

LEFT SEES HOPE OF DISARMAMENT IN DEBT BURDEN

Former President Tells Bermuda Newspaper Men of Optimism Over Prospect for American Action to Avert War

HAMILTON, Bermuda, (AP)—Former President William H. Taft, who is spending a month here, said in an interview recently that "the enormous burden of debt of every country makes it almost indispensable that the necessity for armament be removed. You can only do that by joint action and joint agreements and by promises of settling all differences without fighting."

"They are already discussing actively in the United States an agreement for disarmament or the limiting of armament and strategically about this comes in part at least from men who have been vigorously opposed to any league at all," he continued.

"I am very hopeful that under Mr. Harding we shall reach a conclusion with other leading nations for an association or league which shall mark the advance brought about by the war toward reasonable machinery for the avoidance of future conflicts. This will involve the setting aside of the countable of all important nations and will imply the taking of joint measures to compose differences and to restrain resort to the unsatisfactory and bloody arbitrament of war."

Friendly Toward Britain.

"Lately I have often been questioned as to the attitude of the United States toward Great Britain. Of course the United States consists of some 110,000,000 people with many different currents of thought permeating the mass. Many different groupings too will be found and there are some of these groups, more vocal than representative of real public opinion, who manifest bitter feeling against Britain. But when an important question arises, when a real issue comes before us, the public opinion of the United States asserts itself."

"I never have had the slightest concern over the relations of the two countries. We form the strongest union for peace between nations that exist in the world today. We have got into the habit of settling all our differences by means of negotiation and arbitration. The great body of the people in the United States are conservative and are confident that any matters in dispute can and will be settled by the public opinion of the United States. I am a satisfaction where law and order prevail."

Conditions Not Alarming.

Speaking of business conditions in the United States, he said they were not alarming. "We are a very young country," he said, "Congress is attempting to help in the matter of credit."

LONGER TROUSERS WILL OFFSET SHORT SKIRTS

Designer Men's Fashion Lines Hint to Merchant Tailors Designers Association

CHICAGO, (AP)—Longer trousers for men will offset short skirts for women next spring, according to the editor of the Merchant Tailors Designers Association Friday. "Clothes will be longer and of the 'athletic or wedge shape type' and trousers will be moderately belted," says the announcement of L. D. Tyler, fashion chairman of the association.

"Center vents, known to the layman as 'tail' will be eliminated and to a great extent," Mr. Tyler said. "From the shoulder to the bottom the line will be as straight as possible, as will the front of the coat. 'Plain colors will be most numerous as textile mills are not manufacturing much more than navy blue, gray and blue, and checks will be most fashionable for spring and summer wear."

STOCKHOLDERS OF C. B. & C.

APPROVE CAPITAL INCREASE

CHICAGO (AP)—Stockholders of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad at a special meeting yesterday approved the proposal of the directors to increase the capital stock by $60,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. The increase is in the form of $100,000,000 consisting of 6 percent refunding mortgage bonds.

It is proposed to issue the new stock and $20,000,000 in bonds as a bonus to stockholders, thereby capitalizing a large part of surplus.

JUROR WHO TALKS IS GIVEN JAIL SENTENCE

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—A sentence of two days in the county jail was imposed Friday on Matthew P. Brennan after he admitted that while acting as a juror in the trial of Allen McDonald, criminal gangster, for an attack on a girl, he discussed the case with a garage man, H. O. Little.

NEWSPAPER WOMAN WINS RELEASE FROM SOVIET

Mrs. Marguerite Harrison of Baltimore, Out of Jail, but Held in Russia

BALTIMORE, Md., (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite E. Harrison of Baltimore, newspaper correspondent, imprisoned as spy by the Bolsheviks at Moscow, has been released, according to a letter received yesterday by Dr. Hugh H. Young, head of the secretary of Lord Beaverbrook, owner of the Daily Express, of London.

Her release from prison does not mean necessarily that she may immediately leave Russia, though this is the hope of her friends. Harrison entered Russia about 11 months ago. Soon after reaching Moscow she was imprisoned, but was released and for some time was free as being in high favor with the Bolsheviks.

Her efforts to leave the country, however, were frustrated and she was imprisoned on a charge of having tried to bribe her way out of Russia. Her official declaration charged her with being a spy for the American state department, although this was flatly denied by Washington, and efforts to obtain her release had been unsuccessful.

Mrs. Harrison is a daughter of the late Bernard N. Baker, who was a leading figure in the steamship world for many years.

TEACHERS' PAY INCREASE $600

Baltimore Leads List of American Cities in Amount of Salary Advance

CHICAGO, Ill., (AP)—With an increase of $600 per year in the average teacher's salary is shown to lead the list of American cities in amount of salary advance for 1921. The school workers during the past year, according to a survey of the national educational situation just completed by the American Federation of Teachers.

This bureau has been compiling statistics and reports here since the teacher's shortage became acute. Philadelphia is shown to bring up the rear of all cities in the increase, being only from $400 to $500 per year.

The average increase for cities of less than 100,000 population is listed as $400 per year, for cities of between 100,000 and 1,000,000, $450 in cities of 1,000,000 to 5,000,000.

The survey shows that the general advance in salaries still leaves teachers more inadequately paid than in previous years. William J. McCoy, director of the survey in making the first findings public.

"Teachers are still at the bottom of skilled workers in the wage scale," he added. "The measures of relief have been palliative only. They may have checked momentarily the deterioration in the public school system of this country but they have not arrested it. All reports show that there must be fundamental changes in the policy of financing education before schools are safe from current deterioration."

Normal school enrollment over the nation is the barometer of the educational system. This barometer is now very low. Even the Baltimore increase is inadequate.

Among the larger American cities next to Baltimore, with $400 each as the average annual increase, Chicago, Toledo, San Francisco and Kansas City take next place with $450 each. St. Louis, Oakland, Tacoma gave $500 a piece with Spokane close behind with $600.

By Boston, Los Angeles and Houston awarded a raise of $300 each. Indianapolis, Cleveland and Des Moines gave $400.

Of cities between 50,000 and 100,000 Terre Haute, Ind., leads with an average teacher advancement of $450. Portland, Me., gave $400 and Gary, Ind., $350.

In the third group cities between 25,000 and 50,000 Montclair, N. J., tops the list with $500; Newton, Mass., being next with $450.

ADMINISTRATORS FIRST AT

END OF THIRTY FOOT ROPPE

NEW YORK, (AP)—Dangling from a thirty foot rope held by several laborers, Dr. J. J. McManis of the Poughkeepsie Hospital Friday administered first aid to three men planned under an automobile truck that had plunged over a bridge on a highway near the city. The men were rescued later, taken to a hospital and probably will recover.

Poet and Writer Deserts Wife for Girl He Met in France

The war romance of Madeleine Babine, petite French girl, and Leo Shipley, poet and writer of Kansas City, which created a sensation some time ago, has culminated in the two departing from the United States and going to live in Monterey, Mexico, according to reports from Kansas City. With them is their little son, born out of wedlock. Mrs. Mary Shipley, wife of the writer, who refuses to sever the marriage tie and who offers to bring up as her own her husband's "love" baby, is slowly recovering from nervous prostration. Shipley met his wartime sweetheart when he was billeted in her home in Paris. There the love affair developed. Returning to America Shipley informed his wife of his Paris romance and proceedings instituted against him by deportation authorities holding that Madeleine should not be sent home. The couple, it is said, left Kansas City for Monterey several months ago.

Tobacco Price A Vital Factor TO KENTUCKY

Bankers and Growers Join in Effort to Stave Off Threatened Bankruptcy or Serious Embarrassment

LEXINGTON, Ky., (AP)—Central Kentucky is trying to save thousands of farmers from bankruptcy and bankers and business houses from serious embarrassment, according to statements of bankers, growers and others who have been active in the movement to force prices for the 1920 crop of burley tobacco to a point that will not be far from the 1920 level.

It is the case for the nervous situation that has torn the burley buyers, run on a high kick and an agreement to "cut out" the 1920 crop and hold the 1920 crop if financial arrangements can be made.

Bankers in central Kentucky loan large sums to farmers to finance their crops. Just how large the total of loans made this year is no guess has been ventured. The question of how long the bankers can carry the farmers, however, was one of the foremost topics at the meeting of farmers, growers and warehousemen held here recently.

It is claimed that if tobacco does not bring a satisfactory price these farmers will lose their land, and many financial institutions will be hampered.

Buyers of tobacco are silent as to why prices are not higher. Farmers claim that in view of the fact that prices rose gradually over a period of four years from 1915 to 1919, they should drop gradually. They assert that labor costs during 1920 season were the highest in the history of farming in Kentucky. Stories of the farmers who paid $3 per day for common labor in the 1920 season are common among large growers who visit the offices of the Burley Tobacco Growers' association here. Striping tobacco—taking the leaves off the stalks and leaving the "heads" or bundles—cost from five to eight cents a pound, according to statements of officials of the growers' association who have been traveling throughout the district.

Kentucky produces one-fifth of the tobacco crop of the world and almost one-third of the crop of the United States, according to the yearbook of the United States department of agriculture. The world production in 1915 the last year for which statistics are available, was 1,153,395,000 pounds. The United States in 1919 produced 1,663,225,000 pounds while Kentucky produced a total of 498,000,000 pounds of all types. The estimate for the total 1920 crop in the United States, just made public by the department of agriculture, is 1,208,000,000 pounds and Kentucky 407,000,000 pounds. Farmers in the "dark" belt of western Kentucky this year reticulated their crop.

HOUSE COMMITTEE ELIMINATES FREE GRENDE APPROPRIATION

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The annual fund for free distribution of seed by senators and representatives was eliminated from the agricultural bill on Wednesday by the subcommittee on appropriations, but a sharp fight for the retention was expected to be made in the house and senate. The fund was $250,000.

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM GETS UNITED SUPPORT

Foreign Language Press Joins English Newspapers in Co-operation Pledge

CHICAGO, (AP)—The foreign language press of Chicago is joining the English press in promising co-operation with Northwestern University in establishment of the Joseph Medill School of Journalism, recently announced. The school is made possible by Col. Robert R. McCormick and Joseph Medill Patterson, editors of the Chicago Tribune, and at the time of the announcement of the project practically all the Chicago dailies promised their co-operation.

Instruction will begin with the spring semester. Foundational classes in the school of commerce, which is downtown, but the campus classes will not be organized until next September. For the first semester, Chicago newspaper men, lecturing one night a week, will handle the technical courses of the new School of Journalism, under the direction of Dean Ralph E. Hellman of the school of commerce.

Appreciation of what the new school can do toward raising standards of the newspaper profession and increasing the understanding of American problems by the foreign press is contained in recent letters received by President Walter Dill Scott of the university.

"As a doctor cannot practice and as a lawyer cannot be a member of the bar without his diploma I cannot see any reason why a man should become a journalist without having proper qualifications of the profession, which is considered one of the most vital in the twentieth century," said P. S. Lambo, editor of the Greek Star.

"We hope the School of Journalism will breed better knowledge of political history, geography, and ethnography of other countries, chiefly Europe, among American journalists," said J. P. Paine, editor of the Daily Evening Star. Oscar Durante, editor of L'Italia, wrote in length on the value he could see in the new school of journalism in promoting a better understanding among the newspaper men of the world and real work of the foreign language element of the nation.

Similar expressions were made in letters from Oliver A. Linder, managing editor of Svenska Amerikanaren; John R. Palenback, publisher of the United Serbian and other Slavonic newspapers; Robert S. Abbe, editor of the Chicago Defender; Dr. H. McInnes and Harry A. Lipaky, editor-in-chief and business manager respectively of the Daily Jewish Courier.

MARTENS HOLDS NO RESENTMENT

Soviet "Ambassador" Issues a Statement Before Boarding Deportation Boat

NEW YORK (AP)—Nearly two years effort by Ludwig C. A. K. Martens to gain recognition by the United States government as the ambassador of the Russian soviet government ended to day with his departure for Stockholm, Sweden, on board the steamship Stockholm. It was the final execution of an order from the department of labor for his deportation as an undesirable alien.

Hundreds of personal friends of Martens and his "ambassadorial" retinue of 45 crowded the docks to bid farewell.

Although the department of labor offered the best accommodations the ship afforded, Martens declined, saying he wished to buy a ticket and "travel like any other passenger."

Bitterness Appreciated

Before boarding the ship, Martens issued a statement, expressing "grateful appreciation for the great personal kindness and courtesy I have received from many Americans in all positions throughout the country." He said it was a source of personal pleasure "to find everywhere men and women who have not allowed hysterical fears or prejudice to move them from their sympathy with the cause I have represented."

"My departure," the statement continued, "has come as the logical and inevitable consequence of the policy of the American government toward soviet Russia." He declared he had won a long time before being deported the expression of a definite opinion and that "my mission here would have terminated much earlier if the department of labor had been willing to take the responsibility which was finally assumed by the department of labor. This, however, is a curious matter of American official procedure which I do not pretend to understand."

Views on Future Vague

Mr. Martens said he had no knowledge of the future plans of the American government. "I never can tell what direction this policy of governing the existence of the established government of the largest country in Europe will lead."

"I can only say," he concluded, "that when the American people are prepared to approach this problem, the government of the Russian workers and peasants will be ready to meet them in a reasonable and friendly spirit."

MEXICO INVESTIGATING PETROLEUM CONCESSIONS

Oregon Says Future Grants Will Be Made Only to Those Who Will Work

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Petroleum concessions granted by former Mexican governments are being investigated, and in future such grants will be made only to individuals and companies in a position to develop the properties involved, said President Obregon to the congress on Wednesday night. This was the first time he had received the newspapers since his inauguration, and, in addition to the petroleum situation, he discussed international commerce, the Agrarian problem and other matters of importance at the present session.

President Obregon declared himself to be in favor of federal control of petroleum. He declared that control of petroleum must be protected. Mexico will be taken by Mexico to meet the country's external debt, the president said, adding that he believed national credit must be established.

In discussing general topics, General Obregon said he believed Argentina's removal from the assembly of the league of nations was supported by the national tradition of that country.

VALPARISO PREPARES FOR VISIT OF FLEET

Chilean Naval Authorities Complete Arrangements for Reception of American Battleships

VALPARISO (AP)—Plans for the visit of the United States Pacific fleet to this port have been virtually completed by Chilean naval authorities. When the fleet arrives on January 21, the visit will be exchanged by Admiral Hugh Rodman, commanding the fleet, and Chilean naval officers. The next day, Admiral Rodman will visit Santiago, where they will call on President Alessandri and attend a luncheon by the North American Society of Chile. A reception at the United States embassy will follow and in the evening a banquet will be given by the president in honor of the fleet.

President Alessandri will come to this city on February 3 to visit Admiral Rodman on board the flagship, the USS Oregon.

Chilean naval authorities have arranged a varied program for the entertainment of officers and enlisted men, and it is announced that 1500 sailors will be allowed shore leave daily.

NORTH AMERICAN-URUGUAYAN COMMERCE CHAMBER PLANNED

MONTVIDEO (AP)—Proposals looking to the creation of a North American-Uruguayan chamber of commerce discussed by a number of representatives of the United States and local business houses with Dr. Caillotte, secretary to President Bordaberry.

It was agreed to appoint a committee to organize the chamber, the members of which would be equally divided between citizens of the United States and Uruguayans.

British Peereases to Explore Africa

Three charming and adventurous British peeresses, Viscountess Maitland, the Duchess of Sutherland and the Marchioness of Litchfield, plan to accompany their husbands on an expedition up the Blue Nile. The purpose is to go further into that part of Africa than any white woman has ever ventured. All three women were decorated during the World War. The beautiful Viscountess Maitland is American born. She was Margarette Dwyer, daughter of Anthony J. Dwyer, of Philadelphia. The Marchioness of Litchfield was Hon. Ivy Gordon-Lennox, niece of the Duke of Devonshire, and one of the most celebrated world professional racquet champions. In the second half of the challenge round, 6-8, 6-2, Gould, who also is the national tennis champion, won three out of the four sets played last Wednesday, which with the two sets yesterday, gave him the necessary six sets to clinch the title. Of the six sets played, Souter won only one, and that by the close margin of one game.

One by one Miller Huggins is getting rid of the players who as Yankees last season imagined they didn't have to look up to him as boss as long as they could run to the Colonel with their stuff. Begins to look as if the Yanks would be managed from the bench and not from the box this year. That is said to be part of Huggins' new contract.

Considering the cry for second basemen in the National league the fact that Cincinnati could get Morrie Rath out of the league on waivers is rather surprising. He would make a good utility man for most any major club.

King of Norway is Punctuality Stickler

LONDON. (AP)—King Haakon of Norway, who arrived in England recently with Prince Olaf for a visit to Goodringham, is a stickler for punctuality.

While aboard the steamer Bollo, Prince Olaf appeared at the breakfast table ten minutes late. After the meal he was told by the king that he must stay in his room for an hour as punishment, says the Daily News correspondent.

Women Bandits are Numerous in Paris

PARIS. (AP)—Women bandits are becoming nearly as numerous as their male counterparts in France and a number of them have already been arrested.

The police have just arrested a gang of burglars who have long been plaguing the authorities for housebreaking in the suburbs and discovered that the gang was led by a widow aged 54 and her three sons. Another of the burglars was aided by his wife and two other women formed part of the band. Many of the robberies were accompanied by particularly brutal assaults.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Ford Ton Truck Cuts Delivery Costs

THE Ford One-Ton Truck has cut "delivery costs" for thousands of business houses, farmers, factories, corporations, etc. Thousands of owners attest to its economy of operation and maintenance. They call the Ford a real "necessity" in their business. Ask us for a copy of the "Ford-A Business Utility." Read what pleased owners say. It will cost you nothing.

Built of tough Ford Steel with the ever-dependable Ford motor transmitting power to the aluminum-bronze worm-drive, with demountable rims and pneumatic tires, front and rear, together with the mechanical simplicity, have helped to give the Ford Ton Truck the lowest possible operating and maintenance cost. It is the lowest priced one-ton motor truck on the market. Add to these practical merits our after-service organization, which insures every truck owner of genuine Ford parts and skilled Ford mechanics, so that the Ford Truck need never be out of service.

To sum up: Serviceability, flexibility, power, durability, lowest first and operating costs, service, all together, are the Ford qualities which cut down expense and will help you cut your "delivery costs."

WESLEY'S ALMA MATER
RECALLED BY BUILDERS

Seal of Lincoln College, Oxford,
Appears in Social Center
Structure

CHICAGO, (AP)—Lincoln College, Oxford, England, is to be represented at the dedication of the Social Center building of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Illinois February 15.

John Wesley, the founder of the Methodist Episcopal church, was a Fellow of Lincoln College for 25 years. In recognition of this fact the seal of Lincoln College has been carved over one of the bay windows of the new University of Illinois.

The exterior of Lincoln College in accepting the invitation to be present reads: "We are most interested in the foundation and your recognition of the historical connection with Lincoln College."

The exercises in connection with the dedication will cover four days, beginning February 11th and closing February 15th. Representative churchmen will be present from all over the United States and Canada. Four of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church will take part in the program.

Among the trustees of the Wesley Foundation are Bishop Thomas Nichols, president of the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank, Dr. James C. Baker, director of the Foundation, and has been in charge of this work at the University of Illinois for fourteen years.

Chums of the Screen Play Brides in a Real
Double Wedding

After playing the part of melting bride in many films, "Adonise," Constantine Talmadge and Dorothy Gish, motion picture stars and chums, appeared in person before Justice Albert M. Greer of Greenwood, Conn., on Christmas Day in a double wedding at which no camera clicked and no director interfered.

Miss Gish, the bride of James Heath, an actor. Miss Talmadge was married to John Plagiolou, a wealthy Greek tobacco merchant and importer. The two brides have been chums for several years and are said to have made a pledge that if they ever married they would be married together. The newlyweds are both twenty-one years old.

JAPAN BARE POSTER

movement is not complaining because Japanese aliens resident in the United States are ineligible to American citizenship.

Asks for Equal Rights
"Nor is the government of Japan asking that its citizens resident among us as greater rights than those conceded to other aliens. It accepts and in its own domestic legislation has often acted upon the principle that the Japanese aliens resident in the United States have the right to impose reasonable restrictions upon the property rights of foreigners who choose to live or transact their occupations within its borders."

"May I ask you therefore to note in the second place that the government of Japan is not in any way questioning the right of our government to pass, subject only to its treaty obligations, any legislation it may see fit covering the subject of the Japanese aliens resident in this country. It is true that the treaty of 1911 regarding the Japanese aliens resident in the United States was granted full rights of assimilation to and residence in our country. But this right was granted only upon the express understanding that the Japanese government would continue voluntarily to limit immigration as provided in the so-called 'gentlemen's agreement' of 1908."

Present Restrictions Not at Issue
"In third place, therefore, may I ask you to note that the Japanese government and the people are not clamoring for the removal of any of the present restrictions on Japanese immigration. On the contrary, the government has shown a willingness to examine and correct any of the defects and abuses of the existing arrangements."

"What then is this much talked of 'California issue'? Of what does Japan complain? Let me try to answer. Japanese aliens are ineligible to citizenship under the administration interpretation of our naturalization laws. But personal property rights they have status equally with other aliens. In 1913, however, California devised the plan of classifying aliens on the basis of their eligibility to citizenship. It then proceeded to enact laws which were ineligible of certain property rights previously enjoyed by all aliens. In 1920 this legislation was amplified by an initiative and referendum act. Other states are now considering similar legislation and the people of Japan are fearful lest this method may be used not only in property rights but also in personal rights."

Presents Definite Question
"It is against this method that the government and people of Japan are most vigorously and justly protesting. They contend that it is unjust and unfair to pick out a particular group of aliens who are under certain disabilities and deprive them of rights which all other aliens are permitted to enjoy. And the Japanese protest presents to all our people this very definite question: In the larger view of our relations with the Orient, is it wise to thus classify aliens on the basis of their eligibility to citizenship?"

HOOVER ACCEPTS FARMERS' OFFER TO DONATE CORN

Relief Committee Expresses the Belief that Funds for Transporting Supplies Can Be Raised without Difficulty

CHICAGO, (AP)—The recent offer of the farmer of the middle west to contribute surplus bushels for the relief of the starving millions of Europe, and which has been accepted by the Hoover relief committee and similar organizations, according to a message today from New York office of the American Farm Bureau Federation, through which the stocks were offered.

J. R. Howard, president of the federation, advised that the relief committee expressed the belief that funds for transporting the supplies could be raised without difficulty.

"Let us market our surplus in relief, and take our 'yes' in grain" is the slogan adopted by the farm federation in its drive for the holding stocks of farmers.

R. D. Hinkle, national secretary of the American committee for the Chinese famine fund, has written President Howard that a grain of 6000 tons can be transported from the latter part of February, and expresses hope that the stocks may be available at that date.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK CALLS BUYERS CAREFUL

Wholesale Purchases in the Twelfth District Mostly for Immediate Needs

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. (AP)—Customers of wholesale houses with few exceptions are buying for immediate consumption and not for resale according to a report of wholesale and retail trade conditions in the twelfth federal reserve district made public here last night by the Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco.

During December, 1920, the general trend of prices was downward in all lines, the report said. Collections in December, the statement added, were on a par with November of the same year.

Sales in retail stores in December, with its Christmas rush, were reported 35.9 per cent less than sales during December, 1919. Current prices were from 10 to 20 per cent lower than in December, 1919.

The report said the attitude of the buying public was generally characterized as "careful." Current unfilled orders in wholesale houses were said to be less than usual in all lines.

Tables accompanying the report compared conditions of business during December, 1920, and 1919 in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane, Salt Lake City and El Paso. In the right cities not hardwearing sales decreased 17.7 per cent, dry goods 10.6 per cent, grocery sales 10.6 per cent, drug sales increased 2.9 per cent; also sales decreased 40 per cent stationary sales increased 13 per cent, furniture sales decreased 37.5 per cent and automobile tire sales decreased 5.8 per cent.

According to the tables retail trade in the district increased 53.8 per cent in December over November, 1920. For the district, sales in 1920 increased in 11 lines over sales in 1919.

DEFINITE MOVES MADE FOR CONTROLLING COLORADO RIVER

At Salt Lake Meeting of Western State Engineers, with Federal Reclamation Forces, Organization is Formed Looking to the Saving of Property from Flood Through Restraint of Water to be Used for Reclamation of Land

Concerted action by the seven interested states and the federal government in the development of power and irrigation possibilities of the Colorado river and its tributaries is expressed in the aim of the Colorado river commission permanently organized at a meeting of state engineers of Utah, Colorado, Arizona and Wyoming, with representative of the United States reclamation service held in Salt Lake this week.

This organization results from activities initiated by Elmer Bamberger, former governor of Utah who some years ago called together the governors of all western states interested for the purpose of outlining plans for the impounding of the waters of the Colorado river as a two-fold benefit to the states through which the river flows. The impounded waters, it is estimated, would water millions of acres, and the restraining of the floods would result in preventing an enormous loss of property through property through annual overflows.

The seven states which would profit by the restraining of the floods of the Colorado river are Utah, Wyoming, Nevada, Colorado, New Mexico, California and Arizona.

Not the Only Move.

Organization of engineering forces of the states mentioned, in Salt Lake this week is not the only move being made seeking the right to impound the Colorado river waters for industrial purposes. A month ago, at a meeting of the Colorado river commission, the extent of two and a half million horsepower for use in California, Utah, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Colorado, Nevada and New Mexico, was made preliminary application to the federal power commission at Washington for the electric rights on the Colorado river.

The electric energy, which could be generated from the power sites on the river covered by the application, is equivalent to the total hydroelectric development in the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming at the beginning of 1920.

Flood Elimination.

Incident and of great importance to the project, is the establishment of a uniform flow of the Colorado river, which would, practically eliminate the destructive floods each season. It also creates conditions for irrigation and subsequent colonization and the maintenance of large populations in the lower Colorado territory, where one of the most important advantages of the project.

The present irrigable capacity without storage is 150,000 acres. Full control under storage regulation would allow an increase to 3,000,000 acres, which indicates that under present conditions only 25 per cent of the potential irrigating capacity of the stream is being used.

The storage basin will be over 200 miles in length, impounding more than 40,000,000 acre feet of water.

This application contemplates the development of power on the Colorado river at Marble Canyon and Diamond Creek above the Boulder canyon project. The permit would allow the Edison company time for surveying, investigation and perfecting of financial plans for the construction of the dams, conduits and power houses at Marble canyon and Diamond creek, not including the possible power development in the Grand canyon and other sites along the national park.

The total possible hydroelectric development of the Colorado river is over 4,000,000 horsepower, which is equivalent to the total hydroelectric power now generated in the entire United States.

Power for Vast Area.

A study of the area over which the power proposed to be developed from the Colorado river could be distributed is more than three-fourths of the state of California, the entire states of Utah, Colorado and Nevada, one-half of Colorado and New Mexico, and possibly one-fifth each of Idaho and Wyoming. Should international boundaries be crossed by the line of development, the large agricultural and mining districts of northern Mexico would be within reach.

By the complete development of the hydroelectric resources of the Colorado river which drains a water shed of 250,000 square miles and has an annual flow of 10,000,000 acre feet, electric energy could be furnished for the operation of trains on 10,000 miles of railroad consisting of six existing and two proposed trans-continental lines, and still leaving 65 per cent of the generated power for general commercial, agricultural and industrial purposes.

World Take State's Oil.

To develop an equivalent amount of power by generating plants using oil for fuel, would require the burning of annual of over 60,000,000 barrels of oil, which is practically the present production of petroleum in the state of California.

The substitution of this enormous increase in hydroelectric energy for that now produced from oil would definitely extend the fuel life of the United States navy and the merchant marine which is dependent upon oil supply since the exigencies of the world war brought about a chance of coal to oil burning for navigation purposes.

The Colorado river is considered to be the second largest river system in the United States, and is unique among the important waterways of the world

Has Distinction of Being First Woman Jurist on Ohio Bench

Miss Florence E. Allen, who has the distinction of being the first woman Common Pleas Judge in the State of Ohio, if not the United States. She was formerly assistant county prosecutor and has been prominent in politics and women's activities for several years. Her home is in the 2200 North Judicial District of Common Pleas, County of Cuyahoga, Cleveland.

When the Ladies' Columbia Symphony orchestra appears here on January 24 at the Lavington theatre under the management of the Twin Falls Post, American Legion.

One of their featured soloists will be Miss Genevieve Gilbert, dramatic soprano, who has been a leading member of two New York opera companies and has also appeared with many concert companies throughout the country. Her expanded stage and concert appearances have been invaluable to her as a singer and added to her reputation as a soloist. She has been a member of the standard opera, as well as songs from the classical and modern composers. Gifted with a voice of rare beauty, trained under the guidance of eminent ability, and with a gracious personality, Miss Gilbert has won unquestioned musical and personal popularity both in social and artistic circles everywhere she has appeared.

The proceeds from this entertainment will be given by the Ladies' Legion to the Literary Digest child feeding fund. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance and it is assured that a most enjoyable musical entertainment will be enjoyed.

"What Women Love"

"What Women Love" is a rare combination of breath-catching drama and delightful humor. In some of the most marvelous underwater scenes Miss Kellerman excels her previous world's records for underwater swimming and accomplishes a remarkable feat of 100 feet from the mast of a pitching schooner in mid-ocean.

Annette Kellerman's claim to the title of "The Modern Vesper" is well substantiated by the fact that these play-gone who attended the Gem Theatre last night and saw the diving beauty in her modern comedy drama "What Women Love."

The star, whose mastery of the sea has made her famous, is at her best in this remarkable production which has been sent to the screens of the country.

Magnificent underwater swimming, diving with the hero, the struggle with a shark, a most breath-catching scene from the masts of vessels, the beautiful glimpses of fashionable Honolulu and elaborate interior settings make "What Women Love" one of the most finished screen offerings of the decade.

FLATTERY

To those artists and designers of past centuries who left us the beautiful furniture creations in Jacobean, William and Mary, and the French Louis, we owe a distinct debt of gratitude.

While we cannot recompense them in a material way, we do flatter their memories, in all sincerity, by attempting to copy their creations.

And while these Master Craftsmen, if they now lived, would doubtless scorn the machines we use to reproduce their designs, they could not feel less than gratified that, in this day of the world's highest civilization, their artistry was the accepted standard of furniture beautiful.

We, too, are susceptible to flattery. When a competitor implies his confidence in our merchandising standards by timing his efforts with ours and by attempting to imitate our methods, we cannot but feel that he has, in effect, proclaimed to the world the pre-eminence of our establishment and confirmed our own assertions that it will profit buyers most to trade here. We embrace this opportunity of voicing our grateful appreciation of recent past manifestations along this line, and of predicting to the buying public further, similar, endorsement of admitted superiority.

Our display of period furniture is worthy everyone's attention, and the ten day sale prices bring it within reach of all.

The Heaviest Expense of Washday

---what is it?

Today the housewife knows that the actual cost of washing in the home—the expenditure for fuel, soaps, starch, perhaps for a laundress—is the smallest item.

She is beginning to realize that she herself pays—and dearly. The frantic rush of washday—the all-too-real burden of washing, rinsing, and wringing—the fatiguing hours spent over the ironing board—all exact a price which the modern woman knows she cannot, in justice to herself and her family, afford to pay. The real drain is not upon her purse, but upon her person.

Our modern Family Laundry Service means true washday economy for you. Your family washing is cleansed to meet the standards of the most particular, your flat pieces are beautifully ironed—only the lighter articles, dainty blouses and lingerie, are left for you to finish.

It would be the poorest sort of economy to age and worry yourself to the point of illness, when right at hand—as near to you as your telephone—is this service of ours that is so specially fitted to take over your domestic problems. We do all the heavy washing, and much of the ironing, leaving to you only the finishing of the lighter pieces.

Telephone today, and find freedom from strain and expense of the home washday. Our driver will call for your family bundle.

THE LORD REMEMBERTH—Pray ye the Lord our God, and worship at his footstool; for he is holy.—Psalm 99: 6.

INVITING MOB ACTION

Although lynch law is never condonable, there are circumstances under which a man is expected to fight on the instant, anywhere, any time. One of these is in the protection of women and children; another is in resistance of assaults to the flag.

From Aurora, Ill., comes another reminder that the unpatriotic can have no hope of "getting away" with their offensive attitude in this country. A wealthy farmer who during the war refused to buy Liberty Bonds and later made disparaging remarks about the United States government and its soldiers, finally going to the extreme of refusing to permit the use of a church of which he is a deacon for services in connection with the funeral of a young man who had died in the service of our navy, was taken in hand by members of the American Legion. He was taken to the public square of a village near his farm, forced to kneel in the presence of a large crowd, kiss the Stars and Stripes and pledge himself to refrain from making unpatriotic remarks.

It has been so from the beginning of the republic. God pity the republic that ever comes a day when American manhood will submit for an instant to insults to the flag! Expressions of contempt for the banner consecrated by the blood of the country's best are no more to be treated with patience than insults to women and children. By this time any loyal individual should know that he takes his life in his hands when he starts slurring the American flag in the presence of Americans worthy of the name.

This does not come under the term of "smack jabs," but rather under that of dealing with one who is hunting a fight. The treacherous individual who would stab the country in which he makes his living is after the aggressor. In the case mentioned above, the leader went out of his way to humiliate members of the American Legion in particular and then carried his dirty play to the point of trying to wreck vengeance on a dead soldier.

The only way for the disloyal to escape rough handling is to keep their mouths shut. It is out of the question for them to expect the law to make it safe for them to insult the emblem of the government. There is nothing that can protect the individual who trifles with the flag. No more is there anything that can guarantee safety to the disloyal who starts on a campaign of insult against the American Legion.

PICKING A CABINET

Theoretically the formation of a cabinet might seem an easy matter. Most any one of intelligence and knowledge of public men should be able to write down in 10 minutes enough names of men of first class ability to fill all the cabinet offices. But that would not be enough. It might happen that half of those selected would not desire such a position and the other half might not with the positions assigned to them. It also happens that most men of cabinet caliber have made enemies. Any one who amounts to anything does, for strong man is destined to tramp on the toes of somebody on his way up the ladder. When a man is seriously mentioned it is notice to his enemies to get active, and they do, usually. A few bitter enemies can make more trouble than a host of friends. The fact that will put their whole heart into it will the latter will act with greater decorum.

Then there is the geographical situation to be considered also. This may be a weak argument but sections feel that they must be represented and they insist so strenuously that in the interest of harmony their demands must be heeded. Again acceptance of a cabinet position on the part of one may depend on who the other members are to be. Thus there are contingencies to be considered, eliminations to be made and regroupings to be worked out. To satisfy conflicting demands, yet to produce a strong and coordinated cabinet is the intricate puzzle the president-elect has to solve.

It is slight wonder that President-elect Harding is reported to have grown whiter about the temples and that he looks worn. The very magnitude of his victory has made his problem more difficult. The number and importance of the questions that will face him when he enters on his executive duties makes imperative the greater care in the selection of his advisers. Hence there should be deliberation. Calm consideration is far preferable to too great haste and while the country is eager to know who will be in the official family of the new president, Mr. Harding is taking the wise course in going slowly. Those who think it an easy job to pick a cabinet reckon not on its ramifications.

TRADER'S APPEAL
STOPS BANK RUN

Depositors Hood Merchant's
Plea Not to Ruin Banker who Aided Them

LISBON, (AP)—One of the oldest and best known bankers of this city was recently saved from the effects of a run on his bank by a sensational incident. A large crowd of depositors had gathered at the office of the banker, J. H. Totta, to demand their money. The street was blocked by them. The firm was paying out the money rapidly when a well-known Lisbon merchant who was a proprietor of the bank on the corner, enraged by the scene, jumped on the counter and reviled the crowd in no measured language. He recalled the honorable name of the head of the firm and said that by his kindly aid many of these people had secured fortunes, but their base ingratitude was now threatening to bring about his ruin.

As his eloquence increased, an extraordinary transformation scene took place. Someone raised a cheer which was echoed by thousands. The bank employees who had calmly been paying out thousands of pounds to all who claimed their deposits were embraced by the depositors, clerks were torn to pieces and the elder Totta, 80 years of age, was dragged from an inner office and raised on the shoulders of the crowd amid cheers.

Since then the bank has received nearly all the money that had been withdrawn.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
IN TWIN FALLS

Taken at random from The News from this date in 1905

A Masonic lodge was instituted at Twin Falls on Saturday evening, January 12, with a charter membership of 25. The charter members were George D. Allen, Guy F. Baker, Clifton C. Bedford, Tervah W. Scott, Fred E. Hamay, Isaac J. Olsen, James McMillan, Woody T. Seal, Amos A. Green, Samuel T. Hamilton, Walter F. Pike, James A. Waters, Olaus M. Price, George F. Sprague, John Paters, William A. Bling, Charles W. Dyer, Herbert S. McDougall, John E. Hartigan, John A. Schifano, Ed. John Skinner, James L. Barnes, Charles O. Murrell, Daniel P. Albee, Charles H. Kroll, Henry H. Jacobs, George W. Harris. The lodge was convened and organized in Old Fellows hall and in addition to the charter membership there were 15 visitors present, and 16 jurisdictions represented in lodge.

The lodge was organized for the purpose of general discussion for the good of the order, the lodge was closed and the members went to the Hotel Fortine where a banquet was served.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Murtough left Saturday afternoon for New York, where they will call for Brail on February 2. A large number of their friends gathered at the station to bid them farewell and good-bye.

J. T. Bainbridge has arrived from New York and will probably locate in Twin Falls.

M. J. Sweeney, of Sweeney and Sweeney, the attorneys, brought the first automobile to Twin Falls. The horse attached to Baker's transfer wagon aided and abetted and it required the efforts of several men to hold them.

The Knights of Pythias will meet on Monday evening in I. O. O. F. hall for the purpose of instituting a local lodge. All members of the order in good standing are requested to be present.

Mrs. Pike and Mrs. Miller entertained at high five last Friday afternoon "at the Pike." The following guest were present: Mesdames Dur-ington, Boyd, Ball, Booth, Alkon, Porrie, Sweeney, Hartigan, Steele, Costello, Pettit, Williams, Greenhow, Shields, Allen, Nibbelly, Holtzman, McCollum, Conway, Jacobs, Wisley, Cloucheck, Hain, Johnson, Miss McCollum and Miss Rogers. The refreshments were notably toothsome and the games exceedingly enjoyable. The "medicine ball" in which the guests endeavored to determine the identity of medicine by their smell proved very amusing.

Kennedy and Oger have sold the stock pool, building and lots (or the Twin Falls Hardware company) to E. S. Ballady of New York City. F. W. Wilkinson who is expected to arrive from New York today in the Twin Falls, the name of which will remain unchanged.

CUP OFFERED HIGH AVERAGE SCHOLARSHIP

Means of Stimulating Students President Uplam Announces Trophy

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO Moscow, (Special).—To stimulate scholarship work among students at the University of Idaho, a handsome living cup to be known as the French scholarship cup, will be awarded annually to the group making the highest scholarship average. This is the announcement made today by President A. H. Uplam.

The cup has been presented by Congressman Durbin L. French, who is a University of Idaho alumnus, having been graduated with the class of 1900. Mr. French asked that the rules and requirements governing the trophy be similar to those now being used for the Billingsley Living cup. The trophy cup, presented by Mrs. E. J. Lindley, was originally planned for groups of both girls and boys, but the donor immediately consented to have it confined to co-eds in order that the French cup might be offered.

The trophy cup was awarded last year for the first time, proved a substantial encouragement to students living in fraternalism, sororities and other groups and boys, but the donor immediately consented to have it confined to co-eds in order that the French cup might be offered.

PLAGUE MAKES INROADS AMONG BRITISH CATTLE

Worst Outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease for 30 Years in Midland Counties

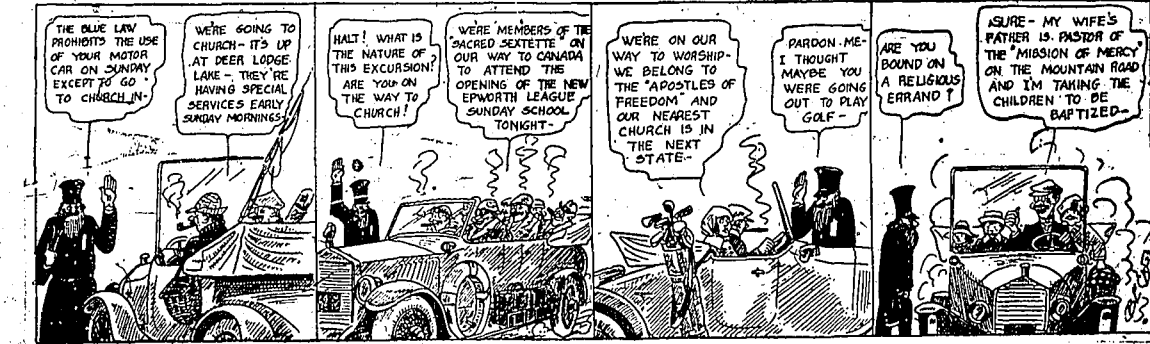

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., (P).—What is described as the worst outbreak of foot and mouth disease for 30 years has occurred among the cattle in the midland counties.

The appearance of the disease was first noticed on December 28 at the Central cattle market. A number of cattle from country markets were found to be suffering and were immediately slaughtered, but the contagion had already spread. The appearance of the disease has since ordered the destruction of 400 more animals and the closing of the market. The first recorded case of the present epidemic occurred at Bilston on January 1, 1912. Since then 37 separate outbreaks have occurred in at many different places, not traceably connected with each other.

Fossils. Though historical geology and the study of ancient life depend chiefly on fossils, the term has been very vaguely and loosely applied. As a precise definition, a writer in Science proposes: "A fossil is an object which indicates former existence of an organism which has been buried and preserved by geological causes, previous to historic time." The method proposed in the article is a fossil, a leaf buried in the gutter is not; and a truly petrified organism may not be a fossil.

Gas Buggies—Spooking the blue-law cop

HOW ABBIE VOTED

By AINA SILVANIUS.

"All there is in the papers these days is women sledge clubs and yelling," remarked Tom Brown to his wife.

"I'd hate to have a woman running round to such places and neglecting her home."

"My house isn't neglected; is it, Tom?" she inquired.

"I should say not, and I'm glad you don't get such ideas in your head."

Mrs. Carlisle has invited me to go to the city with the members of her club next Monday," his wife went on.

"Umph," grunted Tom, remembering that that was the day the women of Woodville registered, and he stroiled out to the barn.

"Poor Tom," smiled Mrs. Brown to herself. "He's the best husband in the world, but oh, so awfully selfish!"

All the next day Tom racked his brain to find some excuse to keep his wife at home, but none could he find until Saturday when Bill Hanson, a neighbor, expressed a desire to go to the city. Tom eagerly offered the use of his buggy and driving mare, which surprising offer was eagerly accepted.

"You'll find the mare was awfully handy morning the mare was awfully driven out and delivered into the hands of Bill Hanson."

Seriously conscious of her husband's maneuvers, Mrs. Brown bawled about the house preparing dinner. Flaky pies were set on the long shelf on the screened porch to cool, and the odor of roast chicken leaked from the kitchen door.

After dinner Tom lingered about the house in an unaccountable manner, while his wife hurried around clearing the table and piling the dishes into the pan.

"Hadda you better be hitching up," Tom said. "I'm almost ready," she said.

Tom rather oversteered his start at surprise.

"How can you mean to go to be asked innocently? I wish I'd known. I thought you'd given up. Two gone and Bill Hanson take Kitty and the buggy."

Mrs. Brown regarded her husband with an odd little smile.

"Poor Tom," she returned suddenly, "that's all right. I thought you might be busy, so I partly arranged to go with Mrs. Carlisle."

"Tom gazed helplessly at her a moment then went out and, banged the door."

"That woman don't beat all," he muttered. "I'll bet she knew all the time what I was doing. I believe I'll go right in and forbid her to go."

Assuming a resolute and courageous air he marched back to the house. On his heels he waited in uncertainty. He looked into the kitchen. His wife was not in sight.

The pantry door stood partly open, the key in the lock.

She might be there, he listened. Yes—he heard her moving about. His eyes glared with mad resolution.

He tiptoed lightly across the floor, softly closed the door, turned the key and dropped it in his pocket.

"I've fixed it this time," he chuckled. "She won't like it, I guess, but I won't have it said that my wife is gadding round to the polls! Tom went down to the garden."

A few hours later a buggy came rumbling down the road.

It stopped at the Brown gate and a woman alighted.

Tom saw her and stared. If he wasn't mistaken that woman was his wife. Yes—it was Abbie. She met him with no sign of embarrassment.

"Ain't I late, Tom?" she inquired.

"Abbie," he said, solemnly, "how did you get out of that pantry?"

The woman looked startled. "The pantry," she echoed. "Why, Tom, when do you mean?"

"Somebody," he began, then stopped. "Well, I locked the pantry," he finished, rather lamely. Without stopping to say any more they entered the Japan's Famous Mountain. Fuji is 12,385 feet in height, and only 200 years ago was an active volcano. There are still signs of fire in the jets of steam that spurt from parts of the cone, though one may descend the crater with safety. All about the base are great boiling springs, hot enough to cook an egg in a minute. These are known as Oyagake, or "Great-Hill." Whether the idea was taken from the Bible or not is not known. But Buddhism has plenty of hell of its own. Some 80,000 pilgrims ascend the cone every year; and this year, being a special one in ality, according to the Japanese calendar, the number was much greater than usual.
