SUPREME COUNCIL REOPENS RUSSIAN TRADE RELATIONS

SIMS ALLEGES CO-OPERATION LACK IN NAVY

Intimates United States was decided as to Policy in the World War as Late as March, 1917

CHARGES LONG DELAY IN COMING TO ALLIES' AID

Testimony is Put Before Committee Investigating Naval Awards in Form of Letter to Secretary Daniels Giving War Lessons

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Rear Admiral Sims told the senate committee investigating naval awards today that when he was ordered to England in March 1917, just before the United States entered the war, he was instructed by the department "not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes" and that "we would see as soon fight the British as the central powers."

The admiral also charged that American naval headquarters in London did not receive co-operation from the navy department and that the department did not arrive at any decided plan of action until ten months after he arrived in London. He added that "it was ten months before we really came to the aid of the allies or acted on their recommendations."

Optimistic Policy
Admiral Sims' testimony was in the form of a letter to Secretary Daniels entitled "Some Naval Lessons of the Great War," which Mr. Daniels received several days ago. The admiral criticized the department for attempting to administer the details of action by the American naval forces overseas and for lack of co-operation or to appoint a separate sub-committee to investigate Admiral Sims' charges of lack of co-operation or to appoint a separate sub-committee to conduct the inquiry.

Characterizing the alleged "attitude of the department as 'a terrible thing'" Senator McNamara, republican, of Utah, said he believed he will go to the navy affairs committee or the senate for further instructions and authority to investigate this entire matter of the attitude of the navy department toward Admiral Sims' mission.

Particularizes Charges
Admiral Sims' letter said the following "grave errors" were committed by the navy department: "Violation of the fundamental military principles":

1. Although war with Germany had been imminent for many months prior to its declaration, the navy never made a mature plan developed or navy policy adopted in preparation for war insofar as its commander in Europe was informed.
2. The navy department did not announce a policy until three months after war was declared—at least not to its representatives and the commander of the forces in Europe.
3. The navy department did not enter wholeheartedly into the campaign for many months after we declared war, thus putting a great strain upon the morale of the fighting forces in the war area by decreasing their confidence in their leaders.
4. The outbreak of hostilities found many important naval units widely dispersed and in weak positions before they could be repositioned in the war zone had been cruising extensively off our seaboard, and in the Caribbean and when war was declared, were rushed through a brief and inadequate preparation for distant service.
5. Violates First Principle
6. During the most critical months of the enemy's submarine campaign against the allied lines of communication the department violated the fundamental strategic principle of concentration of maximum force in the critical area of the conflict.
7. The department's representative with the allied admiralty was not supported during the most critical months of the war, either by the adequate personnel or by the adequate forces that could have been supplied.
8. The department's commander in the critical area of hostilities was not allowed to select his principal subordinates and was not even consulted as to their assignment. A fundamental principle of the art of command is here in violation.
9. Claims Undue Authority
10. The navy department made and acted upon decisions concerning operations that were being conducted 3,000

DEPORTED ANARCHISTS HAVE NO INTENTION OF REMAINING IN RUSSIA

Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, Prisoners on Soviet Ark, Talk Freely with Interviewer at Finnish Port; Woman Gives Ideas of Bolshevism as Practiced in Contradistinction to Foreign Views on Subject.

ANNOUNCE PURPOSE TO RETURN TO EFFECT THE SALVATION OF AMERICA

HELSINKI, Finland, (AP)—Finnish authorities have informed the soviet government of Russia of the plan to send Alexander Berkman, Emma Goldman and their comrades across the border, but no reply has as yet been received from the Bolsheviks. The Finnish communication requested that the Bolshevik troops cease firing when the party makes its appearance.

The Russians deported from America will be placed on board locked cars and taken to Terijoki, about two miles from the frontier, accompanied by a Finnish military guard and a detachment of American marines. There are two ways of entering soviet Russia. The first is across a bridge near Terijoki, where the Bolshevik and Finnish lines are drawn along the banks of a little river. The other is further north towards Rautu, where the respective lines are separated by a thick forest. The former is the more direct route and, if used, the American Reds will safely reach soviet territory. The other known as the "route of death" owing to the large number of political prisoners who have been dispatched in the forest after having been deported. People of Finland, acquainted with the history of deportations are keenly interested to learn which route will be chosen.

The reds on board the Buford will be taken to the Russian frontier by United States labor bureau and immigration officials.

DESCHANEL WINS ASSEMBLY VOTE FOR PRESIDENCY

Statesman and Author Born in Exile. Is Chosen to Succeed Poincare as Chief Executive of French Republic

SOCIALISTS THROW VOTE TO SUCCESSFUL NOMINEE

Election Ceremony at Versailles Smacks of Huge Social Function with Premier of Great Britain in Attendance

VERSAILLES, (AP)—Paul Deschanel was elected president of France by the national assembly here today.

Deschanel received 734 votes out of a total 889 cast. A provisional announcement of the result made shortly after the ballots had been counted, while not changing the Deschanel total, accounted for only 560 votes in all. The vote follows: Paul Deschanel 734; Charles Janart 60; Georges Clemenceau 56; Leon Bourgeois 6; Captain Jacques Sadoul 1; scattering 3.

As the national assembly opened its session here today to elect a president of France the choice of Paul Deschanel, president of the chamber of deputies, seemed almost certain. There was much talk in the corridors, however, of the nomination of Alexandre Millerand, formerly war minister and now governor of Alsace, by the forces that had forced Premier Clemenceau's election.

The session was called to order by Leon Bourgeois, president of the assembly. Socialists Support Deschanel
It was declared shortly after the session opened that the socialists had decided to vote for M. Deschanel, which appeared to place his election beyond doubt.

There were 840 senators and deputies entitled to vote but the total participation was expected to be 810. President Lloyd George of Great Britain came to Versailles for the ceremony, which was quite elaborate and smacked of a huge social function.

Paul Eugene Louis Deschanel, statesman and author, is one of the most brilliant public speakers of France. He was born in Brussels in 1857, during the exile in Belgium of his father, Emile Deschanel, senator and professor of the College of Paris.

Paul Deschanel entered political life in 1876 as secretary to M. De Marcere, then minister of the interior, and in the following year he became a deputy. In 1885 he was elected to the chamber of deputies, becoming vice president of that body in 1896.

Deschanel was elected president of the chamber in 1898 and held that office until 1902, when he was defeated for reelection. After relinquishing the presidency of the chamber, Mr. Deschanel was appointed president of the parliamentary commission of foreign affairs and colonies, which position he filled from 1905 to 1909.

Since 1912 when he succeeded Henri Brisson, M. Deschanel has served continuously as president of the chamber of deputies. He is a member of the French academy, he is known as a writer, and he has written several books on social and political subjects.

This is the second time M. Deschanel has been a candidate for the presidency of the republic. In 1913 he entered the lists against Raymond Poincare, but polled only 18 votes.

MUSCOWITES TO GET NECESSITIES IN RETURN FOR GRAIN AND FLOUR

Partial Lifting of Blockade Does Not Imply Altered Attitude Toward Trotzky-Lenine Government

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE DEBATES RESULT; PRICE FALL IS PREDICTED

LONDON, (AP)—Commercial relations will be re-opened between the allied nations and the Russian people at once as a result of a decision reached by the supreme council at Paris yesterday. This step does not imply an altered attitude toward the Trotzky-Lenine government, according to the statement issued by the council.

Clothing, medicines, agricultural machinery and other necessities will be shipped into Russia from entente nations which will receive in payment grain, flax and other products which the Russian people desire to export. Arrangements by which supplies sent to Russia will reach the peasants will be made, it is understood.

London Displays Interest
Relations between the allies and soviet Russia fill a great deal of space in this morning's newspapers.

Dispatches from Paris show a strange conflict of views regarding the hurried journey to this city on Thursday of ministers and chiefs of the army and navy. Some advisers assert they were summoned there to consider the danger from Bolshevism, while others declare that they were called for a general discussion of the European situation.

Russians Want Developments
Representatives here of Russian co-operative organizations are eagerly awaiting advice as to the allied decision to partially raise the Russian blockade will be made effective.

Although the official statement setting forth the allied decision indicates that trading between private firms and individuals is still under the ban, the importance of the ruling may be appreciated when it is stated that the co-operative societies, which alone are affected, in recent years have become the chief medium for the distribution of goods to the Russian peasants.

Represent Many Peasants
Then of these organizations having offices in London claim to represent the interests of upwards of 50,000,000 peasants. It is believed in some quarters that the lifting of the ban on the vast accumulation of Russian produce awaiting export may have a far-reaching effect on prices in the world's markets.

SEES AMERICA FORCED INTO COMPLY WITH POSITION

CHICAGO, (AP)—Opinions on the Chicago Board of Trade were divided as to the effect on prices here likely to result from the resumption of commercial relations with Russia.

J. E. Carrigan, A. O. Slaughter and company, said: "It is undoubtedly the most bullish and promising development toward a reduction in the high cost of living since the beginning of the war. America after being the dictator of world's values for five years has not only been forced into a competitive position, but has become the probable dumping ground of the world, owing to the adverse foreign exchange position."

In this connection he called special attention to reports of a large grain harvest in the south and southeast of Russia and that as a result of livestock there was greatly reduced food grain was available both for export and for human consumption, thus setting free for export quantities of bread grain.

ALLIES NOT IN AGREEMENT ON RUSSIAN POLICY

Clemenceau Opposes Opening of Trade Proposed by Lloyd George and Nitti for Effect at Home

PARIS, (AP)—The prime ministers of the allies, it appears, were not in accord respecting the decisions announced yesterday upon a limited opening of trade with Russia.

Premier Lloyd George proposed the measure seemingly to conciliate the labor forces of England. Premier Nitti supported Mr. Lloyd George, explaining that the decision would have a good effect upon public opinion in Italy, where a good deal of Bolshevik agitation is reported.

Premier Clemenceau opposed any dealings with Bolshevism but finally said he would agree to such a measure of trade as that finally announced. He insisted, however, upon writing the final paragraph affirming that the allies had not changed their attitude toward the soviet government. Clemenceau also remarked that he would soon be out of the supreme council anyway.

Defects Cause Concern

There appears to be more concern in the minds of military men over the recent decision of general denno, anti-Bolshevik leader in southern Russia, and the remnants of Admiral Kolchak's all-Russian forces, than in the minds of the statesmen composing the supreme council. The military advisers have continually been pointing out to the British and French governments recently that the situation in the Balkans and Fohn Balk is precarious in the presence of Bolshevik successes but up to the present it appears that the supreme council has not taken any important decision looking to armed resistance on a great scale to the Bolshevik advance. About all that is evident is that considerable military material and abundant counsel had been supplied to the allied governments and the other states fringing on Russia.

Foch Offers Counter Policy

Marshal Foch has long had the idea that the best counter poise to the armed soviet would be an international army composed of troops recruited from the Baltic states, Poland and Rumania and as large an army of Russians as could be culled, with other troops from all the Balkan states, the whole under French command. This plan was discussed by the military council months ago but was abandoned because the representatives of the United States would not agree to finance the new army.

MEASURE PROVIDES FOR WATERPOWER CONTROL

Bill Passed by Senate Contemplates Development of the Resources

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The waterpower bill as passed by the senate provides for creation of a federal water power commission, composed of the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture, which would be authorized, after investigation, to issue licenses for development of water power projects "for a renewable annual charge." The licenses would run for fifty years.

The measure further provides that the federal commission shall co-operate with the states and other federal agencies, that there shall be no charge on state and municipal power projects, and that industrial plants, developing less than 200 horsepower, shall not be required to pay a license. On two years' notice in writing the United States would have the right, at the expiration of a license, to take over and operate plants.

Power plants now in operation would not come under provisions of the bill. At the expiration of the fifty year license period, the government would have three alternatives in dealing with all licensed projects: Take over the plant; issue a new license, or have the original licensee continued in operation.

Senator Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, contended that if the government tendered a new license and it was refused the original licensee could continue operation from year to year which would give virtually a perpetual franchise. Other senators, however, disagreed with this contention. Senator Nelson, republican, Minnesota, in charge of the measure, in opposing some of the numerous amendments offered, said the country had suffered for years for water power development and that it was not wise to adopt proposals that would simply postpone legislation three years.

Those voting against the bill were: Republicans: Borah, Gorman, Kenyon, Lenroot and McGovern. Democrats: Gore, Harris, Harrison, Kirby, McKellar, Nugent, Reed, Rob-falls away, when conditions were such that full information could not have been in his possession, thus violating an essential precept of warfare that some decisions necessarily depend upon complete information.

"It is interesting to rely upon the judgment of those who had had actual war experience in this peculiar warfare the navy department, though lacking not only this experience, but also lacking adequate information concerning it, insisted upon a number of plans that could not be carried out.

"10. Many of the department's actions so strongly implied a conviction that it was the most competent to make decisions concerning operations in the war zone that the result was an impression that it lacked confidence in the judgment of its representative on the council of the allies and its responsible commander in the field.

"It is a fundamental principle that every action on the part of the superior authorities should indicate confidence in subordinates. If such confidence is lacking it should immediately be restored by ruthlessly changing the subordinate.

"11. To interfere with the commander in the field or attempt to take the most common temptations to the government and is generally disastrous. The influence of seapower upon his army."

"The navy department did not resist this temptation, and its frequent violation of this principle was the most dangerous error committed during the naval war."

DEPORTED ANARCHISTS

Berkman and Miss Goldman led a procession of radicals down the gangplank. A large number of persons assembled on the wharf, gazing curiously at the landing. The reds made up a motley throng, their faces of curiosity as they looked at the future captives, while there were traces of anxiety lest they might be attacked after they had left the protection of their American guards. Finnish authorities will look after the safety of the deportees.

After they had landed, Berkman and Miss Goldman talked willingly with newspaper men. Asked to give her opinion of her deportation, the latter replied: "It was melodrama he kept it secret."

"It was unfair and stupid," interjected Berkman. "You can't kill an idea like that. The czar tried and failed. He is dead and forgotten."

"Do you want to overthrow the American government?" Miss Goldman asked.

"You need no new government," she answered, "and I hope the election will provide it."

It is her intention to return to America as soon as possible. She wants to become an American citizen by virtue of her marriage to Jacob Kerensky at Rochester, N. Y., in 1887 and declared that court case was in 1909 cancelling Kerensky's certificate of naturalization was illegal. Miss Goldman was divorced from Kerensky in 1910 and this is not her true status as a citizen of the United States.

"An Nietzsche said: 'The test of love is the power of endurance.' I am convinced that what will be my life will be my life to return to America. I will not forsake Americans."

Asked what her plans were, Miss Goldman said:

"I shall not impose my advice upon the Russian government, but shall remain affiliated with the Bolsheviks. I hold my deportation was an injustice. We were not given a chance to prepare for it."

Gives Idea of Soviet

She drew a sharp distinction between Bolshevism as it is known in America and Germany and as it is practiced in Russia and explained the significance of world Bolshevism or anarchy. She asserted it was nearly 200 years old and meant approximately a brotherhood which disapproves of all government and demands equality among all citizens and a division of all clothing, supplies and products.

"Bolshevism of my kind, not the American or German sort," she said, "can never be suppressed."

Miss Goldman complained because she was compelled to cut her meals in the Kaiser's dining room where she was "an object for all eyes" instead of with her comrades. She added that she was obliged to write her objections "as so many of the girls, one of whom was taken to America as a baby and has no friends in Russia while the other has but two friends in Russia, but their whereabouts are unknown."

Under Contract to Write

Berkman is under contract to write for an American monthly publication a series of articles about former American prisoner wardens, among them

Thomas Mott Osborne. He will also write a number of Russian sketches, no said.

Asked if the reds would labor or would confine their activities to politics, Berkman replied they would be employed in mines but "naturally would participate in political matters." He declared he would form a "League of Russian friends of America," the efforts of which would recognize those of the American friends of Russia. Of the latter organization he said:

"It has grown so eminently respectable that even former President Taft is a member."

During the three days journey from Kiel to Hangö the voyage was dangerous in the extreme because miasms in the Baltic have not been removed by the German government. An expert German pilot named Schmidt was in charge of the vessel, swinging the ship around in wide curves or turning sharp angles. Once he stopped during the night while the rudder chains ground with a fearful sound. Matters became worse the second night when a mysterious and no-listed wireless message was received ordering a different sort of debarcation than had been originally planned. This caused a delay in landing here.

Inclined to Forget Status

Officers or the vessel were exceedingly fatigued after their long voyage, storms having impeded her progress. The ship is capable of making only nine knots in smooth weather. This held back the destroyer which conveyed the vessel across the Atlantic.

The Bolsheviks on board led a monotonous life which was made more irksome because of stormy weather when they could not be given their daily exercise on deck. After the Buford left Kiel, however, the weather cleared up and the deportees were on deck for long periods.

Their greatest pleasure seemed to be singing "Red songs." The reds were forbidden to hold meetings on decks, but made up for lost time when confined to their quarters at which time a secret captain harangued all within reach of his voice.

Superintendent Martin Berkshire, in charge of the prisoners, had to warn Berkman and Miss Goldman repeatedly that they were prisoners and not passengers or guests.

Today's Markets

New York Exchange

NEW YORK, (AP)—Further attempts on the part of professional traders to depress prices during today's brief stock market session met with little success. A vigorous rally attended the opening dealings, but gains were cancelled when heavy selling caused a reversal of the tide. In such stocks as General Motors, Crucible Steel, Mexican Petroleum, Texas company, American Woolen and United States Rubber. Extensive supporting orders came in at lower levels, the rally in a number of instances offsetting full recoveries. The market became dull on the rebound, but gains predominated at the firm close. Sales approximated 450,000 shares.

Liberty Bonds

NEW YORK, (AP)—Final prices on Liberty bonds today were: 3 1/2-4 499; first 4s unquoted; second 4s $90.00; first 4 1/2s $92.90; second 4 1/2s $91.20; third 4 1/2s $93.42; fourth 4 1/2s $91.20; Victory 3 1/2s $95.50; Victory 4 3/4s $95.52.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, (AP)—Fresh declines took place in the value of corn today largely as a result of selling based on opinions that a period of downward readjustment of prices was at hand. This selling, however, was of only a scattered sort. Weakness in the hog market contributed a little to the pressure on corn. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1-1/4 to 3-4 lower, with May $1.32 to $1.29-1/8 and July $1.30-3/8 to $1.30-5/8, were followed by a moderate further setback.

Subsequently, commission house buying on resting orders absorbed the offerings and brought about a rally. Word of trade resumption with Russia evoked much interest but had no appreciable immediate effect on prices. The close was firm at 1-1/8 net decline to 5-8 advance, with May $1.32-7/8 to $1.33 and July $1.31-3/8.

Outs sagged with corn. After opening 1-1/8 to 3-8 down, including May at $1.12, the market continued to drop. Provisions were weak owing to downturn in the value of hogs and grain. Some signs of liquidation appeared.

MEXICANS IN UNITED STATES WARNED AGAINST TESTIFYING

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP)—The senate sub-committee which is conducting an investigation of the Mexican situation here, held executive sessions today. No inkling of the proceedings were allowed to become public.

Members of the committee were said to be especially interested in press dispatches from Mexico City quoting Ilario Medina, in charge of the Mexican foreign office, as warning Mexican residents of the United States against testifying before the committee, under threat of being charged with treason. There was no comment forthcoming, however.

THIEVES' GANG OPERATES HERE

Authorities Make Four Arrests Following Repeated Burglaries of Local Shops

Burglaries averaging about one each night have been committed in Twin Falls during the past week or ten days, according to attaches of the sheriff's office. Most have been of somewhat minor importance.

Thus far four arrests have been made in connection with the robberies. Other arrests are expected to be made immediately, officers having become possessed of information leading to the belief that these depredations are the work of an organized gang of petty thieves.

The men under arrest are little more than youths, ranging in age from 17 to 20 years. They are, according to the sheriff's register: Erlend Flower, aged 19; S. J. Muller, aged 20; John T. Flynn, 20 and Haren Hanson, 17. All are their occupations as laborers. Flynn is said to be the only one not a bona-fide resident of Twin Falls. Flower and Muller are reported to be engaged to marry young women of this community, the ceremonies planned to be performed next month. Muller's father is said to be a farmer residing near this city.

According to authorities Flynn appears to be the leading genius of the gang. He claims to come from Chicago, and in his possession when arrested last night were found a bunch of keys, some of skeleton design, some to be used on padlocks, and others for the operation of automobile locks.

Among the places of major importance burglarized in the past week are the Twin Falls Vulcanizing shop; the Idaho Auto shop and the Blue Lakes store. The Idaho Auto shop was broken into twice in ten days. Cash registers and drawers were broken open on all places, and in some instances stock was carried off.

Deputy Sheriff George P. Huffman has ordered a bloodhound from Boise and will use the animal in tracking culprits.

as designed by the arbiters of fashion is very slaphy in contour, with a decided curve at the waist. Though the outer garments appear straight, the frocks really fit at the waist line. The modeling of your figure into new waist lines, which after all are nature's lines enhanced, will depend entirely upon the shaping of your corset; therefore, it must be selected carefully.

We have many excellent corsets, but we call your particular attention in this announcement to Warner's Rust Proof, a corset designed on lines adapted to a figure of the average size, as here shown.

There are so many good things about Warner's corsets that we might talk on indefinitely, but we will name just two—the shape and the guarantee. It is

DECEIVING NO ONE

It would be impossible for the American Legion to take the decided stand it has for law and order in the great issues presented in the nation, state and city without encountering some opposition—and it must be said that the enemies gained by the Legion constitute one of its best recommendations.

This opposition is not less real because except for Borger, Haywood and possibly a few others it has not dared to come out in open attack. With all the craft of cowardice it makes use of a subterfuge, the use of which is a confession of weakness. It understands quite well the cause of the impotency of veterans of the Spanish-American war to take the place of the Grand Army of the Republic, and so it employs a dodge familiar to most professional politicians and sponsors a rival organization seeking to divide the ranks of the service men.

On general principles there can be no excuse for a rival organization. The American Legion is big enough and broad enough for all who are eligible to membership in any world war veterans' association. It knows no class nor creed and is the catalyst of no interest. The tie that binds men of a common experience and sacrifice together and a high appreciation of the national ideals for which they fought —these alone hold the Legion together.

Recognition of this principle, in support of which no argument is necessary, must bring under suspicion any sporadic attempt to effect a schism among the service men, and in this particular instance suspicion is well justified.

It will be recalled that the most conspicuous of these pseudo-organizations put forward to undermine the Legion is quite active in North Dakota where the state legislature at a recent special session extended to one of its organizers the privilege of slandering the Legion on the floor of the state house and where its activities seem to be much encouraged by the same agencies that were caught lately in an attempt to install in the public libraries the teachings of Trotsky and other moral and political ultra-radicals.

Further inquiry into the antecedents and sponsors of this pseudo-organization of world war veterans is unnecessary, but if pursued, would tend still further to expose its entirely questionable record.

Intelligent men who were in the lists for actual fighting the world war will not be deceived by this abortive attempt to sap the only organization through which they may exert an influence to be reckoned with. They will be quick to make known their disapproval of the intruder wherever it appears and in their fight against it they are entitled to the encouragement and support of every American who appreciates the stand the Legion has taken.

ON TROUBLED WATERS

It is not without significance that while the league of nations, widely accepted as a sure preventative of war, was brought into being yesterday in Paris, there was assembling at the same time and in the same city a council of the war lords of Great Britain to confer with their premier with respect to a problem pregnant with portent of war.

"January 16, 1920, will go down in history as the date of the birth of a new world," declared Leon Bonaparte, president of the league, adding that decisions to be reached by the council "in the name of all nations adhering to the covenant of the league" would be the decrees of free nations "leaguely themselves together, for the first time in the history of the world, to substitute right for might."

Stirred to action by recent bolshevik successes which have carried the red Russian armies almost to the threshold of India, Persia, Mesopotamia and Asiatic Turkey, the cabinet ministers of Great Britain, at the moment these words were uttered, were assembling to decide upon some defensive action against bolshevik military aggression.
And defense against military aggression, in this case, means war and noting else.

Thus is presented the significant contrast of theory operating in the league councils as against fact thrust forward in the advance of the soviet arms to the boundaries of British possessions.

In the very act of the assembling of the British war lords at this time and under these circumstances, British mistrust of the efficacy of the mere dictation of the league is proclaimed, and demand for something more efficacious is asserted.

It is entirely improbable that Britain will stand by complacently while the red menace spreads over the territory she claims; but it is equally improbable that the rest of Europe can or will consent to further bolshevik aggression.

The menace in its nature, is quite as great as that presented in the ambitious projects of Napoleon or Hohenzol-lern.

As it is constituted, the league of nations is not all embracing. It differs practically not at all from the alliances formed in pursuance of the balance of power idea it is supposed to have succeeded.

It is not impossible, but, rather quite likely that the nations adhering to the covenant, appreciative of the red menace, might be led sooner or later to align themselves with Britain in carrying defense measures into effect; and from that to united action through the league is but a step.

The league to establish peace indeed,
is launched on troubled waters.

DAKOTA COURT
HOLDS LEAGUE
BILL INVALID

Withholds Sanction to Measure Designed to Make Acts of Special Sessions Effective within Ten Days of Adjournment

BISMARCK, N. D., (AP)—The state supreme court last yesterday by a vote of 4 to 1, declared ineffective at this time house bill number 60 of the recent special session of the North Dakota legislature. The measure provided that all acts of special sessions should be effective within ten days after adjournment of such assemblies. Justice
J. E. Robinson dissented.

The majority opinion in effect, held that the bill is unconstitutional, according to a statement made later by Chief Justice A. M. Christiansen.

In dissenting, Justice Robinson declared that the majority decision would seriously impede and hamper the statutory program for state owned industries.
The decision affects approximately half of the 72 measures enacted at the recent special session. The legislators supported by and in support of the Non-Partisan league, although in the majority, did not record sufficient voting strength on many measures which they fostered to obtain the two thirds vote required to attach an emergency clause making the legislation effective immediately.

A petition for referendum of house bill 60 already has been filed with the secretary of state by members of the independent faction in the state politics.
If approved the act would be in force thirty days thereafter.

STECHER DOWNS HIS COMPATRIOT FROM NEBRASKA

Former Grappling Champion Wins Tough Battle on Mat Taking Two Falls

OMAHA, Neb., (AP)—Joe Stecher, of Dodge, Neb., won from John Peck here last night before one of the largest crowds ever attending a wrestling match in Omaha.

Stecher won the first fall in two hours and five minutes with the head, scissors and double wristlock hold. Stecher was the aggressor from the start.

The second fall was won by Peck with the same hold, after Stecher had broken away in an awkward manner, allowing the smaller man to land on him with the head scissors and wrist lock.

The final and winning fall came after seven minutes, when Stecher secured another double arm lock hold and Peck rolled over on to his back.

Twin Falls Legionnaires Set Up a Score of 39 While Opponents Get 17

The Twin Falls Legionnaires last night defeated a basketball quintet representing the Oakley Post, American legion, taking the first game of the season 39 to 17. The game was staged at the high school gymnasium.

Bennett, center for the Twin Falls Five, starred in the game, making the most of his strength and maintained the pace set until the game was laid away beyond doubt. Following the game a business meeting was called and G. E. Denman, of the high school, was named coach for the season.

Following are the participants: Oakley—Griffith, Jr.; Dahlquist and Baker, Jr.; Holton, Jr.; Griffith and Hummer, Jr.; Hart, Jr.

"Boisterous Cheering" Prohibited at Western Conference Games

CHICAGO, (AP)—Boisterous cheering will be pattern conference basketball games, it was announced last night.

This ruling, which went into effect last night at the Northwestern-Iowa game at Evanston, states that in the event spectators become boisterous, the referee may penalize the captain of the home team with a technical foul.

Another rule was announced as follows: spectators arriving late must wait until the end of the first half before taking seats.

Your own good, common sense and your own doctor will tell you it is the only way in which you can expect a cure. After wearing it 30 days, if it is not entirely satisfactory in every way—it is not easy and comfortable—if you cannot actually see your rupture getting better, and if you are convinced that a cure is merely a question of time, just return it and you are to receive nothing and no expense. Brief Bits of Sport

Rumor has it that Heine Zimmerman, recalcitrant Giant, may be sold to the Pirates.

Dryfuss sure is a glutton for punishment.

Over in Salt Lake the Legion post is promoting boxing bouts, successfully, and in the open.

Here similar bouts are being pulled off, but in private and surreptitiously.

Why?

Canada has developed a fighter out of its army forces. This is Big Bill Reed, who the other night won from Jim Barry in a foul in four rounds. The tilt was held in Oakland, and the Canuck is said to have been worrying the ankle boxer something terrible when the low punch was served.

Sam Smiley, sagebrush sage, says: "Often you are in debt an' can't pay. It may cause you some unhappiness, but it ought to be some consolation for you know th' creditors are just as miserable as you."

Speaking of a pugilist named "Heavy," an inspired reporter says "He lived quietly."

Kinda paradoxical, wot!

Plans are being laid for a flyweight championship boxing bout between Frankie Mason, of Port Wayne and Jimmy Wilde of England.

If the affair is conducted as the tentative schedule contemplates it will be in Toledo.

Last night was the end of the world for a lot of booze guzzlers.

Skating on the canals may be shot to pieces with this January thaw, but see how good it is on the crosswalks.

If these Legionnaires continue to hound Dempsey with cries of "slacker" the champion may quit the ring and leave us all flat on our backs.

TWIN FALLS IS DEFEATED

THE successful farmer raises bigger crops and cuts down costs by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmer's crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads—the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do, the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

National wealth can increase only as our railroads grow.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

HIGH SCHOOL ENROLLS 634

Attendance of Upper Scholastic Institution Exceeds Other Years

The total enrollment of the high school at the close of school yesterday afternoon was 634, irrespective of its eighth grade class comprising about 30 members. Enrollment by classes is as follows: Seniors, 81; juniors 104; sophomores, 150; freshmen, 219; post graduates, 1, and foreign students, those from other schools not yet placed in their respective classes, 14. High school membership is in excess of other years.

It is estimated that from 75 to 90 of the seniors will receive diplomas at the close of school in May. This number is larger than that of any other graduating class except the class of 1916, which had 83 members. Because of the size of the senior class this year, it has been necessary to give them the largest advisory room in the building. Two seniors having the required number of credits for graduation left school last week but will join in the May commencement exercises. Several other pupils are continuing their studies this semester. The midyear graduates are Francis Schenberger and Earl Maxwell.

REED APARTMENT HOUSE CONSTRUCTION TO START THE COMING WEEK—TO BE MODERN IN EVERY DETAIL

Twin Falls Contractor Gives City Up-to-Date Building Planned for the Accommodation of 32 Families—Big City Features Included in Design of Both Living and Basement Quarters—Will Cost $100,000 — To Be Ready for Service September 1.

Ernsting $100,000 William G. Reed, Twin Falls contractor and property owner, will erect a modern, two story apartment house at the corner of Ninth avenue north and Shoshone street.

Basement excavation will begin early next week and will be hastened to completion so that the superstructure may be erected as soon as weather will permit.

The Reed apartments, when completed, will lack nothing that marks the latest in community housing. The building has a most approved plan, adhering closely to lines of those in service in the cities. The structure will have two main wings extending in the front, which will face on Shoshone street, a court, with ornamental platings, separating the wings. The back portion will form a solid connection for the two main sections.

In the building there will be 32 apartments, about half having three rooms, the remainder having two. Each section will be furnished with kitchenette and bath. A steam plant in the basement will supply heat. The basement will run under all three parts of the building, and in this will be established storage apartments for each occupant of the main structure, with a large reception, or party hall serving tenants who desire to hold festive affairs in connection with the reception room there will be a kitchenette where refreshments may be prepared. The reception room will be 25 by 40 feet, the floor being arranged for dancing.

The living apartments will all be finished in white enamel with black doors. Murphy "in-a-door" beds will be installed. Every kitchen will have an electric range, while illumination will be provided through the latest design of indirect features.

That the exterior of the Reed apartment building will be as beautiful as the interior is told in plans which call for Spokane tapestry brick with Boise sandstone trimmings.

While Mr. Reed will be in direct charge of construction when erection operations start George Willis will have supervision over the excavation work.

It is expected that work on the superstructure will begin not later than March 1, the apartments, according to plan, to be ready for occupancy by September 1. Reservations for apartments are already being made at the office of the Irigoin Land company, in the First National Bank building.

Mr. Reed owns a number of buildings in Twin Falls, including the Twin Falls Hardware structure, the Big White store, the Hollingsworth Building, building and others. For a number of years he has been one of the most prominent builders in this city and section.

Optimism Not Warranted by Spring Looks

SPRING weather is here, but no robins have arrived. In the air, underfoot and all about are the signs. Sun rays are almost lurid, and street crossings ooze the aloof that only spring and fall may know.

But look out; the real spring does not come even in this great temperate belt, in January.

Yesterday's top notch was 47 above, with 29 for low at night. The prognosticator says "Tonight and Sunday probably rain," which may or may not be.

It's all a gamble, anyway, and your guess is as good as his or ours. Don't leave the overcoat or furs at home.

MR. LAND SEEKER AND INVESTOR--

Do you know that land on the Twin Falls tract, the Mindoka and Burley Tracts, the Eden and Hazelton Country, and the Boise Valley, has advanced from 50 to 100 per cent during the past two years?

Do you know that land on the NORTH SIDE TRACT has not advanced anywhere in proportion to these others and that it will undoubtedly do so in the very near future?

Do you know that most of the sales of land on the North Side tract during the past three years have been to the Farmers and Renters on the tract who know what they are buying?

Do you know that the principal buyers from outside the tract have been Twin Falls Business Men such as J. S. Keel, M. A. Strunk, W. H. Wilkison, Carl Hahn, John M. Maxwell, J. A. Steele, C. A. Robinson, and others and also many of the Wise Farmers from the Twin Falls Tract. These men are not buying blindly. You can talk to the farmers who have invested here personally when you come over.

YOU WHO HAVE NOT INVESTED here had better get busy and investigate now, before the advance that is sure to come, arrives.

We have a good listing and some very attractive buys and we are entirely AT YOUR SERVICE if you want to look them over, and you had better do so now.

COME OVER AND SEE US. WE WILL SHOW YOU. We have the GOODS and it is no trouble to show them.
