POLES VICTORS IN RENEWAL OF OFFENSIVE WAR

Bolshevik Cavalry Leader is Defeated in Volhyna and Fleeing to Rovno on which Triumphant Army is Advancing

WARSAW, (P)—The Bolsheviks, after occupying Smolowicz, to the east of Minsk, have reached the trenches bordering on Minsk, where they are in progress, says the official war office communique today.

Polish detachments have been forced to abandon the line along the river Vilia, it adds.

WARSAW, (P)—Victories for the Poles in the Pripiet region and in Volhyna are reported in advices received here today. The Bolshevik cavalry leader, General Budenny, has been defeated, the advices stated, and he is fleeing to Rovno, upon which the Poles are marching.

The victory of the Poles in the Pripiet region, is described as "complete." Enormous supplies are declared to have been taken with the occupation of the town of Ovruch, where 200 prisoners also were picked up.

The troops operating against General Budenny, the advices report, captured Great and Little Zvoin, taking eight guns, while a Bolshevik cavalry brigade was annihilated.

Bolshevik attacks south and west of Rovno were repulsed, the message adds.

SOVIET CLAIMS CONTINUED SUCCESS ON SOUTH FRONT

LONDON, (P)—Polish armies struggling to stem the advance of Russian Bolsheviks on the southern front have taken the offensive near Rovno, according to an official statement issued in Moscow and received here by wireless. Further south, the soviet forces are continuing their drive successfully north of the Dniester river and have occupied Novaya Ushitsa, northeast of Kamenetz-Podolsk, the statement declares.

FORMER EMPRESS EUGENIE WELCOMES DEATH IN SPAIN

Last Surviving Royal Ruler of France Dies after Short Illness

MADRID, (P)—Former Empress Eugenie of France, who died here Sunday morning, was ill only a few hours before her death. She was exceptionally well Saturday morning. At midday she lunched heartily, eating chicken and some ham.

A short time later she became ill, experiencing severe abdominal pain. Dr. Greda, physician to King Alfonso, was called and finding her condition serious, summoned Dr. Moreno Zancudo, a specialist, and also two other physicians. They were, however, unable to relieve the patient.

Empress Eugenie seemed conscious that death was approaching, and those who stood by the bedside say she appeared glad to die in Spain, her native country.

CONFLICTING VIEWS ON REPARATIONS RESULT IN LENGTHY CONFERENCE

Failure to Reach Agreement on Question of Coal Deliveries by Germans Proves Barrier to Path of Decisions Regarding Indemnity Amounts and Terms; Berlin Government Asks Specific Requirements and Assistance of Allies

SPA, (P)—The allies served an ultimatum on the German delegation to the conference here late today that the Germans must agree by 2 p. m. tomorrow to deliver to the allies 2,000,000 tons of coal monthly. Otherwise the Germans were informed, the allies will take measures to enforce the terms of the treaty.

SPA, Belgium, (P)—Prolongation of the allied-German conference here for another day or two may possibly longer seemed probable today because of the inability of the conferees so far to reach an agreement over the question of coal deliveries by the Germans and the reparations plan in general.

"I am not returning to Paris for the national feast of July 14," said Premier Millerand after closing today's morning's meeting held by the premier without the presence of the German delegates.

"I am going to stay and fight this thing out."

Countermand Train Orders

The allied premiers, following this meeting, countermanded the special trains they had ordered and it appeared that the conference would likely continue until Thursday at least.

The morning meeting of the premiers took the place of what had been expected to be a full session of the conference.

The Germans were at first informed that the full meeting had been postponed until after noon, but later the allied ministers decided to invite Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simon to meet them this afternoon in a restricted conference, without the presence of the other delegates.

Coal Question Causes Halt

The German allied conference was brought to a temporary halt this morning by the coal question. The allied premiers, who convened at 10:30 o'clock to discuss the German reparations proposition and the question of priority in coal deliveries from Germany, were unable to finish their work in time for the general conference to sit at 11:30 o'clock, the hour previously fixed.

The allied ministers, it appears, are not very favorably impressed by the German reparations plan. The prevailing view of the conferees was that the plan was somewhat indefinite on the essential financial points.

Another Plan in Reserve

It is understood that the German delegates have in reserve another plan, or amendment, of much greater importance than the plan submitted yesterday. The plan now before the conference is considered a substitute for the original plan which Germans are withholding, being unwilling to disclose the original proposition because they were not given satisfaction on the coal question.

It seems even possible that the trouble over the coal question may result in the prolongation of the conference.

Berlin Government's Plan

Germany can fulfill future engagements only if they are based on her financial capacity, said a statement outlining the Berlin government's plan for reparations submitted to the allied conferees here last night. The German budget must balance, the statement insisted, or there would be a rapid inflation.

USE OF TRACTORS MAKES SMALL INROADS ON HORSES

OMAHA, Neb., (P)—Speaking of the effect of modern appliances on horse breeding, D. M. Campbell, president of the Missouri Valley Veterinary association, told delegates attending the association's annual convention, that a reduction of only about 6 per cent in the number of horses would result even if the whole country were saturated with tractors.

HEAVY SNOWFALL REPORTED IN VICINITY OF BOULDER

BOULDER, Colo., (P)—Nearly six inches of snow is reported by tourists camping in the hills in the Nederland and Tuxton region today. The storm started early Sunday afternoon and it quickly assumed the proportions of a mid-winter blizzard.

Opponents and proponents of Japanese immigration are to testify. James D. Phelan, United States senator of California, was the first witness.

GENOA, (P)—Delegates to the international seamen's congress are threatening a strike and boycott against countries whose votes defented the convention establishing a 48 hour week. They propose organizing a vast campaign at the International Seamen's meeting which will convene at Amsterdam August 6, in order to compel British ship owners, who form the bulk of the opposition, to capitulate.

Germans Lay Claim to Plebiscite Victories

LONDON (P)—A Berlin message today says it is announced there that the results of the plebiscites in West Prussia and East Prussia show an overwhelming German majority.

The plebiscites mentioned in the foregoing were provided for in the treaty of Versailles to determine the boundaries of Poland with regard to East and West Prussia.

CHIANG KUEI-TU WOULD PUT STOP TO CIVIL STRIFE

Veteran General Attempts Reconciliation of the Opposing Factions at Swords Point in Peking Vicinity

LONDON, (P)—Minor skirmishes have occurred between the military factions near Peking, but Peking itself remains quiet, according to a Tien Tsin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, filed on Sunday.

The diplomatic authorities do not regard the position of the foreigners in Peking as jeopardized.

The veteran General Chiang Kuei-Tu, the dispatch adds, has proceeded to Peking via Chihli, where he is attempting to reconcile the opposing factions, in which attempt the Tien Tsin vanguard newspaper says he may succeed.

Railway communication between Tien Tsin and Shang Hai has been broken by the military, who have torn up the tracks near Tolechow, Shantung.

Chiang Kuei-Tu is an Anhui general, more than 70 years of age. During the China-Japan war he was cashiered for the loss of Port Arthur, but subsequently his rank was restored with a title for bravery.

SEEK BODY OF MAN WHO ATTEMPTED FALLS SHOOT

BRITISH BARBER SACRIFICES LIFE IN EFFORT TO GO OVER NIAGARA IN BARREL

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., (P)—Rivermen were patrolling the Niagara gorge below the falls today in the hope of recovering the body of a Canadian, who lost his life yesterday in an attempt to duplicate the feats of Mrs. Annie Edson Taylor and Bobby Leach by going over the cataract in a barrel.

Those who experienced gave his opinion some weight, declared that Stephen's case was too light in all parts for the 158 foot drop at the falls. He warned Stephen before the start that this was doomed to failure, but the Englishman was confident.

"A steel barrel is the only safe kind," said Leach. "If I can have one made by July 25, the anniversary of my last trip, I'll duplicate it."

NEW YORK, (P)—Charles George Stephens, who was killed yesterday in going over Niagara Falls in a barrel, was a barber extraordinary.

His hobby was performing spectacular stunts, for which he received three ribbons, five gold medals and six silver medals. His specialties included climbing a lion in its den, shaving customers in a lion's den, boxing in a lion's den, and parachute descents from a balloon.

VETERANS OF THE RAINBOW DIVISION ARE RE-ASSEMBLING

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., (P)—The first annual reunion of the famous Rainbow division began here today with the assembling of 500 soldiers and visitors in attendance. The veterans were welcomed by city and state officials and later two bronze tablets in memory of those who lost their lives in the war were unveiled.

Third Party Elements Draw More Closely to Agreement

CONFEREES CENTER ON ORGANIZATION METHOD

Platform Fight Over Irish Question Single Note of Excitement in Proceedings

NO OPPONENT TO LA FOLLETTE FOR PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE APPARENT

COMMUNISTS AT BAR ON CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY

Prosecuting Attorney Charges Millionaire and Associates With Advocating forcible Overthrow of Government

CHICAGO, (P)—Lloyd D. Heth, making the opening statement for the state today in the trial of William Brown Lloyd, millionaire member of the Communist Labor party, declared he would prove that Lloyd and his associates "advocated the overthrow of the government by force and the blowing open of banks and armories in order to secure money and ammunition to further the revolution."

Lloyd, with 37 other members of the Communist Labor party, is charged with conspiracy to overthrow the government.

Quotes Incendiary Statements

Mr. Heth said Lloyd had publicly stated that he "had more respect for the red flag than for the United States flag and that it was hopeless for the proletariat to gain power by the ballot."

He further quoted Lloyd as saying that "by revolution could the state be destroyed, and it must be absolutely destroyed."

"The Communist Labor party has been a constant menace to the power of the state and government by mass movement as was shown in the Seattle and Winnipeg strikes," the prosecutor added.

State Claims Point Now

The state claimed it had won a point when Judge Hebel ruled that evidence relating to events prior to the passage of the state sedition law a year ago could be introduced. His decision followed a two-day revolution could the state be destroyed, and it must be absolutely destroyed."

The defense reserved its opening statement.

CLAIMS SOLDIERS FOR LA FOLLETTE

Swinnburne Hale continued his speech after the conference report had been heard.

"There is nothing that stands between the United States and revolution but the new party that is being formed here," Hale asserted.

"If I don't want revolution. Nobody who was a soldier wants force and violence. I was a soldier. I'll never be drafted or serve again in another war of offense or defense. You have no soldiers will not vote for La Follette if we nominate him here. I'm one; I know that they will. I know, too, that if they try another war with Mexico they'll have to fight the world war."

Hale got three cheers and a prolonged demonstration after which the convention recessed for lunch until 2:30 p. m.

Amalgamation Recommended

Amalgamation of the labor party of the United States and the Committee of 48 in a new political movement with a single party name, one platform and one presidential ticket are included in the recommendations submitted to the Labor and Forty-eight conferees when they reconvened today.

Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, reminding the most talked of candidates for president, said the name of the proposed combine are understood by the party leaders to meet his views as expressed last week to Ames Fitchot and George L. Record of the Forty-eight.

Conference committees appointed yesterday by the labor conventions and Saturday by the Forty-eight, appointed one name to be amalgamated in a protracted session last night. The recommendations, if approved today as the leaders confidently expect, means that the two confederations will present their separate identity and continue to function in separate sessions, with sub-committees reporting identical measures to each for discussion and action.

While other candidates will be placed in nomination in the labor convention and probably in the Forty-eight meeting, too, Senator La Follette's name will not be placed in nomination.

Work Behind Closed Doors

Work on amalgamating the various elements assembled here for the formation of a new party continued behind closed doors this morning, while the conferees of the Committee of 48 and the National Labor party marked time.

Everything appeared to be proceeding on schedule with the single note of excitement provided by a platform fight over the Irish question.

Townley Lecturer Talks

O. W. Thompson, a lecturer for the National Non-Partisan league entertained the conferees here today with a recital of state enterprises initiated by the league administration in North Dakota.

He said the league had given labor all it had asked, and some more. Swinnburne Hale of New York, talking about deportation proceedings of the federal government, attacked Attorney General Palmer and won applause. Hale said his audience that Earl P. Christmas of Utah, permanent chairman of the convention, was one "of the first defenders of the I. W. W."

Delegates seated at the small tables around the hall and the Chairman Christmas was forced to acknowledge them by bowing.

Ramon de Valera, who got a rousing reception as he entered the hall, cut short Hale's talk, and was presented by "the committee of 48."

De Valera was applauded when he said the "Irish question" was an "American question." He asked for recognition of the "Irish government" in Ireland.

A delegation pleading for the independence of the Indian empire appeared before the platform committee. It was headed by M. Das of New York, and Dr. M. Krishna of Bombay.

Swinnburne Hale continued his speech after the conference report had been heard.

"There is nothing that stands between the United States and revolution but the new party that is being formed here," Hale asserted.

"If I don't want revolution. Nobody who was a soldier wants force and violence. I was a soldier. I'll never be drafted or serve again in another war of offense or defense. You have no soldiers will not vote for La Follette if we nominate him here. I'm one; I know that they will. TOWNLEY PARTY MAKES PLEA FOR LABOR'S MONEY

Spokesman Asks "Working People" to Transfer Savings from "Capitalistic Banks" to League Institutions

CHICAGO, (P)—Non-partisan league representative today appealed to the labor party convention for the financial support of its party members in moving the league farmers' crops.

Carl D. Thompson, a league leader, asked that "working people" transfer their savings, deposited in "capitalistic banks" to league institutions. He declared that the grain farmers of the northwest needed $25,000,000 and that through the proposed transfer the needs would be met at a low rate of interest.

Predicts Labor's Response

Thompson's appeal was responded to with a resolution by the convention which made the speech a part of the record of proceedings. Max Hayes, national labor party chairman, speaking in behalf of the resolution, said the appeal could thus be widely distributed and "labor would answer."

Before adjournment at noon, the convention agreed to a night session to receive the report of the conference committee which has been negotiating with a like committee from the Forty-eight on the question of amalgamation.

Three Platform Drafts

Three complete platform drafts were in the hands of the labor party resolutions committee when they renewed their deliberations this afternoon.

In the main Robert M. Buck, Illinois, chairman of the committee said, they follow the declaration of principles adopted by the party at its first national convention last November.

The committee said the platform would include the nationalization of raw materials, public utilities and the principal industries is included.

The committee of 48 is said to be opposed, is a part of each of the proposed drafts.

Convention Marks Time

The convention of the labor party of the United States marked time at the morning session today while the platform committee labored over a matter of proposed plank and the conference committee continued negotiations with the Committee of 48.

Chairman Walker, armed with a hammer for a gavel, had difficulty in bringing the slow arriving delegates to order.

Claims of the migratory workers for changes in the general election laws were presented to the convention by John H. Kelly, representing the Brotherhood Welfare association. Kelly declared that men who "follow their jobs" are disfranchised through operation of the local election statutes.

The "One Big Union" group appeared at today's session and distributed their propaganda.

Miss Maude McCreary, a delegate from Milwaukee, advised the labor party members to cease buying or supporting the "capitalistic press." She charged the Associated Press "garbled facts and sent out plain lies about what we are trying to do. She told the delegates that if they nominated Senator La Follette for president the "capitalistic press" would "sabotage" the news by not printing anything about him.

Queries by delegates brought a statement from the secretary that Samuel Gompers, president of the A. F. of L., had been invited to attend the convention but had sent no word beyond acknowledging receipt of the invitation.

The explanation was greeted with shouts of "Amos" from the floor.

CONSIDER COAL PROBLEMS

Bituminous Operators Working Out Plans to Supply Northwest

WASHINGTON, D. C., (P)—Bituminous coal operators met here today to work out plans for the immediate movement of the winter fuel stores to the northwest. New England's coal problem also was to be considered.

The advisory committee of the Association of Bituminous Operators will meet Wednesday to consider the northwest's coal problem.

Establishment of a zone system which would let the sales market of bituminous coal operators, with a view of shortening car movements, was proposed today at the operators' conference on car service.

TAMPA, Fla., (P)—J. E. Norman and his 17-year-old daughter were killed and twelve other persons knocked unconscious by lightning striking a school house at Enfield, 40 miles from here, yesterday.

The people were assembled at school for religious services. The building was set on fire.

REDS PROGRAM DRAWS FIRE OF WAR MINISTER

Winston Churchill Charges Lenin with Ruin of Own Country and Desire to Reduce the World to Same Level

LONDON, (P)—The Russian Soviet government, through Nikolai Lenin, seeks "to start the British nation off on that same career of revolutionary violence which has made Russia such a jolly place to live in." Winston Churchill, minister of war, declared in an article published in the Evening News, answering a report by a British labor delegation which visited Russia and a letter directed to the British people by Lenin.

Should the Soviet system be established in England the war minister believes that not only would freedom of the press and freedom of thought be swept away but the English people themselves would "share the fate of Kerensky, the Mensheviks and social revolutionaries in Russia."

The war minister charged Lenin with having ruined his own country and said it was natural he should wish "to have all other nations reduced to the same level of misery, in order that his own earnings may be covered in the general chaos," wrote Mr. Churchill.

"Russia was on the threshold of victory," wrote Mr. Churchill. "After all her struggles she was within reach of the goal. The Germans sent in Lenin, as poison gas in a trench, and he gave her the victory she had won and which she might have shared with us."

"A million Germans, released by his act of treachery, were let loose on the French and British fronts and nearly that number of British and French soldiers are dead or mutilated in consequence," declared the victory he gave Russia shame and immeasurable disaster.

Lenin destroyed the Russian republic. He dissolved the Russian parliament. He had the bulk of his members hunted down and killed. He has robbed his country of victory, peace and freedom; and what has he given them in exchange?

"Russia, the great food producing center of the world, wracked with famine; the towns depopulated to half that number; the workmen scattered, destroyed; the red cow and the red bull; hundreds of thousands of people driven to the woods and mountains to farm 'Green Gardens' like Robin Hood in the middle ages; the railways on which the whole economic civilization of these great regions depend, sinking hopelessly into absolute stagnation."

"Only the peasant with his rifle in his village guards the hard-won produce of his individual toil, refuses to sell the fruits of his labor for worthless paper money and keeps alive the old Russian love of hearth and home. 'The egoism of the peasant,' says Lenin, 'must now be broken.'"

"This, then, is the man whom the crazy portion of the socialist party has been worshipping. He has now revealed his measure to the British public and he appeals to them to create in Britain that enslaved, infected, starving and venomous Bedlam to which he has reduced the noble and mighty Russian state and nation."

ULSTER MILITIA REVIVED

Sinn Fein Activities Make Necessary Service of Volunteers

BELFAST, Ireland, (P)—The Ulster volunteers have been revived as a result of the recent activity of the Sinn Fein in the north of Ireland, and for several days the town of Rathfriland, county Down, has been shrouded by the Ulster forces, following destruction of property in adjoining districts.

All persons suspected of Sinn Fein tendencies have been prohibited from entering Lilliballan, Fermanagh, county, scene of recent fighting, although some Catholic families in the district have not been molested.

HOSPITALS OF HUNGARY BARE OF REQUISITES

Red Cross International Committee Investigator Draws a Picture of Deplorable Conditions Existing

GENEVA, (P)—The condition of the hospitals in Hungary is described as "a lamentable picture which should command universal attention and great pity," in a report to the international committee of the Red Cross here.

After a recent trip across Hungary, Captain Burnier of Geneva, delegate of the international committee told of conditions as he found them in the various towns.

"At Szabolcs," Captain Burnier said, "the epidemic hospital has been completely ravaged by the Hungarians. There is not even glass in the windows. The Comitat hospital is absolutely without medicine; the sick are not even anesthetized for operations."

"At Debrecen the children's dead and dumb asylum totally lacks linen and shoes. The children of the municipal asylum are dressed in paper clothes. There are 80 beds for 120 children and many 13 months old babies weigh only 4 kilograms (about nine pounds). The town hospital which has 400 beds has no linen, no blankets, no medicines. There were left only two half spoons of surgical threat with which to sew wounds. The maternity hospital and gynecological clinic have nothing at all."

"At Nyireghyaza the Comitat hospital has no linen for the sick; no medicine, no comforts to wrap babies in. The bandages and dressings must be used over and over again." Similar conditions were reported in several other places.

"The penalty increases daily and no effort until now has been sufficient to re-establish a normal situation," Captain Burnier added.

"Such is the lamentable picture which presents itself at this hour and which should command universal attention on the great pity of the hospitals of Hungary."

Pays to Protect House Wren. The house wren is one of the most sociable and confiding of birds, and on this account they will build their nests in the houses that are built for them no matter how close this is to a human habitation, says the American Forestry association, Washington. Furthermore, the wren is one of the most valuable of birds, for it feeds entirely on insects and thus helps to save the trees and the vegetables in the garden from the pests which would eat them. The wren builds its nest of grass or weeds stuffed into any crevice that takes its fancy.

RENT PROTECTOR FINDS WAY TO CIRCUMVENT LAW

New York Mayor's Committee Counsel Details Dodges Employed by Landlords in Defeating Ends of Legislation

NEW YORK, (P)—The new state rent laws are ineffective and have not deterred profiteering landlords from outbidding rent gouging tenants on thousands of tenements in New York city, according to Leo Kenneth Mayer, chief counsel for the mayor's committee on rent profiteering.

The landlords are adopting diverse methods to circumvent the new laws, Mr. Mayer declared and have been successful to a certain extent.

The three chief dodges employed by the landlords as outlined by Counsel Mayer are for:

Notify tenants that their leases will not be renewed unless they are willing to pay exorbitant rentals. If they refuse to meet this increase the tenants are then ousted by the process of the law.

Notify tenants that the premises have been sold on the co-operative plan but offer to sell them the apartment, if they will pay the exorbitant sum asked.

Show a higher valuation of their property by inter-transfer of property through alleged sales and thus be able to extract a higher rent.

The first method, according to Mr. Mayer, is the most popular but is rather slow as it takes from one month to one year to legally evict a tenant.

The co-operative selling plan, he declared, was one of the new inventions of the landlords to exploit the tenant. The transferring of property on the pretense of making a bona fide sale and thus increasing the valuation of the premises is one of the latest dodges, Mr. Mayer explained. By this method the landlord "sells" to a relative or business partner, then "buys" the property back again and thus rins up the valuation, which will command a higher rental under the state laws.

The entire legal staff of the rent committee has been placed at the disposal of tenants in their fight against the rent profiteer. Landlords who are inclined to be fair are meeting their tenants in the offices of the committee and are arranging new leases with their tenants on definite terms.

The rent committee which has been in operation for 15 months has handled more than 80,000 cases of which 65,000 have been settled in and out of court. Of the remaining cases, 8,000 are listed as hopeless and no settlement is possible.

There is a constant flow of complaints into the committee's office, which is visited by about 5000 tenants every week.

The committee's office staff of seven, according to Mr. Mayer, handles more than 2000 complaints by mail daily besides from 250 to 300 telephone calls.

The committee which is maintaining an investigation of these claims and furnishing legal talent free of charge to all worthy cases.

SILAGE USE CHEAPENS COST OF RATION FEED

Expert in Cattle Feeding Tells of Benefits Derived by New Process Feeding

By F. R. CAMACK
Field Dairyman, University of Idaho Extension Division

The need for a succulent winter feed was first realized something over 25 years ago by the dairymen and experimenters proved conclusively that the corn plant properly stored would produce the desired results. Methods, materials and uses have been greatly changed since then, but dairymen are still the great advocates of silage as a ration feed. The beef cattle and other types of livestock have utilized it successfully, but dairymen are and will continue to be its staunchest advocates.

Experiments have shown that use of silage accomplishes the following results: cheapens the cost of the ration feed; increases the production of milk; and improves the health and "condition" of cattle. There are several minor results and advantages, such as permitting the feeding of more roughage and less concentrates, encouraging the growth of the ration on the home farm, making possible a better crop rotation, helping solve the alfalfa weevil problem, increasing the profits by whetting the cow's appetite, etc.

The cheapness of the ration is especially noteworthy, because much larger yields can be grown and because it can be substituted for higher-priced feeds. When it is possible to grow from one to two tons (and more) of a succulent feed such as silage, and when a ton of silage will replace half a ton of alfalfa hay, there is no doubt that it cheapens the cost of ration. It is usually conceded that the average yield is about four times that of alfalfa hay, with a feeding value of about one-half as much.

In addition, as noted in the second point silage increases the flow of milk. The average increase of milk flow as given by practical dairymen in Idaho is about 20 per cent.

BUMPER CORN CROP FOR NEBRASKA IS FORECAST

Prediction Made That State's Production Will Largely Exceed Last Year's Yield

OMAHA, Neb., (P)—Prediction that Nebraska's corn production this year will exceed last year's by 4,655,000 bushels is made in a joint crop report by the United States bureau of crop estimates and state department of agriculture.

The report estimates 188,241,000 bushels will be produced as compared to 184,186,000 bushels in 1919. The acreage is 5 per cent larger than last year when 5,610,000 acres were planted. Black rot on wheat has made its appearance since July 1, the report says, adding however, that whatever loss occurs from this cause cannot be reported until August 1. All wheat production was forecast at 3,455,000 bushels less than last year when the yield was 60,075,000.

Costly Orchids.
Nearly all the orchids found in Burma can be grown with a little care and attention in private gardens. There is one exception, a sweet-smelling species called taxi by the Burmese, and which is usually brought to market in Christmas week in Rangoon. It is in great demand by Europeans, and sells for its weight in silver.

Chinese New Year Customs.

On the occasion of the new year, the Chinese exchange the greeting, "Kung Hai Fat Tsoy," meaning "Congratulations; may you collect wealth." The word "tsing," meaning "hail," is repeated by them numerous times. During the celebration of the new year, all secret societies and guilds, whose rivalry is often very bitter, declare a "Truce of the Gods," when no man may attack his brother. This is generally respected by both the hunter and the hunted, who are glad of a relief.

Picts and Scots.

In his Dictionary of Phrase and Fable, the learned Rev. Dr. E. Cobham Brewer, writes upon Picts and Scots: "Pict is not the Latin pict (painted people). As Picts and Scots are always mentioned together, there is no reason why one name should be Latin and the other Gaelic. Scot is the Gaelic 'sgod' (a dweller in woods and forests), and Pict is the Gaelic pictlet (freebooter), the two being equivalent to foresters and freebooters."

Tracing Origin of "Gob."
A side-light was thrown upon the word "gob" by the Scotsman of August 4, 1890, who said that when a meeting of the coast-guard takes place the men indulge in protracted yams, a draw of the pipe, and a friendly chew. Such a session is invariably productive of a considerable amount of good-natured banter, as well as free expectation all around, wherefrom our friends came to be known as "gobblers" from "gob" the mouth—in the process of time gob and gobbler came to be applied to the ships manned by the gobs.

LABORATORY HAS PLACE IN COURT

Judge Lindsey Uses Mental and Physical Tests in Disposing of Cases

DENVER, Colo., (AP)—A juvenile laboratory is a new addition to the machinery of the courts of Denver, through which wayward boys and girls pass before Judge Ben B. Lindsey. Upon the manner in which the boy or girl passes the mental and physical tests depends the ultimate disposal of his or her case. Judge Lindsey asserts that a wayward child has three ages. He explains it in this manner: A girl may be 13 years old, have the physical development of a girl of 18 and the mental development of a child of ten years.

"All this, I have found, has a great deal to do with the way of handling cases of delinquent girls," the judge declared. "For example, in the case of a 16-year-old girl who has run away and married a mature man. What to do with her depends largely on her character. Chronologically the girl may not be old enough to get married, but she has been married and the question to determine whether it is best to send her to a reformatory merely because she is old enough to get married, but she has been married, or permit her to remain with her husband."

"If she is biologically three or four years older than 16 (that is, possesses the physical development of a young woman of 19) and if her mental development is that of normal girls of 16 or older and if she loves the man she has married, why it seems that for her sake she should not be punished for marrying."

The judge says that whenever a girl comes before his court, the first procedure is to obtain her three ages through methods developed by medical men and psychologists. He declared he intends to make the juvenile laboratory available to the mothers of Denver so they can obtain the three ages of their children and use this information in providing against indiscretions and public criminality.

An appropriation has been granted for the carrying out of the proposed laboratory and the judge is seeking to obtain the services of an expert psychologist to take charge of the work.

The judge describes in this fashion how the department already has aided one mother:

"A mother came to me the other day and complained that she had a daughter of 16 who gave her no trouble and a daughter of 15 who desired social privileges that no mother could give her. I told her that her 15-year-old daughter was 19 biologically and had all the impulses and emotions of the older girl without any of the good judgment that the younger girl has."

"The younger girl is the one who, obeying nature's impulses without mature judgment, gets into trouble on automobile parties and at dances."

"We have been used to classifying girls as good and bad. Sometimes the difference is merely that one who came into maturity late when she was possessed of good judgment is the good girl and the other came into maturity physical development when she is young and foolish is the bad girl."

WORK IS FOUND FOR SKY COPS

Cup Races Off Sandy Hook Promise to Solve Interesting Question

NEW YORK, (AP)—The America's cup races off Sandy Hook this month promise to solve the question of "Why are New York's 'sky cops' kept?"

Ever since the department's aviation division was formed, humorists have portrayed duties which might be, but which never will be performed by the blue-clad aviators. Now, however, with guns aloft resuming their racing after a martial interruption, the "sky cops" find a task at hand—that of keeping the course free from aircraft.

During the trials between Shamrock IV and the 23-meter Shamrock, which have been held almost daily off the Jersey shore, airplanes have followed in the wake of the yachts like gulls, judging from the interest taken in the trials by aeronauts, yachtsmen fear that the sky will be dark with planes on the days of the race.

It is almost certain that seaplanes and landplanes within flying distance of New York—and this is no mean distance—will buzz Hookwards when Shamrock IV crosses the line. Even a single airplane now and then may be expected to stick its gaseous prow over the course. With development of aircraft during the war, yacht racing promises to become a popular sport.

Indeed, planes are digging into the business of tugs and launches which have always transported a great part of New York's population to Jersey shore on the days of the races. Owners of private planes are hooking passengers at rates which make even the tug men look agast.

Truth to tell, yachtsmen are becoming just a little worried. It is not that they fear so much a plane will crash down on the deck of the racing craft as that they may cluster in such groups as to play pranks with the air and rob vigilant, wind-chasing skippers of an experience acquired through years. And it is right here that the "sky cops" may have their duty to perform. Direction of traffic at several thousand feet promise this year to be an interesting sight of the big show.

LIPTON BRINGS BIT OF IRELAND TO U. S. SHORES

Invader with Navy Six Crafts Strong Expects to Capture America's Cup in Yachtsmen's Battle off Sandy Hook

NEW YORK, (AP)—There's a little bit of Ireland floating off the Jersey coast and its ruler is a familiar figure in yachting flannels and cap. Its Sir Thomas Lipton and his "navy"—six craft strong—invading the United States to capture the America's cup in a yachtsmen's battle off Sandy Hook this month.

The man to whom a large patch of water is an ally, slight thinks of the cup races as a few impromptu jousts between a couple of sailing schools which do a mile more than the average man can afford. He does not realize that these yachts and their crews have to go through a period of training as long as that of any football team and a thousand times more costly.

Employs Purchase and Charter.

By purchase or charter Sir Thomas has assembled his fleet of six yachts. The challenger, Shamrock IV, and the trial horse, the 23-meter Shamrock, there is the steam yacht Victoria the flagship of the fleet, on which the veteran of the two fleet yachts, anchored each night in the Hudson.

Then there is the houseboat Killarney tucked snugly away in the shelter of the Mink. On the Killarney reside the crews of the two fleet yachts.

But this does not complete the fleet. There is the tug Governor Smith to tow the sloops to the starting line and a fast speed boat to run errands. Numberless smaller launches and dingies can't count in this yachting armada.

The Irish baronet has his daily schedule—enjoyable enough, but just at present a business to which he adheres as closely as the broker daily watches his ticker.

Each day he steams down to the hook to meet New York to watch the challenge—his quest for the America's cup. He is here—match her speed against the trials horse.

Each day, as dusk approaches, he looks over his fleet with his hands on a yachting experts, suggesting little changes here, little changes there, smoothing out a ripple in a club sail which to the land lubber fits exactly or clipping a few inches from a topmast with which, to the uninitiated, there seems nothing wrong.

Expensive Sport.

And each day he continues to deal out dollars to the 150 members of his armada. For it is an expensive sport, cup racing. The victor gains a cup and victor or loser, Sir Thomas will have paid out more than a million dollars for this year's races alone.

At 8 o'clock, except in most distressing weather, raising of Sir Thomas' personal flag—a green shamrock on a field of gold—betokens that the vice-commodore of the Royal Ulster Yacht club is in sight, awake and ready to receive guests. There invariably include a corps of newspapermen. Most of them come for breakfast, stay for lunch and dinner, and, as sea air breeds no appetite, the yacht's tender receives a blow which would make the ordinary housewife quiver in these days of high prices.

Then the Victoria weighs anchor. Brought by all harbor craft, she receives salutes from tugboat tug to most majestic battleship.

Sir Thomas stands on the bridge—the familiar, blue-jacketed, bearded figure who for years has crossed the Atlantic to win the trophy on which he has set his heart. He strokes his gray goatee and his face wrinkles into a rough smile as he swears stern for yam with his innumerable guests.

Fond of His Joke.

For Sir Thomas must have his joke. One of which he particularly fond concerns a visit once paid him at Cowes by former Mayor John Fitzgerald of Boston.

The baronet was entertaining a group of Americans when suddenly it was reported to him that the royal launch was headed for his craft.

"The king or the queen," cried Sir Thomas and at once began drilling his guests in court etiquette.

But the royal launch, which rarely carries any but royalty, arrived with a lone Yankee.

It seems that Mr. Fitzgerald, wishing to pay a visit to his friend the Irish yachtsman, had been unable to find a craft which he deemed sufficiently natty to bring him alongside. But finding the royal launch at the royal landing stage, he pronounced it

And so chatting of kings and stow-aways, yachts and intrigues, he entertained his guests until the hook is reached. And as Sir Thomas is never so well east as when he is playing the host, it is an enjoyable trip, this little joy ride down the bay to the nervous work of the day.

The racing sloops, lying at anchor, with mainmasts and club topsails set, awaiting arrival of their master, look as alike as two peas to the landman. And the vegetarian simile is carried out by the hulls both painted a lively Irish green. The only apparent difference is that the Shamrock IV is just a little greater than her partner, for even her decks are marbled.

As soon as the Victoria's engines are stopped, the veteran of international regattas launches his launch to inspect his craft before they set out. From that moment he becomes lost to all but things maritime.

Round the course Sir Thomas follows his sloops as they race and after the finish again holds parley with their skippers. Then it's back to New York in the evening—the day's work done.

"A decent enough boat" and ordered it to the Lipton yacht. The king and queen, reaching stage, beheld in amazement their launch dashing away from them. And the master of the small craft, on his return, had this explanation to make: the gentleman had introduced himself as "The Mayor of Boston, United States of America," which the royal yachtsman, impressed, compressed into "The Mayor of America." And of course a man who would dare march onto the royal landing stage must have stepped onto it with royal permission.

Well Imposed as Host.

FOOTBALLERS BUILD MUSCLE ON THE LAND

Stars of the Gridiron Flock to Harvest Fields to Make Competence and Strength

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., (Special).—In order to get in first class condition for the 1920 football season, several of Indiana university's most likely aspirants are scattered over the country, engaged in various muscle building occupations.

Captain Elbert Rieder and H. H. Maynard are the only gridiron men in school this summer. Both are working out daily in track, baseball and other athletic activities. The coming season will be Rieder's last on the Hoosier team. He joined the team late last season, but was in fine shape and was a big factor in the defeat of the touted Syracuse eleven in the season's closing contest.

Work in Wheat Fields.

Former Captain Roscoe Minton, who piloted the team last year, playing end and half back, is in Fort Worth, Tex., and writes that he is in great condition. "Babe" Flores, giant center, Vern Bell, end; Benny Craven, quarter back; William McCaw, left guard, and John Leonard right tackle, are in Kansas assisting in the wheat harvest and incidentally hardening up their muscles.

Charley (Chick) Mathes of drop kick fame is in one of the northern lumber camps and will be on hand when work starts here. Wesley ("Red") Munster, right guard, is in Mishawaka. He withdrew from school this spring after he had broken his arm in the western roller coaster wrestling meet at the University of Illinois, but will return to school in the fall. Jesse D. Lohr, center, is keeping in shape by working on his farm near Graham, Ind. Russell D. Williams, fullback, is taking work this summer in the University of Michigan. John Kyle, fullback, is in Gary. "Pat" Donovan, left end, is spending the summer at his home in South Bend.

Beggs Out for Berth.

Lowell Boggs, who has been working in Oklahoma and Texas, dropped off during the week to inform Coach Stetson that he is going to make the varsity this fall. R. H. Kreighbaum, one of the men who played great ball as a freshman last year, will be in school this fall. Among the players of last year's freshman team who will make strong bids for varsity jobs are Harold Matthews, "Babe" Raymond, now working in Kansas wheat fields; Clyde B. Francis, Thomas Du Jardin and Eugene Thomas, who is also helping harvest.

DELAVER MONT SUFFRAGE VOTE

Governor Clement Gives Reasons for Refusal to Call Special Session

BUTLAND, Va., (AP)—Governor DeLaiver today issued a proclamation refusing to call the legislature in special session to make possible ratification of the federal amendment for woman suffrage.

The governor's proclamation follows a conference which he held at Washington recently with Senator Harding at which it was understood the republican advance for present discussion with him the possibility of having ratification completed by the republican legislature of Vermont.

Urges Candidates' Declaration

In giving his reasons for refusing to call a special session Governor Clement said the proposed amendment clearly involves the constitution of Vermont, and that the present legislature was elected before the question of ratifying the federal amendment had arisen, and that the people of the state have had no opportunity to express themselves on the issue. The governor proposed that the matter be taken up by the next legislature and urged that candidates for election be required to declare themselves on it.

Governor Clement's proclamation as worded that "as it stands and is interpreted by the supreme court today, the federal constitution threatens the constitution of free popular government."

The seventeenth amendment to the constitution, he said, had been lobbied through congress and state legislatures by foreign agents and the eighteenth amendment had been forced through by "powerful and irresponsible organizations, operating through paid agents," with unlimited funds.

"It is now proposed to force through the nineteenth amendment for woman suffrage in the same manner and also without the sanction of the free men."

Matter of Principle

"I have been asked to overlook these considerations as a matter of party expediency, but this is a matter of principle, not expediency, and the party that invades a well established principle of popular government will suffer in the end."

WOMEN'S PARTY WILL NOT ACCEPT REFUSAL AS FINAL

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Women's party announced today that Governor Clement's refusal to call the Vermont state assembly in special session for suffrage ratification would not be accepted as final. The party's larger delegation than had been planned would call on Senator Harding the republican presidential nominee at Madison on July 21 to impress upon him the necessity of carrying out the suffrage plank and pledges of his party and enfranchising the women of the nation in time for the coming elections.

SINISTER INFLUENCE BEHIND REFUSAL, MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN

NEW YORK, (AP)—When informed of Governor Clement's refusal to call a special session of the Vermont legislature to pass on the federal woman suffrage amendment, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage association, today issued the statement:

"If it is correctly quoted the decision of Governor Clement is so contrary to the dictates of justice, common sense and political expediency that it convinced me that sinister influences and far-reaching influence behind it. To uncover that influence is one of the immediate tasks of the suffragists."

"The work of the suffragists will be pushed strongly forward in Tennessee and North Carolina."

Charles Darwin's Dayhood

Doctor Buxton, the headmaster at Shrewsbury school, had often to call Charles Darwin (the most famous naturalist of the nineteenth century) to ask for attention and assistance during his studies. The only thing that seemed to interest him was the collecting of caterpillars, worms, and all sorts of creeping things, and the risk of his own and his brother's life by dangerous chemical experiments.

After hours of steaming the bathers emerge and are washed off with clean water, then kneaded by a professional for one hour, when he dons his scanty clothing and goes his way "salvaging with cleanliness."

COX RETURNS TO EXECUTIVE POST

Democratic Nominee to Spend Most of Day in Conference With Roosevelt

COLUMBUS, O., (AP)—Governor Cox, the democratic nominee, arrived here from his home at Dayton this morning, prepared to resume his duties at the executive office. This afternoon he will confer with Franklin D. Roosevelt, his running mate, who expects to stop off for a few hours en route to Washington from San Francisco.

The governor was accompanied from Dayton by former Congressman T. T. Amshery of Ohio, who yesterday arrived from San Francisco and gave the news first hand information of the convention.

En route to Columbus this morning, the governor rode in a day coach and a number of the passengers recognized and congratulated him.

After an informal conference for state officials and attaches of state departments held in the outskirts of the state capital, the governor and Cox were prepared to spend the rest of the day in conference with his running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Franklin County Democratic club, which had been invited to give Cox a victory at San Francisco, serenaded the nominee at the noon day reception. The governor announced he would hold conferences twice daily with news men, and that the state of Ohio would announce him as yet been made relative to the place of holding the formal notification meeting.

CONFLICTING VIEWS

Asks for Fixed Sum

Request also was made that the allies fix the maximum sum due for reparation, after payment of which Germany would be free from obligations.

As the economic development of the next 30 years cannot be foretold, the statement asserted a plan must be worked out by which allied governments would participate in the improvement of financial and economic conditions in Germany.

Experts from allied nations and Germany should meet as soon as possible, the statement said, to fix the amounts of the sums to be paid and to pass on the security of Germany. Germany's sovereignty in financial matters must not be infringed upon in decisions regarding this feature of adjustment. The statement said that Germany should also fix the maximum sum to be paid to the allies by Germany.

Material which Germany is to deliver to the allies under the peace treaty for the improvement of financial and economic conditions, the statement declared, and its value should be credited to Germany.

Proposes Dual Organization

Proposals were made that Germany create a dual organization of her entire industry and labor for the purpose of effecting these deliveries. In cases where special engineering material or similar products were to be turned over, the committee suggested that they be turned over through the trade associations of each particular industry. But where they were so-called "catalogue goods" deliveries would be made through the houses in various parts of the German republic. The various states in the republic would parcel out deliveries through special contract boards which have been formed and are being created. All associations and boards would be compelled by law to produce the output demanded.

Recommendation was made that each and state should place a two-fold organization, the examining and reception of deliveries respectively.

Asks Expert Examination

All organizations concerned must be developed on a basis of absolute parity between employer and employee, and special measures must be taken to prevent abuses. Examination of this plan, the statement said, should be entrusted to a commission of experts. Sub-committees should be formed to deal with various categories of goods.

After declaring Germany was ready, because of her concern as to future peace, to accept the plan, the conference should be held to consider its practical execution. Such conference would be attended by representatives of those countries wishing to participate in the plan, and would be accredited to the populations of devastated areas and men who would represent employers and employees engaged in the work.

Growth of Postal System

The postal system of the United States was erected in New York and Boston Aug. 2, 1853. April 6, 1890, congress enacted that letters "postmarked" for should be returned to the address of the writer when printed on the envelope. Money order service began in the United States November 1, 1894. The latest national postal order system was established three years later.

friends say both groups are ready to nominate him.

Other Candidates Mentioned

Frank P. Walsh, Kansas City; Charles H. Ingersoll, a manufacturer; and Henry Ford have been mentioned for the nomination. Walsh is also being discussed for vice president.

At the opening session of the labor convention yesterday, delegates from 60 trade union groups and other organizations were represented. The For-est and Sing-Sing Tazara, whose conventions opened Saturday, had recessed for the day and practically their entire membership attended the labor convention, many participating as active delegates.

Prominent among those assuming a dual delegate roll was James Duncan, one of the leaders of the general strike in Seattle last year.

Yesterday Saturday was elected chairman of the Washington delegation to the convention of the Committee of 48 and yesterday was chosen vice chairman of the labor convention.

Every reference to Russia, and to Ireland, too, was applauded with a will and when John Fitzpatrick, the labor keynoter, praised the Russian revolution, the audience for Soviet Russia were called for and given.

Tribute to Sinn Féin

The applause for Ireland and the Sinn Féin appeared to be more a tribute to the Irish themselves than an expression of favor for an Irish freedom plank, for there is a strong undercurrent of opinion among the delegates against adopting any platform plank dealing with foreign relations. The forty-eighters, in their mail referendum, have already gone on record as opposed to platform plank dealing with Irish, Russian and Mexican questions.

The democratic and republican conventions, their platforms and their nominees, were assailed by nearly every speaker. John Fitzpatrick denounced the platform as "a denial of everything that the American people have demanded and spoken for."

The committee of 48 platform committee, during a hearing to the Friends of Irish Freedom today.

Name Looms as Problem

Sitting late last night, the committee conference over the amalgamation proposals found the selection of a name for their new political party to be more than a minor problem. Combination upon the word "Labor" were in disfavor among the committee of 48 representatives.

The "Union Party" was a title presented, but no decision was reached.

Agree with Reservations

Amalgamation efforts were carried further today under the direction of the committee of 48. A special sub-committee headed by Sen. P. W. Williams of Washington state, carried invitation to representatives of the Non-partisan league, the Single tax convention, the World War Veterans association, and the American Country to have delegates attend the committee of 48 convention. All it was said, agreed to go that far, on the understanding that they were not bound to remain in the sessions, or support its decisions. The question of a name for the projected fusionist organization was bothering the conference committee still, and the sub-committee was a suggestion seriously considered today.

The Garden of the Gods is a tract of land about 500 acres in extent, near Colorado Springs, Colo. It abounds in weird and fantastic pinnacles of red sandstone and granite, some of them more than 300 feet high. Among the chief features are the Cathedral Spire, the Balanced Rock, etc. The gateway of the garden consists of two enormous masses of red sandstone, 330 feet high, sufficiently far apart for the roadway to pass between them.

Hydrogen and Oxygen Gases

Oxygen and hydrogen are very different gases; the former helps other substances to burn, but is not itself inflammable, while the latter is inflammable, but does not support the combustion of other materials. For this reason hydrogen gas will not set fire to the oil or oxygen would do, but it is an inflammable gas it is very dangerous to handle and care should be exercised.

Anything Is Possible

While one man says of a thing: "It is impossible!" and contents himself with saying so, another one passes him and does it. This has been the history of the world's progress ever since time began. We cannot say of anything that it is impossible in its marvelous world of invention and endeavor. We can only say: "It has never yet been done."

Water on the Brain

To many people it will come as a surprise to learn that our brains consist of 80 per cent of water, the remaining 10 or 20 per cent being a mass of white and gray matter, to which scientists have given various impressive names. Incidentally it might be mentioned that the average weight of a man's brain is about 48 ounces, and a woman's 43 ounces.

Census Data Grow

The statistics of the first census of the United States were published in one small volume consisting of 56 pages. The statistics of the 1910 census required 12 volumes having more than 40,000 pages.

Shellic

Shellic is the jolot product of insects and plants and comes from India. The insect is about 1.25 of an inch long, a bright red in color. They suck the juices of plants, digest them and excrete them in the form of a resin, which soon encases the whole insect. When the young insects have swarmed out, the resin is scraped from the branches, ground, washed, mixed with colophony and orpiment, cooked slowly and drawn out into thin sheets we know as shellic.

Japanese Smoking Customs

Smoking is very common in Japan. All the men and most of the ladies smoke, the girls beginning when they are about ten years of age. The ladies have pipes with longer stems than the men, and if one of them wishes to show a gentleman a special mark of favor, she lights her pipe, takes a whiff, hands it to him, and lets him smoke.

Surprised Mother

The missionary society was meeting at our house and the woman who was to lead the devotionals took the elastic band from her Bible, laid it on her lap and began to turn the pages to find the passage she was to read. During the solemn silence my young son marched over to her and, picking up the elastic band, said: "Why, that's my mother's garter!"—Grit.

Made in Church

For almost a thousand years Gregorian chant, without any instrumental or harmonic addition, was the only music used in connection with the liturgy of the church. The organ in its primitive and rude form was the first instrument to be introduced into church, and for a long time was the sole instrument to accompany the chant.

Not Strong on Abolition

The Atmu feels that by washing his face and hands on great occasions he has paid his debt to civilization. The Thetian considers that the oil of the body contributes needed warmth to his mountain life and refuses to wash his face and hands on great occasions. He does not object to washing his face and the tips of his fingers once in awhile.

The Wolf Cry

Timber wolves when separated raise their howls into the air and send out wireless calls that curdle the blood of every human and lesser animal within hearing. But the other wolves reply at once and work toward each other until the pack is united.

Pots Used to Swell Sound

The ancient Greeks, to secure resonance without the use of woodwork, placed under the seats of their theaters earthen pots, with the mouths turned toward the stage, the vibrating mass of air in these serving to reinforce the sound.

Growth

Married people should try to learn how to grow towards each other. No human thing, marriage least of all, can be allowed to grow untended. It takes pains and thought, as well as unselfishness, to grow good marriages.—Woman's Magazine.

Today's Markets

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, (AP)—Events over the week end, notably unfavorable industrial condition, occasioned considerable selling of stocks today, speculative issues recording severe losses. Sales approximated 75,000 shares.

Old leathers and shipping were the center of another sharp drive later, rails also reacting. The closing was weak.

Unfavorable conditions in the steel industry, arising chiefly from freight congestion and last week's final price of 10 per cent for coal money were largely responsible for the uneven tone of prices at the opening of today's stock market. There were a few features of strength, particularly Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Royal Dutch and General Chemical, in which gains ran from one to almost three points. They were neutralized, however, by losses of 1 to 2 1/2 points in Mexican Petroleum, American Woolen, Baldwin Locomotive and Studebaker.

Liberty Bonds

NEW YORK, (AP)—Liberty bonds final prices today were: 3 1/2's $90.95; first 4's $89.15; second 4's $85.65; first 4 1/4's $80.42; second 4 1/4's $85.65; third 4 1/4's $89.40; fourth 4 1/4's $85.62; Victory 3 3/4's $85.38; Victory 4 3/4's $95.90.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, (AP)—Fear of black rust damper to spring wheat gave a high bid today to values in the corn market. One expert said word that some fields were badly infected and that he looked for a very serious condition to develop during the next two weeks. Forecasts of showers were taken as pointing to an increase of the black rust peril. Quotations, which ranged from 3.8 to 4.1 higher, with September $1.60 to $1.65 1/2, and December $1.45 to $1.50 1/2, were followed by reactions but then by sharp general upturns.

Toward the last, a big increase in the visible supply of corn brought about a sharp setback in prices. The market closed weak, 7.8 to 7.8 1/2 net lower, with September $1.58 1/2 to $1.59 3/4 and December $1.42 1/2 to $1.42 3/4. Oats were in less demand with corn. After opening 3.8 to 4.1 higher, including September at 81 1/2 to 82 1/2, the market continued strong.

Provisions reflected the advance of grain. Pork market, the stock market failed to operate as a counter balance.

Cash Quotations

CHICAGO, (AP)—Wheat No. 3 hard $2.84; No. 3 mixed $2.88. Corn No. 2 mixed $1.55 to 1.56 1/4; No. 2 yellow $1.55 to 1.56 1/4. Oats No. 2 $1.09 1/2 to 1.11 1/2; No. 3 white $1.06 to 1.09 1/2. Rye No. 2 $2.35. Barley $1.27 to 1.31. Timothy seed $10 to 12. Clover seed $25 to 35. Pork nominal. Lard $18.95. Ribs $10 to 17.

Minneapolis Flour and Grain

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., (AP)—Flour in carload lots fairly plentiful, quoted at $14.20 a barrel in 98 pound cotton sacks. Bran $4.50. Wheat cash No. 1 Northern $2.90 to $3.00. Oats $1.04 to 1.56. Corn $1.51 to 1.63. Barley $1.00 to 1.26. Rye No. 2 $2.30 1/2 to 2.31 1/2. Flax No. 1 $3.10 to 3.15.

Chicago Livestock

CHICAGO, (AP)—Cattle receipts 17,000; yearlings, and desirable handy weight steers firm, others mostly steady; bulk $12 to $16.50; butcher cattle steady; bulk cows and heifers $7.25 to $11; butchers $4.25 to $4.75; hogs strong; bulk $15 to 17; calves slow, practical top $14; best stockers strong, others slow to steady.

Hog receipts 42,000, better grades to the lower levels, Saturday's average, others mostly steady; top $16.35; bulk light and light butchers $16.80 to $18.25; bulk 250 pounds and over $13 to $15.75; pigs 15 higher; bulk of desirable kind $13.25 to 14.

Sheep receipts 15,000; strong; first sales strong to 25c higher; top native lambs $16; bulk $15 to 16; western lamb highest; top ewes $8.50; bulk $7.50 to 8.50.

Omaha Livestock

OMAHA, Neb., (AP)—Hog receipts 10,000; top to 25c lower; in spots lower on light; top $15.15; bulk $14 to 14.50.

Cattle receipts 5,000; beef steers steady to 25c higher; best strong weight heaves $16.25; bulls and veals steady; stockers and feeders steady to 25c higher.

Sheep receipts 14,000; lambs 25c higher; best lambs held at $16; sheep and feeders steady.

Potatoes

CHICAGO, (AP)—Potatoes—Receipts: receipts 50 cars; common barrels $12.75 to $14.50; central Early Ohio and Southern Triumph $7 to 7.25 cent.

Chicago Produce

CHICAGO, (AP)—Butter: steady; creamery 44 to 55 1/2 c. Eggs: ungraded; receipts 13,900 cases; firsts 41 to 42c; ordinary firsts 35 to 37c; at mark, cases included 37 to 40c; storage packed extras 43 1/4 to 44c; poultry packed firsts 42 1/4 to 3.4. Flour: alive, higher; 40s 35c.

NON-PARTISAN - LABOR PEOPLE FAVOR O. G. ZUCK FOR GOVERNOR

Kimberly Man Selected to Make Third Party Race for Principal State Office at Coming Election — County Ticket, Too, is Named — Minister for Legislator Fails to Receive Majority

Oscar G. Zuck, of Kimberly, former county commissioner and state senator and Non-partisan league candidate two years ago for lieutenant governor, was Saturday endorsed for the Non-partisan league nomination for governor of Idaho by the county convention of the league meeting in joint session here with delegates representing organized labor.

The convention also nominated candidates for legislative and county offices, making up a slate that was complete except for the offices of prosecuting attorney, coroner and surveyor, and designated its representatives to the state convention of the league from among members of the league or of labor organizations, and there were no endorsements of any candidate running on another ticket.

The Tickets. State senator, Elmer Aman, Filer; representatives, George A. Childs, Buhl, A. E. Dickey, Buhl; J. M. Jayne, Kimberly.

County commissioners—First district: E. A. Littler, Buhl; second district: James R. Munn, Twin Falls; third district: A. D. P. Keith, Hansen. Sheriff—S. N. Pittillo, Twin Falls; treasurer: John Prahm, Hansen; probate judge: H. Sonner, Buhl; superintendent of public instruction: Charles E. Kitching, assessor; J. F. Sherrupp, Kanan.

The afternoon session, at which the nominations were made, as well as the preliminary session in the morning, was open to the public and the convention was considered a closed session only upon recommendation of Mr. Zuck when A. S. Dickey of Buhl, presiding as chairman, suggested necessity for discussion of finances of the organization.

Of Dual Nature.

Suggestion that the nominations should be divided on a certain ratio to be determined between the league and organized labor was disregarded, but the dual composition of the convention was not lost sight of at any time during the proceedings despite frequent avowals of entire community of interest. Pursuant to resolutions from league headquarters, the convention elected its one delegate and an alternate to the state convention of the league to be held in Boise on Saturday next.

Elmer Aman was elected delegate and A. S. Dickey alternate. Suggestion then was made that a labor delegate should be elected although no assurance was given that such delegate would be seated in the state convention. Discussion over this proposal dealt mainly with method of election procedure, although one league delegate declared his opinion that the proposal was dangerous as an entering wedge to divorce labor forces from the farmers' organization. Finally decision was reached to elect a labor delegate by vote of the whole convention and A. E. Dickey was chosen, W. H. Turner and Mrs. L. S. Nyotte being the other candidates.

The convention voted against endorsement of candidates on either of two tickets already presented. Suggestion on the part of one delegate that endorsement be given to the present incumbent of the prosecuting attorney's office who is a candidate for re-election met with instant and general expression of disapproval, and that place on the third ticket was left vacant. Declaration that "we will support no candidate on another ticket," was applauded.

Minister Loses Nomination. Disinclination of the convention to support any candidate other than a member of the league or labor organization was again evidenced in the case of the Rev. W. A. Moore, minister of the First Christian church of Twin Falls, whose name was presented as a candidate for the nomination for state senator by J. L. Sonner. Mr. Sonner spoke twice and at some length in support of the minister's candidacy. He said that he had been assured by Mr. Moore that he would accept the nomination if it were offered him by unanimous vote of the convention. He said further that Mr. Moore was in entire harmony with the Nonpartisan league, that he was a man of personality, a vote getter and one who was "in" with certain interests. Mr. Moore received 10 votes as against 21 for Mr. Aman, the successful candidate, and seven for J. M. Jayne. Objection to Mr. Moore's candidacy was entirely of negative character. One delegate declared that "what we want is a man who is one of us, who will caucus with the Nonpartisans and vote with them on every question."

The Votes. Candidates for nomination for state representatives with the vote received by each were as follows: George A. Childs, 19; J. M. Jayne, 35; A. E. Dickey, 30; C. E. Kitching of Hansen, 17; H. Sonner, 1; B. A. McPherson, 5. Candidates for the nominations for county commissioners with the vote for each were: First district—E. A. Littler, 22; Geo.

C. Loth, Buhl, 8; L. G. Hill, Filer, 8. Second district: James R. Munn, 32; W. R. Gwinn, Twin Falls, 5. Third district: A. D. P. Keith, 30; J. D. Koenig, 6.

Nomination of S. N. Pittillo for sheriff was by acclamation and without opposition as were the nominations of H. Sonner for probate judge, Mrs. C. E. Keating for superintendent of public instruction; J. F. Sherrupp for assessor.

John Prahm received 18 votes for the nomination for treasurer, and Frank DeKlotz of Filer, 17.

Want "Strong Lady."

Mrs. Kitching was nominated for treasurer after E. A. Littler had suggested that a "good strong lady" stood a better chance than a man of defeating the present incumbent who is running for re-election, but her name was withdrawn when J. M. Jayne suggested that she possessed qualifications for the superintendency of schools. Endorsement of the candidacy of Mr. Zuck for governor came after the completion of the slate. It was voted with enthusiasm, and the county delegate instructed to present the name of Mr. Zuck and vote for him up to the forty-fifth ballot.

The delegate was instructed also to present to the platform committee a resolution offered by L. S. Sonner of Buhl, declaring for speeding up of judicial procedure. Mr. Sonner asserted that litigants were entitled to immediate justice in any case brought to trial. He argued that certain "remedial legislation" had been long delayed in North Dakota when it became involved in litigation and urged his resolution as being necessary to prompt fulfillment of the league's program in the event of its success at the polls.

HARDING GIVES CONSIDERATION TO BIG ISSUES

Transportation and High Cost of Living Problems Discussed at Conference with Cummings and Grange Head

MARION, O. (AP)—The transportation and high cost of living problems were discussed at conferences today between Senator Harding and Senator Cummings of Iowa chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee and J. L. Taber of Barnesville, O., head of the Ohio state grange. Both came at the senator's request.

Sensor Cummings later to the newspaper correspondents emphasized the gravity of the railroad situation. "Traffic failure costly."

"The inability of the railroads to do the business of the country is costing the people every day more than the German war cost the people any one day," said Senator Cummings who added, however, the people of this country do not favor government ownership at this time at all.

Mr. Taber said he discussed the agricultural situation and the high cost of living with Senator Harding whom he found "keenly alive to the importance of a proper recognition of agriculture" and who realized the necessity of "agriculture properly functioning, if the nation is to enjoy enduring prosperity and tranquility."

Facces Busy Day.

Preparatory to going into seclusion to complete his speech accepting the republican presidential nomination Senator Harding faced a busy day today with a number of engagements scheduled. His first conference was with Senator Cummings of Iowa, chairman of the interstate commerce committee, who reached Marion last night, with whom he discussed the political situation and railroad problems.

Three other engagements included one with Raymond Robins of Chicago, former head of the Red Cross mission to Russia.

Owing to the short time elapsing before his departure on July 22 Senator Harding plans to seclude himself beginning tomorrow, from all visitors until he can complete his speech. In making the announcement, the senator served notice on the newspaper correspondents that he would see them once daily instead of twice from now until the final touches had been placed on his speech.

THE MENACE OF THE RAT

The outbreak of bubonic plague in several American and Mexican, gulf
ports has called renewed attention to
the menace of the rat. It is now known
that the rat is the carrier and spreader
of this dread disease. The danger to coast cities is great, since Mediterranean
ports are reported to be affected also.

Extermination of rats offers the only
effective preventive action against the disease. While inland centers are not menaced to the same extent as coast
cities the elimination of rats is desirable from an economic point of view
because they are purveyors of filth.

The United States public health service
estimates that there is at least one rat for every person in the country. The destruction they wreak annually is computed at $180,000,000. This enormous sum would seem to make worth while any systematic effort to exterminate
the rodents for what would be gained
in dollars and cents were the health
menace phases not to be considered.

Community organization offers the
only means of carrying on an effective
crusade against rats and in such movements the public health service is prepared to co-operate and direct the work.
A rat at best is such a loathsome thing
that it is strange that so many of them
are permitted to exist undisturbed.

A wider realization of the menace
they constitute may lead to more vigorous steps against them. The general feeling toward them is that they are annoying but unavoidable. The latter view is erroneous. They can be exterminated and should be, both from health
and economic motives.

If we can save the greater amount of the $180,000,000 annual loss attributed to them in destruction of property
and stockstuffs, it is the height of
wastefulness not to do so.

THE COURAGE TO ECONOMIZE

Considerably more than a century
ago Benjamin Franklin propounded to
the American people a gospel of thrift
upon which was established the prosperity of the republic. His homely advice to take care of the pennies, to keep everlasting and jealous watch upon the
odds and ends of extravagance and
waste were followed by the founders of
the nation, of necessity as well as of choice. His advice, valued in the days
when the land was being rough-hewn
from the wilderness, became invaluable
to the struggling states recovering from a long and exhausting war for independence. Americans saved, and from their economies rose the colossal prosperity that marked ensuing decades.

With plenty came less need to conserve, and with a slackening of the grip
of necessity ensued a weakening of the will to save. Prosperity became commonplace. And with the distribution of wealth, and an easing of the bonds
of circumstance, came a lessened respect for thrift. Men took pride not so much in what they saved as in what they spent. They feared to be thought niggardly. Rather than be thought penny wise they preferred to be pound
foolish.

The pity of it is that the extravagance which in recent years has become a national characteristic has not been confined to those who could most afford it. It has invaded all ranks and has been most pronounced by men and women who sought to clothe their modest circumstances by a show of plenty. There is a story told—and a true one—of a millionaire and a young friend who were walking down one of our great shopping avenues. It was in the days when a half dollar would
buy a good pair of suspenders—and suspenders were worn. The younger
man was about to enter a haberdashery
to spend his half-dollars when his more
experienced mentor saw a sign across
the street advertising suspenders at 45
cents. He called his friend's attention
to it. "Oh, I wouldn't walk across the street to save five cents," the prosperous youth remarked. "Young man,"
said the veteran of finance, "I work a
year—and sometimes longer—to make

chance here to save as much in five minutes."

There is food for thought here for every employer and every employee; for every householder in the land. We should not be ashamed to practice the small economies. We may some day
be ashamed if we don't.

BUHL FARM WORKERS

QUARREL-KNIFE USED

Russell Bell is Badly Used in Affray which Follows Offensive Statement

BUHL, (Special).—Russell Bell is in
a local hospital for knife cut treatment
at Everett Hall in full under bond of $500 on charge of assault. Both principals
to the alleged affray are farm
workers working on places about five miles northwest of Buhl. It is given the men fought as the result of an argument on Saturday. A statement by Bell inflicting Hall who is said to have assaulted the former with a knife.
Examination of Bell by a local physician revealed a number of slashes
about the neck, face and chest, none of them, however, of a necessarily serious nature.

HOLLISTER

HOLLISTER.—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil
Harris are "at home" to their friends, residing at corner Main and Idaho streets.

Haying and irrigation are in full swing, and crop prospects are fully 20 per cent above 1919.

Word has been received that Mrs. C.
Caviness' condition is much improved.
She is taking treatment at Rochester,
Main.

W. M. McLine and family of Minidoka have moved to Hollister to make their home.

Harold Beatty made a shipment of lamb from Rogerson Tuesday for Chicago.

Mrs. H. L. Hazard's condition is reported to be much improved. She is still greatly troubled with asthma.
E. A. Erickson left Thursday on a business trip to Salt Lake City.

Friends of the Chautauque backed up the committee Saturday evening and contracted for a four-day course for 1921, to come, probably, during the latter part of July.

Pasteurizing Milk

The milk in the bottles may be placed in a boiler in which cold water
comes up to the necks of the bottles.
The boiler is then placed on the stove
and heated until the water reaches a temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit
as determined by the thermometer, where it is maintained for 30 minutes. The bottles are then removed, cooled in running water, and kept
sealed until the milk is ready to serve.
Pasteurization kills, disease-causing germs.

Memoranda in Glass

A reader tells us that with the use
of gum tragacanth, allowing a week
for drying, two sheets of glass can be joined with a sheet of paper between
them, without the slightest staining of
the paper. It is suggested that this provides a new and useful means of making paper weights and other glass
articles with calendars, etc. imbedded
in them. The gum, while still wet, appears to have stained the paper; but
every trace of this disappears as the drying out proceeds.—Scientific American.

DADDY EVENING
FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham
Donner 2nd

VALENTINE PARTY.

"The Fairy Queen is going to give a valentine party," said old Witty Witch.
"Are you ready for it?"
"Witty Witch," said old Mr. Grant,
"I am always ready for one of the Fairy Queen's parties. We will go
together. And we will take her valentines. Too! Is everyone going to be at the party?"

"I believe so," said Witty Witch.
"The Gnomes and Elves and Brownies
and Goblins and Hogsies and Oaf
family and Fly-High, the Elves' bird,
and all of the usual guests."
"That's fine," said old Mr. Grant.
"I haven't been to a party in ever so
long. We must think about our valentines for the Fairy Queen, Witty
Witch. What are your ideas?"
"It might be nice," said Witty Witch.
"If we each made her a valentine and
then showed it to the others before-
hand, but each of us to make it quite
by ourselves and without any suggestion from the other. Then they will
sure to be so very different."

"That's a good idea," said old Mr. Grant.
"Well, if the party is to be tomorrow,
we'd better be hurrying."
"That we had better be," said Witty
Witch.

"Let's meet tomorrow morning,
bright and early," said old Mr. Grant.
"Before it is time to go to the party,
and show each other the valentine we
have made."

"That's a good idea," said Witty
Witch. "Let us meet outside your cave
at ten o'clock and then we will have a simple luncheon, which I will bring along with me, for I can make so many different dishes in my kitchen in the edge of the cave. And I will carry along a basket with the sandwiches
and everything else I'll need."

"But you mustn't bring too much,"
said old Mr. Grant, "for the Fairy Queen will want us to bring our appetites as much as she will want us to bring our valentines, and even more!"

"All right," said Witty Witch. "I
will only bring us enough to nibble on
and enough to keep us from being too
stupidly hungry. Good-by," she said
as she went off.

"Good-by," said old Mr. Grant.
They each worked over their valentines, and so did all the Fairyland
creatures, for everyone wanted to have
a valentine for the Fairy Queen, and
she wanted to have a valentine for each of her guests as they sat at her
banquet table.

The next day when Witty Witch
went to old Mr. Grant's cave she found that he had made such a big valentine
there wasn't room for it and him in
the cave at the same time.

"You see," he said, as he looked at it.

"Such a Big Valentine."

The enormous red heart he had made
which was bigger than himself, "I tried
to work over something really big, and of course this turned out to be it, for I forgot I'm so big myself!"

"And I've made my valentine about
my size," said Witty Witch, "and all
over it I have written verses for the Fairy Queen. Little verses telling her
how we all love her."
So Witty Witch and old Mr. Grant
soon started for the valentine party
after they had finished their simple
luncheon. They arrived just as everyone was arriving, and everyone
had made a valentine for the Fairy Queen of the same sized heart as the size of the giver's height and fatness!
For they all said that their hearts
might be small in real size, but their hearts were full of love for the Fairy Queen were as large as they were, because they had to be to hold all that love.

And the Fairy Queen had a valentine for each of her guests, made of
red rubies and flashing with woodland
diamonds, made by the diamond makers, Mr. Sun and Mr. Snow.

But after they had had their supper
at twilight all around from the trees
they saw hearts made of crystal glass,
which sparkled and danced and showed
many different colors.

"There is a crystal heart for each of
my guests," said the Fairy Queen, "and I am giving you these hearts, too, because you are my friends."

cause they show how my heart is always dancing in so many different,
happy, sparkling, merry ways for my friends of Fairyland!"

CABINET

We can be what we will be but only by holding ourselves to consistent and well calculated thought and action.
Sheldon Leavitt.

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY.

One of the most wholesome of breakfast foods and one reasonable in price
is the whole wheat grain.

Green Soup.—Wash two quarts of spinach in several waters. Wash, peel
and chop fine three small turnips, two onions, a bunch of celery and a sprig
of parsley. Fry the vegetables gently
in four tablespoonsful of butter. Add
one pint of water and simmer until tender. Mix two tablespoonsful of flour
with a little milk, add it to one and
one-half pints of milk, let boil five minutes. Put all the vegetables through a sieve, then add the hot milk and serve
with fried bread.

Spanish Eggs.—Cook together one
cupful of stewed tomatoes and one cupful of garlic, finely minced, one chopped onion, two sweet green peppers seeded and chopped. Cook gently
until reduced one-half. Spread on thin slices of buttered toast and lay a poached or fried egg on each slice.

Buffed Fish in Court Bouillon.—
Mince one onion, one stalk of celery,
three sprigs of parsley. Fry them in a little butter, add two teaspoonfuls
of salt, six pepper corns, a bay leaf,
three cloves, two quarts of boiling water, one pint of vinegar. Boil fifteen minutes, strain and keep to use in boiling fish. Rub the fish with salt and lemon juice and put in the boiling
liquor; simmer until the flesh falls
from the bones.

Maple Junket.—Warm just lukewarm one quart of milk, add one dissolved junket tablet, one-third of a cup of maple sugar and pour into sherbet cups. Serve with grated maple
sugar and cream, or a pudding sauce
made of two-thirds of a cup of maple
sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one
cupful of boiling water, two tablespoonfuls of butter and vanilla to flavor.

Escalloped Celery With Cheese.—
Cook the rough coarse portions of celery, cut in bits, until tender, add to
a rich white sauce in layers with cheese. Bake in a moderate oven until the cheese is melted.

IDAHO.

What is your idea of what a wife ought to be? Do you like the pretty ones who make the men in the audience crave their necks when you escort her to the theater, but who cannot accomplish eggs or make drinkable coffee? Or do you prefer the domestic kind who keep your house spotless and are natural born cooks, but who always greet you in apron and dusting cap and are always too tired to go out evenings?
"The Thirteenth Commandment," the picture in which Ethel Clayton is showing at the Idaho theater will tell you about still another type of wife. To describe her would spoil the pleasure
you will derive from the picture.

Pleasure in Pencil Industry.
The first lead pencil manufacturer
in the United States was William Morroe of Concord, Mass., who, in 1812, invented a process by which he pulverized and mixed the material and incased it in cedar holders. He was very successful in selling his product and continued the business for a year and a half, when he was obliged to give it up on account of the difficulty in obtaining raw materials. Another pioneer in the industry was Joseph Dixon, who commenced business in 1827.

Athletes only five short hits in Saturday's game and allowed no runs to score.

During the past week Babe Ruth paced Tris Speaker of Cleveland and Joe Jackson of Chicago in batting, and now stands second high man in the American league. George Sisler of the Browns only is ahead of the home run king.

However the Yankee slugger has only one point edge over the Indian and the Sox stars, with .386 as a total. Jackson and Speaker are tied with marks of .385. Sisler's average for the season is .419.

Sisler has dropped off 11 points in a week, while Ruth has gained 10 points.

Sam Smiley, sagebrush sage, says: "It's funny for a fellow to be so successful when he's been so poor."

Mike O'Dowd and Battling Ortega did not pull off their scheduled fight in Portland, Ore., Friday night because Ortega wanted his favorite referee, who recently was high in the ranks of the St. Paul man. Mike, on the other hand, wanted a new deal in the referee pack.

Fitcher Hubbell, who formerly resided in Buhl, and who flips the pill for the Phils, performed in notable fashion against the Pirates Saturday.

Hubbell held the Pittsburgh Nationals to six hits for only one run, giving the Phils a margin of two runs to win on.

JUST ONE MORE MARK GONE.

NEW YORK, (AP)—A world's record of one minute 12.5 seconds for the women's 100 meter free swim, out-during, was set Saturday by Elizabeth Hendry of the New York Women's Swimming association in the Olympic final try out at Manhattan beach.

Her time bettered the record of 1:27 held jointly by Nancy Durack of Australia and Charlotte Boyle of the Women's Swimming association and is 1.5 seconds faster than the Olympic record for the event made by Miss Durack at Stockholm in 1912.

Easy on Geese.
The following composition on geese was written, according to Capper's Weekly, by a schoolboy in St. Louis: "Geese is a heavy-set bird with a head on one side and a tail on the other. It's feet is set so far back on its running gear that they nearly miss his body. Some geese is ganders and has a curl in his tail. Ganders don't lay or set. They just eat, loaf and go swimming. If I had to be a goose, I would rather be a gander. Geese do not give milk, but give eggs, but for me, give me liberty or give me death."

Insects That Have Short Life.
There are many eggs of small insects that are hatching all the time. The ray of sunshine, falling weakly upon the side of a tree or upon an old log, will hatch out of these eggs, and the little creatures wobble through the frozen air for a few minutes before perishing. Possibly it is a tragedy with them when they are brought into the world too soon. At any rate they do not flourish; they do not mate and propagate their kind when hatched out in winter.

Two Church Designations.
The word "protestant" includes many churches, the Protestant Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal among them. The word "protestant" came into use at the time of the Reformation both in England and on the continent. It stood for a protest against the Roman Catholic church. The name is not particularly significant at this time when all of the churches are drawing closer together. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Men's Rights.
Men's rights are a great deal of trouble to them. They assert them, and see them, and then they don't know what to do with them. A man's rights, half of them, are meant to give away. . . . The benediction of your rights is, they are your benevolences. You can yield them, give them away. And the law of social unity is this law of assertion of a man's individuality, and then they use that individuality as a benevolence for those that are round about him. —Harry Ward Beecher.

Jud Tunkins says the value of an education depends on whether a man uses it to increase his work capacity or only just to project around for a loafin' job.

THE MENACE OF THE RAT.

The outbreak of bubonic plague in
several American and Mexican gulph
ports has called renewed attention to
the menace of the rat. It is now known
that the rat is the carrier and spreader
of this dread disease. The danger to
coast cities is great, since Mediterranean
ports are reported to be affected also.

effective preventive action against the
disease. While inland centers are not
menaced to the same extent as coast
cities the elimination of rats is desirable
from an economic point of view, were they not purveyors of disease. The United States public health service estimates that there is at least one rat for every person in the country. The destruction they wreak annually is computed at $180,000,000. This enormous sum would seem to make worth while any systematic effort to exterminate
the rodents for what would be gained
in dollars and cents were the health
menace phases not to be considered.

only means of carrying on an effective campaign against rats and in such movements
the public health service is prepared to co-operate and direct the work.
A rat at best is such a loathsome thing
that it is strange that so many of them
are permitted to exist undisturbed.
A wider realization of the menace
they constitute may lead to more vigorous steps against them. The general feeling toward them is that they are
annoying but unavoidable. The latter view is erroneous. They can be exterminated and should be, both from health
and economic motives.

If we can save the greater amount of the $180,000,000 annual loss attributed to them in destruction of property
and stockstuffs, it is the height of
wastefulness not to do so.

THE COURAGE TO ECONOMIZE.

Considerably more than a century
ago Benjamin Franklin propounded to
the American people a gospel of thrift
upon which was established the prosperity of the republic. His homely advice to take care of the pennies, to keep everlasting and jealous watch upon the
odds and ends of extravagance and
waste were followed by the founders of
the nation, of necessity as well as of
choice. His advice, valued in the days
when the land was being rough-hewn
from the wilderness, became invaluable
to the struggling states recovering from
a long and exhausting war for independence.
Americans saved, and from their economies rose the colossal prosperity
that marked ensuing decades.

With plenty came less need to conserve,
and with a slackening of the grip
of necessity ensued a weakening of the will to save. Prosperity became commonplace, and with the distribution
of wealth, and an easing of the bonds
of circumstance, came a lessened respect for thrift. Men took pride not so much in what they saved as in what
stingy. Rather than be thought penny wise they preferred to be pound
foolish.

The play of it is that the extravagance which in recent years has become a national characteristic has not been confined to those who could most afford it. It has invaded all ranks and has been most pronounced by men
and women who sought to clothe their
modest circumstances by a show of
plenty. There is a story told—and a
true one—of a millionaire and a young
friend who were walking down one of
our great shopping avenues. It was in the days when a half dollar would
buy a good pair of suspenders—and
suspenders were worn. The younger
man was about to enter a haberdashery
to spend his half-dollars when his more
experienced mentor saw a sign across
the street advertising suspenders at 45
cents. He called his friend's attention
to it. "Oh, I wouldn't walk across the street to save five cents," the prosperous
young man remarked. "Young man,"
said the veteran of finance, "I work a
year—and sometimes longer—to make

chance here to save as much in five
minutes."

There is food for thought here for
every employer and every employee; for
every householder in the land. We should not be assumed to practice the small economies. We may some day
be ashamed if we don't.

Statement

Buhl, (Special).—Russell Bell is in
a local hospital for knife cut treatment
and Everett Hall is held under bond of $500 on charge of assault. Both principals
to the alleged affray are farm
workers working on places about five miles northwest of Buhl. It is averred
the men fought as the result of an argument on Saturday. A statement by Bell informing Hall who said he had assaulted the former with a knife.
Examination of Bell by a local physician revealed a number of slashes about the neck, face and chest, none of them, however, of a necessarily serious nature.

Pasterizing Milk.

The milk in the bottles may be placed in a boiler in which cold water
comes up to the necks of the bottles.
The boiler is then placed on the stove
and heated until the water reaches a
temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit
as determined by the thermometer,
where it is maintained for 30 minutes.
The bottles are then removed,
cooled to running water, and kept
sealed until the milk is ready to serve.
Pasterization kills disease-causing
germs.

Memoranda in Glass.

A reader tells us that with the use
of gum tragacanth, allowing a week
for drying, two sheets of glass can be
joined with a sheet of paper between
them, without the slightest staining of
the paper. It is suggested that this provide a new and useful means of
making paper weights and other glass
articles with calendars, etc. imbedded
in them. The gum, while still wet, appears to have stained the paper; but
every trace of this disappears as the drying out proceeds.—Scientific American.

DADDY'S EVENING
FAIRY TALE

VALENTINE PARTY.

"The Fairy Queen is going to give a
valentine party," said old Witty Witch.
"Witty Witch," said old Mr. Giant.
"I am always ready for one of the Fairy Queen's parties. We will go
together. And we will take her valentines, too! Is everyone going to be at the party?"

"I believe so," said Witty Witch.
"The Gnomes and Elves and Brownies
and Goblins and Bogey family and Oaf
family and Fly-High, the Elves' bird,
and all of the usual guests."
"That's fine," said old Mr. Giant.
"I haven't been to a party in ever so
long. We must think about our valen-
tines for the Fairy Queen, Witty
Witch. What are your ideas?"

"It might be nice," said Witty Witch.
"If we each made her a valentine and
then showed it to the others before-
hand, but each of us to make it quite
by ourselves and without any suggestion from the other. Then they will
sure to be so very different."

"That's a good idea," said Mr. Giant.
"Well, if the party is to be tomorrow,
we'd better be hurrying."

"That we had better be," said Witty
Witch.

"Let's meet tomorrow morning,
bright and early," said old Mr. Giant,
"before it is time to go to the party,
and show each other the valentine we
have made."

"That's a good idea," said Witty
Witch. "Let us meet outside your cave
at ten o'clock and then we will have a simple luncheon, which I will bring along with me, for I can make so many
different dishes in my kitchen in the corner of the cave. And I will carry
along a basket with the sandwiches
and everything else I'll make."

"But you mustn't bring too much,"
said old Mr. Giant. "For the Fairy Queen will want us to bring our appetites as much as she will want us to bring our valentines, and even more."

"All right," said Witty Witch. "I
will only bring us enough to nibble on
and enough to keep us from being too
starvingly hungry. Good-by," she said
as she went off.

"Good-by," said old Mr. Giant.
They each worked over their valen-
tines, and so did all the Fairyland
creatures, for everyone wanted to have
a valentine for the Fairy Queen, and
she wanted to have a valentine for
each of her guests as they sat at her
banquet table.

The next day when Witty Witch
went to old Mr. Giant's cave she found that he had made such a big valentine
there wasn't room for it and him in
the cave at the same time.

"You see," he said, as he looked at

"Such a Big Valentine."

the enormous red heart he had made
which was bigger than himself. "I tried
to work over something really big, and
of course this turned out to be it, for I forgot I'm so big myself!"
"And I've made my valentine about
my size," said Witty Witch, "and all
over it I have written verses for the Fairy Queen. Little verses telling her
how we all love her."

So Witty Witch and old Mr. Giant
soon started for the valentine party
after they had finished their simple
luncheon. They arrived just as
everyone was arriving, and everyone
had made a valentine for the Fairy Queen of the same sized heart as the size of the giver's heart and fastened it on with a ribbon.

They all said that their hearts
might be small in real size, but their hearts full of love for the Fairy Queen were as large as they were, because they had to be to hold all that love.

And the Fairy Queen had a valentine for each of her guests, made of
red rubies and flashing with woodland
ers, Mr. Sun and Mr. Snow.

But after they had had their supper
at twilight all around from the trees
they saw hearts made of crystal glass,
which sparkled and danced and showed
many different colors.

"There is a crystal heart for each of
my guests," said the Fairy Queen, "and I am giving you these hearts, too, be-

cause they show how my heart is always dancing in so many different,
happy, sparkling, merry ways for my

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY.

One of the most wholesome of breakfast foods and one reasonable in price
is the whole wheat grains cooked until soft and gelatinous.

Serve with top milk. This is food especially good for growing children.

Green Soup.—Wash two quarts of
spinach in several waters. Wash, peel
and chop fine three small turnips, two
onions, a bunch of celery and a sprig
of parsley. Fry the vegetables gently
in four tablespoonsful of butter. Add
one pint of water and simmer until
tender. Mix two tablespoonsful of flour
with a little milk, add it to one and
one-half pints of milk, let boil five minutes. Put all the vegetables through a sieve, then add the hot milk and serve
with fried bread.

Spanish Eggs.—Cook together one
cupful of stewed tomatoes and one
cupful of macaroni, finely minced, one
chopped onion, two sweet green peppers seeded and chopped. Cook gently
until reduced one-half. Spread on thin
slices of buttered toast and lay a

Boiled Fish in Court Bouillon.—
Mince one onion, one stalk of celery,
three sprigs of parsley, fry them in a little butter, add two teaspoonfuls
of salt, six pepper corns, a bay leaf,
three cloves, two quarts of boiling water, one pint of vinegar. Boil fifteen
minutes, strain and keep to use in boiling fish. Rub the fish with salt and
lemon juice and put in the boiling
liquor; simmer until the flesh falls
from the bones.

Maple Junket.—Warm just like
warm one quart of milk, add one dissolved junket tablet, one-third of a
cup of maple sugar and pour into
sherbet cups. Serve with grated maple
sugar and cream, or a pudding sauce
made of two-thirds of a cup of maple
sugar, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one
cupful of boiling water, two table-
spoonfuls of butter and vanilla to
flavor.

Escalloped Celery With Cheese.—
Cook the rough coarse portions of cel-
ery, cut in bits, until tender, add to
a rich white sauce in layers with
cheese. Bake in a moderate oven until
the cheese is melted.

Athletes only five short hits in Saturday's game and allowed no runs to score.

During the past week Babe Ruth passed Trix Speaker of Cleveland and Joe Jackson of Chicago in batting, and now stands second high man in the American league. George Sisler of the Browns only is ahead of the home run king.

However the Yankee mugger has only one point edge over the Indian and the Sox stars, with 386 as a total. Jackson and Speaker are tied with marks of 385. Sisler's average for the season is .419.

Sisler has dropped off 11 points in a week, while Ruth has gained 10 points.

Sim Smith, nagabush sage, says: "The lauffer is always convinced he could be more successful if he had been born rich."

Mike O'Dowd and Battling Ortega were scheduled to fight in Portland, Ore., Friday night because Ortega wanted his favorite referee, who recently gave him a draw against the St. Paul man. Mike, on the other hand, wanted a new deal in the referee pack.

Pitcher Hubbell, who formerly resided in Twin Falls, and who threw the pitch for the Phils, performed in notable fashion against the Pirates Saturday.

Hubbell held the Pittsburgh National League champions for only one run in the Phils a margin of two runs to win on.

JUST ONE MORE MARK ONE.

NEW YORK, (AP)—A world's record of one minute 12.5 seconds for the women's 100 meter free-style swim, outdoors, was set Saturday by Ethelinda Bleibrey of the New York Women's Swimming association in the Olympic final try out at Manhattan beach.

Her time bettered the record of 1:16.5 held jointly by Fanny Durack of Australia, and Charlotte Boyle of the Women's Swimming association and is 7.5 seconds faster than the Olympic record for the event made by Miss Durack at Stockholm in 1912.

Essay on Geese.

The following composition on geese was written, according to Capper's Weekly, by a schoolboy in St. Louis: "Geese is a heavy-soft bird with a head on one side and a tail on the other. His feet is set so far back on his running gear that they nearly miss his body. Some geese is ganders and has a curl in his tail. Ganders don't lay or set. They just eat, loaf and go swimming. If I had to be a geese, I would rather be a gander. Geese do not give milk, but give eggs, but for me, give me liberty or give me death."

Insects That Have Short Life.

There are many eggs of small insects that are hatching all the time. The ray of sunshine, falling weakly upon the side of a tree or upon an old log will hatch out many of these eggs, and the little creatures wobble through the frozen air for a few minutes before perishing. Possibly it is a tragedy with them when they are brought into the world too soon. At any rate they do not flourish; they do not mate and propagate their kind when hatched out in winter.

Two Church Designations.

The word "protestant" includes many churches, the Protestant Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal among them. The word "protestant" came into use at the time of the Reformation both in England and on the continent. It stood for a protest against the Roman Catholic church. The name is not particularly significant at this time when all of the churches are drawing closer together.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Bees Liked Peacock Pla.

It is recorded by historians of the day that Queen Elizabeth's favorite dish on festive occasions was peacock pla.—Brooklyn Eagle.

MAN'S RIGHTS.

Man's rights are a great deal of trouble to them. They assert them, and get them, and then they don't know what to do with them. A man's rights, half of them, are meant to give away. The multitude of your rights is, they are your benefices. You can yield them, give them away. And the law of social unity is this law of assertion of a man's individuality, and the use of that individuality as a benevolence for those that are round about him.—Hedy Ward Beecher.

Jud Tunkins.

Jud Tunkins says the value of an education depends on whether a man uses it to increase his workin' capacity or only just to project around for a losin' job.

CONGRESSMAN MUCH AMAZED

Addison T. Smith Wonders at Steady Development of Twin Falls and District

Addison T. Smith, Idaho representative in congress, finds something new to thrill him each time he comes to Twin Falls for a visit. The ever developing of the Twin Falls district is one of the outstanding features the congressman observes each time he comes.

In an interview today Mr. Smith yields to an optimistic impulse regarding the future of the southern section of the state, through the development of present arid tracts by means of ample and liberal government appropriations with which to construct reclamation works.

Congressman Smith in his interview, makes as follows:

"Each recurring visit to Twin Falls gives me a thrill of surprise and satisfaction at the wonderful development on the tract and the numerous new buildings which have been erected since the previous visit. The Snake river valley, and its great possibilities along agricultural lines are attracting nationwide attention, and when the several irrigation projects contemplated by the government and private capital are under way there will be a constantly increasing influx of settlers and purchasers for lands already in private ownership.

Speaks of Appropriations.

"While we were unable to secure an appropriation at the last session of congress of $25,000,000, to be duplicated each year for 10 years to reclaim the arid lands of the west we feel confident of favorable action next session. The committee on appropriations was so favorably impressed with representations of the advantages that would result from the expenditures of this vast sum, in the way of increased food supply, more farm homes and the increase of the great national wealth that would be created that authority was given for a visit of the committee to the various projects. The committee left Chicago on June 20 and is now in the state of Washington and will devote the 17th and 18th instant to visiting southern Idaho, including a trip through the Twin Falls district and an inspection of the American Falls reservoir site. I plan to join the committee on Friday night and accompany the members as far as Idaho Falls.

Water Power Legislation.

"The most important legislation enacted at the last session of congress so far as the west is concerned provides for the development of the water power sites and the construction of dams and deposits on the public domain. For more than 10 years congress has been considering this legislation, during which time the lands were withdrawn from entry. As a result the resources remained undeveloped. Under the laws recently enacted the government retains title, but permits development of the water power sites and the mineral deposits under rules and regulations prescribed by the secretary of the interior. States and municipalities are given the preference in construction of power sites and furnishing heat and light to the people without profit. Because of the conflicting views concerning these enactments concessions were made by those representing different ideas in order not to longer deprive the people of the benefit of these natural resources. As the law is framed the government retains complete control and there is no possibility of a monopoly being created to the detriment of the best interests of the people.

League Dominant Issue.

"The approaching campaign will be unique in that the old issue of the tariff will be dormant and the league of nations will be the battle cry. The president's demand that the controversy over the league be taken to the people has been adopted by the San Francisco platform, and the republicans are just as eager to appeal to the voters on this issue as is the president, so we may expect a very spirited and interesting contest. If public sentiment is to the wisdom of our entering a league of nations continues to develop against the league during the next four months it has during the last year, and the people vote their convictions, I doubt if the democratic candidate for the presidency secures one-third of the popular vote in the nation. The American people have not yet reached the point where they will consent to have foreign potentates determine whether their boys shall be sent into a foreign country to settle quarrels in which we have no concern and after all this is what we would have to consent to had the league been adopted as presented to the senate more than a year ago.

Self-made Men.

"I think the republicans have been particularly fortunate in their nominations for the presidency and the vice presidency. Schuyler Harding is an exceptionally capable and high class man in every respect, and the same may be said of Governor Coolidge. They are plain self-made men, who have made their present eminence out of their own efforts and in the ordinary course of business.

Addison T. Smith

Idaho representative in congress who marvels at continued growth and development of this city and section on latest visit—Confident that government will make substantial appropriation for reclamation.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE IS TWIN FALLS GUEST TONIGHT

E. T. Meredith Will Come to Address People in City Park on Questions of Vital Importance to This District—Congressman Addison T. Smith Will Appear on Same Platform

E. T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, will be the guest of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce tonight. Mr. Meredith will arrive early this evening from Buhl, where he is spending the afternoon, the guest of his brother, P. C. Meredith, and the Buhl business men.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for the entertainment of Secretary Meredith and entourage by the local chamber of commerce, including a band concert and public speaking program in the city park.

Secretary Meredith is on his way east to Washington, D. C., after having attended the democratic national convention in San Francisco. It is expected that while he will make short allusion to the desire of the convention his address will deal chiefly with plans for developing arid western areas into producing land. The cabinet officer is quite extensively interested in lands in the west, mainly in Idaho, and is known to be particularly favorably inclined toward the southern section of this state. Last fall he made a notable booster speech at Buhl for the Brunson project in particular. It is supposed he will provide some enlightenment on the question of the government's plans for western lands development.

Honors of tonight's occasion will be shared with Secretary Meredith by Congressman Addison T. Smith of Twin Falls. Congressman Smith recently arrived in Twin Falls to remain during the greater part of the summer. He will preside. Secretary Meredith on the speaking program. The band concert is planned for 8:30 o'clock, the speaking to follow immediately after the concert.

Congressman Smith will attend a banquet to be given by the chamber of commerce at the Hotel Perrine at 8 o'clock tonight, when he will address a delegation of agriculturists and farm betterment workers.

Alex McPherson, a soil expert, has returned to Twin Falls after an absence of more than a year. He will remain for a short business visit. Mr. McPherson, who came here yesterday from the Pacific coast, was formerly in charge of an experiment station connected with the U. S. department of agriculture.

MEXICAN IS HELD FOR DISTRICT COURT TRIAL

Carlos Hernandez Must Tell Story of Assault on Tribune in Higher Tribunal

Carlos Hernandez, Mexican laborer, was this morning bound over to the district court for trial on charge of robbery on a city highway. Hernandez is accused by Amos A. Jordan of having held up and robbed the latter a week ago. Hernandez denied guilt on the stand. Jordan says the Mexican and a fellow countryman held him up at the point of guns and after robbing him of his belongings, attempted further criminal procedure against his person. He claims to have accepted an opportunity to beat off his assailants, taking an automatic pistol from one, and then beating up the other. Hernandez showed evidence of bad usage. His bonds were fixed at $1000.

DANCE FOR BUILDING FUND.

Arrangements have been completed by members of Twin Falls post, No. 7, American Legion, for a dance to be held in the Laving pavilion Wednesday night. Proceeds of this dance will be applied on the building fund. The committee in charge consists of Paul Taber, Ray Brown and H. J. Bonoit.

LICENSED TO WED.

Marriage licenses were issued Saturday afternoon as follows: To Ernest Emerson, aged 24, and Marie Turner, both of Kimberly; to Joseph J. Reno, aged 23, and Sarah Fairchild, 18, both of Buhl.

AMUSEMENTS

IDAHO—Ethel Clayton in "The Thirteenth Commandment"; also two-reel Fox comedy.

GEM—A Singsbrun Hamlet, starring William Desmond; also Charlie Chaplin comedy.

FARMING EXPERTS TO COME TO TWIN FALLS

More than 50 Experts Along Agricultural Lines Will Be Entertained Here

More than 50 representatives of better farming methods, soil and agricultural experts, demonstration efficient and persons of like training are in Twin Falls this afternoon and will spend tonight and tomorrow in this city and district. The party, is made up principally of Idaho people, though there are some from outside points, and is in this section for the purpose of making investigations of projects and farming operations.

Arrangements have been made for entertaining these agricultural experts at supper to be served in the Hotel Perrine at 8 o'clock tonight. Farmers of the district, and business men of the country, represented by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be hosts to the visiting delegation. Congressman Addison T. Smith will address the assemblage immediately following the meal.

PRICES FIXED FOR THRESHING SEASON CROPS

Machine Owners and Farmers Reach Agreement on Schedule of 1920 Costs

A price of 20 cents per bushel for threshing wheat was fixed at a meeting Saturday afternoon of threshermen and farmers. This price will govern all threshing operations for wheat this season. Nineteen cents per bushel was decided upon for barley and 18 cents for oats. Farmers are required to furnish fuel and threshermen to board all men. The farmers will be required to move grain from the machines under this price agreement. Where the farmer furnishes coal and board 8 cents per bushel will be charged.

Other prices decided upon are: For threshing red clover $1.50 per bushel. The same price obtains for alfalfa and alsike. Parties to furnish coal and board. In cases where the crop does not warrant a contract for threshing clover and alfalfa by the bushel a price of $8 per hour will be paid. Banns will be threshed at the same price paid last year.

Saturday's meeting held in the office of the farm bureau, was well attended, although it much business of importance was transacted. For labor the following scale was fixed: Pitchers, $5 per day; teamsters with team, $7 per day. Ten hours will constitute a working day.

JAIL TERM IMPOSED.

Judge O. P. Duval, seated in the probate court this morning, sentenced Grady Richardson and Price Smith, of the Buhl district, to serve 60 days each in the county jail. The men were found guilty by a jury Saturday of taking wool belonging to A. W. Todd. Intimidation is given by J. W. Taylor, attorney for the defendants that an appeal will be taken.

BUILDING PERMIT.

Frank Wagner, baker, has taken out a permit for the construction of an addition to his bakery building on Main avenue. The building will be of brick construction and is estimated to cost $800.

WANTS PAY FOR WORK.

Claiming the sum of $314.46 as owing him for services as worker in a beet field Jose Rodriguez has filed suit in the probate court against George H. Johnson, a farmer. The suit was filed this morning by District Attorney Frank L. Stephan.
