DISAGREEMENT ON INDEMNITY HALTS CONFAB

Danger of Breaking Up Is Discerned from Divergence of Views of Supreme Council Members on Reparations

OPTIMISM VANISHES AS LLOYD GEORGE OBJECTS

PARIS, (P)—The divergence of views of the members of the allied supreme council regarding the reparations caused an interruption of the conference today, and in some quarters it is regarded as in danger of breaking up.

The supreme council reached its most critical stage of its deliberations this afternoon. The crisis came over the question of finding the total amount of reparations due from Germany and the methods of payment.

The session of the council which was to have begun at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon was abandoned.

The optimistic feeling of this morning when the committee on reparations appointed yesterday expressed pleasure with their progress, was soon abandoned when the British prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George found the projects under discussion by the committee were entirely inadequate to bring the war to a close.

Belgian Plan Is Basis

Progress was reported by the expert committee on German reparations appointed yesterday by the supreme council, when the committee advised this noon after a two hour discussion.

The basis of the discussion was the Belgian proposal, presented by M. Jans, Belgian foreign minister, that Germany be compelled to make annual reparations of 100 million marks, and three billion marks as a maximum. As outlined by M. Jans in a statement last night, the plan would require the annual payment of 100 million marks, but would leave the time to be determined at some later date.

The Belgian plan, as elaborated by M. Jans before the supreme council this morning, was presented to Mr. Lloyd George after the committee had agreed on its first session. The French official representative in the supreme council, prime minister Georges Clemenceau, who was present at the meeting, the committee this afternoon will be able to put the finishing touch upon the plan.

Decisive Day Anticipated

Representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium and Japan attended the session of the supreme council this afternoon in this city, faced this morning with the decision of the day of the meeting. The divergent views on the reparations question, especially those of France and Great Britain, which were presented at yesterday's session, had brought about a real deadlock, and it seemed the culminating period of the conference had arrived.

The French representative, speaking of the expert committee considering the amount and method of the German reparations payment, M. Jans, the Belgian foreign minister, said that Germany was compelled to pay a maximum of five to six billion gold marks annually.

REPORTS CUT OF $63,897,242 IN MILITARY COSTS

Army Appropriation Bill Carrying Total of $328,861,125 Is Reported to House; Provides for 150,000 Regulars

WASHINGTON, (P)—Frased to provide for a force of 150,000 regulars, the army appropriation bill, reported to the house today, carried a total of $328,861,125, a reduction of $63,897,242 from current appropriations. The war department had asked for $392,811,070.

The Philippine scout, numbering about 600 men, $200 flying cadets and 14,000 commissioned officers are not included in the 150,000 total.

Reduction in the army, the committee report said, was proposed with view to early withdrawal of Americans in Germany. Chairman Anthony, of the military subcommittee of the appropriations committee, told the house that the present plan of the war department to maintain nine divisions in camps abroad during the war was unnecessary waste and expense.

Recommendations

"While the committee has greatly reduced those appropriations which support some of the more expensive branches of the national guard," the report said, "it believes that if the war department will follow a policy of permitting the growth of the national guard along the most economic and useful lines, which are infantry, cavalry, and artillery, and will minimize the organization of those branches of the guard which require the issue and maintenance of animals and motor and special technical equipment, that national economies can be effected which not only will increase the efficiency of the guard but will aid in its growth and expansion."

COOLIDGE PUTS WELFARE ABOVE MOTIVE OF GAIN

Defends Protective Tariff in Address at Atlanta, Georgia, but Declares for Careful Preliminary Survey

ATLANTA, (AP)—Calvin Coolidge, vice-president-elect, addressing the Southern Tariff Conference tonight, said that in a determination of the economic policy of the country "the sole object to be sought is the public welfare." He defended the protective tariff but said there would need to be "a careful survey of the field in order to determine what application of former policy can be made to existing conditions before he tried to provide for the public welfare."

"Geographical divisions and sectional areas have been swept away," said Mr. Coolidge. "The tariff of the North and the South, the East and the West, is everywhere submerged in the overwhelming sentiment of a yet greater pride that we are all Americans. The outstanding result of the recent national election was more than anything else the unshakable determination of our country to be and remain in all things thoroughly American."

No Mandate of Omnipotence
"We have not been given a mandate of omnipotence. We have not been entrusted with world sovereignty. But we have an inheritance of obligation, of responsibility, of duty to the United States. This condition of our amount responsibility is in no sense a denial of international relationships, for international relationships imply primarily a recognition of national unity and national duty. We subscribe to the creed of world brotherhood, but we recognize that we can serve the world best by serving America first."
"Steady progress is being made toward industrial revival and soon the old struggle of international competition will again confront us. In fact it has already begun. The problem with which we are confronted is to the solution of which the Southern Tariff Congress can materially contribute in preventing industrial isolation on the one hand and industrial subjugation on the other."

"Four forthrightly acknowledged the right of America to protect itself against the dictation and the domination of any foreign power and they fought with our forthrightness for the independence of the United States. The independence which they sought was not merely independence of foreign lands and foreign empires. They sought also independence from commercial domination."
"The economic life of the country is made up of private business enterprises and the public consists of agreement of private individuals. So it is no criticism of protection that it benefits private business and private individuals. That must be the result as this is the object sought. But protection should be given in such manner that, broadly speaking, the benefit received by any private interest should not be disproportionate to the increased public service which that private interest renders by reason of the benefits derived from such protection."

"We have a great diversity of interests which are all entitled to consideration. It is in the building of a great nation that we must make a careful adjustment. In making that adjustment all must remember that each has support on the other. In the long run no one is interdependent."

Real Concern of Nation
"The real concern of the nation is not merely in the creating of great factories. It is in the building of a great government in industrial policies primarily in national revenue, national defense and the welfare of the people. The greatest revenue comes from the greatest production, not greatest imports. National defense depends upon the skill of our people and the diversity of our industries. The welfare of the people depends upon opportunities for employment and our ability to pay goods."

"These are the subjects toward which the nation should direct its industrial policy. There are the subjects which the consummation of which the whole nation invites the welcome and effective participation of the South."

TREASURER CONFESSES THEFT OF COUNTY FUNDS

Marion Official Admits Inventing Story of Robbery to Cover Defalcation

MARION, O., (AP)—Treasurer Harry C. Fory, of Marion county, who reported Wednesday morning that he had been robbed of $14,808 by two bandits who knocked him unconscious in his office in the court house, was placed under arrest early today and confessed to the theft of the money, police announced today.

The arrest came almost immediately after the birth of a fourth baby in the Fory household. Fory is 35 years old, a democrat, son-in-law of State Representative H. W. Cookston, and was defeated in November for reelection.

In his confession, according to the authorities, Fory, who was found supposedly unconscious on the floor of the treasurer's office Wednesday morning, admitted that he scratched his face and struck himself on the head with a hammer to make the story of an assault by two bandits seem plausible. He said he had taken the money home the night before and hidden it in a chest.

Fory, in his signed confession, said he went deeply into debt last fall during his campaign for reelection and had heavily mortgaged two homes he owned. His friends believe that his mind became deranged with worry over his financial obligations, and his defeat for reelection.

URGES PURCHASE OF FIBRE STOCK BY GOVERNMENT

British Manufacturer Predicts Repetition of Situation in the Early Days of War Unless Relief Is Forthcoming

MANCHESTER, Eng., (AP)—A leading cotton-grower has sent a message to Sir Charles Macdonald arguing that a world cotton conference be called with out delay, to deal with the situation arising from the decline in the price of fibre and the threatened 50 per cent reduction in acreage under cotton, says the Manchester Guardian. In the course of an interview Sir Charles, who is one of the largest cotton manufacturers of Great Britain, said:

"Cotton has fallen a long way below the cost of production, and the inevitable result will be that, great curtailment in the acreage devoted to cotton will follow. I have contended for many years that cotton is a commodity which, if properly packed and stored, can be kept for years without deterioration."

"A recommendation such as I made at the outbreak of war, that the surplus cotton should be taken over by the government. Instead, should be adopted now. This would save the situation. If action is not taken we shall have a repetition of what occurred in the early days of the war, when where they will make their home. American cotton fell from 7 1/4 pence to 4 pence a pound, involving all cotton growers heavy losses, and subsequent rise to 45 pence, increasing the Wednesday.

price of the world's cotton crop by one billion pounds, and raising the price of clothing enormously. "We are undoubtedly suffering from the present campaign of 'slump,' the restriction of credit to bring about financial soundness and the government excess profits duty, which, instead of encouraging industry, has had the effect of strangling it."

"These are the factors mainly responsible for the present dearth of business, from which, however, there is bound to be a great reaction. Both 'boom' and 'slump' are equally pernicious. What is wanted is a readjustment of values."

CALCUTTA. (P)—The first European who has had an audience of the Dalai Lama of Tibet at Lhasa since Manning in 1811 has just returned here after two months' residence in the "forbidden land."

Mr. J. Bailey, a telegraph engineer in the service of the Government of India, who reports that the Tibetan government is apparently anxious for the country to be linked up by telegraph with India, and there are also faint signs, he thinks, of a desire for industrial advance on European lines.

Back to Middle Ages. "I have been back to Lhasa," he says, "transported straight back to the middle ages. There is no sanitation or drainage in Lhasa today and if it were not for the high temperature, which is the only thing that is built on a plateau 11,000 feet high, the 30,000 inhabitants would quickly die of typhoid fever."

The audience of the Dalai Lama took place in the Norbulinga palace three miles outside the city. The reception hall was gorgeously decorated in red and gold, and was filled with silk canopy over the throne on which the Dalai Lama was seated in European fashion. He had a yellow robe and a yellow-brown robe, and his hair was done in the familiar, plaited fashion of the lama. His salutation took the form of placing one hand on the forehead in front of a long silk shawl, which courtesy I returned by placing a silk shawl over the arm of his throne.

Makes Intimate Inquiry. "The Dalai Lama's first question concerned my age, and the second, my wife's age, and he showed great interest in my experience in my journey. His holiness gave me the same impression of gentle kindness which I derived from all my contacts with the Tibetans."

Mr. Bailey also visited the Council of Shapies, as the Tibetan cabinet is called.

The "Diogenes." "He says, inquired anxiously if the war were now over and Europe at peace again. Afterward, they invited me to a corner booth. The only thing was that, my interpreter was so overcome with nervousness that he spilled the tea in the lap of one of the shapies and he poured it."

Mr. Bailey also visited the Jo King, the Buddhist cathedral, where he found a bell left behind by the Chinese fathers in the early days when they first attempted to found a mission in Lhasa.

Fifth Amid Splendor. "In front of the main altar," Mr. Bailey says, "stands a large, heavy, old, solid silver, about two feet in diameter and three feet in height. This lamp is literally placed in the wall by the fifth left by millions of pilgrims, who have been in the habit for centuries of touching it in the course of their devotions."

DE VALERA'S VISIT IN FRANCE IS TO BE SHORT

Irish Republican Leader is Expected in Dublin Today, Representative in Paris Says

PARIS. (P)—Eamon de Valera, who has been making a brief visit to France will be back in Ireland within twenty-four hours, it was declared here today by Sean O'Connell, who is representative of the Irish republican movement. He said De Valera was expected to arrive in Dublin today, or at the latest by tomorrow forenoon.

No effort had been made by the Irish republican leader while he was in France to see Premier Lloyd George, now in Paris attending the supreme council session, declared O'Connell, nor had any attempt been made to bring the Irish question before the supreme council.

DUBLIN. (P)—It was declared here today by a representative of the highest authority, that Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, was still in Dublin and that reports of his flight to London were erroneous, probably designed to conceal his real whereabouts.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO IN TWIN FALLS

Take at random from The News How the city in 1906

At a special meeting of the Commercial club held in the office of Hill and Taylor on Wednesday afternoon, Vice President H. P. Allen was designated to represent the club at the "See America First" congress in Salt Lake City, which was to be held today, and B. F. Hamilton was selected to represent the city of Twin Falls.

School was commenced at Tyler Monday, January 15 with 18 pupils enrolled. It is expected that this number will double in a few days as it was not generally known that school had commenced. G. H. Springfield, recently from southern Illinois is the teacher.

C. Harder has purchased the lot and building on the Triplet building on the south and will build on it in the spring. (This is the building now occupied by the City Cafe.—Ed.)

John Janney has returned to Twin Falls after an absence of several months. He was astonished at the improvements since his last visit.

J. H. Randall of the American Bridge company, is here for the purpose of supervising the erection of the Twin Falls Water company's big tank. The tank which will be used should have a capacity of 35,000 gallons, about three times the capacity of the present tank.

It is announced that the time schedule will be changed on the Twin Falls branch after February 1 when the passenger train will arrive in the evening, remain over night and leave Twin Falls in the morning. This will allow better connections at Minidoka and do away with the tedious waits at that station.

Steps have been taken to organize a building and loan association. Quite a number of shares have been subscribed and it is believed that a sufficient amount will soon be taken to permit organization.

AFTER 9 YEARS BICYCLE RIDER TO SEE AGAIN

Otto Ziegler, Champion Speeder in '90's, is Recovering His Sight

SAN JOSE, Cal. (P)—Otto Ziegler, the famous bicycle speeder, who held several bicycle speed records and later won the title of world champion rider, is slowly recovering his sight after spending nine years in darkness at a state school for the blind in Oakland, Cal.

A fall Ziegler suffered while racing in Seattle, Wash., led to his blindness, he believes. About a year ago he began to see light and now his doctor says he will regain his lost sight with a year.

Ziegler has never seen an airplane or a modern automobile. "I've heard the airplanes overhead and have often tried to imagine what they are like," he said recently. Discussing automobiles, he said the ones he remembers were rough riding models of 1910 with backs projecting high above the body lines. "I can tell the big improvements in them by the increasing comfort of their riding qualities and the fact they do not make so much noise," he asserted.

When Ziegler awoke blind to San Jose after recovering his sight he was reminded of a reception he received years ago when he came home from Denver after breaking several world records. It is said that one of the largest crowds ever assembled in San Jose up to that time was at the railroad station to meet him, for bicycle racing was a sport of the first class. A hand headed a parade in which the rider rode in a carriage which was used just once before to carry President Harrison about the city.

Headline—Joe confides he'll come back.

Of course! Of course! The stretchers will be there to help the "comeback."

Yest!

Last fall Bill Lane, prey of the Salt Lake Bears, declared there would be but a few of the 1921 team members on the roster when the year 1921 opened for baseball activity.

And Bill is making good his promise. The minor league bosses removed Rube and Magnum from the roster, while the club itself has sold Sherry, Johnson and Mulligan to the White Sox, and, in addition, has traded Marty Krug to the Portland outfit for Paul Egin.

Also, Wally Hood has gone to the Brooklyn club of the National League, and Spider Baum has quit of his own volition.

Some shirkup.

Jack Curley, head of the Big Five wrestling trust, says he will not prosecute another match with the headlock.

A good start toward real reform of the wrestling game, we'll say.

The headlock is a murderous clutch, not a part of wrestling science, wholly not a part without a thing to be said in its favor except that the athlete who can use it successfully demonstrates untoward and unusual arm strength.

Somewhat we can't think Jim London is the wonder folks would have on believe. He wrestled Sam Chapman, Briton, the other night in Potomac and Sam, who has been handily flopped by everybody else in the country, Bam stood off the Greek for 31 minutes before the first fall was obtained. The second was easy in about 15 minutes.

"I am isn't much of a matman, on the record he has made in this country, and an athlete of London's tested defenses would have flopped the English quickly."

Either London is a false alarm of ole Potomac fans had something slipped on the mat to create an interest in the ever unpopular wrestling game.

The latter seems the most plausible excuse for Chapman's stay in the ring with the sturdy Greek.

S'm Smiley, sagebrush sage, says: "Most folks who ain't got no mind of their own, seem to have a idee they kin tell 'er other fellow smethin'."

Al Nelson and Ray Ross, brothers, are to return to this state from the coast, where they have been mingling with other mill artists of greater or less prowess.

The lads are engaged to show at the Potomac boxing club some time soon.

BIG FIGHT IN LEGISLATURE IS IN MAKING

Storm Due to Break Monday
when Administration Forces
Attempt to Put Over Bill
Abolishing 2 Mill. Road Tax

BOISE, (Special to The News)—The first big fight of the legislative session is brewing in the capital this week. It will break Monday when the administration forces in the senate attempt to put over senate bill No. 66 abolishing the two-mill tax levy for roads in the state.

Governor Davis has announced that the tax must be done away with. This would have been passed down the line, but there are forces at work which want to keep the tax alive for at least two years more.

Expenditures Cause Furry
Discovery that the state highway department has spent $500,000 in excess of its appropriation for 1919-1921 has caused a furry, and in counties where money has been advanced to the state, there is genuine anxiety. These counties want the tax continued in order that they receive on their loans.

The state last fall voted $5,000,000 in highway bonds. The administration forces desire to pay the bonds out of the money and to keep up the roads with funds derived from a gasoline tax.

The bill providing for the tax on gasoline has been prepared, but an attempt will be made to prevent it from reaching the legislature. The administration forces want this tax because it will bring in a large revenue from an indirect source. This tax bill has been written, but it is being held up.

Sever Leading Fight
Senate bill No. 66 was on the calendar in the senate Wednesday for third reading. Opposition of Senator Whitten of Boise county, and afterwards at the request of Senator Whitcomb, majority leader, it was put over until Monday. This action was taken for the purpose of permitting the opposition to make a united fight. Senator Jones of Idaho county is looked upon as the leader in the senate of the forces which are endeavoring to prevent the repeal of the tax. Senator Sever of Twin Falls is leading the fight for the enactment of the bill which will abolish the tax.

The administration leaders are confident that they have enough votes to strike the highway tax. This was evidenced Wednesday when they consented to senate bill No. 66 going over until Monday. The opposition is just as confident. It was working earnestly in an effort to solidify its line and its leaders appear to believe that their lines will hold Monday.

Albion Question Involved
Friends of Albion normal and the interests which want a high state tax for state educational institutions are being drawn into the fight against the repeal of the two-mill levy for roads. There is a move on to put across a two-mill tax for the educational institutions. This would save Albion normal and give the educational institution plenty of money, if trades can be made which will lead to an alliance between the forces desirous of a high state tax levy.

If the gasoline tax bill can be killed and the two-mill road tax continued in force it will save motorists $500,000 on their gasoline bill.

To accomplish this and strengthen the lines being built in defense of the two-mill tax levy the counties are being promised complete control over the funds raised for road building purposes. It was told in these dispatches some days ago how the committee on roads, bridges and ferries, the lower house was endeavoring within the clove of the highway department. This move is gathering force. The state highway department is discredited because of its failure to keep within its appropriation in 1919 and 1920 and the county commissioners have refused to appropriate any more money for road building in conjunction with the state unless they are permitted to handle it.

Davis Future in Balance
In many ways the fight over the two-mill levy promises to lead to a new alignment of forces in the legislature. The administration forces realize that the future of Governor Davis will hang in the balance. Lieutenant Governor Moore's political future is also hanging in the balance for he is looked upon as the successor to Governor Davis and if the opposition is successful in keeping taxes up to their present high level, or succeeds in boosting them even higher than they now are, the republican state organization may have to be re-organized and in the event of a re-organization Lieutenant Governor Moore would experience difficulty in winning the nomination for governor in 1923.

DOLLAR AWARD GIVEN IN LAND CASE ACTION

F. J. Keenan Wins Contest
Against F. J. Parker in the District Court

In the district court yesterday afternoon F. J. Keenan was awarded a verdict of $1 against F. J. Parker, the second being a reversal of a finding some months ago in a lower court.

The original action was brought by Mr. Parker against Keenan and E. P. Bismarck, and was instituted for the purpose of getting a court judgment awarding an $100,000 note for approximately $1700, said to be given in payment for land purchased from the plaintiff. The case was taken to the district court on a counter claim, resulting in an award as above noted, and thus depriving the original plaintiff of the value of the note.

Keenan complained that the note was procured by fraud, alleging that representation had been made in selling a tract of farm land to him by Parker. Announcement has been made that the matter will probably be taken to the supreme court.

The complaint by Mr. Morse denies that he is indebted to Mr. Taylor in the sum of $10,000 on employment contract, declaring that the contract was only for work as long as work and services proved satisfactory. Defendant alleged that he has liquidated all claims against him for employment.

In the original action Mr. Taylor alleged that he was employed by defendant as architect under a contract extending over a period of 12 months at a given salary. He further alleged that the contract was made with Mr. Morse before his expiration, and without good or sufficient cause. The sum of $10,000 is alleged to be due on the contract to plaintiff.

FRATERNAL SOCIETIES WANT NURSE RETAINED

Appeal to Be Made to County to Relieve Red Cross Health
Aid Department

At a meeting of the local Elks today, held last night, a movement was initiated to make the office of Red Cross nurse for this county a permanent institution, and make the office a part of the county administration. To this effect a petition is to be drafted and addressed to the board of county commissioners.

The movement grows out of and really is a part of deliberations conducted by various charity organizations and benevolent bodies having reference to the handling of benevolent matters. The Elks, together with the Masons, Pythians, Knights of Columbus, and similar organizations, having learned that the county Red Cross chapter is not longer in financial position to employ a nurse for public relief, determined to make joint appeal to the county commissioners to take the burden of expense from the Red Cross, assuming the department as a part of the county health service.

The Elks, acting on motion, selected a committee to have charge of drafting suitable resolutions addressed to the commissioners. These, it is expected, will be presented without delay.
