Peace Conference Takes Up the Question of Size of Army Required for Occupation of Germany Under Treaty

DISCUSSES ARMY'S PART IN SILESIAN PLEBISCITE

Unfavorable Action in United States on Peace Pact Would Relieve Americans of Participation, Council Holds

PARIS, (AP)—The Bulgarian peace delegation arrived this morning. The delegates were escorted in automobiles to the Quai d'Orléans at Neuilly. The size of the force required for the occupation of the Rhineland under the terms of the German peace treaty was a question under consideration by the supreme council at today's session. For the present, it is said, a force of 150,000 men is likely to be considered necessary on the left bank of the Rhine.

The organization of the military expedition for the occupation of Silesia during the taking of the plebiscite there also was discussed by the council. The participation of American troops in this work, however, depends upon ratification of the peace treaty, it is pointed out, as in case of unfavorable action there no longer would exist a reason for the presence of Americans with the allied troops. In any case, it is considered probable that the proportion of Americans in the expedition will be comparatively small.

FRENCH DEPUTIES DISCUSS STATUS OF RHINELAND
PARIS, (AP)—The question whether it is necessary to have a formal ratification of the German peace treaty by the federal states of Germany, such as Bavaria and Prussia, was considered Friday by the Chamber of deputies. The committee on the subject also took up the problem of the future status of the Rhineland.

COLOMBIAN PACT GETS ATTENTION

Peace Treaty May Wait While Senate Considers an Old Problem

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Columbia has agreed to senate amendments to the treaty between that country and the United States by which suggestions of annex by this country for the partition of Panama were eliminated. Chairman Lodge of the senate foreign relations committee, said today after a conference with Secretary Lansing at the state department. Senator Lodge said the treaty would be taken up in the senate next week and that in view of Colombia's action he anticipated no delay in its ratification.

Consideration of the treaty of Versailles will be continued next week by the foreign relations committee. Mr. Lodge said, and Bradley Palmer, an American expert who assisted in framing the sections of the treaty relating to alien property, will be examined probably Wednesday or Thursday.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Under present plans of republican leaders, the peace treaty will be acted temporarily for consideration of the treaty between the United States and Colombia, pending payment to the latter of $25,000,000 for damages arising from American acquisition of the Panama canal. Chairman Lodge of the senate foreign relations committee, said Friday the Colombian treaty would be taken up by the committee next week with plans for its immediate ratification by the senate. Action on the treaty has been urged by state department officials.

Republicans have held up ratification of the treaty for several years because of this clause and some time ago the amount of the damages to be paid Colombia was reduced to $15,000,000 but in consideration of the ratification of the treaty, the original sum of $25,000,000 was restored. Renewed request for immediate action on the treaty was made today by Secretary Lansing and the American minister to Colombia. Chairman Lodge will confer tomorrow with Mr. Lansing and he hopes to obtain ratification of the treaty by the senate next week.

STATE DEPARTMENT TAKES CHARGE OF EXPORT OF MATERIALS OF WAR

President's Proclamation Erring Responsibility Refers to Violence in Southern Republic and Against Violation of Established Regulations

LAWYERS ARE TO BE ENFORCED BY CIVIL AUTHORITIES ASSISTED BY SOLDIERS

AMERICAN BOY IS HELD FOR RANSOM BY MEXICAN BANDITS; GOVERNMENT ACTS

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Philip Thompson, 14 years old, son of John West Thompson, an American citizen, was kidnapped from his father's ranch 30 miles from Mexico City, and is being held by Mexican bandits for 1,500 pesos ransom, the state department was advised today. Urgent representations have been made to the Mexican government, it was announced. The bandits took a horse and a revolver from the boy before taking him to the ranch and they are said to have threatened to execute him unless the ransom was paid.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Efforts to prevent the smuggling of arms and ammunition into Mexico from the United States are to be redoubled. This was made known today at the state department after publication of a proclamation signed by the president on July 12 restoring to the state department control of shipments of munitions to the southern republic which was invested in the war trade board during the war.

Promises Prosecution
President Wilson, in his proclamation, referred to conditions of domestic violence in Mexico, "promoted by the use of arms or munitions of war," and warned citizens of this country that any violations of the laws passed by congress in 1912 and 1917 regarding shipments of munitions would be "rigorously prosecuted."

Power of prescribing exemptions and limitations to the application of the laws against shipments of munitions was delegated to the secretary of state by the president. It was said, however, that no new policy was in contemplation as the United States had been permitting shipments to go through to the Carranza government from time to time.

Placards Used Against Bandits
Before the United States entered the war, Mexico purchased a large quantity of munitions here and it is from this supply that the shipments have been made. The Mexican authorities, however, have permitted that shipments be not permitted to come through in sufficient quantities to enable the government to prosecute vigorously its campaign against bandits, and last week Ignacio Benitez the Mexican ambassador, requested that his government be permitted to purchase airplanes and munitions. So far, as has been announced no action has been taken on this request.

Exportation of implements of war to Mexico without special license has been prohibited for several years. A statement regarding business of exportation of munitions of war or their ingredients or the machinery for the manufacture could be exported to the southern republic without individual licenses for each shipment.

Officials of the state department said the president's proclamation constituted new policy. The law will be enforced, they said, by the constituted civil authorities, assisted by the soldiers on patrol duty on the border.

HITCHCOCK SAYS QUALIFICATIONS MAY BE VOICED

Ranking Democrat on Foreign Relations Committee Sees a Chance of Limitations in Senate Acceptance of Peace Pact

WILSON MAY GIVE HIS VIEW ON RESERVATIONS

President Addresses Senator Lodge on Resolution Asking Documents Used by Delegates at Conference

BOSTON, (AP)—The senate will ratify the league of nations covenant without amendment, but may qualify its endorsement, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democratic member of the senate committee on foreign relations asserted today. He was addressing a group of friends and newspapermen at the Union club, having stopped here on the way to his summer home.

The senator said he represented 46 democratic and five or six republican senators who stood against any amendment. The only doubt about the senate's action, in his opinion, was the question of the phraseology of the resolution of ratification which might contain qualifying terms.

Wilson Must Approve
"If any qualifications or interpretations are made," he said, "they must be made under the approval of President Wilson who is in communication with the other nations involved." The senator thought that any qualification regarding the Monroe doctrine would "likely" result in the senate's not obtaining a majority on any particular reservation.

Defends Japanese Claim
Regarding Shantung, the senator said the league of nations pact merely took notice of a treaty already subscribed to by China. Japan, he felt, having by force of arms turned German interests out of China, was entitled to confirmation in the territory which Germany had held by treaty, and transfer of which he said China had approved. He intimated that negotiations now pending might result in a definite declaration by Japan of the date on which it would withdraw from Shantung.

Irish Should Approve
Instead of opposing the league, Senator Hitchcock said, he felt Irishmen here should support it as offering the best hope for future self-rule of Ireland.

COOLER WEATHER IS AID IN FOREST FIRE FIGHT

Favorable Reports Come from North Idaho and Montana Blaze Areas

SPOKANE, Wash., (AP)—Cooler weather last night was thought by federal forest service officials today to have a good effect in aiding to check forest fires to the number of almost three hundred that are burning in western Montana and northern Idaho. Reports received at district headquarters at Missoula, Mont., were more favorable than alarming. It was stated, although the larger fires throughout the district, especially in Montana, are giving forest service officials much concern.

SENATE COMMITTEE FOR FOREIGN CREDIT BOOST

Bill Organization of American Corporations to Finance Trade Abroad Reported Favorably

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator Spencer, republican of Missouri, laid before the senate Friday what he said was an official copy of China's plea at Versailles against the Shantung settlement. The petition declares Japan's promise to return Kiaochow at some future date is "illusory" in that it gives no assurance that the territory will be returned to China. It is recalled that the treaty stipulating Japan's claims to Kiaochow, which fell behind the famous peace conference of 1919, was made under "intimidation" and that Japan's real aim in entering the war against Germany was to establish her own position in the Far East.

NAVAL TENDER OF NEW PACIFIC ARMADA IS SCENE OF TRAGEDY

STRICKEN VESSEL FIRST TO CROSS OCEAN AFTER DECLARATION OF WAR

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. NEW MEXICO, (AP)—(By wireless and Colon)—Six men were killed today in a boiler explosion on the U. S. S. Melville, a naval tender attached to the Pacific fleet, Captain Twining, the chief of staff, has been advised.

The Melville, the first ship especially designed as a destroyer tender and completed in 1915 was the first large American naval vessel to cross the ocean after the United States entered the war, arriving at Queenstown, Ireland, May 22, 1917, soon after the first patrol of destroyers. She immediately became the flagship of Admiral Sims, commanding the American naval force in European waters and flew her flag until she started back home in January, 1919. Commander John S. Irwin is the Melville's commanding officer.

Governor of Ohio Orders Probe of High Food Prices

COLUMBUS, O., (AP)—Sweeping investigation of food prices in every county in Ohio is requested by a communication sent by Governor James M. Cox today to State Attorney General John G. Rice. Grand Jury investigations, Governor Cox stated, would be begun in some cases without delay. Present high prices, the governor maintains, are precipitating a crisis and unless action, if necessary "drastic" is taken, the situation will become even worse and resulting unrest will increase.

BORAH'S QUERY STIRS JAPANESE

Tokio Officials Express Interest in Stand Taken by the Idaho Senator

TOKIO, (AP)—Kenkichi Yoshizawa, former councillor of the Japanese legation at Peking, left here Wednesday for the Shantung peninsula to conduct a special investigation of conditions there preparatory to negotiations with China for the return of its sovereignty over the territory controlled by Japan under the German peace terms. The negotiations, officials indicated, would be initiated after ratification of the peace treaty by the United States. Officials said they expected would take place before September 15.

Much interest is displayed by officials in the return of the United States senate by Senator Borah of Idaho, regarding the negotiations at the peace conference which resulted in the Shantung agreement. Japan, it is an interest, is having difficulty in inducing China to discuss the Shantung question. Failure of the Chinese delegation at Paris, it is said, to sign the peace treaty, is proving to be a source of embarrassment.

Markets Closed to German Dye-stuffs

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Pending action by congress today a permanent policy on dye stuffs importation, the war trade board will not issue licenses permitting traffic in German products. Disposition of accumulated German stocks was dealt with in the peace treaty, through the reparations commission.

DROUGHT BRINGS FLOCKS OF SHEEP TO FAVORED AREAS

DULUTH, Minn., (AP)—More than 25,000 western sheep are now in territory tributary to Duluth, according to a report from the Duluth chamber of commerce. MONTANA SWITCHMAN WINS REWARD FOR SAVING SHEEP IN A FIRE TRAP

MISSOULA, (AP)—For saving the sheep of a band of 1700 sheep trapped by a forest fire near Alberton, Mont., C. A. Amann, formerly a forest ranger but now employed as a railroad switchman, received from a Portland sheep company, owners of the stock, a reward of $200. It was the job after some had refused it and brought the sheep out of danger unassisted in two days. He held the band quiet in the daylight and fought a way through the forest fire in the cool of the night. A few sheep broke away and were consumed by the fire. Amann lives at Deer Lodge, Mont.

MAIL SERVICE AIRMEN STRIKE END DECLARED

Postoffice Department Says First Walkout of Aviators in History is Settled; Trouble Result of Misunderstanding

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Announcement was made today at the postoffice department that the first strike of aviators in history had been settled. After a conference between Second Assistant Postmaster General Praeger and a representative of the air mail pilots, it was announced that the strike was the result of a misunderstanding.

Six aviators who refused yesterday to take the air with mail planes from New York for Washington and Bellefonte, Pa., and from that latter city to Cleveland, have been dismissed. The other aviators were reinstated to the service yesterday. The two pilots who dismissed led to the strike have not been reinstated. Only three of the six flights on the regular schedule yesterday were missed, it was said.

SENATE GETS CHINA'S PLEA

Senator Spencer Submits Petition Protesting Against Shantung Deal

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Favorable report was made Friday by Chairman McLean of the senate banking committee on the bill by Senator Edge, New Jersey, providing for the organization of an American corporation to extend credit abroad and finance American trade in foreign countries. Senator Edge hopes to call the bill up for consideration in the senate next week. Senator Gronna, republican of North Dakota, who opposed the bill before the committee, announced he would continue the fight in the senate.

Under the measure, the federal reserve board would be authorized to grant charters to corporations having not less than $2,000,000 capital stock. The corporation would not be permitted to transfer its business in this country except that incidental to their international or foreign business. The corporations would be exempt from provisions of the Sherman anti-trust act.

YANKS PROTECT SIBERIAN ROAD

Wilson Explains Reason for Keeping American Troops in Russia

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Wilson Friday advised the senate that the American military expedition in Siberia was there primarily to protect and maintain operation of the Siberian railroad and indicated that the expedition would remain as long as such protection was necessary.

Another purpose of the expedition as outlined by the president was to give relief to the Russian people in Siberia, by supplying them with food and other supplies. Mr. Wilson said there was no intention of interfering with Russian sovereignty.

The retention of American troops to protect the American railroad forces under John F. Stevens, the president's letter stated, is "of vital importance." By agreement with Japan, the president stated, the American troops are to remain there as long as the railroad expedition is engaged in maintaining operation.

The president's communication, dealing at great length the activities of the American military and railroad forces in Siberia, was in response to a resolution of Senator Johnson, republican of California, inquiring regarding the American policy in Siberia and how long it was proposed to retain the troops there.

FOUR DREADNAUGHTS ARE LIFTED THROUGH LOCKS

Panama Canal Proves Naval Value as Pacific Fleet is Passed Through

AHOAHD THE U. S. S. NEW MEXICO, (AP)—Four dreadnaughts of the Pacific fleet, the New Mexico, Arizona, Texas and New York were lifted successfully through the Gatun locks Friday. This was the first attempt to negotiate the waterway with a group of dreadnaughts and tonight the warships lie anchored in the fresh water of Gatun lake, 85 feet above sea level.

The dreadnaughts will resume their trip toward the Pacific ocean Saturday at which time, the Mississippi and Wyoming now coaling and oiling at Colon, will commence the passage of the canal.

Admiral Hugh Rodham, in command of the fleet, was pleased with the success of the first stage of the canal trip. He said: "The difficulty was lifted out of the three locks of Gatun-dam in one hour and seventeen minutes. Now let us go tarpon fishing near the dam-putting dreadnaughts through the canal is too easy."

The old battleships Georgia and Vermont joined the fleet at Colon Friday.

Twenty destroyers went through the canal Thursday, passing through the locks in groups of ten. Captain Twinling, chief of staff, said that the canal had proved its naval value beyond a doubt, as dreadnaughts may be easily moved from the Atlantic to the Pacific with celerity and without trouble, as shown by today's operations. The Pacific fleet will leave Panama for San Diego, Cal., Sunday night.

SEES NO SUGAR SHORTAGE

Equalization Board President Says the Price Should Not Exceed 11 Cents

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The war department has sold to the United States sugar equalization board 37,000,000 pounds of refined sugar, it was announced here by George A. Zabriske, president of the board, who declared there is "abundance" of raw sugar in the country, that retail prices should not exceed 11 cents a pound and that there is no need of hoarding.

Mr. Zabriske declared that the refineries now are working night and day and that their combined output of 41,175,000 pounds will be shipped out into domestic channels of trade. He said, he had not sent a pound of sugar abroad for two weeks. Exportation will not be resumed until American needs are entirely met.

MEXICAN ARRANGING INTERCHANGE OF STUDENTS

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Indicative of an apparent expansive educational policy by the government is the fact that within the past few weeks arrangements have been made for the interchange of students between the National University of Mexico and well known educational institutions in some other countries. Such an arrangement was recently made with the University of Arizona in the United States and it is said that plans have been made for a mutual interchange of students with the University of San Salvador, Chile, Nicaragua and Cuba.

Do you like to buy new tires more frequently or would you rather have twice as much mileage or half as many new tires?

INSYDE TYRES

ANSWER THE TIRE QUESTION

Inner Armor to be inserted between the casing and tube in automobile or motorcycle tires.

Insyde Tyres double the life of a casing by reinforcing it and preventing blow-outs.

Insyde Tyres eliminate 90 per cent of all punctures by preventing sharp articles from reaching the tube.

Insyde Tyres save their small cost in a short time and may be used over and over again in several casings.

Insyde Tyres are made of tough rubber-impregnated fabric, which is practically puncture and blow-out proof when placed inside of an outer casing.

COAST TOWNS PLAN WELCOME OF OWN FLEET

Elaborate Preparations for Reception of Officers and Men of Pacific Armada Being Made Along Seaboard

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Elaborate preparations for the reception and entertainment of the officers and men of the Pacific fleet are being made all along the west coast according to messages to the navy department. Representative William Ketterer will assist the mayor, civic organizations and a citizen's committee at San Diego in welcoming the fleet there about August 7. Los Angeles, Mayor Snyder has named a citizens committee of thirty members to cooperate with civic and state organizations in coordinating plans for the entertainment of the thousands of blue-jackets who will visit the city. Arrangements already have been made for members of the mayor's welcoming committee to meet the fleet at San Diego and make the trip to San Pedro, port of Los Angeles, aboard the New Mexico, Admiral Rodman's flagship.

The chamber of commerce of Santa Barbara has notified Secretary Daniels that an elaborate fête will be held to welcome the fleet there. At San Francisco an effort will be made to edge the reception tender, Admiral Robley D. Evans' globe encircling fleet of 1907-1908. President Wilson is expected to review the fleet and a tribunal entry of Admiral Rodman's forces into the straits through the Golden Gate is planned. In addition to the festivities for the crews of the warships invitations have been sent to Secretary Daniels, his official party and officers of the fleet to attend dinners and receptions at the Chamber of Commerce, the commercial university and other clubs.

It is probable that Mr. Daniels, while in San Francisco, will go to Oakland to inspect the Emergency Fleet corporation shipyard there where three electric vessels are being built. A telegram signed by the mayor and prominent citizens of Monterey has been received at the navy department asking the fleet to touch at Monterey. Probably a number of ships will be sent there to participate in ceremonies commemorating the fact that at Monterey the Stars and Stripes flew for the first time on the Pacific coast.

Officials of Long Beach have informed the department that the famous amusement city expects to be host to all of the officers and men of the fleet and that the "know of the city are at the disposal of Admiral Rodman and his officers and men". Secretary Daniels probably will join in the festivities.

Governor Olcott of Oregon, has urged that the entire fleet visit Portland. A similar invitation has been extended for Seattle by the Seattle Chamber of Commerce (which wired: "People of northwestern states looking forward to opportunity to greet great Pacific fleet as this will be their first chance to do honor to the part played by the American navy in the war. Tens of thousands of people expect to come to Puget Sound to join in this greeting"). Present plans call for the mobilization of the entire fleet in Puget Sound early in September. Most of the ships are expected to be at Bremerton navy yard by September 1.

Secretary Daniels has been extended an invitation to be the guest of Canadian officials at Victoria, British Columbia, and to deliver an address at the Canadian club there. He will also be given an opportunity to inspect the Canadian navy yard and drydock at Victoria.

Mr. Daniels and his party, consisting of his personal aide, Commander D. W. Foye, Rear Admirals Josiah McKean and C. W. Parks, and Commander J. C. Hilton, pay corps, will leave here August 1 and will join the fleet at San Diego, August 7.

Fewer Passengers; Less Money is Lost, Says Tramway Man

San Francisco Witness Tells Commission of Unsatisfactory Situation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The electric railway industry is facing another upward leap of labor costs which will make existing rates "entirely inadequate in most instances," the Federal Electric railway commission was told by Dr. Thomas Conway jr. of the University of Pennsylvania.

"The electric railways are face to face with a world-wide demand for an eight hour day," Dr. Conway said. "The granting of this demand would mean a very material increase in operating costs."

W. E. Green of San Francisco, the first witness from the Pacific coast, declared that because of high operating costs the lines in San Francisco district had lost interest in competition. "We are losing money on every passenger we carry," he said, "and the fewer passengers we carry the less money we will lose."

"What can this commission do" he was asked. "Well, since you have no rate-fixing authority, I think the best thing is to tell the truth to the public and educate it to the real situation in the electric railway industry."

When the Smiths Built in the Suburbs Their Money-Saving Garden

The Smiths had lived in a city apartment many years. More than a fourth of their income was spent each month for rent. The building was not in a desirable neighborhood nor was their apartment at all to their taste. But when moving time came they could find nothing better and so they were forced to stay on, paying rent each month for an apartment which didn't suit them.

More than another fourth of their income went to their table. Mrs. Smith went marketing every day, trying to find crisp vegetables and fresh fruits at reasonable prices, but it seemed impossible. Even though she spent far more than she could afford, she was often forced to buy wilted, stale vegetables, eggs that were far from fresh and poultry of the cold storage variety.

Finally they rebelled. "I'm tired sharing my income with landlords and grocers," said Mr. Smith. "We'll build a home of our own, pay rent to ourselves and have our own garden and a flock of hens."

So for a month the Smiths studied the suburbs of their city until they found the ideal spot—out on the edges where the city joins the country.

Then they called on a well informed friend in regard to the financial end of it and they learned to their unspeakable amazement that they could build a home and pay for it on even smaller monthly payments than they had been putting into rent!

They built without delay—exactly the kind of home they had always dreamed about. For the first time in their married life they were thoroughly happy, contented and comfortable. In addition to this they found—

Their garden reduced their grocery bill to less than one-fourth what it was in the city. Their flock of hens reduced their egg and meat bill to almost nothing. And when the first flakes fell in the fall there were safely laid away in the cellar almost enough vegetables, canned goods and preserved things to see them through the winter. All this at a cost of a little planting and hoeing in the evenings!

What the Smiths did for themselves you can do for yourself. Statistics show that from Twenty to Twenty-five percent of a man's income is spent for rent—On the other hand they also show that it is possible to build a home on monthly payments as low and often lower than this percentage. Such being the case, don't you see that you are actually losing money each day you delay building?

Choose a lot in the suburbs and build now! Nothing can be gained by waiting. Authorities are agreed that you can build as economically now as at any future time that can yet be foreseen.

PIG-JUDGING SCHOOLS HELD

Professor McConnell Visits District to Give Instruction in Choosing Swine

Judging schools, held in the past few days by Professor O. E. McConnell, of the animal industry departments at the state university, will close in this county this afternoon. Professor McConnell left this morning for Berger, to conduct a pig judging class. This afternoon he will go to Piler for a similar purpose. The latter school will be held on the L. B. Otto place, where a large herd of pure-bred stock is kept. Upon conclusion of operations in this district Professor McConnell will go to Rupert, to meet W. E. Moyer, a federal expert of animal husbandry, connected with the Minidoka project. A visit to the H. G. Galt farm will be made. Following this the university man will go to St. Anthony and McCammon to conduct schools in pig judging. Professor McConnell yesterday had a class at the Edwin True place near Murtaugh.

A letter has been received at headquarters of the farm bureau from the county agent at Great Falls, Montana, asking information relating to hay crops in Idaho. The information is requested with a view to deciding upon the best state nearby in which to make purchases of hay for Montana stock. E. E. Crabtree, in charge of the farm bureau employment, reports an ever-growing demand for men for agricultural work. A request was received today for eight men to go to Hohl district farms. The supply of help, thus far, has been equal to the demand.

Mercury Takes Toboggan Down To 90 Degrees

Priests and rents may go up, but the mercury is coming down. Fair and cooler in Idaho, the weatherman promises for Sunday.

Yesterday the temperature in this immediate district fell four degrees, the high for the twenty-four hours ending at sunrise being 90 in the shade. Sleeping conditions were improved, too, the mercury slipping early in the night to 50. There is a slightly agitated condition of the barometer today, suggesting another chance for rain, either tonight or tomorrow.

Curious peregrinations into the country sections immediately contiguous to Twin Falls city reveal an excellent condition of all crops. Wheat harvesting is fairly well in progress, and such fields as are now in stock present an excellent stand and a good berry in the head. Fields investigated yesterday give evidence of from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat yield.

Beans are in blossom, potatoes are luxuriant as to vine growth, and hosts are prouder. The question from now on is one of water only, and it appears that this will be supplied in abundance sufficient to warrant maturity of crop. Orchards are bearing well, and the apple yield, as well as peach, will be at least average. Bonds are poor, both dusty and tough in most directions from town.

FEATHERED PEST GETS A KNOCKOUT

Warfare against the ubiquitous English sparrow has been declared and is being successfully waged by David Ross, a farmer who has a place near Twin Falls city. Mr. Ross has found the sparrow an ever-increasing pest and has inaugurated a scheme of destruction which is meeting with eminent success.

Mr. Ross' plan is much the same as that followed by farmers throughout the entire country in the struggle to overcome the ravaging rabbit. When previously soaked in strychnine, is scattered along the road bordered by wheat fields, the sparrows find this an easy meal, but before their crops are filled and hunger satisfied the poison gets in its deadly work. Mr. Ross tells of having counted 100 dead sparrows along one small sector of a road after one "setting" of the bait.

RECORD TIME MADE IN GETTING DIVORCE

Clarence Davis Granted Default Decree Less Than One Hour After Filing Complaint

Within one hour of the filing of a bill of particulars in the case a divorce was granted Clarence Davis in the District court this morning. Judge W. A. Babcock presided.

In the complaint Clarence Davis alleges that his wife, Sarah Davis, to whom he was married on July 21, 1917, deserted him on April 17, 1918 and has refused to live with him at any time since. Divorce by default was entered. North and Stephan handled the action for the plaintiff.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Babcock heard evidence in five divorce actions, decrees being granted in all. They are: Velma E. Craig was divorced on grounds of cruelty, a decree against the petition, having been overruled by the court.

John E. Swain, who charged Mabel Swain with extreme cruelty, was granted the petition for severance of marital bonds.

Desertion was the principle cause for granting Leslie C. Nelson a severance of matrimonial bonds with Rosetta Nelson.

Presenting evidence supporting her allegation that Frank Darling was already a married man, with an undivorced wife, living at the time he married the complainant, Veronice Darling was given a divorce. A letter from a woman stating she was Darling's true and lawful wife, whom he had deserted, was read in the court.

Lillian J. McMillen presented a divorce from Henry B. McMillen on grounds of non-support.

CHOOSING LINSTROM TOMORROW'S PITCHER

Manager Christian Will Send Lengthy Speed Merchant Against Piler

The battery for tomorrow afternoon's game, according to the lineup of players given out by Manager Tyler Christian today, is Lindstrom and Patton.

Other positions will be filled as follows: Noonan, Jr.; Miller, jr.; Whitler, jr.; Eubanks, Jr.; Hart, jr.; Boll, jr.; Watson, Jr.

While both Miller and Eubanks are new men with the Twin Falls club the former has often been seen in action here. He was with the Piler club and has no peer as short fielder in this league, and probable no superior in Idaho. Eubanks has been playing ball in another section and comes well recommended. He is said to be an accurate infielder, has a rare peg across to third and what, is rated a good hitter.

Tomorrow's game starts at 3 o'clock, according to the schedule. Manager Christian has watched his pitchers work out three times, and feels that they will give a good amount of themselves tomorrow.

"Of course I cannot predict a pennant winning club right off the reel, but I am going out after the hunting. I have players in sight if those now on the club's roster fail. If the fans of Twin Falls will rally to the support of the club we will have a winner. All depends on the fans from this time on, Manager Christian declares.

Loss of Appetite.

As a general rule there is nothing serious about a loss of appetite, and if you skip a meal or only eat two meals a day for a few days you will soon have a relish for your meals when meal time comes. Bear in mind that at least five hours should always elapse between meals so as to give the food ample time to digest and the stomach a period of rest before a second meal is taken. Then if you eat no more than you crave and take a reasonable amount of outdoor exercise every day you will not need to worry about your appetite. When the loss of appetite is caused by constipation as is often the case, that should be corrected at once. A dose of Chamberlain's Tablets will do it, adv.

Miss Anna Westman, Guest of Mrs. Robert Rogerson, Interestingly Recounts Horrors of European Strife after Two Years' Hospital Service Back of Blood-Stained Fields

"What do you suppose was the first thing I did after arriving in New York from France?"

Miss Anna Westman, a Kansas City nurse who served with the British expeditionary forces in France through 24 months of the bitterest strife against the Hun, was the questioner. She appeared to a New York party on Monday, but failed to get a satisfactory one after several attempts.

"Went to a movie picture show," she facetiously answered.

Miss Westman is for the present the house guest of Mrs. Robert Rogerson, a chassante in a nurse's school in Kansas City. She came here almost direct from the eastern port where she recently landed after a voyage of two years, and will remain until she has worn off a part at least of the fatigue and inertia resulting from long and arduous labor with the sick and wounded of the British. She also held care for American soldiers, but mainly was employed in this great work with the British.

Answers Gail

It was in the winter of 1916-17 that Great Britain appealed to the United States government for aid in carrying on the long streams of wounded lying from the battle fronts in Flanders, Belgium and France. In the spring of 1917 the United States government responded with six completely equipped hospitals, thoroughly equipped base hospitals. These were shipped to England in May, 1917, and later crossed over to France. One was made up at Harward, another at New York, and another at Chicago, yet another at Cleveland, Philadelphia made up one and St. Louis sent the sixth.

With the latter hospital company Miss Westman was connected. She was stationed at Baten throughout the period of army service abroad. Each of the six base hospitals was composed of 25 medical officers, 45 trained nurses and 135 enlisted men. Each of the personnel was chosen for the particular aptitude for this calling, mental equipment and training. Recruiting for the St. Louis base hospital corps was not accomplished as efficiently as it should have been, and it became necessary to issue a call on Kansas City for 10 nurses to complete the corps. Miss Westman was one of the volunteers. Thus she left her home for the first 500 nurses sent from the United States to work under the Union Jack of England. Miss Westman was a Red Cross nurse in Kansas City prior to enlistment with the St. Louis base hospital, and with that enlistment she became a military servant.

Story of Fortitude

It is a wonderful story Miss Westman tells—that of her work of rescuing broken men and helping to make them mentally physically fit again. Many chapters could be written of this great labor for humanity, the untiring and unflinching response to duty's call, the sleepless nights and days of vigilance and devotion to the constant menace that swarmed the air; the battle against almost impossible living conditions, and the glorious success achieved in every detail.

Denies Story of Horrors

It is a story that teems with horrors, but it is a modest one as recounted by the nurse. She takes no particular credit for the philanthropy nor attaches honor to herself for sticking to a task that throughout was so distressing in the extreme, exacting, and replete with danger. It is only in passing that she speaks of the ubiquitous menace of the Hun air planes that hung over the scenes of the hospitals, sending their death-dealing engines and spraying the entire country with leaden missiles of destruction. Miss Westman only modestly speaks of the sorest times she has been required to work straight shifts for from 24 to 70 hours at a stretch. She is not mindful of herself when she mentions the necessity of heroism in handling the wounded, the sufferers in an effort to reach places of safety when that stirring and untiring call came night after night to seek the trench cover for safety from violent Hun attacks. It was necessary under those circumstances to work diligently and operate fast, for lives and limbs must be saved.

Labor of Love

That the St. Louis base hospital was administered and managed by women, men and women, she does not mention, but that there never was an instance of failure to comply with all rules and regulations, never a case of insubordination, never a delinquency when duty called, but always undimmed ardor and altruistic consideration.

"It was a labor of love," Miss Westman says, and the British war department records support the statement of officials who came in close contact with the St. Louis base hospital, that its work was well accomplished.

"I have no wish to engage in war field work again, but if war should break I think I should not hesitate an instant. I have learned by experience what sacrifices must be made, and someone must make them," Miss Westman declares.

Discipline at the base hospital was as rigid as in any other section or department of the British army, Miss Westman explains, and confirming this she points out that the penalty for failure to arise at night, dress in an especially provided suit, and seek shelter in a safety trench upon the first warning of an impending airplane raid, was a court martial. We injuries sustained by the person failing to find shelter, that person would be formally accused of causing a self-inflicted wound, an offense meriting death.

The St. Louis base hospital had no such offenders, and, according to Miss Westman, none such was found in any of the American hospital departments.

Entertained by Nobility

The St. Louis Base hospital reached Liverpool from New York after an uneventful voyage across the bounding Atlantic, about the middle of May, 1917. The company landed at Liverpool, and on one night was a guest, moving on to London where the full ten days were spent seeing historic places in the ancient town and being entertained by British nobility.

"It was glorious the way those British received us, special attention being bestowed upon the nurses. We were treated as if we were the American nobility as it were," Miss Westman explains.

The hospital attaches were courteously and graciously received by Americans and British, and wonderfully entertained by Sir Thomas Lytton while in London. "They were delightful days, and we all regretted the approach of the time when we had to leave," Miss Westman says.

The hospital company went across the channel from Southampton, landing at L'Havre, and entrained for Rouen, to spend some of the most historically important days of the war. The company was at Rouen operating the hospital when it heard the pitiless appeal of Sir Douglas Haig in America: "Send us six hundred British trucks to the wall; when are you coming?"

Become British

The St. Louis Base hospital, afterwards to be designated as British hospital No. 2, was located on a race course alongside of two others, an Australian and a British hospital. A few wounded American soldiers were confined in the personnel, the rest of the shelter being tents. At that time, to use the phraseology of the colonel in charge, it was pretty much for the hospitals as there was no living room in the hospital. The hospital had only 600 patients at the time.

"We were civilian nurses and know military terms at all when we took up our duty in England," she explains. She added, however, that military terms and lingo were soon learned and the entire American contingent became almost British in a month.

There was a British nurse regularly in the ward at the time Miss Westman took up the work, activities at the hospital being entirely devoted to British and colonial wounded. Speaking with regard to the British nurse, she says she found him to be in every sense a man at all times, polite and courteous, and no matter how seriously wounded, British officers were consistently addressed the American nurses as "Sister."

How much truth is there in the statements regarding here that the average soldier, both British, French and American, wanted to be fixed up quickly and get back into the fray? Miss Westman was asked.

It was a startling and almost iconoclastic answer she gave.

"There is little truth in that statement, and I cannot understand why it should ever have been made. It is nearly wholly false, for when a Tommy was badly hurt all he thought of was to get back to get back to the trench, but never to the trenches. He had had enough, and I am pretty sure that this is true of the Americans and the French as well, although I did not meet many of them in hospital."

General Pershing was not over there when the first hospital assistance was sent across. Miss Westman had been there about a year before Pershing and the early contingents of Americans arrived.

Bloody Drive Starts

The "Pershing drive" started September 26, 1918. Miss Westman was on duty that night. Every inch of space in the base hospital was filled before morning dawned. Rouen was the nearest point to Amiens, against which the Hun centered his heavy attack. If, so-called, Miss Westman says, as though Amiens must fall, and in that case there was nothing for it but to evacuate Rouen. That army authorities expected the fall of Amiens is confirmed by the fact that they kept conveyances for land and water at the command of the hospital officials at all times until it was definitely determined that the Hun had been repulsed and his efforts to reach Paris vain.

While speaking in terms of highest praise for all military and war department activities, American, British, and records industry comment on the efforts put forth by the American War department to get masses of troops and aides over there, there appears a note of disappointment in future days, looking at the systems of the two big English speaking governments in recognizing the services of their women in the war, in contrast to that of the U. S.

English Nurses Commissioned

English nurses received commissions in addition to the stipend they were decorated for exemplary and extraordinary effort, and they will have something to remind them of their accomplishments in the greatest of all blood-stained fields in future days, looking for a moment for posterity of the tremendous fight against militarism and autocracy. The American nurse will have nothing. Explaining the disappointment Miss Westman tells recently of an act of congress depriving American nurses of right or title to service commissions or decorations.

Twenty-five officers who went over with the St. Louis base hospital all received war department recognition. American nurses in British service were paid $60. per month for the first year's service, finally getting $75. An allowance of $18 was made by the British government.

Praise for Chief

Name Taylor, chief nurse at British hospital No. 2, is given credit by Miss Westman for extraordinary ability, managerial and administrative ability.

"If ever a woman deserved recognition by a government for extraordinary ability it is Miss Taylor, and the certainty that more tact and diplomacy in handling the complex affairs and solving the problems of the hospital than all 25 officers put together," Miss Westman avers.

Through careful and economical administration 2000 francs were saved from the nurses mess fund. This money was drawn on only in case of emergency, and proved of abundant blessing to the nurses and soldiers alike.

Miss Westman tells of a glorious celebration at the hospital at Christmas time, 1917. Christmas stockings were made for every patient in the camp, and these were filled with good things sent to the nurses from home. There was caroling in which the wounded Tommies themselves joyfully joined. The next morning the hospital got a convoy of 36 wounded. The nurses set to and made Christmas stockings for these and presented them filled to brimming.

Early in the spring Tommies reaching the hospital told of British cannon standing hub to hub waiting for the Germans to come.

Falacious Optimism

"They can't break through now," they said, but they reckoned unwisely for the boche did break through and reached within four miles of Amiens, thus wiping out in a few days what it had taken England and allies three years to win.

This drive lasted three weeks and the Rouen hospital handled from 500 to 700 wounded patients daily. Hospital boats coming down the Seine took one of a similar number of patients taken from the hospital to make room for the incoming hordes of broken men.

In this drive, concentrated against the one point of attack, all the German fighters from the Eastern front, were employed. Great Britain had drawn on her resources of men, and was sending masses of 45 years of age into the trenches to help stem the tide of German invasion. The battle raged on a 50 mile front with Germans so thickly assembled that there seemed to be a living wall of them everywhere. On April 12 Pershing offered his small contingent of 200,000 Americans on the sacrificial altar. The smoke from their bullets sent British soldiers on points where gaps needed to be filled. This was the beginning of the end, but there was still lots of hard fighting seen that summer.

Steady Flow of Bleeding Men

During this great rush, when bleeding men were coming to the hospital in steady flow, nurses had no time to think of rest or extended respite. They worked on and on, scarcely taking time for refreshment, and none for sleep until exhaustion overcame them. The influx continued so fast that the supply of clean rest or extended respite worked out. There was no time to launder them. Patients were then placed on bare mattresses for care.

Hospital Bombed Nightly

In the month of May 1918 the hospital was bombed nearly every night. Sixty American troops were stationed six feet outside the huts, and were literally awed by billowy mud.

Rouen has a population of 175,000. It was a French city built in the 12th century. All of its stained glass windows, tapestry and hangings were removed during the Amiens drive. British wounded able to walk shortly after the end of the war started the race track grandstand.

Yanks Come

It was in June that year that the American strength began to be felt. Yankee marines had given a glorious account of themselves at Epres, and other American troops were starting something in the Argonne. When July 4 came round a Yankee brass band showed up at the Cleveland hospital playing "The Stars and Stripes" every nation on earth almost, except Hun and Hun allies, participated. The band stayed three days, the celebration lasting the entire time.

It was in September and October that the first Yankee wounded came to the British hospital. "These fellows seemed veritable giants alongside of the smaller and emaciated men we had been receiving up to that time. We had to extend their beds, using boxes and low tables to hang their feet on," Miss Westman tells of the entire time.

With the signing of the armistice the Germans opened their prison gates and let loose a flood of emaciated, weakened, dispirited prisoners of war, many of whom were almost unable to stand. Some managed to reach Rouen. Many who in health had weighed from 150 to 200 pounds then weighed no more than 70 pounds. Hundreds died seeking shelter of British camps and other havens. Ninety per cent of those released are said to suffer from various stages of tuberculosis contracted in German prison camps.

An Eye For an Eye

"The Germans are, or have been, crying for mercy. They gave their prisoners none; they deserve none," is Miss Westman's summarization of the situation.

On January 21, 1919 the attaches of British hospital No. 2, the former St. Louis base hospital, were released from duty after having, in a period of 18 months, cared for 60,428 wounded British and American nurses. It had become a problem by this time how to get something for the wounded to eat. The American women then became kitchen police and waited on the Yankee wounded, for a period of 12 days. Then homebound.

California Senator Says Japanese Violate "Gentlemen's Agreement"

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senator Phelan of California today announced he had admitted to the state department information he had received showing that the Korea, a Japanese liner, had recently brought 150 "picture" or proxy brides to California for husbands who had never seen them. Other information submitted to the department, the California senator said, showed the arrival of a number of the "brides" at Seattle, Wash. Immigration, Senator Phelan said, amounts to defeat in effect of the "gentlemen's agreement."

Rabbits Killed By Thousands

Slaughter of at least 25,000 rabbits this season is the record established by employees of the Roseworth Ranch company. A count of the daily destruction was kept by Superintendent Donald McLean, formerly county agent at Twin Falls, who explains that most of the destruction has been wrought through the medium of strychnine poisoning.

In administering the poison, Mr. McLean says, green alfalfa was sprinkled with the poison. The ranch company also used traps set in fences in making rabbit drives, and two sharpshooters are now spending the major portion of their time exterminating rabbits by means of the shotgun.

Lucille Perkins, a little girl 11 years of age, aided by her two dogs, is credited with having destroyed 195 rabbits in the past two weeks.

Mr. McLean says this steady warfare against the rabbit pest has resulted in saving the company's crops, while those of neighboring ranchers have been almost totally destroyed.

A report from the Owyhee Sheep company, received at headquarters of the farm bureau, tells of the destruction by that company of 10,000 rabbits recently.

GAME LAW BROKEN: THREE MEN FINED

John Claybury and Sons of Jerome District, Found Guilty of Shooting Ducks

John Claybury and his two sons, of the Jerome district, the men having been found with wild ducks in their possession, according to word brought to Twin Falls last night by J. P. A window placard "For Rent" does not cost much—a card. But to rely upon it to find you a tenant may be a very costly policy.

Worry Destroys Working Power

Worry and fear are life destroyers. You cannot get fat, rich, or be happy while worry preys on your mind and takes all the joy out of life.

Nine times out of ten lack of money or something money could help to secure is the cause of worry.

A little reserve in the First National Bank will remove one and usually the chief cause of worry. And it will be safe from burglars and robbers.

Y. M. C. A. IN ENGLAND BEATS HOTEL PROFITEER

Makes Sensitive Vacations Possible for Hundreds of Families

LONDON. (AP) (Correspondence)—
Americans who find the cost of vacations so high that they cannot afford this year to go to the mountains or seashore will be interested in the way in which the Young Men's Christian Association is attempting to solve the problem in England.

Some profiteers have made the vacations so expensive for the average English family that thousands who before the war sought recreation on the east coast of England were unable to do so this year. The hotel have jumped their prices to unheard of figures.

The Y. M. C. A. is offering these families bed and breakfast in the end of most resorts at $4.20 a week for each person and it proposes to furnish nurses and accommodations for children so that mothers can have a real holiday.

To accomplish this the association rented a hotel at Felixstowe and another at Southend and established a tent camp at Hecere Bay, equipping them with such furniture as it was able to quickly obtain. All valuables must be left at home and only old clothes can be worn.

No charge is being made for children less than one year old and reduced prices are quoted for those of less than eight years. This permits a family in ordinary circumstances to enjoy the holiday season at much the same price as prevailed before the war.

Y. M. C. A. leaders are planning to extend their vacation accommodations to other shore resorts and to use for this purpose two military camps.

The Zuyder Zee.
The Zuyder zee, or Southern sea, was formerly a lake surrounded by marshes, its present extent being the result of dredging in the thirteenth century. Its area is about 2,000 square miles, and the average depth from 10 to 15 feet.
The Hollanders have reclaimed a million acres from sea, lake and river since the sixteenth century.

their land therefore the public is hereby

CORN AND CHICKENS REACH HOME MARKET

Prime Homegrown Products are Displayed at Public Bazaar—Demand Excessive

The initial stock of spring chickens appeared on the public market this morning. The supply was not particularly extensive but the quality was good and demand far in excess of the supply.

In addition to the chickens, gardeners offered today the first green corn of the season. This is home grown and said to be of prime quality for this period of the season.

Pears, Peaches and Apples were abundant when the market place opened today, as was also straw and comb honey. None of the latter is this year's crop, however.

There is no dearth of small vegetables and garden produce at the market today, the supply being an ever increasing one. Young onions, radishes, summer squash and the like are abundant. Potatoes, of excellent size and quality, are plentiful. More trucksters occupied stands at the market place today. Promise is given that in the future more attention is to be paid to poultry and dairy products department.

OIL COMPANY'S OFFICE ROBBED

Small Amount of Cash and Some Checks Taken from Safe During Nocturnal Visit

When officials of the Allen Oil company reached the office, near the O. S. L. freight department, this morning, found somebody had been there before them. The place was broken with papers, documents and other records, and the safe door stood open. Investigation of the safe proved that about $10 in change and checks had been carried off. Clues, it is said, are absent.

Entrance to the oil company's office was made by raising one of the front windows, a small bar, of similar impromptu being employed in the "time saving" operation. The office safe, which is not locked by combination, was opened and what valuables were contained in the locked drawer were taken. Manager Harry Allen assumes the job was done by outsiders.
