PARALYSIS OF INDUSTRIES IS STRIKE THREAT

Consumers Prepare for Privation and Discomfort as Miners Remain Obdurate Beginning Second Month

VOLUNTEER COAL DIGGERS BRAVE BLIZZARD'S FORCE

Kansas Governor Makes Personal Inspection of Operations in Fields where Workers Stave Off Famine

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., (AP)—The miners have not utilized the full strength of their organization, Frank Farrington, president of the United Miners said today in a statement in which he declared that "there is a likelihood that should the bituminous miners find themselves hard pressed in this case they would not be likely to decide to come to their aid."

CHICAGO, (AP)—Restrictions on the use of coal already put into effect by regional coal committees when the pinch of necessity had been felt today were extended throughout the nation under an order of the federal fuel administrator. The most extensive shut-down of industry in history was in prospect and domestic consumers were preparing to endure privation and discomfort as the strike of bituminous coal miners entered its second month.

On in Kansas where miners worked in the strip pits under protection of state and federal troops, and in the New River fields of West Virginia where there prospect today of increased production. In the former area pits were worked and in West Virginia operators said normal production was in sight by the end of the week.

Miners Obdurate

Throughout the remainder of the country, miners apparently remained steadfast in their determination not to return to work under the 14 per cent wage increase ordered by the federal government and accepted by the operators.

Under the sweeping order of Fuel Administrator Garfield, limiting delivery of fuel or power only to essential consumers in the first five classes of the war priorities list, curtailed production was in prospect in factories turning out boots and shoes, brass and bronze manufactures, clothing, machinery, wood manufactures, sheet and metal products, iron and steel, jewelry, marble and stone products, musical instruments, paper goods (news print excepted), rubber goods, cigars, wagons and carriages, wood manufactures, sheet and metal products, leather goods, mattresses, paints and varnishes, photographic supplies and miscellaneous non-essentials.

Theaters Face Shutdown

Theaters, motion picture shows and all other places of amusement faced complete shutdowns. Churches, and schools also were included in that category, although efforts were being made to postpone closing schools as long as possible.

During the evening, except those producing only bread, also fell under the ban, as did confectionaries and certain packing plants.

VOLUNTEER COAL DIGGERS HOLD MEETINGS

PITTSBURGH, Kan., (AP)—In the face of a blizzard that ordinarily would have brought a halt to work in the strip pit mines of the Pittsburgh coal field, the volunteer coal diggers of Kansas, in a corner of a pit a young fellow was for work this morning and began turning out fuel to relieve the Kansas coal famine.

The volunteer workers, most of them accustomed to the outdoor life during service overseas, slept in tents last night with frigid winds whistling around the corners and sifting sheet snow through the cracks in the canvas or through cracks about the doorways. This morning the men waded in ice water and ate breakfast huddled up in blankets, ear muffs and gloves.

Concerned over the welfare of his coal volunteers, Governor Allen arrived here early today for a conference with Adjutant General Charles J. Martin and Colonel P. M. Hoisington, both of Kansas, who are in charge of the state's forces in the fields. It was expected the governor would return to the fields today and tomorrow.

For the most part the volunteer workers are young men active in the business life of their respective communities. Present Kansas lawyers, lumber and mill men and candidates for congress are among those who have donned blue denim. Astride a high seat on a team of mules hauling coal out of a strip pit was a robust young fellow who is treasurer of one of the largest milling companies in Kansas. In a corner of a pit a young fellow was justly pounding a drill into the coal bed as though such exercise was a part of his daily program. He is a member of a national fire insurance company. In another part of the pit a volunteer who in usual life is telegraph operator of a Kansas daily newspaper, was heaving huge lumps of coal into a wagon.

American Peace Delegates Stay

PARIS, (AP)—The American delegation to the peace conference which was to have sailed from Brest for the United States on December 6 has postponed its departure for home; it was learned today.

A considerable part of the personnel of the delegation, however, will leave Brest for Brest on the evening of December 5, as previously arranged.

It is learned from a high authority that the question of the plans of the delegation is due to the failure of the Germans to sign the protocol ratifying the peace treaty.

It is possible that if the treaty is not ratified the situation between Germany and the United States, as well as the other allied and neutral nations, will revert to the status created by the armistice.

Hence the United States is still quite as much interested as its associates of the allied powers, despite the fact that the senate has not ratified the treaty.

Council Holds Up Question of Fiume

PARIS, (AP)—The supreme council decided today that the question of Fiume should not be settled in the Hungarian peace treaty but be reserved for final decision by the allied and associated powers. This eliminates any objections to the part of either the Italians or the Jugoslavs to sign the treaty on account of Fiume.

Italian Government to Stop D'Annunzio

BEograd, (AP)—The Italian government has informed the Jugoslav government that the instructions of the peace conference for prosecuting the advance of Gabriele D'Annunzio's forces on Spalato will be carried out, it was stated here today.

CARLISLE ELUDES PURSUIT

Wyoming Train Robber Escapes from Ranch House; Posses on Hot Trail

CASPER, Wyo., (AP)—William Carlisle, train robbery expert, last night from a ranch house on La Ronte creek near Glendo, Wyo., by leaping through a window when a sheriff's posse was about to arrest him, according to a telegram received here today from Glendo. Carlisle, suffering from a wound in his hand, made no effort to hide in a cold room.

The posse lost Carlisle's trail in a heavy snow storm. Sheriff A. S. Beach of Wheatland, in charge, said he expects to capture the bandit within a few hours. The temperature is ten degrees below zero.

WORLD NEWS EVENTS

LAIE, Island of Oahu, Hawaii Territory, (AP)—A magnificent Mormon temple was dedicated here Sunday by Heber J. Grant, president of the mother church in Salt Lake City.

DUBLIN, (AP)—The viceroy has offered a reward of five thousand pounds sterling for evidence which will result in convicting the persons guilty of the recent killing of policemen.

LONDON, (AP)—A serious earthquake occurred in Western Asia Minor on Thursday, seven villages in the districts of Soma and Balikesir, Smyrna, being destroyed, according to advices from Constantinople. Many persons were killed and injured.

LONDON, (AP)—By the substantial majority of 192 the house of commons Monday decided against the proposition to float premium bonds in order that the government might raise needed money. Judging from the cheering that greeted the announcement of the figures, the decision was a popular one.

URGES REPATRIATION OF ALL PRISONERS OF WAR

Swiss Federal Council Finds Out Social Danger in Continued Holding of Captives

Berne, (AP)—An appeal for the repatriation of all war prisoners still held by the belligerents has been addressed to all nations which participated in the war, by the Swiss federal council. Special reference is made to prisoners still in Siberia and in France and also Russian prisoners remaining in Germany.

The council's appeal reads: "It would be a social danger if the hundreds of thousands of prisoners still in captivity were allowed to remain prisoners any longer. It has been a whole year since the armistice was signed, and the state of mind which these men might be in when returning to their former homes might make them a menace to society, if their imprisonment is prolonged."

WILSON'S MESSAGE DEALS WITH PROBLEM OF UNREST

MESSAGE HOLDS STAGE CENTER

Senate Starts Work on Cummins Bill; House on Edge Measure Report

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Wilson's message was the principal business of the second day of the new session of congress.

The senate started work on the Cummins railroad bill and the house on the conference report on the Edge bill authorizing Americans to form corporations for financing American export trade.

In the senate a number of miscellaneous subjects relating to the coal mines, also were discussed.

A constitutional amendment providing for a referendum on national prohibition was proposed in a resolution introduced today by representative O'Connell, democrat, New York.

The regular weekly meeting of President Wilson's cabinet was postponed today because of the cabinet officers' absence from the city.

A budget system for the national finances. Reorganization of the taxation system. Simplification of the income and excess profits. Readjustment of the tariff system, if necessary, to meet changed world conditions and the restoration of the tariff with the fact that he is the United States "the greatest capitalist in the world."

Recognition and relief for veteran soldiers and sailors, particularly in the way of government farms as proposed by Secretary Lane.

Proper measures to foster the war-stuffs industry built up during the war by the United States independent of foreign supply.

An enlarged program for rural development, in recognition of the farmers' needs.

Measures which "will remove the causes" of "political restlessness in our body politic."

STOCKYARDS LABOR BODY REFUSES RESPONSIBILITY

Calls Outdoor Mass Meeting to Take Action Upon Arbitrator's Increased Wage Award

CHICAGO, (AP)—Refusal to take responsibility of accepting the increased wage award announced today by Federal Judge Samuel Alschuler, arbitrator, and a call for an outdoor mass meeting Sunday was promulgated today by the stockyard labor council.

The decision by Judge Alschuler granted wage increases aggregating approximately $1,200,000 a year and affecting 125,000 stockyard workers in Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, Lincoln, Fort Worth, St. Paul, East St. Louis and Sioux City.

At the council meeting last night, when it was voted to postpone the award pending an expression of sentiment from workers in the other cities, the union men asserted the increase, which averaged 17 1/2 per cent, should have been from 20 to 50 per cent instead. The workers also were displeased with the announcement the increases were retroactive to September 1 instead of July 14, but, as they had requested.

At this point the president made his own reference to the peace treaty by saying the causes for the unrest "are superficial rather than deep seated" and that "the cause from which we are connected with the failure on the part of our government to arrive speedily at a just and permanent peace, permit me to refer to the causes of the unrest from the transgression of radical theories from something European centers pending such delay, from hostile profiteering resulting from the increase of the cost of living, and lastly from the machinations of passionate and malicious agitators. With the return to normal conditions this unrest will rapidly disappear."

The president reviewed his recommendations for legislation to deal effectively with "those persons who by violent methods would bring our time-tested institutions."

RENEWALS RECOMMENDATIONS

Several recommendations, some renewals of previous ones, were made by the president to bring down cost of living, among them were:

Repeal of the law which modified the law of control law to peace-time; emergency regulations for transportation of goods in interstate commerce; a law to secure the delivery of winter fuel in New Jersey; a law requiring marks to show the length of time foods are kept in storage and a law to secure the delivery of winter fuel in New Jersey; a law requiring marks to show the length of time foods are kept in storage and a law to secure the delivery of winter fuel in New Jersey; a law requiring marks to show the length of time foods are kept in storage and a law to secure the delivery of winter fuel in New Jersey.

President Offers General Recommendations on Legislation to Combat Cost of Living, Dissatisfaction of Labor, Radicalism and Readjustment of Nation to Peace Time Basis; Reserves Discussion of Peace Treaty for Later Occasion

DECLARES FOR DEFINITE PROGRAM FOR DEMOCRATIZATION OF INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, (AP)—General recommendations on legislation to combat the cost of living, labor unrest, radicalism and a readjustment of the nation to peace time basis were the features of President Wilson's annual message to congress delivered today.

The peace treaty, the president told congress, will be discussed in a separate message later, as will the railroad question.

For the second time only since the president established the practice of addressing congress in person, his message was read today by the clerks.

The president's principal recommendations were:

Establishment of a budget system for the national finances.

Reorganization of the taxation system.

Simplification of the income and excess profits.

Readjustment of the tariff system, if necessary, to meet changed world conditions and the restoration of the tariff with the fact that he is the United States "the greatest capitalist in the world."

Recognition and relief for veteran soldiers and sailors, particularly in the way of government farms as proposed by Secretary Lane.

LANSING'S STAND ON JENKINS CASE MEETS APPROVAL

Officials and Members of Congress Endorse Attitude Believing Government Means Business

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Believing that the United States government means business "in its dealings with the Mexican government over the Jenkins case, officials and members of congress today endorsed the stand of Secretary Lansing as expressed in the latest note to President Carranza.

Although no ultimatum was issued to the Mexican government, the note contained language with a tone of warning indicating that unless William O. Jenkins, the American consul general imprisoned at Puebla be released immediately action would be taken to force his liberation. Carranza's reply is being awaited with eager interest in Washington.

TRANSMISSION ERRORS DELAY NOTE DELIVERY

Mexican Official Repeats Opinion That Laws of His Country Provide No Exemption for Consular Agent

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Believing that the United States government means business "in its dealings with the Mexican government over the Jenkins case, officials and members of congress today endorsed the stand of Secretary Lansing as expressed in the latest note to President Carranza.

Although no ultimatum was issued to the Mexican government, the note contained language with a tone of warning indicating that unless William O. ## FREES DISPATCHES BRING FIRST NEWS TO MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Announcement was made at the Mexican foreign office today that the last American consular note had been delivered. First intimations as to the nature of the communication sent to Mexico by Secretary of State Lansing was given by dispatches to this city by Associated Press. It was learned at the American embassy that there were numerous errors in the cable transmission of the note, which probably explains the delay in its presentation.

Hilario Medina, under secretary of foreign relations declared today that the note was a communication between Mexico and the United States which provided for the exemption of American consular agents from the jurisdiction of Mexican courts, for which reason Secretary of State Lansing had been ordered to release the note to the United States. Hilario Medina, because of whose imprisonment a delicate situation has arisen between the two countries cannot claim immunity as has been suggested by his friends.

Senator Medina stated the treaty of friendship and commerce between the United States and Mexico, which was renewed in 1918 established no immunity for consuls.

ALLEGED MURDERERS OF AMERICAN AIRMEN ON TRIAL

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Prosecution of the alleged murderers of Lieutenant Connely and "Waterhouse, American aviators whose bodies were found buried on the beach of Los Angeles bay, and later brought to the United States for burial, has begun at Escondido, Lower California, an American consular at Mexico City has been advised by the Mexican foreign office.

SOUTHWEST BUCKS COLD

Temperatures Drop While Coal Famine Stars Country in Face

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP)—With a coal famine starting in the fact and drastic conservation measures in force, the winter today greeted a few feet of it bucked into the most severe cold snap of the winter.

Temperatures ranged from below zero in Kansas to 10 degrees above at Oklahoma City and 10 above at Amarillo, Tex. A stiff breeze from the north accompanied the low temperatures. Light snow flurries were scattered over Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and the Texas panhandle.

No relief is in sight for the next 24 hours, according to the weather bureau.

HOLDS DOWN FURNAL COST

NORFOLK, Eng., (AP)—It is no honor, to quote a local paper, to have his last spent money lavishly on his funeral," said Judge Mulligan here when a widow asked for $350 to pay the expenses of her husband's funeral. She was allowed $150.

LUXURY BUYING CONTINUES IN FULL SWING THOUGH PRICES STILL MOUNT

NEW YORK, (AP)—Despite the various campaigns to bring down the high cost of living, the buying of luxuries and clothing have continued to climb during the past month, according to the report on business conditions of the second federal reserve district issued for November, made public last night.

The average advance in the price of the principal necessities of life was given at 1 1/2 per cent.

Report on the luxury trade, it was stated, indicated that "luxury buying" was in full swing and the "repressive effect of the war on personal expenditures" had disappeared completely.

"Never has there been so much spending, such a demand for expensive articles and such disregard of prices," said the report.

The buying public is showing "almost no resistance" to high prices, the report continued, which added that the luxuries are either completely ignored or they accept the higher prices as quite "to be expected."

Reports from the retail stores, it was stated, indicate that the wave of buying done by wage earners, has somewhat subsided. It was suggested that this was probably due to the strike or unemployment caused by the strikes.

The jewelry trade reports indicated an unexpected demand for platinum, fine jewelry diamonds and other precious stones. The price of diamonds has risen 100 per cent within six months, it was stated, and there has been a great rise in the price of silverware.

"Musical instruments cannot be produced," declared the report. "Backless buying" is also clothing trade was also reported.

AMERICAN MANDATE FOR INDEPENDENCE IS TURKS' ASPIRATION

Halide Edib, Turkish Woman Novelist and Nationalist, Discusses Political Movements in Native Land; Tells of Organization of Propaganda for Control by United States

CONSTANTINOPLE, (AP)—There are only two sincere political movements in Turkey, one for American help, the other for an independent country which should be left alone, says Halide Edib, Turkish woman novelist, poet and nationalist. "All the rest are movements fed by foreign money," she told the Associated Press correspondent today.

Small, handsome, a brilliant conversationalist and speaker, Halide Edib, a fiery advocate for a new and better Turkey, is the best known woman author country. A graduate of Robert College for Girls, an American institution, she speaks English well and has since the summer of 1918, been converting Americans here to her hopes. In the war she worked with her husband, a physician, in the Red Crescent or Turkish hospital of her native New Taurus, a Turkish "Looking Forward," has greatly moved her people by its patriotic appeal.

MILK SHORTAGE CAUSES CONCERN

Friends War Victim Relief Worker Draws Tragic Picture of Vienna

LONDON, (AP)—Miss Ruth Fly, secretary of the Friends' war victim relief mission, draws an appealing picture of the effects of the shortage of milk on the health of children in Vienna.

"I have recently paid a visit to Vienna," she says, "and therefore had special opportunities for obtaining information.

"Even the tragic state of Lille after the withdrawal of the Germans when 60 per cent of the children were found to be suffering from rickets, tuberculosis, was not so terrible as that of Vienna, now a city of 2,500,000 inhabitants, where one never sees a normal child. The children are practically all undernourished, practically all under three suffering from rickets and a large percentage of other children suffering from both rickets and tuberculosis which has reached the proportions of a dangerous epidemic.

Organized American Propaganda.

"I don't think any nation in Europe except a perhaps a few, are so much interested enough, or would be permitted by the other powers, to take over the work that must be done here," she said. "So we have organized in America a propaganda which is evident in all parts of the old empire. Even the humblest people realize the truth of our contentions, and that reason has been made to persuade them to favor an American control.

"The Americans haven't encouraged us, and other nations have discouraged us, either by their lack of censorship of our press. We can't send any one to America because the armistice prevents us from traveling. Mustafa Kemal Pasha, who is honest, sincere patriot, believer as we do.

"What Turkey needs is peace, modern agricultural development, and soil is very rich, territorial integrity, wherein there are equal rights to Moslems and Christians, and education. We need a uniform school system, and a vast desire for education and many parents make many sacrifices while children educate themselves rather than go uneducated.

"This ghastly state of affairs is the direct result of malnutrition and above all of the absence of milk. In Vienna, milk is reserved for infants under one year, and the most serious cases of illness. In many cases even the pint of milk allowed has to be cut down one half."

After describing some of the effects of the shortage of milk in Germany, where the conditions are much better than in Austria, Miss Fly asks: "Could not measures be introduced in those countries which have not adopted them, whereby healthy adults should be called on to make a sacrifice in the interests of the children, and not only of their own but of unaffiliated and enemy countries as well. The surplus milk could then be dried or condensed for export.

"So long as serious shortage exists anywhere, milk should be reserved for those whose future health and strength depend on it. The health of the next generation," she says in conclusion, "is an international question."

Women's Lot Improved.

"The woman in Turkey is much more emancipated than is believed abroad, and her education is part of our program. It is true that in the past we have received a very little benefit from Persian influence which took from our women their old freedom. It must be remembered that all our women are to be judged by the standards of the country our women have all the family responsibilities, they till the soil, they care for the children, and the work of the man is more that of the soldier."

"Women in Turkey have their vanities, too, just like women elsewhere. In my novel in which I pictured Turkey she should be, I planned a costume without the veil somewhat like that of the Quakeress, but after a time it was no longer worn because it was found inconvenient."

"Much has been said of the Pan-Islamic and Pan-Turanian movements," continued Halide Edib. "Politically, I am for neither. The first refers to English and the second to the special union of peoples inhabiting north Africa and Asia. These peoples are loosely, Turks, Arabs, Persians and Kurds. When the new Turkey is created the old imperialists objected that by it we would lose Arabia and Syria. We appear to have done so by the war. It is in a cultural sense that the peoples, however, and a continuance of our economic relations with Arabia, which were always close and natural."

FEEDING CATTLE IN IDAHO'S SOUTH END

Field Animal Husbandman Gives Interesting Data on Winter Tending

The statement that the most surprising thing in Southern Idaho is that stock raising and farming are looked upon as two separate and distinct industries was recently made. The most striking example of this is the fact that many train loads of feeder cattle and sheep are moved to the eastern part of the state, where thousands of baled hay are piled to the same point. When once the livestock leaves the country, the demand for hay is lessened so that it is necessary to ship out. The marketing of both hay and stock has been a difficult problem and various methods have been tried to secure a price that would enable both to be raised at a profit. The fact remains, however, that the paying of freight on both commodities is an expensive proposition.

During the winter of 1918-1919, considerable stock was finished for market. Inquiry for suitable feeding methods for this winter have been more numerous than ever before, hence it is believed that the solution of the marketing problem is in sight.

Last winter, co-operative records were kept with seventeen Southern Idaho feeders who fed a total of 984 head of steers. Three different systems were used, one in which alfalfa alone was fed, one in which the ration was alfalfa hay and corn silage and the third, alfalfa hay and the by-products of the sugar beet industry. The results secured last year showed that under proper conditions, any one of these methods is profitable.

For putting gain on cattle, there is a choice of a variety of feeds but the basis for southern Idaho feeding should be alfalfa hay. In many cases, this feeds the entire ration, yet there are certain principles which should not be overlooked. If there is to be no waste, the ration must be balanced—that is, have the proper amount of the different elements that are essential to the welfare of the cattle. Wherever there will be some waste. In midwinter feeding, the element most lacking is protein; hence, this is supplied by alfalfa or clover-hay and concentrated protein feed, such as cotton seed meal, soy bean meal or oil meal. In this section, with alfalfa as the main feed, the protein is in excess; hence, the supplementary feed that is of value are those rich in sugar and starch, such as corn, corn silage, beet pulp and barley.

Cattle may be successfully fattened on hay alone but in this case the hay must be good, must be fed at frequent intervals (three or four times per day) and the rations gained at least once or preferably twice a day. Where this is not done, the gains are small.

Railroad Problem

This Republican statesman, of Wisconsin, is chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and author of the measure returning the railroads to their owners. His speech in explanation of the present railroad situation, in which he declared that "government ownership and the Plumb plan are impossible," has been pronounced one of the most notable and convincing arguments made in Congress in many years.

BERLIN GRANTS STRIKERS' AID

Germans Complain While Government Caters to Those Refusing to Work

BERLIN, (AP)—Though Germans complain bitterly of the never-ending strikes and unwillingness to work, the Berlin city government is aiding striking metal workers in the Berlin suburbs who refuse to resume work although suffering from lack of money and food.

The majority have forced through the common council a provision whereby the community will advance 50,000 marks to buy food for the people's kitchens.

The vote is a novelty in municipal history and the bourgeois are protesting that they will attempt to repeal the ruling. They maintain that the huge sums paid to the workless are sometimes more than they could earn at their trade and so they prefer to remain idle.

HIS YOUTH IS BAR TO CANDIDACY OF BERLANGA

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—Persistent rumors that Manuel Aguirre, Berlanga, secretary of government and head of the cabinet, was to become a presidential candidate were answered by the secretary recently when, in a written statement to the press, he denied he had such ambitions and pointed out that even should he entertain such desires he is not within the age limit set by the constitution. The minimum age for a Mexican president is 35 years and Secretary Berlanga lacks almost three years of that age.

She will see "Soldiers of Fortune," her father's last and greatest picture.

RAID NETS OPERATORS MOCH HOME-MADE BOOZE

Agents of Department of Justice Score Big "Scoop" in Arizona

GLOBE, Ariz., (AP)—The recent raid which operators of the federal deposit against alleged violators of war-time prohibition statutes netted the officers nearly ten thousand gallons of homemade liquor; the beverage, according to current "bootleg" prices, being worth something like $100,000.

The raid was considered one of the biggest "scoops" ever made by the department of justice in any part of the United States, more than 115 federal warrants being served against the alleged law breakers, and 57 "bootleg" warrants being issued. Fifty-one persons were arrested, many of them being foreign-born residents of the districts who are employed in the copper mines here. Bonds in each case were fixed in the sum of $500.

In one building raided thirteen barrels of illicit brew were discovered, and another stop made by the officers—nine barrels of claret wine were uncovered. The chemist who made a subsequent analysis of the wine stated that some of it was superior to the finest imported article. United States Deputy Marshal Frank Hayes, who had charge of the raid, had considerable difficulty in finding a warehouse large enough to hold all the contraband liquor.

AMERICANS INVEST IN MEXICO MEXICAN MINES

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—American capitalists are reported to have invested heavily in mining property in the northern part of the republic, the largest single deal having been made by an American smelting and refining company for a controlling interest in the Rosita coal mines in Chihuahua for which a million and a half pesos were paid. The Rosita mines in the past have furnished the greater part of the coal supply of the country and the new owners are said to have completed the field and placing Chihuahua coal on the United States market.

Any reasonably-priced house or apartment may be rented—through an inexpensive classified advertising campaign—just the matter. The "price" involved is so small that few people would dignify it by that name.

SENATOR NEWBERRY TO ANSWER TO INDICTMENT

Attorney for Accused Legislator Says No Laws Violated in Campaign

DETROIT, Mich., (AP)—Senator Truman H. Newberry will appear in person before Judge Sessions in the federal court here today to answer to the indictment brought against him by the grand jury there last Saturday.

According to Mr. Q. Murfin, counsel for Senator Newberry.

"I am authorized by Senator Newberry to say his attorneys are wholly at the service of any who wish to sue Mr. Murfin today. "The senator also authorized me to say that any who may need assistance in securing bail need only to make their wishes known to me."

"While this senatorial primary was a most unusual one and there may be some evidence of overenthusiasm," Mr. Murfin continued, "it is my best judgment that no law has been violated. We shall try the case in court."

MAP MAKERS TO USE AIRPLANES

BRASILIAN Government Considerers Employing Aircraft to Trace Amazon

PARA, Brazil, (AP)—Airplanes may be employed to map the valley of the great Amazon river. If the French are successful in their effort to use aircraft for surveying the routes of the rivers of French Guiana, it is understood that the Brazilian government will apply the same method to the survey of the Amazon and its affluents. A French company is said to have been formed in Cayenne, with headquarters at Manaos, a French aviator with flying experience gained in the war are being employed to run the twenty-five hydro-airplanes, said to have been furnished by the government.

In addition to making maps, the machines will be employed for carrying mail, freight, mail and passengers. There are immense rivers in French Guiana which, because of the presence of many rapids, are now only navigable in seasons which take weeks to transport freight over distances which the hydro-airplanes can cover in as many hours, with always larger quantities of smooth water offering a safe surface for landings and "take-offs."

The freight charges are said to be high, and the traffic is expected to consist mainly of goods and the presence of rosewood, which are the principal exports of the colony. The passenger business is not expected to be large.

These hydro-airplanes will also be used for prospecting the forests for balata trees which grow in groups so that the felling can be made with the aid of small aircraft flying low over the tops of the forest trees.

In the past the securing of fresh supplies of balata has been a work of much danger and difficulty. Specialized trained blatto workers, well armed, traveling in bands of fifteen or twenty, have been employed to explore the forests and they had to carry with them supplies to cover many months.

JIMMY WILDE'S WIFE BELIEVES IN HER FAMILY

Briton's Spouse Has Abiding Interest in Ring Business and Home Affairs

Mrs. "Jimmy" Wilde, wife of the English flyweight, who is creating a great sensation in the ring, is a devotee of the "game of wits," but she is first and foremost a wife and mother. Her husband's career is intensely interesting to her, notwithstanding the fact that she is actively engaged in bringing up two children, first to go to college and then, if they choose to follow in their father's footsteps, to carve out a name in the world of biff.

Mrs. Wilde, who is in America as her husband's abiding second and advisor who has never missed a single fight her husband has won or lost, believes that American women have much to learn. For instance, she says politics threatens the domestication of American homes and that a wife's place is with her husband. In America she senses a dissolution of the home ties unless the "new woman," as she calls the suffragette, is content to be "a whole person" that is, a mother, a wife and a homemaker.

On the subject of bringing up children, she says that she believes in "ideal food and healthy life, with no abnormal diet and no intense physical training, is the proper thing, and that she will see to it that her children have all that their elders have. Children, she asserts, are ruined through "do's" and "don't's."

The American people are a surprise to her, she says, because she had heard that they were so beautiful and found them to be entirely to the contrary and about the same as the English and Welsh, yet she confesses a liking for America and believes that her husband will gather in several victories on this side of the water.

COUNTRY ENJOYING WIDESPREAD BOOM FOR BOXING GAME

History Has Never Recorded a Time when Sport Flourished as It Does Now

NEW YORK, (AP)—Boxing promises to have its most successful season in all its long history this winter. Both in Europe and America glove bouts are drawing larger crowds and more money than ever before. The popularity and ability of the performers is concerned, it cannot be said that the times have changed greatly for the better, but in other respects boxing has progressed.

While glove stars of the first magnitude are not numerous, there are a few men who compare with the best of the old-time greats. In Jack Dempsey the ring has a heavy weight champion of exceptional ability. If he is managed with ordinary intelligence and skill, his season should often Dempsey should become an idol equal to John L. Sullivan when the latter was in his prime.

In Benny Leonard and Jimmy Wilde the class that will be remembered long after they have gone. Leonard may not be as great a fighter as was Joe Gans, but he certainly has a better little man than the other star. The new class has developed since Gans was champion. Leonard has science in abundance, and can hit with the best of the slugger.

Just how great Jimmy Wilde is will be demonstrated. Whether Wilde will be able to bowl over the American midges as he did his new opponents remains to be seen, but his record indicates that he has not been overrated.

The mere fact that Wilde, weighing 103 pounds, was able to go the limit of twelve rounds with such a hard hitting near-feather weight as Joe Lynch, was a feat that proves Wilde to be a great fighter, even admitting that Lynch deserved the victory in a minor part of the fight. Lynch must have had an advantage of more than 15 pounds, and among midweights that is a handicap that is difficult to overcome. Even once cut a big figure where the little fellows are concerned.

Wilde's ability to concede the best bantam weights in the world 15 pounds and hold them even stumps up as the best little man in the ring ever saw.

During the war days it was predicted that when the boys got back from the trenches there would be a swarm of new champions, and indeed a number of real stars among them. So far no soldier boxers have made a tremendous hit in the ring, but there are scores of new men appearing in various parts of the continent, and some of them are bound to make good in time.

Joe Benjamin, the Pacific coast light weight, is one of the recent newcomers. He has made a very good impression since he arrived in the east. The Californian is a highly intelligent youth. He has a pleasing style and combines science with power.

Brief Bits of Sport

Don't Pickle all-star elevens is wanted time; doesn't interest anybody and is only your opinion, anyhow.

Charlie White took a payoff from a boxing practice for a couple of years or more, then assayed to clean up one of the lightweight division's toughest propositions, Johnny Dundee.

Johnny did the cleaning up.

Speaking of "comebacks," Jess Ward, from a hole in Kansas, says he "aims" to recapture the crown.

Conch Barry of the Hupf football team aims "to convince us, by press radioation, that his team won from Twin Falls on ability and merit."

Wonder who it was officiated in the game held last night at the eastern end of the state the other day.

But then, we must have our little laugh.

Ban Johnson says the board of directors had no right to take "action over my head."

Also the lawyer called to defend an Irishman who had been cast into prison told his client: "They can't put you in jail for that, because the Irishman replied: 'Well, bejehers croipes, Ome here, ain't it!'"

Bob Marlow, graduate fighter from the A. E. P., added another victim to his growing list the other night in Detroit. He knocked out Tim Riley in the first round.

Of course you never before heard of Tim, and may never more hear of him, but that makes no difference to Bob's record.

Jack Ryan, a lightweight of Memphis, will do fight tonight with Pay Gilbert in Harry Dewney's square ring at Still Lake tawnee night.

Anyhow Seattle made it possible for more money and Mike Kelle to get more money from their respective clubs, and then went and hired an attorney different man.

Sim Smiley, sagebrush sage, says: "Accuse a girl of being a flirt and she'll deny it 'cause she thinks that it's 'th' thing to do; but she'll be flattered, just 'th' same."

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—Benjie Allen, Kansas City, defeated Louis D. Brien, New York, 125 to 100, in the first night match of the national American pocket billiard championship tournament, which opened yesterday. Twenty-six games were played. Allen, defeating a high run of 23 and Kreuter one of eleven. In the afternoon matches, James Matura, Denver, defeated Morris Pink, Philadelphia, 125 to 71, and John M. Layton, Columbia, Me., beat Edward L. Ralph, Hightstown, N. J., 125 to 103.

The tournament will continue until December 13. A total of 45 matches will be played.

E. Ralph Greenleaf, Wilmington, Del., won the other match last night, defeating Joseph Cunningham, New York, 125 points in 26 innings. Greenleaf had a high run of 66, while Cunningham's best effort was 30.

Governor Stephens Urges Easterners to Play in Pasadena New Year's Day

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Governor Stephens of California added his official word to the invitation to the Harvard university football team to play at Pasadena New Year's day, in a telegram received by the Harvard Athletic association today.

The Harvard crimson, the undergraduate daily newspaper, editorially expressed the hope that the invitation would be accepted. Action on the proposal will be taken at meetings of the athletic committee and the faculty to be held late today and tonight. The players almost generally have declared themselves eager to make the trip.

ELK FACING STARVATION

Situation for Herds in Jackson Hole Country Reported Serious

ODDEN, Utah, (AP)—Reports received at the office of the district forester here say the elk situation in the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming is very serious. It is estimated 1,000 or 1,200 more tons of hay in addition to that already supplied will be needed to feed the animals and that it will cost about $40,000 delivered. This report says there are approximately 16,000 head of elk in the Jackson Hole country and that many of these will not survive the winter unless feed is procured for them. Forage conditions in the region are said to be bad.

VICAR DISAPPROVES OF CONFETTI AT WEDDINGS

English Churchman Registers Exception to Practice of Advertising Strenuously

MARYPORT, Eng. (AP)—The vicar of the parish here, the Rev. J. A. Brien, strongly disapproves of the custom of showering confetti on the bride and groom when they are entering the church to be married. Writing in his parish magazine he says:

"All right thinking people must realize how unseemly it is for a couple to stand before the altar on their wedding day in that manner and that the bridesmaid take a pride in looking at their best, and it is abominable that vulgar, brainless people should be allowed to smother them with confetti. "Gutter newspapers," he writes, "should be taken to put this down and we wish to give notice that people covered with confetti will not be allowed to enter St. Mary's church. They will have to come to church in a decent and fitting condition before the ceremony can proceed."

FALL PASTURE SHEEP AWAY BELOW NORMAL

Husbandry Report Tells of the Shortage of 'Woolies' in State at Present

BOISE, Idaho, (Special)—The number of sheep on fall pasture is far below normal, says the regular report of E. P. Rinehart, field animal husbandman, to Director L. W. Phularity of the extension division of the University of Idaho.

"As previously reported," says Mr. Rinehart, "the failure of the summer and fall range forced out large numbers of sheep; hence there were not enough remaining to utilize the fall pastures. Feeder lambs have been purchased in Montana, Oregon and Utah and brought in for this purpose. With the exception of the best districts, there are but very few lambs on feed."

"The local demand for feeder lambs remains strong. One lot sold this week by the head would have figured at fully 13 cents per pound. Others have been changing hands at around 12 cents. It is almost impossible to get lambs of the proper breeding, and shoopers are now looking for those in adjoining states."

"Considerable hay is yet unaid. On the other hand there are yet many sheep outfits that have not yet purchased their winter's supply of feed. This is especially true of the Baqueo and Spanish outfits. They are reporting the winter range exceptionally good; however, in the sections that have been looked over it is hardly up to normal, the condition of the white sage and dry grasses being poor."

Dr. Evans, the Optician, is at his office over Fisher's Drug store this week. Headaches and nervousness often come from the winter range exceptionally good; however, in the sections that have been looked over it is hardly up to normal, the condition of the white sage and dry grasses being poor.

LADY ASTOR TAKES OATH AS MEMBER OF COMMONS

Lloyd-George and Balfour are Sponsors for First Woman to Sit in Parliament

LONDON, (AP)—Lady Astor, formerly Nanine Leveson of Virginia, and the first woman to sit in the house of commons took the oath as member of the common Monday afternoon.

Her sponsors were David Lloyd George, the premier, and Arthur J. Balfour, lord president of the council. Lady Astor wore a black dress and hat.

Vicount Astor, husband of the new member of the house was seated in the distinguished strangers gallery.

Lady Astor made the three regulations proposed by the speaker. While the chief clerk was producing the roll, Lady Astor conversed with Austin Chamberlain, "chancellor of the exchequer and other members of the cabinet, after which she signed "Nancy Astor."

The Duchess of Marlborough, formerly Miss Constance Vanderbilt of New York, who intends to become a candidate for the first suitable vacancy in parliament, since her election to the London city council last year, concerned herself largely with the question of housing the poorer people. She is reputed to be remarkably popular among her constituents, who inhabit one of the dingiest neighborhoods of South London.

AN ESSENTIAL STEP

One of the most important items in the findings of the senate committee which investigated the steel strike is the recommendation relative to proper housing:

"Aid through the federal government and the industries to make industrial workers home-owners."

More than merely good housing conditions hang on that issue.

Make a man a home-owner and you go a long way toward making him a responsible citizen. He has a share in the wealth of the community and he has learned something of the rights of property. He can better understand what capital means when it says it cannot afford to care nothing on its investment. It makes him more confident of his own rights.

The home-owner generally is a solid self-respecting citizen. By virtue of his holdings he is more likely to be a factor of influence for good. He is neither a wealthy man nor a pauper. He is a member of the great middle class which holds the balance of power always in America. His judgment is more nearly correct than that of the extremist of the capitalistic class or the radical laborer, for his interests are all in the direction of honesty, fair dealing and common sense.

By all means help the working man to own his own home, both for his own sake and for the interests of good citizenship.

For the good of all concerned the process of home buying must be made more simple and attractive, and the purchaser, so far as possible, guaranteed against the possibility of losing his investment.

"And He Goeth"

A COMMON-SENSE EDITORIAL BY BRUCE BARTON Red Book, December.

SEVERAL years ago when I had just been promoted to my first real job, I called on a business friend of mine. He is a wise and experienced man; and after he had heard my suggestions he could make out executive responsibility.

"You are about to make the great discovery," he said. "Within a week or two you will know why it is that executives grow gray and die before their time. You will have learned the bitter truth that there are no efficient people left in this world."

I am still very far from admitting that he was right, but I know well enough what he meant. Every man knows the hat you wear responsible for a piece of work, or had to meet a payroll.

Recently another friend of mine, a man of house, tried to build a represented a difficult period of saving on the part of himself and wife; it meant overtime work and self-denial, and a part of it in behalf of a long-cherished dream.

One day when the work was well along, he visited it, and saw a woman climbing a ladder to the roof, and a little lunch sitting in his hands. "Look here," the foreman cried, "can't you carry a whole-bundle of shingles?"

The workman regarded him sullenly. "I suppose I could," he answered. "If I wanted to bull the job."

"If you 'bull the job'?" he meant "do an honest day's work?"

At ten o'clock one morning I met still another man in his office in New York. He was munching a sandwich and gulping a cup of coffee, which his secretary had brought in to him.

"I had to work late last night," he said, "and meet a very early appointment this morning. My wife asked me to get up at breakfast in a half hour, and so that I might have a bite and still be here in time."

"When I came down to breakfast the milk was still in bed."

She lives in his home, and eats, and is clothed by means of money which his brain provides; but she has no interest in the work, and neither she nor he do the minimum of work.

"The real trouble with the world today is a moral trouble," said a friend of mine recently. "A large proportion of its people have lost all conception of what it means to render an adequate service in return for the wages they are paid."

On almost any sort of question his sympathies are likely to be with labor, and so are mine. I am glad that men work shorter hours than the usual, and certain instances I think the hours should be even shorter. I am glad they are paid higher wages, and hope they may earn still more.

But there are times when my sympathy goes out to those in whose behalf no voice is ever raised—the executives of the world. In those hours are limited only by the limit of their physical and mental endurance, who carry not merely the load of their own work, but the carrying load of carelessness and stolid indifference in so many of the folks whom they employ.

Perhaps the most successful executive in history, that centurion of the Bible

"For I am a man under authority, having soldiers under me," he said. "And I say to this man, 'Go, and to another come, and he cometh; and to my servant, do this, and he doeth it.'"

The modern executive also says "Go," and too often the man who should have gone will appear a day or two later, and explain, "I didn't intend to do that."

"Come," and at the appointed time his telephone rings and a voice speaks saying, "I overslept and will be there in about three-quarters of an hour."

WILSON'S MESSAGE DEALS WITH PROBLEM OF UNEMPLOYMENT

the necessities of life. I ask the congress to consider means of encouraging effort along these lines. The importance of this matter is so vital that I promote production along economical lines, to improve marketing, and to make rural life more attractive and healthful.

Unrest Causes Superficial

I would call your attention to the widespread condition of political restlessness in our body politic. The cause of this unrest, which varies and deepens, is the feeling of being a deep seated. Broadly, they arise from or are connected with the failure on the part of our government to arrive speedily at a durable peace permitting return to normal conditions, from the transfusion of radical theories from smothering European centers peering and peering, from heartless profiteering, and from the failure of the government to bring our country back speedily to a peace basis, with ameliorated living conditions under the minimum of restriction.

The return to normal conditions, this unrest will rapidly disappear. In the meantime, it does much evil. It seems to me that in dealing with this situation congress should not act in a hasty or drastic but should seek rather to remove the causes of the unrest by bringing our country back speedily to a peace basis, with ameliorated living conditions under the minimum of restriction.

For the benefit of labor

No man who has observed the march of events in the last year can fail to note the absolute need of a definite program to bring about an improvement in the conditions of labor. There can be no social conditions leading to increased production and a reduction in the cost of living if labor and capital are to antagonize instead of partners.

Sound thinking and an honest desire to serve the interests of the whole nation, as distinguished from the interests of a class, must be applied to the solution of this great and pressing problem. The failure of our nation to consider this matter in a vigorous way has produced bitterness and jealousy and antagonisms, leading to the kind of a situation which we are now suffering from.

It is not only in the United States that the cost of living is increasing, but in every part of the world. The cause of this is not the increase in the price of raw materials, but the increase in the price of labor and capital.

Put Our House in Order

The great unrest throughout the world, out of which has emerged a demand for an immediate consideration of the difficulties before us, is a demand for a change in our domestic policy. It is a demand for a change in our domestic policy.

Frankly, there can be no permanent and lasting settlements between capital and labor which do not recognize the fundamental concepts of justice. The world is struggling through the years. The whole world gave its recognition and endorsement to these fundamental principles in the league of nations. The statement gathered at Versailles recognized that world stability could not be had by reverting to industrial standards and conditions against which the average workman of the world had rebelled.

It is therefore, the last of the statements of this new day of change and readjustment to recognize world conditions and to seek to bring about through legislation conditions that will mean the ending of age-long antagonisms between capital and labor.

Covenant Affords Way

The establishment of the principles regarding labor laid down in the covenant of the league of nations offers us the way to industrial peace and cooperation. No other road lies open to us. Not to pursue this one is longer to invite turmoil, bitterness, and antagonisms which will lead to industrial and social disaster.

Governments must recognize the right of men collectively to bargain for humane objects that have at their base the mutual protection and welfare of the workers in all industries. Labor must not be longer treated as a commodity.

Labor not only is entitled to an adequate wage, but capital should receive its reasonable return on investment, and is entitled to protection at the hands of the government in every emergency. No government worthy of the name should play the whole game against each other, for there is no equality of interest between them which the government must seek to express and to safeguard at all cost.

Strike Right Inviolable

The right of individuals to strike is inalienable and is to be interfered with by any process of government, but there is a predominant right and that is the right of the government to protect all of its people and to assert its power and authority against any class of any class. The government when it asserts that right, seeks not to antagonize a class but simply to defend the rights of the whole people against the irreparable harm and injury that might be done by the attempt by any class to usurp a power that only government itself has a right to exercise as a protection to all.

Honor of Trial

This is the hour of test and trial for America. By her prowess and strength, and the indomitable courage of her soldiers, she demonstrated her power to resist the power and authority of any class of any class. The government when it asserts that right, seeks not to antagonize a class but simply to defend the rights of the whole people against the irreparable harm and injury that might be done by the attempt by any class to usurp a power that only government itself has a right to exercise as a protection to all.

It is not only in the United States that the cost of living is increasing, but in every part of the world. The cause of this is not the increase in the price of raw materials, but the increase in the price of labor and capital.

Today's Markets

New York Exchange

NEW YORK, (AP)—The president's message, rigid fuel regulations and another slump in foreign exchange constituted the chief features of today's dull and uncertain stock market. Sales approximated 900,000 shares. The closing was firm.

Liberty Bonds

NEW YORK, (AP)—Liberty bond prices at 2:25 p. m. today were: 3 1/2's $99.70; first 4's $93.70; second 4's $91.60; third 4's $94; fourth 4's $91.80; Victory 3 1/2's $98.94; Victory 4's $98.94.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, (AP)—Although some hesitation at first in the corn market today resulted from lower quotations on hogs, corn soon took a decided upturn in price. The settlement of receipts and the smallness of contract stocks on hand here were the principal bullish factors. Opening prices, which ranged from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4, were followed by material gains all around.

Subsequently, gossip about the possibility of the Edge bill becoming a law this week had a further strengthening influence. The close was firm, 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 not higher, with December $1.13 1/2 to 1.41 3/8 and May $1.32 3/8 to 1.35 1/2.

Oats rose with corn. After opening 1 1/4 to 1 3/8 up, including May at 78 to 1 1/4, the market reacted a little, and then advanced higher than before. A big decrease shown in the stock of short ribs here tended to lift provisions.

Cash Quotations

CHICAGO, (AP)—Corn No. 2 mixed, old, not quoted; No. 3 mixed, new $1.44 to 1.45; No. 2 yellow, old, $1.69 to 1.69 1/2.

No. 2 white 80 1/2 to 81 1/4; No. 3 white 77 1/2 to 81; Rye No. 2 $1.42 to 1.53. Barley $1.43 1/2 to 1.53. Timothy $8.50 to 11.50. Clover $30 to 48. Pork nominal. Lard $23.92 to 24. Hibs $19.50 to 20.

Chicago Livestock

CHICAGO, (AP)—Hog receipts 64,000; fairly active, about 25c lower; bulk $13.85 to 14.14; top $14.30; heavy $13.85 to 14.25; light $13.85 to 14.25; heavy packing sows, smooth $13.85; packing sows, rough $12.50 to 13.25; pigs $12.75 to 13.00. Cattle receipts 33,000; slow; beef steers, medium and heavy weight, choice and prime $13.75 to $1; heifers $6.50 to 15; cows $5.25 to 13.50; canners and cutters $5.25 to 6.25; veal calves $10.25 to 17.25; feeder steers $7 to 13; stocker steers $6 to 11; western range steers $7.50 to 12.25; cows and heifers $6.50 to 12.75.

Sheep receipts 27,000; higher; lambs $12.25 to 16.25; culls and common $10 to 13.75; ewes, medium, good and choice $7.50 to 9.25; culls and common $4 to 7.25; breeding $6.75 to 11.25.

Chicago Produce

CHICAGO, (AP)—Butter unsettled; creamery 58 to 72c; egg receipts 401 cases; unchanged; poultry alive, higher; springs 25c; fowls 16 to 25c; turkeys 20c; potatoes dull; arrivals all cars; Northern Whitesacked $2.00; bulk $2.05 to 3; Idaho-Russos, sacked $3.25.

NEBRASKA GOVERNOR CALLS FOR VOLUNTEER MEMBERS

LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—With temperatures in Nebraska reaching as low as 12 below zero and the fuel situation rapidly growing more acute Governor Samuel R. McKelvie today called for volunteers to serve if necessary as miners in the state from which Nebraska obtains its fuel supplies. His action which took the form of an official proclamation followed a mass meeting called by state university students to obtain recruits for this work. Several hundred of the students pledged themselves to work in the mines if needed.

DAKOTA BEATS BILL AGAINST SYNDICALISM

Legislature Indefinitely Postpones Action on Repeat of Anti-Injunction Act Passed Last Session

BISMARCK, N. D., (AP)—North Dakota late Monday became the twentieth state to ratify the federal suffrage amendment when the house approved the suffrage resolution already passed by the senate. The copy of the joint resolution will be certified to Washington at once.

The vote ended the battle for voters for women in this state which began in 1885 when the territorial legislature adopted Dakota's first suffrage amendment, which was voted by Governor Pierce.

Drops Syndicalist Issue
The house killed, by a vote of 71 to 35, a bill defining and penalizing crime in syndicalism, and by a vote of 47 to 40 adopted a measure which definitely postpones action on the repeal of the anti-injunction act passed by the last legislature, prohibiting interference by courts in labor troubles.

A heated discussion arose in the house over the manner in which the schools of the state should be supervised and whether "new thought" or "free love" books deserved a place in the books distributed by the library commission. The judiciary committee reported for indefinite postponement a bill creating a board for general supervision and administration of all state penal, charitable and educational institutions.

Charges Improper Influences
In opposing postponement of action on the bill, Representative Burness of Grand Forks, declared that the state board of administration, which has control of the rural schools, if teaching love and socialism through the medium of books, should be read extracts from several books and declared that if the people of the state "know what was going on" they would be "down her throat."

Holding up a book opened at a picture of Trotsky, Burness declared "the time has not come when the picture of Trotsky should be honored in this country, more than the picture of the father of this country or its savior." He declared that none of the works in the collection treat of the lives of Washington and Lincoln.

Representative O. Patterson defended the work of the state librarian, telling him it is the people's right to receive any publications giving information. A committee was appointed to investigate Representative Burness' charges.

Sidetracks Salary Cut
Action on a resolution which would reduce salaries of certain state officials including that of Director General Cahoon of the Bank of North Dakota from $10,000 a year to $5,000, was indefinitely postponed by the house.

INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE IS BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

Executive Sessions Deemed Advisable to Permit Frank Discussions

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Under the personal chairmanship of Secretary of Labor Wilson, another attempt to harmonize relations between capital and labor was begun Monday with the opening of the second industrial conference called by President Wilson. Herbert Hoover was elected permanent vice chairman and Stanley King of Boston, temporary secretary.

The second conference began behind closed doors after newspaper men present had been asked to leave. Speaking for the conference when the first meeting adjourned after more than three hours of discussion, Mr. King said that executive sessions would be continued "for the present" and that the question of opening the doors had not yet come before the delegates, several of whom are understood to favor the utmost publicity.

Secretary Wilson explained before he called the delegates to order, that he believed executive sessions advisable to permit frank discussion, while allowing the delegates to keep their minds open until a decision was reached.

Discussion today in the second industrial conference developed a plan to formulate a report containing a statement of broad principles which should govern the relations between capital and labor and suggesting a general plan for the settlement of difficulties arising in the future.

Until an executive secretary is obtained, the conference will not undertake to crystallize the many suggestions put forward into a definite statement. It was said that the morning session was "very fruitful."

DELEGATES HOPE TO SEE AMERICA WITHIN LEAGUE

Representatives of Eighteen Countries in Session in Brussels Address Greeting to Organization in United States

BRUSSELS, (AP)—The third conference of national associations for the league of nations met here Monday, eighteen countries being represented. Baron Dechamps, Belgian member of The League court of arbitration, who acted as chairman, expressed the hope in his opening address that "notwithstanding the confused situation in the United States, that nation which rendered immense services to civilization during the course of the war would help to consolidate the idea of the league."

Paul Hymans, Belgian foreign minister also alluded to the situation in the United States and hoped for a "quick and happy solution."

Guglielmo Ferrero, Italian delegate, said in a pessimistic speech that Italy's troubles were due to "viciousness and military tactics by the peace conference."

"Time is pressing," he said, "two thirds of Europe is ablaze or threatening to take fire." Leon Bourgeois of France regretted the absence of American representatives and said he confidently hoped soon to see America's adhesion to the league. He said he knew "perfect unity of thought exists between the allies and America."

On motion M. Bourgeois, a member was sent to the American League to enforce peace expressing the conference's recognition of the reasons preventing American from attending and its appreciation of "the incessant efforts for the realization of a great international task."

During the closing ceremony, the message declared there was a "warm wish to see Americans as soon as possible take the first rank among the delegates."

JAPAN EXPECTS UNITED STATES TO CO-OPERATE

Eastward March of Bolshevik Forces in Siberia Develops Serious Problem for Nippon Calling for Aid

TOKIO, (AP)—The eastward march of Bolshevik forces in Siberia has developed a suddenly serious problem for Japan, which is gravely occupying official circles and which will probably soon be discussed with the American government. The convention by which the allies have operated in eastern Siberia may be menaced by the Bolshevik and the interests of law and order in China, Manchuria and the Russian Pacific littoral may necessitate a military campaign on a large scale. Japan apparently has no wish to attack the problem singlehandedly and the impression prevails she will discuss every step with the American government and may request moral, financial and even military support.

Seeks Co-Operation
Although some newspapers continue to talk about misunderstanding between Japan and America, the impression is steadily growing here that the people who are actually conducting the affairs of the empire will seek not only to cement the friendship between the two countries, but to cooperate with America in the widest sense in the solution of all far eastern problems. For the moment the greatest problem is Bolshevikism. The first public notice of the necessity of a common defense against the Bolsheviks was struck by Viscount Ishii, former ambassador to the United States, at the America-Japan dinner given by the Japan society on November 19. He said: "All petty and selfish considerations should be merged into the vast consideration of this common defense."

MAKES APPEAL TO AMERICANS FOR ARMENIANS

International Committee of the Red Cross Addresses Plea for Intervention Against Turkish Threat

GENEVA, Switzerland. (AP)—The international committee of the Red Cross has sent to President Wilson and to the people of the United States an appeal to rescue Armenia from extinction, at the hands of the Turks. The plea is signed by Edouard Naville, president of the committee, who has asked that it be given widespread distribution in the United States. Invoking the aid of America, the international committee disavows any political interest and asserts that it is moved only by humanity and pity. In part the message says: "During the war it seemed to the Armenians that the day of vengeance was dawning. How different is the situation now!

"Armenia seems to be forgotten; the Turkish army is reconstituted; the greatest part of the country which had been liberated is now occupied again; the Armenians cannot return to their homes from which they had been driven by violence; thousands of them are still fugitives and have found a temporary asylum where they live a life of misery under the constant threat of repeated massacres.

"Unless the allied powers step in and resolve to take up the cause of the Armenians, their future is not a mere return under Turkish domination; it is the completion of the work of destruction which has already been carried on with such appalling results. Armenia will no more exist; it will be wiped away from the concern of Christian nations.

"The successful conjuncture, the Armenians stretch toward America their bleeding hands. They know that America alone can save them and they entreat us to join our voice to their ardent cry for help.

"We therefore appeal to the feelings of generosity and justice of the American nation. Is the day in which other peoples joyfully hold the flag of liberty to be on the contrary the day in which Armenia is laid in her grave and her tomb sealed forever? We do not believe that America can remain indifferent to such a revolting injustice or that the cry of despair of the Armenians will not be reckoned in many American hearts and homes.

SOLDIERS' SEARCH FOR LIQUOR CAUSES CONCERN

Mexican Officials in Border Districts Complain at Unwarranted Crossing of Line

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—American soldiers in search of liquor across the boundary line into Mexico and frequently cause disturbances before they return are the cause of much concern to the Mexican military chief of the border districts, according to the newspapers here which quote extracts from communications sent the government heads by the officers. The soldiers, it is alleged, hold liquor and except in rare cases come fully armed. After patronizing a few cantinas surreptitiously hidden by their officers for this particular trade, it is charged that the soldiers at times become boisterous and unruly and fortunate circumstances alone in the past have prevented serious trouble.

GIVES FIGURES ON CROP OF SUGAR BEETS IN UTAH

No Thunderbolts

A "thunderbolt" was lately said to have fallen at Carthage, in Wales. As a matter of fact, there is no such thing as a thunderbolt, but two phenomena often give rise to a belief in something of the sort. When lightning strikes the ground it sometimes bores a hole of considerable depth and vitrifies any sandy substance in the soil. Generally, however, what pass as thunderbolts are aerolites, meteoric fragments that come from the sky but have nothing to do with thunder.

Reading the Bible.

A college professor, famous as a critic of literature, tells how he read the Bible when he was a boy. His mother not only insisted that he should read the Bible, but also that he should be able to tell her something about each book. This looked serious, but the future professor of literature hit upon a plan to assist his memory. After he had read each book, he illustrated it and after he had shown the picture, he found that he remembered without much difficulty.

CANADA'S ENERGIES NOW TURNED FROM WAR TO BUILDING

The new Dominion Parliament Building at Ottawa

Farm houses of this type are springing up like mushrooms in Western Canada

The healthy condition of Canada as a whole is shown conclusively in the increase in the number and value of building operations throughout the Dominion. There is a building expansion in progress, which is not only caused by the fact that new construction practically ceased during the war, but also by the natural growth in population and wealth of our neighbor to the North.

In Halifax it is estimated that the value of building under course of construction is fully $5,000,000. The value for the building permits issued in 1918 was $1,900,000. There is decided activity in the ancient city of Quebec, where it has recently been announced that the famous Chateau Frontenac an immense modern hotel will have additional cost $2,000,000. In Montreal, in addition to general building, a new court house has been promised to the city by Premier Gouin of Quebec, as the old one is no longer adequate for the growing needs of the Canadian metropolis. Ottawa is putting the finishing touches on the new Dominion Parliament Building, now completed except for the central city of Quebec, where it has recently been laid by the Prince of Wales on his recent visit to the capital. In Western Canada there is an activity which forecasts a big era of building. At Calgary, the value of building permits issued during August was more than six times as great as during the corresponding month of 1918. In Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Vancouver, Victoria and other cities there is increased activity to a varying extent. During the first seven months of 1919 over a million dollars worth of permits were taken out in Winnipeg, this notwithstanding the labor troubles there, which suspended this industry for a time.

It is estimated that the building permits taken out through the whole of the Dominion this year will exceed those of 1918 by at least 30 per cent.

STORIES From the BIG CITIES

"The Quick and the Dead" Combined in One Soldier

SAN FRANCISCO—A good many men have seen their death notices in a newspaper and read their own obituaries. It is a standing joke of the grimmest kind that many men are dead who don't know it. But here's a man who seems to be unable to convince the government he's alive. Anyway, to try to re-enlist in Uncle Sam's army and then he repeatedly told that he is dead is the experience of James Q. O'Malley of Plymouth, Cal.

Although Col. T. E. Page, in charge of army recruiting here, insists that O'Malley is alive and produces the man to support his contention, official Washington insists that he is dead.

And O'Malley's mother, despite her repeated letters informing the war department that her son is alive, is receiving death compensation every month from the government.

O'Malley has been trying to re-enlist for weeks. He learned for the fourteenth time that he was dead when he applied to the recruiting officer recently for re-enlistment. In making application for reinstatement O'Malley requested assignment to San Francisco in the motor transportation corps. In order to secure special assignment Colonel Page wired the adjutant general at Washington for this special dispensation and he received this telegraphic reply:

"Request in regard to James Q. O'Malley not understood. This soldier deceased October 13, 1918."

O'Malley is now on honorable discharge given to him at the Presidio here in April of this year. He served overseas with the One Hundred and Eleventh engineers.

All his letters to the war risk insurance department asking them to discontinue his death compensation to his mother have been of no avail.

AGED VETERAN BLUEJACKET GUEST OF RECRUITING OFFICE

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Folk here at Lone Star Camp, Wash., are to be one of the oldest American soldiers living, was a guest of the local army recruiting office here recently. The first enlisted in the navy June 25, 1861, and received his honorable discharge March 5, 1875. He is 80 years old and is now after an honorable discharge button such as are being given to men who served during the war with Germany.

The Honor Code. Those of us who would have our drop glides by our ally should not expect too much at the hands of others. This is a strenuous age—indeed, almost every minute of every hour is all too crowded for the average person. There is but one honor code to go by—play fair. The girl or woman who does so will have absolutely no regrets and will have a good explanation to others around her.—New York Evening Telegram.

PETROGRAD FALL IS ANTICIPATED

American Medical Corps Officer in Line for Director of Relief

HELSINKI, Finland. (AP)—If it becomes possible for the United States to begin to feed the people of Petrograd this winter, Captain John C. Miller, of the United States army medical corps, expects to be the man on the job. He is the representative of the Relief of the American relief administration and for some time has been in charge of the children's relief work now being conducted in Finland and the Baltic region.

When General Yudenitch's Army advanced about to capture the besieged city, Captain Miller had planned to proceed to Petrograd as soon as the city fell and to receive there the food to be shipped in from Viborg and Rival and arrange for its immediate distribution.

Lieutenant I. W. Warren, of Boston, who also was engaged in the work of feeding 90,000 young Finnish beneficiaries of the American Mission also was ready to go to Petrograd. He planned to go by motor from Viborg which is nearly 90 miles distant.

American relief supplies were loaded on barges ready to start for the Russian port. Movement of these supplies by water to Petrograd might prove a hazardous undertaking owing to the large number of mines still in the gulf, particularly in the narrow necklike approach to Petrograd. Beyond Bjorko, where a large fleet of British warships is protected from submarines and drifting mines by a net, the channel is believed to be full of explosives, Russian and Estonian, supplemented by those the Bolsheviks have placed.

The Finns have swept their own coast of mines, but their trawlers were unable to clear the deep waters. A number of vessels have been sunk, with considerable loss of life. Near Viborg twenty persons were killed recently. One mine which was washed up on Kipper Rock, near Viborg, completely wrecked the lighthouse there.

Finnish seafaring men tell a strange tale of the Russian mines which, they say, differ from all others in that, as soon as one is out another rises to take its place, and still another after the second is removed. It is believed that only a few of these Russian mines have been destroyed and that probably not even the Bolsheviks themselves have discovered the secret of their location.

GERMANY PREPARES TO RE-ENTER BRAZIL PORT

Letters from Hamburg Tell of Need for Foodstuffs of South American State

RIO DE JANEIRO, (AP)—Letters received in Porto Alegre from German commercial firms in Hamburg state that immediately upon the conclusion of peace, freight and passenger steamship service will be resumed between Hamburg and the port of Rio Grande. Porto Alegre is the capital of the state of Rio Grande do Sul, one of the most prosperous states in the union. A large proportion of the population is German.

Before the war large quantities of fruit, grain and wheat products were exported to Germany from the state by direct lines of steamers. The letters just received from Hamburg stated that it was proposed to resume this trade, especially as Germany was sorely in need of the foodstuffs which Rio Grande do Sul produces in abundance.

TRANSPORTS OWN SERVICE

French President Uses Government Property at London Dinner

LONDON, (AP)—The wonderful service of plate and china belonging to the republic of France was brought to London recently and used in a grand way for use at the dinner which President Poincare gave while visiting England. There were eighty-three heavy packages and it required several trains to transport them from the railway station to the embassy.

The collection comprised historic gold and silver plate, and priceless Sevres china lined with solid gold leaf, the whole surpassing in value the mansion of a king.

Throughout the journey from Paris the packages were under the eyes of detectives and railway men. Every precaution was taken against robbery and damage. The packages were taken from the station here after midnight and the vans proceeded through the comparatively deserted streets

Boyd Hospital LABORATORY

Twin Falls, Idaho

Established 1905

A new department of the hospital, fully equipped to lend valuable aid toward making a diagnosis.

Without a proper diagnosis, no disease can be properly treated.

Diseases, such as typhoid, syphilis, malaria, tuberculosis, anemia, influenza, obscure diseases of the blood and nervous system, Bright's disease, and cancer, can be diagnosed by laboratory tests alone.

In nearly every disease known, valuable diagnostic, as well as prognostic aid can be given by careful examination of the blood, urine, sputum, gastric contents, specimens of tissue, such as cancerous and tuberculous glands, bacterial examinations of pus spinal fluid contents, and inflammatory exudates, such as pus in the lung, etc.

No disease is of such minor importance that the patient is not justified in demanding every means toward an accurate diagnosis.

DEER INVADE KITCHENS AND BEGGAR BEARS STOP MOTORS IN YELLOWSTONE

DENVER, Colo., (AP)—Deer which invade kitchens in search of food, and beggar bears wandering along the roads are examples of the extent to which the protection furnished by the government for the wild game within the boundaries of the various national parks has tamed the animals, according to Horace M. Albright, superintendent and assistant to Stephen M. Lather, director of national parks, who came to Denver recently to attend the meeting of the game commission.

"One night shortly before I left I went to a dance," said Mr. Albright, "I took home a pitcher of cider and a plate of doughnuts. When I reached the house I placed them on a bench step while I unlocked the door. A noise behind me caused me to look around and there was a big mule deer with his nose buried in the pitcher of cider. He followed me into the house for one of the doughnuts, and when I gave it to him he trotted off."

It is an unusual sight, declared Albright, to see deer entering and leaving a house in Yellowstone. Small children feed them from their hands, and beggar-bears, he declares, have become one of the biggest attractions of the park.

"They wait beside the road until a auto or party of pedestrians approach, and then get up on their hind legs and extend their front paws for contributions," Albright said.

The tameness of the animals has its danger as well because it makes them easy for pot hunters if they happen to stray beyond the park boundaries.

"We had one of the worst affairs in the history of the park during October," said the superintendent, "and it drove the animals down from the hills in herds. They strayed out of the park in search of food and were slaughtered by hundreds. The hunting season in Montana runs from October 15 to December 25, and unless public opinion forces the state to enact more adequate laws, I fear the elk and antelope, which are making their last bid for life in Yellowstone park, will be soon exterminated."

FORMER SOLDIER TWICE REPORTED DEAD, LIVES

Bolles Big Drop of Newspaper Stories and One Official Mention

LARAMIE, Wyo., (AP)—Henry G. Hontz is not dead, despite the presence of a large crop of newspaper stories, supplemented by one official report, relating that on at least two separate occasions he died, but that he has been seen by no traveler returning.

Hontz, a printer, was seized in 1918 with an overwhelming desire to enlist in the army. His strong was the urge that he responded without taking time to notify his friends of his intention to go to Cheyenne and join the army or to make provisions for the care of his wife. In his haste to board the train, Hontz lost his hat. His dog, unable to follow him into the train, pursued the hat which was blown into a street, and he had to leave the dogged animal with the hat in its mouth, coupled with the unexplained disappearance of the owner of the dog and his wife, was accepted as evidence of the fact that Hontz had been drowned, and the river was dragged in an effort to locate the body. Eventually Hontz's obituary was published in Cheyenne and in the due time reached France. When he was in Brest, the news that he had been drowned caught up with him, but before he could communicate with his friends in America, he was rushed off to the battle front.

In the Argonne forest he received a shrapnel bullet through his lungs and lay for two days before he was found by the stretcherbearers. In the war department's casualty list he was listed as "killed in action," a fact of which he became aware weeks later while in the base hospital. The casualty report eventually reached his aged mother, but before she could be notified he had been reported as having been drowned here—and it is said her grief was so profound that she died a short time later.

Hontz's lungs were so affected by the bullet that he passed from one re-creation hospital to another, and was finally sent to the Fort Whipple Army hospital at Prescott, Arizona, where he recovered sufficient to allow him to secure his discharge. He then came to Laramie.

You can get a hearing for your application for employment if you will state it in a classified ad.
