

ENGLAND STARTS INQUIRIES INTO ALLEGED TRUSTS

Profiteering Committee Reports Effective Trade Combination Existing Among the Electric Light Manufacturers

LONDON, (AP)—England has started an investigation of the past-year growth of alleged trusts and monopolies.

A profiteering committee which has been looking into the activity of electric light companies and other utility manufacturers, in a report recently made public, says that "a trade combination does exist among electric light manufacturers in this country and exercises a powerful influence over the conduct and development of the industry."

It is known as the Electric Light Manufacturers association, the report says, and has been created primarily in the interests of the manufacturers. The British Thomson-Houston company, the General Electric company and Messrs. Siemens brothers, it is reported to include from 90 to 95 per cent of the industry, to fix prices and regulate output, says the profiteering committee.

The prices fixed by association, the report says, become the standard for all lamps sold in this country, whether made by association or non-association manufacturers, and are exported from abroad. Because of this standard price policy the general public reap no benefit from lamps made in quantity, the advantage going wholly to distributors.

Standard vacuum lamps, now sold to the public for three shillings, states the report, could be sold at two shillings at which price the manufacturer and distributor would still have a satisfactory working margin.

"One and a quarter million half-watt lamps," adds the report, "sold to the public in 1910 at 12 shillings and sixpence each were purchased in Holland by three associated manufacturers at about three shillings a lamp. They could have been sold at not more than eight shillings which margin still have left ample margin for the importers and distributors. Importers and distributors between them made profits on these lamps of something like $1,400,000 over and above what would appear to us reasonable."

"Since the largest of the three dominant firms," continues the report, "is under the majority control of an American electrical concern, there is some danger that the interests of the British lamp industry may be subordinated to American interests."

"There is a possibility of an international combination of interests of British, Dutch and American manufacturers which would be able to control supplies and dominate prices over a considerable part of the world."

"The operations of an association which so effectively controls an important industry," concludes the report, "should be subject to public supervision and control."

WHO STOLE PATEGONIAN DINOSAUR, IS QUERY

Great Skeleton of New Species of Prehistoric Monster Being Sought

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—Who stole the great Patagonian dinosaur is a question the newspapers are asking and it is also a question which Dr. Carlos Ameghino, director of the Buenos Aires Museum of Natural History, would like to have answered.

The dinosaur, or rather its skeleton, was not stolen from the museum, it is explained, but from the soil of Patagonia, near Neuquen, where, in a remarkable state of preservation, it appeared by some English engineers a year ago, during the excavation of an irrigation ditch. They notified Arthur B. Woodward, naturalist of the British museum of the find who, in turn, communicated with Dr. Ameghino.

From the description of the engineers, it appeared the dinosaur was a monster, even for dinosaur, and of a new species. The museum lacking funds, Dr. Ameghino at his own expense sent an expedition in charge of a young naturalist, Augusto Tapia, to bring the skeleton to Buenos Aires.

"The English engineers," says Dr. Ameghino, "informed Tapia on his arrival that while they were away on a trip of exploration, an unknown person had come to the place, collected all the fossils that had been unearthed taken away those which interested him, including the dinosaur, and left the place. Tapia found only a simple pile of bones belonging to animals of various well known species. The great skeleton of a new species was not there."

The expedition cost Dr. Ameghino 2000 pesos.

MANITOBA HAS 3,000,000 ACRES AVAILABLE FOR WHEAT

WINNIPEG, (AP)—About 3,000,000 acres are available for wheat cultivation in Manitoba this year. The average yield of wheat for the last ten years is 17 bushels per acre. The wheat crop area on this computation would turn out a 51,000,000 bushel yield. In 1919 the total wheat production was 40,975,300, average fifteen bushels to the acre.

MURTAUGH

MURTAUGH—One of the largest crowds ever assembled in Murtaugh attended the funeral of Francis Pickett, who was accidentally killed Sunday, held at the L. D. S. church Tuesday at 11 o'clock. The church was packed and a number stood outside. Friends from Oakley, Burley, Twin Falls and various other places attended. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Interment was made in the cemetery at Marion.

ARCHITECTS ASK LAW TO STOP STREET DEFORMITY

Beautification of All Cities Is Advocated at Sessions in Montevideo

MONTEVIDEO, (AP)—World-wide legislation to stop the "hideous deformity" of streets, parks, gardens and plazas and to beautify all cities was advocated at the first Congress of Architects which has just closed its sessions here.

Representatives were present from all South American countries as well as from the United States. The congress is proposing legislation for the adoption of regular plans and the location of public buildings and monuments, recommended the continuation of the system of uniform squares. Classes in "urbanization" in universities and special schools of architecture were also proposed, a resolution stating that these were indispensable for the culture of the people.

Emphasis was also laid on the need of construction with government aid of cheap and hygienic homes for laborers in industrial sections. The congress urged also that there should be established in each country "National Banks for the Construction of Economic Homes" with funds contributed by employers and capitalists.

New Figures On Tire Mileage

The Miller Tire makers, in late years, have nearly doubled their tire mileage.

In their factory tests made last year no rival tire could match the Miller service.

Miller treads outwore all rivals by an average of 25 per cent.

Large tire users are making million-mile comparisons. As high as 20 rival makes are compared with Millers. Miller Tires have already won many of these tests.

Large Miller dealers, making careful comparisons, find that Miller Tires increase their customers' mileage from 50 per cent to 75 per cent.

It is time to get new figures on tire mileage. Try a Miller, watch the mileage, compare it with the tire that you use opposite.

Hundreds of thousands have in this way come to Miller Tires. And Millers are today the most talked-about tires in America.

CARD OF GLASS IS ASSURED FOR FRENZIED FANS

Program of Fistic Bouts Promises Sensational Action for Friday Night

That the scientific system of the gentle art of "biff" will be properly and amply exemplified at tomorrow night's fistic carnival, staged by the Twin Falls Athletic association, is a pretty much assured fact if boxing records and talent ability counts as an index.

In Jack Ryan, one of the principals in the main event, the highest type of fistic science is found. Points will be comes here from Salt Lake, is one of the most pleasing performers among the lightweights of the country. He is a clever boxer, willing to mix at any stage of the game, and though not credited with immense punching power he possesses a sting which has won him the great majority of his starts. His opponent, Al Nelson, is more of a rushing type, with a hard "kick" in either mitt. He is scientific, too, but depends largely upon carrying fight to his foe, and can do a tremendous amount of damage with one hand reared in the clinch. This goal is scheduled for 12 rounds, but experts predict a knockout before the limit.

In the preliminaries Wally Wallick (his real front handle is Virgil) is scheduled to mix with Roy Cunningham. The late are 145-pounders, each aggressive and able to deliver all styles of mauling. Cunningham has a host of friends here willing to stake their last jiny on their man. Wallick is a slugger of the Nelson type. He has a long reach, a queer and almost unsovable crouch, and a punch that drives with pile-driver power. The Wallick-Cunningham battle is billed for four rounds, as is also a go between Tom Morris of Butte and Jack Slaughter, who claims Twin Falls as his home. These boys weigh, stripped for action, 130 pounds and have been matched because their records are so similar that a good go seems absolutely assured. Slaughter was once a member of the British army, a Tommy who is said to have earned a good record both as a rifle toter and with the upholstered fists.

Interest in tomorrow night's carnival in general, but the most intense enthusiasm is found in the proposed six-round battle between Bill Wood, head of Twin Falls and Ray Rose, a couple of featherweights. Fight fans here recall with poignant pang the appointment what Rose did to said William in the first moments of a battle in Burley last week. Bill also remembers this incident, and by thus remembering he has evolved a new and steadfast purpose. Bill always has allowed he was caught napping at Burley. "I'll be awake this time," William insists, intimating that if there any sleeping fans here will die, and Bill will be the potion administering angel. Anyway this six-round affair looks like the real mix of the evening's entertainment. The program will be supervised by members of the state being commended, with Lester Mussen of Ellet, the third man in the ring. Points will be recorded by authorized judges at the ringside.

ITALY TAKES UP BOXING; WRITERS GET QUEER VIEW

Tale of Prizefight, as Told by Roman Describer, Pulls Laugh for Americans

ROME, Italy (Special)—Boxing and prize fighting have just gained some headway in Italy. As a result, embryonic sporting writers are being born whose efforts for flowery descriptions eclipse even the vernacular of American sporting columns. Here is the report of a prize fight from one of the provincial papers:

"There was vicious animation in the impatient crowd when there appeared on the scene what seemed to be two gun caineons that had just come out of battle. They were scantly attired so much so that they nearly froze to the teeth. Then there was sounded a fanfare of trumpets right into the ears of the waiting crowd and it was as if the wrath of God had been let loose.

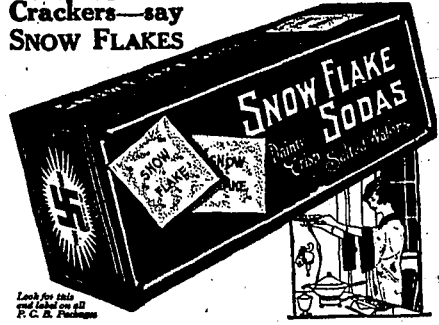

"Then there were the sporting bloods who frothed at the mouth because the public was ignorant of the beauty and passion of the sport and because the spectators did not take the sport seriously. This delicious sport—because the English call it; the manly art of self-defense—was prohibited before the war. But then, the war was fought for liberty and right, at least, the right to enjoy oneself even at the risk of others losing their lives.

"The two ruffians were placed in the 'ring' (a cord which separates them from the crowd). After some preliminaries, the two began to launch blows at one another—a truly intellectual amusement to watch. One of the two, by virtue of his being light-

WATCH COOLIDGE

"Do the day's work. If it be to protect the rights of the weak, whoever objects, do it. If it be to help a powerful corporation better to serve the people, whatever the opposition, do that. Expect to be called a standpatter, but don't be a standpatter. Expect to be called a demagogue, but don't be a demagogue. Don't hesitate to be as revolutionary as science. Don't hesitate to be as reactionary as the multiplication table. Don't expect to build up the weak by pulling down the strong. Don't hurry to legislate. Give administration a chance to catch up with legislation."

There is a note of sincerity and honest sincerity in the above. The words have the true ring.

Those who are at all familiar with the works and history of Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts will have no trouble in recognizing the authorship. The speech of which the above paragraph was a part was delivered quite recently.

At this time there is little "Coolidge for President" sentiment in the West and yet signs are not lacking that it is quite within the range of possibilities that this man may yet become a serious contender for the Republican presidential nomination.

Coolidge comes closer to being the Lincoln type of statesman than any other candidate now in the public eye. Prior to a year or so ago the man was virtually unknown outside of Massachusetts. Then came the great police strike of Boston—an incident well calculated to test the nerve and courage of the strongest. Calvin Coolidge was equal to the situation. His handling of the strike is now history.

Those who join with the general idea that what America needs for president is a man first and a politician third or fourth, will do well to keep an eye on the governor of Massachusetts.

OUT THE COST

A great reduction of the expenses of the United States government certainly is demanded. The authorities at Washington should set an example in economy by cutting down the cost of administration. But it does not appear that anything is being done at present in this line. Indeed, the tendency is in the other direction. There has been practically no demobilization of the employees of Uncle Sam except in the military or naval services. It is said that the number of federal employes in Washington has even been increasing of late.

When the United States went into the war the number of such employes was 37,000 and when the armistice was signed there were 117,000 persons working for Uncle Sam in Washington. A reduction was made to 102,000 by the beginning of last July, but the total has been going up gradually since then. There should be a wholesale clearing out of excess servants of the government at Washington. What the Democratic officials find for those people to do as an excuse for retaining them on the payroll is a mystery. The number employed should now be getting close to the pre-war total, thus releasing many who might go into some productive business and cut down the government expenditure.

Another way to save money would be to put the government on a strictly business basis. This would be helped by the adoption of a budget system, such as has been advocated for years by progressive citizens. Through adoption of a budget system, taxes in Illinois have been reduced 30 per cent in two years, unwarranted expenditure have been dispensed with, and the state government has been modernized to the benefit of the taxpayers. Illinois has set an example which should be followed by other states and by the federal government.
