CARRANZA MEETS DEATH IN BATTLE AGAINST REVOLUTIONISTS

FIRE LOSS HEAVIEST IN ANNALS

Flames Sweep Main Avenue Business Block, Wrecking Havoc with Stocks and Office Furnishings
OCCUPANTS MAKE ESCAPE THROUGH BLAZING GULF
Estimates of Damage Range from $150,000 to $200,000 in Most Destructive Fire in History of City

With a total loss estimated anywhere between $150,000 and $200,000, the most disastrous fire in the history of the city last night destroyed the entire upper story of the Gillison Hall building owned by Charles M. Smith and the W. P. Hie building adjoining, threatened the adjoining buildings on both sides for hours and partially destroyed thousands of dollars worth of merchandise in the stores on the ground floor owned by the Salladay Hardware company, W. H. Wright and Sons, the United Stores, as well as virtually all the contents of the various law and other offices on the second story.

Crash Sounds Warning
Apparently the fire was first discovered about 2 o'clock this morning by Roy Metz of the Clathery, who was sleeping in the building. Mr. Metz states that he was occupying a sleeping porch at the rear of the building when a loud crash. He leaped from his bed only to discover that the surroundings were bright as day with flames bursting through the chimney and pouring forth and dense smoke everywhere. Knowing that two other persons were asleep in the building he made his way to the rooms of Mrs. M. J. Todd who operates a beauty parlor in rooms at the front of the building and with her made his way to the street by crawling backward down the stairs. At about this time Harry McKinley, working with the fire department succeeded in entrance into the building through a second story window into the apartment of Miss Elizabeth Greenwalt, a public stenographer. By this time the flames were burning through the roof and into the reception room of the Greenwalt apartment. Mr. McKinley assisted Miss Greenwalt to the window and onto the ledge, carrying her to safety on the street below.

Breace Fans Flames
For something like two hours the fire raged, the flames fanned by a fresh breeze from the west, reaching buildings in the rear. The fire department arrived upon the scene promptly and had a number of lines of hose laid out on the building and playing upon the flames. During the entire course of the conflagration not over 200 or so persons were on the scene but these, together with the firefighters and fire alarm service in helping to prevent the spread of the flames.

Cigarette Cause?
A number of theories are advanced as to the origin of the flames, the most plausible being that the blaze was caused by the careless dropping of a lighted cigarette on the floor of the dancehall on the second floor where a

RESERVE BOARD TAKES STEPS TO CUT SUGAR COST

Advices Scrutiny of Loans to Trade with View to Making Stored Stocks Available to Domestic Consumption
WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Another step designed to aid in driving down prices of necessities has been taken by the Federal reserve board. Governor Harding's authorization, according to federal reserve bank officials that they would scrutinize carefully the paper they hold as security for loans made to the sugar trade to the end that more sugar may be made available for domestic consumption.
It was estimated that probably $20,000,000 was tied up in "frozen" loans on sugar stocks and it was regarded as probable that the banks would locate any sugar stocks held for speculative purposes and force their distribution.

NIGHT RIDING DEVELOPS IN BEET GROWER STRIKE

DETROIT, Mich., (AP)—Reports of alleged night riding in the Saginaw valley sugar beet district have reached the office of Arthur L. Barkey, chief of the investigation bureau here, of the department of justice.
An investigation, Mr. Barkey said, showed that two laborers' shacks had been burned and one blown up. Instances also were found, he said, where tools and small machinery used on the beet sugar farms had been destroyed. The depredations are said to be the result of a strike of beet growers which they term an unfair contract for the 1920 crop.

CHAMBERLAIN FAVORED NOMINEE FOR SENATOR

Hoover Holds Third Place with Margin Over Lowden in Vote for Republican Presidential Preference

PORTLAND, Ore., (AP)—Returns compiled from 17 counties in Oregon on yesterday's republican presidential preference primary give Hoover, 3349; Johnson, 8296; Lowden, 2912; Wood, 7229. These figures include 96 precincts complete in Multnomah county. Of 4566 votes cast in a provisional election in these 17 counties there were tabulated earlier today in 24 counties. The returns were compiled by the Portland Telegram.

Wood Rins Strong
Returns early today from Oregon's state primary election yesterday showed Major General Leonard Wood leading in the state outside of Multnomah county while Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California was ahead in Multnomah county.
Of 4566 votes counted in Multnomah county, Johnson had a lead of 377. Of 3473 votes counted in 24 counties outside of Multnomah, Wood had a lead of 487.

The compilation of incomplete returns from 25 counties, including Multnomah county, on presidential preference primaries gives:
Wood, 3270; Johnson, 3017; Lowden, 1249; Hoover, 888; Polinder, 16.
Chamberlain Holds Lead
Senator George E. Chamberlain, according to returns, had a lead over Harvey G. Stanford, his opponent for the democratic nomination for United States senator. Chamberlain's lead in Multnomah county totaled seventy votes in 187 incomplete precincts out of 413.

Robert N. Stanford seems to have a sufficient lead over Albert Abraham to insure him of the republican nomination for the senate.

VENUSTIANO CARRANZA

Deposed President of Mexico Whose Death in Battle is Officially Announced in Mexico City.

CARRANZA RISES FROM OBSCURITY

Steps into World Prominence Over Graves of Hopes of Usurper Huerta

Venustiano Carranza, elected president of Mexico March 11, 1917, by the largest vote ever cast in a provisional election in his country, stepped from political obscurity to national and international prominence on the grave of the hopes of General Victoriano Huerta, the usurper, and his followers. Simultaneously with General Huerta's coup d'etat and the assassination of President Madero, the news went out that Carranza, elected governor of the state of Coahuila in 1911 refused to recognize the usurper and would resist him by force of arms.
"Madero's revolution was political," Carranza is quoted as having said. "Mine is a social one."

Quit Bar for Ranch

Born of parents in comfortable circumstances in Cuatro Ciénegas, state of Coahuila, December 29, 1859, Venustiano Carranza was educated in the public schools of his native state and later studied law at the Mexican capital. When he was admitted to the bar, however, affection of the eyes prevented him from practicing and he returned to his native state to become a rancher. His experiences as a rancher first, then as judge, senator and finally governor of Coahuila, made Carranza familiar with the agrarian problem, the root of the political unrest in Mexico.

Having defied Huerta, Carranza rallied a small band of 600 followers which grew into a sizable army when he won the support of Francisco Villa. Carranza's victories spread rapidly, the military influence of his chief aide, Villa, rallying the various factions of northern Mexico around his banner. For a time, however, real progress was slow. Huerta's machinations had embroiled Mexico with the United States and intervention seemed imminent. The killing of W. S. Benton, a British subject, by a staff officer of Villa, further complicated the situation.

Villa Turns Tide

Then came Villa's victory at Torreon, the first real success of the war. Carranza was pressing Huerta hard when the A B C conference to discuss the differences between the United States and Huerta was called in Buffalo. General Huerta refused to suspend hostilities and declined to abide by the result of those diplomatic negotiations. The fighting went on with the result that General Huerta resigned the provisional presidency July 15, 1914, and a month later General Carranza made his triumphal entry into Mexico City, Huerta in the meantime having fled to Spain.

Shortly afterward independent revolutionaries, led by Zapata, General Pascual Orozco and others, commenced. Negotiations between Villa and Carranza, plus an all interim president, such as Carranza had been taken through the calling of congress in special session for May 24 to name a provisional president.
Address to the de facto agents here have indicated the outstanding candidates to be Adolfo de la Huerta and Felix Gallo.

Luis Marón, Chief Explains

Luis Marón, chief of organized labor in Mexico conferred informally at the department today explaining conditions that brought about the revolution and the aims of the de facto officials. He gave assurances that rights of foreigners would be protected.

FUGITIVE EXECUTIVE OF MEXICO FALLS IN ACTION

Official Announcement Is Made in Mexican Capital of Death of Deposed President and Companions

CARRANZA ASSASSINATED BY HIS OWN MEN UNDER COMMAND OF FORMER DIAZ SOLDIER

EL PASO, TEXAS, (AP)—President Carranza of Mexico was assassinated by his own men, according to a telegram from General Alvaro Obregón of Mexico City, received by revolutionary agents here today. Carranza was killed by troops under General Rodolfo Herrera, a former federal soldier of the Diaz regime, the message from Obregón stated. The assassination was reported to have taken place at Tlaxcalantongo, Puebla, yesterday.
Carranza's faithful followers, who were with him when he died, addressed a message to General Pablo Gonzalez protesting the assassination of their chief. This message was transmitted here by Obregón with his answer.
The Carranza leaders said Carranza was made a prisoner and severely assaulted at the city of "Viva Obregón" by General Rodolfo Herrera, and his men, violating the hospitality that had been offered him by Herrera.

"The undersigned of this message," said the Carranzistas, "protest with all their energy, honor and loyalty to the entire world this new stain which has been thrown upon our country."
Obregón, in his answer to this message, scathingly arraigned Carranza's followers for allowing him to be assassinated.
"It is very strange," he said, "that a group of officers who are proud of their loyalty and honor like yours and who were accompanying President Carranza with the unflinching duty of protecting him, should have allowed him to be assassinated."

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—President Venustiano Carranza, who with a small party of followers has been a fugitive in the mountains of Puebla since last week, was killed at Tlaxcalantongo early Thursday morning, according to official announcement here. His companions, the names of whom are unknown, also were killed.

General Rodolfo Herrera, it is said, directed the attack that resulted in the death of the fugitive president and his followers. He belonged to forces commanded by General Francisco Mariel, who accompanied Carranza in his flight from Mexico City, but last week joined the revolutionists.

There is some uncertainty regarding the exact affiliation of General Herrera. It is generally believed possible, however, that he commanded a small unit of men in the fleeing president. He was in rebellion against Carranza for several years, centering his operations in the state of Oahuja. He surrendered last March to General Mariel, who was in command of government forces in that state.

May Have Turned Traitor

When General Mariel went over to the revolutionists last week a portion of his troops, it is known, remained loyal to the president, and belief exists that Carranza might have taken along with him, in his flight toward Tuxpan, Herrera's forces, which finally turned against him. Tlaxcalantongo is a small town in the vicinity of Huachuapilla, in the northern "humble" of the state of Puebla. It is approximately 85 miles from San Antonio, where Carranza left his forces and took refuge in the mountains.

Some Followers Safe

Reports received here early this morning state that General Juan Barragan, chief of the presidential staff, Ygnacio Bonillas, former Mexican ambassador at Washington, General Mariano Gonzalez and General Federico Montes, who accompanied President Carranza in his flight from San Antonio, are safe. No mention is made of the others in the party, which it is believed included Luis Cabrera, minister of the treasury; Alfonso Cabrera, his brother governor of Puebla, and General Francisco Margín, who acted as Carranza's chief of staff. Reports for the president had fled from this city.

Orders have been given that a train be taken to Beristain, the nearest railway point to Tlaxcalantongo, to receive the bodies of those killed.

Procedure Not Altered

Legal procedure for establishment of a government in Mexico has not been altered by the death of the constitutional president. The constitution of 1917 provides that in the event of the death of the president congress shall name an interim president. Such emergency action has been taken in the calling of congress in special session for May 24 to name a provisional president.
Address to the de facto agents here have indicated the outstanding candidates to be Adolfo de la Huerta and Felix Gallo.

REVOLT AGENTS CONCERNED OVER CARRANZA'S END

Manner of Death of First Chief May Inject Unexpected Element in Question of New Government's Recognition

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Publication in Mexico City today of an official bulletin announcing that President Carranza and certain of his followers had been killed was reported to the state department by the American embassy. The message gave no additional details.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—No report on the death of Carranza had come today from the American embassy in Mexico City and the Associated Press dispatches were the only information before the government here.

The manner of Carranza's death may inject an unlooked for element into the question of recognition of the new government in Mexico. When President Wilson declined to recognize Huerta after the killing of Madero and Suarez, he outlined a broad policy that the United States would recognize no government not based on constitutional authority.

Thus far the Mexican revolution has been free from fighting, and the question of whether the revolutionary forces might be recognized has been left for later development.

Recalling the president's attitude, the many agents here were frankly concerned and took immediate steps to learn details that would clear up the manner of Carranza's death.

ADMIRAL SIMS PRAISES NAVY WAR CONDUCT

Expresses Regret in Address to College Graduates at Misinterpretation Placed Upon the Criticisms of Officers

NEWPORT, R. I., (AP)—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, president of the Naval War college, in his address at the graduation of this year's class today, said that during a very few cases, "our navy personnel not only responded to the requirements, but exceeded our most sanguine expectations in the endurance, zeal and loyal initiative they displayed in the world war."

"The applicability," he added, "not only to the forces in the war zone, but to the navy in general, and particularly to the very intelligent and well-handling of the transport services in effective co-operation with the forces abroad."

He urged the members of the class to explain to the officers under their command the great influence they might exert, "for good or for evil," upon the civil population in war time.

He said it was natural that some officers should express opinions upon the conduct of the war and that those opinions later appearing in many grotesquely mistaken editorials criticizing the strategy and conduct of the army and navy, "usually based upon the expressed authority of 'so-called experts.'"

Admiral Sims said that during the war he received many letters of criticism from "leading members of the government," naval officers and civilians.

He said the most disquieting feature was letters from civilians "stating that such and such a naval officer had told them of the various fatal mistakes" being made in the conduct of the war.

"One regrettable result," of the erroneous information circulated, he said, "was the paying of many millions of insurance against sea and air bombardments of coast cities and even bombing of inland cities."

Admiral Sims said this condition could have been greatly minimized if each officer had realized that he did not have the necessary information to form a just opinion and had the courage when asked questions to say "I do not know."

JAPAN HAS BIG GOLD RESERVES

Unsettled Economic Conditions Will Not Require Withdrawal of Investments

TOKIO, (AP)—Inquiry among leading financiers here Wednesday elicited the declaration that despite present unsettled economic conditions in this country Japan would not be obliged to withdraw gold held in America. This gold is largely invested in American bonds. Japan has more gold at home than she needs.

The opinion was expressed that it was too early to declare economic malades in Japan healed, but financiers were convinced it was well in hand. This is being done through continuing aid to the stock market by syndicate banks, to which the Bank of Japan has advanced forty million yen. Sugar industries are being similarly assisted. Financiers also pointed out that any withdrawal of foreign investments through fear of Japanese instability would not affect the situation, as the investments are all small.

The stock market and the raw silk exchange at Yokohama are weaker and the cotton yarn market has fallen off, but a single bid being forthcoming for May accounts. The metal market is weak and stagnant and rubber quotations have fallen on realizing sales by small holders. On the other hand the cost of living has sharply advanced and tight money has paralyzed almost all lines of manufacturing. Weaving and spinning have been hit particularly and since April to prevent accumulation of goods and depreciation of prices. As a result a large number of operatives are idle. About ten small banks in Osaka and other cities have suspended payment but larger institutions have come to the rescue.

PREMIER NITTI FORMS CABINET WITH UNITY AIM

Italy's Political Situation Causes Anxiety Among Entente Powers; Attempt to Demobilize Officers Big Difficulty

ROME, (AP)—Francesco Nitti has formed his third cabinet, which represents an effort to unite all the constitutional forces in the chamber except the followers of former Premier Salandra, the nationalists and the combatants, with a view to counterbalancing the socialists.

Signor Nitti's plan, it is considered, was not entirely successful, as the radicals are not all in accord in supporting him.

LONDON, (AP)—Italy's political situation is causing considerable anxiety among the entente powers, which is enhanced by the inability to obtain reliable news as to what is happening in that country.

One of the greatest difficulties in Italy at present, it is reported, is the attempt to demobilize officers. An order recently issued for the demobilization of 20,000 officers, is said to have been entirely disregarded, the men refusing to take their discharge.

LEFTY BATTERS LOSE FAVOR OF LEAGUE PILOTS

Public Opinion Now Strong for Right-Handed Men in Baseball Lines

(By L. E. SANBORN.)

Here's a tip to the rising generation of baseball players: Don't, under any consideration, learn to bat left handed if you are naturally right handed.

The minor leagues have become so left handed that there isn't a manager in either circuit who has not instructed his scouts to search the bushes for the right handed batsmen and pay no attention to the other kind unless they are unusually promising.

The process of converting professional baseball to southpawness has been going on for years. First there was a big demand for players who batted from the first base side of the plate because they were hard for right handed pitchers to pitch to and also because they could get down to first base faster than the men who awaited from the third base side of the path.

Southpaws Lose Novelty. This demand led to the conversion of every youngster, who could acquire the knack, into a left handed batsman.

As their number increased managers began to scout the land for southpaw pitchers to cope with the situation. For a while anything that could get the ball over the plate with its left wing was pretty sure of a contract and a lot of money. They were able to make good without any great amount of skill or brains. Consequently all left handed kids began practicing pitching.

The result was a steady increase in southpaw slabmen. The supply never exceeded the demand by as wide a margin as in other departments of the game. Still the day has passed when any old left handed pitcher can get by in the big leagues. He has to have something besides his eccentricity these days, but he is in demand because so many teams are left handed because of the batsman's box.

Brings Up Old Question. I have had a great many different answers to the question why left handed batsmen cannot cope with left handed pitching as well as right handed batsmen can with right handed pitching, but few of them were convincing. Years ago it was reasonable to suppose that southpaw pitching was more baffling to southpaw batsmen because there were comparatively few pitchers of that kind. The swatsmen were not as accustomed to it as to right handed slugging. But in recent years the supply of southpaw hurling has about equalled that of the northpaw variety, so the batsmen are as accustomed to one as the other.

The only plausible explanation is that the great majority of right handed batsmen today are batting naturally, while the majority of the other kind are swinging unnaturally. A middle aged man who loses his right hand can learn to write fairly well with his left, but never as fluently. The player who is naturally right handed and turns around to bat never acquires the same skill as he would have developed the other way.

Hoe or Rake for Test. Not all men who write or cut right handed are born that way, however. There are a great many folks who are naturally southpaws but learn while young to do various things fairly well with their right hands, just as one can acquire a taste for silver, or arithmetic.

The lad who is naturally left handed but has learned to write right handed can bat better left handed, but he is the only kind that ought to try it. If he is in doubt let him take a hoe or a rake and go out to clean up the back yard. Whichever way he handles hoe or rake the more naturally will prove which way he ought to bat.

It's the Batter, Not His Hands. While looking over the candidates for a university team last spring I asked the coach if there were no right handed batsmen on his squad. The athletic director, who was standing near by, cut in with: "We try to teach all our good prospects to bat left handed because they have the advantage of two steps over the right handers in getting to first base."

But what good is that, if a player cannot hit the ball past the pitcher?

CHICAGO LOSES MEET.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., (AP)—The University track team scored an easy victory over Chicago in a dual meet here yesterday afternoon, 103 to 32. Brief Bits of Sport

SPORT BRIEFS. M.—T.M.—A special baseball train from Bull to Paul next Sunday will stop in Twin Falls to pick up such fans as want to see the game.

Thanks, awfully!

Joe Jackson is out for the batting crown, judging by the way he's hammering the old pill around.

Oh, would that we could be called a ham and egg fighter these days—with ham and eggs where they are.

Well, that $125,000 investment of the Yanks looks better than it did the first week or so of the campaign.

The minor leagues, the feeding grounds for the big leagues, are going full blast again. All of which means more to the game than the average fan—or big league mogul—realizes.

The raw meat of defeat the Tigers have been eating may make them dangerous before the season's over.

We can't tell just yet where Cleveland will land in the peanut race, but they have the "Polg." Stan Coveleskie in their pitching arc right now.

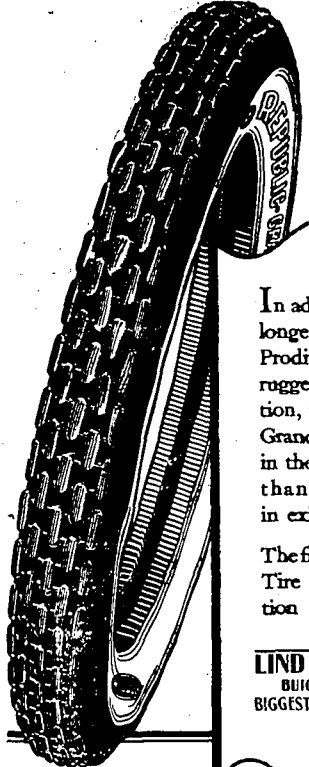

If the congressmen would send each of their constituents a baseball instead of flower seeds it'd make a bigger hit right now.

THE most difficult hauling problems of the heavy timber industry are simplified by the use of the Nash Quad. The Quad which drives and brakes on all four wheels will pull its load through soggy, slippery spots where other trucks find going almost impossible.

Like all Nash trucks it is equipped with the automatic locking differential which prevents loss of traction by spinning of the driving wheels. It also saves tires and fuel. Its economy of operation makes it an especially attractive investment.

CARRANZA RISES

Villa by General Alvarez Obregon. Villa was forced to give up Torreón and, continuing his declining march, he moved northward through eastern Sonora, making occasional forays and raids which culminated in the attack on Cuernavaca, the capital of the invasion of Mexico by General Pershing.

Blected to Presidency

In the meantime Carranza had called a constitutional congress, which accepted most of the reforms he outlined. On complete 1,100,000 he was elected president. More than 1,500,000 votes were cast for him. He took the oath of office May 1, 1917.

In a message to the Mexican congress following his inauguration as president, Carranza declared Mexico's "strict" neutrality. His note to neutral nations, however, urging them to denounce embargoes against all the European belligerents as a means of ending the war, and the warmth of his language in congratulating Emperor William on the occasion of his last birthday, aroused comment in the United States, as did also the publication of the Zimmerman note, inviting Mexico to take "by conquest" the states of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico in payment for a declaration of war on the United States acting in concert with Japan.

Today's Markets

New York Exchange

NEW YORK, (AP)—There were few features in the brief session of today's stock market. Trading was slight but a steady tone ruled, with occasional profit taking. The oil shares were especially responsive to Mexican advances and allied issues, such as motors and their specialties, also made moderate gains.

Liberty Bonds

NEW YORK, (AP)—Liberty bonds final prices today were: 3 1/2's $92.10; first 4's $83.70; second 4's $83.00; 4 1/4's $86; second 4 1/4's $84.20; third 4 1/4's $85.40; fourth 4 1/4's $84.80; Victory 3 3/4's $95; Victory 4 3/4's $90.

Grains and Provisions

CHICAGO, (AP)—Although much nervousness manifested itself in the corn market today, wild speculation appeared to have been halted. Calls for heavily increased margins tended to exert a sobering effect, and there were signs that many influential interests regarded the drastic declines as having sufficient discount for the least time being all bullish conditions.

BOLIVIA ASKS COMPROMISE Proposed Action Would Abandon Long-standing Demand for Port of Arica

LA PAZ, Bolivia, (AP)—Bolivia, it is declared in apparently reliable quarters here, will propose to Chile that she give Bolivia the outlet to the sea desirable by this country, at a point anywhere within the former Bolivian littoral, Bolivia engaging to construct the necessary port works. This would mean the abandonment of the long-standing demand of Bolivia for the Port of Arica, in the territory so long in dispute between Chile and Peru.

Thawing Snow Sending Heavy Volume of Water to the Jackson Lake Reservoir

In comparison there is a total of 223,500 acre feet less water in the Jackson lake reservoir than a year ago. Last year at this time the lake was 428,500 acre feet; today, according to official reports from the United States reclamation service, the lake is 215,000.

Statistics compiled by reclamation authorities show a large volume of water reaching the reservoir through mountain streams tributaries, which continue swollen from steadily thawing snow in the hills. There has been no precipitation in the past week, however, in condition which was equalled in the same period last year.

LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN TO COLLECT THEATRE TAX

Treasury Department Takes Steps to Force Payment of Admissions Levy from Show Houses

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Internal revenue collectors were instructed today to begin a campaign to force the payment of admissions tax on theaters and moving picture houses. Reports to the treasury department were declared to reveal that probably 5000 show houses which are required to turn in the taxes collected from patrons. Investigations by the internal revenue bureau, Commissioner Williams said, disclosed also that "ticket scalpers" were profiting by addition of the tax to the price of the tickets. Into their own pockets they were putting the tax and the government and the purchaser.

THE LOSS HEAVIEST IN ANNUAL

(Continued from Page One) dance was held on the preceding evening. So far as can be learned the damage came to an end probably about 1 a. m. and it was about 2 o'clock when the first flames were noticed. The second story of the building is occupied largely by offices of various kinds.

SAVE RECORDS

The filing systems employed by both the Red Cross Home service station and the Idaho Co-operative Beet Sugar company enables both to save their records almost intact. Red Cross officials this morning removed their records which showed only a slight amount of charring by fire, and slight damage by water. In all cases the records are being re-written for record. Three soldier discharges were found to be in first class condition after the fire.

The sugar company officials are today in possession of a fairly well preserved set of their records. They are missing the fiscal agency of this company has a duplicate copy of all writings, according to company authorities. The law officers of J. W. Porter, E. V. Larson and Turner K. Hackman are a mass of charred and water-soaked records. Although that of Mr. Hackman suffered less than the others, George Key, tailor, suffers practically a total loss. Dr. S. J. Mack, dentist, a total loss. Rooms fronting on Main street, suffered considerable loss by smoke, but his office was not materially damaged, notwithstanding the fact that a fire raged on each side of him were practically gutted. Dr. H. W. Sawyer, physician in charge of the Model Store building adjacent to the hotel, was unable to escape and made his way to the street. This building was not damaged to any extent, however, and the office of Miss Hotel Alton was saved by the flames. Dr. Sawyer were practically untouched as was the stock of the Model Shoe company on the ground floor.

Heavy Losses. Of the business houses of the ground floor the United Stores probably suffers the heaviest loss. In this store the fire broke through from the rooms above and the interior appears to have suffered heavy damage. Damage to the stock of the Salladay Hardware company is largely by water. The stock of the Wright establishment suffered severe damage, a definite estimate of loss in none of these cases being possible today.

Mr. Metz suffered a loss of around $1,000 with no insurance, in the shape of personal possessions, guns, silverware and clothing, etc., which he was unable to rescue. Miss Greenwell and Mrs. Told suffered a loss of practically everything in their apartments. During the course of the fire, Harry McKelvey, for one year connected with the Wallace, Idaho, fire department, assumed active charge of the fire-fighting operations on one side of the block with Fire Chief W. H. Street directing the work at the front and opposite end. Both were given splendid assistance by citizens on the scene, the work performed by the fire department, Metz, George Easley, Harry Mylar, Night Officer Austin, Officer Frank Ilin, Dr. Sawyer, E. V. Larson, and Fire Commissioner Tom Derrington and Herb Lauterbach being of the highest value. These men swarmed over the roof, handled lines of hose, forced their way up the stairs into the burning interior and were undoubtedly instrumental in holding the conflagration from breaking through into the hotel.

did splendid work and one and all performed feats of courage well calculated to bring the people of the fire was during the height of the fire was the hardest fought of any in the annals of the city.

Owners Take Hand. Owners of adjoining properties were summoned to the scene by the telephone company and one and all gathered up their books and papers and got everything in readiness to remove such small part of their most valuable possessions should the flames get beyond control. For a time it looked as though this would be the case, but the flames were eventually confined to the two buildings.

The morning there is between two and three feet of snow in the basements of each of the three stores on the lower floor, the Salladay Hardware company, Wright and the United Stores. Some of the flames were proper for business for some days and some may be closed for much longer.

Buildings Mass of Ruin

The two buildings, known as the Collington Hall building are the property of Charles Smith and W. P. Rice, although both have always been operated as one, with a single staircase from Main street. The roof, and except for the front wall, and everything above the first floor, is totally destroyed. Mr. Smith's insurance amounts only to around $18,000, which amount will not be sufficient to pay for a new roof.

Loss Estimates.

Following is a partial list of the amounts of the loss and estimate of the loss sustained: C. M. Smith—Property value, $50,000; loss, $40,000; insurance, $18,000. W. P. Rice—Property value, $50,000; loss, $40,000; insurance, $30,000. United Stores—Property value, $150,000; loss, heavy; insurance, $125,000. BANBURY NATATORIUM to open Saturday, May 29, and Sunday, May 30. The swimming pool at Hot Springs on the bank of the Snake river, 8 miles north of Buhl, 12 miles southwest of Wendell and 12 miles up the river from Jergensen, was finished last fall. Work has been done this spring and construction proceeded so far that we are able to open to the public on above dates. Our bathing-suits have been ordered for some time but under the present condition of the market there is no telling when they will reach us, so we advise with all candor for everyone desiring to swim to provide himself with his own suit. As to eating, sandwiches, coffee, etc., will be served, but that there may be no possible room for complaint or going hungry we honestly advise bringing your own picnic baskets and thus have a good time among your own party. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged for each person, which gives him or her the free privilege of the swimming pool if provided with own bathing suit. Of course, on this opening date you would certainly appreciate a big attendance but we want everybody to be comfortable. We would rather you should be surprised at the good start we have made than to expect a paradise or a finished project and then be disappointed.

Wishing you all to come, we remain, Faithfully, BANBURY NATATORIUM.

THREE GRADUATES IN HANSEN CLASS

HANSEN (Special)—The first annual exercises of the Hansen high school were held on Thursday evening in the high school auditorium. The class numbered three, Edward Klingmann, Leo Mims and Charles Porter. Diplomas were presented by J. B. Taylor, clerk of the school board.

On this occasion the graduating address was given by Professor Frank E. Howard of the Allion State Normal school, his subject being "The Gospel of Americanism." The speaker was introduced by Superintendent E. Stubbins of the city schools. The Hansen orchestra provided music.

Decorations of an extraordinarily appropriate and beautiful character graced the platform occupied by the speakers and the class. A great bank of evergreens with class colors interwined formed one of the attractive features of the embellishments. The decorations were in charge of Miss Cora E. Forseth, principal of the high school.

Water, stoves, fuel and every modern convenience are now at the disposal of auto campers making use of the Twin Falls auto camp site east of Sixth and Seventh Avenues. Within a few days lights will be installed by the Power company, after which there will be no better equipped institution of the kind in the state.

While the tourist season has not yet fully opened up, already many visitors are taking advantage of the camp and it is anticipated that when auto travel really commences large numbers will make use of it daily. There can be no question of the advantages to Twin Falls. Every man, woman or child will leave here with an impression of the city based directly upon his impressions of the auto camp site. If the effect is favorable, well and good. If not, the result will be widespread and unfavorable advertising for our City.

The construction of the camp site was a good thing and the camp itself should be highly successful.

This Store Installs

The Measuregraph

Always watchful for the improvement of our Store Service, we wish to advise our patrons that we have installed the wonderful machine known as the Measuregraph—a machine that not only measures goods accurately, but at the same time computes the cost. For instance, if you buy 3 5-8 yards of goods at $1.69, you would, of course, have to figure with a pencil to ascertain the amount of your purchase, and so would our salespeople. But when the cloth is passed through the Measuregraph it automatically records the amount of sale, which in this case is $6.13. Here is time saved for both of us and accuracy assured. What is of even greater importance is the safeguard against unintentional short measurement, for the Measuregraph is impartial and precise—it gives you and it gives us a square deal.

While the Measuregraph has been in use in large Eastern stores for the past two and a half years, and is regarded as essential equipment in the selling of piece goods, The Idaho Department Store is the first to put it into service in Twin Falls. Come in and see them—our salespeople will be glad to show you and explain the working of this wonderful instrument.

Get the right measurements, the right price, and a square deal. We stand behind our merchandise.

SUGGESTED THOUGHTS

Some little comment has been proffered through the statement appearing in a News editorial of a day or two ago to the effect that "today in the Twin Falls country a sack of potatoes will buy a ten dollar pair of shoes"—surely a healthy and a cheerful sign.

It is to be taken for granted that everybody understands that probably not one per cent of the potatoes raised in the Twin Falls country are sold for ten dollars a sack, any more than one per cent of the shoes sold bring seventeen dollars a pair, which is about the top price for shoes. In fact, today, May twenty-first, potatoes may be purchased for eight cents per pound in some stores, or eight dollars a sack. The point sought to be made in The News editorial referred to was not that potatoes now command ten dollars a sack or eight dollars or any other specific sum, but that in proportion to the retail costs of merchandise in a general way, the products of mill and factory and farm and what not have adjusted themselves in a more or less reasonable manner.

A friend comes at us in this way—"Why do you select overalls as an example of goods sold at retail for less than the wholesale cost? Don't you know that overalls are never sold at a profit, any more than lumber yards expect to handle shingles at a profit?" To which we reply that we don't know anything about it, and we are more than half inclined to believe that this goes for our good friend as well—

The problem is as wide as the world and no single example or set of examples will in any manner serve to solve it, but insofar as current comment may shed light upon the whole vast matter of relative costs, current comment is in order, when offered as the honest thought of anyone.

Apparently wool is going down. Now the statement is made by men who ought to be in a position to know that if wool were worth two cents per pound it would not hold the price of an eighty-dollar suit of clothes more than ten or twelve dollars. Hides have been down for months, yet the price of shoes has climbed steadily. If these are facts then the only conclusion possible is that it is not the cost of raw materials which is responsible for the state of the clothing and shoe market, but something else altogether—labor cost, or possibly machinery cost, with the increased overhead which goes with each, or better yet, the insatiable greed of the men who own the factories.

What the world needs is balanced values now and at all times, with a steadily decreasing ratio of costs—production costs, factory costs, fundamental costs. But costs must be brought down evenly if the business and industrial life of the country is not to be utterly shattered in the process.

In the meantime, let's study the problem, think about it and talk about it. But let's get our logic straightened out to begin with. Let's bear in mind that money is but the measuring device and that as long as values are roughly proportionate no great harm can ensue—except to the poor devil with stored up money, stored in the days before the measuring device shrunk to half its present size.

COOLIDGE'S VETO

Arguments advanced by Governor Coolidge in his message vetoing a bill passed by the Massachusetts legislature ostensibly to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer in that state, are such as were to be expected from this notable American exponent of the enforcement of law and order.

In it the Governor does not raise the question of the merits of prohibition, nor does he venture to say whether in his opinion the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are constitutional. But he does emphasize the fact that the prohibition law is a part of the constitution, that the Volstead act has been regularly passed by Congress and as such is federal law, and that until the amendment and the code are declared to be void by the supreme court, it is the duty of every citizen and especially the duty of those entrusted with authority, to faithfully obey their mandates. He declares that when he was installed in office he took an oath pledging support to the constitution of the United States. That oath, he says, was to support the constitution, "not to take a chance on it."

This paragraph of Governor Coolidge's message in particular is to be recommended to the consideration of Americans generally:

"There is little satisfaction in attempting to deceive ourselves. There is grave danger in attempting to deceive the people. If this act were placed upon the statute books of this Commonwealth today it would provide no beer for the people. No one would dare not upon it, or if he did he would certainly be charged with crime. Similar laws in other states are to date ineffective. I am opposed to the practice of legislative deception. It is better to proceed with candor. Wait until the Supreme Court of the United States talks."

THE RUSSIAN IDEA

A correspondent of the New York Sun quotes a Russian as saying: "In our Russia there is no religion, no czar, no money, no property, no commerce, no happiness, no safety, only freedom."

In the Chicago Daily News of January 14 appeared an interview with a Nonpartisan League worker and follower of Township of which the following was a part: "Our union (referring to the union of farmers and union men sought to be brought about by the League) will be modeled after the Russian Soviets with the elimination of the objectionable features. It will be the adoption of the Russian idea of government, of the producers, for the producers, and by the producers to American habit of thought. It will however be of the complete Russian idea in an American form."

Above is the "complot Russian Idea" by a native of Russia. There is some question if even an American adoption of it would be just exactly the best thing in the world for the American people—and yet there are plenty of people who are willing to monkey with it, or worse.

RECORDS SMASHED BY OVERLAND CARS

The Los Angeles Yosemite economy run developed into a Willys-Overland hand-to-hand, the three Overland and Willys-Knight cars entered, winning four out of the six cups offered.

In class 1 for cars with a factory list price of $1200 or under, an Overland touring car, Henry Amon driving, finished first with a ton mileage record of 40.74 and actual gas mileage of 35 miles per gallon on the entire 355-mile journey, more than a hundred miles of which was mountain driving.

In class 2 an Overland sedan driven by Fred Costa finished first with a ton mileage of 51.8 and the astonishing actual gas mileage of 27.6 miles per gallon for this closed vehicle.

A Willys-Knight touring driven by Tim Stephens, won second place in class 2 with a record of 50.57 ton miles per gallon and an actual gas mileage of 21.7 miles per gallon.

In the grand sweepstakes combining ton miles and actual gas mileage the two Overland entries finished first and second only, leading all other entries.

This whirlwind process was repeated in the winning of the Baker economy cup awarded for the best record for oil gas and water combined. Here the three Overland entries again lead the field and finished one, two, three in usual Overland form smashing all previous records.

This performance in a field of 17 entrants including cars listing up to the $5000 class, rolls up a record that is without precedent and backs up every claim for the economy and stability besides giving this signal honor to the lowest priced car in the entire list of entries.

In addition to the three cars regularly entered in the run, three additional Overlands made the trip as press and observer cars, all finishing the run without delays or mechanical trouble of any kind.

ESSEX IN PICTURES PROVES A REVELATION

Those who failed to see the Essex in the moving picture "The Trail of the Arrow," shown at the Idaho theater, last Wednesday and Thursday, missed a rare treat, according to the management of the Johnson Auto Sales company, which distributes the car in this territory.

In addition to the picture being a thriller, it demonstrated the wonderful sturdiness of the car in a manner that left no doubt in the spectators' mind as to the quality of its construction, and it also proves that women are good drivers. Its short wheel base, light weight, and exceptional power make it an ideal car for a woman to handle in traffic under difficult situations.

The Johnson Auto Sales company states that the car used in the picture was a standard stock car, was not reinforced in any way, and is a duplicate of the car that is now being delivered to its purchasers. The company still has on hand a few open Essex cars, and is in position to make immediate delivery. How long it will be able to do this is uncertain as on account of the critical transportation situation, it is impossible to ascertain when more cars can be obtained.

WITTY WITCH'S SONGS.

"I want to tell you," said Daddy, "about the songs that Witty Witch sang at Peter Gnome's party the other day. He gave a party where he told a story he had made up himself, but he said he had merely made up the way the words should be written. He hadn't made up the facts or things which happened, which of course made the greater part of the story."

"Do tell us about Witty Witch's songs," said Nancy.

"Yes," said Nick, "I'd like to hear them, too."

"I'll tell them to you," said Daddy, "for I know that Witty Witch would like me to. She likes all children who like her. She doesn't like to think that children think she's an awful old thing who would chase them with a broom, for such a thing she would never do."

"She says she was riding on a broom once and someone took her photograph and ever since then it has been so hard for her to tell people and make them understand that that broom was for sweeping or for taking rides upon as she did quite often, but it was not for leading children as someone said who didn't know anything about her, really. There are no bad witches these days."

"For that reason, as you know, Witty Witch hates gossip as much as anyone. If not more. For she knows the harm it can do, what wrong stories go about and how folks believe them if they don't watch out and find out the truth for themselves."

"Well, after Peter Gnome's supper was over and they had all had a delicious meal Witty Witch took out a banjo which she had brought along with her and she sang this song first of all."

Oh, I am a witch, a jolly old witch,
Who can ride over the clouds or can jump
Over a ditch.
But I'm not a wild thing, no, no, indeed
So what I tell you pray to take heed.
I love boys and girls and animals, too,
I love the whole world—indeed I do.
So please don't say the old witch is So cranky.
When she rides on her broomstick horse
So lanky.

"She sang this song several times and then she sang many more. She sang of the secrets which are in coats

"Took Out a Banjo."
of fire, of the games played back in fireplaces among the sparks and the crackling wood.

"She sang funny songs because as she was so witty and had been named Witty witch she could always think of a funny song to sing."

"And she sang the rules of many games so they all could play them afterwards."

"In verse she sang how to play London Bridge and Musical Chairs and Bumps and Pass in the Corner, and Forfeits, and Hunt the Slipper, and many other games."

"So the later on at the next party they could play all these games, or at least some of them, for Peter Gnome had said some of the members of the Every-Day-Nice Club had forgotten some of the rules of a few games."

"Before it was time for them to go home and as she next to the last song, she chose this one—an old favorite of hers."

Listen here, listen here,
And be of good cheer,
For you know there's such fun
In every song to sing.
—AND yet when it rains
All those who have brains
Know the fun to be had,
Though the weather be bad,
There are games for all weather
For us to play together.
There are nice things to do,
So never feel blue,
For the weather is fine,
One should never, never pine,
—AND as they were getting ready to go home she sang:

To friends be good and bright,
Let me sing my good-night,
And love me, my dear,
Right through the years.

When Your Eyes Wander.
Look at the person with whom you are talking. The best conversationalist cannot do himself justice with one whose eyes wander. Do not stare at the one who is speaking, do not examine him critically, as if you had just noticed something decidedly out of the way in his personal appearance; be sure that when his eyes turn in your direction, they shall meet yours. You are guilty of something closely related to discourtesy when your eyes wander.—Girls' Companion.

BULGARIANS JOIN TURKS

Resistance of Greeks Purpose of Military Campaign Organization

CONSTANTINOPLE, (AP)—The new Thracian government at Adrianople has dismissed all the old officials. Former sub-governor Erkrum Bey who has arrived in Constantinople, said today that Bulgarians are crossing into Turkey in large numbers and joining the Turks, who are preparing to resist the Greeks.

Bulgarians, according to Erkrum Bey, will form the backbone of the forces opposing the Greeks, but he declared that Colonel Jafer Tayar, who was the Turkish commandant at Adrianople, has 20,000 Turkish soldiers available.

WIPE OUT PRAIRIE DOG TOWN
PHOENIX, Ariz., (AP)—Complete extermination of what was considered one of the largest prairie dog "towns" in the west has been reported to the predatory animal inspector's office here by the Chiricahua Cattle company. Chiricahua county, southeastern Arizona. More than 1,000,000 prairie dogs were estimated to have lived on the company's ranch of 30,000 acres until the management started an offensive campaign against them. Now their vast honeycombs of underground burrows are utterly deserted, the company reported.

New York a Wicked City. Girl on First Visit Carries Revolver.

Miss Margie Burke, 15 years old, of Orange, N. J., made a trip to New York city in search of employment. Miss Burke, according to her story, heard of the wickedness of the city and brought along a revolver to protect herself. The girl was taken into custody at the Travellers' Aid society, in New York, for carrying a revolver. Magistrate McAdoo, before whom Miss Burke was taken, remarked that the girl apparently did not realize the seriousness of her offense, and adjourned the case for a week to permit an investigation of her story.

FATHERLAND'S SERVANTS LEFT IN SORE STRAITS

Transfer of Territories Deprives German Civilian Functionaries of Their Posts

BERLIN, (AP)—Twenty-five thousand German civilian functionaries who occupied positions in Poland and have been deprived of their posts owing to transfer of territory are in sore straits. The government, which suddenly recalled them gave no thought, apparently, to housing such a multitude with their wives and families, assigning them to old concentration camps, and barracks.

In these quarters, according to statements made by some of them now in Berlin, they have to endure all manner of hardships and discomforts, among the least of which is the deprivation of their accustomed household belongings.

The German Civil Servants' union has taken the matter up on their behalf. It protests against what it terms the "base ingratitude now shown by the Fatherland" to faithful servants who have now been deprived of their means of livelihood.

ALASKA LANDS SURVEYED FOR ENTRYMEN'S COMING

Over 1,000,000 Acres of Agricultural Territory in Readiness for Opening. Official Report

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, (AP)—According to the report of Alexander T. Vogelsang, acting secretary of the Interior, over one million acres of agricultural land has been surveyed in the territory of Alaska to the end that it may be available for entry and patent under the public domain laws. A considerable portion of this land is within country traversed by or tributary to the government railroad now being constructed in Alaska.

Under the coal lands leasing law enacted in October, 1914, coal lands in the Bering River, Cook Inlet, Matanuska and Nannan coal fields have been divided into leasing blocks or units, ready for sale. The two last named fields are tributary to the government railroad.

New townships have been established upon the public lands along the line of the railroad and lots for business and residential purposes disposed of through the land and industrial department of the Alaskan engineering commission.

As soon as arrangements are completed for traffic on the government railroad large numbers of settlers are expected to rush into the agricultural districts.

Big Reasons Why You Should Prefer an Ideal

- Large Capacity—The Rumely Ideal can't help but be a big capacity machine; it is built on the common sense principle of keeping the straw moving. There's absolutely no chance for slugging, choking, bunching or any other hindrance to large capacity when the straw is kept on the move as it is in the Ideal.
- Saving the Grain—Saving all the grain is just as important as producing it—of course. The Rumely earned the name "Save-all-the-grain-Ideal"—by saving it. In any kind of straw—headed, bundled or loose rakings—dry, wet or frozen—the Ideal handles all jobs the same—without waste.
- Clean Work—This is accounted for by the extra large chaffer area, the adjustable sieve in the chaffer, and the Ideal system of wind control—a guarantee of a perfect job of cleaning without waste, under every condition. The Ideal does the kind of cleaning that gets you no "dockage" at the elevator.
- Strongly Built—One-piece timber can't pull apart, sag or rot, as spliced or bolted members will. The Ideal is a one-piece job—sills, posts, deck rails, straw rack sides. Then, there are the heavy, substantial trucks, and all shaker hanger bearings running in adjustable boxes. That's the kind of construction that insures long life.
- No Vibration—Vibration makes a young machine old before it has served its time—it wears out the bearings and pulls the shafts out of alignment. Counter balancing of all moving parts in the Ideal—perfect balancing of the cylinder—make the Rumely so steady running that when compared to other separators vibration simply does not exist.
- Easy to Operate—You don't have to crawl inside the Ideal to get at the working parts. All bearings, concave adjustments and regulation of the blast are on the outside of the machine, also all oil and grease cups, where you can take care of them while the Ideal is running.

The Ideal is built in five sizes—$22.35, 28.94, 32.45, 32.13 and $46.60.

PROPOSES PLAN OF WORLD COURT ORGANIZATION

League of Nations Secretariate Draft for Permanent Tribunal of International Justice is Made Public

THE HAGUE, (AP)—A draft for the permanent court of international justice of the league of nations, as it has been offered to the secretariate of the league in the name of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and Holland, has been made public by the Dutch government. It is in the result of the conferences held in the peace palace at The Hague in February.

According to the plan the court would consist of 15 judges and six substitutes, who must all be recognized authorities on international justice. Its members would be chosen by the assembly of the league; the judges to be appointed for nine years, the substitutes for six.

The members would be elected without regard to their nationality, but no more than two judges of the same country could hold office at the same time. They would be re-eligible, but they would have to resign when 65 years old. They would have a right to a pension, which, like their salary, would be fixed and paid by the league.

The duties of the court would be to adjudicate differences between nations and it would be competent to act on all cases in which its decision is asked.

The permanent court of international justice is provided for in Article XIV of the covenant of the league of nations. The council of the league of nations at a session in London in February announced that a committee of 10 distinguished international jurists, including Elihu Root of the United States, had been invited to prepare plans for the constitution of the court. Mr. Root accepted the invitation, as did Lord Phillimore of England, Barn Descampes of Belgium, Dr. Loder of Holland and M. Vessitch of Yugoslavia. No plans are formulated by the committee for the organization of the court have yet been announced.

SCOTCH PROHIBITIONISTS TO PUSH DRY CAMPAIGN

Spoken for Liquor Interest Concede Good Part of Country will Ban Booze Under Local Option

GLASGOW, (AP)—Scotland's local option act, enacted in 1913 after thirty years of agitation, becomes effective June 1. Prohibitionists are planning to launch an electoral campaign, which, in intensity, cost and use of all varieties of publicity, will be comparable only to the latter stages of the anti-alcohol crusade in the United States.

There will be a poll on the local government franchise in every town and district of Scotland and out of that vote will come the choice of one of three alternatives—total prohibition, reduction of drinking facilities by one-fourth, or continuance of present regulations. Even spokesmen for the liquor interests concede that a good part of Scotland will go "dry."

Local option is to be exercised in fairly small areas. In the burghs with a population of less than 25,000 the election will be for the whole burgh while in the burghs with over 25,000, separate elections for municipal wards will be held. Glasgow has thirty-seven wards. Public houses on one side of the street may be closed, those on the other side, being in a different ward, may remain open.

The poll is to be taken in November or December.

A Car of Universal Appeal

REACHING the peak of possibility in every department of motor car performance; delivering under every condition the maximum of efficiency with a corresponding minimum of operating cost, the Cole Aero-Eight has changed completely all former conceptions of what a motor car can be made to do.

Meets Every Need

The Cole Aero-Eight develops 80 horsepower, yet its fuel demands are surprisingly inconsequential.

Its pickup and speed give it the fleetness of a bird, yet for the hills and deep sand it has a relentless brutality which knows no compromise.

It weighs only 3,600 pounds, yet it has the stamina and strength of a giant—capacity that enabled it to serve so valiantly all through the war.

Its 15,000 miles on tires is a feature of unequalled economy, while its spacious roominess affords palatial repose and luxurious comfort.

In designs are daring departures from the conventions of automobile tradition, but its refinements reflect the most staid propriety.

The Cole Aero-Eight has introduced new standards both of performance and appearance. It offers as realities of the present ideals which seemed intended for fulfillment only at some future time.

The Cole Aero-Eight is a car of universal appeal, of universal utility. It dominates the field of automotive achievement as a leader in every recent phase of motor car advancement.

The wise gamblers who started betting on Detroit at the opening of the season got a fine trimming. Moral: Lay off betting on baseball. It hurts the game, anyhow.

Three or four years ago we saw one little Dick Stosh of Cleveland, put up a whole of a battle against a fairly clever boy in a preliminary battle. Hadn't heard of him again until we read where Eddie Fitzsimmons k. o.'d him in the first round the other night. We expected Stosh would climb better than that.

Burley plays at Jerome and Rupert at Onkley next Sunday, according to schedule.

To make ends meet, and also insure their sticking to the job, both ball teamers are being provided with light jobs of occupation between games.

Ringside reports indicate Gordon McKay, northwest middleweight flaccid champion, has a hard time getting a decision against Carley Eastley of Kansas City in Peacetto the other night.

But Gordon has a perfectly good stilt. His opponent had ten pounds the better of the argument.

MANSLAUGHTER JURY VERDICT

William Carver Found Guilty of Voluntarily Killing Sheep- herder Bilboa

Voluntary manslaughter was the verdict rendered by a district court jury in the case of the state against William M. Carver. Penalty for this offense, terminable being not more than 15 years in the state penal institution.

The jury returned its finding after having had the case since 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The testimony devoted most of the time from then to late midnight in deliberation, and were then officially taken to the jury room to sleep. The verdict was found and rendered shortly after 10 o'clock this morning.

Carver, whose case has consumed the greater part of the week, was on trial for the murder of Ignacio Bilboa, a shepherd, who died from a gunshot wound in the head, inflicted in the jury during an altercation over the trespass of sheep on Carver's land. Carver admitted the shooting both in preliminary hearings and on the district court trial, but insisted he shot only in defense of his family, farm and home.

Bilboa, it is said, had an several occasions allowed sheep in his care to wander on Carver's land, destroying both crops and stored provisions. The state introduced convincing evidence seeking to show that Bilboa's sheep, at the time of the quarrel, had not trespassed on Carver's land, but were confined to a regular pasture nearby.

Judge Hebeck, of the district court has set next Wednesday morning as the time for passing sentence upon the condemned Idaho country farmer.

This fire, of unknown origin, destroyed the entire structure and all of the seed stored therein. The loss on this occasion was slightly more than $100,000. The elevator was located immediately west of the present Sterling Creamery, in Railroad addition.

MEET CARAVAN NEAR MURTAUGH

Twin Falls Will Send 20 Cars to Pilot Salt Lake Trucks Here Monday

A train of more than 40 auto trucks will pull into Twin Falls about noon Monday. The majority of these monster vehicles compose the Salt Lake section of the caravan, the others being Twin Falls machines.

The auto truck train composed of the first mentioned cars are traveling from Salt Lake to Boise, making all of the important stopping places en route. The train left Salt Lake last Monday morning and is due to reach Boise by the coming Monday.

At Murtaugh, the Twin Falls section of 21 trucks, in charge of Ed. S. Johnson and headed by the Twin Falls band, will meet the Salt Lake caravan, and will accompany the train from that place to Twin Falls. Stops of greater or lesser length will be made at Murtaugh, Hansen and Kimberly on the way.

Reaching Twin Falls the train will be at ease for one hour and will then pick up speed for a trip to Buhl, where a call of some length will be made, the outfit returning to Twin Falls in the evening for a lengthier call. The party will be piloted to Buhl by L. E. Merrill.

At the conclusion of the Buhl call the train will come back to Twin Falls for an all-night stay, leaving this place at 7 on Tuesday morning. On Monday night a public meeting for the benefit of the visitors will be conducted in the high school auditorium. M. J. Sweeley, Hal G. Blue and various Salt Lake men will be the speakers on this occasion.

On Tuesday morning L. E. Merrill will pilot the outfit over Shoshone grade to Jerome and will leave the party at the edge of the Twin Falls territory. The train will then make its own way to Boise.

Engagement of the Twin Falls band for the day was made up possible by action of the chamber of commerce, which has appropriated money for this expense.

WATER DAMAGE SUITS SETTLED

City is Saved Considerable Ex- pense Through Claims Ad- justment Out of Court

Saving the city of Twin Falls more than $1,500 Judge John E. Davies, municipal councillor, yesterday settled out of court three water damage claims which have been pending nearly a year. The claims adjusted were those lodged by C. E. Blasek, Oscar Johnson and H. A. Brice.

In the former matter the original claim was $2,000, adjustment being made for $1,500.18. The Johnson claim was for $247, a check for $175 being passed in settlement. The Brice suit for $400 was adjusted for $250.

All of the actions resulted from damage caused through flooding of premises occupied by the claimants when city water mains burst early last June.

There is still one claim against the city still outstanding. This was lodged by E. F. Walton, manager of the Elite Millinery, who is suing for $9,000. The original claim lodged against the city, according to city Attorney Davies, was $300 in this case. Settlement for $1,000 has been declined by the claimant, it is alleged. This case will probably go to court for trial as to merit.

Kincaid=Kimball Clothes

Famous For Fine Tailoring

The search for value is the motive that moves men to buy. Value is and always will be the mainspring of merchandising. The foundation of our clothing business will always be value. A great number of men in Twin Falls accept as law our word on quality and fashion, and we are proud that they accept at Full Value any merchandise which bears our name.

The beginning and end of this store is to give greater value than men ordinarily expect. Better values than can be met in Twin Falls. Better fabrics; better styles. Our business rests on values, continually sought, unfailingly given, and unquestionably expressed by our well known institution.

The next suit you buy can prove to you that it is money saved by quality material. All good clothing must be all wool, but clothes that wear must be of good fiber wool, well tailored.

Prices $20.00, $25.00, $30.00 and up.

REDUCTIONS.—Recent reports tell of price slashing occasioned by the overvalued movement, old clothes parades and various propaganda being circulated by the press. It is only natural—or "business," as some might term it—for certain retailers to realize that the stream of objections to present clothing prices could be diverted to their benefit by this situation. Among these will be found stores which are always holding so-called sales, and others who composed a plausible excuse joined in attracting people who imagined that the movement had actually performed the breaking of clothing prices.

The retailers who have taken advantage of all this publicity to bring out their expertly manipulated product and advertise it for say $35.00 as a $60.00 product, when it was obtainable all the time at $35.00, whereas prices value for value, have not declined one dollar.
