SUGAR PRODUCTION IN 1920 BREAKS RECORDS

Crop Estimates Bureau Announces 63 Per Cent Increase Over 1919

WASHINGTON, (AP)—American sugar production in 1920 broke all previous records. A preliminary announcement today by the bureau of commerce estimates placed the aggregate production of beet and cane sugar for the year at 2,600,174,000 pounds, a 63 per cent increase over the previous record output in 1919 and 62 per cent more than was produced in 1918.

Beet sugar at 2,210,000,000 pounds showed a 27 per cent increase over the previous record production in 1919. Larger acreage and favorable weather conditions were responsible for the increase.

The United States is said to produce about one-fourth of the sugar it consumes. Per capita consumption for various periods was as follows: 1914, 90 pounds; 1917, 87.5 pounds; 1918, 92 pounds; 1919, 84.2 pounds; 1920, 92 pounds.

The 92-pound figure means that the 1920 production was sufficient to supply the domestic demand for sugar, and that the 1920 figure showed an increase of 1.5 million pounds of sugar consumption over the previous year.

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER MUST DEFEND POLICY

indications at Reassembling of Parliament are Plain that Lloyd George will be Called Upon to Fight

LONDON, (AP)—New political alignments and the proposal of legislative measures that will be introduced tomorrow import to the people of Great Britain were fore-shadowed when parliament reassembled here today after a recess of seven weeks. Opposite to the Lloyd George ministry and discontent with many of the policies it has pursued in the recent past, seemed to have reached a climax, and it appeared the stability of the cabinet would be put to its crucial test before the final adjournment of the session next week.

ATTACKS ON GOVERNMENT CENTER ON IRISH ISSUE

LONDON, (AP)—New political alignments and the proposal of legislative measures that will be introduced tomorrow import to the people of Great Britain were fore-shadowed when parliament reassembled here today after a recess of seven weeks. Opposite to the Lloyd George ministry and discontent with many of the policies it has pursued in the recent past, seemed to have reached a climax, and it appeared the stability of the cabinet would be put to its crucial test before the final adjournment of the session next week.

Irish Storm Center. Attacks on the government seemed certain to center about Ireland, the condition of the country, the policy of the premier for the future government of the Irish people. Former supporters of the coalition government were among those who were most bitter in their comment on the Irish situation, and appeared to be united with the opposition. The financial situation, centering about conditions of unemployment and high taxes, brought new elements to the side of those opposing Mr. Lloyd George, while the policy the premier adopted relative to trade with Russia and acceptance of a British mandate for Mesopotamia seemingly went far toward disintegrating the apparently overwhelming majority held by the premier in the house of commons.

Overstake Not Forecast. Collapse of the Lloyd George regime was not forecast, as it was foreseen he probably would be able to control enough votes in his minority. His position, centering about conditions of unemployment and high taxes, brought new elements to the side of those opposing Mr. Lloyd George, while the policy the premier adopted relative to trade with Russia and acceptance of a British mandate for Mesopotamia seemingly went far toward disintegrating the apparently overwhelming majority held by the premier in the house of commons.

VIOLENCE WILL NOT END IN IRELAND KING, SAYS KING

Situation in Ireland and Unemployment Problem Receive Attention in Speech from Throne to Parliament

LONDON, (AP)—Violence will not solve the Irish problem, King George declared here today in his speech from the throne to the two houses of parliament in formally opening the session. One of the outstanding sections of his address referred to Ireland, the king saying:

"The situation in Ireland will cause me distress. A mislaid section of the Irish people persists in resorting to methods of criminal violence with this object of establishing an independent republic."

"Neither Irish unity nor Irish self-government can be attained by these means."

Touches Vital Questions. The king's speech was brief, but touched on numerous vital questions confronting the government. At the outset it referred to the coronation ceremonies to be held in London and at Epsom by the representatives of allied nations, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Italy, Japan and the United States on the subject.

"The conference," the amendment provided, "shall be charged with the duty of reaching an understanding or agreement by which naval building of the three powers shall be substantially equalized annually during the next five years."

Mormon Church Will Accept Cash Offer for Mexican Lands. Tract Abandoned by Colonists During Revolutions to Return to Sonora.

SAIT LAKE CITY, (AP)—The Mormon church will accept the offer of the Sonora state government of $100,000 for lands formerly occupied by Mormon colonists in Colonia Morelos, sixty miles south of Aguila Prieta, which were abandoned during revolutions and which have been used by Mexican squatters since that time, according to the Sonora state government, Secretary to President Alvaro Obregon.

The offer has been made in American gold. It is understood that the Sonora state government will collect the $100,000 from the squatters to make the payment.

Former Police Court Now Handball Court. HELIX, N. J. (AP)—The police court of Judge Jones here has been converted into a handball court for fitness and policemen. Only the magistrate's bench is left in the room and when the police officers are not playing handball it is used as a court, where minor offenders are tried. The players have the right of possession of the room, however, and when they wish to play the judge moves his court, should it be in session, to other parts of the city hall.

EDITOR DENIES ANY COMPLICITY IN BOMB PLOTS

Sees Trap to Compromise Monarchists in Activities of Two Women Taken in Custody by Lisbon Police

LISBON, (AP)—Two women who left a handbag containing six dynamite bombs in the office of the royalist newspaper Monarchia just before that office was raided by the police the other day have been arrested. Their apprehension tends to clear up a mystery connected with the plot.

Sees Compromise Plot
It is learned that the police raid was made because they had discovered the delivery of the bombs, but the editor of the newspaper asserts that the women who brought the bombs to the office in his absence were absolutely unknown to him. He declared that the whole affair was a trap to compromise the faction of royalists represented by the Monarchia, and denied that the party was preparing for any armed conspiracy at this moment, as such he said, "would only deny the suicide of the present regime."

The police have discovered that one of the women who carried the bombs to the office of the Monarchia did so at the request of her husband, a man who was in prison for justification in some past royalist uprisings, and who died last week while still a prisoner. Just before his death, his wife said, he told her to take a handbag which had been for a long time in their house to the newspaper office and give it to one of the editors, Lieutenant Luis Chaves. She declared that she obeyed her husband's request without any knowledge of the bag's contents. "The police followed her to the newspaper office, found the bombs, closed and sealed the office and made several arrests. Lieutenant Chaves could not be found."

Prisoners in Despair

The hundreds of royalists who are loyal to the former King Manuel and who have been in prison for more than two years since the last royalist uprising are in despair over this affair, which they believe will postpone indefinitely the amnesty to political prisoners which they have long been promised. For several nights following the raid on the Monarchia, ranguinary conflicts took place in some of the principal Lisbon cafes between bands of armed defenders of the Portuguese republic and people suspected of being members of the Integralista faction of royalists. The faction does not recognize former King Manuel as its head but supports Dom Nuno Duarte, a boy of 18 years.

Canadian Unfolds Strange Tale of Imprisonment and Slavery when Picked Up on Border

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (AP)—A strange tale of imprisonment and slavery in a salt mine in Mexico was unfolded to the immigration officers at the international border a week ago when they picked up Edwin U. Kehoe. His statements having been substantiated, Kehoe was admitted to Canada and given transportation to New Westminster.

Kehoe, a native of Quebec, graduated at Edinburgh university as a civil engineer. In 1908 he took a position with a Mexican oil company and four years later, according to his story, was forced to take rides with one of the revolutionary parties then warring on the western slope. Captured, he said, he was thrown in a vermin-infested prison and later put to work in a salt mine. During that time he did not hear of the great war raging in Europe.

Three months ago the opportunity to escape came, according to Kehoe. Hitting his guard over the head with a rock, he scaled the 800-foot shaft and made his way across the American boundary, from whence he came north by foot and blind baggage.

STATE SOCIETY CLAIMS HISTORIC IDAHO DESK

Massive Piece of Furniture of Carved Walnut Used by Ten Governors is Discarded

BOISE, Idaho, (AP)—A flat top desk, used by ten Idaho governors, including Edward A. Stevenson, last territorial governor, is to become the property of the Idaho state historical society. In 1915 when the new Idaho statehouse was completed the old desk was taken over by Miller Conner, then speaker of agriculture. It is a massive affair of carved walnut, with handsome carved legs and drawers, the top is covered with black oil cloth.

The Idaho governors using the desk were: B. A. Stevenson, last territorial governor; George L. Shoup, the first governor; Norman B. Wiley; William J. McConnell; Frank J. Morrison; Frank W. Hunt; John T. Morrison; Frank B. Gooding; James H. Brady and James H. Hawley. Of this group of ten but four are now living, Wiley, McConnell, Gooding and Hawley.

Heart-Breaking Smiles

There are thousands of kinds of smiles, but it would be mighty hard to picture even in the mind's eye smiles more poignantly tragic than those here seen. Two years of life have held little save misery for these Vienna youngsters, yet, even though the result is painful, they smile. They are victims of rickets, the offspring of near-starvation, and that countless others in stricken Europe may not have to share their fate eight American relief organizations, under the name of the European Relief Council, are making a joint appeal for the concurrence of America to complete relief work which this winter faces its crisis. These agencies are the American Relief Administration, the American Relief (Cross), the American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers), the Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Knights of Columbus, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

BARUCH OFFERS MARKET SCHEME

Former Chairman of War Finance Corporation Would Assist Farmers

Killed Value of Old Coins.
Old-fashioned copper cents of the years 1817, 1818, 1819 and 1820 were formerly very rare and correspondingly valuable; but bags full of them were found in an old bank and the market was flooded.

FIRST MORTGAGE INVESTMENTS. Arthur L. Swin—adv.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (AP)—A system for placing agriculture and the marketing of farm crops in the United States on a business basis through the proper financing was outlined to the farmers grain marketing committee of 17 here Monday by Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the war finance corporation.

Declaring that the farmer "has never received a fair share of what he produced," Mr. Baruch proposed corporations for financing the marketing of farm products as a way out of the situation brought about by low prices. "A lot of people say it can't be done," he said, "but I have no job now and I am going to prove it can be done in working out a system for the movement of the cotton crop in South Carolina."

Outlining his plan for marketing financing, Mr. Baruch declared that better elevator and warehouse facilities at the point of origin were the first consideration. The farmer could bring his grain or other products to be stored and properly graded and receive a warehouse receipt. He could obtain other time credits from the marketing corporation giving his warehouse receipt as security. Mr. Baruch continued, "This, he said, would carry the farmer over the harvest period and would tend to stabilize market conditions."

Bans Introduction of Miss MacSweeney

OMAHA, Neb., (AP)—Rev. Robert L. Wheeler, pastor of the Wheeler Memorial church, failed to introduce Miss Mary MacSweeney, sister of the late lord mayor of Cork, to an audience here Sunday as had been planned because of a resolution adopted by the governing body of his church. It was explained today by the board's secretary, John A. Bradley. The resolution said it was "the sense of this session" that the pastor be forbidden to present Miss MacSweeney's name at a public meeting of which she spoke.

Indorse Measure for Purchase of Farm Loan Bonds

Senate Passes Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was passed Monday by the senate and sent to conference. It carries about $114,000,000 for salaries and maintenance of government departments and was the fourth of the regular supply bills to be passed by the senate.

One of the riders added by the senate was the provision authorizing the secretary of the treasury to purchase $100,000,000 of farm loan bonds. The provision for the annual $40 bonus to government employees, including those in navy yards and arsenals, which went out on a point of order, was reinserted by a vote of 42 to 29 under a suspension of the rules.

The senate refused to include a provision for the use of profits of federal reserve banks in the purchase of federal farm loan bonds. The amendment offered by Senator Sterling, republican, of South Dakota, would have made available $100,000,000 for loans to farmers.

OPPOSES PAROLE SYSTEM

SPOKANE Police Officer Advocates Sentences for Fixed Terms

SPOKANE, Wash., (AP)—Abolition of the present parole system is advocated by Martin J. Burns, captain of detectives of the Spokane police department, as a means of reducing the present number of crimes. "The crime wave which is sweeping the country will never stop until the indeterminate sentence and parole system are abolished," Captain Burns declared. "Fully 75 per cent of all serious crimes are committed by ex-convicts."

Captain Burns declared sentences should be for fixed terms and judges should be appointed to handle nothing but criminal cases.

The New Spring Suits ARE HERE!

PRETTIER than ever. There's never been a season we looked forward to with so much enthusiasm. Our suits that are coming each day are simply wonderful. We are just waiting a chance to show them to you. Of course, Navy Blue will be the one big color. Lots of them embroidered and just lots of those neat, natty tailored models the stylish woman loves. Perfectly made of Tricotine and Serge, and fit—say, you should try them on—they are not like you used to buy, they really fit just like they were made for you—the kind we have.

Now About the Price---

It's a pleasure to tell you—they are way down. Very much lower in price than last spring. Say from $25.00 to $65.00 you get suits that last spring you would have to pay nearly double for.

For $20 Wool Jersey Suits--New Ones

"Miss Manhattan"—You've seen them advertised in your magazines. Two styles at $20.00 in misses' sizes only. Just the thing for school girls and small women. Well made. Good styles, real all-wool heather jersey, in all colors—$20.00. Sizes 16, 18 and 20.

We are showing new spring Hats and Suits, too. This is a busy store all the time.

CASE OF JUDGE LANDIS WITHOUT DEVELOPMENTS

Impeachment Proceedings at a Standstill Pending Fixing of Hearing Date

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Impeachment proceedings instituted in the house by the committee on the Judiciary, charged against Judge Landis, of Chicago, remained at a standstill today pending the fixing of a date by the Judiciary committee for a hearing on the charges preferred against the jurist by the House representatives. Chairman Volstead announced that Representative Wiley and other witnesses as he may desire to call, would be asked to appear before the committee probably within a week.

Reading his charge against Judge Landis on the floor of the house yesterday, Representative Wiley moved his impeachment proceeding to the committee of the office of supreme arbitrator of baseball while still serving on the bench.

Many members expressed the belief that the case would be thrown out by the Judiciary committee in view of the attorney general's opinion that Judge Landis was not in accepting the outside date in question.

LANDIS' WIFE FOUND

IN "PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON CHIAPIAJON, Ill., (AP)—In an address here last night, W. E. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, internal temperance worker, assailed critics of Judge M. J. Landis, who is charged with accepting a bribe of $50,000 to secure a reduced sentence of a youth accused of embezzlement, yet they are not concerned in the case of bootleggers on suspended sentence. Johnson said he convicted six hundred bootleggers in Wisconsin and that some of them are now in Alcatraz under their third suspended sentence.

WOULD STEER SHY OF CAMERA

Although Colonel Whittesley, an active member of the American Legion, led the famous "lost battalion" through the Arzonne and was one of the "lost" Americans who won the blue ribbon of the congressional medal of honor, he told "Fatty" Arbuckle that he would be "scared" to death if placed before a motion picture camera.

"You can stare a man; you can wound him with bullets," said Colonel Whittesley during a recent visit to a Hollywood movie studio with the portly comedian, "but you can't dim his eyes for an instant. Just for five hours after my boys of the Third Hundred and Eighth Infantry had landed in a safe billeting area on being relieved from their perilous position, the whole bunch were in a 'T' hat watching a five-reel comedy."

In These Days.

"Who's the boss here?" asked a traveling salesman as he stopped at a farm with a set of the World's Best Literature, 12 volumes.

"He" replied the man at the door wearily, pointing to the hired man loading hay in a field. "I'm only his employer."—American Legion Weekly.

The Good of Life.

"What is the good of life?" A philosopher has answered: "Giving and loving and helping." The happy are the helping, the loving are the living. "He who has a tear for pity and a hand open as day for morning charity" is whose good deeds are not out wish for publicity or expectation of gratitude—his is the rarest luxury of soul. Charles Lamb tells us that the greatest pleasure he ever knew was to do a good action by stealth and have it found out by accident.—Humphrey J. Desmond.

Savages Knowledge of Iron.

Explorers have been astonished to find in the wilds of Africa savages acquainted with the art of getting iron from its ore and working it. To smelt the ore, they use a primitive blast furnace, a naked mud, with charcoal for fuel and bellows to expand the requisite high heat. It seems altogether likely that knowledge of these processes was prehistoric, derived by their Arab and Phoenician, who then, as in later times, overran most of Africa.

Extraordinary Hunting.

William Brewster, at Hild, England, in 1893, jumped one thousand hurdles, each three feet six inches high, to sixty-one and a half minutes. That is equal to lifting his own weight nine times the height of St. Paul's in London, and running six miles into the bargain.

NEGLECT OF DISABLED MEN

Investigations by the American Legion reveal shocking conditions of mismanagement and neglect in the government's treatment of disabled veterans, according to reports of the committee on the Judiciary, charged against Judge Landis, of Chicago, remained at a standstill today pending the fixing of a date by the Judiciary committee for a hearing on the charges preferred against the jurist by the House representatives.

PLIGHT OF REFUGEE CHILDREN TERRIBLE

One hundred thousand Russian refugees in Poland are absolutely destitute, according to official estimates. The majority of them are women and children. The condition of the latter particularly is pitiful and they will be among the beneficiaries from the $25,000,000 fund being raised by the European Relief Council, composed of eight leading American relief agencies for a joint appeal in behalf of the millions of little Europeans who can look only to America for their food, clothing and medical care that will make it possible for them to survive the winter.

WHEAT PRICES ASCEND FOLLOWING WEAK START

Sharp Upturn Result From Attention to Crop Outlook; March Prices Strong 4 1/2 to 6 1/4 Higher

CHICAGO, (AP)—Weakness developed in the wheat market today owing largely to a disappointing start of buyers to go slow to the advance of any new factor of a bullish character. It was contended that recent sharp advances had discounted known conditions for at least the time being. Steady bidding prices of the March delivery were noted. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1/2 lower, with March 6 1/2 to 6 3/4 and May 6 1/2 to 6 3/4, were followed by a slight rally, but then by downturns all around.

Subsequently, fresh attention was given to the crop outlook, especially as viewed by field experts representing big farms here. Sharp upturn followed. Green beans were reported in Kansas and actual damage from them in Texas. The market closed strong, 4 1/2 to 6 1/4 not higher, with March 6 1/2 to 6 3/4 and May 6 1/2 to 6 3/4.

Corn descended with wheat, although export demand for corn remained open. After opening unchanged to 1/4 lower, with May 70 to 72, the market worked irregularly lower.

Later corn quickly advanced when wheat went up again. The close was strong, 72 1/2 to 73 1/2, with May 72 1/2 to 73 1/2 and July 72 1/2 to 73 1/2.

Oats were governed chiefly by the action of other cereals, starting unchanged, 45 to 46 1/2 higher, May 45 to 45 1/2, and then undergoing a general rise.

Higher quotations on hogs strengthened provisions.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Shots made use of the Reading plan today to depress the general stock list. Extreme losses among rails, industrials and specialties ranged from 1 to 5 points. Sales approximated 550,000 shares.

Publication over night of the terms of the Reading segregation plan directed attention to those shares at the opening of today's stock market. Reading common opened at a decline of 1 1/2 points, immediately after trading it lost to 2 1/2, followed by a substantial rally. The first preferred made an initial gain of a fraction, soon increasing its advance to 1 1/4 points. Other securities were mainly upward, especially among specialties. Pronounced strength was shown by tobacco, General Asphalt, Huber Products, Famous Players and Goodrich Oil were highest for the most part, but Texas Pacific Coal and Oil moved to yesterday's sharp decline. A BARBATH MORNING THOUGHT:
O' Lord, let us work and low down as we know before the Lord our maker. For he is our God; and we are the people of his pasture.—Psalm 95: 6, 7.

THE PRIMARY FIGHT

One thing is certain in connection with the question of election laws revision now engaging the attention of the Idaho legislature—it will not split the Republican party.

Outside the minds of those with whom the wish palpably is father to the thought, there is nowhere entertained any serious thought that such can be the result of the continuing conflict between the views of the Republican State Central Committee and, as expressed by its vote yesterday, a majority of the Republican House of Representatives.

The basis for confidence in the acuity of the party organization no matter what may be the outcome of the debate over the question, is plain to be seen.

The Republican party is an organization of voters handed together by a common conception of proper public policy. Election laws, whether they provide for a direct primary or for the convention system pure and simple, are but the machinery with which such an organization works and transforms its ideas and ideals into action.

The Republican party has existed and carried its principles into execution by means of the straight convention system. It has done the same when operating under the law providing for direct primaries, and may very well do so again.

WHY'S THE MATTER WITH RUSSIA

Advocates of the soviet system of government which has been in power in Russia for almost four years assert that the world does not understand the principles underlying the rule which the bolsheviks have imposed upon Russia and which propagandists seek to extend into other countries; that it is ignorance which denies recognition of the red theories.

Deceptions on the part of the soviet leaders have kept the world from learning the truth about conditions in Russia, but enough information has come out of that country to let other nations know that, no matter what may be claimed for the soviet system of government in theory, it is bringing ruin to Russia in practice.

It is not necessary to base this belief upon statements made by opponents of the bolshevik creed. It is upheld by information furnished by persons who have gone to Russia with a prejudice in favor of the soviet plan. These envoys have almost without exception either condemned the system, or have been unwilling to attempt to defend it.

Jacob Rubin, a Socialist of Milwaukee, has told the foreign legation at Leningrad of the house that the trouble with Russia is that nobody is disposed to work. This is not necessarily because the Russian is inherently lazy. It is recommending himself to the soviet creed, which denies individual initiative and gives the state complete control of all property.

The Russian army was maintained more because plenty of fool was guaranteed a risk to enter the army than it was to work without the prospect of getting anything more than a mere living. The result of the bolshevik theory in practice is that Russia is not producing enough food for her own people, in spite of her great natural resources. The people, having no in-

Schwab, in Tears, on Stand Resenting Charge

The Walsh Congressional Committee investigating United States Shipping Board operations, closed its session in New York with an apparently complete vindication of Charles M. Schwab, regarding the accusation that part of $250,000 paid for his personal expenses had been charged to the government. Mr. Schwab was director general of the Emergency Fleet Corporation during the war. While testifying before the committee Mr. Schwab broke down and wept while denying that he ever had received a penny from the government either in payment of his salary as a "director" or in reimbursement of expenses incurred as director-general. The illustration shows Eugene O. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and Charles M. Schwab, photographed while at the hearing.

PECOS THRIVING CITY DURING MIDDLE AGES

Anthropologist Discovers Center of Thriving Civilization in What is Now New Mexico Contemporaneous with Raids of Attila, the Hun, Upon Rome

SANTA FE, N. M., (AP)—When Enri was plunging through the terrors of the middle ages and along about the time Attila, the Hun, was ravaging the civilization of Rome, another civilization of a different type was in its fairly well perfected state in western North America. The center of this civilization as well as center of trade commerce was Pecos, N. M., about 25 miles east of Santa Fe.

This was determined definitely, according to Dr. A. V. Kidder, by excavations conducted by himself and assistants last summer. Dr. Kidder was aided by Dr. E. A. Hooton, a specialist in physical anthropology and Dr. Carl F. Gustaf, who had just returned from his exploration among the Mayas in Central America.

Open 300 Graves.

The scientists opened more than 300 graves and examined some 1000 skeletons. Bones had been built upon ruins of previous habitations and the bodies of the dead buried in the ruins had been cremated to such an extent that the bones were Pecos, some years ago, scattered, their thousand-year-old city moved to Tempe because the waters had become contaminated.

Cliff dwellings of a thousand rooms well preserved specimens of the past civilization and unusual examples of early day pottery and household utensils were found. According to the report on the excavations recently made public.

Catalina, the chronicle of Coronado's explorations 350 years ago, mentions that one pueblo at Pecos, obviously the north house. Excavations last summer showed that there had been a pueblo at an early period, on the site of the south house, which had been abandoned and reduced to ruins before the coming of the Spaniards. In the interior of the mound there was uncovered one ground floor chamber in excellent preservation. Its roof was almost intact; from the beams still hung the bark logs that had been used to make the ends of the rafters and on one smoke-blackened log lay a series of handprints, large and small, stamped on in white wax.

Explore Through Trenches.

To explore the extensive north house which originally must have had more than a thousand rooms, and walls of which still stand almost three stories high, trenches were started simultaneously at the east entrance and at the edge of the mound. The western trench was run along bed rock and after passing through burials four feet deep, entered the foundations of the north house. The roof was almost intact; from the beams still hung the bark logs that had been used to make the ends of the rafters and on one smoke-blackened log lay a series of handprints, large and small, stamped on in white wax.

Valuable to Science.

The telescope gives enlarged views of distant objects, the microscope shows what is almost in contact with its lens, and by giving a means of making intermediate observations the microscope shows the structure of the material. The telescope has proven a boon to the naturalist. With great depth of focus and a large field of view, the short focus type, for example, has a working distance of 10 to 15 inches, and magnifies 15 to 25 diameters. An adjustable rubber-tipped rod serves as a rest to support the instrument at the desired height for studying such objects as insects, plants and rocks.

A neatly made coping wall two feet high and it resembled somewhat the crucifixes at Chichen Itza and elsewhere in the Mayan field in Yucatan. The crucifix yielded an unusually full and varied collection of artifacts and pottery from the earliest times to the Pajarito or fourth grade period. Where the sterna was cleared it was bridged over and the trench was continued. Another zone of skeletons was discovered and some of the best pottery thus far found was taken from the graves.

In another trench ruins were encountered similar to those of the prehistoric walls of the palace of government at Santa Fe, built long before the coming of the Spaniards. The similarity was traced to the ruins upon which the Santa Fe structure had been constructed and which had been built by more than 1000 years ago.

Other trenches revealed a large area of cooking jars, painted olla and one set of ceremonial pots wedged between the walls and quite unaltered. With these were many handsome shell ornaments, two sets of bone flutes, two very large tobacco pipes, one of them elaborately carved, 36 buffalo horns, a piece of a wooden dance head and many other specimens.

Open Ceremonial Chambers.

In one place were found two underground kivas or ceremonial chambers. One of these was built in the earliest time, according to the beginning of the Christian era, one of them later serving as a burial place.

By careful observation of the stratified fillings in the lower part of the rooms, co-ordinated with an intensive study of the successive layers of masonry that had gone into their construction, Dr. Gustaf had been able to work out and record by plan and elevation the exact history of the growth of this section of the pueblo from the foundation of the town, perhaps 2000 years ago down to the time of its abandonment about 800 years ago.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application of two of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair. Everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustreous.—adv.

AN ICE CREAM

By MYRTLE E. WHITMORE

(Copyright, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mrs. Charlotte dropped her work in her lap and ceased to read. Dr. David in lavender negligee sat in the little sewing room on the north side of the house overlooking it. It was the first of July with the thermometer registering 84 degrees in the shade. No wonder Mrs. Charlotte was finding difficulty in concentrating her mind on her pattern.

"Oh, how I wish I had an ice cream," she sighed. "But it's Sunday afternoon off, and surely nobody else wants to go out in this terrible heat!"

"Mrs. Charlotte," she said, "I'm going over to Grace's to tea and can't promise when I'll be coming home."

"Would you be willing to bring me some ice cream?" she asked.

Elizabeth smiled her sweetest. "I'll be glad to," she said, "I'm going over to Grace's to tea and can't promise when I'll be coming home."

Elizabeth repeated her offer, but it was declined. So in all the vivacity and gaiety of her youth she skipped down the street, while Mrs. Charlotte lazily picked up her crocheting.

"Three open, two closed and three open," she murmured to herself, but her hook failed to keep pace with her chatter. Suddenly an idea came to her. Laying her work in the basket, "I'll ask Mildred to bring it," she exclaimed as she reached for the door.

"Give me 48," she called. "Hello—Miss Corry? I'm simply roasted up here on the hill and am dying for ice cream. Would you bring it up when you come? Why, so it is, Mildred. I didn't think about your working late tonight. That's too bad. . . . Thank you just the same. I'll get along somehow."

Suddenly she was roused from her napping by a knock at the back door. Once the piazza stood a little boy about nine years old.

"Want to buy some blueberries?" he asked. "They're high bush and just picked."

"Want you come in?" she asked kindly. "I can use a quart, I guess. How much are they?"

"Twenty-five."

"You look dreadfully hot," she continued, as she brought a small dish. "You have to go far for the berries?"

"Yes, you have to go to Beaver Pond's where the best berries grow. 'Twas some hot walking up to town, believe me."

Mrs. Charlotte went to the pantry again and returned with a larger dish. "Do you want to let me buy what berries you have," she asked, "and I'll have Sadie put 'em up tomorrow?"

The little boy grinned at over his face as he filled his measure again and again. As he picked up his empty pail, Mrs. Charlotte had a clever thought.

"Would you like to do an errand for me?" "Want you come?" she asked.

"Sure; what is it?"

Mrs. Charlotte counted out the change while she explained. "I want some ice cream. Go to Lane's and ask for a pint box of dry-packed Hattie-gin. Can you remember all that?"

"Sure," again came the prompt reply as he repeated the errand before starting out the door.

Not five minutes later the doorbell rang and to her amazement Mrs. Charlotte saw Elizabeth.

"I brought you the ice cream," said the girl. "I came home early as I hated to think of you sitting here all day."

"You dear child," said Mrs. Charlotte. "You'll stay, of course, and help me eat it, won't you?" and she hastened to set the table with her pretty glass dishes.

Just as they had begun to eat, the doorbell rang again. Greatly amused by this time, Mrs. Charlotte ushered in Gertrude Corry carrying a small box in her hand.

"Auntie, don't you want some ice cream?" she explained.

"You darling!" exclaimed Mrs. Charlotte. "Elizabeth has brought me some, too. Won't you come in and join us? We've got lots more than we can eat." So Gertrude sat down to the table, delighted to eat with her elders.

It seemed only a moment later when they were interrupted by a knock at the back door.

"That's my little blueberry boy," Mrs. Charlotte exclaimed herself. "He's brought me some cream, too."

She laughed as she confronted the boy with the package. "Well, my little man, it looks as though you would have to eat all that cream yourself, for I have had two boxes brought me already."

The child's eyes grew as big as saucers. "Honest?" he asked doubtfully.

"Of course. Come in, and see," and she opened the screen door. The boy peeped into the dining room and was satisfied.

"Can I take it home to eat?" was his immediate question. "She likes ice cream, too."

"You may do anything you like with it," Mrs. Charlotte smiled. "I have all I want here."

"I'll bring you some more berries tomorrow," he said.

"Goodness me, not before Saturday," she replied as she laughingly went back to her guests.

Record Horseback Rides.

There is a reliable account given of an Englishman, Sir John Osborn, having ridden, in 1831, 200 miles in ten hours. In doing this, however, he rode 16 horses and changed every four miles. A wonderful feat of endurance and pluck was the case of Capt. Charles Towler, another English cavalryman, who, in 1840, rode with dispatches from Belgrade to Constantinople, 320 miles. He remained in the saddle five days and 11 hours, without rest, except on one occasion for six hours and the time consumed in changing to fresh horses. Twice the horse he rode dropped under him from exhaustion. It was a historic ride, for upon the event of his arriving in Constantinople ahead of all other couriers hung the decision of the war, which by his accomplishing the feat was averted.

Land of Fire and Ice.

Geological map of Iceland by Dr. Thorodden, who has spent many years on the work, gives much information about one of the world's most wonderful islands which few visitors ever see.

An example of the strangeness of Iceland is furnished by the volcano Katla. This is buried under fumaric snow fields, but from time to time the fires burst through the glittering refectory, and then much smoke is poured from the molting ice that a great stretch of country between the volcano and the sea is inundated and huge masses of fire are carried out into the ocean.

It is unsafe to cross the territory lying between Katla and the sea, so suddenly come the floods.

Making Wood Fire-Resisting.

Keeping wood wet, injecting certain chemicals, and coating with suitable paints, are the three methods of increasing resistance to fire that have been tested at the United States forest products laboratory. Though not the most effective, painting is the cheapest and most practicable treatment for wood in small amount. Ordinary calcium or white paint may be used as a cheap and convenient to use, and while it does not prevent burning at high temperatures it lessens the risk of spreading a blaze from burning clothes, curtains and carpets. A paint of linseed oil, zinc borate and chrome green, which has been tried for outdoor use, retained its fire-resisting properties during more than three years of exposure to the weather.

Oldest Living Artist.

Arlington Moss, claims the oldest living artist in New England. He is Mrs. Mary Dethick Porter, who is now 92 years old. While holding a position high in standing among painters, the woman, peculiarly, did not take up painting until she was more than 50 years old.

At that time, happening to be in Maine on a visit, she became acquainted with a woman who gave lessons. She at once took up the art and immediately made great progress. In fact, in a comparatively short time she was giving lessons herself. In her home there are numerous excellent pictures, and during the last few years she has painted five pictures, considered a good number under the existing conditions which include hardships of material.

Mrs. Porter was born in Cornwall, N. S., coming to Arlington at the age of 20 years. She is the mother of six children, and at present lives with her son, Lyander, and two grandchildren.—Boston Post.

Both Treated Alike.

At the local servants' club there were one or two who were trying to preach both sides and the removal of class distinction both in society and on the railway and form of other nice things.

But they found a strong opponent to a chauffeur who drove the local laundry lady on her Monday round of visits.

"No such thing as a stuck-up ladies' maid," the local servant insisted. "Well, but don't she order you about?" demanded the disciples of freedom.

"Of course she does," he replied, "but she hasn't as much right as what she does her husband. She can't make no difference between me and him, even?"—Answers, London.

A Judicial Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade, says he has often heard druggists ask a customer, who wished to buy a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or an adult and if for a child, they almost invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it and for colds, cough and whooping cough it is unsurpassed.—adv.

CITY PIONEER DEAD, AGED 69

St. John Skinner, Early Settler in Twin Falls, Yields to Grim Reaper

St. John Skinner, pioneer settler in Twin Falls, aged 69, died at a local hospital at 8:40 Monday evening. Death resulted from appendicitis, an operation being performed ten days ago. The late Mr. Skinner left his last wishes to the Knights Templar who would perform funeral services at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The remains will be forwarded to Eugene Ore., tomorrow evening for burial in the Skinner lot in the Masonic cemetery.

Skinner is survived by his widow, Amanda J. Skinner, a son, Eugene of Kellogg, Idaho; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Smith of Caldwell, Cal., and Mrs. Anna Purdon of Twin Falls. He was married to Miss Amanda J. Walton in Eugene, 49 years ago.

Biography.

St. John Skinner was born in Oregon, a city near Astoria, Ore., in 1851. He came to Twin Falls in 1892. Early in his mining years he became interested in literary journals and was identified with mining business in the town of Alamo during the 1900's. In the year 1903 he came to Twin Falls, being one of the earliest of the district and the first to settle here. He came here from the Ward-Kellogg district.

Soon after arrival he took up a place of land near Kimberly and farmed the property, keeping control of the holding a number of years. At the time of death he had a 35-acre tract of land on Blue Lake being supervised by him as his homestead. In the early days of the district he engaged extensively in "claiming," or locating settlers on claims.

For a number of years he managed the farming property of the Al Place in Idaho. In the latter part of his life he ranched over all of the land cultivated by that concern, those representing something like 2000 acres in all. They were located to the north, west, to the northeast and south of Twin Falls and in the south of Kimberly.

A Typical Westerner.

The late Mr. Skinner was a typical and picturesque western man and character. He was born in the west and grew to man's estate with the country, a rare specimen of the ruggedness and of commanding personal demeanor. He was of that type of "bush" which is to be found in the west, often, often, to the help of self. He was always useful in helping to the demands of this community. The infant stages of the district and it is said of him that when the first large financial enterprise promoters came to Twin Falls they found St. John Skinner, saying, "I'll be with you," and he was the first to take up the work of the district on Twin Falls district lands, a work at which he achieved, signal success. His interest in the district was of this branch of business was for St. John Skinner a large element, and he first upon him the reputation he carried throughout life, of a person of honesty. In the pioneering days settlers trusted largely to the honor of the "center" for a treatment of the land, and it is said of St. John Skinner that none whom he located ever had just cause for complaint.

Path in Country.

In the cause of the Twin Falls district the late Mr. Skinner was a faithful optimist. Even in the early days he predicted a great future for the district and held himself ever ready to carry on the work of promoting progress throughout this territory. "I've seen this district from every angle, it has but one, and I'm going to see it from that angle," he said, "and in the fall of 1910, The angle he referred to was from the air, and upon presentation of the first opportunity he took a flight in a light airplane, however, disaster struck. For both Skinner, the pilot, crashed into a tree and was broken so badly that no more flights were made. The pilot sustained minor injuries but Mr. Skinner received a broken shoulder.

The fatal illness came on less than a month ago, in the form of an exceptionally severe attack of appendicitis. As a last relief measure an operation was resorted to, but the ailment had progressed to such an extent that the appendix was found to be perforated before the surgeons removed it. The weakened condition of the patient made the operation very little chance for hope of recovery, and for the past week life hung by the merest thread. Twin Falls holds Mr. St. John Skinner as a companion of the illustrious Order of the Red Cross, and a member of the Knights Templar, as well as being identified with the Twin Falls lodge, B. P. O. E.

SCHOOL BOARD ORDERS CLOSING OF HIGH DEPARTMENT LIBRARY

Retrenchment Policy Started when Trustees of Independent District Accept Recommendations Submitted by Superintendent—Resignation of Hal G. Blue Accepted to Take Effect at End of Academic Year

Providing a measure of relief in the present straitened financial condition of the school district, the school board has decided to close the high school library, and to make several other changes in the employment for the remainder of the year. The changes will decrease the cost of carrying on the school $202,000.

Under the new scheme the services of Mrs. Gladys Young, who has been in charge of the library as librarian, and Miss Lila Goshel, who have been doing some extra duty and interesting work in connection with the library operation, will be dispensed with.

Scheme Presented

This scheme was adopted by the school board at a regular meeting of the board held last night in the office of School Superintendent Hal G. Blue, and comprises part of recommendations made by the superintendent wherein drastic action of school operation may be brought about. The other retrenchment recommendations involve dispensing with the services of Gustav Fletcher as leader of the high school band and orchestra; R. E. Hall as assistant to D. L. Robey in the mechanical arts department; Mrs. Effie Chandler and Mrs. Eva Simpson as managers of study halls, and also the elimination of a piano in the gymnasium. It is believed that these eliminations may be carried out without seriously crippling the school organization or system. The library is to be closed immediately.

Board Takes Action

The resignation of Hal G. Blue as superintendent of the school, presented to the board some months ago, was taken up at last night's meeting for action. The resignation has been under consideration by the board since it received the members of the board hoping to prevail upon the superintendent to change his view and decide to remain in charge of the school. Mr. Blue in the past few weeks, however, has made it very plain to the trustees that he will carry out other plans. He has said that he will resign at the end of this year if his resignation was last night authoritatively accepted. The resignation of M. C. Mitchell, principal of the high school, submitted simultaneously with that of Superintendent Blue will be noted upon officially at an adjourned regular meeting next Monday night.

The board paid considerable attention to the general situation in the district, and discussed some ways and means of carrying on the school work not long after the resignation of Superintendent Blue is actually assumed to bring relief.

MUNICIPALITY BETTER FIXED THAN MAGNIFIED

General Fund Has Fair Working Balance, According to Treasurer's Report

Check of city finances, made by the trustees of the city, revealed an encouraging condition of the general fund when the administration had supposed existed. Result of the check was that the city was in a better financial position than was generally supposed.

A week ago the city's general fund, through which all disbursements are made to meet current expenses and obligations, was quite depleted, according to the city's books. Last night's statement of the fund showed a credit balance of $13,206.30. This balance results from a preponderance of credit over the fund, as against the liabilities payable. The credit, including $37,577.11 from taxes still to be paid, amount to $50,783.41, while liabilities against the fund, including $36,576.11, are $43,277.11.

The treasurer's statement was submitted during a general discussion of business by the council on financial matters having opened a session upon the liabilities of the city. The conclusion of the administrative board was that with the balance shown in the report the city was able to carry on its normal operations in expenditures, be able to carry on, meeting the most important current obligations, to at least meet before the next administration takes office.

Black Bear Put Up Fight.

As residents of Maline know, the black bear is usually a shy, inoffensive animal, and a farmer who lives in the immediate vicinity of a bear's den is apt to be very much surprised when the bear attacks him. This was the case with a man from Maline who was attacked by a black bear in the woods about a mile from the town of Maline, near a creek. The bear attacked him and he fought back. The bear was killed and the man was unhurt. The bear was found to be a very young one, and it is thought that it may have been driven from its den by the man's dog.

Moore winning the ladies' prize for high score and Mr. L. T. Moore carrying off the honors for the gentlemen. Those present were Messrs. and Mrs. J. W. Hunsaker, F. W. Dunke, L. T. Moore, B. A. Heitler, Miss Evans and F. W. Brannough. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kinney were guests of the club.

Mrs. Hugh Evans was rendered a delightful surprise party on Saturday afternoon in honor of her birthday. Bridge formed the amusement for the afternoon and a delicious two courses luncheon was served. Other ladies present were Mrs. J. W. Hunsaker, L. T. Moore, B. A. Heitler, Miss Evans and F. W. Brannough. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kinney were guests of the club.

The Wednesday Bridge club will meet with Mrs. George R. Bailey at Reed apartments tomorrow afternoon.

In defining that section of the most important law pertaining to payment of inspection fees Twin Falls hoteliers have reached the limit, according to the municipal authorities. Hereafter the terms of the law are to be enforced to the limit.

Information presented at last night's session of the city council indicates that no notice has been taken by hoteliers of that section of the law requiring payment of inspection fees since last September, and that our prominent butchering and vending firms as now more than $1000 in arrears in this respect. Other hoteliers and merchants are said to be correspondingly behind in payment to the city for inspections.

According to Dr. W. A. Falson, city street examiner, a number of local hoteliers last September entered into a conspiracy to defy the inspection law, and that since that time demands made by the city authorities for fees have been met with evasive tactics. In fact, in face of the alleged fact that the butchers continue to charge consumers an additional price per pound for meat to defray the inspection fee, the city authorities are now endeavoring to collect inspection fees from individuals who have submitted to the inspection of their meat.

The city attorney has been instructed to close a lawsuit against the hoteliers to the most ordinance and to proceed under the terms of the law to compel payment of the arrears. In case of non-compliance the city will be forced to liquidate their accounts with the city to the limit of the law. This is to be a surprise, this meaning that unexpected result cannot be held in the city. City Attorney J. E. Davies and Inspector Pollock are delegated to the task of working out the details of the alleged recalcitrant meat men to fine.

Former Soldiers to Gather.—A meeting of "The Old Soldiers of the American Legion" will be held in the Elks' club rooms this evening. The reason is called for the purpose of discussing matters of importance to legionnaires.

Back from Buying Trip.—Miss Ethel H. Hill returned Monday from a visit at her home in Blair, Neb. Miss Hill also visited Chicago, Omaha and Des Moines where she purchased new goods for the millinery department at Booth's, of which she is manager.

Bainbridge Improving.—Reports from the Portland hospital at Seattle indicate considerable improvement in the general condition of J. T. Bainbridge, who went to the coast for treatment and change of climate a fortnight ago. Mr. Bainbridge has been suffering severely from heart trouble lately.

KIMBERLY FIVE PLAY METEORS HERE TONIGHT

Bad Roads Cause Change in Basketball Schedule—Girls to Appear

Tonight on the Twin Falls high school the Meteors will entertain the Kimberly quintet at basketball. Playing of this contest here changes the schedule to the extent that a game to have been played between the two teams at Kimberly has been brought here. The change was made necessary on account of the difficulty of getting the Meteors back to Twin Falls. The Kimberly team arrived this afternoon and can return tomorrow morning in time for school. Roads cannot be used by cars. A special athletic feature will be presented by the girls of the high school.

Last Saturday night at Rupert the Oakley Legion team defeated the Rupert County 40 to 12 thus taking the lead in the league race. The game scheduled for Burley between the Twin Falls and the Burley Legionnaires, was postponed until next Friday night, when the Twin Falls outfit is due to Burley.
