Platform Builders Favor "Slightly Moist" League; McAdoo Again Balks Presentation of Nomination

PROGATION OF PERSONAL RULE HARDING'S IDEA

Republican Presidential and Vice-Presidential Nominees Agree at Conference upon Basis of Campaign Appeal

WASHINGTON, (P)—The republican presidential campaign will be based "on a platform to restore party government," a constitutional substitute for personal government," Senator Harding, the party presidential candidate, announced today after a conference with the vice-presidential nominees, including Charles McNary, and National Chairman Wm. H. Hays.

At the same time Governor Coolidge, in a formal statement, said that he would not be a factor in the campaign, but here must be "a return of public opinion toward a self control by the people, toward a great and sweeping change to restore the law."

America's Basic Appeal
Senator Harding's statement said: "Governor Coolidge breakfasted with me this morning and we have agreed that he will base the campaign on an appeal to restore party government, a constitutional substitute for personal government."

"The governor and I have each served as lieutenant governor in our states and we both have learned from experience how possible it is for a second officer in a state to be a helpful part of a party government. I think the vice-presidential should be more than a mere substitute in waiting. In re-establishing co-ordination between the executive, office and the senate, the vice president can and ought to play a big part and I have been telling Governor Coolidge how much I wish him to be not only a participant in the campaign, but how much I wish him to be a helpful part of a republican administration. The country needs the counsel and becoming participation of the governor at such an hour as Governor Coolidge."

The Law Observance
Governor Coolidge's statement follows: "I am here to co-operate with my associates. We have many problems ahead. Many men have many remedies. The best remedy is the observance of the constitution and the laws. There is no compromise, and I am not now speaking of that. Of course, the government will enforce the laws. There is no compromise. There must be the return of public opinion toward a self control by the people, toward a great change to restore the law."

Plans Not Unsettled
Governor Coolidge and Chairman Hays attended the regular daily conference of Senator Harding with the vice-presidential nominees. Senator Harding's statement was called for in a statement attributed to Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, opposing the proposed plan for a "front porch" campaign.

"It is not surprising that there should be a difference of opinion as to the most effective methods of campaigning," said Senator Harding.

While recognizing the merits of Senator Penrose's proposal for a moderate campaign trip, the president-elect called for a return to a "front porch" campaign, saying that the "front porch" campaign proposal would be made.

Governor Coolidge said that "his far be had no plans for a tour of the country."

Hays Keeps Publicist
Mr. Hays said he had no statement to make "except that he wanted to keep publicizing the country upon the republican platform."

Havana Mass Meeting Determines upon Pool to Bring About Price Level

HAVANA, (P)—Cuban cane growers, sugar mill owners, brokers, claiming to control the sale of 2,180,000 sacks of unsoft sugar were on record today as definitely pledging not to offer any more sugar for sale until the price had reached 24 cents a pound, the level reached during the last half of May.

The decision was reached at a mass meeting held last night which was presided over by Miguel Arango, president of the Association of Hacendados and Colonos of Cuba.

The amount of unsoft Cuban sugar was estimated by a member of the selling committee as 2,180,000 sacks, their holdings of 2,180,000 sacks leaving only 1,740,000 sacks under outside control. Efforts are being made to bring these into the pool.

WILSON FORCES CLAIM VICTORY OVER PLATFORM

A Prohibition Plank "Slightly Moist" and Endorsement of League of Nations without Change Endorsed

SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—According to administration chiefs the sub-committee of nine drafting the democratic platform has practically agreed on a prohibition plank which is described as "slightly moist" and as being in "support of the constitutional amendment" but with no mention for personal liberty and against "vexatious interferences."

A league of nations plank, the same administration chiefs said, has been agreed upon "just as Wilson wants it, without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't'." As forecast it follows almost identically the line of the Virginia platform previously approved by President Wilson.

A careful count of the full committee and a survey of the convention, the administration chiefs said, made them confident that Wm. J. Bryan could not get his prohibition plank into the platform. The agreement was in such form, they said, that it was not improbable that their work would be laid before the full committee on resolutions late this afternoon.

Colby Wants Wine and Beer
Several hours of debate failed today to bring the platform sub-committee to final agreement on the prohibition issue. With Secretary Colby leading the fight for a light wine and beer plank the proposal showed signs of becoming the most troublesome facing the little circle of platform builders.

A Canvass of sentiment soon after the close of the day has right is said to have shown a majority of the sub-committee in favor of a declaration of sentiment when the sub-committee formally to take up prohibition proposals in the natural course of its deliberations. It was decided to record the whole subject.

Besides the plank offered by Secretary Colby, various wet declarations in different form were suggested, and the dry also put forward a set of proposals ranging from an ultra dry declaration to a prohibition law enforcement.

Administration Men Divide
In the sub-committee the councils of the administration men were widely diverse. Secretary Colby talked platform range from an ultra dry declaration to a prohibition law enforcement.

CONVENTION DEVOTES THIRD DAY SESSION TO NOMINATING SPEECHES

Indications Point to Clean Up of Oratory, Leaving Tomorrow Free for Ballotting; Cox Delegation Insists on Demonstration Delaying Start of Proceedings Set Ahead to Afford More Time for Dispatch of Business; Scheduled

AUDITORIUM, SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—Senator Owen of Oklahoma, former Ambassador Gerard and National Chairman Homer S. Cummings were placed in nomination for the presidency during the first hour of the democratic national convention's session today.

The name of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska was presented to the convention during the second hour. Former Governor Schallenger of Nebraska nominated the administration leader in the senate treaty fight, in a brief speech.

The nominating speech for Attorney General Palmer followed the presentation of Senator Hitchcock's name.

The nomination of Palmer was accompanied by the first real noisy and prolonged demonstration of the convention. It ran up towards a half hour with delegates from Pennsylvania and Georgia leading the crowd.

AUDITORIUM, San Francisco, (P)—The democratic national convention assembled today to hear candidates placed in nomination, with another last minute change in the plans of the McAdoo forces which finally precluded the presentation of his name. They were no changes respecting the placing of other candidates in nomination and the prospects were the convention would go through in a continuous session today and get all the nominating speeches out of the way, leaving tomorrow free for the balloting.

Resumes Secret Session
Although it was said by administration chiefs that the sub-committee of nine drafting the platform had virtually agreed in all important particulars, the sub-committee, after a brief conference with the full committee, made a public announcement that it was not ready to report and would work in secret until 10 tonight when another report would be made to the full committee.

Meanwhile administration chiefs declared that a prohibition plank "slightly moist" had been agreed upon which would preclude the adoption of William Jennings Bryan's bone dry plank. They further predicted, with much confidence, that the league of nations plank would be adopted "just as Woodrow Wilson wants it, without the dotting of an 'i' or the crossing of a 't'."

Although the hour of meeting had been advanced to 11 o'clock and the plan was to get an early start on the business of nominating which was sure to be interrupted by prolonged demonstrations, the delegates were not responsive to the idea of a prompt early start and were as slow in arriving as they had been on the previous days. The prospects were that the convention would be as late in getting under way as it had been on any other days since it began.

At 11:14 Chairman Robinson began whispering the chair and called on the delegates to get into their seats. "We're ready to start," he said, "and several planks on the floor."

Demands Cox Demonstration
The Cox delegation, however, insisted on having a demonstration and a song first, however, and the convention waited until the hour of the song. Thereafter a Cox demonstration of short duration at its conclusion.

A Cox band, garbed in brilliant red uniforms, with the convention hall in blaring out airs from a point in one of the galleries.

Chairman Robinson wanted to start up but was in a tolerant mood and let the music go on. The glee club which accompanied the Cox delegation joined in the music and entertained the delegates.

Get Word from Bryan
Meanwhile the platform framers got word that Wm. J. Bryan had no intention of abandoning his fight for a dry plank and that he was more determined than ever to carry his fight against any "slightly moist" plank on the floor of the convention.

The band and the Cox band soon got into a contest. The convention band played "Over There" and the Cox band came back with "Dixie" and "The Cox band was wa up."

The convention hall countered with "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here" and the organ played a neutral part, playing "The Cox band was wa up."

SPEECHES LISTED FOR NOMINATION OF 9 CANDIDATES

Convention to Await Report of Platform Committee Before Proceeding to Pick Nominees; Ballotting Delay Expected

SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—Definite and final instructions came from the Cox delegation today that Wm. C. McAdoo's name was not to be placed before the democratic national convention.

Charles Fickens of Kansas, who was prepared to make a nominating speech for McAdoo, revised his plans again and decided to accept the wishes of the McAdoo managers.

NEW YORK, (P)—"This action was taken with great regret," said Wm. C. McAdoo today when told that "definite and final instructions" had been received from the Cox delegation that his name was not to be placed before the democratic national convention. He would make no further comment.

SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—Candidates for presidential honors were being placed in nomination at today's session of the democratic national convention. While committee members struggled behind closed doors attempting to draft a platform acceptable to all elements in the party, the convention waited a role as the nominating speeches made in advance of the adoption of the declaration of principles.

Beginning before noon, oratory held forth and was expected to continue throughout the day, interrupted only by a vote on the platform and a few favorite candidates were placed before the delegates.

Speeches on Program
The speaker was on the program nominating speeches for the president and Vice President.

William C. McAdoo, Attorney General of Ohio, Governor Cox of Ohio, Charles Fickens of Kansas, the democratic national committee, Governor Edwards of New Mexico, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, James W. Davis, ambassador to Great Britain.

Cox Balloting May Come Later
With all the candidates named in nomination, the convention will wait the report of the platform committee before proceeding to pick the nominees. Ballotting may not start until late Thursday or Friday.

The platform drafters planned to work continuously until the document is completed. Laboring under the clock this morning the sub-committee resumped its task before 10 o'clock and stopped only long enough to report progress to the full committee.

How much longer the sub-committee will take to finish its work is not known. The committee is expected to complete its work by the end of the day.

Planks defining the democratic party's attitude on the Russian revolution and the prohibition question, two of the prominent issues before the committee, have not yet finally been decided upon, though it is said that the committee is not far off on the Russian question. Regardless of any action taken by the sub-committee, members of the full committee will have to vote on the full committee over both questions and that the losers will carry away no votes to the convention for final action.

Substantial agreement has been reached on many of the minor issues proposed for incorporation in the platform.

GERMAN PURCHASE RUMOR BOOSTS PRICE OF CORN

Argentina Holds Batches in Product Used a Year Ago for Fuel

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Recent sharp advance in the price of Argentine corn is attributed to the fact that some leaked out that the league of agriculturists of Germany had contracted with a Dutch firm for the purchase of Argentine corn for 1,000,000 tons of the cereal. The contract is said to be guaranteed by the German government and is to be paid for in monthly payments of 100,000 marks.

The corn is to be used chiefly for making kerosene and for the death of fatty foodstuffs in Germany.

Since the beginning of the year the price of corn has risen to the equivalent of $1.13 per bushel. A million tons at this price would amount to about $1,130,000. Hardly more than a year ago it was being burned in Argentina for fuel.

CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED

Idaho Association Starts Drive to Raise $2,000 for Purchase of Irrigation Projects

POCATELLO, Idaho, (AP)—A campaign is now on for the raising of $2,000 locally for the benefit of the Idaho Reclamation association, which has accomplished marked results for irrigation in the state during the past two years. Major Fred R. Reed, executive secretary of the association, and a pioneer irrigator, says all the communities in the state are heartily co-operating in the work. The Idaho association is but one of the units of the reclamation body of a dozen western states.

Major Reed, formerly immigration commissioner of Idaho, and at one time general manager of a large irrigation company, looks for a shortage of water this season. The association proposes to harness the waste waters of the Snake and other streams.

In Shanghai he has set in motion a campaign of publicity to acquaint shippers throughout China with the extensive port improvements that have been and are to be carried out by the Rose City.

William Gibbs McAdoo

William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury in the Wilson cabinet, who is a leading candidate for the democratic presidential nomination. With the exception of President Wilson probably no other American in the war had more responsibility than Mr. McAdoo, who originated and put into effect the war-risk insurance bureau, floated the Liberty loans and successfully financed not only the armies of Uncle Sam, but the armies of all the other allies as well. In 1908 he directed the building of the famous Hudson tunnels, which connect Manhattan with points in New Jersey. When the tunnels under the Hudson river were completed it was planned to officially call them the McAdoo Tunnel, but Mr. McAdoo refused the honor. William Gibbs McAdoo was born near Marietta, Georgia, October 31, 1863, of a Scottish family that settled in North Carolina more than three hundred years ago. He has been married twice. His first wife, whom he married in 1888, was Miss Sarah Hazelhurst Fleming of Chattanooga. She died February, 1912, leaving six children. On May 7, 1916, he was married to Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of President Wilson.

SUNSHINE AVERTS RIOTS IN MADRID BAKER STRIKE

Hungry Parade Streets Under Clouds but are Patient in Fair Weather

MADRID, (AP)—The sun prevented what threatened to be a serious outbreak in Madrid during the recent bakers' strike. The first two days of the bread scarcity were dull and threatening and the hungry poor were so affected by the lowering skies and the lack of food that they paraded the streets in groups uttering shouts and menacing stockholders who kept their establishments open.

On the third day the sun shone and although still hungry and compelled to wait indefinite hours for the loaves to be doled out, the people did so patiently and even cheerfully.

All kinds of laws and police regulations were broken by the men, women and children forming the almost endless bread lines, but the authorities took a lenient view of what occurred.

When an old man brought a camp bedstead, set it up on the sidewalk and stretched himself on it, a policeman arrested him and led him to the station house with his bed. The police captain first looked grave, then began to laugh when the offender explained he knew he might have to wait anything from 12 to 24 hours for his bread and had merely provided against fatigue. He was released and returned to his place in the line with a high and hearty applause of the crowd.

Another group hired a barrel organ whose owner played popular melodies while the people were waiting, with growing appetites and hollow stomachs danced merrily. On the Calle de la Magdalena a cobbler arrived carrying a stool, took out a shoe and a pair of which he was able to sole and heel before his turn came to obtain a loaf.

Similar scenes were enacted day after day and general hilarity until the municipal authorities decided to break up the big bread lines by distributing loaves from a larger number of centers. The danger was then over.

CALM FOLLOWS ELECTION DISTURBANCES IN CHILE

Virtually All Troops Withdrawn from Santiago as Count Givas Borgono

SANTIAGO, Chile, (AP)—The disturbed conditions in Santiago due to the uncertainty over the result of last Friday's presidential election had apparently passed today. Virtually all the troops had been withdrawn.

The official figures on the choice of presidential electors to the electoral college, so far as completed, give Luis Barros Borgoño, liberal union candidate, 133 votes and Arturo Alessandri, candidate of the liberal alliance, 128 votes. (A Santiago dispatch of June 28 gave the unofficial figures as 172 electors for Alessandri and 173 for Borgoño.)

Mad Anthony Wayne was First American Legion Commander

CAMP PIKE, Arkansas, (AP)—The first "American Legion" was founded in 1792, and its existence, by that name, terminated in 1790. War department records show that when the regular army was reorganized in 1792, following the Revolutionary war, the first officially designated "Legion" was and was divided into four "sub-legions," of which the Fourth United States Infantry was a part.

The idea of designating the United States army as the legion originated with General Knox, secretary of war under George Washington. The army was patterned after the Roman legion, the old military organization under which Julius Caesar and his successors conquered as much of the world as was then known.

The American "Legion" was commanded by General Anthony Wayne ("Mad Anthony") and was organized under his direction at Pittsburgh, Pa., in May, 1792. President Washington instructed General Wayne to "not spare powder and lead, so that the men be made marksmen." The legion fought its only battle as a legion at Miami Rapids in the Kentucky-Ohio country August 20, 1794, engaging a force of hostile Indians. In 1796, it having been decided that the Roman formation was not suitable for fighting Indians, the legion was disbanded and reorganized into four regiments of infantry.

THE PLAN ECONOMIC WAR ON JAPANESE

Shantung Province Governor Launches Daring Project of Highway Building and Use of Motor Trucks

TSINAN, Shantung Province, China, (AP)—Wallo the Shantung problem remains unsolved and the Japanese occupation of areas Germany formerly controlled continues, a means to oppose the Japanese has been worked out along economic lines by Chi Yung-kwang, civil governor of the province.

Chi Yung-kwang, who has come to be regarded by foreigners of the Far East as one of China's greatest administrative figures has launched during project of building within Shantung a great system of highways to be used by "automobile truck service in connecting all important centers. As a corollary, he plans to deepen and improve waterways so that these roads and streams will afford to China and the province a transportation system that will place them on an equal footing with the Japanese who now control channels of commerce with the world.

Under the direction of T'ang En-lan, a graduate of Purdue University, who has been made director of the new created Bureau of Roads and Waterways in Shantung, active surveying work in connection with the project has been started out of Tsinan and present plans contemplate the building of 2,000 miles of highways and the deepening of the Hsiao Ching river. The purpose is to weave all important cities of the province into a unified transportation system.

Under existing conditions many of these cities, as for example the port of Chefoo, are hampered economically by the lack of adequate transportation facilities. The Chinese hope the plan will break the backbone of Japan's economic domination in Shantung.

Governor Chi's proposed motor road system touches the sea at three points, Lung K'ou, Chefoo and Hai Yang, and connects with the Tientsin and Peking railroad at a point not yet determined. The whole road system is made up of seven trunk highways connected by 10 branch highways.

A scheme for financing to carry out the big project will be supplied in part by the state, land owners and others to be benefited and in part by the provincial government, according to official announcement, has received widespread endorsement throughout the province.

passed, Connecticut was called and John B. Crosby presided and the names of national Chairman Homer B. Cummings.

Cummings Gets Applause.
Demonstrations for Cummings were rather frequent as Mr. Crosby got into his speech and mentioned the national chairman's name. He could follow the speaker's keynote speech of Monday, the opening day of the convention.

Mr. Crosby told the convention that Mr. Cummings was the one man upon whom all the factions in the party could unite and referred to him as the man who could follow the spiritual leadership of Woodrow Wilson. At the speaker's devoted that sentence he turned and raised his arms to the portraits of the president hanging before the audience. The delegates and gallery were responsive with a demonstration of applause and cheers.

At the conclusion of the nominating speech the band broke into the Star-Spangled Banner and the Connecticut delegation led a demonstration in which scattering delegates from the spaces of other states joined.

Appreciates Woman's Bravery.
Mrs. Force Parker of California, seconded the nomination of Mr. Cummings. Mrs. Parker, who came from Los Angeles, spoke less than a minute and the delegates in appreciation of her bravery gave her a ringing demonstration of thanks.

Cummings' Hope of Oppressed.
Ira C. Rothberger of Denver, Colo., also seconded the nomination of Mr. Cummings.

Characterizing Mr. Cummings as the "champion of hope for the oppressed peoples of the world," Rothberger closed his seconding speech, the band swooped it up and the "Red, White and Blue" and the Cummings' march among the delegates went in for "three cheers" and more demonstrations for national chairman.

Then the call of the states was resumed. Delaware yielded to Nebraska and former Governor Schallenger for national chairman. Mr. Hittcheck, the administration leader in the treaty fight in the senate. There was no seconding speech for Mr. Hittcheck and when the call of the states was resumed Florida yielded to Pennsylvania and John H. Bigelow took the platform and presented the name of Attorney General Palmer.

Organizes Palmer Demonstration.
While Bigelow was speaking the Palmer forces throughout the hall were busy quietly organizing their demonstration, distributing flags and noise making devices, and getting their rosters in place. The convention was looking forward to the demonstration as the first tangible evidence of how great the Palmer strength was.

Bigelow was interrupted by Thomas A. Niland of East Boston, Mass., who demanded the privilege to ask Bigelow a question and threw the convention into an uproar. Out of "sit down" and "throw him out" the air and Palmer supporters were shouting madly on the man. Above the uproar Chairman Robinson shouted that the delegates were out of order and could not interrupt the speaker. The convention was a riot of approval to the chairman, rolling and Niland subsided.

"I reserve this man," shouted Bigelow, when he got attention again because his enemies are the enemies of our government, and his foes are the foes of our government.

Demonstration Cuts Loose.

The conclusion of Bigelow's speech was the signal for the Palmer demonstration to cut loose. The Georgia state standard was first up and in the procession and Pennsylvania's followed.

It was the first real noisy and prolonged demonstration of the convention. It seemed as if about half the delegates on the floor were standing, but many obviously went up to see the spectacle. The voting strength of the Palmer forces could not be assessed by the size of the demonstration. The band opened "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah" and the Palmer forces started chanting the celebrated parody, "Glory, Glory Pennsylvania."

There was the usual amount of flag waving, hat waving, singing of corbels, din of noise making devices, singing and yelling.

As the procession went on, the Rhode Island, Florida and Hawaii standards came up from the floor and went in the line.

Maine and Porto Rico Join.

The standards of Maine and Porto Rico also got into the parade as it churned around the convention floor. The Maine Palmer pennants and small American flags were carried by the marchers as they cut lanes through the crowd of delegates and sang half their marching song over and over again. The same tune was kept up by the band in the organ loft and in between times a new chapter of noise while the crowd of delegates kept the convention floor pepped up.

After it had been on for 15 minutes the demonstration, showed not a sign of diminishing in enthusiasm or the volume of the noise it produced. A woman with a bright green skirt got on the speakers platform and stirred up a new chapter of noise while the crowd leaders kept up their work in all parts of the hall.

WALKOUT OF SHOPMEN FAILS TO MATERIALIZE

Organization Leader Declares Strike Has Been Postponed Until Not Later Than July 5.

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—A threatened walkout of Pennsylvania railway shopmen did not materialize yesterday but H. A. Jeffery, leader of shop men, declared the strike had been postponed until "not later than July 5."

He declared the railway company has offered him $25,000 to drop his demands, which include discharge of three foremen and reinstatement of others who went on strike in April.

Railway officials said the charge was "too ridiculous and was too absurd to comment on."

The yardmen's strike showed no change.

WILSON FORCES CLAIM VICTORY

dent's views on party declarations, is understood to have taken the position that there should be no liquor plank at all, and Senator McKellar, another consistent administration supporter, submitted the basic dry plank drawn by W. J. Bryan.

The result was to put the subject into such a tangle that no member of the committee felt certain of the outcome. Some of them were inclined to pass the whole question over without decision and let the wets and drys fight it out in the full platform committee after the sub-committee report has been submitted.

Committee Waits on Nix.

When the full platform committee reassembled by pre-arrangement at 11 o'clock today Senator Glass reported that the sub-committee was not ready to report and a recess was taken until 7:30 tonight. The sub-committee then again went into session with its members divided in their opinions as to whether it would be possible to report at the hour fixed.

At the suggestion of former Governor McChesie of West Virginia, members of the full committee were invited to the platform suggestions with the sub-committee. There was no echo in today's meeting, however, of the objections made by Senator Walsh to the sub-committee plan of going ahead without consulting at length with the other committee members.

Pomeroy Offers Legislative Plank.

The first suggested plank handed in to the sub-committee was one by Senator Pomeroy of Ohio, regarding the liquor of natives, provided for ratification without "impaired reservations" but added that differences of opinion on that subject should be "so pronounced that the treaty may be ratified without unnecessary delay."

In handling the prohibition question, administration leaders were reported to be maneuvering to bring before the convention a plank which could be championed by an administration spokesman, as well as presided over by the drys, to be impossible. On a straight wet or dry vote it was generally expected that the majority of the delegates would vote dry, but the proposed "slightly moist" plank, backed with a declaration upholding President Wilson, was believed to have better than a good chance.

Little trouble over the administration treaty-plank was expected in the sub-committee. Its handling was said to be left entirely to Secretary Colby for advocacy in the full committee tonight and also in the convention.

Floor Fight Outright.

That a floor fight on prohibition could be avoided was believed by administration leaders, as well as presided over by the drys, to be impossible. On a straight wet or dry vote it was generally expected that the majority of the delegates would vote dry, but the proposed "slightly moist" plank, backed with a declaration upholding President Wilson, was believed to have better than a good chance.

Death Claims Pioneer of Intermountain Area

Colonel Ernie M. Wall, Reputed Discoverer of Bingham Copper Deposit, Dies at Salt Lake Home

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, (AP)—Col. Ernie M. Wall, widely known mining man, died at his home here last night after a long illness. He was born in Indiana in 1850 and was said to have been the discoverer of copper deposits at Bingham, Utah, now one of the country's largest workings.

Colonel Wall came from Indiana to Colorado in 1880. He became a leading figure in freighting, trading and mining development in that state, Montana, Utah and Idaho in pioneer days. He served some time as presiding officer of the upper house of the Idaho legislature during territorial days. Besides his widow he leaves five daughters.

When to Cut Wheat.

Wheat may be cut with safety when the straw has lost nearly all its green color and the grains are not entirely hardened. If cut sooner than this threshed kernels will result. If left standing until fully ripe, a bleached appearance, due to the action of the elements, often results, and loss from shattering may ensue. Wheat that is fully ripe is also more difficult to handle. Where the area of wheat is large, cutting should begin as early as it can be done safely.

ENABLING GERMANY TO PAY

The $30,000,000 cash indemnity imposed upon Germany by the Allies is probably no greater, relatively, than the $1,000,000 collected by Germany
from France nearly a half-century ago, taking into account the increase in the wealth of nations in this period. France paid in an incredibly short time, surprising the world with the revelation of her hidden financial resources, and the aftermath of the settlement in some ways was worse for the victor than the vanquished. Germany indulged in an economic spree and also in a dream of world conquest which was shattered two years ago. France, on the other hand, buckled down to work and not only speedily rehabilitated herself financially but became, next to England, the greatest creditor nation in the world.
Industrially, Germany is superior to France, and shortly before the war she wreathed supremacy from Great Britain
as an iron and steel producer and took rank second only to the United States in this respect.

Under the plan submitted at the conference of Allied premiers the period
for the payment of the $30,000,000,000 imposed upon Germany is extended over a period of 37 years, unless the property of the latter in the meantime warrants a more rapid extinction of the obligation. The problem not before the world's financial experts, in this connection had no parallel in all history.
The obstacles in the way of its solution appeared insuperable to the lay mind. They involved political as well as economic factors, affecting both creditors and debtors. One cannot but admire the skill displayed in the tentative adjustment. In the first place, the terms of the treaty left uncertain the amount of the indemnity to be exacted.
The plan submitted at the recent conference fixes a definite sum. The terms of payment were also indefinite;
now they are explicitly fixed.

Without doubt the experts had in mind the effect upon the recipient of the too rapid payment of the indemnity, assuming Germany's ability to pay promptly. Perhaps the most serious of all the problems in the mind of the general public was the means whereby Germany could be enabled to meet her obligations. She could not pay in gold because the sum did not exist in exchangeable form in all the world. She could only pay by being given the means to develop her material resources.

Here the experts applied the principle followed by an individual bank to a virtually insolvent but honest debtor when it makes a new loan to him. The allies propose to issue international bonds, one-third of the proceeds of which will be advanced to Germany for her internal uses. With these means she will be able to buy raw materials on which she must apply her acknowledged skill and her admitted potential industry, turning them into finished products which may be exchanged for gold or financial credits, which in turn will be devoted to the liquidation
of the principal of her debt.

Commerce has little sympathy with individual or partisan bitterness, and is not barred by geographical boundaries. Where its interests are mutual it makes friends. It is as much to the interest of the allies that Germany be economically rehabilitated as to the new republic itself. It looks as if the financial experts had solved the problem.
The percentage of the sum to be distributed among the several allies appears to be the one remaining point of dispute, but this should not impair the solution submitted.

FOOD SPECULATOR ON JOB

There are indications that the ever-watchful food speculator has his eye on the alarming reports of farm labor shortage sent out from many states.
His problem, however, is not only of the immediate present, but even more of the future. He will manage to get through this season in some way, and there will be no actual shortage of foodstuffs next winter. So the speculators may as well cease their efforts to make high price propaganda for themselves out of the misfortune of the man who grows the crops.

The fear of an actual food shortage is in the future with more and more men and women leaving the farms. We shall still have food for next winter, with an ever-dwindling surplus in the years to come.

THE WORLD DILEMMA.

(Denver Times)

'The difficulties in the way of a solution of the housing problem are not growing any less. At present there is in progress something of the nature of a stampede. Increases in wages are being demanded every week by different classes of workers. The place of the wage-earner's builder, who took some considerable risk, and did everything in his power to keep down costs, has been taken by the contractor to whom cost is no object. Nearly everyone concerned seems to be joining enthusiastically in the exploitation of the public purse. The recurrent strikes, which are a never-failing feature of the situation, hold up the work, even when there is a readiness to sacrifice considerations of cost which at other times would be the controlling factor.

Industry and commercialism are compelling with the housing schemes. So,
even with wages at a phenomenal level,
workmen are scarce.'

The above quotation reads like an extract from any American daily. On the contrary, it is a commentary on the housing shortage in far away Scotland, culled from a London newspaper. Thus we find conditions in the British Isles akin to those in America, Colorado and Scotland are wrestling with the same problems: Workmen are demanding more money; commercial and industrial enterprises are bidding against home-building projects; strikes are punctuating progress and puncturing the public purse; we are all in the same boat, this side over.

Critical as our own conditions are,
however, it is evident from the description of the emergency in Scotland that America's troubles are not yet as serious as those abroad. Thus we are informed further "There is a contract in Glasgow for 316 houses at present, on which two bricklayers are engaged. At this rate of progress the 316 houses will be completed after a lapse of 20 years.
The contractor has advertised for men,
but so far has only been able to enlist
a couple. Costs have reached an untenable figure. For three-apartment houses
the contract figures now work out about 1000 pounds, and the prices are still going up. A similar feature is the contractor's demand for substantial profit on every increase on cost due to rises in wages.'

Both contractor and employer are shown by this article to be holding up the public. Prices for building in America are pretty steep, but we have not yet reached the point where we are paying $2000 for a three-room house.

There is reason to believe that the peak
has been reached in this country, although there is small satisfaction making predictions in the present unsettled
state of affairs. The question naturally arises, however, as to what the world
is going to do in the housing situation.
People must have places in which to live, but labor seems unwilling to render its services for the sake of the working man. It is estimated in Scotland that the worker of today—when he works—is only turning out about two-thirds of the results produced by the pre-war craftsman. In this respect Scotland is no worse off than America,
for it would be rash for any one conversant with the labor situation today to declare that the present day worker is doing more than two-thirds of the amount of labor he did before the war.

CONGRESS PARTY COURT'S DECISION FAVORABLE HERE JULY 18TH TWIN FALLS CANAL COMPANY

Plans are Being Laid to Show Legislators Benefits of Arrian Land Irrigation

For the entertainment of a United States congressional party, due in this section on July 18, especially elaborate and detailed schedules are being devised through the departmental executives of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. The program includes a trip over the greater part of the irrigated stretches from the Twin Falls district.

It is expected the party, which consists of 21 representatives in congress, will reach Jerome on the morning of July 18, and after a short stay there will be conveyed across country to Burley, where the cortege will inspect a government project. Whether or not the party will come to Twin Falls city is a question not to be definitely decided until further consideration is given by the itinerary committee in charge.

Every effort is being made by the recreation bureau of the chamber of commerce, directed by Chairman M. J. Swesley, to have the representatives become thoroughly familiar with this irrigated section, which stands out as a striking example of the most irrigating practice in Idaho, with a view to creating the proper impression toward reclamation of arid wastes of the west.

Following are the members of the party expected here: James W. Good, Iowa, chairman; Charles B. Davis, Minnesota; William S. Vane, Pennsylvania; Walter W. J. Swesley, Virginia; Joseph W. Cannon, Illinois; William B. Wood, Indiana; Louis O. Crampston, Michigan; Edward H. Wagoner, New Hampshire; Walter W. M. Wagoner, New York; George Holden Tinkham, Massachusetts; Burton L. Judge Babcock, in the District Court, Decided Cities Have Right to Vote Corporation Stock Of Which They Are Trustees — Finds Illegal Voting Equal on Both Sides—Directorate Un- changed

Rendering a decision in the case of Frank De Klotz and others against the Twin Falls Canal company, Judge W. A. Babcock has found that the city of Twin Falls and Buhl, and the representatives of the High Line Pumping plant have a legal right to vote stock of which they are trustees. The court has so advised the contending attorneys.

Judge Babcock's finding was announced yesterday evening, the decision being made known orally. In addition to deciding that the stock held by Twin Falls and Buhl and the High Line company had been legally voted according to the lawful rights of the stockholders, the court has given Judge Babcock's finding that some stock was illegally voted on both sides in the recent election of a board of directors of the canal company. The court finds, however, that this illegal voting was equal on both sides, and in no way affects the standing of the directorate in this respect. The court says:

"As to persons voting who had disposed of lands and stock, but had not been admitted to vote at an election for directors, the situation is about equal on both sides. The stockholders of Twin Falls, Buhl, as trustees, are entitled to vote the water stock they hold. The same applies to the High Line Pumping plant. The High Line Pumping plant, as trustees, are entitled to land under the canal system."

Whether there will be any further contest remains with the legal representatives of the plaintiff, the High Line Pumping plant. The case was instituted last winter following an annual election of directors, and resulted from a finding that the High Line Pumping plant was illegal. D. F. DeWolfe, a defeated candidate.

Social Notes

The wedding of Miss Margaret Gouley and Jurgan Shinn took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Alexander on Fourth avenue north yesterday afternoon. Just before the ceremony Miss Emma Smith sang "At the Altar," and the bride was attended by Mrs. Harry Benoit. Promptly at three o'clock the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Benoit and the bride and groom, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Barton and the Rev. Asher H. Brandt, followed by the groomsmen, the bridesmaids, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Barton of Boise, a close friend of the Gouley family, and the best man, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Barton of Boise, the bride's gown was white tulle, the skirt trimmed with plaited ruffles of the same material edged with beads and the bodice and sleeves were also beaded. The veil was of white tulle worn cap fashion with a coronet of lilies of the valley and a bouquet of bride's roses. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. Baskets of pink roses were used with champagne and fruit throughout the rooms, and dainty refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Shinn left in afternoon train for Pullman, where they will spend their honeymoon. The going away costume worn by the bride was a sport suit of pink, brown and black, with hat and gloves to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Shinn will reside at Filer in a home which was the gift of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Shinn.

Mr. Shinn is the secretary of the Filer Commercial club, editor of the Filer Record, and a graduate of the University of Southern California. He is the daughter of the late Dr. John S. Gouley, first pastor of the Presbyterian church in Twin Falls, a graduate of the University of this city and also of the Occidental college, Los Angeles. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Shinn, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gouley, Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Gouley, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Beem, Henry E. Laumers, and Harold Moore of Filer, Rev. J. H. Barton of Boise, Elmer E. PUSSEYFOOT ALWAYS WAS PROHIBITIONIST

Anti-Liquor Lecturer Will Be in Twin Falls on July 6-for An Address

William Eugene (Pussyfoot) Johnson is a native New Yorker, who shows here on July 6. He was born in that state March 25, 1862.

Always a prohibitionist, he was identified with the third party for years until he became convinced that the prohibition, inter-denominational plan of the Anti-Saloon league was the only one that ultimately would win. He came actively into the work of the league in 1912, though before that time he had done a great deal of work for the state and local organizations of the league.

Johnson has always been a newspaper and public relations man. He has been the vigorous, assertive, aggressive agitator more or less, always attacking the liquor stronghold, but at the same time giving credit for the work of the honest industry of purpose they possessed.

For years he was editor of the New York Voice, prohibition organ. He also did editorial and investigation work for the Funk and Wagnalls interest, and him abroad for data on special articles. He has traveled in practically every civilized country on the globe.

During the Roosevelt administration Johnson was appointed special reform officer of the department of the interior, with the job of suppressing the liquor traffic among the Indians. During the spectacular and colorful experience he closed thousands of saloons, put more than 3000 men in jail, was himself several times attacked by local officials, made himself the everlasting friend of the Indians, and brought around to his actual support many of the "bad" men of the west and southwest.

He was the starter of the one-half of 1 per cent idea as a limit for alcoholic content under prohibition. He has succeeded in making the law of Oklahoma, and it has since become the limit in many states and in the Volstead federal code.

The nickname "Pussyfoot" was given him while he was in federal service. He was so satirical in many of his speeches, and so witty, that when no man pursued, but often did not flee when Pussyfoot pursued, for the very good reason that they didn't know he was on the pursuing job.

SOME RARE SPORT IS PLANNED FOR JULY 5

Buhl's Celebration Committee Lines Up Entertainment Program of Merit

Buhl, Idaho (Special)—Preparations are going forward for a Fourth of July celebration which promises to meet the demand of the thousands of people who will come here Monday.

No expense or effort will be spared by the entertainment committee to make the day enjoyable. A war between the fire departments of Twin Falls and Buhl is planned to be a feature of the sports program. This match is the first of its kind in the district and teams from both cities are now in practice for the event, for which a big cash prize has been offered.

Horse races and broncho busting contests, pony dashes, and all kinds of athletic contests are on the program. Little cash prizes will make the contestants in each event numerous.

In the forenoon, at 10 o'clock, preceded by a band concert, the big patriotic meeting will be held in the city park. The feature of this portion of the program will be a patriotic address by Miles Cannon, commissioner of agriculture of the state of Idaho. Commissioner Cannon is well known for his ability as an orator and will bring to the farmers of the west end a message of actual conditions in the agricultural world.

The baseball game in which Burley and Buhl will cross bats in the regular schedule of the Southern Idaho league, is an attraction which will please the national game fans.

Dancing and other amusements will be offered in plenty, and a big pyrotechnic display will be set off in the evening.

The town will be gay in its decorations and the streets will resemble a full fledged carnival, as applications for concessions have been numerous.

The celebration of the Fourth of July necessarily on Monday will bring hundreds of visitors from distant points it is expected, as it permits of a two-day holiday.

All roads will lead to Buhl to celebrate the nation's birthday.

GRANDVIEW IS GAS UNDERLAIN

State Mines Inspector Finds Deposits in Wells at Shallow Depths

That the Grandview district of Idaho is underlain with heavy deposits of commercial gas, at not great depths, is the gist of a report made by E. N. Bell, state mines inspector, who upon returning to Boise from a survey of the district, has made the following report of findings:

"Geologically the valley occupies the center of a flat trough of the main Snake river basin and is near the bottom of the trough, affording ideal structural conditions for an extensive artesian basin. This feature has been taken advantage of by a number of settlers in sinking artesian wells that vary from 500 to 1000 feet deep and afford natural flows of water varying from a fraction of an inch up to as much as 50 inches.

Gas on Dry Farm
The most interesting new well is on the dry farmstead of W. L. Turner, the local meat contractor. This well was sunk for the purpose of procuring a flow of water and has succeeded in doing so. The hole is 4 inches in diameter, cased down only 100 feet and an open hole the balance of the way to the bottom, 1300 feet deep. It is flowing about 30 gallons per minute of water and the outlet pipe, in addition, is discharging a steady flow of natural gas which, when lighted, throws a strong yellow flame two feet high.

"At the bottom of the well, at its present depth, a very hard rock formation was encountered, which is believed to prove a relatively thin layer of lava, whose underflow may afford a much stronger flow of water or of gas when it is penetrated.

Home is Piped
Three miles further north on the south bank of Snake river, the Garbutt ranch, another well 1100 feet deep in which the water does not flow but stands a few feet below the top of the casing is capped and discharging a steady flow of natural gas sufficient to supply a two hole gas range with 35 jets to each hole and several light jets in the ranch house and barn.

"Another well on the Thompson ranch 3 miles further west with a small artesian water flow is also discharging a similar volume of natural gas and about 15 miles further northwest on Castle creek, a short distance east of Oreana, half a dozen similar small artesian wells are all producing natural gas.

"These interesting displays of natural gas are worthy of more detailed study and investigation.

As Payette, Too
The gas in Payette, Idaho, is the only one in the vicinity of Payette, where at the Payette coal storage plant a flow of gas of about 1000 cubic feet per minute is discharged from a 275-foot well has been used for lighting and heating purposes for the past three years without any diminution of pressure. It is apparently a dry gas and gives a hot blue flame without smoke in a heating stove and a brilliant white light with a mantle on a lighting gas.

"I have strongly urged our new state department of geology to make a scientific survey of these important hydrocarbon prospects along the Snake river valley in Idaho and I have the promise of the executive head of this department, Prof. Thompson, to take this work up shortly, if funds are available to do so."
