SHOOTING IN ROOM AT ST. REGIS HOUSE RESULTS IN DEATH OF H. B. McCOLLUM

H. B. McCollum is dead, J. L. Wenger is suffering from serious injuries on the head, and Ed. L. Slagle is held by the criminal authorities to answer a charge of murdering the former and assaulting the latter. The attack took place on Saturday night in the St. Regis rooming house on Shoshone street.

GUN USED WITH DEADLY EFFECT

All the men present admitted that they had arranged to play a game of poker in a St. Regis house room engaged by Wenger. The latter, McCollum and Jensen remained in the room ahead of Slagle, Wenger and Jensen say. A fire was started in a small stove and other preparations were making for the game when the door of the room was opened at the door. McCollum, it is said, met Slagle at the door and invited him in, but the latter, after taking a few steps into the room, turned back and fired a shot into the room, passing down the hall to a lavatory. In a few minutes, according to an account detailed today by Wenger, Slagle reappeared from the lavatory, carrying a revolver from his shirt and ordered the men to put up their hands. Wenger, at the time the order was issued, was holding a deck of playing cards, which he had just picked up. McCollum is related to have immediately complied with the order and then was shot. The man who fired the shot was not seen, but was heard to say, "I am sorry, I am sorry," and then fled from the room, passing down the hall to a lavatory. ## DEATH NOT GROWING

While the police estimate the dead at about twenty-five, the toll of fatalities, it was said several hours after the explosion, may be larger. The bodies of the occupants of the dwellings and exploration of the ruins is possible.

RESCUES' WORK HASTENED

While the fire was brought under control shortly after the explosion, the work of the rescuers was made hazardous by the fact that the fire had spread to the adjacent buildings and the fire-fighters were in the immediate vicinity, in the path of flying embers and falling debris from the towers. Police lines were established two blocks from the scene of devastation.

LENINE'S TERMS CAUSE SPLIT IN MARXIAN RANKS

Bolshevik Premier's Ultimatum to Socialists of World Meets with Widespread, if Often Negative, Response

NEW YORK, (AP)—Nicolai Lenin's ultimatum to the socialists of the world, giving them the "21 conditions" to which they must subscribe before they can be received into the third or communist international at Moscow, has met with a widespread, if in many cases negative, response. It indicates a decided split in the ranks of the socialist party in many countries, judging by reports from abroad.

In the 15 nations where such opinion has been formed, four have been unqualifiedly against, entering the third international, one is undecided, three are divided and seven in favor are opposed by determined minorities.

Lenin demanded, among other things, that social organizations purge themselves of all moderate lefts, yoke control of the press, throw off the allied "yoke", promote "world economic crisis, condemn any league of nations, add the soviet government and abandon for the blood and fire of "red revolution" all conservative social democratic programs.

Action on the bolshevik dictator's terms had been taken as follows:

United States—National executive committee of socialist party in refusing to recommend affiliation said: "We decide to the Russian committee the right to formulate their own internal policies without interference from any other section of the working class movement of the world. What we concede to them we claim for ourselves. Every resolution adopted by our party implies or claims this right for the American movement."

England—Leaders of British labor party and trades union congress, in an appeal to socialist communist parties of world urged efforts to "reconstitute the international on a non-sectarian basis."

Italy—Executive committee of Italian socialist party voted to adhere to international principles and appealed to Lenin for aid but he warned them they must first eliminate the reformist or conservative element.

Germany—Independent socialists at a conference in Halle in October, voted to adhere to the third international program, the vote being 231 to 158. Great disorder marked the session and a number of delegates bolted the conference. A month previously independent socialists at a convention in Berlin went on record against bolshevism.

France—Socialists split into three factions following convention at Tours in December 20 at which a motion by the left wing to join the third international without reservations received 2810 votes, winning by a large majority. The center and right groups oppose the elimination of conservative leaders.

Spain—Socialist congress voted in favor of the bolshevik program last June but no definite action was taken until September when Marcelino Domingo and his followers pledged adherence to Lenin and his rule of the proletariat.

Switzerland—Executive committee of Swiss socialist party refused to affiliate to the Lenin program. The party approved the committee's stand but a split followed over the question of joining the third international.

Chile—A socialist party referendum resulted in majority of socialists rejecting approval of the Moscow dictatorship but a small minority opposes adherence to Lenin.

Argentina—Delegates to the national socialist convention on January 10, by a vote in the ratio of three to one, rejected a proposal to accept Lenin's terms and decided not to send envoys to Russia to study sovietism.

Sweden—Extreme socialists and laborites favor world revolution. The independent socialists in 1919 voted to join the third international.

Norway—Resolutions advocating creation of a revolutionary regime based on the soviet system were passed at the last socialist congress. Scandinavian workers' congress in session at Copenhagen, however, by a vote of 181 to 15, rejected the Norwegian socialist proposal to enter the Moscow international and denounced what it characterized as Lenin's "barbaric terror" regime.

Holland—Dutch socialists in conference on October 27 decided to defer action on the Lenin ultimatum.

Belgium—Socialists rejected the overture of third international leaders and declared their purpose of preserving independence of action.

Austria—Extreme socialists after accepting membership in the third international broke off relations with Moscow on November 8, the social democrats passing resolutions condemning the Lenin-Trotsky regime as designed to "suppress and destroy."

Mexico—"Communist congress of the Mexican proletariat" in Mexico City on September 19 ended in disorder when plans were started for the organization of the fourth international. Bolsheviks previously had been "indignant" at some of the speakers. Radicals reported spreading in Yucatan where property of opponents of Bolshevism has been dynamited.

The Baltic states, went on record against sovietism when the social democratic congress at Riga on December 18-20 rejected adherence to the Moscow program by a large majority. While the socialists of Strazburg voted adherence to Lenin, the French Agricultural federation announced it would expel all those who pledged allegiance to him.

No official expression of opinion on the Lenin ultimatum has so far been made by socialist or communist bodies.

Sharnburn company, sugar brokers of this city, one of the fourteen subsidiaries of the International Products company, was filed Saturday by General John H. Sharnburn, acting under power of attorney for the Sugar Land Industries of Texas. He said there is an indebtedness to the Sharnburn company from each of the other subsidiaries amounting to $650,000; that other companies and agents owe the Sharnburn company a total of $2,000,000 and that no attempt has been made to collect the sums.

Representatives of Industry Ask the Restoration of Import Duties as Measure of Alleviation

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Herbert Hoover's war-time advice to the people to eat fish, with the resultant effort of packers to supply the demand, has glutted the markets, representatives of the industry told the house ways and means committee Saturday. They asked practically a restoration of the import duties carried by the Payne-Aldrich law as a measure of alleviation.

Plants are closing in great numbers in New England and along the Pacific coast, they said, and others will close unless the market conditions improve and protection is given.

WILSON URGES RUSS BOUNDARY PRESERVATION

Argues Necessity for Respect of Territorial Integrity as In- dispensible to Attempt at Pacification of Armenia

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—A "public and solemn" engagement among the great powers not to violate or to permit the violation of the territorial integrity of Russia is urged by President Wilson as the sine qua non of an attempt at the pacification of Armenia and other states bordering on the former empire. His views are given in a note transmitted to Paul Hymans, president of the league of nations assembly, by Acting Secretary of State Davis, made public Saturday night.

The "disastrous situation" of Armenia, invaded by both the Turkish nationalists and soviet is only one detail of the Russian problem, the president says, and he urges his conviction that it is only by a general and comprehensive treatment of the problem "only by full co-operation of the great powers" that a "superior approach to the pacification and independence of Armenia can be found."

The president says he has never believed that the problems raised by the bolshevik coup could be solved by one-sided military actions and he expresses the hope that the tragical events in the Polish front and in the Crimea have convinced the world that armed invasion is not the way to bring peace to Russia.

Mr. Wilson adds that these events have only strengthened his conviction that the Russian revolution must be developed to satisfactory conclusion by the Russian with such help as may be voluntarily received.

Problem of Relations

The problem, he says, is one of relations between central Russia and surrounding smaller national groups. Bitter and mutual distrust, he states, is the cause of the unrest and instability along the border; the struggling new nationalities are afraid to disarm and refer to peace, because they distrust the bolsheviks while the soviet contend that they are afraid to demobilize, fearing new attacks.

Mr. Wilson expresses the opinion that the present offers a "peculiarly pressing challenge" to an attempt at general pacification on the Russian borders along the lines of a clear distinction between offense and defense.

"Such an attempt seems to the president to be the only logical development of the request to mediate in the Armenian conflict. It is obvious that these small struggling border states will not attack great Russia unless encouraged by promise of support from the strongest powers," the note says.

The president suggests a "public and solemn" declaration among the powers to refrain from extending such aid, deciding that in this way responsibility for any new war on the Russian border would be "clearly placed."

"If the principal powers repudiated on the council of the league," Mr. Wilson concludes, "find themselves in accord with the president and will as a result of their moral and diplomatic support, he will instruct his personal representative, Mr. Morgenthau, to proceed on his mission."

CINCINNATI'S RAILWAY COSTS CITY NOTHING

Bonds Issued for Construction of Road and Improvements and Redeemed Through Lessee's Rental Payments

CINCINNATI, O., (AP)—The trustees of the Cincinnati Southern railroad, the United States, have forwarded to the interstate commerce commission a detailed statement of the condition of the road. In support of its application of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railway, lessees of the road for approval of plans to build a new bridge across the Ohio river, at Cincinnati.

The trustees propose to issue $2,000,000 in bonds to pay for the new bridge. The railway will bear the sinking fund and interest charges on these bonds, as well as the cost of maintaining the bridge.

According to city officials and bankers the leasing of the railway system from the city of Cincinnati, the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific a distinct advantage over other roads. In the present condition of the market, the city, a privately owned railroad would have to offer a high rate of interest to float its bonds. In this instance, however, the city of Cincinnati lends its credit to the bonds, and the bonds issued for the purpose are expected to find a ready market at an interest rate of 6 percent.

City Also Benefits.

However, the city, too, will benefit. When the bonds mature the sinking fund created through the rentals paid for the bridge will redeem them, and the city will own a structure which did not cost it a cent.

This condition is true, in fact, of the entire railway system owned by Cincinnati to Chattanooga, Tenn. The bonds issued for the construction of the road are being redeemed through the rental payments made by the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific, and when the last payment has been made Cincinnati will have a railroad system which now costs the city $200,000, without a penny of cost to the taxpayers.

The facts placed before the interstate commerce commission show that the agitation for the building of the road started in Cincinnati in 1909, in order to make the city, properly, "the gateway to the south." There were many years of vexatious delays and misunderstandings, but the completion of the construction of the line was celebrated in Music hall here on March 19, 1920, with a memorable banquet attended by five thousand citizens of this city and southern states.

A board of trustees, appointed by the board of directors of Cincinnati, supervises the city's interests in the conduct of the road. The members of the board are appointed for life.

Redeems Bond Issue.

The city originally issued $18,000,000 worth of bonds for the building of the road, but this has been reduced, through the redemption of bonds, to $14,000,000. In addition to the former bonds, bonds were issued from time to time, in the aggregate of $3,150,000 for the building of terminals. These bonds are still outstanding.

The Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railway pays an annual bond interest of $1,000,000, the sinking fund and interest charges on all these bonds. It also is meeting in installments of deferred payments which accumulated during the early days of the road when it was not a paying proposition. A deficit of approximately five million dollars developed in the interest fund at that time. This has been reduced to $2,500,000.

During 1920 the amount paid for the Southern was $1,000,000 and $1,100,000 during for the terminals. The amount is approximately $300,000 in excess of what is actually required to meet current sinking fund and interest payments. This is being used to meet interest and sinking fund payments on other city bonds, thus relieving the taxpayers of that part of their burden.

RAKES SIBERIAN POLICY OF JAPAN

Opposition Party Leader Oath Outcomes Orimo Rather than Failure

TOKIO, (AP)—Japan's policy in Siberia, as conducted by the present ministry, has been a crime rather than a failure, Viscount Takaki Kato, leader of the Kenseitai, or opposition, party is quoted by the press as declaring at a general meeting of the party held in preparation for the reopening of the diet Friday.

"Japan should have withdrawn her troops as soon as the relief of the Czechoslovakia was attained," Viscount Kato asserted. "Otherwise, she should have dispatched a more powerful force to sweep the Bolsheviks from eastern Siberia and aid in the establishment of a strong anti-Bolshevik government."

He charged that indecision reflected in the policy, which had resulted in a compromise with the provisional government of eastern Siberia in Chita, really the tool of Lenin.

The trip was made on a French armored train.

"The action taken itself was suggestive of the general situation with its barriers of sand bags," he wrote. "As we moved down the track we saw the Bolsheviks in the rear and the new ones that had just been laid. Bridges that we passed over were newly repaired and village stations along the route were demolished. The rails were surrounded by barbed wire entanglements and broken telephone poles, festooned with tangled wires, witness to the events of the past few months. No houses were seen in sight but barbed wire entanglements were hung with the cans, which in the weeks of fighting had been used by the Bolsheviks to put up by the defenders to prevent surprise attack, for one touch on the wire would set the whole row of cans jangling."

On the four hours between Adams and Tokuriki Kato we saw only one human being outside the vicinity of these two places. This one exception was a Turk riding a mule, followed by a white dog, hanging from a pole stuck upright in his pack saddle. There were scores of thrashing floors where the wheat had been allowed to rot in the sun and rain.

"The difficulties in Dourai Yel and Kuznetsov have greatly increased the number of about 2,000 Armenians refugees to the population. Most of the refugees abandoned rich crops and houses that had been newly repaired with the aid of the United States. Houses of two and three families were sheltering four or five families.

"The Turk supply houses, porches, storehouses and every lack of available space was filled with them. Some were sleeping on the bare ground with no covering."

WARFARE BRINGS ALICIA REGION INTO RUIN AREA

American Woman Relief Worker Describes Scenes of Desolation Through the Fighting Zone in Asia Minor

NEW YORK, (AP)—Constant fighting between the French forces of occupation and Turkish Nationalists has transformed the Cilicia district of Asia Minor into a scene of desolation. In a letter to the relief organization, Miss Webb tells of a trip from Adana recently, delivered from a stage of 14 weeks, to the town of Dairi Yel, about 50 miles distant on the Mediterranean Sea. The trip was made on a French armored train.

"The action taken itself was suggestive of the general situation with its barriers of sand bags," he wrote. "As we moved down the track we saw the Bolsheviks in the rear and the new ones that had just been laid. ### Skim Milk Good Food.

Some persons imagine that when the cream is taken from the top of milk the nourishment is withdrawn. Skim milk used to be regarded as scarcely better than water. The fact is that though the fat is drawn off in the cream and it should not, therefore, be substituted for full milk in the diet of a child who gets fat in no other form, skim milk is as rich in protein as is full milk, and is, therefore, for most purposes quite suitable.

Could Be Better.

A writer says it was probably a beguile instead of a doltle that Nero played while Rome was burning, taking this position presumably on the fact that nearly all historians agree the music was rotten. It is for this reason we have stuck to the doltle theory. Nero was a punk musician, and while of the beguile are sweetens itself compared to the sound of the violin in the hands of a well-mannered maestro.

Ancient Hunger Strikers.

Hunger striking is not the modern development most people think. In the seventeenth century, English, the diarist, discovered cases and made notes of them. "I left the curiosity to visit some Quakers here in prison," he wrote of a visit he made to Ipswich in July, 1658, "a new sect which show no respect to any man, magistrate or other. One of these was said to have fasted twenty days; another, endeavoring to do the like, perished on the tenth, when he would have eaten, but could not."

Baths Supplanted Finns.

Prof. Paul C. Slinding, in his "History of Scandinavia," says: "On the entrance of the Goths into Scandinavia the land was inhabited by two respectively kindred nations, whose present names are the Laplanders and Finns. Both of them had come from the East, but the Laplanders were forced by the Finns up to the remotest parts of Norway and Sweden, where remains of them are yet to be found. The Finns themselves were, after a valiant resistance, forced back by the Goths, and their descendants at present live in Finland."

Every Year Leap Year Among Goro Women in Assam

Bride Takes Initiative in Marriage in Tribes Beyond Reach of Missionaries

NEW YORK, (AP)—Every year is a leap year among the Goro women in Assam, writes a missionary to the American Baptist Foreign Mission association.

"Among those who have not been Christianized the bride takes the initiative in marriage," he says. "She goes to fetch the bridegroom and it is etiquette for him to hide and resist until viciously carried off. Occasionally a man may get his wife by capture, but usually it is the woman who kidnaps him; that is to say, he male friend of her for her. One may still see such a press gauge bringing home their spoil."

"In the early days, the missionaries were inclined to risk to the rescue, thinking that violence was being committed, such is the noise made by the struggling youth. The reluctance and resistance, though, are seldom as real as they sound. If the youth dislikes the match, there is rarely any real resistance. Women of means are allowed to choose their husbands and who they wish, pay him off and take an other."

The M. S. and B. club will give a dinner and afternoon program at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Eldred on Wednesday, January 26.

Mrs. Tracey Journey entertained on Saturday afternoon at a Kensington complementing her mother, Mrs. T. L. McMahon, of Blufffield. Mrs. W. H. McMahon, of Blufffield, also accompanied, gave several delightful solos, and Mrs. J. R. Bothwell rendered a charming instrumental number. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. R. Bothwell, Mrs. W. H. McMahon, Mrs. E. B. Bolter, W. M. McCall, W. A. Flower, J. M. Bothwell, E. C. Chabrous, M. O. Putnam, W. H. Dwight, J. B. Perrine, E. B. Williams, E. A. Walters, E. J. Ottander, MacVicar, R. J. Miss Hazel Bishop was hostess to the Saturday Evening Bridge club last week. Members present were Mrs. Clifton Evans, Mrs. Harry Benoit, and the Misses Mary Gilbert, Alice Bennett, Florence Hill, Frances Inneson, Harriet Warner and Arvilla Hal I. The hostess was assisted in serving by the Misses Nedda Cook and Laura Taylor.

Miss May Scott was in charge of the afternoon, which was most interesting and entertaining. Mrs. Mary J. Norton the regent, Mrs. Kenneth Packard, state vice regent, and Mrs. M. P. Gamble were in the receiving line. Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Packard were gowned in colonial costumes, and Mrs. Gamble wore a Pilgrim costume. Many interesting articles were exhibited, among them being a spinning wheel, a canteen that was carried in a Revolutionary war, a cradle, and a brass candlestick. During the afternoon the following delightful program was given: a vocal solo by Mrs. T. J. Woot, accompanied by Mrs. Merila Bailey; Wilton Pack, accompanied by Mrs. Peck, sang a solo, and Miss Beas Govey played an old Minuet; Mrs. Bailey sang a solo; a dialogue was given by Mrs. Packard, Mrs. Gamble, Mrs. Brocknbridge, Mrs. McRoberts and Mrs. David Brown. Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Carolyn Harper presided over the tea table the first hour and Mrs. W. H. Eldridge and Miss May Scott the second hour. A silver offering amounting to over $1, was received for the Near East relief fund.

The current events department of the Twentieth Century club will meet at the home of Mrs. Leo Bracken, 154 Eighth avenue north at 2:30 on Tuesday afternoon. The day is to be called "Original day" the ladies being asked to display any original handwork they may have executed. All members are urged to be present.

The meeting of the Women's Pan-

Hellenic club which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Lester Alberts at the Colonial apartments this evening, has been postponed until Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Fallen Fruits Never Good.

The difference between humans and fruits lies in the fact that the human is largely the master of his own destiny. A man does not need to fall if he does not want to. He may have the same imperfect hereditary leaves, but even they are not bound to cause him to fall. If he can be surrounded with the right environment much of what is in the blood can be turned to good account. But if the fellow himself wants to fall the world is too ready to make the way easy for him. And there are many that seem to want to try everything that any one else has ever done. It may lead them to the lowest pit, but they are always sure they can worm out somehow. Only after it's too late do men and women realize that fallen fruits have not been falling among good products.—Exchange.

Archaeologists Interested.

That the remote ancestors of the American Indians may have lived in Spain in prehistoric days is indicated by some very remarkable discoveries of rock paintings that archaeologists have made at El Bosque, in the hilly country north of Alpiers, a Spanish town about half way between Alaceta, situated in the plains of La Mancha, and Alicante, on the Mediterranean. Anthropologists also say that these discoveries throw a fresh light upon the life of prehistoric man in southwestern Europe during the Magdalenian period of the great ice age.

Prehistoric tribes, when not compelled by the rigor of the climate to find their dwellings in caverns where they obtained protection against both the intense cold and the attacks of ferocious animals, lived under rock shelters on the sides of valleys.

Relation of Doctor and Patient.

The relations between a doctor and his patient are absolutely confidential and are safeguarded by law, which forbids a physician from testifying to what he has learned in treating the patient, unless the latter expressly waives his right to secrecy. If, however, a patient has employed several doctors, and has at a trial called some of these to testify to his condition as the result of an injury, the other side has a right to call the other doctors, as the calling of some of the physicians by the plaintiff is a waiver of his rights.

Ways to Clean Books.

Speaking of books, most family Bibles are disfigured by one or two one-colored volumes in unpractical blingage of pale silver, white leather, long since discolored by time. Art gum or a soft kneaded eraser may clean them. If not, try fine powdered pumice lightly applied with a clean chamois. This will remove the dirt and clean the margins of old prints. It roughens the surface less than rubber.

The Majority of the publishers of this country believe that their advertising space is a real commodity and well worth the price demanded.

They believe that the right price of space should be determined by circulation.

They invite the closest scrutiny of their product and provide positive proof of its value by their membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Through membership in the A. B. C., they also endeavor to discountenance the unfair competition of publishers who misrepresent circulation facts to advertisers.

The advertiser who buys space in an A. B. C. paper invests his money wisely and encourages a high ethical standing in the publishing business.

The advertiser who buys space in a non-A. B. C. paper is, to say the least, taking a chance and may be placing a premium on questionable methods.

RESUMPTION OF BUILDING

Important in the process of getting back to "normalcy" is resumption of building operations, not only building of homes, but of business blocks and industrial plants or extensions. This work was practically suspended with our entrance into the war.

Lumber dealers point to a decided reduction in prices and say that the next move is for dealers to order building materials and workers to make if anything worth while is to be done toward stimulating building. Little progress seems to have been made in reduction of costs except in lumber.

Those who would be willing to engage in building enterprises if cost conditions were made right appear to have left it with the contractors, the dealers and the workers to bring about an understanding that will encourage erection of homes and construction along other lines.

Not only is it important that there be a lowering of costs of building, but construction work will be handicapped until there is a lowering of interest rates. Many large building projects are financed with borrowed money, and many homes are built on loans. Present interest rates discourage investment in building.

Plans for new buildings to be erected during the current year are being made now, and it is to the common interest that a basis of operations be agreed upon. It is unreasonable to expect that yielding to lower costs be done by only one or two of the elements upon which building depends. It is time for all of them to get together.

KEEPING TAB ON CHURCH GOERS

A church in Aurora, Nebraska, has adopted a somewhat unusual method of checking up on the attendance of its members. It is the same as used by business concerns for keeping a record of employees present and on time or otherwise, but it has not been followed long enough to determine if strictness in these rules can be injected into religion.

Each member receives a card which is to be presented at services. An attendant punches the card to show time of attendance and character of service. At regular periods these cards are gathered and the record of the members ascertained. Any brother or sister who has fallen below a fixed standard for attendance will be called before the official board, and the persuasive influence of that body will be exercised.

The card system will work two of two ways: it will stimulate the attendance of members who do not desire to be known as delinquents, or it will drive them from the church. It will probably be found that the best way as well as the easiest to interest persons in attending church is to make the services so attractive that they will not be willing to miss them.

LEGISLATIVE TINKERING

It cannot be denied that there is a surplus of legislation by congress and the legislatures of the states—the country is afflicted with more laws than the people know anything about, or would give strict observance to if they were familiar with them.

Legislatures of nearly every state are expending time and money attempting to cure by legal enactment ills which can be overcome only by the exercise of ordinary common sense. A state, tries something new for two or three years—hardly long enough to demonstrate its practicability or lack of it—and certain interests become active in bringing about the passage of a repeal bill, at the same time proposing something else that will be just as much of an experiment. There is considerable uncertainty in industry and trade, but this uncertainty is aggravated by the hit-and-miss methods used in adoption of much legislation in the last few years. It might be to clear the statute books of a large number of laws that are impulsive and ineffective.

But there is little reason to hope that anything will be done along the lines suggested. When a man is sent to congress of the state legislature, he goes with the idea that he was chosen for the purpose of making changes in the laws, and he proceeds to go as far as his fellow members will permit. Fewer laws and more obedience to basic principles might help to overcome the spirit of lawlessness now giving so much concern to the authorities.

There Is No Such Thing as "Taking a Chance" If You Use Vesta Distilled Water in Your Home

We guarantee Vesta Distilled Water to be free from mineral or organic matter, either in suspension or solution, and of the highest purity and sterility for surgical, technical, manufacturing or drinking purposes. That it will not be flat or insipid to the taste, but equal in purity to any of the best known table waters.

Why not order some for your table? There may be other waters as good but there are none better—let us try to explain.

Water is always pure. We all speak of impure water, but in reality this term is incorrect. Water contains impurities but it is itself always just water—nothing more and nothing less. All the water that is exposed to climatic and material conditions is gathering impurities all the time, and nature is constantly separating the water from these impurities by the slow process of distillation. For Old Mother Nature is one gigantic distilling plant.

The vapor that rises from all water exposed to the sun's rays is pure except for the gases it may carry, and it would still be pure when it reaches your drinking glass but for the foreign substances picked up en route.

It is because of the natural distillation going on all the time—the evaporation of the water from all over the earth and returning to us in the form of rain—that we have a never ending supply of water. Otherwise we would soon render all the water on earth unfit for use.

Everybody wants water that is free from foreign substances.

What could be more delightful than to have one's thirst quenched by a glass of absolutely pure water? And what could be more revolting than to be conscious of swallowing impurities with your drinking water—impurities that, if separated from the water, would not be taken by the lowest type of animal.

Very pure water is pure, it cannot be otherwise. And for flavor and thirst quenching properties it must be free from all impurities.

You may order in any quantity. Merely call us on the telephone, Number 999 and we will do the rest. It is this we will probably suggest that you have not done the same thing long ago.

Never Too Old to Love, Says Aged Couple at Wedding

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the alternative theme, blood and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system. When your kidneys ache and feel the heave of lead, and you have aching pains in the back of the uric is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night when you have severe headache, nervous and drowsy sleep, loss of appetite, or indigestion, or if you feel that your kidneys are not doing their duty, get a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the seed of grapes and lemon juice, combined with little and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys.

Smokers everywhere will have Camels!"

But, "Snapper" finally got to spilling some real nobby Camel selling stuff! "Shorty," says he, "I want to put it on record that in all the times I've pulled Camels out of my pocket to supply someone's shortage I've heard enough good things about them 'em to fill a volume! That's my brand! Camels are a wonderful cigarette! 'Like getting money from home,' etc."

"And, Shorty, what's the answer? Why—Camels blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos meets the universal taste! And that's the 'hole' story, old golf ball!"

Jack Dempsey has found that missing head.

The document in guarantee was discovered, it is said, locked up in a safe, doing nothing but harm.

But Dempsey has now to admit that he never posted a forfeit, as was required by the contract to fight Cooper.

Which was an act of dodging an obligation, you'll admit.

A DREAM

By MARY MORRIS WARE.

The clock struck twelve, a noisy note. It did not disturb Agatha Bane, nor was it in any way responsible for her subsequent adventures, unless one might say that the moon being in the height of its glory at that time had something to do with them. I'm not certain as to that. The moon is blamed for a lot of things.

Agatha Jane was queer (at least, the neighbors said so), dark and thin. Her father had always maneuvered to get rid of all the might, could, or would-be lovers as fast as they loomed on the horizon, very much to her discomfiture. Agatha Jane greatly desired to commit matrimony.

The Man-in-the-Moon turned the full benefit of his round, beaming face on Agatha Jane and beckoned to her. She had two-thirds of a mind to respond to the what was the use? She had only two-quarters to spend. So she turned away with a sigh and wandered down the front walk.

An invisible fairy waved his wand and Agatha was more in love with him than ever. Her consciousness increased, and she wandered on and on. It seemed to her that she had walked miles, and he'll look after the executive directing of the club's affairs.

"What's went?" mumbled Agatha, rubbing her eyes open.

"I say, come here, quick, trouble has landed on our doorstep," bellowed her father, as Agatha appeared very soon thereafter in curl papers and kimono.

Not far from the door was an airplane, and near the doorway lay the unconscious aviator. What happened next belongs not to the dream.

Alleging that on or about the night of August 23 or 29, 1920, he was tripped and fell heavily over an obstruction placed across the sidewalk by city contractors, and in this falling sustained such injuries and physical damage that he was unable to perform any sort of work for four months, Samuel Allenworth has brought action in the district court against the City of Twin Falls for $10,800.

LESTER STEVENS PAYS FINE FOR MISDEMEANOR

North Side Resident Admits the Violation of Ordinance Prohibiting City Property

Lester W. Stevens, a Third avenue resident, this morning entered a plea of guilty to a police charge of violating a misdemeanor. A fine of $75 and costs was imposed. Stevens was given a limited length of time to pay the fine.

One night last week Stevens drove a heavy automobile over the curb, parking and sidewalk at the corner of Third avenue south and Third street, his vehicle coming into the dirt of the lawn at the front of a house. A warrant for arrest was issued following morning and Stevens was arrested today. Stevens' police record here is a particularly long and interesting one. He has served several terms in county jail for illegal possession of contraband whiskey. Some time ago a complaint involving drunkenness and assaulting a police officer was filed against him in the municipal court.

BOND IS REDUCED IN CASE OF M. M. YEAGER

City Court at Salt Lake Now Asks $7,500 Instead of $20,000 for Liberty

W. P. Guthrie, of Guthrie & Myers, attorneys, has received word from Salt Lake to the effect that an application for the reduction of M. M. Yeager's bond has been allowed. The reduction brings the amount of bond required to $7,500, down from $20,000, originally fixed by the Salt Lake City Court.

Yeager is held by the Utah criminal authorities to answer a charge of attempted to defraud the United States National bank of a sum amounting to approximately $14,200 through fictitious checks. He was arrested here on a warrant from Salt Lake, and is now held in the city jail. It is asserted he assumed the name of C. B. Kellogg.

ROTARY SPEAKER STIRS HIGH SCHOOL AUDIENCE

High School Students Hear a Forceful Lecture by Dr. Charles E. Barker

Dr. Charles Barker, who is to give two lectures in the high school auditorium today, spoke to a special assembly of high school students this morning. The subject, "How to Make the Most Out of Life," was developed in the most interesting and forceful way possible.

His theme was taken from former President Garfield's statement "To surmount three things are necessary: strong physique, clear head and strong heart." The main thought was to prove to the students that with an education there is no need for a strong physique. Dr. Barker's program here includes two other lectures, one this afternoon and one tomorrow night. The attention was given to those three essentials. # GEM STATE POULTRY REACHES HIGH MARK

Exceeds Value of Idaho's Swine by More Than $1,100,000, University Reports

That the value of the poultry owned in Idaho exceeds by more than $1,100,000 the value of the hogs owned in the state is an interesting item of the report of the extension service of the University of Idaho. This report shows the value of the hogs in this state on March 1, 1920, was $3,328,000, while the value of the poultry was placed at $4,432,000. The report shows that sheep exceed all other animals in number and value, with a total valuation of $33,700,000, and beef cattle are second on the list.

The extension service has been working to awaken interest in poultry production, and Kerne Brock, former head of the poultry department at the university, in the field as an extension worker. That the efforts have been successful is shown by the report just issued, which gives Idaho $4,432,000 worth of poultry to only $850,000 worth of poultry owned in the state of Washington, with three times the population of Idaho, as shown by a recent report of live stock owned in Washington.

TRANSPORTATION MEN HEAR GROWERS' CASE

Problems of Growing and Marketing Potatoes Discussed at Meeting

Many routing addresses on the Idaho potato production and marketing situation were made at a meeting of the Idaho potato growers and transportation men, which was held in the Parish hall Saturday. The meeting, in the day program, attracted a large attendance of farmers, the growers and commercial officials, together with local business men and technicians in agriculture.

The meeting session found less than 100 persons present, but by noon the convention hall became more congested. Following were made the business of the conference took on a more conventional spirit, and provided ample opportunity for discussions on the subjects presented in the varied sessions of addresses.

It is probable that on any other occasion has so great a conference of railroad representatives gathered in Twin Falls, since the coming of the railroad into this section. In fact, it seemed for a time that the meeting was a "Potato Day Program" meeting held in Parish hall Saturday. The meeting, in the day program, attracted a large attendance of farmers, the growers and commercial officials, together with local business men and technicians in agriculture.

IN DISTRICT COURT YOUTHS DENY GUILT

Bush and Austin Deny State's Accusation of Possessing Contraband

William Bush and M. H. Austin, young men who stand accused by the state of possession of contraband liquor, were arraigned in the district court this morning. Each, through counsel, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. Trial will be conducted before Judge W. A. Babcock at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The offenses were arrested by police and sheriff's force on December 25 at a barn on the west side. In the building the authorities uncovered a cache of 10 quarts of still liquor. Austin was arrested, it is alleged, in the barn and is now held in the jail. The liquor was found in a small container from a jug. The charges are that the youths were in possession of the still liquor, and the sprinkling of hay in a manger. Bush was arrested after Austin when he drove to the barn in an automobile.

Upon examination in the probate court immediately following the arrest, the young men were held to the district court by Judge O. R. Duvall for trial. Defendant Bush is represented by Attorney W. P. Guthrie, while Austin has retained E. V. Larson. In the latter case a motion was made this morning for separate trial, but was denied.

RAMSEYER NOT GUILTY IS VERDICT OF JURY

Blood pulsing followed and the victim of the shooting died a week later in a local hospital.

MILK FROM FULFORD DAIRY IS CONDEMNED

Inspector Hoag Dumps Some in Sewer, Sends Rest Back to Supply Station

Until he is able to offer his patrons milk that meets the cleanliness requirements of the city law Frank Fulford will not be permitted to dispose of the product of his dairy in Twin Falls.

According to W. B. Hoag, milk inspector, has been found on two occasions of disposing foul milk in Twin Falls, a warning being issued for the first offense. On Saturday, H. Hoag declares, an examination of Fulford's milk supply, sample being taken from his wagon on a delivery route, showed heavy sediment deposits in the bottom of the containers. Fulford was ordered to take his stock back to the dairy and to provide to distribute more until the authorities are satisfied that sanitation conditions have been improved at the dairy.

The dairy in question is located northeast of the highway district number plant.

The dairyman was picked up on the west side where five customers had been supplied with milk. In each instance of delivery, Inspector Hoag took up the milk and dumped it in the sewer.

Dr. George E. Barker, a Rotarian, who is the guest at a Rotary club luncheon today and in a brief but forceful talk told the members of the club of his work in the interests of the rising generation and the future civilization of America.

Dr. Barker is a national authority upon the subject which he has elected to make his life work. His style is vigorous yet kindly and his deductions are based upon pure common sense and an observation which reveals many new work in this and kindred lines.

Dr. Barker this afternoon delivers a special address to women only and this evening to men only. The latter is a subject to be heard for the first time at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock on the last of the month.

Weather Scheme Under Revision Over Past Week

The weather maker, functioning in the district, does not believe in one thing all of the time.

Tala characteristics is exemplified in a change in the general weather scheme which revives the idea prevailing all last week from a continued drop of the mercury to a rising notion.

On Saturday night there was a revision upward of two degrees from the night prior, while during the last recorded nocturnal period the rise over Saturday night was five degrees more, making the low of the occasion 16. High yesterday was 29, which was two marks since Saturday.

That warmer weather is on the way is the promise of today's prognosis, which says "Tonight and Tuesday rain or snow; warmer or tonight."

We Hear About Arch Preserver Shoes

TOLD TO OUR SHOE MAN: "For months I had found it almost impossible to wear my afternoon street shoes or evening pumps for any length of time, without the utmost discomfort and pain. I had many feet measured and again, but the trouble wasn't size, nor did I have fallen arches. Just by chance I happened to get a pair of Arch Preserver Oxfords at your fine shoe sale, just for morning wear, they were even too large. Well, I wear them all morning with comfort and now my arches never give me the slightest care. The Oxfords seem to give my arches support when I am on my feet most. This time I want a pair for street wear."

GOING TO BELGIUM: "I cannot wear any other kind of shoes with comfort. Here is my check for the pair you are ordering special for me and here is my address in Liege, Belgium, where you may mail them as soon as they arrive."

FROM ALASKA: "Knowing that you keep a record of my foot measurement and the kind of shoes last sold me, I am enclosing check for a pair of Arch Preserver Shoes, same last and quality as those sent me in July. It seems that I can wear no other shoe."

IN THE SHOE DEPARTMENT: After looking at a number of shoes, a well dressed young lady, said to one of the shoe salesman: "Let me see a pair of those Arch shoes you have been advertising." "I am going to try a pair of those," she said, after they had been tried on, "you know I didn't think they would look so well. I rather expected to see a clumsy looking shoe, but they look just like any other."

MR. WRIGHT SAYS: "I have never been so enthusiastic about any class of merchandise as I am about Arch Preserver Shoes. Sincerely, I think they are the greatest invention in shoe manufacture ever made for women who are on their feet a great deal. The shoes look good, they are stylish, they are of the best quality workmanship and material possible, they give service and comfort and there is no question that they will prevent most of the troubles that the human foot is heir to. We do not say that they will cure fallen arches or other troubles, where the attention of a specialist is needed, but we say emphatically that they will prevent them. I think the time will come when every business woman will wear no other and every other woman have a pair for every day wear."
