RAIL OFFICIALS MEET WITH BUSINESS MEN

Question of General Reduction of Produce Tariff is Up in Pocatello

POCAHELLO, (Special)—More than 100 representative business men, farmers, livestock men and grain and produce growers of southern Idaho today were in conference in the commercial club rooms here to discuss the general freight rates of the Oregon Short Line, and F. W. Robinson of Omaha, general traffic manager of the Union Pacific system, presenting arguments in favor of a general reduction of freight rates on Idaho farm products in addition to hay on which a reduction has been granted.

Decisions in the case of grain and other products would be similarly taken in that of hay in which application for permission to reduce the rate was made by the railway company and approved by the interstate commerce commission.

John W. Graham, Twin Falls attorney and former member of the Idaho state utilities commission, was elected chairman of the meeting at this morning's session, and A. Y. Satterfield of Pocatello, secretary.

It is considered unlikely that a decision will be reached until late in the afternoon and the meeting may continue to tomorrow.

The motion was made by Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho.

Senator Nugent's appointment was the first presidential nomination to be confirmed by the senate during the present session and was a courtesy usually shown to a member of congress.

All other nominations sent in by the president have been held up without an executive session even for committee reference, but proposals for minor discussion for disposal of army, navy and a few other nominations.

GARMENT MAKERS CUT WAGE SCALE

Manufacturers' Association Announces Reductions Averaging 30 Per Cent

NEW YORK, (AP)—Wage reductions averaging 30 per cent under the union scale prevailing in the men's clothing industry since November, 1919, were announced today by the clothing manufacturers' association, which made its new piece work wage schedule.

Under the piece work rates, the announcement stated that the workers will average approximately $15 a week less than they received during the past year. Approximately 65,000 clothing workers in New York are affected. Nearly all those other are "out strikers" against the proposed piece work system or have been "locked out" by the manufacturers.

The Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, representing the union employers of the clothing industry and the manufacturers' association broke off relations several weeks ago. Picket lines have been established about many shops in the garment district here in an effort to persuade workers against accepting the piece work system.

THREE FIRES IN ONE DAY WORK OF INCENDIARY

Big Burn and Two Residences Burn in Rapid Succession in Pennsylvania City; Loss Exceeds $60,000

PATH OF FIRE FIGHTERS BARRED BY BARRICADES

FAYETTE CITY, Pa., (AP)—The first large fire has been reported in Fayette and West Moreland counties for almost two months, early today fired a big barn and two residences here. The loss exceeds $60,000. Total losses attributed to the fire bug to date exceed half a million dollars.

The barn, which belonged to Andrew Brown, a resident of the Fayette City National bank, was fired in four different places, and burned so rapidly that firemen were unable to save it or its contents.

Community is Aroused

An hour after the barn was burned, fire was discovered at the residence of George A. Stark, a mile away, but it was extinguished. Two hours later the residence of Fred Dreyer, former city councilman, situated on the main street, was fired. By that time the community was thoroughly aroused, and the fire was put out.

Operates in Troop Absence

Troopers of the state police who have been on guard here since the incendiary epidemic became pronounced were withdrawn for special duty by the city of Fayette on Saturday night, leaving Fayette City without special protection.

Taking advantage of the situation, the fire bug went to work. The road, which would be traversed by a fire company from Charlestown, the nearest available aid, was obstructed with piles of tar barrels and logs. Pulp mill barricades were erected and it was necessary for the Charlestown fire company on its way here to tear them away before they could proceed.

As in the case of the other incendiary fires, the authorities say they have no clues on which to work. Fayette county, recently offered $5000 reward for the arrest of the fire bug.

PRESIDENT CANNOT STOP WHEAT IMPORTS BUT CAN HALT FUTURES TRADING

Federal Trade Commission's Report, Requested by Wilson when Urged by Capper and Others, Sheds Little Light on Manipulations of Chicago Board of Trade and Suggests Consideration of Question by Congress if Regulatory Action is Employed

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The president is without power under existing law "to shut out wheat imports" but he "apparently has certain powers under the Lever act to stop future trading in wheat," the federal trade commission says in a special report to President Wilson, made public today at the White House.

The commission says that "while evidence is not available that future trading is responsible for the decline in wheat prices, it does not appear that future trading in wheat as at present operating, is of 'in dispensable service to the grain trade.' It suggests, however, that if regulatory action is to be employed, the question be considered by congress and that legislation 'not connected with war powers be enacted.'"

The commission tells the president that in this country by foreign government which has undertaken to regulate at home flour prices irrespective of the price of wheat, the commission declares that if these purchases are to continue, "the desirability of the United States meeting them through a selling organization should be carefully considered."

A commission's report is based upon an investigation of the wheat situation which the president requested it to make last October after Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, and others, had urged him to bar Canadian wheat imports and take such action as necessary to stabilize the rapidly declining wheat market.

Declaring the decline of wheat prices would appear to be "in part due to causes beyond the control of the commission," the commission assigns several specific causes: The outlook for an increased world supply; concentrated buying for foreign export; the spring and stock purchases later; "an unprecedented" importations from Canada following "an unprecedented yield and a discount in rate of exchange" in the United States; the slackening of demand for flour; the general tendency to decline in many commodities and the changing market conditions.

While the commission devotes considerable space to a discussion of trading in wheat futures, it asserts that it is not now expressing an opinion on this subject as it would give it "preferred treatment" in a forthcoming report.

"Future contracts may have a legitimate use in the wheat market," the commission says. "In this connection it is claimed that future trading performs an insurance function where ordinary insurance methods would not be practicable and where restriction of future trading such as would deprive the grain trader of this service might result in grain dealers requiring larger margins and consequently result either in a shortage of grain or in a glut."

Questions embargo Value.

Discussing the barring of Canadian wheat, the commission says "it is questionable whether such a proceeding would be effective in the long run, except because the United States and Canada both have surplus to export, and will meet each other in competition, with the United States having the advantage."

AMERICAN FLEET IN ADRIATIC WILL ACT AS SANTA CLAUS FOR OVER 2,000

Their arrival in Dalmatia the American fleet undertook the work of caring for them. Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commander of the American warships in the Adriatic, whose headquarters are here, received news of the plight of the refugees from the Olympia, his flagship, and immediately began the work of relief. He also telegraphed American Red Cross headquarters in Paris for help and received a telegraphic allotment of $20,000 francs.

The Olympia was then stationed at Rugum on the Adriatic, 35 miles northwest of Cattaro, into which place thousands of refugees were pouring. The Americans started the work of caring for the refugees by setting up kitchens to provide food. Baths and houses were also furnished.

The Russian children just landed in Dalmatia with their fathers and mothers who occupied the Bolshevik sweep in south Russia, suffered intolerable hardships on the voyage. They were packed in the ships so tightly as to be unable to move, with hundreds in the hold and on the deck and other supplies, including of sitting in virtually the same position for 20 days.

VOLUNTEERS IN GERMANY WENT INDUSTRIAL WAR

Organization of Trained Workers Takes Place of Strikers; Stepping into Breach when Chaos Threatens

ASSOCIATION IS CALLED GOVERNMENT'S BACKBONE

BERLIN, (AP)—The backbone of the German government today is the Technische Nothilfe, a technical emergency aid association, supported by the government. Dr. Alex Berwit, one of the leaders of that organization in Berlin told the correspondent of the Associated Press the other day. Dr. Berwit's statement was made as the "Alarm" went out for the Technische Nothilfe to mobilize to take charge of the electric lighting plants here, left idle by a sudden strike. The association is a union more potent than troops or police for the welfare of the country.

Only Effective Recourse.

"Two or three hundred irresponsible radicals here can terrorize 4,000,000 people," the doctor said. "Troops cannot prevent it. The streets are dark, the trams are still—and what can soldiers do? They cannot operate these plants, which require highly skilled labor. There is no other way of getting that can assume control and that is the Technische Nothilfe."

The Technische Nothilfe went in and began firing the machines and then the strikers voted to return to work. The Technische Nothilfe moved out.

"We are skilled workmen, not strike-breakers, nor labor union men; we really are the representatives of a public that in these days is more or less at the mercy of a few agitators," said Dr. Berwit.

"We never interfere in a strike for wages; all we do is step in and operate public utilities, prevent sabotage, and maintain order—just the bare necessities of a daily existence. We step into the breach when chaos threatens."

In Berlin it is understood the Technische Nothilfe has 10,000 men enrolled for immediate service. They are carefully recruited from every business and listed so that there can be no confusion. Arrangements have been made whereby they can drop the work they are doing and answer the Technische Nothilfe's call. "All Germany is as carefully organized as Berlin," Dr. Berwit declared.

In the case of disputes between employers and labor we have nothing to say. Wages demands may be exorbitant, or legitimate, we do not consider them. We merely see that people are not starved, that the production of public utilities, sabotage, is held to a minimum. The leaders of union labor are not opposed to us. They are, in fact, with us, for they realize that it is essential to the welfare of the nation to keep certain industries functioning. They are not always able to do that themselves.

Removes Strike Danger.

"There is no longer any great danger from a general strike anywhere in Germany," for minutes after the meeting you hear so much about it is not a general agitation; it's the howling of a few ultra-radicals, ready to do anything, spreading discontent wherever they can, working for the destruction of anything that is, and offering nothing worth while as a substitute.

INTERNATIONAL LANGUAGE ADVOCATES ENCOURAGED

Claim is Made that Esperanto Begins to Make Up Loss in Foreign Business During War

THE HAGUE, (AP)—Esperanto, the language which its advocates hoped to make a world-wide tongue, is now beginning to make up the loss in prestige it suffered in accordance to J. Labruker, president of the Dutch Esperanto society and one of the international committees charged by the "Universal Esperanto Assocn" to bring all Esperanto organizations under one general head.

The "Universal Esperanto Assocn" at its international convention in The Hague last August, voted to seek combination with the Central Office and other similar organizations, in an effort to make the 1921 convention, to be held at Prague, Czechoslovakia, the greatest gathering of international language enthusiasts in history.

"Although Esperanto suffered during the war, the language showed its usefulness in prison camps and hospitals," Labruker said. "Now it is making great headway, as it is taught in the public schools in Czechoslovakia, and to some extent in Spain, Italy and Holland. The Bohemian government will invite representatives of Esperanto in the world to attend our 1921 convention."

Labruker said the Moscow Pravda, official organ of the soviet government, reported that Esperanto was to be made an obligatory course in the Russian schools. The language, he said, had not made very much headway in the United States.

NEARING SOLUTION OF PEACE LEAGUE TANGLE

President-elect Enters on Second Week of Conferences with Confidence

MARION, O., (AP)—President-elect Harding began his second week of his consultations on foreign relations today with an air of growing confidence that he will realize his hope of an agreeable and practicable solution of the peace league tangle.

Although not revealing what details his conference have cleared up in his mind, he indicated that the plan for an international association gradually was assuming definite outline. A world court to decide disputes under international law is understood to be prominent in his consideration for a foundation of the new structure.

Although several notable men are expected here during Christmas week, most of the engagements have not been definitely fixed. The only name announced is that of former President Taft who will be here Thursday.

WEST VIRGINIA TOWN EXHIBITS MARKS OF WAR

Military Occupation and Modified Martial Law Have Little Effect on City in Center of Mine Strike Zone

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., (AP)—This thriving little city of some 7,000 persons, the political and business center of the great Mine county coal field where a strike of miners has been in progress since last July, presents, under military occupation, an appearance similar to that of many another town during the war.

Chicki, few becoming a novelty in most places, is so common in the Williamson district that miners and mountaineers no longer turn to look at the passing soldier, or stand to gaze on the sentry before Colonel Herman Hall's headquarters in the county courthouse. Here in Williamson where there has been no violence, the soldier carries his bayonet at his hip, but in the region around the town of Mingo, mining towns nearby, every sentry paces his beat with bayonet fixed.

Guard Mount Gets Audience.

Military occupation and modified martial law, made necessary by the disorders of the past few months, have little effect on Williamson. The people go about their ordinary tasks as usual, viewing the soldiers with indifference, except at guard mount which never fails to attract an appreciative audience, willing and anxious to express its approval of the nation's fighting men.

Merchandise and banking interests unite in the expression that the use of federal troops at this time is a mighty good thing, if for no other reason than that they give a sense of security for every side to the industrial controversy. Immediately upon their arrival, the provisional battalion from Camp Sherman took up the task of cleaning the city of the physical and moral defects. First they gave the court house a thorough overhauling, and then turned their attention to the buildings taken over for quarters. Then they went after the streets, and about the same time took up the moral question. Undesirables were notified that they could no longer remain in the city, both tasks being done directly by the civil authorities but under the directing eye of the soldiers.

Troops Restore Order

In the outlying mining districts where there has been more or less disorder since the strike was called, conditions are also reported as much improved. Strong detachments of soldiers have been sent to a number of points, and their presence has been marked by almost perfect order.

An interesting feature of the situation which the military was compelled to use was the disarming of those residents who insisted on carrying pistols in violation of the West Virginia pistol "totin'" law. This was solved by sending deputy sheriffs into the districts where it was known large numbers of men were armed. Each deputy being accompanied by a soldier. The deputy confiscated the weapons, but the soldier was right with him to see the surrender was peacefully made. Hundreds of pistols, rifles and shotguns were obtained.

BORAH'S NAVAL LIMIT PROPOSAL SUITS JAPANESE

Comment Generally Favorable but Exception is Made to Nippon's Present Program as Legitimate One

TOKIO, (AP)—The Japanese press is manifesting great interest in the proposal of Senator Borah of Idaho for a tripartite naval agreement under which the United States, Great Britain and Japan would pledge themselves to limitation of naval armaments. In general, the newspapers favor the idea, but regard Japan's present program as a legitimate one.

In expressing strong approval of the Borah proposal, the Matshiji Shinbun of Osaka, compares Japan's yearly expenditure of 10,000,000 yen for naval salaries with the 500,000,000 yen naval expenditure. It declares the present rate of expenditure for the navy is suicidal and that it is the duty of statesmanship to remove the causes which necessitate such large armaments.

The Jiji Shimpu of Tokio expresses the hope that the senate will pass the Borah resolution as a means of relieving the world from a fresh outbreak of rivalry in armaments. Japan's eight battleships and eight battle cruiser programs is not a menace to peace, this newspaper insists, but America's intention to have the first navy in the world, it says, will lead to a new race in naval enlargement.

The Nichi Nichi Shinbun holds that Japan's geographical and international position does not permit her to indulge in disarmament, but that eventually the world situation will necessitate a naval agreement. If the United States reduces her armaments the others will follow, says this journal, and it argues that the responsibility for disarmament rests upon America.

UNDERGROUND WATER MAY RESTORE "GHOST CITIES"

Engineers Work on Project for Reclamation of Nevada Deserts

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, (AP)—Underground waters, brought to the surface for irrigation purposes, soon may restore life to the "ghost cities" of Nevada, which have been practically deserted since their gold was taken from them. Already government engineers are surveying land expected to become part of a big irrigation project on the Amargosa desert, not far from Bullfrog, Bantley, Rhyolite and Gold Center, all one time famed western mining camps.

Because these towns were not far from Death Valley, the land surrounding them was thought to be desert soil worthless for agriculture and fit only for cactus and horned toads. In the gold days, "desert rats" carried water for miles on the backs of their burros to supply their claims. Now it develops that these hardy men were treading only a few feet above a strong flow of water.

G. D. D. Kirkpatrick, assistant supervisor of government surveys for Utah and Nevada, reports that two survey crews have started work on two tunnels along the California-Nevada line with orders to survey 40,000 acres. Underground waters have been discovered on miles on the backs of their burros to supply their claims. Now it develops that these hardy men were treading only a few feet above a strong flow of water.

Big crops will grow in the sub-tropical Nevada climate if the water can be brought to the soil, engineers have reported. Later the land may be opened for entry, according to present plans.

The Amargosa desert is not the only portion of southern Nevada that may bloom. The Big Smokey valley, north of Tonopah, may in the near future bring to the big silver camp a new population of farmers. The presence of underground water in this valley has been demonstrated, and it is only a question of a short time when it will be developed, according to Mr. Kirkpatrick. The survey work will go forward in southern Nevada all winter.

GERMAN WOMEN WOULD NOT GIVE UP MILK COWS

Declare Surrender Would Result in Weakening Public Stamina and Reduce Ability to Fulfill Treaty

BERLIN, (AP)—Surrender to the allies of 800,000 milk cows, which have been demanded under the terms of the Versailles treaty, would have disastrous results in Germany, says a letter to the women of France from a committee of German women. Continued deprivation of the German people of the milk supply represented by these cows would result in weakening public stamina and individual resistance and, therefore, operate to reduce the ability of Germany to fulfill treaty obligations through necessary production, it is said.

"As women are defenders of the rights of children," the letter declares, "we embrace with equal sympathy suffering children of all nations. Our sympathy goes out in fullest measure to children in the devastated regions in France, where it appears to us to be urgent that help should be granted as speedily as possible. On the other hand, we see the need of every part of Germany is so great that further reduction in the milk supply would be equivalent to the death sentence for hundreds of thousands of children. Instead of the twenty billion liters of milk which Germany produced annually in peace times, the country is now producing only 8,800,000,000."

In nearly six years the population of German cities and towns, the letter asserts, and, owing to this fact, the death rate from tuberculosis has doubled since 1913, and 38,000 more children died in 1918 than in 1913. In Prussia alone there has been an increase in child mortality of 100 per cent. The letter declares these facts are not known to the French because the press has not permitted the information to be made public. "The whole question is not one of German good will," the letter says, but of life and death struggle for German parents, and the French women are asked to realize "it is not the right way to save children of one country by destroying those of another."

The letter was framed by a committee of 25 women deputies representing the bourgeois and majority socialist parties in the Reichstag and was in reply to an open letter addressed to them by the Women Suffragist Union of France, discussing the German protest against the surrender of German milk cows.

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—The Utah-Apex mine, one of the largest local producers of the state, closed Saturday, throwing 200 men out of work. # TWO-PART LEGISLATIVE SESSION IS UNDER FIRE

Opponents of California System Declare No Benefit Results

SACRAMENTO, Cal., (AP)—Preparations are being made at the state capitol here for the forty-fourth biennial session of the California legislature which will convene Monday, January 3.

This will be the fifth legislative meeting in accordance with a constitutional amendment adopted October 10, 1911, and providing for a divided session. The first sitting of the legislature cannot exceed 30 days. This is followed by a recess of not less than 30 days. Upon reconvening, the legislature continues in session until their work is completed. Usually this requires about two months, adjournment sine die being taken the latter part of April.

There has been some talk during the last two sessions of abolishing the recess arrangement and reverting to the plan under which one continuous session was held. The present plan was adopted on the theory that better legislation can be obtained if, at the end of 30 days a recess is taken, enabling the legislators to return home to confer with their constituents and thoroughly to consider bills before taking final action.

Opponents of the two-part session believe it has brought no practical benefit, and that it has served only to lengthen the period over which the legislature extends and to increase expense.

During the first part of the session final action may be taken only on urgency measures for preservation of the public peace, health or safety. Two-thirds majority is required for passing of such measures. Virtually all legislation is proposed during the initial sitting, however, the constitution providing that "on reconvening of the legislature no bill shall be introduced in either house but which had not been introduced in the other house, nor shall more than two bills be introduced by any one member after such reconvening."

A move was started at the opening of the 1919 session to hold down the number of measures introduced. As a result the number of 1921 was lower than the total at any of the seven previous legislatures. In 1917 there were 286 bills, resolutions and amendments placed before the legislature. Two years ago 276 bills were passed, compared with 1633 in 1917.

CHRISTMAS IN WALL STREET TO BE CURBED

Worldwide Reaction in Finance, Industry and General Trade Likely to Be Reflected in Holiday Gifts

NEW YORK, (AP)—Christmas in the financial district this year, judged by surface conditions will lack the spontaneous and profligate spirit which made memorable the holiday seasons of the three preceding years.

This change is directly traceable to the worldwide reaction in finance, industry and general trade, a fact, which has been brought home to Wall street with increasing emphasis during the past few months.

For the most part, the banks, trust companies and other financial institutions have had a prosperous year.

Several prominent banks have announced bonuses ranging from 15 to 25 per cent of yearly salaries. In several instances Christmas gifts are expected to amount to 50 per cent of the year's pay, accompanied by an increase of salary for the coming year. Stock exchange firms and commission houses are not expected to be so liberal as in the past. There will be generous distributions, however, by all the exchanges to their employes.

BERLIN'S CHRISTMAS TRADE LEAVES STOCKS ON SHELVES

BERLIN, (AP)—The Christmas trade in Berlin, which once was greater than at any season during the year up to the present time has left huge stores of toys and other articles virtually intact on the shelves, according to the managers of the city's largest department stores. The manager of the toy department in one store said:

"Only the rich can afford our wares this year. Here is a rocking horse for 600 marks which sold before the war for 60 marks. It would cost a workman nearly six months' salary. Toy animals sell from 50 pfennings up to 10,000 marks, but very few persons are buying them. The people are hesitating over spending one mark on something that is useless. They are saving their money for food and for clothes."

PARIS, (AP)—The French foreign office received advice Saturday stating that the Turkish nationalists were concentrating all available troops in the Smyrna region for an extensive attack against the Greeks.

At the same time, it is reported the anti-Constantinists in Constantinople and elsewhere are making efforts to have Smyrna, Thrace and the other districts acquired under the peace treaty cede to Greece.

DIVERS HOIST BRITISH FLAG ON SUNKEN VESSEL

One Raises Colors to Submerged Flagstaff While Mate Rings National Anthem

VICTORIA, B. C., (AP)—Great Britain's flag has been raised under many unusual circumstances, but probably conditions never were stranger than those recently at Swanson Bay, north of here, when two divers, nearly 100 feet below the surface of the sea, hoisted the ship's ensign on the flagstaff of the sunken steamer Prince Rupert, now being salvaged.

One diver, finding colors in a box at the foot of the flagstaff, bent them to the halyards and slowly hoisted them while his mate stood at salute and sang "God Save the King," the national anthem. The diver's tender, working on the surface, heard the song through the telephone to the man's headpiece. Marine men have remarked that many fine ships have gone down with the British colors flying, but the Prince Rupert probably will be the first to come to the surface with the flag at its masthead.

ATHENS GIVES RETURNING KING WARM WELCOME

Arrival of Constantine is Marked by Thunder of Cannon, Hum of Circling Airplanes and Roaring Cheers

ALLIED WARSHIPS QUIT PORT TO AVOID TROUBLE

PARIS. (AP)—Allied warships which had been in the harbor of Piraeus, the port of Athens, left prior to the arrival of Constantine on board the Greek cruiser Overoff yesterday so as to avoid paying honors to the returning monarch, says an Athens dispatch.

ATHENS. (AP)—Amid the thunder of cannon and the roaring cheers of a great throng, Constantine of Greece entered Athens yesterday. His arrival was compared by his admirers to Napoleon's return from Elba and tears of joy were seen flowing down the cheeks of people swarming near his carriage. Immediately after alighting from the railway train, Constantine drove to the cathedral, where a magnificent service was given, all the bishops in Athens participating.

No Foreign Minister Present. It was noticeable that no foreign ministers were present during the welcoming ceremonies. The arrival of Constantine was not marked by any incidents.

The approach of the royal train was signalled by the arrival at the tiny terminus of the railway near Piraeus. In the cortege of three royal carriages which stopped in front of the station at 11 o'clock, the king's carriage was drawn by six black geldings driven by uniformed attendants and was draped in royal purple. In the throng were villagers, wearing the national costume of white skirt, red cap and black stockings, dark laborers and city dwellers and a detachment of Prussian blue jackets was in evidence. Cabinet members arrived just before the train pulled into the station and were followed by Queen Sophia, Olga and Prince and Princess Christopher.

Displays Deep Feeling. When Constantine emerged from his railway carriage he bowed salutations to the crowd, and tears were seen in his eyes as he said to those near him: "I feel as if I were returning to my Queen Mother Olga and shook hands with Princess Christopher, and then was escorted to his carriage in which he was taken to the cathedral where Constantine read his address from the balcony of the old palace in the presence of 5000 persons. He was dressed in a marshal's uniform and Princess Rhalhis stood at his right, Prince Sophie and Princess Christopher also were present.

Announces Policy. He declared he would establish internal unity and exterior peace by using the army to cultivate good relations with the allies. He said the marriage of Prince George, Duke of Sparta, and Princess Elizabeth of Rumania insured an alliance with that country, and he declared he would follow the policy of his fathers and cultivate ancient Greek culture. Constantine asserted he suffered deeply during his exile. He referred to the late King Alexander as one "who had done his duty."

The merchant steamer bringing correspondents from Venice has not yet arrived at Piraeus.

Scene is Touching. The spectacle of the king reading his address was witnessed from the balconies by the members of the diplomatic corps. The scene was a moving one.

On the palace balcony, amid the royal family group, the tall figure of the king stood out above the rest and in his new attire he looked like a veritable monarch of the olden times. As he read his message his voice mingled and at times it was hardly audible to the crowd, which stood with heads uncovered.

The royal party itself was much affected, and tears were seen by some of them, notably Prince George and Princess Helen. Queen Sophia, however, and Princess Anastasia, remained dry-eyed, and the princess was observed interestingly watching the throng.

Later, the royal family had luncheon at the king's palace, and then the cabinet ministers revisited the king. Meanwhile, streams of people, mostly of the working population passed outside, carrying literally tons of flowers and olive and evergreen branches and singing the national anthem.

Hyperstria is Fast. The fit of hysteria which have characterized analogies of the people during recent weeks were not in evidence and a serene spirit prevailed.

At night the celebration continued, with thousands of houses and high buildings lighted up and huge pictures of the king and queen displayed, while a colored searchlight played on the Acropolis. From the Lykabettos, the commanding hill to northward, there came there, flamed from an immense electric construction the words "Long Live the King!"

NORWEGIAN SHIP OWNERS TROUBLED BY U. S. LAW

Complain Against Clause in Seaman's Act Making it Impossible to Arrest Desertors

CHRISTIANIA. (AP)—The clause in the American seaman's act making it impossible in American ports to arrest sailors deserting their vessels, has been taken advantage of by Norwegian sailors. Shipowners say the sailors desert from Norwegian vessels at American ports and sign on other Norwegian boats at American wages, thus netting a good profit at the present rate of exchange.

This practice has caused shipowners so much trouble that the Norwegian shipping union, notably the Falmak firm and shipowners against hiring deserters in American ports. Several Norwegian shipowners require the crews on vessels bound for America to sign bonds as security against desertion.

for Tuesday, in order to pass it if possible, before the Christmas recess.

Opposition Develops. Opposition to the legislation, however, was developing today on several sides. Representatives from the manufacturing districts expressed their dissatisfaction with the bill because it did not include enough manufactured articles. Traditional opposition to any high tariff still held among some of the domestic agricultural interests.

Representatives from farming districts were attempting to gain bipartisan support for the measure today at a conference of those members at which will be submitted recommendations for the informal arguments to support the Fordney measure the Young-Tincher bill to use $100,000,000 of the profits of the federal reserve banks in loans to livestock men, and resolution to revise the war finance corporation.

Pledge Support. Representatives in the house from the agricultural districts pledged their support to the measure. The Young-Tincher bill had instructed a committee to urge that frozen and refrigerated beef, mutton and canned salmon be in uniform with other commodities which high tariffs would be imposed.

Action by the conference of members from the agricultural districts came only after spirited discussion during which the Young-Tincher committee had drafted a make-shift bill and that certain commodities had been included or omitted from the high tariff list as a sop to the fiercest classes of voters.

Young is Skeptical. Representative Young, republican of North Dakota, a member of the war and means committee, who was chairman of the conference committee which drafted the report, told the conference that he saw no hope for favorable action by the ways and means committee on the recommendations of the conference.

He urged members to hide their time and to drive for protection for the other articles when a permanent tariff was taken up.

Representative Graham, republican, Illinois, pressed for inclusion of frozen refrigerated eggs which he brought from Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, the assertion that these products were omitted "as a sop to the millions of city consumers whose votes are wanted."

Easterners Stand Out. Representative Young said eastern members of the committee had stood out against a tariff on lamb and mutton and that they agreed finally to include these articles under the argument that they could explain to their constituents that frozen meats were not forced to come in under a duty.

He said the feeling was that failure to place a duty on frozen and refrigerated meats would keep down to some extent, at least, an increase in the cost of living.

Representative Baker, democrat, of Nebraska, said that egg products included in the list of articles to be protected, but no action was taken.

lower prices to the farmer or higher prices to the consumer.

Would Stop Gambling. Without now expressing an opinion on this subject it appears that there is a large volume of future trading that is mere gambling, and involves a great economic waste, the remedy for this lies in congressional action to prevent trading which is essentially gambling.

A limitation of the volume of open speculative trades in wheat, similar to the limitations placed on corn speculation during the period of government control would probably tend to reduce the possibility of manipulative trading.

Today's Markets

New York Market. NEW YORK. (AP)—New low records were made by a number of speculative issues in the course of today's reactionary stock market session, but the standard issues were only moderately affected. Sales approximated 900,000 shares.

Traders evidently found little cause for encouragement in news advices over the week end and continued to sell stocks at the active opening of today's session. Oil and sugar shares were the weakest, excepting Mexican Petroleum, which scored an initial gain of 1 1/4 points.

Equipments, motor specialties, oilfield and oilfield notably Pullman, Rock Maguato, American Woodmen and People's Gas, increased last week's losses. Creels, Lackawanna and United States Steels were fractionally better, but falls reacted, New York Central being the only prominent issue to display a degree of strength.

Sugars, coppers and chemicals, also secondary issues were under renewed pressure in the last hour and representative issues cancelled most of their rally. The closing was heavy.

Liberty Bonds. NEW YORK. (AP)—Liberty bonds closed: 3 1/2's $89.90; first 4's $89.80; second 4's $89.40 bid; first 4 1/4's $89; second 4 1/4's $88.10; third 4 1/4's $88.40; fourth 4 1/4's $88.80; Victory 3 3/4's $91.94; Victory 4 3/4's $94.90.

Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO. (AP)—Traders pressed the selling side of the wheat market today owing to a bank failure in London. The fact that the British made no wheat purchases over the week-end counted also as a bearish factor. On the other hand, bulls put emphasis on reports that rural holders southwest continued to minimize sales.

Subsequently, a liberal reduction in the visible supply total helped to bring about a rally. The close was firm, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2-cents higher, with March $1.61 1/4 to 1 1/4 to 1 1/4 and May $1.61 to 1 1/4.

Scarcity demand made the corn market a volatile firm. After opening at 1 1/4-cents to 1 1/2-cents, including May at 72 1/2 to 73c, the market hardened all around, and then reacted somewhat.

Offerings were small, and there was persistent buying, especially on the part of a large elevator interest. The close was firm, 3/4 to 1 1/4-cents higher, with May 73 7/8 to 74c.

Ons reflected the strength of corn, selling unchanged to a slight advance, with March $1.03 to $1.04 1/2 and May $1.18 to $1.19, were followed by a material setback all around.

Subsequently, a liberal reduction in the visible supply total helped to bring about a rally. The close was firm, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2-cents higher, with March $1.61 1/4 to 1 1/4 to 1 1/4 and May $1.61 to 1 1/4.

Weakness in the hog market tended to weigh down provisions. Cash Quotations. CHICAGO. (AP)—Wheat No. 2 red $2; No. 2 hard $1.75 1/2 to 1.75 3/4.

Chicago Livestock. CHICAGO. (AP)—Cattle: Receipts 18,000; very little doing early; some she-stock to outsiders strong to 25c higher; porkers bidding steady; bulls weak; other classes mostly steady; big dining around $8.50 on good vendors about 50c lower; best steers in liberal proportion.

LAWYERS FIGHT IN COURT, ONE IS PENALIZED

Turner K. Hackman Aggressor in Scrap with Asher B. Wilson—Fine is Paid

Turner K. Hackman, attorney-at-law, was fined $25 for contempt of court this morning. Mr. Hackman, at the conclusion of a case which he lost in the probate court, struck the opposing counsel, Asher B. Wilson. Judge O. P. Duval imposed the penalty and collected the fine.

The attorneys' exemplification grew out of an action brought in the probate court by certain Mexican laborers against John G. DeKlotz, a farmer, to recover wages due for work on the DeKlotz place. It was shown that money was owing to De Klotz, from the Amalgamated Sugar company, and this was attached, the court recognizing the lien of the laborers. To collect this money, Attorney Wilson, representing the company, was cited into the probate court today. The citation was considered irregular by the court and the case lost to Mr. Hackman.

During the hearing much caustic remark passed across the table at which the attorneys were seated and Mr. Hackman was cautioned on one or two occasions. After the court pronounced its finding an oral conference developed into a fisty process. Mr. Hackman striking Mr. Wilson, the latter retaliating in kind as a measure of self-defense.

IT'S IN THE AIR

This weather is hard on the chronic coughers. Oh, no, not the fact of the sunshine, or the snow, or even the gentle rain, all of which, we are just discovering, really have much to recommend them. It's the time of year, you know—the short days and the long nights. It's the mysterious slip whippers, the conversations that stop so abruptly when certain persons appear.

It's the laughter we hear, now more than ever, on the streets, in the living room, at the bench, the desk, the barnyard. It's the wistful look kids have. The unsuccessful attempts they make to read the countenances of their parents. What scolding old grump can escape it!

You may have the rheumatism, the wheat may lie on your hands with no market. Uncle Henry may have died and left you not a penny, but somehow about this time of year you can't help being happy.

The entire nation becomes infected with this curious seasonal malady. And they do say it's just as prevalent in foreign countries, too. For a fellow to escape it, he'd have to go way out on the prairie or up in the mountains, dig his grave and then lie in it. And then the chances are someone would come along and wish him the compliments of the season.

So it's no use, old bears, cross-patchers, frowners and mean folk. You've just got to smile from now on until Christmas. It's in the air. Merry Christmas! Say it with joy! Maybe a little of the gladness will stick in your soul through the year.

KEEPING WELL

Man was made to live outdoors. Nature did not invent bare barns, stone heated apartment houses and factory buildings. Man designed those things, and man must make the best of them. But let's not overlook the necessity of getting as much good, clean, wholesome fresh air in our system as we can.

The disease most common from unwholesome air are influenza, pneumonia, bronchitis, diphtheria and tuberculosis. And colds. Colds are the most prevalent ailment and the most easily avoided. It isn't the cold wintry air that gives you a cold, it's your clumsy efforts to dodge it, the doctors say. Those other diseases usually grow out of colds. It is because we allow the germs to be introduced into our noses, mouths, throats and lungs, and then don't get enough good air to kill them.

Employees of the United States pension bureau in Washington lost 18,730 working days a year through illness. A ventilating system was put in the building, and the days lost were cut down to 10,114 a year. Five hundred employees of a New York factory did the work it had taken 600 to perform after fresh air was introduced as a factor in efficiency.

Maybe those figures don't mean much to you. What does mean a great deal, however, is your own health, and that of your family. Guard it. It is easy. It merely means that you should sleep with a window open every night—even the coldest nights. You should have some air circulating in the room wherever you are, and as soon as you go outdoors you should not hunch down into your coat or furs, but throw up your head, take a deep breath of the crisp, fresh air, and put disease to flight.

THE SOCIALIST VOTE

The vote for Eugene V. Debs, socialist candidate for president, approximated 950,000. This is computed from official and unofficial returns. The figures must be discouraging to socialists and correspondingly gratifying to Americans concerned for orderly processes of government. In 1912 Debs got 901,873. Four years ago the socialist candidate pulled 808,873. Obviously socialism is not increasing in the United States, for we must credit a considerable percentage of the Debs vote this year to women. Altogether the returns are gratifying as showing that we are in no danger from the spread of socialism.

BUREAU WOULD GIVE ESTIMATE FOR LIVESTOCK

Director, in Annual Report, Makes Plea for Enlargement of Program to Meet Growing Demand

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A plea for enlarged program of the bureau of crop estimates of the department of agriculture to respond to the growing demands for its services in giving the essential facts of production and supply of crops and livestock, is contained in the annual report Friday of Dr. Leon M. Estabrook, chief of the bureau.

Needs $500,000 More
The program, Dr. Estabrook said, involves supplying information with regard to livestock, an industry representing a farm value of more than $10,000,000,000; dairy and poultry production, which have an estimated annual value of more than $3,000,000,000, and the reporting of other crops having an annual value of $17,000,000,000. To put this program into effect an increased appropriation of $500,000 annually is necessary, Dr. Estabrook said. Last year's appropriation for the bureau amounted to $371,102.

A telling message of the country from month to month during the crop growing season what the ultimate harvest of each crop will be the bureau of crop estimates utilizes the services of herded last year 219,851 and of which about 200,000 volunteer their services. The accuracy of their forecasts has been found to be remarkably close to actual production, the report said. Cattle production has been under-estimated 1.5 per cent, the average for the last twenty years shows. In seven of those years the crop was over-estimated, once to the extent of 5.1 per cent, once 3.7 per cent and the other five times less than one per cent.

Where Reductions Hit

Reduced appropriations caused a discontinuance of special service for fruit, truck, potato, tobacco, rice and cotton crops which have an annual value in excess of $4,500,000,000.
A large number of voluntary crop reporters entered the military service but those who remained on the farm, notwithstanding the scarcity of farm labor and the enormous crops to be handled, displayed a commendable spirit in keeping the number of reports up to the point where accuracy was assured in the estimates, Dr. Estabrook said.

Exerts Influence Resembling Hypnotism Over Followers; Cheers and Flowers for "Commander" on Armistice Day

ROME, (AP)—A striking demonstration of the devotion of d'Annunzio's troops to their leader was given here on the occasion of the celebration of the second anniversary of the victory of Italian arms in the war. The poet "commander" as everyone calls d'Annunzio here, occupied a box in the Futura theater where the celebration was held. His arrival was heralded by a bugle call and his appearance was a signal for a thunderstorm of applause and cries of "Viva il Comandante."

Bugles Herald Coming
When two others had addressed the Futurians who crowded the theater, and the other bugles made everyone turn to the box where d'Annunzio stood in the uniform of an Italian cavalry officer. It would be a hopeless task to attempt to give a pale idea of the enthusiasm of the crowd. Every one rose to his feet and the theater resounded with the d'Annunzio cry of "Eja, Eja, Alala," from thousands of throats while flowers rained upon d'Annunzio from all sides.

Though his proclamations usually are written in a poetical and somewhat bombastic style, his speech consisted of the simplest words. He declared that Fiume alone really celebrated the Italian victory while Rome celebrated the "annihilation of victory." He asked his men to keep ready as, sooner than was generally expected he would take them to Rome with him. At these words the enthusiasm was renewed, the people waved handkerchiefs, hats, sticks and weapons in the air and cries of "To Rome, to Rome, Eja Eja, Alala, Rome, Rome," while the bombardment of flowers was redoubled.

Demonstrations at Exit

d'Annunzio's exit from the theater was the occasion for fresh demonstrations of loyalty. His motor car was surrounded by the crowd and obliged to proceed at a foot pace while his men fought among themselves to approach and touch him. He was escorted all the way back to his residence by an admiring multitude under a continuous fire of flowers and amid cheers for him, for Italy, Fiume and d'Annunzio.

d'Annunzio seems to radiate magnetism. He has worked his men up to such a pitch of patriotic fervor and devotion to himself that he seems to have them almost hypnotized.

DEAR OLD PETE:
Winston-Salem, N. C. Friday p. m.
Just wound up the one swellest day of my life! Since early this morning, when I got an invitation to visit R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. factories, I've been in the midst of millions of Camel cigarettes.
Man—the happiest idea you or I ever had as to the size of this Reynolds enterprise, or the number of Camels manufactured daily, is simply piker-stuff! Wipe off the slate and start fresh! Why, Pete, it seemed to me like a couple of these cigarette-making machines could keep half the nation smoking Camels steadily—BUT—honest to goodness, there are hundreds of these machines bating out Camels at the rate of 27,000 an hour—EACH!
Pete, you wouldn't have to consult a guide book to know you were in the Camel factories! The atmosphere is charged with that wonderful aroma you get when you open up a deck of Camels! And, you know, old elephant—you've had a trunk full!
As the Camels dropped into the containers I figured the delight each one would supply! And, how Camels mellow, mild body would hit the right spot and how Camels refreshing flavor would cheer up some smoker's jaded appetite! And, each Camel free from any unpleasant cigarette aftertaste or unpleasant cigarety odor!
Pete—I'll have to lay off and light another Camel! Write you some more soon.
Yours joyously

BLUE IS TENDERED CONTRACT FOR PERIOD OF THREE YEARS

Superintendent is Re-elected to Position but will Probably Decline — Official Expects to Enter Eastern University Next Year for Advanced Course of Study—Compliment to His Achievements

A new contract, covering a term of three years as superintendent of the Twin Falls city schools, has been tendered Hal G. Blue, incumbent. The tender was made at a recent meeting of the school board of independent district No. 1, after Mr. Blue had been unanimously re-elected to the position. While Mr. Blue has as yet taken no formal action toward the contract, it is understood he will decline within a short time to accept. Mr. Blue made announcement some time ago that he would leave Twin Falls at the end of the present school year to take up advanced studies in either the Chicago or Columbia universities.

Tribute to Superintendent.

Re-election and the tender of the contract can be regarded only as a compliment of the highest degree, and a tribute to the capabilities of the official now at the head of the public schools of Twin Falls.

Hal G. Blue came to Twin Falls seven years ago to take the position of superintendent of schools. During his term of office the Washington grade school has been built and the new intermediate school building is rapidly nearing completion. The former structure cost $40,000 and the latter $230,000. The standards have been raised very materially, in attention of which fact stands out the honors being won by graduates of the Twin Falls high school in colleges and universities where they have enrolled.

Seven Years of Achievement.

Seven years ago the Twin Falls schools had an enrollment of 1800. This year the attendance is 3100. There were 5 teachers when Mr. Blue came here, now the number is 110. The high school had an attendance of 325 when Mr. Blue took the reins; at present the enrollment is 700. In all departments of scholastic activity the standard has been steadily and noticeably raised, and with the raising of standards progress of the schools has been materially marked.

When Mr. Blue came to Twin Falls in 1913 he found a more or less chaotic state of school administration. Grad buildings where then presided over by supervising principals. A scheme was immediately worked out whereby a supervisor with jurisdiction over all the elementary grades was employed, thus leaving the principals to direct attention only to the administrative end of the buildings. The one person now supervises all three grade buildings. In addition vocational work of the schools has been materially advanced. This department includes agriculture, mechanics, arts, household economics and commerce.

Last summer Mr. Blue offered courses in school administration at the state university and a year ago gave the same work in the summer normal of the Idaho Technical Institute at Pocatello. Locally Mr. Blue is a member of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, president of the Twin Falls Rotary club, member of the board of directors of the public library and also treasurer of the Associated Charities and has charge of the Men's class of the Methodist church.

Regards Expressed.

Speaking with respect to the situation with regard to himself in connection with the local school work, Mr. Blue this morning made the following statement: "While I have been very happy in the work here and have had an opportunity to do some constructive work in education I feel that for my personal interests I should endeavor to broaden out and get into a larger field. The community has been very kind and helpful in every way, and I leave with keen regret."

With reference to Mr. Blue, W. E. Nixon, of the school board, declared today that although announcement had been made that the superintendent proposed to sever connection with the schools at the end of this year, the board had entertained high hopes that he would change his mind and remain here.

"The board is extremely sorry to lose Mr. Blue, and we would go the limit to retain him," said Mr. Nixon. "We feel that Twin Falls is losing a most efficient administrator of matters educational, and it is with the profoundest regret that we view his contemplated leaving. The board is assured that it will be the hardest of tasks to find a man to take Mr. Blue's place. We wish we could make him see that it is to everybody's advantage for him to stay. Perhaps we may yet be able to make him see this."

TAXPAYERS DISCUSS MANY CIVIC MATTERS

Installation of Water Meters, with Other Moot Questions Considered

A "ferment the government" convention was held in Parish hall Saturday night, and the hall was pretty well filled. The convener was billed as a "tax payers' meeting," and many a moot question was debated during the proceedings, mostly from one angle. Water meter installation, administration of municipal affairs, drilling of deep wells for pure water supply and kindred topics were considered at greater or lesser length. The meeting wound up with instructions to H. R. Low, chairman, to select a committee to investigate conditions at the filtration plant. Mr. Low selected the following committee, with himself as chairman. These are to examine the water supply, drilling and report at the next meeting: C. E. Bissell, William Slack, L. A. Warner, S. L. Patullo, J. A. Crom, L. S. Hansen, M. J. Sweeley, L. L. Allen and E. P. Watson.

The primary motive of the session was to discuss the city administration's plan for measuring water to the user and payment of the installation of these devices. The arguments against the plan were many and varied. L. A. Warner explained he had been told by a master plumber that the meters could be installed for $2.50 each, instead of a higher rate said to cost the city of a force account operation. Turner K. Hackman, lawyer, said the city had no legal right to put in meters. Following instructions to H. R. Low, Hackman had some caustic things to say of the administration collectively. It was M. J. Sweeley who recommended a thorough investigation of the filtration plant from operative and economy, and health angles. Mr. Hansen expressed the hope that if any misappropriation were found to have been committed in water measuring devices, the person or persons responsible should be punished. John W. Graham, speaking the only comforting word for the administration stated the belief that meters were necessary in Twin Falls to prevent wasteful waste of supply, and this was undoubtedly the basic reason for the action of the city in ordering the installation of water measuring devices. He explained in emphatic terms that unless there is economy practiced by the consumers of city water the filtration plant will have to be enlarged at a much greater cost than that of meters. Dr. E. R. Van Cott recommended the drilling of deep wells as a means of procuring a ample supply of pure water.

HAL G. BLUE

Superintendent Blue has been offered a three-year term as head of the Twin Falls public schools. This offer he expects to decline to take advanced University work.

SPECIAL SERVICE IS GIVEN FOR STUDENTS

Pullman Coaches Provided from Moscow for Holiday Trip Home

A large proportion of Twin Falls students attending the state university returned Saturday afternoon for the holiday season. The party arrived on the regular train westbound at 4:45 o'clock, and its members quickly dispersed for their homes. All will be ready to return immediately after the New Year holiday season is done.

For the accommodation of students at the state educational institution who desired to take advantage of the holiday opportunity to spend a vacation with parents and other relatives, the Union Pacific railroad system, which includes the Oregon Short Line, provided a train of five coaches out of Moscow. Of these five coaches through to Twin Falls, one was dropped at Nampa, two at Boise, and another was carried on east from Minidoka. The service provided by the rail lines is reported excellent and many words of praise have been given the railroad companies for the extraordinary accommodations.

The special service provided at this holiday season results indirectly from the activities of George D. Aiken, of Twin Falls, who last fall obtained a special Pullman for the Twin Falls student delegation to Moscow. It is expected similar accommodations will be provided when the students are ready to return to their studies.

Xmas Weather Here Slightly Ahead of Time

IT'S Christmas weather now, all right, but the burning question is whether it will remain so.

The authority who functions as official weather-maker for this district and community, announces fair but colder weather Tuesday. Yesterday's high temperature was 42, with 21 low last night. This is a slight change from Saturday when the top was 42 and the low 21. There was a trace of precipitation yesterday.
