

ARMY OFFICERS YEARN FOR OLD DAYS OF KAISER

Plight of Former Military Commander in New German Regime is Most Doleful One for Him

BERLIN, (AP)—No one in Germany sighs more fervently for the "good old days" of the Kaiser than the former army officer. Forced out of the government payroll by the reduction of the army, untrained for work other than saluting, and so generally disliked by the population that he has difficulty in finding any kind of employment, the officer's lot in democratic Germany is a hard one. His pre-war world, in which he straddled the air as pilot, legged out of his emperor, has been utterly destroyed.

Many have been reduced to extreme financial straits. One military engineer officer gets a pension of $500 a year, but that is only about a fifth of the amount required to maintain a family. So urgent is their need that a movement has been set on foot to form an ex-officers' association for the purpose of inducing the government to provide them with land and subsistence.

A former officer, doubtfully discussing with the correspondent the plight of himself and his fellows, remarked that the expression once current in the United States, "There's no good Indian but a dead Indian," applied peculiarly nowadays to the Germans and their attitude toward the officer class.

Private soldiers bear out this statement. "At the beginning of the war," one said, "the troops were fed on bread, corn and the same food, carried their own packs, and shared the hardships of the men. But most of the regular officers were quickly killed off, and those left were sent away from the lines for staff and other duties.

"Their places were taken by reservists, who were an entirely different lot. They had to have special kitchens and mess halls for them. They refused to march with the troops, always riding in automobiles, and making the men carry their packs. They were brutal and tyrannical. The men grew to hate them. The civilian population felt the same way. I was in Belgium when the armistice was signed, and when we withdrew to the Rhineland the people there were willing enough to provide lodgings for us privately, but they refused to have officers in their homes. These fellows now are only getting what is coming to them.

In a number of cases ex-officers have found themselves inadvertently applying for work to the very privates they once commanded. These former soldier business men and shopkeepers, who take keen delight in it, in turning down their old superiors. Many of the young ex-officers are taking up engineering and other technical lines, starting at the bottom of the ladder as manual workers in general.

After the first revolution it was a risky thing for an officer to appear on the streets in uniform. They were emboldened by the Kaiser's last March and since then have been showing themselves in increasing numbers, especially student reserve officers, who are easily identified by their pale faces and with fresh sword cuts received in duels.

U. S. SUPPLIES JAPAN WITH RICE PRODUCTS

Looks Like Carrying Goal to Newcastle; Export 300,000 in Year

The United States exported more than 200,000 pounds of rice to Japan during the first three months of this year, according to figures of the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture. In contrast, less than a thousand pounds of this commodity were exported to Japan during the entire year of 1919.

The average rice exports of the United States to all countries during the period 1910-1914 were less than 20,000,000 pounds a year. Today the exports range from 20,000,000 to 60,000,000 pounds a month.

This enormous export business has been made possible by the development of the rice industry in California based upon experiments made by department of agriculture scientists in growing rice in communities where it was said to be impossible to grow this commodity. The first commercial field of rice in California was planted in the Sacramento valley in 1912. There are now a dozen rice mills in operation in the Golden State, which handled $21,000,000 worth of rice last year.

There is an almost unlimited opportunity for future development of this industry in the United States, say the department's specialists. The rice growers are most enthusiastic over the outlook and declare that they are going "to teach the American people that rice is one of the finest foods in the world."

GREEN HERBAGE HELP TO PORK PRODUCTION

Department Experts Suggest a System for Making Hog Meat Profitable

The farmer who provides pasture for his hogs whenever possible is the one who makes the production of pork most profitable, says the United States department of agriculture in a farmers' bulletin entitled "Hog Pastures for the Southern States." In epitome, the advice given in the bulletin is:

"Green herbage is essential to the economical production of pork.

"A permanent pasture supplemented with quick-growing, heavy-yielding, temporary forage crops is most satisfactory.

"Alfalfa, where it can be grown, is undoubtedly the best forage crop for hogs.

"On an average one acre of permanent pasture should be kept for each brood sow.

"Some of the heavy yielding, quick growing forage crops will add much feed to the quantity produced by a permanent pasture.

"There should be mature crops, such as corn, soy beans, peanuts or velvet beans, for finishing the hogs in the fall, oats, rye and wheat give satisfactory winter grazing.

"Green forage alone is little better than a maintenance ration. If rapid gains are desired, the hogs should have liberal allowance of grain. The ration should be "All the grain they will eat without waste."

"Growing forage crops and grazing them off on the land is an efficient method of improving soils depleted in organic matter.

"The exercise obtained in grazing exerts a beneficial influence on the health of hogs."

"The various forage crops for hogs, each discussed in detail, are corn, sorghum, winter grains alfalfa, black medic and top clover, red clover, crimson clover, soy beans, vetch, beans, cow peas, peanuts, chufas, sweet potatoes, mangels and rape.

"Suggested cropping systems are given, but no statement is made as to it is impossible to plan a succession of crops that will be satisfactory for any large number of farms and that each farmer must plan his own system according to his own conditions of climate, fertility, and layout of fields.

NOTICE

To David Bamberg, Jr., from your Mother:

David we are greatly worried about you being away, and not knowing where you are. Pam says you are the best boy he ever saw, and it was because of your ambition to make money you left, but he fears you might work hard in the hot weather and would much sooner that you would come home where you wouldn't have to work so hard and he will buy you a car or another piece of land or anything you want, but if you have a good place and are determined to try working out a while papa says it is alright, only write and let us know how you are getting along, and if you need a little money he will send it to you. We are glad that you left that note in your door showing your good intentions.

Your loving mother,
MRS. DAVID BAMBERG,

DECLARES CALL FOR LEADERSHIP IS SPONTANEOUS

Governor Morrow Discusses National Issues in Speech at Coolidge Notification Ceremonies

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP)—"This nomination is tendered you as the spontaneous wish of your party," said Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, principal speaker at the ceremonies attending the notification here today of Governor Calvin Coolidge of his nomination as candidate of the republican party for vice president.

The next called to the east," Governor Morrow said, "North and south heard the call and the nation made answer."

Back to Freedom's Bourne. Governor Morrow attacked the democratic national nomination for whom he termed its hesitation blundering and stubbornness and called the league of nations an attempt to bind the United States to the blood fields of Europe.

Plays Wilson's Policy. But, confronted at noon with high duties and national nomination responsibilities, the present national administration, entrusted with the great powers of government, which has halted and hesitated and blundered, while it bent all its strength to emergency aid to Europe, is fastening upon our country all of the ills of the world.

Call for Leader. In such a time and with such issues confronting the country, Governor Morrow asserted, Governor Coolidge is eminently called upon to serve as leader, who has spoken clearly, bravely and convincingly.

BATTLESHIP IOWA TO BE TARGET IN UNIQUE PRACTICE

Famous Fighting Craft of American Navy to be Objective of Big Guns of Atlantic Fleet Superdreadnoughts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The once famous battleship Iowa which played a small part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Santiago, is being prepared at the Philadelphia navy yard today for a novel experiment which will be one of the most unique target experiments ever attempted.

Proceeding unannounced, but under her own steam and controlled by radio, Iowa will become the objective of the big guns of the Atlantic fleet superdreadnoughts in Chesapeake bay later this summer.

The Iowa has already been stripped of some of its armament and will be fitted out and the practice will be continued until the old vessel, a mass of twisted metal, sinks beneath the waves to join the old Texas, which, as the San Marcos, was used for a stationary target years ago.

W-R-PRIEBE

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE POLICE HORSES.

"It's a hard job," said the police horse, named Jack, to the police horse, named Bill, "but all the same I like it." "Do you mean me too?" asked Bill. "That I do," said Jack.

"Well, I have nothing to be proud of," said Jack. "Nonsense, you have. Think of the lives you've saved." "Well, haven't you saved lives, too?" asked Jack.

"Well, who wouldn't save a life when he could? It's nothing so fine when I've done it, because it has just come in my way. I mean the opportunity has just come my way when I save a life. I just couldn't help but do that. When you've saved lives you've gone out of your way to do so."

"Well," said Bill, "I think it is so foolish to be conceited. And I'll tell you something else, Jack," continued Bill. "Pray, continue," said Jack.

"I've discovered that those creatures who were conceited had very little to be conceited about. So I don't want to be conceited for if I were conceited I would feel very foolish."

"I would think how absurd I was. I would think that I had nothing to be conceited about compared to lots and lots of people who save many more lives than I do. Take the firemen, for example. They're always saving lives, but they don't go around boasting about it."

"Yes, I've not much use for a conceited person. A conceited person is like a bossy person—both of them want to be the whole show. And no one creature could be the whole show. No one creature at all, to my mind."

"If any one creature were the whole show just think what a world it would be. Everyone but me and bowing to one person and not getting anything out of life at all."

"That's so," agreed Bill. "But," he continued, after a moment, "you were saying how much you liked your job."

"Oh, yes," said Jack. "It is no nice to be a policeman, but I like it. Now, I will never disappoint the master. I am supposed to keep the crowds back at parades—those who crowd the streets and would get into a terrible crush and jam if we didn't keep order."

"A Fine Policeman Riding."

"My master tells me and I should go and I go and push the crowd back over so gently."

"But I never step on anyone's foot, though feet are all about me. The master wouldn't like it if I did, so I don't. And you do the same thing. But it is nice to have a job like this and to have a fine policeman riding one. I love my job."

"So do I," said Jack. "It's a job such as any horse would be glad to have and you are fortunate to be given these jobs. We feel they trust us and have faith in us and so we never want to break that faith that is in us."

"We are loved and admired and when we do a lowly job, it doesn't feel conceited about it. One just feels happy. At least that is the way I feel."

The market was probably 10 per cent. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1 1/4 to 8c lower for wheat, with December $2.40 to 2.45 and March $2.43, were followed by rallies to an average of about 5c under yesterday's finish.

Subsequently, word of better export demand tended somewhat to steady the market, but in the last fifteen minutes renewed selling voiced a sharp fresh break. The close was semi-demoralized, 11 3/4 to 12c net lower, with December $2.35 to $2.38 1/2 and March $2.47.

Corn likewise had an support except from shorts who were in a position to collect profits. After opening 1/2 to 1 1/2c lower with September $1.42 1/2 to $1.43 and December $1.39 to $1.39 1/2 and December $1.23 1/4 to $1.24.

Oats sympathized with the weakness of corn. The market opened 2 1/4c off to 3 1/2c up, including September at 70 1/2c to 71c, and then underwent a material setback all around.

Some strength developed in provisions as the market closed heavy, 4 to 5c net lower, with September $1.39 to $1.39 1/2 and December $1.23 1/4 to $1.24.

The KITCHEN CABINET

It is not a light matter, the way we spend our time, our strength, our intelligence. The higher duties of womanhood, the higher evolution of humanity through her, of society through the household, demand a more healthful condition of household economies than the present shows. Our households are overburdened with the master and ourselves are spent in its arrangement and removal. Soul, mind and body are limited by the dustpan.—Helen Campbell.

HOUSECLEANING TIME.

The old-fashioned method of general upheaval during the spring cleaning has passed out with the incoming of the vacuum cleaner and rummage sales. Today, very few housewives are allowed to accumulate old clothing or any household utensil that has passed its usefulness in the home, as any society that needs money calls a rummage sale and three benefits result—the housewife is relieved of her surplus goods, the woman who needs them buys and the society gets the money. All are satisfied.

It takes courage often to do away with things which, because of association, are dear; but one's time and strength, as well as health, are of much more value than an assemblage of "just things."

Bedrooms should be especially free from dust-catching draperies and useless bric-a-brac. When draperies are used they should be washable.

For the housekeeper who has to economize (as about 90 per cent of all housekeepers do), which makes life interesting, and who finds it necessary to redecorate the walls when the paper is soiled or faded, calumine may be used with good effect. If the paper is firmly attached to the wall it will need no special treatment, but all loose places should be carefully pasted and well dried before applying the wall finish. Put the calumine on the ceiling first, to save splattering the side walls.

A long stroke down the length of the paper makes a smoother finish than a side stroke. Usually one coat is sufficient, unless the paper is dark, but two will always look better.

A linoleum covering is easy to do the feet if put on a pine floor. The linoleum should be varnished yearly to keep it bright and save wear. Kitchen cupboards, if painted white occasionally, can always be kept looking well. A damp cloth to wipe the shelves will keep them fresh and clean with little attention.

John H. Packer, well known electrical engineer, of Liberty, Mo., who says that to look at him today no one would ever take him to be the same man he was before Tanlac restored his health. Has gained forty-four pounds.

"For two years previous to the time I began taking Tanlac, I lived principally on a raw-egg diet. During this time I was laid up in the hospital for five months and practically no hope was held out for my recovery. I don't suppose any man had a worse case of stomach trouble than I did, in fact, they said I could not live."

"Tanlac did not seem to help me much at first, and I had almost made up my mind to give it up, but if I had given on it it would have been the mistake of my life. I stuck to it for a fair test and am thankful that I did for after finishing my fourth bottle, my appetite was better and I noticed myself improving."

This encouraged me to keep on taking it and in two months I was able to eat a good square meal and digest it as good as anybody. Then it wasn't long until I got so I could go back to my work and at the time I had finished my last bottle, I found I had actually gained forty-four pounds in weight.

"To look at me today no one would ever take me to be the same man I was when I began taking Tanlac."

The above remarkable statement was made recently by John H. Packer, well known electrical engineer of Liberty, Missouri.

EXTENSIVE LIQUIDATION IS NEW YORK TRADE FUTURE

The Japanese foreign office has announced today. Ohta said he has already advised Tokyo he did not think the fire was of incendiary origin or resulted from an anti-Japanese plot. Germans Strip Cars of Polish Supply Train

COBLENZ, (AP)—A Polish supply train of thirteen cars bearing arms and munitions from France, with five Polish and one French officer aboard, which left the American area Saturday evening, was held up by German police and civilians at Marburg, sixty miles east of Coblenz, Sunday afternoon. The Germans completely stripped the cars of their war material and the train crew refused to convey them further. They returned to Coblenz last night. Altogether the train consisted of forty-five cars including non-military stores for Poland, and supplies for the American legation and the American relief committee in Warsaw. These cars were in charge of American soldiers and were not disturbed. The German railway men in the Coblenz district have given notice that they will refuse to run Polish trains.

French Delegation to Conference En Route

PARIS, (AP)—Premier Millerand, accompanied by Marshal Foch, Frederic Francois-Marsal, minister of finance, and Philippe Berthelot, political director of the foreign office, left at 8 o'clock Monday for Boulogne where they will discuss with Premier Lloyd George the Russian soviet proposal for a conference with the allies.

Socialists Hold Out Against Government

PARIS, (AP)—All the newspapers attack the socialists' opposition to the new situation resulting from the Russian proposal for an allied-soviet conference in London and today's meeting at Boulogne between Premier Millerand and Lloyd George to agree on the answer to be made to the Russian note. The newspapers except socialist organs, are unanimous in support of the government plan to demand of the soviet government recognition of engagements of former Russian governments.

Russian Suggestion Distiked in London

LONDON, (AP)—In the view of commentators here, the Russian suggestion for a peace conference here, involves something like a two-world congress, affecting the affairs of the greater parts of Europe and Asia, in which it is thought likely the United States might find it desirable to take a hand. The bulk of opinion, as expressed in London's morning newspapers, is not particularly favorable to the soviet suggestion, although the possibility of good results is admitted. The London Times describes the soviet communication as "insolent in tone" as well as "obscure and ambiguous in expression."

JUSTIFIES SEIZURE OF OIL

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Seizure by six United States destroyers of 500,000 gallons of fuel oil from the Associated Oil company at San Francisco yesterday under authority of the Lever act, it was stated today at the navy department. Officials explained that instructions had been given to make such seizures when oil companies refused to deliver oil on requisition orders issued under the Lever law. Navy supply officers indicated the belief that several oil companies on the Pacific coast, which have represented their output as being sufficient to supply private contracts, were withholding delivery of their apportioned quotas to the navy to compel "seizure." Such a course might be said, they said, to place the companies in a stronger position legally, in the event of suit being brought for failure to deliver on private contracts.

John B. Mooney of San Francisco, a brother of Thomas J. Mooney, headed the committee. A memorandum left with Secretary Tumulty for presentation to the president at the convention of the association, had instructed the committee to "bring this case to your attention and to appeal to you to do all within your power to see that the wrongs that have been done to these men are righted, and justice given them."

RESOLUTE'S VICTORY

At 4:23 Resolute tackled to port ahead of Shamrock's bow, but she was doing better work than she did in the early part of the race. Challenger Drops Behind. At 5 p. m. Resolute had picked up a better breeze and was speeding for the mark 1 1/2 miles ahead. Shamrock was dropping behind. The wind increased to nearly five knots as the two sloops neared the outer mark. Resolute drew constantly though slowly ahead.

EARNING AND SPENDING

Although it may sound like a paradox, there are women who decline to do hard work to spend money than to earn it. Women who have tried both to make money as self-supporting women and to spend money as custodians of their husbands' income make this declaration. "When I earned my own money my mother spent it for me and it never occurred to me that she had any task in doing it; but now that I am married and have the spending of the greater part of my husband's income, I can truthfully say that to spend money wisely requires more hard work and ability than to make a living," says one wife and mother.

Hundreds of women who are trying to run their households economically and to save something for a rainy day, while feeding and clothing their families properly, will echo her statement.

So serious has this problem become for women because of the constant increase in the prices of things they must purchase and because of the seeming craze for prefeffering and plain cheating, that many women have come to dread going into a market as they would into a den of thieves.

VALUE OF A VACATION

Through various channels of publicity there comes to the reader about this time of the year an abundance of literature on the subject of vacation. Much of this takes on a painfully pedagogical tone, in which it seems to be assumed that the average vacationist knows neither where to go for his vacation nor how to enjoy it when he gets there.

The fact that vacationists and summer boarders have so often found their way into the humor column may have led the writers of this vacation literature to take the subject too seriously by contrast. Our vacationists are pictured for the most part as a vast horde of persons bent on nothing so much as a desire to enjoy the fleeting moment, and not for one hour in their two vacation weeks finding such enjoyment. They are pictured as returning from these outings wearied of soul and body, having acquired little more than a coat of tan and a grinch more apparent than the tan.

Of course there is some truth in these charges. There are people who do not know how to enjoy themselves on their vacation any more than they know how to do it during the other 50 weeks of the year. But they are the exception, not the rule, and any attempt to teach them through a magazine article on how to enjoy vacation must end in failure, just as it would attempt to teach anyone how to have good luck or use his common sense.

To the vast majority, a vacation is just what it says it is—a vacation, a rest, resulting not so much from a release from all activity as from a change of activity. While all of us may not understand the intricacies of the physiological and psychological phenomena that take place within us when for a period of two weeks during the summer the office desk or the factory work bench does not find us on the job, the enjoyment of this release from a certain kind of task and responsibility is there just the same. The fine anticipation of this so-called rest, and the memory of it that lingers long, are eloquent testimony that the new lease of life which vacation brings is a needed stimulus.

The man who makes a botch of his vacation, as he does of other things, ought not to be allowed to cast discredit on our vaca-

10 STATES FACE LOSS OF ONE OR MORE LAWMAKERS

Problem of Forcing at Least 65 New Representatives into Already Crowded House is a Hard One

WASHINGTON, (P)—Unless the membership of the house is increased from 435 to at least 500 to meet the increased population shown by the 1920 census, 10-ten states will lose one or more representatives, according to Representative Siegel, of New York, chairman of the census committee which will frame the new apportionment bill. These states are: Indiana, Iowa, and Missouri, which will lose one congressman each; Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Nebraska, Vermont and Virginia, which will lose one congressman each. Mr. Siegel explains that if the house membership is not increased at its present figure, it will be necessary to increase the population basis in each congressional district beyond the 211,000 or major portion thereof now fixed. If this is done, he says, the 10 states named will lose one or more of the present districts because their populations have not increased in proportion to those of other states. On the basis of the estimated population of 106,000,000 for the whole country in 1920, an increase of approximately 14,000,000 in ten years, Mr. Siegel says 65 or 66 new seats in the house must be created if the ten states are to retain their present numerical representation. While precedent warrants the increase, Mr. Siegel declares there is strong opposition to it on the part of some of the present representatives, while others favor reduction to as few as 300 members.

Mr. Siegel expects the work of framing the new apportionment bill in accord with the new population to begin in December and he anticipates that the measure will be passed early in 1921. Every decade since 1790, with the single exception of 1840 the house membership has been enlarged to keep pace with the growing population. Now the house floor is crowded when all members are present; seats nearly fill the chamber; the old individual desks have been discarded and an increase in membership probably will have to be solved by narrowing the width of the seats.

Ten years ago the house membership was increased from 391 to 435 on the basis of a population of 91,972,269 and the only exception to such a procedure occurred in 1850 when ten congressmen were snuffed out by the apportionment, the membership being fixed at 232 after having been 242 for 10 years. The last apportionment kept intact the numerical strength of all state delegations besides providing for certain increases, but even then several congressional districts fell short of the maximum basis of 211,000 population.

JILTED SOLDIER RECEIVES MANY MARRIAGE PROPOSALS

Captain Kitchon Deluged with Correspondence Following Ill-Starred Sentimental Episode

SYDNEY, N. S., (P)—Residents of this city are beginning to wonder whether it is still in order to pity Captain Thomas Kitchon, the Canadian field artillery officer whose fiancée, Miss A. Butler of Manchester, Eng. transferred her affections to Lieutenant T. Miller while en route to Halifax to marry the captain.

Following the publicity which has been given the broken engagement, Captain Kitchon has received many letters, mostly from English women, in which the writer offers her own hand to the captain by way of consolation for the loss of Miss Butler. Among those who offer to come to Sydney and marry Mrs. Captain Kitchon is a young duchess, Captain Kitchon says. She has written expressing her sympathy and volunteered to come at once if the gallant Canadian will have her. Captain Kitchon would not tell the name of the duchess or say whether she was a noblewoman in her own right or the divorced or widowed wife of some high ranking peer.

The Start of the Race for the America's Cup

The Resolute (on the right) is shown leading as the signal gun is fired off the Ambrose Channel lightship. Captain Burton, of the Shamrock, in the jockeying preliminary to the start, had secured a most advantageous position, but later drifted away, so that the defender was able to cross at the windward end of the starting line near the lightship, fifty seconds ahead of her British rival. The Resolute has already turned and headed on her course, while the Lipton yacht is still jockeying for the sweep to the starting line.

DENIES COMMUNICATION WITH GERMANY IN WAR

Mexican Official Makes Statement on Charges Against Chapultepec Station

MEXICO CITY, (P)—Denial of published charges that the national wireless station at Chapultepec was used to communicate with Germany during the world war and that its personnel is German in its most important components is made in a statement printed by El Heraldo de Mexico over the signature of P. Frías, the new director-general of the national telegraph lines. According to Senor Frías, the Chapultepec plant was in process of construction from the middle of 1917 to the middle of 1919 and, because it could not function at full efficiency during that time, communication with Nauen was an impossibility.

Senor Frías asserts that the only Germans connected with the station are employed in the shop annexes and are engaged exclusively in making new wireless equipment for substitutions, while Mexicans direct and operate the station.

The Mexican wireless system, Senor Frías states, consists of 23 stations, 11 on the coasts and 9 in the interior. The coastal stations are mainly for maritime service, while the interior stations with Chapultepec, are for the service of the government, especially when other lines of communication are cut, a contingency he declares has been, unfortunately, common during the last ten years.

Brief Bits of Sport

Somewhat must have tipped off Fred Fulton's weakness to Harry Wills.
The star of the colored fight firmament landed a neck break on the Minnesota pugilist's jaw last night and put the big fellow down for the full count in the third round of their battle.
Will J. Dempsey want to meet that nigger now?
Black Jack Johnson thinks he is entitled to some consideration at the hands of the U. S. courts after having played tag with the tribunals some years.
Perhaps he is, and maybe he will get said consideration where it will do both the Galveston negro and the country at large most good.
Willie Jackson, lightweight, though not a champ, has drawn down big money. Since January 12 he has participated in 30 fights which have netted him $51,000.
The largest amount the fighter got was $12,446.89 for a tilt with Lew Tendler.
A Chicago man got a horrible shock the other day when he found one of his home-made beer recipes had worked.
Here's a queer one—Akron, Ohio, whence cometh every good and perfect presidential possibility this year, has a "twilight" ball league which plays all of its games in the morning.
Reverse English, did you say?
Without the steadying influence of Marty Krug at the keystone place the Salt Lake Bees have gone to pieces proper.
The Bees played eight games with the Baniers last week and lost nearly all of them, winding up with a defeat in a double header Sunday.
That's what comes of giving ball players marks of appreciation in mid-season, you see.
Folks who claim to know say "speed" Anderson, star twirler of the Jerome staff, could pitch no-hit shut-outs once or twice every week during the season, but he is temperamental and doesn't like to do it.
The Boise club, winners of the Al-falca league flag, wound up its work of the season Sunday. The team has been more or less disbanded since the pennant was clinched a fortnight ago and men had to be drafted for yesterday's service.

"Young" Ketchel, who recently knocked out Al Nelson in a punch and a half, has been matched to appear against Joe Reager of Spokane at Winchester on August 7.
The bout will be for the benefit and under the direction of the American league. Ketchel is at Lewiston doing preliminary training and is said to be ready now for the battle.
A total of 69 hits was made in the double header at Salt Lake Sunday.

CHICAGO (AP)—Charlie White, the Chicago lightweight, who lost a 15-round decision contest to Pal Moran in New Orleans last night, today was re-matched to meet Moran on Labor day. The match will be staged in New Orleans. White claimed he injured his hand in the fourth round.

ADVERS COUNTRY ON RUIN VERGE

Non-partisan Speaker Tells the Crowd Banks Starting Economic Cataclysm

Prediction of imminent economic cataclysm in the United States as a result of ill-fated action of American financial interests was an interesting feature of the address here last night by Thomas Mills, lecturer of the employ of the Nonpartisan league.

Mills spoke in the city park before an audience of between 500 and 600 persons. His address was probably the most striking presentation of the theory of class conflict heard here since the disappearance of the socialist party as a political entity in this country about two years ago. Applause was rather more frequent and vociferous than general. Reference to grievances of labor organizations seemed to provoke most spirited demonstrations.

Everything "Controlled"
The only enemy of organized labor and of the Nonpartisan league, Mills declared, is the Chamber of Commerce of the United States which he said, is the "errand boy" and propagandist for four unearned New York banks that, he argued, are in absolute control of financial and industrial activities in America. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, he declared, is the controlling factor in the chamber of commerce of Twin Falls and in most other American cities. It was organized, he declared, as a result of a conference held in Berlin in 1914 and is modeled after the German plan of commercial organization.

Accuses Bankers
Mills quoted President Wilson to the effect that America entered the world war to crush German "financial and commercial domination." The war, he declared, had given opportunity for the development in this country of an organization of "bankers, manufacturers and merchants" much more pernicious and dangerous than the German commercial organization.

"There is no reason why American labor should be idle or why American credit should be denied," Mills asserted. "The only reason for these things," he declared, "is that the 'plunderers' in America has concluded that it can make more by foreclosing on its collateral and ruin the country rather than serve it."

"You may laugh at this now," he added, "but within six months you will be weeping and cursing."

Bridge Spanning Rock Creek Near Time for Traffic

Steel is Erected and Next Week Roadway and Sidewalks Will Be Laid

By the end of the coming week the new Shoshone street steel bridge spanning Rock Creek, will be open to traffic.

This announcement is made by C. H. Mott, contractor, who explains that all steel work has been finished and the contract will be concluded at the close of the present week with the laying of the roadway.

The completion of the roadway, however, does not mean the finish of the structure. The Warren Construction company will enter the scene immediately after the retirement of the steel contractor for the purpose of bituminous surfacing on the roadway, and the construction of cement sidewalks. The latter will be the last job done but should be in operation Saturday, August 7.

Social Notes

Helen Bond of Newcomerstown, O., and Albert C. Victor of Twin Falls, R. D. No. 1, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. F. S. Cappel of Twin Falls. Only the relatives of the bride and groom were present. They will make their home on Mr. Victor's ranch south of town.

Mrs. Truman Greenhigh entertained at a dinner at her country home near Kimberly Monday. The dinner was beautifully decorated in a color scheme of lavender and white, the same colors being used in table decorations and place cards. Eighteen guests partook of the beautiful chicken dinner served at noon, and the afternoon was spent in playing "500." Mrs. Merlin Batley winning prize for high score.

GAMBLERS PAY FINE

Using the Shoshone street sidewalk as a battleground Frank O'Toole and S. G. Wynn, laborers employed by a construction contractor here, yesterday engaged in a combat at the sidewalk. They were deeply absorbed in the game of African golf and did not observe the folks who approached. Consequently conversation was depicted upon the heads of the two men. Sheriff A. N. Sprague picked up the "hones" and clutched one of the culprits by the arm. The other culprit made temporary escape, but was haled in later. The men were tried in the police court this morning on charge of gambling and admitted the offense. Each paid a fine of $5.

COUNTRY ROAD PAVEMENTS OPEN NEW RACEWAYS FOR AUTO DEMONS

Mayor Eldridge Calls Attention to Speeding on Surfaced Artery Leading to City and Wants Measures Adopted to Help Check Possible Accidents at Town Approaches—Building Law to be Changed

Last night's gathering of what members of the town council were in town was of a discursive nature, and more or less tentative. No regular business was transacted, due to lack of quorum, but a lot of matters were disposed of unofficially.

For instance, minor questions but nevertheless important as they pertain to speeding up paving programs, were entertained and disposed of with dispatch. In addition action was taken toward the early adoption of a building ordinance which will meet the requirements of a building act, and the question of regulation of an outdoor amusements gallery was to time limit for operation was given due and timely consideration, and steps were considered for checking a growing speed evil along paved arteries entering the city.

Oh, You Demons

With respect to the latter case it was shown, on presentation by the mayor that speeding is general along the mile and three-quarters distance of state highway just completed by the highway department, which is now in course of surfacing. When this work is completed speed demons will have an unheeded course for a raceway for several miles, and it was for the purpose of taking early steps to prevent excessive speed in the city and on the city approaches that the mayor and other members of the council, together with certain administration department attaches, considered the existing evil. Mayor Eldridge stated he had been informed time in made on the highway is so fast that such morning a searcher along this race track gets a paying supply of auto toles, spilled during the racing of the night and day before. The mayor asked adoption of an amended ordinance requiring fumed headlights on cars approaching the city.

Absolute Building Law

That the city's building laws are not satisfactory in their operation for a city has long been the contention of Mayor Eldridge, but until last night no definite action has been taken toward superseding the present ordinance to meet requirements of the growing town. The city attorney, Judge J. E. Davies, has been instructed to procure copies of ordinances designed to meet the demands of a full-blown city.

This question arose in complete pamphlet when two market gardeners applied for permits to erect show iron buildings within the business limits of the town. Already, it was shown, one such permit has been granted to the detriment of the business section and the council is in no mood to allow further erection of such structures. Hence the call for an ordinance banning iron buildings. The mayor stated continuing of operation under the terms of the present law would spell the ruin of the business district for substantial buildings. The petitioners in these instances were Ed Vance and D. K. Front, gardeners who conducted sales departments for their truck in wooden structures last season. One of these is at present selling truck over a bench on the 1019 market site.

Paving Delay Explained

To the streets and alleys committed were repairs requests and suggestions coming from paving contractor's representatives. One of the requests was for permission to construct a concrete gutter along two blocks on Wall street. In this area no regular waterway had been provided except as excess water was carried off on the bituminous pavement where the gutters should be. The contractor explained there were good and sufficient reasons why his firm should not be asked to guarantee this type of construction.

To Help Water Pressure

According to J. J. Filgerim, water works superintendent, there is a high place in the city water distributing system on Third avenue west, between Third and Fourth streets which interferes considerably with the pressure when draft on the system is at its maximum. Mr. Filgerim suggested installation of a certain form of lift valve to remedy the trouble. He was instructed to purchase the required equipment and see to its early installation.
