President's Objection to Compromise Agreement by which Settlement of the Jugo-Slav Questions is Anticipated

LORD GEORGE and MILLERAND Draft Reply to the American Chief Executive Vetoing His Notions in Premises

LONDON, (AP)—By the noon today the reply of the allied supreme council to President Wilson's note relative to the proposed Adriatic compromise has been dispatched to Washington. It was learned after a meeting of a council today.

President Wilson's objection to the compromise by which the Jugo-Slav questions relative to the Adriatic coast of the Balkans is reported in London to be the reason why Lord George of Strathmore and Millerand of France drafted a reply to the American chief executive.

The Wilson note is said to have given indication the United States would find it impossible to continue to conduct itself as European officials at the

REPORT LEAKS STRIP COUNCIL

Publication of Dealings of Allied Officials Causes Unpleasant Surprise

LONDON, (AP)—In connection with another meeting held by the supreme council of the allies today to take up the Turkish question, it was reiterated in conference circles that it had been decided to permit the allies to remain in Constantinople as long as the Turkish government, which the allies have placed under international control.

The council members are known to be considerably exercised over the publication of alleged reports of the French newspapers, and are prepared to have Lord Robert Cecil speak in the house of commons who is responsible. An individual authorized to speak for the council said today that the "leak" of the note to Constantinople and the alleged lack of contents of the note to Germany were contrary to an agreement of secrecy made by the council.

PROTESTS FAIL TO STOP BIDS ON HUN SHIPS

Senate Asks Shipping Board to Defer Sale of Former German Liners; Resolution is Adopted while Bidding Proceeds

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Despite protests voiced in the senate and elsewhere and court proceedings designed to stay the sale of the shipping board today received bids for the thirty former German liners.

When the ships first were offered for sale in the service in which they were built and planned originally to operate no bids were received, but spirited bidding developed later for individual vessels or selected groups to run in specific service of an American line.

While the bidding was in progress these developments were noted: Associate Justice Bailey, of the district supreme court, took under advisement the application of William Randolph Hearst of New York for an injunction to stop the sale of the vessels.

White House officials announced that President Wilson would inform the senate that there was "no basis" for reports that there was an agreement between the shipping board and British interests for the sale of the vessels.

The senate resolution was adopted without a record vote after more than (Continued on Page Five)

INTERMENT OF FORMER KAISER IS NOW ASKED

Allied Demand for Extradition of Wilhelm is Reversed and Seems to Meet with Approval of Holland Government

HOHENZOLLERN IN FAVOR OF DOORN AS DOMICILE

Entente Suggests One of Dutch Islands in East Indies as the Place for Retirement of the ex-Emporor

THE HAGUE, (AP)—The latest allied note to Holland with regard to extradition of the former German emperor reverses the original demand for his surrender and only asks his interment, with the suggestion that the former monarch be sent, perhaps to one of the Dutch islands in the East Indies, it became known today.

The Associated Press learns on excellent authority that the Dutch government has already determined to reply with an offer to interment Wilhelm at Doorn. Holland would accept the full responsibility of preventing him from endangering the peace of the world, establishing a guard over him and a strict censorship.

Holland, it is pointed out in diplomatic quarters, is anxious to meet any request of the allies which is compatible with her own dignity and does not conflict with the nation's laws and traditions of long standing. More than anything else, as far as can be learned, she desires to bring to a close the issue over the presence of the former emperor, which has been a thorn in her side since the Hohenzollerns sought refuge here in 1918.

Hohenzollern is Wilhelm. That the emperor is undoubtedly willing to spend the rest of his life in Doorn is the belief in official circles, where it is also believed that the allies will accept the proposal to place upon Wilhelm's shoulders the responsibility of keeping him there. They point to him as being a particularly advanced man to inform him, as the village near any large city and the emperor is said to be easily bought.

ADMINISTRATION INVITES RAILWAY EXECUTIVES TO ENTER WAGE CONFERENCE

Director General Hines, at Suggestion of President, Asks Chairman of Operators Association to Designate Committee to Meet with Government Officials for Consideration of Pending Problems Presented by Employees

PROPOSAL FOR CREATION OF JOINT TRIBUNAL IS TO BE DEALT WITH

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Director General Hines today telegraphed T. Dewitt Cuyler, New York, chairman of the Association of Railroad Executives, asking him to designate a committee to meet here for conference with railroad administration officials "on railroad wage questions and related subjects." The request was understood to have been made at the suggestion of President Wilson.

Mr. Hines will seek an agreement with the executive committee of the conference, which will become unnecessary if pending legislation is enacted into law before the railroads are restored to their owners March 1st.

Relief Promised. Railroad administration officials are desirous of having the conference complete its work before the meeting of union committees is held here next Monday to consider the president's proposal that the wage demands be referred to such a tribunal. The president assured the union leaders that in that proposal he would seek the co-operation of the railway corporations in developing the railway operations in developing the railway operations immediately. KOREANS WILL PERISH BEFORE ACCEPTING JAP

Would Suffer Extermination Before Acquisicing in Rule of Nippon Declares Former Statesman Now Refugee

SIANGHAI, (AP)—The Koreans will suffer extermination before they will acquiesce in the rule of Japan, declares Baron Kim Ka-chin, formerly one of Korea's elder statesmen and officials, who has penetrated the Japanese cordon around Korea. He is now one of the members of the little group of Korean refugees who have found haven here in China.

"There can be no peace," he said. "The Koreans will never accept. They may not win for many years, but they will never yield."

People Devoid of Rights

He declared that the people are entirely without rights and without political representation. All special privileges are in the hands of the Japanese, he added, and they control all the sources of wealth and rapidly are acquiring actual ownership of the land. The Korean nation, he says, is without a mouthpiece, for he asserted not one Korean newspaper edited by Koreans is permitted to exist and public meetings are wholly forbidden.

"Not more than three people, even for social purposes, may gather and talk together," he said. "All of the schools of the country are under the direction of Japanese teachers and the instruction is given in the Japanese text books."

"He said that the history that is taught to children is garbled in such a way as to glorify Japan and discredit Korea."

Drives People Out

"Japan's course," he declared, "has been driving the people out of Korea into Manchuria at the rate of 100,000 a year. This is because the Japanese have taken control of everything that operates the railways, the banks, transportation lines, and customs offices and in those few places where there are Korean officials, the Japanese adviser is never far distant."

"Even the Japanese ricksha coolies are favored, for they are permitted to solicit fares at exits of railway stations and other places where the Korean ricksha men are barred."

"Japanese servants in private homes are empowered to check expenditures in these homes and to forbid any money they do not approve and the Korean who desires to withdraw money has been dejected in a bank must first obtain permission from the police to do so."

Since the revolution started, Baron Kim said, "the jails have been filled to overflowing and thousands have been put to the torture. But the people have never wavered and this is why students have thrown themselves upon bayonets with bare breasts when helms and military turned upon them. The people may die. They will never yield."

Republic Starts in Hopes

Baron Kim, who is 74 years old, came to Shanghai to become a part of the organization of a republic that exists only in the hopes and prayers of the people of Korea, for the leaders of the revolutionists, with the pattern of a government made up of officials chosen secretly last summer, they have gathered themselves together here with Shanghai as their capital. The connection between this government and the people of Korea is a carefully guarded secret, and its system not unlike the "underground railroad" by which fugitive slaves sought safety in the north in the days of the American civil war. It is effective however, for the subjects of the exiled government are swiftly transmitted and are said to be obeyed to the letter by the masses under the Japanese rule in Korea.

Works for Independence

Through the decade that has followed the annexation by Japan, Baron Kim has worked for Korea's independence. He said he escaped with a party from Korea by a perilous march overland, going by devious routes through the roughest country and traveling for the most part at night. In their final dash they waded through swamps, crossed rivers in dugouts, hid through days in fields and slashed their way through underbrush before they knew they were safe in China.

Walk That Tells Character

A peculiar walk is that of the long stride with the decided swing of the shoulders. This walk is generally to be seen in authors, actors and artists, and is characteristic of the art world, the man who has ideas of his own, and is quite untrammelled by convention. It denotes independence and, if accompanied by an emphatic planting down of the left foot, a stamp in fact, resolution and determination.

Musn't Send Cash By Mail Tax Man Says

Remittances for Income Levies Should Be Made by Check, Money Gets Lost

"Cash payments of income taxes should not be sent by mail," says Collector of Internal Revenue Lewis Williams.

"Cash sent by mail is always at the owner's risk of loss; and if lost or stolen, the sender may find himself facing penalties for failure to pay his tax."

"A taxpayer will find it more practical to purchase a post office money order, or to draw a check for the amount of the tax, payable to Collector of Internal Revenue Lewis Williams."

"The first payment, due on or before March 16, should be attached securely to the completed return, and forwarded or delivered to my office at Boise, Idaho. The first payment must cover either the entire tax shown due or at least one-fourth of the tax due."

"Early payments and early filing of returns is urged, in order that an overload on the final date, March 15, may be avoided."

KANSAS GIVEN 68 NEW LAWS

Emergency Legislation Included in Governor's Call Carried Out to Letter

TOPEKA, Kan., (AP)—The special session of the Kansas legislature just closed put 68 new laws on the statute books. The program of emergency legislation included in Governor H. J. Allen's call practically was carried out to the letter.

In a class by itself as an emergency measure and to meet which in particular the session was called, was the industrial relations court bill. By this statute strikes in essential industries in Kansas are prohibited and a court of three is established to adjudicate the controversies of labor and capital, workmen and employer.

The other laws of general importance enacted were:

Anti-syncretism law, modeled on Oregon statute.

Increasing possible school tax levies fifty per cent to enable districts to pay larger salaries to teachers.

Creating state free employment bureau, particularly needed to supervise distribution of workers in wheat harvest season.

Appropriation of $30,000 for Kansas National Guard.

Increasing salaries of supreme court and district judges to $8,000 and $4,300, respectively.

Providing bonus seals for convict miners for all coal dug over nine tons a week.

Authorizing increase in school district bond issue to permit building and equipping school houses.

Fixing sentence of five to fifteen years imprisonment for automobile thieves.

Establishing state commission to regulate rates of service and to stabilize market prices at stockyards and parking houses.

According to this table the amounts levied, in marks, are: On a fortune of 400,000, 65,000; on 800,000, 124,500; on 1,000,000, 209,250; or more than 20 per cent; on 5,000,000, 2,259,250; or nearly one-half; on 20,000,000, 11,919,750; on 50,000,000, 31,917,750; on 100,000,000, 53,917,750.

Christian Era

The Christian era was not adopted as a means of reckoning time until several centuries after Christ's time. An error was made in the reckoning then and it is now agreed that the time assigned for the birth of Christ was at least four years out of the way; that is, according to the accepted reckoning, Jesus was born in the year 4 B. C.

AMERICAN "QUEEN OF ARMENIA" BACK TO AID STRICKEN PEOPLE

AFTER a battle against death Armen typifies the "Queen of Armenia," Mrs. William N. Haskell, wife of Col. Haskell, high commissioner of the Allied Council and representative of the Near East Relief, 1 Madison avenue, New York, formerly the American Committee of Armenians and Syrian Relief, has again returned to her work in Armenia. Mrs. Haskell was aiding the refugees in a Near East Relief center when she was stricken with typhus. She was taken to a hospital at Constantinople, where after weeks of illness she recovered.

Mrs. Haskell gained the title "Queen of Armenia" through her unselfish and untiring efforts for the people of Armenia, even at the risk of her own life and health, the many times she brought aid to starving orphans and her unostentatious but effective cutting of governmental red tape when the lives of women and children were at stake. She is now in Erivan, capital of the Armenian republic, and while her husband is aiding the infant republic in its governmental problems she is working with the Near East Relief, feeding the starving, educating the orphans, re-establishing home life and fitting the people to be able to administer their own affairs when opportunity is given them.

Mrs. Haskell, like her husband, has never wavered in her belief in the Armenian people nor in her faith that if the American people even partially understood the real situation in that stricken land they would give generously to aid in saving the remnant of the race that escaped the bullets and knives of the Turks and Kurds, the horrors of the desert, deportations and the starvation and cold of their refugee days. It is no wonder that the grateful people call her "The Queen" and her husband a king among men.

MICHIGAN ELECTION LAW IS TO BE INTERPRETED

Attorney General to Determine Scope of Measure Requiring Affidavit of Political Faith

LANSING, Mich., (AP)—Whether the amendment to the Michigan primary election law, which requires that any candidate for office must file an affidavit stating his political affiliations, applies to the presidential preference primary, is to be ruled upon by Attorney General Grosbeck. The amendment to the law was passed by the last legislature as the result of the situation created by Henry Ford's candidacy for nomination for United States senator on both republican and democratic ballots. The question of whether the amendment also applies to the presidential preference primary was raised when it became known that petitions were being circulated to place the name of Herbert Hoover on both the republican and democratic ballots.

Keep Accounts. Farming is a business the same as banking or running a mercantile establishment. There are products to be sold and articles to be bought. The keeping of a record of these and determining the relation of the outgo to the income are important considerations on every farm. The farmer should know what his income is and just how he is disposing of it. He can know this only by keeping books and the first of the new year is the proper time to begin.—Exchange.

RECRUITING OF MORE NURSES IS CAMPAIGN AIM

Need for Domestic Relief Workers Indicated in Connection with Birthday Anniversary of Florence Nightingale

NEW YORK (AP)—A campaign to recruit 50,000 young women in training schools for nurses and a prize of $500 for the best three-act play by an American author based upon incidents in the life of Florence Nightingale will be among the features of the celebration commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of the woman whose work among the sick and wounded in the Crimean war laid the foundation for modern nursing.

Parents, public meetings and formal ceremonies will be held on the anniversary date, May 12. It was announced here today by the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, Nursing organizations, women's clubs and colleges will take part.

The prize for the best play offered by the Illinois Council for Nursing Education to stimulate interest in the nursing profession, in which there is a low rate of enrollment at present, incidentally it is hoped to encourage aspirants to be submitted before August 1.

As far too few nurses in the United States to meet the needs of normal times, it was said at the headquarters of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing, and the shortage during the epidemic has been acute. There are not more than 8,000 public health nurses in the country, whereas at least 50,000 are required by federal and state legislation either passed or pending.

WHY NOT LEARN ABOUT AUTOMOBILE BATTERIES

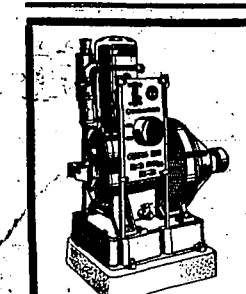

"Talk to the average motorist about carburetor adjustments, cylinder synchronizing gear shaft alignments, or any simple little matter like that," remarked D. C. Watson, manager of the local "Eridis" service station, "and he's right with you on every count. Ask him to explain to you the needs of his storage battery and he'll usually go down to the end of the class without a struggle."

And yet there is no real reason for this. Any chap who can figure out the elemental mechanics of an automobile possesses the ability to understand the simple principles of its action. I'm not much of a lecturer, but it is my object, in the case of every other "Eridis" service man in the country, round, to help my customers to get the absolute best out of their batteries; and I'm willing to do so any time and give them an enlightening little discourse on the whys and whys of storage battery theory and practice. I'm there to bet that the average life of the storage battery in these parts would be considerably lengthened if they absorbed my advice and that my job would be a more cheerful one, and my sales would be as good as assured. "Eridis" is a good deal like the garden variety of husband—it's much better to live with when it's properly understood."

Secured a Success. My three-year-old nephew was perfectly delighted with his grandfather's car and always cranked all his toys, and even himself, when sent on errands. He is particularly interested in anything mechanical and never misses any such conversation. One day he wanted the car's tail, and was delighted when I turned and spat at him, for, he said, "There, I got an explosion that time."—Chicago American.

GERMAN MILITARY TRAINING GROUND NOW FARM SCHOOL FOR AMERICANS

AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS, Coblenz, Germany (AP)—An old target range where German army recruits were taught to shoot, and where young Germans were drilled in the use of the bayonet, is soon to be turned over to Americans for agricultural purposes as part of the plan of the American forces in Germany to teach farming to soldiers desiring to take up such a career. The old range is near Fort Alexander, on a hill overlooking Coblenz on the Rhine. Agricultural textbooks have been ordered from Washington and an educational program being worked out at army headquarters on

Thus the motor transport corps is to have a school for automobile mechanics in Metterlach, near Coblenz; the signal corps will have a school for the study of telegraphy at Coblenz; the quartermaster's corps will have a school for cooks and bakers, and the engineers will have a school of their own at some point near Coblenz. It is planned to have unit schools at first and a great central school in Coblenz later.

The educational board in charge of the program is composed of Colonel F. Young, Lieutenant Colonel E. W. Holderness and Major C. S. Haigt.

INDUSTRIAL CENSUS TAKING SOON STARTS

Wallace Headquarters of Chief Special Agent for Survey of Enterprises

Close on the heels of the censuses of population and agriculture comes the next big step in the work of the fourteenth decennial census—that of taking the census of manufactures, mines and quarries and oil and gas wells. Director Rogers of the Census Bureau announced today that March 1 would see the work of collecting Uncle Sam's industrial statistics well under way. The general schedules have already been mailed to all manufacturing establishments in the country, approximately 400,000.

More than 1200 special agents will be needed by the census bureau to carry on the vast work of enumerating each factory, mine, quarry and oil and gas well in the nation, and Director Rogers has named an open invitation for all men in Idaho who are interested to file applications for these jobs immediately with the chief special agent of the census bureau at Salt Lake City, Utah. In his statement Mr. Rogers says that the work of the special agents will be from two to four months duration and that an energetic agent can earn from $125 to $150 per month. When traveling a per diem subsistence allowance is also made.

The state of Idaho for the purposes of the industrial census will be divided into five districts with Wallace as the headquarters for the chief special agent sent out from Washington. The work in Idaho, however, will be under the immediate supervision of the chief special agent in Salt Lake City, Utah, to whom applications for positions as special agents should be made. According to the present plan four special agents will be required in the five Idaho districts, with headquarters at Pocatello, Boise and Caldwell.

WISCONSIN. The rabbon viper ranges over the whole of tropical Africa. The body is exceedingly thick, subulated, with a large, scute-shaped head. Instead of progressing in ordinary fashion, this reptile throws forward lateral loops of the body and moves along in an oblique direction to that in which the head is pointing. A captive specimen displayed the trait of striking backwards.

SAYS LONDON WILL NEED MORE UNDERGROUND RAILS

Increasing Traffic in British Capital Brings Prediction from Anglo-American Magazine

LONDON (AP)—Prediction that a rapidly increasing number of underground railways would have to be built in London to take care of the growing traffic was made by Lord Ashfield of St Albans (Sir Albert Stanley), the Anglo-American railway magnate, in an address before the American Luncheon club.

"London today is not only the greatest aggregation of people," he said, "but it is also the greatest traveling city of the world. More people live in London have really lost all desire to walk any considerable distance. Within the next ten years I judge that London's traveling population will have increased to at least 6,000,000."

BRITISH EMPLOYERS FIND WORK FOR DISABLED MEN

Many Concerns Undertake to Provide Occupation on Their Staffs for War Orphans

LONDON (AP)—Since the inauguration of the national scheme for the employment of disabled men last September 9,500 firms have given necessary undertaking to employ an agreed percentage of disabled men on their staffs. The quota is generally five per cent, and employment has been guaranteed for 97,000. There are still 40,000 disabled men waiting for work and the hospitals have many more to discharge. Men who have lost a leg are working as clerks, cabinet makers, toy makers, weavers, etc., and men with only one arm are acting as messengers, watchmen, postmen, inspectors and teachers.

GERMANS GIVE VIEWS ON DEFEAT

Quoted in a Dispatch to the Associated Press

LONDON (AP)—The German press is quoted in a dispatch to the Associated Press from Copenhagen declaring that Field Marshal von Hindenburg's surrender is demanded by the most humane, because it leads to an end, and also because of his responsibility for the destruction of property during the German retreat.

The field marshal is also charged jointly with General Ludendorff with responsibility for the deportation of civilians and the organization of civilian labor corps in which thousands of girls are alleged to have been handed over to virtual slavery with women of doubtful character, and whipped and imprisoned if they refused to work.

OVER CITY PHARMACY

They couldn't be built now for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the corkscrew air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts to give him:

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile—road-bed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike.

A good concrete-and-asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile—just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a mile—much less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile; the French at $155,000; German $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest rates.

ROTTEN FIGHT FOR MAYORALTY IN SEATTLE WAGED

Three Candidates Including the Present Incumbent, Former Army Major and Labor Leader Go Before Voters

SEATTLE, Wash., (AP)—Three candidates, Mayor O. B. Fitzgerald, Hugh M. Caldwell, former army major, and James Duncan, labor leader, who are described by his opponents as radical, will go before Seattle voters at a municipal primary election tomorrow as aspirants for the post of mayor.

Bitter verbal battles marked the primary campaign and probably will feature the final fight in which the two who run highest on February 17 will make the deciding race on March 2.

Duncan, who was one of the leaders of the Seattle general strike of one year ago which Ole Hanson, then mayor, described as a "revolution," drew most of the campaign. Duncan is secretary of the Central Labor Council and has received the endorsement of the Triple Alliance, an alleged radical organization. Duncan repudiated the endorsement, however, claiming it was not complete as the various unions in the alliance did not vote on it.

The present incumbent, Mayor Fitzgerald, sometimes called "Seattle's boy mayor," because of his thirty-seven years, was elected by the city council for several years. Fitzgerald ran on what he described as a "clean platform," and urged charter amendments to take the city business on a real business basis.

World Push Construction
The third candidate, Hugh M. Caldwell, was municipal attorney here before he resigned to enter the army. He served as major in the judge advocate's department at Washington, D. C. Caldwell is a member of the American Legion. He has promised to push completion of several big projects planned by the city.

Duncan, in his talks, has declared that he favors the organization of unions by policeman and firemen. He also advocated the consolidation of city and county governments.

According to the Seattle laws, no candidate can be elected at the primary. Heedful of this, the candidates for mayor on February 17, the electors will also select candidates for city councilmen and for corporation counsel.

ALLIES REJECT WILSON'S VIEW

Hous, did not say in his note to the entente premiers regarding the Fiume question that the United States would no longer be able to concern itself in European affairs if a Fiume settlement were made without consulting America.

Officials said the interpretation of the president's note by the Paris newspaper "Le Temps" was "misleading." They said the United States would withdraw from participation in the peace treaty and the league of nations if the treaty were ratified. They also announced that the United States would withdraw from any participation in the Fiume settlement, including the holding of the Adriatic.

The president's position regarding Fiume at the whole Fiume question was said to be unchanged. This position, however, never has been officially outlined and officials declined today to discuss the matter.

No reply to the president's note has been received, it was said at the state department.

Magalhães from abroad said the reply had been dispatched and that in it the premiers adhered to their ultimatum to Jugo-Slavia that it must accept the compromise on the Fiume question or suffer the carrying out of the terms of the original treaty of London.

Vast Waste Desert

The great Sahara desert covers the major part of northern Africa, consisting of 3,600,000 square miles—an area larger than that of all the islands in Europe. From 100 feet below sea level it rises in one instance to 8,000 feet above, and some of its elevations are covered with snow for three months of the year. Most of it, however, is a dry, sandy waste, dotted here and there with an oasis where "drinks" may be secured. The winds are all very hot and dry, while rain is almost unknown.

Kept Ignominy in Memory

On the 5th of November, in 1500, Christopher Columbus, in spite of the incalculable services he had rendered to Spain, was taken into Cadix in fetters. King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella were moved at the sight and commanded that he be released. Columbus, however, was unable to forgive the insult, and until the time of his death the ignominious fetters were hung in full sight on his walls as a reminder of the ingratitude of his sovereigns.

Who Leads the Crickets?

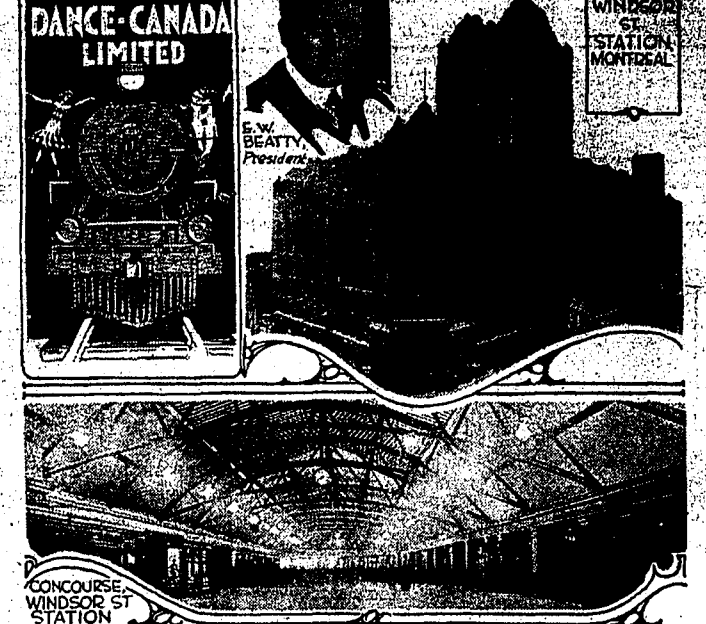

An individual cricket chirps with no great regularity when it is by itself, and its chirping is intermittent, especially in the daytime. At night, however, when great numbers of crickets are chirping, the regularity is astonishing; one hears all the crickets in a field chirping in synchronous keeping time as if led by the wand of a conductor.

"LIGHT FANTASTIC SPECIAL" DANCE-CANADA LIMITED

WINDED BY RAILWAY OFFICIALS FOR THEIR EMPLOYEES

Being "At Home" to 6,500 people is a social proposition of colossal magnitude, but President E. W. Beatty and the vice-presidents and officers of the Canadian Pacific Railway are used to doing big things, and when their New Year's ball, banquet and reception was started between 9 P. M. Dec. 31 and 4 A. M. Jan. 1, the vast crowd—very near being a record-breaker for an occasion of this kind—danced and danced and saw moving pictures and vaudeville until it was almost sunrise time in Montreal. The happy 6,500 were employees of the company and were guests of the railway, who personally financed the affair. The president will be glad to shake hands with anyone present, the program announced, and even the office boys had a chance to meet the young directing genius of the railway who started as a humble assistant in a new department and was president of the road at forty-one.

The main waiting room of the Windsor Street Station, grandly and beautifully decorated, was turned into a ball room with an orchestra and a vaudeville show at one end. This very room, 250 by 90 feet, was decorated and was president of the dancers, and when the last train had departed, the great concourse, 350 feet long and 60 feet wide, was added to the dancing space, having its own orchestra and a moving picture show besides. Messages of good will for the New Year from President Beatty, Lord Saurhughness and Vice-President Ogden were thrown on the screen as well as pictures of the Prince of Wales' great tour across Canada.

The great throng was banqueted for four hours, 600 being accommodated at a time in the refreshment rooms; 25,000 pieces of china were hired to supplement the regular service and 50,000 articles of wearing apparel were checked and cared for. The cleverly devised program was an imitation of a time-table and was called "The Dance-Canada Limited, Light Fantastic Special C. P. R. No. 1920." It made a record run during the hours scheduled and its two great destinations were "Friendship" and "Inspiration."

"I Agree With You"
thinking of a talk I had had only the other day when it was rainy with Leopold Lizard.

"Yes," said Lizard. "Well, of course they were talking about the weather to begin with and as a matter of fact they spoke about it every once in awhile all the time and they ended off talking about it, too."

"One of them saw me and spoke of how funny it was we came out and seemed to enjoy such days."

"But they told such curious stories. One of them told how a child had dreamed of bats and had wakened up in the middle of the night quite frightened by her dream. Just imagine how foolish that was. Guess there are so many people who think every one must be just as they are. I've never heard that, but bats were harmful."

"And the child was especially frightened because she said one of the bats scolded her in her dream and that bat was a middle-aged bat who was particularly cross looking."

"No reason at all why they should not," said Lizard.

"Well," said Lizard, "I'm glad we're sensible and not queer, though I suppose everyone thinks other ways from their own are queer. For here I am talking about people being queer because they think other creatures are queer. And I'm doing the same thing in my thoughts, too!"

"It's very funny," said the little red head to his companion as they both clattered along a walk which led from a house to the street, "but people really don't know how to appreciate things."

"I know what you mean," said the second little red head whose name was Lizard. "The first little red head was called 'Lizard' with his mother had thought was a very beautiful name."

"Yes, I know what you mean," Lizard said again. "And what is more, I agree with you. People don't know how to appreciate things. Now here there is a little cool day, it's not too cool. It's not such a day as there will be after a time."

"In fact, it is rather an unusual autumn day, or fall day, or whatever you want to call it."

"I'm not particular whether it is called an autumn day or a fall day," said Lizard. "So continue."

"And," continued Lizard, "it is a rainy day. That is best of all. The streets are wet, the grass is wet, there is a delicious dampness everywhere."

"Yes," said Lizard, "and every here speak of there being a delicious dampness over everything. There again they are so foolish. They don't think dampness is delicious. We fully appreciate a day like this, when we can crawl along and when everything is nice and wet. We don't care for other days like this for these reasons."

"Life is very funny," said Lizard. "Life and people both. Now when I say that I mean life is funny I mean that there are so many amusing things happening all the time."

"For instance, while I was sitting on this walk or rather sprawling on this walk I heard the people talking on the porch. Not only did they talk and talk, but they talked about it because it was raining but they told such curious stories."

"Will you tell them to me?" said Lizard. "Part of the time we were on the walk in front of the house I was

An hour's debate. It was offered by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee, and modified by Senator Hitchcock, the democratic leader, to meet objections that it constituted a reflection on the board.

At the outset of the debate, Chairman Jones, of the commerce committee, blocked consideration of a similar resolution by Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, which was offered last Saturday and which Senator Jones said was a reflection on the board.

Senator Ashurst said he had no desire to reflect on the board or its chairman. Later Senator McKellar got his resolution before the senate. He argued that "out of an abundance of caution" the senate should take steps to make certain no sale was consummated in whole or in part.

Lodge Gives Views "I'm opposed to government operation of ships," said Senator Lodge, the republican leader, "but that question is not involved here. We ought to know something about the transaction. There may be some committee the president has made abroad in reference to them."

Senator Hitchcock said he sympathized fully with "unwisdom of selling the ships in this precipitate way." He said that the reason why the United States was unable to sell the ships was because "starving low" was because there was no one who would take a clear title to them.

MONTANA RANCHMAN ADOPTS SON'S FIANCE

Sergeant Al Jette of Missoula, Mont., was billeted at St. Nazaire, France, when he met Miss Martha Bourier after the signing of the armistice. They became engaged when Sergeant Jette took ill. On his death bed he made Miss Bourier promise that she would come to his home on the Montana ranch and become the ward of his father. Here is her photo, as she arrived in New York on the last lap of her 5000-mile trip to keep her promise. She will be adopted by the Montana ranchman.

Would Have Changed History. One would have said that the most momentous event of 1783 was the fall of the Bastille. Yet, on a summer day of the same year a young artillery officer, bathing in the Seine river, was seized with cramps and nearly drowned. If he had drowned, Napoleon Bonaparte would never have added a single line to the history of Europe.

Bound to Get His Share. Little five-year-old Willie was invited to a birthday party. On his return home his mother was surprised to see him take two big pieces of cake out of his pocket. When asked for an explanation Willie replied: "Mamma, I could not eat much because my stomach was full, so I brought some things home."

WOMAN'S DEATH RECALLS NOTEWORTHY DISCOVERY

Mrs. Margaret D. Gibson, married with two children, returned for training famous discovery.

LONDON, (AP)—The death reported of Mrs. Margaret Dunning Gibson, who died in 1892, after she was brought to England for the first time of what is known as the Hebrew blood-letting.

With her twin sister, Mrs. Agnes Lewis, she shared the distinction of being the first woman to be the recipient of the blood-letting of Mount Sinai. It was very dirty, and its leaves were nearly all stuck together, through which, having remained unwarmed probably since the last Syrian man died in the masonry centuries before.

The sisters took about 400 photographs of it. When they returned to England it was identified by Professor Burkill and Bosley of Cambridge University as the Cretaceous manuscript, one of the oldest versions of the gospel which existed in any language. Another expedition was sent to Sinai and the text was copied. Its publication of the text in 1894 marked an epoch in the history of biblical criticism.

Mrs. Gibson was the widow of the Reverend James Young Gibson, a noted translator of Corvante's poetry.

PROSPERITY BUILDERS

Potential wealth of the Twin Falls country has been augmented to an almost incredible degree by reason of the net of L. S. Otto, of Filor, president of the Idaho Duroc Breeders' association...

Name and pedigree of the animals acquired by Mr. Otto mean but little to the average person hereabouts, but they are of prodigious importance and significance to men everywhere who know about such things.

Neither is it beyond the bounds of probability that generally men, hereabouts, as they become better acquainted with the possibilities of pure bred stock, will manifest as much interest at least in the name and pedigree of a registered animal as they do now in the antecedents and record of a baseball player, for instance.

The annals of the pure bred stock industry are full of accounts of the tremendous results of the sharing by the leaders in the industry of the advantages and gain incident to it.

What Otto is doing with registered swine, the McFasters are doing with pure bred cattle, the Walters with blooded horses, the Lewins with pure bred seed wheat; while a steadily increasing number are following their lead.

It is rather doubtful if any other influence is exerting or even equaling theirs for the building of permanent prosperity of the Twin Falls country.

THE WOMAN VOTE

Press dispatches, during the recent convention of the suffrage association in Chicago, carried an interesting sidelight on the proceedings that is especially pertinent to the question of what women will do with the ballot.

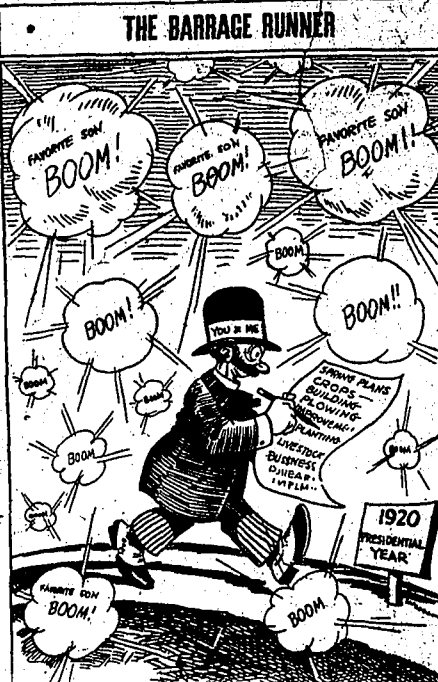

The convention, the dispatches say, came to the defense of Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, who has been attacked by anti-suffragists for aid rendered to the suffrage cause, and congratulated the republican party for having a chairman who is astute enough to recognize the certain trend of public affairs and to attempt to lead his party in step with the inevitable march of human progress.

Subsequently democratic women in the convention adopted a resolution thanking Homer Cummings, democratic national chairman, for help he rendered their cause.

Mrs. George Bass, chairman of the democratic women's committee, left the hall when the Hays' resolution was introduced. When the democratic women presented the Cummings resolution, Miss May Garrott Hay, chairman of the women's division of the republican national committee, seconded it.

Viewed from one angle, there might be found in this incident, basis for an argument that the advent of the woman voter may not be expected to revolutionize politics and that women are likely to share with men the impulses of political partisanship.

On the other hand, old timers in Twin Falls will recall a certain political convention held here along early in 1908, in comparison with which the attitude taken by some of the women at Chicago must seem to be the very essence of decorum, and political history is full of circumstances and events in contrast to which the women's expression of disapproval must appear as a gentle zephyr as compared with a cyclone.

Only a fossilized individual can find in this incident, or in any of the proceedings throughout, the convention, any semblance for argument against women's battle for their right to the ballot.

Political Notes

LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—Former congressman E. M. Pollard of Nebraska will enter the April 20 primary for nomination as republican candidate for governor, he announced Friday.

LINCOLN, Neb., (AP)—Completion of the work of circulating petitions to place the name of United States Senator William W. Johnson of California on the Nebraska republican presidential primary ballot to be voted on April 20 was announced here yesterday by Frank A. Mr. Harrison had charge of circulation of the petitions and said they would be filed with the secretary of state next Monday.

BALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—The Utah republican state central committee has been called to meet here February 23, to select the date and name of the city for the holding of the republican state convention, which, according to Henry Walsh, state chairman, must be held thirty days prior to the national convention in Chicago in June.

Albino. The term "albino" was originally applied by the Portuguese to negroes found on the coast of Africa, who were marked with white spots. Now an albino is defined as a person having a congenital deficiency of pigments of the skin, hair and eyes.

Determining the Seasons. The periods known as the seasons are determined astronomically by the apparent movement of the sun (the real movement of the earth) in the ecliptic, or its journey around the sun.

The passage of the sun across the equator, bringing on days of greater length than the night, marks the vernal or spring equinox for the northern hemisphere, and the autumnal equinox for the southern hemisphere, the seasons in the two hemispheres being always reversed.

Deeds Count, Not Years. In the olden time people counted in terms of youth, and that a draught of its wine was able them to live a better life in its busy years than the dull years of old age.

Overrate the Inqd of Darius, and Cyrus, Amar, and Hafs, for Persia has not nearly as many inhabitants as Mexico. Estimates differ widely and there has never been a real census, but it is possible that in a territory equal to France, Germany, the British isles and Italy all taken together, the population does not exceed that of little Belgium.

In area Persia is more than 15 times as big as Ohio, but it contains fewer than twice as many people.

Business of Creation. Its business is simple to know the best that is known and thought in the world, and, by its tug making this known, to create a current of true and fresh ideas. Its business is to do this with inflexible honesty, with due ability; but its business is to do no more, and to leave also all questions of practical consequences and applications—questions which will never fail to have due prominence given to them.—Matthew Hold.

Middleweight Champion Says Ring History Proves Him Better Man than Frenchman

Mike O'Dowd, recognized middleweight champion, wants to tackle Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight champ now talked of as Jack Dempsey's next opponent...

He's in the ring at last to build for himself the name that his famous fighting grandfather has made famous in the world's boxing ring.

But Benny has not signed up for the exhibition, and perhaps it would be well for this great lightweight to pause a bit and reflect upon the small chance he has against the big O'Dowd's size, eyes and teeth.

Benny better hire him a guardian.

Baseball ring makers are learning ways of common sense as they advance in years, he says.

Comes now some credit bug in wrestling things and says O'choer did not win the championship when he flopped Earl Caddock in two hours and a half recently.

So, by all of this, Caddock is still heavyweight champion wrestler of the world, if you can make Stecher believe it.

Tom Andrews, fight promoter of Milwaukee, says the Carpenter-Dempsey championship battle will take place in Paris.

Andrews must be without information concerning the American Legion's charges and the invitation now going on relating to Dempsey's war record.
