand dollars worth of bonds was voted for paving the street and alley intersections of Broadway from the railroad track to the edge of town. Main street from the south side of the high school to the city hall, a part of Ninth avenue and also the street running between the Idaho Mercantile store and the second hand store.

IMMEDIATE WORK ON MEMORIAL IS PROVIDED FOR

Executive Committee Directs Beginning of Survey for Scenic Road and Negotiates with Landscape Architect.

The Shoshone Falls Park Memorial association executive committee at a meeting Tuesday afternoon in the office of M. J. Sweeley, authorized the immediate beginning of work on the scenic road on the south side of Snake river canyon from Blue Lakes in the Shoshone falls, and through Mrs. H. W. Cloucheck, opened negotiations with Mrs. Florence Yock of Los Angeles, a landscape architect, looking toward the preparation by her of plans for improvement of the memorial.

Plan for Future.
It is proposed to make plans at this time for improvement of the park to an extent greater than will be undertaken at present with a view to completing the work along the lines now laid down at a later date. It is probable, if the negotiations are successful, that Mrs. Yock will arrive here in the near future to enter upon the work.

The rimrock road between Blue lakes and the Shoshone falls, extending over a distance of about three miles, it is said will make readily accessible to view scenic wonders that are unapproached. Few obstacles are to be overcome in building the road, it is stated, and a minimum of expense is involved.

SUDDEN DEATH WORKER'S LOT

Charles Huffman, Sheep Shearer, Succumbs at Buhl to Apoplexy.

Charles Huffman, aged 57 years, a trapper and sheep shearer, was found yesterday morning lying on apoplexy in his wagon on the E. Bonnichsen farm four miles north of Buhl. He had been employed Monday. Death resulted before the arrival of a physician who was immediately summoned from Buhl. Coroner P. J. Grossman and Sheriff A. N. Sprague were called to Buhl last evening to investigate the case. The body has been taken to a Buhl undertaking establishment while efforts are being made to locate relatives. Papers found in Huffman's possession indicate that he is survived by a wife and children, but no clue as to their whereabouts has been discovered. Huffman's property, which was taken in charge by the coroner, includes his team and wagon, some $50 in money and small personal effects.

THIS STORE has the reputation of selling good hosiery at more reasonable prices than other stores, and I feel safe in saying that you can buy knit underwear here to better advantage than elsewhere. The quality of the fabric is not all that counts in underwear. The cut, the finish, the comfort to the wearer, are most important features and I give special attention to these points of merit in making selections.

Kaysor on Gloves means excellence. Kaysor on hosiery means all that is good in hose, and Kaysor on underwear means all that one could wish for in the way of quality, fit and durability. PIECE GOODS—GOODS BY THE YARD

The rather insistent demand by many customers of this store for yard goods has been met by putting in a line of dependable goods of this kind and as usual the prices are reasonable. To illustrate:

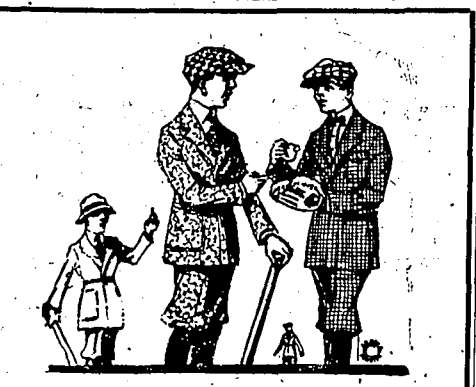

Crash Toweling, good quality, unbleached, 18 cents
Percales, yard wide, good grade, 19 cents
Plyed Organdies, 40 inches wide (regular price) 60 cents.

There has been much ridicule on the part of the purchasing public, as well as men in the wholesale dry goods business, of some of the prices offered in special or bargain sales. As an illustration in a recent advertisement there was mentioned "80 cents 8-4-bleached sheeting at 60 cents." The particular brand offered was then being sold at wholesale for 39 cents. I am only too glad to sell sheeting that costs but 39 cents for 60 cents in a regular way. (80c looks like profiteering). (Better to buy at my regular prices as you need goods.)

NECESSITY FOR MOVES RELIEVED BY LEASES

W. H. Eldridge and Twin Falls Cafe to Remain in Present Locations for Time.

William H. Eldridge has leased from Tom Koto for one year, the building on Main avenue north in which his clothing store is located, and Koto, proprietor of the Twin Falls cafe, has leased for an equal length of time from Dr. T. O. Boyd, the quarters in which his cafe is situated, on Main avenue south.

Koto some time ago bought through the T. J. Woods agency from A. R. Moore, the building in which the Eldridge clothing store is located. It was stated at that time that Dr. Boyd had refused to renew Koto's lease, and that the Woolworth store interests were negotiating with Dr. Boyd with a view to occupying the building in which the cafe is situated.

It is stated that Mr. Eldridge under the terms of his lease, pays $250 per month and a bonus of $1,200 to Koto. Mr. Eldridge stated today that he expects to be in position to announce definitely by June 15, his plans for building a five story building on his lots at corner of Shoshone street and Second avenue east. These plans have been maturing for two months.

5000 Miles with the Border Patrol

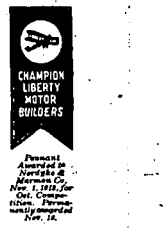

In the United States Army tests at Marfa, Tex., the Marmon 34 was driven 5044 miles, heavily loaded, at an average of 157 miles a day. Mountain grades, stony roads, deep mud and blistering sands were traversed with indomitable endurance and reliability. And under these trying conditions the Marmon averaged 12.6 miles per gallon of gasoline, and 1440 miles per gallon of oil.

Having established this incomparable record, the same Marmon car made a sealed run of 2,931 miles additional—from Marfa to Washington, D. C.—on its original tires. This time it averaged 13.26 miles to the gallon of gasoline, and 1302.8 to the gallon of oil.

Due to its light weight, motor efficiency, oilless bearings and automatic lubrication, the Marmon again and again has demonstrated that no car in the world of equal size and power is so economical in operation and maintenance.
