American Relief Officers Report Situation in Budapest Quiet, But Transportation is Being Held Up

NATIONS' UNION PLAN IS FORMALLY DENIED

Entente Representatives in Hungary are Said to Be in Full Accord with New Government

BERNE, (P)—An official Rumanian statement declares that reports of excesses by Rumanian troops in Hungary are false, according to a dispatch received from Bucharest.

GENEVA, (P)—The inter-allied conference at Budapest, after concluding with Archduke Joseph and Premier Friederich has forwarded to M. Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, a report to the effect that the entente representatives are in full accord with new Hungarian government, according to Vienna dispatches received here.

PARIS, (P)—The report that a union between Hungary and Rumania in the form of a dual kingdom was being planned has been formally denied, a Rumanian dispatch received here today says.

A Rumanian bureau is maintained at home and it is thought here that the denial may come from that source.

Hope for New Government

The Rumanians in Budapest are allowing the Hungarians only six hundred gendarmes to patrol the city, according to news from American officers there. These officers think that a greater force is necessary if the new government is to be enabled to effect an organization and function properly. The Americans insist upon the view that the government must have force to preserve order outside the city as well as within it.

If the relief measures planned are carried out to effect the American officers give it as their opinion that the new government will be able to perfect its organization.

The American advisers confirm reports that the Rumanians are gathering up all kinds of animals and all sorts of supplies to be sent to Rumania.

Rumanian Attitude Intensifies

While the supreme council of the peace conference held at statics meeting today the members of the council discussed the Hungarian situation informally. The conversations among the members bore more upon the question of Rumania's attitude toward the status of the new Hungarian government, as the former phase of the situation is interesting the conference more than any other.

Dispatches from American relief officers who have been cooperating with British and Italian representatives in Hungary report that Budapest is quiet, but that all transportation, including that on the Danube, is being held up. As this involves great danger of famine the allied officials have appealed to the government to lift the embargo placed by the Rumanians on supplies, as well as all other embargoes on food transportation and distribution affecting the region.

The members of the council also had for their consideration a message from Archduke Joseph, head of the new Hungarian government, announcing the intention of his regime to execute the terms of the armistice and asking recognition and authority to send delegates to Paris.

Ex-Emperor Refuses Crown

Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary was beseeched by Magyar patriots to mount the Hungarian throne when the fall of the Peidl ministry was determined upon, according to a dispatch from Zurich. The former monarch refused on the ground that having been king and emperor, he could not go down the social scale and be content simply as a king's crown. SHOPMEN'S LEADERS ARE OPTIMISTIC
MANY STRIKERS REMAINING OBSTINATE

While Some Signs of Improvement are Indicated by Reports from Central West Points, Others Show Men at Some Divisional Points Disinclined to Heed Advice of President Wilson and Officers to Return to Work-Pending Wage Settlement

CHICAGO, (P)—While some signs of a strike of federated railroad shopmen were reported from central west points, other divisional points the men were disinclined to heed the advice of President Wilson and their officers to return to work, pending a wage settlement west and far west came reports that the men had decided not to return to work until their wage demands were met.

Limit Freight Shipments

No freight was received by the Chicago and Northwestern for points west of Clinton, Ia., and the Washabed freight except to points on its own lines. On other roads, freight regulations incident to the strike were on the New England lines.

R. H. Aikman, northwest regional director of railroads, said: "The situation appears extremely discouraging. We are hopeful that the president's action will make the men realize how ill advised their course has been. There is no immediate occasion for the public to be alarmed. The trains that have been cancelled are those which may be easily dispensed with and the purpose is merely to keep the engines in repair for hauling foodstuffs, milk and ice, in the event of a really critical situation."

Halo Holden, central western regional director, took a similar view.

Count of Strikers Varies

Although officials of the Chicago

district council of federal railway shopmen insist that 275,000 men are out and that not more than 25,000 have returned since President Wilson declared the demand of the men for increased wages would not be considered until they return to work, railroad officials declare that the total number of the men on strike does not exceed 40,000. They say that the men are returning in small groups throughout the country but are unwilling to estimate the number who have gone back since President Wilson issued his edict.

Officers of the international unions who came to Chicago yesterday to urge the men to return to work continued their efforts today. Hundreds of telegrams were sent to cities in the middle west and south, ordering the strikers to go back to their posts.

The strike called August 1 by officials of the Chicago district of the federated railway shopmen's union has not yet been called off, it is said. Labor officials of that organization declined to discuss the situation further than to deny that large numbers of the men have returned to work.

Mexican Churchman
Criticizes Styles

Reads Open Letter to Parishioners Declining Against Modern Extremes

MEXICO CITY, (P)—Modern styles of dress and coiffure were the subject of much criticism recently by Doctor Jose Moray del Rio, archbishop of Mexico who read an open letter to his parishioners declining against extremes in toilet and asking mothers to refrain from appearing in exaggerated costumes and from allowing their children to do so. The archbishop termed modern styles "an advance toward paganism" and recommended that in church at least the women return to the use of the veil and mantilla.

Orphans and School Children Eat Fill of Ice Cream and Cake

BELGRADE, Serbia, (P)—Ten thousand orphans and school children assembled the other day at Kalemegdan, the beautiful park on the heights above the Save river, to eat their fill of ice cream, cake and cherries and chocolate as guests of the American Red Cross and the American relief committee. The American colony bought every ounce of ice cream in town, enough to give a heaping plateful to each child. A huge wagonload of cherries was loaded one of the booths. The park was bright with American and Jugoslav flags.

VIOLENCE IS NO
PART OF LABOR
PART OF ROAD PLAN

Leaders of Fifteen Employes' Organizations Unite in Statement Setting Forth Views on Solution of Problem

HITCHCOCK IS OPPOSED TO TRI-PARTITE SCHEME

Declares Congress is Not Justified in Enacting Such Radical Legislation without Mandate from People

WASHINGTON, (P)—Leaders of the fifteen organizations of railroad employees united today in a definite action "that they had no desire and have had none, to 'impress upon the public by violence or by threat' their proposal that the railroads be nationalized under a tripartite control."

Declaring that the requests of the men that living costs be reduced or their wages increased was aside from the question of the future disposition of the railroad problem, the labor leaders said that if President Wilson and congress could not meet this request the men would "have to try to find another solution."

Warning Editors Statement

While the labor leaders did not mention the president's address to congress yesterday, it was the general belief that their statement resulted from his warning to the labor world that strikes would only make present conditions worse and that men who sought to employ threats or coercion were only "preparing their own self-destruction."

To prevent any misunderstanding as to the policy of the organized railroad control, the statement said: "We unite in a definite assertion that we have no desire and have had none to impress upon the public, by violence or by threat our proposal that the railroads be nationalized under tripartite control."

Two distinctly separate considerations now confront the people, the wage requirements of the railroad employees, and the Sims bill embodying the railroad employees' plan for reorganization of the railroads.

In the matter of wages we have submitted an eminently just proposition. We have said that if we are to continue to live as Americans, we must live and are to care for our families as American families should be cared for, the profiteers must be restrained or our wages increased. Every fair-minded state and every intelligent housewife will recognize the reasonableness of this request. If congress and the president cannot meet this request, it is still a living question and we shall have to try to find another solution.

Appeal to Statesmanship

This, however, bears in no way upon our sponsorship of the Sims bill. We do hold to our conviction that the railroad employees are in no mood to consider themselves guilty to the autocratic control of financial dictators, but

POLICEMEN AND TROOPS
TAKEN FROM STOCKYARDS

Packers Insist Large Plants in Operation Though at Half Capacity

CHICAGO, (P)—Five hundred policemen, 250 deputy sheriffs and the last of the federal troops were withdrawn from the stockyards today in the hope that the striking employees of the packers might be induced to return to work.

About 1000 patrolmen and 200 deputy sheriffs still are on duty in the vicinity of the stockyards.

President Martin Murphy of the stockyards labor council said the men would not return to work until every guarantee had been withdrawn and permission is granted labor organizers to select the 3000 negroes employed at the plants.

Union officials declare that, of the 43,550 employed in the stockyards, 36,000 are being paid for their idleness that not more than 10,000 are on strike. They reported that the large plants still are in operation, but admit they are not running more than 50 per cent of capacity.

GERMAN'S GOVERNMENT
UNCOVERS STRIKE MOVE

Discovery is Made Just When Tensions Believe Themselves in Situation Superior to Rest of World

BERLIN, (P)—The government announces the discovery of an extensive strike movement in the movement, which will lead to a general railroad strike on September 1. Spartacist and communist agitators are charged with being the leaders of the movement, which the government is using every means to suppress.

The discovery was made just when German officials were boasting that while the rest of the world stood and struck, "the official statement says."

TRAINED INVESTIGATORS IN SEARCH FOR MEN GUILTY OF INFLATING FOOD COST

Attorney General Orders All Special Agents of Department of Justice to Drop Other Business and Assist District Attorneys in Uncovering Evidence of Profiteering in Foodstuffs and Other Necessities

CONGRESS READY TO ACT PROMPTLY
ON PRESIDENT'S RECOMMENDATIONS

WASHINGTON, (P)—All special agents of the department of justice over the country have been ordered to assist district attorneys in uncovering evidence of profiteering in foodstuffs and other necessities.

Attorney General Palmer's instructions were that the special agents should drop everything but the most pressing cases now pending and devote their entire attention to assisting in the campaign to reduce the cost of living. The result will be to put hundreds of trained investigators in the search for men who have inflated prices exorbitantly.

Storage Laws First

Hearings on new old storage legislation recommended by the president will begin before the house agricultural committee Monday, Chairman Haugen announced today. It is understood that the measure is supposed to limit the time in which supplies might be held and compel disposal of them after the permitted period.

Republican Leader Mondell declared in the house today that congress was ready to act promptly on such legislation as was needed to carry out the suggestions made yesterday by President Wilson for reducing the high cost of the food and quick consideration of the house, he added.

Further appropriations suggested by the president will be made quickly, Mr. Mondell said.

In regard to legislation, Mr. Mondell said some of it would be enacted promptly while that affecting "profoundly the policies of the government" would be debated. All would receive the active and quick consideration of the house, he added.

Adjourns Until Tuesday

Mr. Mondell suggested that the house adjourn until Tuesday because of a "lack of imperative business." This led to a protest from the democrats after former Speaker Clark had announced that every democratic member would be notified to return to Washington as quickly as possible.

Representative Mann, republican, Illinois, said members should "go home and rest their spirits," adding that it was "not in the interest of the country to have the house in session."

After further debate adjournment was taken until Tuesday.

The senate was not in session today, but the president's recommendations for legislation to regulate the interstate shipment of foodstuffs of life were considered at a conference of members of the senate interstate commerce committee. Chairman Cummins announced that the bill would be brought before the subcommittee which would be empowered to frame tentative bills covering such recommendations of the president as might be approved.

After the explosion flames shot a hundred feet in the air while charred grain and wreckage were blown a mile and a half from the spot.

Included among the missing are eight members of the crew of the Quebec.

DAVIS APPEARS ON GOVERNORS' MEET PROGRAM

Idaho and Nebraska Executives

MADISON, Wis., (P)—State budget, the growth and consolidation of state administrative boards, and the expansion of the national guard system as a basis for national defense, promise to be among the principal topics to be discussed at the eleventh annual session of the governors' conference, according to Secretary Miles C. Riley of this city. Mr. Riley has just announced the complete details of the conference program, the chief features of which will be presented in Salt Lake City, August 18 to 24.

The sessions will open in the Mormon tabernacle, Monday, August 15, with addresses of welcome by Governor Simon Bamberger of Utah, and Mayor W. Mont Perry of Salt Lake City. To these Governors John G. Towse, Jr., of Delaware, will respond.

RUMANIA HAS DEFIANT VIEW

Tells Allies Representatives Occupation of Budapest His Affair

BUDAPEST, (P)—General Holban, Rumanian commander in charge of the occupation of Budapest, told the allies' representatives who inquired why he did not obey the wireless orders of the peace conference that he was not obliged to consider them as authentic, that the occupation of Budapest would continue as long as he thought necessary. He added that any convocations of a diplomatic character must be carried on with the Rumanian government at Bucharest.

The Rumanians are carrying out requisitioning of supplies demanded of the Hungarian government in the armistice terms. Cattle, hogs and chickens are being seized in the villages.

Complaints about the shooting of some civilians were said to have been answered by Rumanian officers with the admission that the killings were prompted by revenge and that the Rumanians would seize all the valuables they could find.

A desire for revenge on the communists has resulted in a certain number of disorders. A number of such outbreaks have occurred in Budapest.

Brief Sport Bits

White Sox still splitting with the Jewly Athletics.

Attention, Razz Berry—Positively can't stand for "Bitch" Byler, a Salt Lake catcher, pitching for Sacramento, for pitcher Maltb of the Coyotes, catching for the Bees. It ain't done in official baseball society.

The Reds by defeating the Phillies yesterday, added a mile to their first place holdings, and pulled further away from the weakening Giants, when the Cubs defeated the latter 3 to 0.

From fifth place to first in the American league is not a far cry. There is only a distance of 72 points.

Kerns, the snippy kid who gallivanted about the "short field for Burley" when that team was here to administer a catastrophe to the Greys recently, is not a regular Burley player. He was loaned for the trimming occasion by the Idaho Falls club.

Neither is Outfielder Cora a regular Burley man. This chap is a team mate of Kerns.

While such interchange of players may be a good financial thing for the men themselves it is not done in real baseball circles and should not be permitted in this company.

Still trying to put over the rejuvenation proposition for Twin Falls team.

Here's hoping.

Sam Smiley, agebrush sage, says: "My idea of a idealist and the name as what my lawyer chaps say is Hank Ford has. My notion of a idealist is a fellow what thinks he kin get 20 miles outen a gallon of gas."

Bill Clymer has done just what we expected of him; resigned as manager of the Seattle club. Charlie Mullen is now in charge of the team.

Clymer failed miserably as a manager in the Pacific league, and showed none of the acumen credited him in eastern baseball circles.

The former Seattle boss proved himself eccentric and sort of rattle-brained never giving even star players a proper opportunity to get settled into a real playing stride. He cannot enough start to compose an entire club. All these are going well for other clubs.

In 1911 Carl Mays was arrested with a lot of hoboes in a box car at Price, Utah. He was booked as a ball player pitcher, but was not arraigned on the charge. The Price club wanted a pitcher, and Mays was released to show what he had. He had it all right, and in his first game he stopped Kenilworth 2 to 1, allowing the opposition but one blow.

Only four games a month were played in the Pacific league, and Carl got $125 per month for twirling. From Price he went to Boise and later to Portland in the Northwestern league, then up higher.

John McLooney, manager of the Butte club, declined to give Mays a chance on his team because the pitcher is a blonde and John believes only in brunettes.

Decision to Join Moscow Inter-

Dissension

LONDON, (P)—There has been a split in the Norwegian labor party after its decision to affiliate with the Moscow international group, according to information received here. A new democratic group composed of moderates and headed by Mr. Buen, president of the storthing, has been formed in opposition to the party.

The labor movement in Norway is organized somewhat on the lines of the British movement. There is a trade union organization, including all the skilled unions with a total membership of about 108,000. This guards the economic interests of the workers.

Further political questions are dealt with by the Socialist party or Norwegian labor party which, it is stated, has a paying membership of 94,000 members.

Economical Luxury for Ford Cars

That's what you find in the tire Goodrich has built especially for Ford cars. "The Goodrich 375."

Bigger in size, burlier in strength—31 x 34 inches—with an inch larger on the circumference, and thicker in the cross section than ordinary size Ford tires, it makes a different car out of your Ford, different looking and different riding. The added class and efficiency quickly cancel the slightly higher cost.

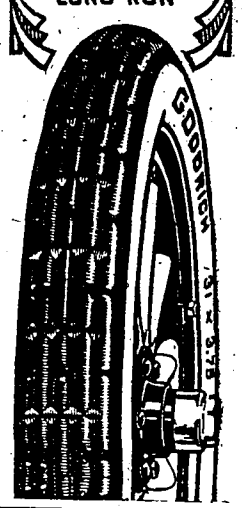

Three-Seventy-fives, "the Goodrich 375," are the standard in their class by which other tires are measured. To learn the value of any tire, square it up to the Goodrich Square of Goodrich List Prices, and the Goodrich More-Mileage Adjustment—6,000 miles for Safety Treads; 8,000 for Silvertown Corda.

The comparison of the mileage adjustment, and the price, tells you why experienced tire users stick to Goodrich Tires.

FINDING THE CURE

Sale of the war department's surplus food stocks at prices quoted of 25 cents a pound for bacon, five cents a pound for baked beans, etc., it has been figured out, cannot benefit the consumer in the Twin Falls district parcel post zone, because the parcel post charges from Omaha or San Francisco added to the low price quoted will bring the cost here up to a point higher than already prevailing prices in Twin Falls for these commodities.

It would be unfair to assume, however, because this effort to cut living costs is non-effective so far as the people here are concerned, that the activities of the government tending toward a solution of the problem have been wholly without benefit in this locality. The announcement made yesterday by local restaurant men of reduction in the price of meat orders served by them unquestionably traces its point of origin to agitation of the high costs problem, and it is no doubt the fact, as stated by one of the restaurateurs, that the reduction is a result of "somebody higher up getting cold feet."

It is not improbable that if other instances exist here where a slash into the margin of profit can be made without entailing prospect of failure for the business concerned, similar reductions may be effected in advance of any further definite move to curb too large profits.

In the light of President Wilson's advice to housewives to exercise "a greater vigilance, a more thoughtful economy," the official author of the statement issued on the Fourth of July by the department of agriculture urging patriotic citizens to cease restricting their consumption of beef and lamba last prices to the unneeded producer suffer a further decline, is apt to face the necessity for prescribing another course of treatment. The advice went out under the stamp of the department of agriculture was to the effect further that there should be set up an elaborate system of federal, state and municipal regulation of the whole meat trade so that, as the Saturday Evening Post says it, "the paternal hand of the government will be fixing prices, profits and distribution from the moment the socialized steer lands in a stockyard until the last round steak of him has been delivered to the village customer's kitchen door."

Insofar as the federal war time food control act works to the discouragement of hoarding and profiteering through provision of effective punishment for conviction of these offenses, the American people are heartily with the president in his recommendation for the extension of this legislation to peace time operation.

Any provision of this or other legislation that might set up a price fixing machinery, however, is not likely to enlist such unanimous support. It is evident to most people that most satisfactory results are to be obtained through unhampered operation of the essential economic law of supply and demand, and price fixing is as truly a violation of this principle as are the tactics of speculators boarding foods for higher prices to be paid when hunger-impelled strikes obtain higher wages for this purpose.

The fallacy of setting a price for one commodity and at the same time attempting no sort of regulation against other commodities is very evident in the just complaints now being registered against the government guaranteed price for wheat. If convinced that the law of supply and demand is working freely, most people will accept the results without complaint. A most efficacious remedy for the existing situation seems to have been suggested by the president in his recommendation that the fullest measure of publicity be given the several steps in the production, preparation and distribution of food products.

The people are competent to render a verdict on the facts thus presented and to pronounce judgment in the case.

Today's Markets

Grain and Provisions
CHICAGO, (AP)—Government estimates predicting that damage to grain crops in the last month has been more severe than was generally supposed led to a sharp advance of prices today for corn. Including the corn crop, the aggregate loss during July was figured at 1.75 per cent. This and other bullish aspects of the government report absorbed the attention of traders and made all else subordinate for the time being. Opening quotations which ranged from $1.92 to 1.92 1/2 and December $1.52 to 1.53, were followed by decided gains all around.

Despite some reactions due to profit taking by holders, the market in the later dealings rose higher than before. Prices closed strong at four cents to 0.10 net advance, with September $1.91 to 1.94 1/2 and December $1.50 1/2 to 1.52.

Oats ascended with corn. After opening unchanged to 1/2 higher, including September at 74 1/2 to 74 3/4, the market continued to rise. Provisions, which were bid up by the bulge in the value of grain. Trading, however, lacked volume.

ST. JOHNS, N. It was announced that the cruiser Dauntless, which preceded the Renown, was to arrange for the prince's reception here, would cruise about the Brand Banks for the purpose of locating ice and would then proceed to escort the fleet to the harbor. Several unusually large bergs have been reported in the vicinity of shipping lanes during the week.

MOTHER KNEW
By JOSEPHINE MURPHY.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
"James is at such an uninteresting age—thirteen, you know."
"Is just the same as James. So interesting and always in the way."
James, sitting on the back doorstep, heard the words and a dark shadow mounted his brow. The answer of his sister's companion killed a budding romance that had but lately entered his heart.

He arose and walked down the path out into the broad sunny avenue. His sister's words came as a climax to an already unhappy week, and mother, his real friend, was up in her room, with a new little head resting in the curve of her arm.

"A boy!" James' heart had leaped when he heard the words; but now it was filled with pity. Inevitably it would have to reach the uninteresting age. He kicked a pebble viciously. Today was Saturday; baseball day, when he and his friends would meet and play day. Early in the morning he had entered the kitchen and asked Mary when the cake would be done. She had muttered something about youngsters "always on hand."

Then he had met his brother John, to whom he had a deep feeling of admiration.

"Hello, son!" John's greeting had been. James had tried to laugh at the joke, but a little lump in his throat checked the laugh. Next he met his father, and he had for a moment forgotten his troubles. Father had given him the money, then looked him over, with a slow, disconcerting gaze.

"You must hurry up, James, and grow to an age when you'll be able to earn your own allowances," said the father, but James had swallowed another hard lump in his throat.

He wandered back to the house and into the library, where sat his sixteen-year-old sister, Ruth, and her chum, Irene. James sat down, uninvited, to be sure. He admired Irene, and liked to watch her long tresses. Ruth gave him one look, then:

"James! You haven't polished your shoes this morning," she said. His cheeks burned, for Irene's eyes had followed Ruth's glance at the muddy shoes. He went out and out down the back street. Then his sister's voice reached his ears.

"Uninteresting," "I wonder just when a fellow becomes uninteresting," he said. He started to walk down the street. He was glad he met none of the boys. He wanted to be alone. He did not want to see George, who was only thirteen, and probably uninteresting. His allowance jingled in his pocket, and with the jingle came a thought. He wouldn't touch a penny of it. He would earn his own money and pay for his shoes.

James reached the grocery store and went to the proprietor, who knew him.

"Do you want a boy to deliver goods?" he asked. "You're just in time, James. We're short of help. Get on that wagon going out. I'll pay you five dollars a week. You can start on the wagon started at a mid-pace. He had some difficulty to maintain his seat on the rear end. Finally it stopped with a lurch.

"Here, boy," the driver commanded, "take this up to the third floor, Mrs. Hale."

James took the box filled with groceries and started on his journey. He was puffing breathlessly when he came down. After hours of climbing, the day ended, leaving him with weary feet, skinned knuckles, and every bone in his body having a separate ache. He had pocketed his 50 cents as well as his way home. He stopped at the florist's and purchased some very pale, creamy looking roses. It was quite late now, but he knew they wouldn't miss him at home.

He pictured them all at the table. Father at the head, then brother and sister. No mother wouldn't be there; if she were, and he wouldn't straighten up his shoulders, he would say: "Bill here next to mother, my little man."

At last he reached the house and walked bravely in. One of his long legs came in contact with a leg of the chair, but he recovered himself quickly, and going over near his father, placed the 50 cents he had received from him that morning near his plate.

"I worked today, father," he said in a low voice. "I'll be able to return the money to you. I'm just as much obliged, though. It's all right, isn't it?" he asked. "You see, I wanted roses for mother."

Still the father did not answer because of a tightening in his throat. James turned and saw his sister. Reaching his mother's room he gently pushed open the door. Yes, she was there. She looked around dreamily, then half started at the pathetic little figure standing there. Cautious, two buttons missing, muddy shoes and ethical balding carefully an armor of roses.

She put out her arms and in a minute he was in them, sobbing and kissing her between the sobs, forgetting his soiled hands and his uninteresting age.

After a long silence he looked up and said, with a half smile: "The world doesn't matter, with knobby and dips, while mothers still reign."

For answer she hugged her boy closer.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A presidential decree issued by the Colombia government last June 20, declaring the petroleum lands of Colombia to be the property of the nation, was the cause of the senate foreign relations committee Friday and resulted in indefinite postponement of committee approval of the Colombia treaty.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Determined not to spare time or resources in its efforts to uncover the whole story of the relations between the United States and Mexico including facts of Mexican infringements on American rights during recent years, the three members of the subcommittee named late yesterday by Chairman Lodge of the senate foreign relations committee today were preparing for their work. The subcommittee, consisting of Senators Fall, New Mexico and Brandegee, Connecticut republican, and Smith, Arizona, democrat, was appointed under authority of a resolution of which Senator Knight of Utah was the author. It was expected that only preliminary features of the investigation would be dealt with pending disposition of the treaty with Germany.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Nine play houses in the Broadway theatrical district have been closed, three are presenting abbreviated programs, while seven have been able to defy the strike order of the Actors Equity association, and give their advertised bills with complete casts. This, in effect, was the status today of the theatre district in New York. In addition to the theatres that are closed it was estimated that the rehearsals of 30 plays were being held up.

Grant Stewart, secretary of the Actors' Equity association, announced that he had received telegrams from actors in Chicago and New York, who in the motion picture industry in California pledging their support in the fight against the producing managers.

American Investigator Points Out Chief Difficulty in Serbia

BELGRADE, Serbia, (AP)—The chief difficulty at present is the financial situation, says Colonel M. M. Stewart of the United States army, retired, who has been in Serbia since the outbreak of the new Jugo-Slav kingdom for several large American corporations.

"The immense amount of foreign currency in circulation, at least 7,000,000 American kronas, has impeded establishment of trade," he said. "American business representatives have no difficulty in obtaining orders. The trouble comes in the proper solution of the problem of payment."

Steps have been taken to establish banking communications between this country and America.

SOME YANKS MUST STAY AS PRISONERS' GUARDS

This Powers Must Stay Before American Captives Can Be Released

PARIS, (AP)—The disposition of prisoners held by American forces in France was discussed Friday by the supreme council of the peace conference and it was decided that it was impossible to release such prisoners until three powers have ratified the treaty with Germany. It will be necessary, therefore, for the United States to cooperate with France in guarding the prisoners and this will probably make it necessary to retain some American soldiers in France.

RENTING IS POOR BUSINESS

No Better Time to Build if Site and Style of Structure Are Carefully Chosen—How to Finance the Enterprise.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, 127 Exchange Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

"Why pay rent when rent will pay for a home?" This is a favorite slogan of the real estate and building promoter, and has been used so much that the average renter has apt to be skeptical of its truth. Skeptical or not, it is true in the average case, as anyone with a logical mind will readily see.

The owner of investment property, or property that is rented charges for the use of a house or an apartment what he can get for them. It is true that rent should be fixed so that the owner will get a reasonable return on his investment—enough to pay the taxes, the repairs, a sinking fund to replace the building when it falls into decay, and a reasonable interest on his money. But the law of supply and demand operates in this case just as it does in most others. And just now the demand is such that the owners of rentable property are making up for lean years. They are charging what they can get and that is a plenty.

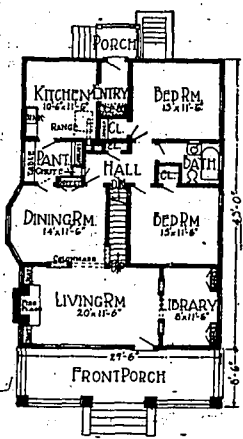

Profitable to Build. There never was a time when it was more profitable to build a home. The return on the investment is greater now than it has been in many years, leaving out of consideration the comfort and happiness that comes from living in a home of one's own. The present day rent will pay for a home and leave something of the rent besides.

Building a home, however, is a step that should be given careful consideration. In buying a site the same care should be exercised as in buying anything else that requires a considand kitchen, while on the other side are two bedrooms with the bath between.

The living room is of good size, 20 feet by 11 feet 6 inches, while the colonnade between it and the library, 8 feet by 11 feet 6 inches, makes the two practically one room. The fireplace above are at one end of the living room, while in the library are built-in book cases on either side of the window.

The same colonnade effect is used between the living and dining rooms. The dining room is 14 by 11 feet 6 inches, and has considerable additional room in the large bay window at the end. Between the dining room and the kitchen is the pantry, with shelves and table and a chute for the clothes to be dropped to the basement, where the laundry tubs and other fixtures are located. The kitchen is 10 feet 6 inches, by 11 feet 6 inches and off it is an entryway leading to the back porch.

Both bedrooms and the bath open off a small hall that is reached through the dining room. Each bedroom is 12 by 11 feet 6 inches and has two large windows, permitting plenty of light and ventilation. A narrow stairway leading out of the living room connects the first floor with the attic, which is large enough for a small bedroom, or a playroom for the children and storage of trunks, etc.

Estimating the Cost. This bungalow was designed by an experienced architect and has given the owner excellent satisfaction. A consultation with the local builder.

erable investment. The location with reference to schools, the street, the character of the residents of the neighborhood and above all the probability of that locality improving in popularity, and consequently in value, and whether or not the improvements, such as water and pavements, have been made, all should be taken into consideration.

Selection of Design. The site chosen, then comes the selection of the design for the home. It is not good policy to build a $10,000 home on a $300 site; neither should a $4,000 house be built on a $4,000 site. The house should be something like in value the others in the neighborhood, for the reason that there may come a time when it will be necessary to sell it.

Illustrated herewith is a modern wood bungalow of six rooms, a size that will provide for the needs of the average family and will be readily salable should that be necessary. The dimensions of the bungalow are 29 feet 6 inches, by 43 feet, which allows plenty of lawn and garden space on a 30-foot lot. The exterior of this bungalow is exceptionally attractive, the wide porch across the front, the long sweep of the roof and the dormer window in the attic all make it one of which any owner can be proud.

The house is of standard wood construction set off by a porch with brick pillars and cement steps. This is economical construction and provides a good weather-tight house.

Room Arrangement. All of the rooms in this bungalow are, of course, on the first floor, but the roof slope permits a large attic space, which helps to keep the house warm in winter and cool in summer. The floor plan shows the room arrangement. Across the front of the house are the living room and library. Back of the living room is the dining room and the kitchen, while on the other side are two bedrooms with the bath between.

BALKAN LINES DEBATE CENTER

Senators Inveigh Against Proposed Cession of Thrace to Bulgaria

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Boundary disputes between the Balkan nations were debated in the senate Friday.

Senator Brandegee, Connecticut, called attention to press reports indicating that because the American peace commissioners were supporting Bulgaria in the dispute over the Premier Venizelos of Greece was incensed at America.

Commenting on President Wilson's statement that a "new day has dawned," Senator Brandegee said European reports showed that the Balkans still were aflame and that Italy and Jugoslavia were "at swords' points."

Republican Leader Lodge protested against what he termed the attempt "to hand Thrace over to Bulgaria as a reward" for Bulgaria's support of Germany.

Senator Polixester, Republican, Washington, said the plan to transfer Thrace to Bulgaria was in line with the Fiume and Shantung situation.

Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, declared the American position concerning Thrace was not unbecomingly. Thrace he said, was the natural outlet of Bulgaria to the Aegean sea and that peace could be secured by denying access of nations to world commerce.

"She told me to leave the house," George said desperately. "I went there because Aunt Fanny told me the whole town was talking about my mother and that man Morgan—that they say my mother is going to marry him. Oh, now you have done it!"

"I suppose so," his uncle murmured and said.

"I'm not sure, Georgie. 'When I was your age I was like you in many ways, especially in not being very cool-headed, so I can't say. Youth can't be trusted for much, except asserting itself and fighting and making love.'"

"Indeed?" George queried. "May I ask what you think I ought to have done?"

"Nothing," George echoed, mocking bitterly. "I suppose you think I mean to let my mother's good name—"

"Your mother's good name!" Amberson cut him off impatiently. "Nobody has a good name and making love. Nobody has a good name in a silly mouth, either. Well, your mother's name was in some silly mouth, and all you've done was to go and have a scene with the worst old woman gossip in the town—a scene that's going to ruin just as to a puritan against your mother, whereas she was a mere prattler, before. Don't you suppose she'll be all over town with this tomorrow? And she'll see to it that everybody who's hinted anything about poor Isabel will know that you're on the warpath; and that will put them on the defensive and make them vicious. The story will grow as it spreads and—"

George unfolded his arms to strike his right fist into his left palm. "But do you suppose I'm going to tolerate such things?" he shouted. "What do you suppose I'll be doing?"

"You can do nothing," said Amberson. "Nothing of any use. The more you do the more harm you'll do."

"You'll see! I'm going to stop this thing if I have to force my way into every house on National avenue and Amberson boulevard!"

His uncle laughed rather sourly but made no other comment.

"Well, what do you propose to do?" George demanded. "Do you propose to sit there?"

"Yes," and let this ruffian bandy his mother's good name back and forth among them? Is that what you propose to do?"

"It's all I can do," Amberson returned. "It's all any of us can do: sit there, just sit still and hope that the thing may die down in some spite of your stirring up that awful old woman."

George drew a long breath, then advanced and stood close before his uncle. "Didn't you understand me when I told you that people are saying my mother means to marry this man?"

"Yes, I understood you," said Amberson. "You say that my going over there has made matters worse," George went on. "How about it if such—as such an unspeakable marriage did take place? Don't you think that such a marriage would be wrong in saying—"

"No," said Amberson deliberately. "I don't believe it would. But it wouldn't hurt Isabel and Eugene, if they never heard of it; and if they did hear of it, then they could take their choice between placating gossip or living for their own happiness. If they have decided to marry—"

George almost staggered. Good heaven! he gasped. "You speak of it calmly!"

Amberson looked up at him inquiringly. "Why shouldn't they marry if they want to?" he asked. "It's their own affair. I don't see anything particularly monstrous about two people getting married when they're both free and care about each other. What's the matter with their marrying?"

"It would be monstrous!" George shouted. "Monstrous even if this horrible thing hadn't happened, but now in the face of this—oh, that you can sit there and even speak of it! Your own sister! Oh—"

He became incoherent, swinging away from Amberson and inking for the door, wildly gesturing.

"Heaven's sake don't be so struck!" said his uncle, and then, seeing that George was leaving the room: "Come back here. You mustn't speak to your mother of this!"

"Don't tend to," George said indistinctly, and he plunged into the big, dimly lit hall. He went home and got a hot and overcast without seeing either his mother or Fanny. Then he left word that he would be out for dinner and hurried away from the house.

Knew What He Meant.

My three-year old boy uttered all the others on leaving the party speak to their hostess, so when his turn came he looked up with a most engaging smile and said, "Haven't we had a terrible time"—Exchange.
