BERLIN, (AP)—In view of the impending raising of the blockade, the government's recent action in forcing the price of food staples is reducing the price of food staples in forcing food staples to get rid of hidden supplies. As a result a sharp decline in prices is reported from all sections of Germany, the most marked decreases being in the Rheinland zone of occupation, where they have fallen from 90 to 60 per cent.

As stocks in occupied territory rapidly exceed the demand, large quantities are being shipped to Berlin, where food prices still prevail. Berlin probably will be the last city to enjoy appreciable price reductions, as much of this supplies must be shipped long distances.

It is reported from Weimar that the government will exercise active control of incoming war material and also exports.

PROPOSES PRICE FIXING WITH A CONTROL LIMIT

Trade Commission Declares Unrestrained Price Cutting Not in Interests of Public and Impairs Making Desired Goods.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Received recommendation that manufacturers be permitted by law to fix and maintain resale prices, subject to review by a disinterested agency, was made by the Federal trade commission today in a special report to congress. Existing laws which have been interpreted by the supreme court in the case against Colgate and Company and in the other recent cases to prevent fixing of resale prices should be amended, the commission believes, with a view to removing the present complexity in the business world, to be promoting the efficiency of manufacturing and commercial institutions and to serving the interests of the consuming public.

Congress to Name Agency
Under the commission's recommendation, first advanced in a report to congress last December, manufacturers desiring to fix and maintain resale prices would file with an agency to be designated by congress descriptions of the articles, contracts of sale and the price schedule to be maintained. The disinterested agency would be charged with the duty upon complaint of any dealer or consumer or other party interested to review the terms of contracts and prices.

Commissioner's Conclusions
The commission's recommendations, the report said, were based on the following conclusions:
That producers of identified goods—identified by trade mark or trade practice—should be protected in their intangible property right or good will created through years of fair dealing and of sustained quality of merchandise.

That the unlimited power both to fix and to enforce and maintain resale prices may not be made lawful with safety, and
That unrestrained price cutting is not in the public interest and tends eventually to impair, if not to destroy, the production and distribution of articles desirable to the public.

"There must be a common ground," the commission's report said, "wherein the rights of producer, purveyor and consumer may each be fully secured and equity done to all. The supreme court has made it clear that, in the present state of the law, the maintenance of a resale price by the producer is a restraint of trade and is unlawful."
Law Justifies Unfairness
"Such being the judgment of the supreme court, the federal trade commission has enforced the law, even though it may have appeared to operate inequitably in some cases. In its enforcement of this rule, the commission has been mindful that the cutting of a recognized resale price on well established and identified articles has been, at times, indulged in for an unfair trade purpose. When so unfairly used, such price cutting is attempted to be cloaked as lawful competition and justified by the supreme court decisions.

"Thus both price maintenance, and price cutting under certain conditions are permitted by law. Unfair and business men are perplexed."

Helpful Hints for Housewives

THAT SUMMER DESSERT.

Stomachs, like the body, want "light" wear in the hot months. It has been said by food experts that the average person greatly over-eats—and the loss is felt in the desert. Therefore the intelligent housewife selects her summer dessert with more care than her meats or vegetables.
A heart dessert, too tempting to refuse, may be eaten with relish—but it fosters gluttony and is apt to cause indigestion. This likely is the reason for the general trend toward the light, digestible and appetizing gelatin and fruit confections.
Lobanberry Delight, temple all. Dissolve 1 package of gelatine and add the Lobanberry fruit (Branix) by equal weights of almonds and run through grinder. When gelatine starts to set, add the whites of 2 eggs well beaten. Add the almonds last. Let cool, and set away in cool can. Serve with whipped cream.

CHRISTIANS OF KOREA MARTYRS FOR CONVICTION

Presbyterian Church Headquarters Makes Public Voluminous Report of Alleged Japanese Atrocities.

NEW YORK, (AP)—A report of alleged Japanese atrocities in Korea made public today at the headquarters of the Presbyterian church in America. It is a result of investigations by representatives in Korea of the church following the imprisonment of some of its missionaries by the Japanese authorities. The information from Korea was transmitted by such means that it escaped the Japanese censors. The report is several thousand words in length.
Perish in Burning Church
Hundreds of Koreans who had professed Christianity and who had been driven by Japanese guardmates at the point of bayonets into churches, there to be fired on through open windows, including the imprisonment and later to perish in the flames as the places of worship were put to the torch. Most of these victims, it is narrated, were men. Many women and children were left in desolation.
H. H. Ungfer, a missionary living in Seoul, was quoted in the Tokio Advertiser, of April 29, 1918, according to the report, as stating he was taken to Paltan, a market town. A fortnight before, Japanese troops, he said he was told, burned 38 of the forty houses in the village of Chayammun, two miles from Paltan, because the inhabitants were Christians. Paltan, he said, he was informed, escaped both fire and sword because there were no Christians there.
Preliminary police examinations of Koreans suspected of complicity in the revolutionary movement are said in the report to include "every humane refinement in brutality," men being beaten to death and women subjected to nearly every possible form of shameful treatment. Miller punishment, it is said, included blows aimed upon the prisoner's body with a lamby-wood rod and the administering of many bone kicks.
Respectable women in one part of Korea were not safe in their homes during the day, the report continues, and so were forced to spend most of their time in the streets at night, returning to their homes at night. The Japanese police designate all women who favor the independence of their land as social outcasts. One case cited refers to a Christian woman whose arm was said to have been wrenched from the socket by her persecutors.
The Shimshun of March 17, 1919, is quite as revealing in the opinions of the minds of the Koreans is the work of the American missionaries. This uprising in their work. There are a good many yellow minded people among the missionaries. They make the minds of the Koreans feel and plant the seeds of democracy."
In conclusion, after publishing what are alleged to be anti-American articles from certain Japanese newspapers, the report of the Presbyterian investigators says:
"It is unnecessary to say more. The articles speak for themselves. The reader can judge of the attitude of the press when the government permits such stuff to be printed. As the press always is under the Korean here, when such stuff is printed the government becomes morally responsible. The truth is prohibited. Fishponds and libels are allowed. Such a course of action only endangers the relations of the governments concerned."
Through cable and mail dispatches and otherwise many of the occurrences outlined in the Presbyterian report on alleged Japanese atrocities in Korea and others similar to them have been made known to the American public, at the time of the disorders there, and since then. The Japanese government has recognized that excesses occurred in Korea. Premier Hara on June 17 stating to a delegation from a Japanese political party that the reports published in the foreign press were true in part. The premier said the officers and men concerned had been punished and that steps were being taken to prevent a recurrence of the disorders.

Army Worms Start Northern Invasion

Department of Agriculture Notes Movement of Pest and Plans Destruction.

The outbreak of army worms which started in Texas during late May has spread northeastward, and is now general in the Central Mississippi basin, says a statement issued recently by the United States department of agriculture. Reports show the infestation to be rather severe in parts of the state of Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. It is quite possible that the northern states east of the Appalachian mountains may be invaded within the next three or four weeks.
The simplest and most effective remedy for army worms, say the federal entomologists, is the potato bran bait made according to the standard formula as given for grasshopper and cut worm control. It is as follows: Wheat bran, 25 pounds; Paris green or white arsenic, 2 pounds; kerosene or kerosene, a finely chopped fruit; sugar, 10 pounds, such as refuse from sugar factories, or cattle molasses, known as black strap, 2 quarts; water as needed, usually 7 or 8 quarts.
The bran and Paris green or arsenic are thoroughly mixed while dry. The fruits are then finely chopped and added, and lastly the diluted molasses is mixed in. This bait, when used, is thoroughly kneaded and mixed. If lemons or oranges cannot be secured, crushed ripe tomatoes, watermelons, or other fruits may be added. The bait should be used at night, and scattered over the ground in the path of the advancing worms.
This bait may be used safely in alfalfa and corn fields where it is desired, if possible, to save the crop for forage purposes.

A Few of the Things a Car Owner Should Know About His Battery

FIRST—A car owner should know that the action of a storage battery is electro-chemical and not mechanical. Except in the case of a "bone dry" threaded rubber battery, it begins to wear out as soon as it is made.

SECOND—A storage battery is not a primary source of electrical supply, but can only give out a certain percentage of the energy that is put into it.

THIRD—Wood insulators in wood insulated batteries will wear out and if the battery is reinsulated before the insulation breaks down completely and before any material damage is done to the plates on account of short circuit, the life of the battery will be prolonged considerably.

AS IT MIGHT WORK
It is rather likely that if the evident attitude of the French government toward the league of nations proposal were adopted generally in the United States, opposition to the covenant in this country would be reduced to a minimum.

The attitude of the French government, as best indicated in its demand for a supplementary treaty binding the United States and Great Britain to come to the assistance of France in the event of unprovoked German aggression, is to be interpreted as an opinion that the proposed league of nations will be a creation of very slow development and possibly that it will resolve itself in the final analysis into an academic institution for the discussion of international problems and search for their solution.

Men will fight and die for the vindication of principles of law, where it is extremely probable that the coming of the league of nations will be a first consideration with the proposed league.

A. FORER FOR PEACE
It is devoutly to be desired that success will crown the efforts of the National Foreign Trade council special committee on foreign communications formed for the purpose of obtaining improved cable and wireless facilities across the Pacific; that the Swedish interests who are endeavoring to secure the building of another cable across the Atlantic will not be disappointed; and that every similar enterprise shall be rewarded with prosperous outcome.

Very much more than improvement of the means of commercial intercourse depends upon the success of these enterprises.

The projects involve avenue through which we are to become better acquainted with people with whom we may be joined in a solemn covenant bearing new and heavy responsibilities; and upon our sympathy with the aims and aspirations of these peoples based upon our accurate knowledge of their peculiar problems will depend, perhaps, our ability to keep out of war in the future.

There can be no guarantee against international conflict except it be based upon sympathetic and thorough understanding between the peoples of the several nations; and no league of nations or any other new order that may be set up, by any group of men at the top of the heap can take the place of this quality.

It is a matter of paramount importance that our avenues of communication with men everywhere should be preserved unscathed by the taint of any propaganda that might make war seem the only remaining solution of a problem, where, if the uncolored facts were known, there might be no misunderstanding at all.

One way in which this may be accomplished is to multiply the avenues of communication to so great an extent that no one individual or power can control them all.

What was it—new surroundings, the fever of excitement subdued by calm and wholesome environment, or was it an uprising of genuine love quenching the ritual flash of fancy? Leslie would not have known if he were alive: The house, its occupants, all nature appeared in harmony complete with rational enjoyment, and Leslie was sorry when that week neared its end.

He was uneasy. He was almost tempted to go back to Oakhurst but he resisted the temptation. He was in a hurry to get away from there. He was in a hurry to get away from there. He was in a hurry to get away from there.

The Goodrich Square Standard Measure of Tires

The one sure way to tell what a tire is worth as it stands in the store is to divide its price in dollars and cents by the miles of the adjustment that backs it up.

Then square it on the GOODRICH SQUARE, Standard Measure of True Tire Value.

Square its price against Goodrich List Prices on the short branch of THE SQUARE.

Square its mileage adjustment against the Goodrich More-Mileage Adjustment on the long branch of THE SQUARE—6,000 miles for fabrics; 8,000 for Silvertown cords.

If you pay more than the Goodrich List Price, always the same to you, and every other one else everywhere—the tire overcharges you. If you take less than the Goodrich MORE MILEAGE Adjustment, you short-mileage yourself.

STATE'S CASH ON HAND JULY 1 OVER TWO MILLION

Wealth of Idaho Is Reflected in Amount of Balance Carried from Last Month.

Taking the balance on hand in the state treasury at the end of June as a basis for the supposition that Idaho state government is wealthy. In a report made by the state treasurer, John W. Engelson, the balance of cash on hand at the conclusion of business in June was more than two million dollars.

The usual figures the state has, according to this report, available cash amounting to $2,064,704.39. This is a slight reduction, however, over the balance shown at the beginning of the month of June, the cash left from May being $2,157,536. Receipts for the month of June were slightly below expenditures, the former being $472,775.05, the latter $480,988.05.

The Partners

By GENEVIEVE ULMAR

Our town and its neighbors! Our total investment is lost, good-by," pronounced Marvin Gregg, as he gazed about an empty store and its bare shelves.

"That's the way you take it, it's quietly submitted Arden." "Bill, you forgot one thing to our credit—that we pay one hundred cents on the dollar."

"Of course there is some satisfaction in that, but just the same we've got to begin all over again. I've made application for my job."

"Every bill is paid except one claim," resumed Arden, "and I have the money to settle that," and he folded a check lying on his desk and both left the place.

They were two bright, ambitious young fellows, but their business affairs had reached a crisis. The same was the manufacturer and a new table condiment, of which Arden was the originator. There was nothing the matter with the toothsome preparation, only they had advertised too liberally, had not the capital left to keep up with rush orders, made deliveries weak and dishonest retailers, and lost out.

Arden for the moment was intent on cleaning up the lost liability of the firm. A letter had been received, signed Elston & Co., stating that a consignment they had ordered and paid for, had never been delivered. Arden located the Elston & Co. It proved to be a little delicatessen shop, next out side and within that Arden was pleased to come across it. The sole occupant was its apparent proprietor, a pleasant-faced and respectable appearing elderly gentleman.

"I have come to adjust your account with Gregg & Arden," observed Arden. "Oh, yes, that order that missed free. Either you never sent the goods or there was a wrong delivery."

"Well, there is a check for the amount," said Arden. "I am Mr. Brill. We have discontinued," observed the old man. "Well, you don't deserve that, for you're more than honest to pay off this claim. Sit down, would you? Tell me about it," and the speaker became an intent listener.

"I'm not Elston & Co.," the old man explained. "I'm Arden, and I've told his story. 'Here's the layout: We're been living in a little suburban town near here, and Myra, that's my daughter, had a little sum left to her by an old aunt. Nothing would do but we must come to the city. Myra wants to buy a motor car, and I've got to put her the age of real usefulness. So we planned that if we could locate in some little business we might have enough coming in to carry us along. See? What you going to do, Mr. Brill?"

"I hardly know," replied Arden. "I'll have to look around for a new connection." The old man arose as the postman brought in a letter. He glanced over it. "I declare! here's worment and complication," he exclaimed. "It's from Myra, and she writes that our affairs at the home town can't be settled without both of us being there all next week. Say—And then struck by a new light, Mr. Elston seemed reluctant to explain, but then he had a better idea. "You're free about it, just now. I don't suppose you'd descend to run this place for a week to help us out? I couldn't afford, more than ten or fifteen dollars."

Building and Loan Declares Dividend

Nearly Four Per Cent Is Offered Paid-Stockholders Association Reports.

At a meeting of the Twin Falls Building and Loan association, held last night, a dividend of 3.310 per cent was declared in favor of stockholders. Declaration of the dividend followed the reading of a semi-annual report by the secretary, C. P. Larsen. The statement showed a substantial balance in the association's treasury, and a reasonable income in business since the last report of the association. A resolution was submitted six months ago.

The Twin Falls Building and Loan association was established three and a half years ago, and has built up a substantial and prosperous business in that time. A fair rate of activity was maintained during the war period, there being at no time a slump in loans. Since the resumption of activities has increased in proportion to the general prosperity of this section of the country.

Officials of the association are particularly optimistic concerning the outlook. "I hardly know," replied Arden. "I'll have to look around for a new connection." The old man arose as the postman brought in a letter. He glanced over it.

WATER USERS OBTAIN GROSVENOR'S RELEASE

Eighteen Buhl Farmers Petition District Attorney and Put Up Bond of $7500.

A petition, signed by eighteen Buhl water users and stockholders in the Twin Falls Canal company, was last night presented to Prosecuting Attorney Frank Steinhart requesting the release of Harry E. Grosvenor from county custody. The petitioners provided bonds in the sum of $7500 upon presentation of which Grosvenor was released.

Grosvenor is a ditch rider who was recently arrested after an assault upon E. L. Van River, a Buhl district farmer, who died from the effects of a blow on the head said to have been inflicted by Grosvenor during an altercation. A complaint has been filed in the district court charging Grosvenor with assault in the second degree. The signers of the release petition are said to represent more than $500,000 in property. Those signing are: Thomas Parker, George O. Leitch, Albert Teichmann, A. L. Hurst, E. E. Pembler, Oscar Noh, O. T. B. Peterson, O. C. Burgess, I. L. Ward, R. D. See, A. E. Kliss, C. Rosenkrantz, J. W. Chapman, R. T. Leander, H. W. Vandenberg, the Nejauchas, Donald Miller, L. A. Overly.

Upon arrival in Twin Falls the petitioners held council in the office of the Twin Falls Canal company where the petition was drafted and signed. In a preamble to the petition the signers express confidence in Grosvenor and declare him to be a man of excellent character and high moral standing. The men declare that 100 signatures could be obtained to the petition if needed.

FARM WORKERS IN BIG DEMAND

Ranchers Are Calling for Help and Contracting for Fruit Pickers Later in Season.

During the past few days the demand for assistance on Twin Falls tract farms has more than doubled, according to E. E. Evers, in charge of the employment department of the county farm bureau. The demand covers every branch of farm work from labor to housekeepers. Most men are required for weeding beans and cultivating beet roots.

There is a considerable demand for help in farm houses and for married men to live on places. Three of the latter have been supplied in the past few days, and a call came to head-quarters this morning for two more married men of experience in farm employment. In addition horticulturists are contracting for fruit pickers to help them with their rapidly ripening tree crops. The big demand for this line of service will be from August 1 to the middle of the month. Inquiries are coming in concerning the highest and best of investment hands for this and the Salmon tract.

To the Amusement Lovers of Twin Falls and Vicinity

The following endorsement from L. N. Scott, manager of the Metropolitan Theatre of St. Paul and Minneapolis, the Theatrical Gateway of the Great Northwest, the Twin Cities that put the stamp of approval of condemnation on all amusements east of the Northwest, is cheerfully endorsed by me:

Manager Lavering Theatre, Twin Falls: "An event of far reaching importance, never before equaled within the borders of the State of Idaho is the appearance of four of the world's greatest stars in the city, combined in one company, presenting a sensationally successful play by an American author, staged by American master of stage technique and sponsored by one of the most daring of all American producers. "The announcement of any one of the following stars at the head of a dramatic organization is sufficient guarantee of the merits of that organization, the combining of a really ALL STAR cast is not only unusual, but it is really an epoch making event in the theatricals of the world. "Negotiations have been quietly progressing for weeks, and only within the last few days has the management of THE LAVERING THEATRE been able to meet the demands necessary to secure this worthy and unusual combination of STARS. "It is with a great deal of pride we are now in a position to say the prime difficulties have been overcome, TWIN FALLS theatre-goers, and those in our vicinity, will have an opportunity to witness an assemblage of theatrical stars the like of which has never before been placed on tour in AMERICA. "MISS MARGARET ILLINGTON, too well known to require more than a mere mention. "MR. WILTON LACKAYE, famous as a creator of unusual and unique roles since his epoch making creation in that never-to-be-forgotten 'WILLY'. "MISS KATHLEEN KAELED, first coming prominently before amusement lovers as the creator of 'the vampire' in the world-famed production of 'A FOOL THERE WAS'—later as leading actress with Sir Beecham Tree, then STAR throughout Australia and recently creating numerous roles in the more serious and worthy moving pictures. "MR. FREDERICK TIDEN, the young actor destined to take Richard Mansfield's place in the ranks of today's players. "The entire cast is fully up to the demands such a quartet of STARS demand. "THE PLAY, 'A GOOD BAD WOMAN,' deals with the intimate, home life of rich and blood people, and is both tense and virile in treatment while its comedy—and there is much comedy—is human. "STAGED by that master of technique, MR. RICHARD BERNETT, in the way that only masters of stage craft are able to do. "PRODUCED by MR. H. H. FRAZER, who has given amusement lovers more than one of the very best American productions, and forgetting his world's famous ALL STAR CAST IN 'FIVE FEATHERS'. "We have no hesitancy in saying this will be the biggest theatrical event of all time in this city or its vicinity. "Signed: E. C. LAVERING. "THE ENGAGEMENT in TWIN FALLS will be one performance, Tuesday, July 22. "SEE PRICES range from $2.00 to $3.00. "RESERVATIONS BY MAIL sent to THE LAVERING THEATRE will be filled NOW, when accompanied by check plus war tax, and self addressed, stamped envelope. "ADVANCE SALE opens Majestic Pharmacy, Monday, July 14. "TELEPHONE ORDERS will be ACCEPTED if money is sent in specie. Signed: E. C. LAVERING, Manager Lavering Theatre, Twin Falls."

AUTHORITIES MAY ORDER ANOTHER GODSEY BOY UP

Mother of Large and Destitute Family Asks an Education for 15-year-old Son.

A second boy in the A. J. Godsey family at Buhl will likely be sent to the state industrial school for education and manual training. The boy is about 15 years of age and is on suggestion of the mother that the juvenile authorities take steps that may place the lad in position to become educated and trained in some sort of profession.

Mrs. Godsey, who is at present living in a tent some distance southwest of Buhl, recently urged Juvenile Officer John R. Ault to take the child referred to and place him in a training asylum. Recently one of her sons was committed, and at that time the mother lacrimosely complained saying she would retain her right to possession of all her other children. When Mr. Ault refused to do so, she was informed that she had come to the conclusion that the only way her growing boys would be able to procure an education was to have them placed in the care of the state. The boy that is now to be committed will probably be taken in charge next week.

Anderson Godsey, 17 years of age was recently ordered to the industrial school after having been found impeding a brawl in connection with a dance at Buhl. At the same time his father was ordered held to the district court for the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, evidence at the preliminary hearing showing that he had stabbed a man, Noah E. Pruitt, during a fight at the Buhl dance.

The tent in which Mrs. Godsey, with five children, have been living is immediately above the irrigation ditches, and for water for domestic purposes she has been dependent upon the ditch flow. This supply is not cut off, and the only water obtainable is of a dangerous sort. Juvenile Officer Ault is making plan for removing the family to Buhl where the eldest son of the family resides. It is explained by Mr. Ault that this young man, although possessing a team of good horses, and capable of doing a man's work himself, contributes in no way toward the support of his mother and the rest of the family. It is alleged he works just enough to provide himself a livelihood, and feed for his horse. He has been asked to move his mother and brothers and sisters to Buhl, but thus far has declined to do so. Meanwhile the Godsey family is being partially cared for by the county, neighbors supply the rest. The children now at home range in age from 12 years to nine months.

HORSES REQUIRE CHANGE OF FOOD

Work Animals Give Best Day's Work When Feed is Suited to Labor Performed.

The primary functions of food are to repair the waste of the body, to promote growth in immature animals, and to furnish heat and energy. And for these purposes only the digestible portion of the food is to be taken into account. The amount of digestible protein, fat and carbohydrates in a ration is proportioned to its fitness to fulfill these purposes.

The next question is, How much of these materials does an animal require, and in what proportion should they be given? This differs with the purpose for which the animal is kept, whether it is growing, being fattened, used for work or making milk. An animal standing in the stall requires less food nutrients than one which is worked hard every day. That is, in drawing heavy loads the animal breaks down or consumes a certain amount of muscular tissue, which must be replaced by protein in the food, and it uses energy or force which is also furnished by the food nutrients.

In standing in the barn it still requires some protein, fat and carbohydrates to perform the necessary functions of the body to maintain heat in winter, to grow a new coat of hair, etc. But if it is fed the same ration as when working hard, the tendency is to get fat or waste the food.

FORESTS APPRECIATED BY PUBLIC IN GENERAL

Damage Through Carelessness on Woodland Decreases Yearly Reports Intimates

Increased interest by visitors to the national forests, settlers and others in the forest fire prevention campaign has been shown this year, and there is hope that this year's loss will show beneficial results from the efforts to convince the general public that the great woodlands are public property, and that it is the public's duty to protect them, a report from Washington declares.

The loss in 1918 is considered to have been remarkably small in view of the dangerous condition caused by drought and periods of high fire. Forest fires burned over 695,000 acres of national forest lands in 1918 and caused a loss of $688,000 to the government in timber, forage and young growth, according to figures compiled by the forest service, United States department of agriculture.

In addition to the actual loss in timber and forage, the fires of 1918 entailed extra expenditures for the employment of additional laborers to fight the fires, for the purchase of additional equipment and supplies and for the transportation of the fire fighting equipment. There were 5273 fires on the national forests, and all but 2457, not by lightning, were caused by human agencies. Careless campers caused 617 fires, careless campers were responsible for 603. There were 257 incendiary fires, which occurred for the most part in Oregon, California and Arkansas. The remainder of the fires were caused by various forms of carelessness on the part of settlers and other users of the National forests.

Urges Eloquently for Mondell Bill
Crop and Cattle Figures Are Presented to Washington Committee During Debate

(Special to The News.)
JEROME—Arguing for the passage of the Mondell bill in Washington recently, R. E. Shepherd, manager of the North Side Investment company of Jerome, summing up the achievements of the North Side tract in the matter of production, presented some figures that should prove a clinching argument for the passage of the pending and bill. Mr. Shepherd explained that the North Side tract, land which twelve years ago was an arid desert, millions of bushels of the finest wheat and other grains, as well as great herds of fat cattle and sheep have been raised. He said the North Side tract has grown more than 5,000,000 bushels of wheat; 30,000,000 pounds of sugar; 500,000 pounds of wool; 500,000 fat sheep, about half that number of fat cattle, as well as sundry other valuable products which helped win the war for the allies.

TOKIO, (AP)—Roland S. Morris, American ambassador to Japan, left here July 7 for Omak to make a special investigation of the Russian situation. Planning to Give Irrigators Power

Proposal Made to Shut Down Boise and Interurban Service Part of Time.

(Special to The News.)
BOISE—That additional power may be supplied the irrigating districts to lift water for crops a proposal is being considered by the Idaho Power for the curtailment of service on the city and interurban lines and in towns in the Boise valley.
Announcement of this effect is made by A. L. Froehner, president of the state public utilities commission, with which body the proposal has been lodged for final disposal.
Mr. Froehner says it is within the bounds of possibility that a curb may be placed on street lighting in all of the towns in the valley, as well as the curtailment of the use of power for interurban transportation to the minimum requirements. It is proposed to curtail car service on the city and interurban lines between 9 a. m. and noon daily until the present crisis is passed.
