GERMAN CLAIMS UNREADINESS TO RESUME PARLEYS

Advices French Government of Disinclination to Re-enter Reparations Conference Set for January 10 at Brussels

INDUSTRIAL CONFLICT IS THREATENED AGAIN

PARIS, (P) The allied premier will meet in Paris January 10 to discuss the subject of German reparations. The French government has accepted the British suggestion that the meeting be held on this date in Paris.

PARIS, (P) The French government today received notice that the German delegation was not ready to resume the reparations conference at Brussels on January 10, as had been agreed upon before the adjournment of the conference last month.

The only reason given by the Germans for desiring a postponement of the conference is that it would be inconsequential for Bergmann, the German minister, to be in Brussels on the 10th. No other state is suggested, however, and the tendency here is to connect this postponement with the disagreement over the reparations. A natural sequence of the remarks made by Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister, to Ambassador Laurens in Berlin recently that his attitude upon the abandonment of the German plan, organizations might make the confidence of the reparations question at Brussels more difficult.

When the Brussels conference adjourned on December 22 it was stated the indications were favorable for no agreement being reached by the allies on the conference. The discussion over Germany's failure to carry out the disarmament agreement is still being discussed by all nations which she should have given, however, in cloud the situation.

BEETLE CHASING POLICE OFFICER IS EXONERATED

Inquiry Results in Dissipating Attempt of Naval Officer and Former Newspaper Reporter to Control American Samoa

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—American Samoa's beetle-inspecting chief of police is out of jail and the judge who has seven other jobs is again holding court, according to advices from Tutuila. This change back to normal followed a naval inquiry which resulted in dissolving an attempt by a naval officer and a former newspaper reporter to control the naval administration of the American possession in the South Seas.

In furtherance of this attempt the naval officer, Cecil H. Boucher, lieutenant commander, and the ex-reporter, Arthur Greene, solicited the support of Commander A. C. Kall, second in rank to Commander Warren J. Terhune, governor of the island. The three plotted a coup against Terhune and his administration and finally Kall tried to send a wireless message to the navy department at Washington branding his superior as insane.

With the message in front of him Terhune, suffering from ill health, committed suicide. The chief part of this tragedy developed when the naval court of inquiry, already en route to Tutuila from Hawaii, absolved Terhune's administration of all charges, recommended the deportation of Arthur Greene, the court-martial of Boucher and the removal of Kall from his post.

Natives Made Targets.

Among the charges filed against Terhune's administration was one that of "falsely drawing illegal extra salaries." J. Hurkin Mallo, native chief of police, and Judge A. K. Noble, were special targets of Boucher, Greene and Kall.

After Commander Terhune shot himself Kall became acting governor and Judge Mallo on charges that the chief of police had urged the natives to oppose the activities of Greene and Kall. Previously Boucher had alleged that irregularities of the Terhune administration included paying Mallo as "beetle inspector" as well as head of the police force, but that no beetles were located.

Judge Noble, who besides being district judge was secretary to the commandant, registrar of titles, secretary of native affairs, judge of the probate court, superintendent of education, a social member of the high court, and vice president of the American league of Samoa, was charged by Boucher and Greene with being instrumental in alleged misuses of funds and authority. Kall closed Noble's court when the former became acting governor.

Other charges before the naval inquiry included the following:

That the Terhune administration was a close corporation and that many of its acts were illegal;

That the government was physically unable to perform his duties.

That civil and naval officials of the administration were inefficient and that some were immoral.

That there were gross irregularities in handling funds.

That the administration made American Samoa the laughing stock of the South Seas and of the United States navy.

Charges Prove Boomerangs.

The board of inquiry sat for eight days. Testimony revealed that Boucher for 25 of his 85 days service, was under suspension on three charges—carrying a pistol, attempting a mutiny and falsehood—Boucher's examination revealed that he posed as a secret service man without authority; publicly criticized the secretary of the navy and the president; insubordinately communicated with authorities at Washington in violation of regulations and committed many other breaches of naval regulations.

Upon examination he declined to answer the questions on the grounds that the answers would incriminate himself. He acknowledged that all charges he made were based upon hearsay and newspaper investigation. It was revealed that documents were stolen from naval officers but an attempt to introduce these by Greene, who was Boucher's counsel was overruled by the board.

The testimony revealed also that Greene and Boucher had been among the natives in an effort to change the government and assume control for themselves. Their activities in the "committee" organization of natives into a "committee" which forwarded an appeal to President Wilson to remove Governor Terhune. The general public unrest was manifested by several fights with the American sailors.

LYLOYD-GEORGE ADOPTS HARDING'S THRIFT PLEA

British Premier Credits President-elect with Initiative Toward Economy

LONDON, (AP)—Premier Lloyd George has adopted the example of President-elect Harding of the United States and issued a proclamation to the public to practice thrift. "I have seen a very sound and sensible appeal by the newly elected president of the United States to the American people for all-round economy and I make the same appeal to the people of this country," said the premier at a dinner of the Federation of British Industries.

Mr. Lloyd George warned his hearers that a period of great and inevitable depression was coming and the question was, how to shorten or to mitigate its evils.

"Europe is standing in front of our shop windows," he went on "it wants to buy, but it is in rags and its pockets are full of paper. In the good books there is a great story of men who reconstructed a broken city with a sword in one hand and a sword in the other, but Europe must act with both hands."

"Let the government, as the example to the nation—yes, but let the nation set the example to the government," he urged. "The object has been to create a committee to cut down expenditure and I suggest there should be a committee in every household to cut down expenditure. I know what will happen."

"Diverse," someone shouted and everybody laughed.

"Each member of the family," Lloyd George went on, "will want to cut the expenses of the other. The women will cut down the dinner bill and the men the dress bill. That is what happened in the public expenditure. But it is essential, if the nation is to recover, that there should be right, ruthless economy for some time to come."

McCULLY DEFENDS RIGHT TO RUSSIAN CHILDREN

Naval Commander Rejects Exclusion Order of Immigration Board of Inquiry Against Waifs

NEW YORK, (AP)—Seven Russian children, brought here for adoption by Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully, former American high commissioner at Sebastopol, were excluded from the country by an immigration board of inquiry at Ellis Island Tuesday.

The order fell like a wet blanket on the hopes of the youngsters and the admiral, who had played Santa Claus and father to them all the way from their native land on the collier Ransome. They were to be his wards and his heirs, sharing his home in Washington and enjoying all the educational facilities he could give them.

But the admiral announced that he immediately would take an appeal to the secretary of labor at Washington, that he was ready to post as many and high bonds as would be asked, and that he intended to fight to the last ditch for admittance of the children. In the meantime, pending a ruling from Washington, the children will be detained at Ellis Island.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The seven Russian children brought to the United States for adoption by Rear Admiral Hugh A. McCully, former American high commissioner at Sebastopol, and ordered deported by immigration authorities at Ellis Island, probably will be admitted to the country, it was said today by the department of labor.

Officials said that in view of Admiral McCully's statement that he intended to educate the children and make them his heirs, Secretary Wilson was expected to order their admission.

INDIANS TELL OF FORTITUDE OF AERONAUTS

Trappers Relate Tales of Hardships Endured by the Three Stranded American Naval Ballonists in Frozen North

HERBERT, Ont. (AP)—Tales of terrible hardships endured with ripe old fortitude by the three stranded American naval ballonists from Rockaway, New York, in the frozen wilds of the Canadian North were related here today by Indian trappers arriving from the lower Hudson Bay district.

Pullman Arrive Arrival

Their stories in the main corroborated reports from Canadian trappers that the airman were on the verge of starvation and were forced to eat their two remaining carrier pigeons to keep alive. The men are slowly wending their way back to civilization by dog trail, with the thermometer registering 20 degrees below zero. Unless snow storms are encountered, they should reach Mattice no later than Friday. A Pullman coach will be waiting for their disposal when they leave the trail there.

According to the stories of the Indians, the howling of a moose dog caught in a trap at Edgemoor, the original trading post of the Hudson Bay company, was responsible for the safety of the airman when they were there. When the dog's cry, the ballonists decided to land. The great balloon struck in a clump of tree-trunk pine south of the company's occupancy, where it was stripped of their clothes in the perilous descent.

At the time of the landing the mercury was only ten degrees below zero, the mildest weather for this season of the year in the history of the trading post. When the men extricated themselves from the wreckage, the first words were uttered by Lieutenant Walter Hildner, a veteran of the historic trans-Atlantic flight in the NC-4, who extended "gracious thanks" to the Algonquians for their assistance.

Repays Thanks to Dog

The next thought of the airman was to express thanks to the unfortunate dog whose howls caused them to be rescued. For almost forty hours the Americans had muddled their way in a raging storm high in the air and for the time being they were too exhausted to do anything but congratulate themselves upon their safe landing.

The airman had been descended to the skin and clothes hung over their torn clothing. For four days they wandered aimlessly in its wilderness and at the point of despair when they were discovered by a frightened Indian trapper.

Slump Since 1907

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A total of 2,325,000 workers are out of employment in the country, according to a survey of the industrial situation made by Oliver C. Johnston for the Automobile Labor Union, official organ of the Plumb plan league. Mr. Johnston asserts that his inquiry disclosed the greatest industrial slump since the money panic of 1907.

The larger groups of unemployed by industries given by the survey were: Building trades 300,000; automobiles 250,000; textiles 225,000; clothing 150,000; railroads 200,000; steel and iron 150,000; shipping 125,000; food products 100,000; cement 75,000; coal mining 50,000; shipbuilding 50,000; rubber 50,000; shoes and leather 50,000; printing 50,000; casual labor 50,000.

SINN FEINER IS RETAINED
LONDON, (AP)—James J. Walsh, a Sinn Fein member of parliament from the City of Cork, escaped from Mount Joy prison Dublin, 15 months ago, was arrested early today. It is said in a dispatch received here.

Bureau's Good Work
The bureau of American ethnology, by its extensive work, is preserving much of value concerning the Indian tribes of North America—not only their language and customs, but also their habits and other material remains. The annual report is enriched every year with the results of various investigations among the Indians, giving them an interest, not only to scientists, but also to the average man interested in the story of this once powerful race, which is rapidly disappearing through being absorbed into the other races.

Buckwheat in Europe.
In some part of continental Europe, buckwheat is a common crop, especially in northeastern Germany and in Brittany, France. In those districts the soil is rather poor, but in such soil buckwheat will thrive. When used as a human food in these countries, the flour is usually made into a porridge. In England buckwheat is little grown except as food for pheasants.

A Bee or a Spider?
The honeybee makes her honey from the same nectar from which the venom spider distills one of the deadliest poisons known. The question is, how do you treat your opportunities? Do you distill them into success or failure?—F. H. Chesley in "Stories for Talks to Boys."

This town has a young man who panned his watch to obtain money for a bath. We contend that this is a claim to distinction possessed by no other town of earth.—Shawnee Register.

New Polish Minister to United States Arrives

Count Francis Pulaski, descendant of the general who was killed in the American Revolutionary War, recently arrived in New York from Europe as ambassador of the Polish Legation in Washington. He said that all questions, political and racial, were being put aside in Poland for the economic rehabilitation of the country, which was in the hands of the socialists and peasants.

"THE WONDER CITY OF THE WORLD"

Here is a wonderful picture of the Metropolitan tower. Twenty-third street and Madison avenue, New York City. It affords a very fresh view of this magnificent building looking towards the East river on Twenty-third street. In it we see two towers, but in reality there is only one. The man who took the picture, being an expert photographer, saw a chance to "get" a real wonder picture, and he snapped it close to a work window getting the original (to the right) and the reflection in the window to the left.

The American bluejacket, who "takes in" about every sight worth seeing from Washington heights to Battery park, knows well the "joy of the land" and where to see the most interesting things in the world's largest city. The Atlantic fleet's base

The Movies of 1913.
On another page of this paper was printed recently an alleged newly discovered manuscript by Aristotle philosophizing on the movies. Mr. Wally was joking, of course; but there is no joke about this extract from Swift's "Journal to Stella," dated March 27, 1713: "I went afterward to see a famous moving picture, and I never saw anything so pretty: You see a man ten miles wide, a town go 't'wix him and ship, sailing in the sea and discharging their cannon," etc.—Boston Transcript.

He may be homely and he may need a shave and his clothes may be shabby. But to the little tad who has had his nose pressed against the window pane waiting for him to come home from work he is the handsomest man to the world.—Arkansas Thomas Cat.

REPORT SAYS AMBUSH IN IRELAND IS WIPED OUT

General Headquarters Denies Killing of 16 Sinn Feiners
in Clash

LONDON, (AP)—Sixteen members of a party that waylaid a detachment of troops at Meelin, northwest county Cork, Ireland, were killed by the soldiers attacked and the remainder of the ambushing party were captured with all their guns and ammunition, says a Dublin dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company today. None of the troops was injured.

This is the first time it is declared that an ambush on a large scale has been effectively beaten. The ambush, according to an Evening News dispatch from Cork, occurred in a secluded roadway. Three military lorries, says the account, were coming from Mallow when a bomb was thrown at the leading vehicle. The bomb missed its mark. Revolver fire was then opened on the lorries, which halted while the troops poured rifle fire into both sides of the road.

Aided by a smoke screen, continues the account, the troops made a sally and accounted for all the attackers in killing and capture.

COTTON PROSPECTS BOOM

Price Advances Nearly 50 a Bale Over
Night on Strength of Good News

NEW YORK, (AP)—Cotton for March delivery sold up to $14.95 in the futures market here today, this price being nearly 50 a bale above yesterday's closing and a recovery of 1 3/4 cents a pound from the low record of last week.

Reports of increased mill activity and better business prospects were largely responsible for the boom. Tortoise Shell. The best of tortoise shell will get out in the future, this price being known how to bring back the prison taster. Combs, barrettes and pins that have become clouded and dingy—real tortoise shell, of course—will come back from a jeweler who understands his business looking as good as new. To brighten the imitation shell hair fixings wash them first with a little tepid water and then polish with a bit of chamois dipped in olive oil.

Signs of Weather Changes.
If a horse is lively without apparent cause it is a sure sign of cold weather to the near future, but if he stretches out his neck and sniffs it is a sign of rain. If a cat meows or sits with its back to the fire it will rain. If she washes her face during a frost it will soon thaw. If she scratches the wall or the leg of a table vigorously the wind will be very high. If asses bray it is another sign of rain.

The Moth and the Flame.
A naturalist asserts that many insects fly toward a flame for the same reason that a plant seeks the light. But the light must be intense to produce a marked result. Toward a feeble glare the insect moves feebly, but in the case of a concentrated light travels with great rapidity to its death.

Simply Rallies.
It is not necessary for all men to be great in action. The greatest and sublimest power is often simple patience.—Horace Bushnell.

Ball Historic Banner in London.
At a sale of antiques recently in London, colors carried at the battle of Culloden in 1746 were sold to a Glasgow purchaser for £750 ($3,750). The colors were borne by Sir James Kinloch's battalion—the Second-of Lord Ogilvy's regiment, and is believed to be the only banner carried off by the young Pretender's defeated army. All the colors taken in the battle were burned at Edinburgh—London Times.

WHEAT MARKET PROBLEM CANADIANS MEET THEM

United Farmers of Alberta to Discuss Proposed Pool and Other Issues

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Questions having to do with the marketing of wheat and the proposed wheat pool, the principle of which was approved by the Canadian Council of Agriculture, will be the dominating subject at the thirteenth annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta which opens here January 10 to 21. With an official call there was sent a list of 63 resolutions to be passed upon by the convention and this number is likely to be augmented before the opening session of the meeting. These resolutions include constitutional amendments recommended by the central board.

There are nine resolutions on the co-operative marketing of wheat, asking for the establishment of a wheat pool or such other form of co-operative marketing as would overcome "the evils" of the present methods of marketing. Other resolutions ask for a national grain board for the marketing of all grains, somewhat after the fashion of the wheat board of 1919. Still another asks for standardization of farm products' prices.

One resolution is to be submitted reading: "That the United Farmers are in favor of the establishment of a national grain board to give the government complete control of importation, manufacture and distribution, both foreign and domestic, of all liquor in the following manner:

"That no person in the province under 21 years of age may purchase liquor."

"That there be only one bonded government vendor in each village, town or city."

Under no circumstances must the liquor be consumed either on the premises where it is sold, or on the streets of villages, towns or cities.

"That in case of drunkenness in public there be legislation providing fines for same."

Other resolutions include co-operative creameries, freight rates, hail insurance, logging system.
