Declaration of British and Japanese Governments on Renewed Treaty is Challenged by Manchester Guardian

LONDON, (AP)—A joint declaration of the British and Japanese governments of the Anglo-Japanese treaty, which has just been permitted automatically to renew itself for another year, is "in harmony with the spirit of the covenant of the league of nations" is challenged editorially by the Manchester Guardian. It is assailed as "a typical example of those partial and exclusive agreements between particular powers which the league of nations was designed to supersede."

The Guardian says that people may be sceptical about the latest Anglo-Japanese note, but it is a most interesting and may be an extremely important document. The present Anglo-Japanese treaty of 1911, which will run, in the normal course till July 1921, but the foreign offices of the two nations have remembered the covenant of the league of nations. They point out that the treaty, though in harmony with the spirit of the covenant of the league of nations, is not entirely consistent with the letter, and they add that of 1911, which it "it must be in a form which is not inconsistent with the covenant."

"There is only one weakness about this statement and that is that its obliging proposition to make war if the Anglo-Japanese treaty in all its forms has always been entirely out of harmony with the spirit of the covenant. It is a typical example of those partial and exclusive agreements between particular powers which the league of nations was designed to supersede. It pledges each of the contracting parties to make war if 'by reason of unprovoked attack or aggressive action' the other flasks its 'territorial rights or special interests' threatened in eastern Asia or India."

"The covenant in course, provides an elaborate machinery by which the league will deal with such contingencies and bring its collective powers to bear on the matter, whether he is or he is not himself among its members. The Anglo-Japanese treaty will need re-modelling from top to bottom in order to make it consistent with the covenant. It will presumably be done by each power undertaking formally to go to war in support of the other after the league has definitely pronounced against an aggressor and ordered the other to make war if necessary measures contemplated in Article 10 of the covenant, which include military force but do not impose its use as an absolute obligation on all the members."

"There would then be the protection of the league between us and war and the obligations thrown on us by the treaty would be very different from what they are at present."

Formerly Well-to-do Families Strip Belives of Possessions for Food

BUDAPEST, (AP)—"Nice family tombstone; little used; for sale," an advertisement published in the newspapers here, has directed attention again to the poverty of the formerly well-to-do families. Many of these early began to sell rugs, furniture and jewelry to get food but some now have nothing left but hairpins.

Lieutenant Bowden, a Davidson of the American relief administration, found it necessary, recently, to select from 352,000 "intellectual" applicants those who should be given 4000 applicable relief parcels.

French Girl, Considered Not Even "Pretty" Wins Prize for Beauty

GENEVA, Switzerland, (AP)—Madoiselle Legrande, who is not even termed "pretty" by her girl friends in Chambéry, Savoy, France, has been awarded the annual prize of $5000 as being the nearest approach to the Venus de Milo type of physical beauty. The prize, paid from a fund left by an eccentric French millionaire of Chambéry, M. Carret, was not awarded during the war because so many of the Chambéry girls were away on war work. Milo Legrande is 24 years old.

HERRERA CALLS FOR OPEN VOTE IN GUATEMALA

Central American Executive Warns Civil and Military Officials Against Interference with Coming Elections

GUATEMALA CITY, (AP)—President Carlos Herrera has issued a circular letter addressed to all civil and military officials throughout Guatemala, notifying them that they shall not in any way use their authority to interfere with the coming elections further than to see that "order is maintained that the rights of the voters are fully protected and that they are not inolested in any way."

Hitherto elections in Guatemala, in some other Latin-American republics, have been farcical. The Jefe Politicos of the departments and their subordinate officials commanding the various districts or municipalities, when an election was announced, simply registered the names of a desired number of voters as voting for the designated candidate, and then turned them in as the electoral roll.

During the 22 years Estrada Cabrera was in power there was only one presidential candidate and that was himself. On assuming the office as president interio at the death of Reina Barrios, he was required by the constitution to convene elections for the presidential period of six years within eight days and elections in Guatemala were held months after his assuming power. Cabrera complied with the constitution in that he called the elections but he did not allow any other candidate in the field.

Herrera, having been designated vice-president by the congress, as required by law, succeeded Cabrera as president interino, and in compliance with the law designated the last week in August for the presidential election. Besides himself, there are two candidates in the field, Jose Leon Castillo who was obliged to flee the country upon being nominated as a candidate in opposition to Cabrera 22 years ago and General Francisco Fontes.

In his circular letter to the authorities throughout the country President Herrera calls attention to his frequent declaration that it is his purpose, so long as he remains at the head of the government, "to adhere strictly to the principles of true democracy," and that he will not nullify or permit the nullification of the electoral rights of any voter.

ARISTOCRATIC YOUNG ITALIANS BOYCOTT EXPENSIVE CLOTHES

ROME, (AP)—A large number of aristocratic young men in Rome, Florence and other Italian cities by agreement, are wearing a special costume this summer costing about $6 to $8. They have declared a boycott on expensive clothing.

The suits are composed of khaki or blue denim trousers and a shirt or blouse which can quite easily be made at home. Wearers of the cheap attire have also temporarily abandoned jewelry, elaborate cravats, silver-handled canes or expensive hats. Most of the innovators also wear sandals instead of shoes.

Folly

"We are all fools at times, but most of us have a different way of doing it."—Fainess Parker.

Doing foolish things seems to be human nature. Some eat too much; others sleep too much, or spend too much on clothes, or get mad too easily, or go into debt, and a dozen other things. Neglect of the teeth is perhaps the most foolish practice of all, for neglect means infection and decay, which in turn mean sickness and disease.

Wise people show wisdom by constantly caring for their teeth, by letting a good dentist help them.

COAST LEAGUE AGAIN SEETHING WITH MORE BRIBERY REPORTS; CONFESSION INVOLVES PLAYERS

"Babe" Borton Unconditionally Released by Vernon after Official Statement in Alleged Confession of Complicity in "Lay Down" Scheme—Names Some Salt Lake Stars

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Affairs in the Pacific Coast baseball league, comparatively quiescent for a week following the barring from all league parks of Hal Chase, former major league first baseman, unconditional release of Hal Maggett, Salt Lake outfielder, and indefinite suspension of "Babe" Borton, Vernon first baseman, on gambling charges, crystallized today in an announcement by League President W. H. McCarthy that more players are likely to be expelled and that he had barred Nate Raymond, of Seattle, from all parks.

President McCarthy's announcement was in a telegram to President W. H. Klepper of the Seattle club. It said:

Wants Park Cleanup

"If half the reports I receive are true the best thing in Seattle would be for the police chief to back up his patrol wagon as they have done in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and put some of these so-called gamblers where they belong."

President Klepper said in Seattle that he expected five or six other persons would be barred before the end of the week.

The Los Angeles Evening Express today quoted an unnamed official of the Vernon club as having said that President McCarthy's investigation would include an alleged pool of $20,000 distributed last fall among certain Salt Lake, Portland, Seattle players "for services rendered" in "assisting" Vernon to win the pennant.

Boo Players Concerned

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—President W. H. McCarthy of the Pacific Coast Baseball league is investigating bribery charges—not gambling charges—according to an unnamed official of the Vernon club, who is quoted in a story the Los Angeles Evening Express printed today.

"I can come to no other conclusion than the obvious one that Borton invented his story of the $2,000 pool out of whole cloth. These players mentioned in his confession are completely exonerated unless further investigation should prove to the contrary."

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—President W. H. McCarthy of the Pacific Coast Baseball league is investigating bribery charges—not gambling charges—according to an unnamed official of the Vernon club, who is quoted in a story the Los Angeles Evening Express printed today.

This story declares: "It is alleged a pool of $2,000 was made up last fall, which was distributed among certain members of the Salt Lake, Portland and Seattle teams for 'services rendered' in assisting Vernon to win the pennant."

Borton's Confession

McCarthy's statement of Borton's alleged revelations said in part: "Just before the close of last season Manager Eslick came to me and wanted to know if I could get any of the Salt Lake players to lay down so that we might win the pennant," Borton said. "I told him I would see what could be done."

Borton then said he had agreed to $500; Ramler $250 and Dale $500. Subsequently Borton learned that another player on the Veron

DAVIS LEADS AS CANDIDATE FOR OHIO GOVERNOR

Former Cleveland Maintains the Advantage Although Suffering Reduction in Margin as Rural Precincts Report

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Former Mayor Harry Davis of Cleveland, though he is suffering a reduction in his lead over former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, of Findlay, for the republican nomination for governor as rural precincts report still is leading his nearest rival by more than 18,000 votes. In the last 170 precincts reported, Cole had a gain on Davis of about seven and a half votes to the precinct.

Vote on Governor.

The vote on governor in 1921 precincts out of a total of 6000 was: Cole, 96,954; Davis, 109,128; McCulluch, 51,506; Wood, 9865.

Davis had a lead of 19,645 votes for his nomination over Cole, his nearest opponent, early today upon complete unofficial returns from two-thirds of the state's 6000 precincts. Congressman Roosevelt C. McCulluch of Canton was third with 50,591 votes less than Davis.

Willis Favored for Senate.

An almost equal number of precincts gave former Governor Frank B. Willis of Delaware a lead of nearly 30,000 votes over Walter F. Brown of Toledo his nearest competitor. ### REPUBLICANS OF NORTH CAROLINA FOR SUFFRAGE

Party Leaders Announce Most Members Would Vote for Amendment

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The North Carolina legislators met in special session Tuesday to consider tax legislation and ratification of the federal suffrage amendment. The federal suffrage amendment got no farther than the capitol corridors and the cloak rooms.

Governor Bickett devoted his entire message to discussion of changes in the state tax laws, withholding submission of the suffrage amendment until Friday when he will send another message recommending ratification.

The principal development in the suffrage situation was the announcement by republican leaders that the vast majority of their party in the house would vote for the amendment and that the 8 republican senators would be almost solid for it.

Mr. Ross accepted the opportunity. The wired challenge states that the challenger will be built on the Atlantic coast and will be manned by Canadians if the defy is accepted.

Flathead Preserve in Northwestern Montana Scene of Costly Blazes

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP)—Three serious fires are burning unchecked in the Flathead national forest in northwestern Montana and two others in the same preserve have been surrounded by fire fighters, the forest service headquarters here announced Tuesday.

Control lines have been established around the troublesome Canadian fire in the Blackfoot forest. It was stated but a new fire has been reported from the same forest.

The larger blazes in the Selway forest, in northern Idaho, have been checked. Fifty-three acres have been saved (by lightning in the past ten days, with many new ones Monday night, forest service officials reported. General Quinn, however, helped the situation in western Montana.

Today's Markets

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, (AP)—Optimism over the Polish situation continued strength in stocks today. The market was completed, and absorption of high class railroad and specialties, influenced the general show of strength in today's market. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.

Initial prices on the stock exchange today were higher with the advance reaching four points in shell transportation. Aspects of the Russo-Polish situation were reported more favorably and there was a further rise of 2 cents in sterling. Buying of fair amounts superseded the recent drastic liquidation of various issues, and the bears were intimidated into covering by the rapid advance in the usual leaders. Many of the equipments, steels, oils and sugars were quoted 1 to 2 points higher, as was Central Leather, Industrial Alcohol, Reading and Rock Island. A few shares opened lower, including American Sumatra Tobacco, which fell 1 and Gulf States Steel four points.

Liberty Bonds

NEW YORK, (AP)—Liberty bonds at closing: 1-2's $90.00; first 4's $83.10 bid; second 4's $84.00; first 4's bid $85.10; second 4's $84.44; third 4's $88.40; fourth 4's $84.54; Victory 3-4's $93.70; Victory 4-4's $95.66.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, (AP)—General demand with but limited offerings to higher prices today in the wheat market. Houses with eastern connections were conspicuous in the buying. On the upturn in price, however, selling became of larger volume, and the market had a reaction. Initial quotations, which varied from 1-2c decline to 3-12c advance, with December $2.40 to $2.40 1/2 and March $2.41, were followed by moderate upturn all around, a setback to slightly below yesterday's flat, and then fresh gains.

Indications that France and Italy were after wheat tended to keep the market at a level upward. The market was unsettled, 1-2 to 1-2c higher, with December $2.38 1-2 and March $2.42.

Chicago with September $1.48 to $1.48 3-8 and December $1.25 to $1.25 1-8.

Oats were firmer as a result of the action of corn and wheat. The market opened 3-8c higher, 72 3/4 to 73 1/4, fell back temporarily, and subsequently tended to harden.

Weakness in hog values acted as a drag on provisions. Trade was slow, and the market a little lower.

Tricks the Title of Best.

The trick of the schedule which called for the opening of the big series on Sunday gave opportunity to test the drawing power of Babe Ruth and his comrades in Chicago, the best has built town on earth here now. The great crowd that ever packed into Comiskey park responded and exchanged compliments with the Yankee players for an ideal day. Fans lined several deep in the outfield and permitting them on the field gave a chance to set a new crowd record, for that is not allowed in world series games.

Lodge of Sorrow for Cubs.

While the whole town is on its toes over the race the Sox are making and must make, pause is taken to hold lodges of sorrow for the fate of the Cubs, who, it is feared, will not be able to weather the consolidated hard luck that is being visited upon them. It was not enough for Grover, Alexander and his playing the role of pitching ace, but Charley Hollocher's jinx had to start working again and as a result Mitchell's shortstop is lined on his back in a local hospital, recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

Hollocher was taken ill while the Cubs were in Boston and sent home from the surgeon's point of view a decision that a surgical operation was necessary and it was performed last Friday. The work was highly successful from the surgeon's point of view, but the medicine in charge shakes his head when he says that Charley will be able to play again this year. The surgeon says it is astounding that Hollocher stood up as long as he did with his appendix in such condition and that while the recovery from the operation itself will be rapid Charley is in such run down shape that it would be folly for him to attempt to get back into the game this year. As soon as he is able to travel he probably will be sent to his home in St. Louis, to take

Observers on the trans-Bolshevik journey commented on this aspect of the situation in view of a statement credited to Leon Trotsky, minister of war in Moscow, who was quoted as saying that the Bolsheviki "working armies" heralded as units which would rebuild Russia's industrial life, had failed wherever they had been needed, their usefulness being limited to the rougher forms of labor such as cleaning cities and keeping up the railway right of ways.

Farmers Alarmed

Continued requisition of grain and livestock in return for alleged worthless paper money instead of supplies is making the agricultural population the greatest potential enemy of Bolshevism. Observers say that if this condition is not remedied it promises to cause the ultimate downfall of the regime despite its militaristic control.

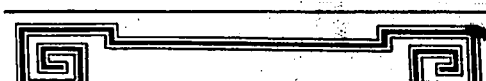

Great success seems to have attended reorganization of the railroad transportation system, especially in passenger traffic, than any other branch of the government.

Great success seems to have attended reorganization of the railroad transportation system, especially in passenger traffic, than any other branch of the government. The capital of the Bolsheviki's far eastern buffer state, a traveller can ride into Moscow or Petrograd in ten days, traveling from Omak on Russian railroads if it is on business or is especially privileged. The cost of the 4,000 mile trip across Russia is 1,000 rubles. The sum is less than one American dollar, but also is less than the amount needed at scores of trans-Siberian stations to buy a pound of meat or salt from the peasants who sell at the railroad depots.

AMERICA'S POSITION

Press dispatches give Senator Hitchcock about an even break for honors in his debate of Monday evening against Major Jackson Morris of Kentucky on the league of nations. No method of calculation, however, can give the arguments advanced by the doughty senator more than a momentary claim to consideration when they are weighed in the balance of public opinion as the facts in the case stand out in clearer relief in the light of progressing developments in the European war zone, and even at the moment of the debate, Senator Hitchcock's laurels undoubtedly would have trailed in the dust had he been opposed by a speaker of the calibre of Senator Borah, for instance.

Senator Hitchcock in respect to the Polish situation, argued that Poland was the aggressor, that its political independence and territorial integrity had not been attacked by Russia, and that therefore this question could not be properly taken up by the league.

So far as it went the argument was good. At the moment of his speaking Polish political independence and territorial integrity, as guaranteed by Article Ten of the league covenant, had not been attacked. Whether or not it might be attacked the next day had no place in his argument. He based his argument entirely on a question of the jurisdiction of the league under Article Ten, but it seems that both he and his opponent entirely overlooked the obligations imposed in Article Eleven of the covenant which provides that threat of war is proper subject for the league's consideration. Senator Borah would not have overlooked this monumental gap in the Nebraska's argument.

Senator Hitchcock could hardly have denied that the conflict now in progress between Poland and Russia is at least a threat of war, or that the league's procedure in carrying out provisions of Article Eleven is one whit different than in carrying out obligations of Article Ten.

As the matter stands proponents of the Wilson league have contrived pretty successfully to throw dust in the eyes of many Americans, and if the decision were to depend upon debate such as was conducted by the Nebraska senator, there might be reasonable probability of their continued successful prosecution of such tactics.

Fortunately, however, censorship that existed during the incubation of the covenant is lifted, and the European idea of what America would undertake in unreserved ratification of the covenant is thrown into ever clearer relief with the passage of time.

While Senator Hitchcock and Major Morris were arguing about what the covenant meant from their respective standpoints, the premier of Great Britain entertained an opinion which probably was foreign to that of either of the debaters. Interjection in his speech Tuesday before the house of commons served to reveal what Lloyd-George had in mind, and that mental burden is one that deserves the careful consideration of all Americans regardless of their attitude toward the admission of the first president of the United States. This is what Lloyd-George had to say when questioned as to the position of the United States in the continuing conflict between Poland and Russia:

"We certainly are going to support America. There is no question, of course, the difficulty in America that up to the present she has not ratified the treaty and that the treaty is the subject of conflict between our Polish sympathizers. It is not in our power to say what view the American executives would take. I am only judging from the attitude of America at the peace conference, that was a strong proponent of Polish independence. No man could have taken a more determined and resolute part in setting up Polish independence than President Wilson, and it is certain that whatever differences of opinion there may be in regard to the league of nations, there would be no difference of opinion in their general attitude toward Polish independence."

The statement of the British premier speaks for itself.

DESTINY

In a presidential year men are made, characters defined and destinies scanned by the people of the nation. It is a time for rejoicing because a favored son is honored, a good neighbor is exalted, or the child of the farm becomes the "man of the hour." In this campaign the successful contender for the office of chief executive will be a child of the farm, for the reason that all candidates were born on farms.

It is certainly an inspiring thought to realize that in the United States there is no barrier to the attainment of the highest honor in the gift of the people. How often the fond mother, sitting by the cradle rocking her infant son, looks upon his innocent face and predicts, in her own mind that some day that little one—her boy—may become a great and honored man. With her own hands she opens the window to a world of wonderful opportunities.

Of all men who live upon the earth, he who is without hope is the most miserable. To him all days and nights are dark. But those visions do not come to the American. He lives in the hope of brighter days, happier hours, and more peaceful and pleasant environment. To him and his family there comes the musical whispering voice of prophecy that tells the tale of destiny, inviting an inspiring spirit of determination that spells success.

WASHINGTON GROWS GREAT WHEAT CROP

John Ault Tells of Tremendous Yields from Summer Fallow Fields

Despite the fact that nearly every one of them has a thousand acre tract farmers in the south end of Washington state are intensive rather than extensive agriculturists.

Mr. Ault says they grow wheat and practically nothing else in the section of Washington he visited, and they grow wheat notwithstanding it is a dry farming country.

The fact that nights are steadily hot suggested to a News man that the Walla Walla section would make a good corn belt.

WOMEN'S VOTE URGED BY HAYS

Republican National Chairman Appeals to Tennessee Legislators to Ratify

MARION, O. (AP)—Immediate ratification of the woman suffrage amendment in order to clear the political atmosphere and contribute to national stability was urged by Will H. Hays, the republican national chairman, in a telegram sent today to several republican members of the Tennessee legislature.

The message was framed after consultation with Senator Harding and was sent shortly before Mr. Hays' departure for Chicago.

"My deep interest in the ratification of the suffrage amendment," the message said, "induces me to presume to communicate again to you the resolutions passed by the national committee and by the executive committee almost earnestly urging the republican legislatures to ratify."

"I refrain from advancing the usual argument in behalf of suffrage. I leave entirely out of consideration the particular advantage or disadvantage which ratification might entail. I urge ratification, first in the hope of thereby clearing the political atmosphere; second, in the belief that the suppression of effective opinion works harm to the whole body politic; and finally in the conviction that we owe immediate action as a measure of simple justice to the American women."

FRANCE TAKES OVER BIG AMERICAN RADIO STATION

Most Powerful Plant in Existence, Built by Americans Near Bordeaux

PARIS, (AP)—The La Fayette wireless station near Bordeaux, designed and erected by American forces during the war has been turned over to the French government. It is the most powerful plant in existence with the range of the Annapolis installation.

The armistice found the station half completed and so the completion has been slow as the urgent need of it no longer existed. It is to be used as part of the comprehensive system planned by the French service for reaching all French colonial points by wireless.

Eight towers of structural steel, each within a very few feet of the Woolworth building in height are grouped in two rows of four to support antennae that cover an aerial surface of a mile long and a fourth of a mile wide. Each tower weighs 350 tons as compared with a weight of 2700 tons for the Eiffel tower in Paris which is only a fourth higher than the La Fayette structure.

The range of the station is more than 15,000 miles, halfway around the earth. Previously the largest French station was that at Lyons which works easily with New York, daily.

We are in the same boat with the farmers here. Who is rocking the boat? Twin Falls Creameries.—adv.
