

RECOGNITION IS SOUGHT FOR NEW CHINESE REGIME

Dr. Sun Yat-Sen Dispatches Envoys to Tokio, Washington, London and Paris in Interests of "Extraordinary" Government

PERRINE, (AP-20).—Sun Yat-sen has dispatched envoys to Tokio, Washington, London and Paris to work for recognition by the powers of the newly established "extraordinary" government in the south of China, according to the Associated News Agency's Canton correspondent.

The threat to make Canton a free port has been abandoned says the dispatch.

The same agency reports that Lin Sheng, speaker of the senate, and Chi Fu-chien, vice chairman of the house of representatives, have arrived in Canton from Shanghai and are engaged in an effort to reconvolve the old parliament of the republic. Dr. Sun Yat-sen, provisional president, after which a "constitutional" government, with Tang Biao-yi or Dr. Wu Ting-fang as premier, is proposed.

At the same time, the dispatch continues the Cantonese refuse to pay their land taxes for the tenth, eleventh and twelfth years of the republic, in advance, as required, and the proposed government is at a loss for funds with which to proceed.

TEACHERS USE OF ROD BETRAYAL OF WEAKNESS

Federal Commissioner of Education Aims Views in Connection with Corporal Punishments Reports

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Corporal punishment of school children is "likely to indicate weakness in the teacher," P. P. Claxton, federal commissioner of education, said Wednesday in a statement prompted by reports he has received of severe punishments in some schools. One case cited was that of a 14-year-old boy having received 100 lashes.

"Any person competent to teach and manage a school can maintain discipline without corporal punishment," the statement said. "Education and discipline have no use for such methods."

No effort has been made to dispute the claims.

Practical Timbermen as well as Vocational Man Pursue New Course

MOSCOW, Idaho, (AP)—The Idaho state board for vocational training, in co-operation with the school of forestry at the University of Idaho here, is conducting a course in log scaling at a Coeur d'Alene lumber mill. The class was organized by Miles E. Lewis, state vocational director, and is being conducted by T. E. Knott, log scaling expert of the United States forest service.

"The training at Coeur d'Alene will thoroughly cover the subject of log scaling," said Dean G. Miller, head of the Idaho school of forestry, "and excellent practical results will be expected. The course is of six weeks' duration and takes up six hours' work per day. The study will include the various types of defects for which allowance must be made in wood practice. Practical timbermen and vocational men are taking advantage of the course."

HAZING EPISODE BEARS FRUIT IN FOUR ARRESTS

Trinity College Students in Custody Following Serious Outing of Proceedings

DURHAM, N. C., (AP)—Four arrests had been made here Wednesday in connection with the hazing episode at Trinity college Monday in which F. C. Brooks, Jr., son of the state superintendent of instruction, was seriously injured.

G. D. Sawyer, J. E. Harvey and L. D. McWhorter, members of the sophomore class, were arrested on charges of hazing, but were released on bond. A warrant for young Brooks was not served owing to his illness.

A warrant, charging assault with a deadly weapon also was drawn against Jack McGuire, who was to have been the victim of the hazing party had it not been abruptly terminated by the injury he is said to have inflicted upon Brooks, when he stabbed him through the chest with a pocket knife. Other warrants may be issued.

1921--WHAT OF IT?

Make it a year of wise spending by buying wisely of those needed things for comfort of self and home thereby bringing business back to normalcy in sixty days.

Prices Went Up a Step At a Time They Can't Come Down the Banister

From Men Who Know--

W. P. G. HARDING, Governor of Federal Reserve Bank: "The country has recovered its normal state. We are no longer afraid. We are not indulging in the old idea of extravagance, living beyond our means. Nor are we troubled or oppressed as we were a few weeks ago with the other extreme of over-optimism, where people got down in the dumps and they cannot see any daylight; cannot see any hope; see nothing but gloom and darkness. I say this in all candor: We are now looking forward to a year of constructive development. I want to say that intrinsically there is no comparison today with conditions a year ago, when there was uneasiness and apprehension among the best informed over the badly expanded credit. Business is now rapidly reaching a new level and approaching a sound and sane basis. We have a better banking situation. We have passed the danger point. We have a better understanding of conditions."

ELBERT H. GARY, New York, Chairman of Board, United States Steel Corporation: "I am so hopeful and confident of the future as I have been at any time. Conditions are no worse than many months ago. The wonder is that they have not been much worse. Conditions are abnormal and even the minds of thoughtful people are disturbed. This, of course, is a result of the terrible time we have passed through. We have the spirit and determination to overcome all obstacles to the greatest success."

CHARLES M. SCOWB, New York, Chairman of Board, Bethlehem Steel Corporation: "Out of the present business depression there will come a sounder basis for the nation's activities and business will go forward with a buoyancy and force we have never known before, as a result of reorganization. The whole world during the last few years has been a spendthrift and a waster. It has spent a large part of its liquid wealth and has now come to a period where it can go forward only by energy and effort of the most vigorous kind. The only business foundations which are sure and steady are erected upon the rock of economy."

CHARLES H. MARKHAM, Chicago, President Illinois Central Railroad: "There is every indication that we shall enter shortly upon a period of increasing business activity in this country, following the depression which resulted from what we have come to designate the 'buyers' strike.' The revival should have a wholesome reaction upon every line of business which is founded upon a real economic need, as are the railways and the lumber trade. I believe the tide already is turning, and that we shall see it continue to strengthen during the next few weeks and months."

HON. HUGH M. CALDWELL, Mayor of Seattle, Washington: "The shifting from the old year to the new finds the Pacific Northwest well equipped to face any emergency that may arise. Every substantial business man realizes that we are in the midst of a period of readjustment that inevitably must run its course as a condition precedent to better business; and whether it runs fast or slowly the final result will be the same."

EDWARD COOKINGHAM, Portland, Ore., President Ladd & Tilton Bank: "As to general conditions, it is quite certain that stocks of goods of all kinds are diminishing rapidly and I look for a better condition in almost all lines of trade and industry in 50 or 60 days. This will be especially so if our present income tax laws are properly revised so that industries will be relieved of the tremendous handicap of the excess profits tax."

R. S. HECHT, New Orleans, La., President Hibernal Bank and Trust Co.: "The year just closed has been one of drastic readjustment. Our principal Southern commodities have already suffered such a severe decline that it seems reasonable to suppose the readjustment to new price levels is nearly completed and that the worst is probably over. Certain it is that whatever fluctuations we may have from now on will be within much narrower limits, and some hopeful signs for an improvement are not missing."

M. JUSBERAND, French Ambassador to the United States: "The light of day is in front of us, gloom behind. First, the bleeding, ravaged, heavily-laden, victorious nation of France, like yours, has the right spirit. Thank God for any help that may come from abroad, and much has come from America, causing a gratitude which will never cease. She intends to save herself to the best of her ability, and she will, she has already begun."

CHARLES H. SABIN, New York, President Guaranty Trust Company: "Those who are most closely studying the existing situation feel that the turn of the tide in declining prices and liquidation is very near. Although there are many readjustments from the effects of the war yet to be made in the months and years to come, they believe there is a reasonable assurance of a return to normal business conditions, stabilized prices, easier money and larger business opportunities."

Do you realize what's happening? The public is on a "buying strike." A "buying strike" to a nation is what a "hunger strike" is to an individual. Business is languishing, falling off? No, sir! Because there is lack of capital to carry on? Not at all. The demand is there, but you are stifling it. The United States and Canada have ample capital, and plenty of labor eager to work.

The public is like a moody, prosperous individual, hanging around the house with money in his pocket, wanting lots of things, needing lots of things but harboring an obsession that he won't spend his money till prices come down to where they were six years ago. Prices didn't go up in a day. They can't come down in a day. Prices went up gradually from 1914 to 1919. Prices went up a step at a time. They can't come down by the banister. They must come down the same way they went up.

The reason we were able to finance the war so well was because business was good—people bought and sold. The only way we can PAY for the war is by buying and selling—trading. And, moreover, prices are down—for many commodities they are already down to lower level than they should be—things are selling for less than they cost to make. That is an impossible situation. If you won't buy the things the other fellow makes, HE can't buy the things you make. That is reasonable, is it not? And if he doesn't buy the things you make, the shutters will soon be up on your place of business. Those who are insistently determined to wait until things "crash" before they lay are not doing humanity a service. For nobody can sell things long at a loss.

The prices of overcoats, shoes, furniture, tires, and, in fact, all other commodities, are based on the cost of raw materials, labor, freight, etc., and profit to those who make, handle and sell them.

Your livelihood and prosperity are bound up in the livelihood and prosperity of other men—you can't deny that point. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with the country—we have beautiful crops, ample money, capable heads and hands. But we can't survive a "buying strike" nevertheless. Business is a gigantic organization, kept alive and active by trade coursing through its veins. When trade stops circulating, business dies. Your particular trade can't flourish in splendid isolation. The articles you make can't sell to men "out of a job." True thrift is always wise, but a stubborn refusal on the part of the public to buy the things they need NOW is simply slowing down the wheels of commerce that feed and clothe and house us ALL.

If you are on a buying strike, "forget it." Go out and buy today the things you need, for the prices are down. If you are waiting for them to come down further tomorrow or next day or next month, you may not THEN be in a position to buy. "If I can have with me in my work and life the spirit of Kiwanis, with its friends and generation, I shall have no fear of the morrow. Your motto, 'We Build', is the greatest thing in the world, but we must not only build, but preserve. I have been trying to organize a little Kiwanis club of my own. There are to be only ten members, but I am practicing the very thought which you have in your own organization. I am trying to pick an outstanding leader in each line for the ten places in my cabinet."—Warren G. Harding, President-Elect of the United States, Member of Marion, Ohio, Kiwanis Club.

The Kiwanis Motto Is--"We Build"

What is needed in this country more than any other one thing today is confidence—we have the money and the resources. The whole world has been undergoing this period of readjustment as all inflation must be done away with and a dollar will then be worth one hundred cents. Labor is beginning to realize that a "day's pay demands a day's work" and inefficiency and indifference, together with slacking, will no longer be tolerated. Profiteering as practiced during the high markets will not be tolerated either. With capital willing to take a reasonably fair profit; with labor realizing its responsibility, all we need is cooperation on the part of the buying public to make business as usual. Conservative buying should be universally practiced. Extravagance and useless spending should not be indulged in. It is the duty of everyone and in the interest of all and for their own interest to buy—and buy

NOW. In this way confidence will be created and it will stimulate business as nothing else will. You should buy from the merchants; the merchants from the jobbers; the jobbers from the manufacturers. The manufacturers would then be able to give employment to thousands of workmen and could purchase their raw material from the farms, mills and the mines, and thus give employment to thousands of other employes, and these employes would then buy from the merchants and so—an endless chain. Our country has more money at present than ever before in its history and all that is needed to make business is confidence. The whole world has been thrown into a near panic and we have suffered business depression, and matters have been made infinitely worse by "equality howlers," but our troubles are largely psychological. What we need is confidence and conservative optimism, coupled with the determination to go ahead. Can we do this? I say we can. Let everybody pull together and don't wait for George to do it. When? RIGHT NOW. If you don't buy, you can't expect the next fellow to buy—and he won't! What's the result? Poor business, thousands of failures, hundreds of thousands of unemployed, hard times for everyone. What's the remedy? BUY NOW! Buy your full normal purchases of the essentials, but—BUY! If you don't buy essentials now, you're helping to create business disaster, for prices will come down with a thud. If you do buy now, prices which have already been lowered will continue to come down—but slowly and safely to your business and the country's business.

CONTROL OF ALFALEA PEST PERPLEXING QUESTION FOR BROWERS THROUGHOUT BELTS WHERE THIS INDUSTRY THRIVES-- STILL UNSOLVED PROBLEM

By RALPH H. SMITH

Entomologist, University of Idaho Experiment Station. The successful and economical control of the alfalfa weevil represents one of the biggest unsolved problems now confronting western agriculture. This fact is not generally appreciated by the average citizen. Within a comparatively few years, probably not more than eight or ten, every farmer in Idaho who grows alfalfa will be compelled to spray his fields regularly each year or else forfeit from one-fourth to one-half of his crop to the ravages of the weevil. The fact that he is not generally appreciated by the average citizen. Within a comparatively few years, probably not more than eight or ten, every farmer in Idaho who grows alfalfa will be compelled to spray his fields regularly each year or else forfeit from one-fourth to one-half of his crop to the ravages of the weevil.

Translating this into a definite example, suppose that a farmer has 40 acres of alfalfa which normally produce 12 tons of alfalfa per acre and yield 300 tons. Under weevil conditions he may expect to lose 100 tons. If he sprays the alfalfa at the proper time in the season, he may lose only 25 tons on the average. In addition, to this loss he must pay interest on $700 invested in spraying material and he must pay for the poison and the cost of spraying which will amount to more than $100 per acre. The yield of alfalfa by a farmer who uses the weevil tax on the 40 acres will average $1200 if the field is not sprayed and $1000 if sprayed.

According to 1919 estimates, there were 310,000 acres of alfalfa hay in Idaho which produced a total of 1,200,000 tons. Based on the present conditions of weevil control, the farmers of the state will now be paying a weevil tax of more than $2,000,000 annually. It is expected to be increased to $3,000,000 in 1921.

The alfalfa weevil is here to stay. Nevermore will alfalfa be produced with the same ease that it has been in the past. But there is hope that the great loss now caused by the pest will be greatly reduced by the improvements in the method of control and the development of new insecticides. Natural enemies of the weevil occur only in Europe and the importation of them into the United States can be carried on only by the federal bureau of entomology of the United States department of agriculture. Government entomologists point to the fact that during the coming year, the alfalfa weevil will enter the country from the east and the alfalfa weevil will enter the country from the east and the alfalfa weevil will enter the country from the east.

DESERTEE POET FOR EARL

Shakespeare's Lady Love Missed Opportunity of Sharing in His Fame.

Shakespeare, writer of a hundred sonnets, had but one in his life, and that was an unknown one. It was a certain lady, but she is mentioned in his writings. Shakespeare, according to all accounts, must have been a most untidy young man. He was beautiful enough, his large blue eyes and a wealth of black hair that framed a face of high pallor, and gave excuse for Shakespeare's reference to her as the "dark lady."

Shakespeare loved her with all his heart, and the returned his love for a time, and then became attracted to the part of Pembroke. Shakespeare's dearest friend and patron, probably because she feared what the poet might say, she consented to marry a man of Shakespeare and the young writer sunk in gloom and despair. This was about the year 1599, and his sonnets written between 1598 and that date tell the story clearly. The poet's love for the lady may have the satisfaction of knowing that the earl and the lady were caught in their amour, and she was disinherited from the court, while the earl was disinherited from the court.

To Whiten Doorsteps. The following preparation for whitening doorsteps is a great labor saver, as only very hard rain will remove it. Place one pound of powdered lime in a sack, with one pound of white wash, and melt over a slow fire. When dissolved, add one pound of powdered whitening, stirring it in gradually. Put this mixture in a tin with a strong brush, and if it is too stiff add a little more water.

Big Demand for Maple. Maple appears in fifty of the fifty-one industries into which the uses of wood in the United States are generally divided. No other wood has a record so nearly approaching universal as this. Oak, red gum, basswood and hick approach maple, but fall a little short. It appears in a few industries where they are not found. Maple leads all other woods of the United States in the industry which produces book and shoe findings.

Safeguarding the Children. Frederick Burlingham, American explorer, just returned from central Borneo, tells of methods employed by natives to protect young children from wild cats, bee-eaters, and poisonous insects. The children are swathed in garments and swung on rattan vines suspended between trees. Crocodiles take a large toll of children in Borneo, says the explorer, despite precautions taken.

Today's Markets

WHEAT PRICE ADVANCES ON REPORTS OF DAMAGE. Green Bay and Heald City are factors in support of Bull's Case is Strong; 2 to 3 1/2 Net Higher. CHICAGO, (AP)—Moderate new upturn in the price of wheat today accompanied word that the allies had given notice to Germany that Monday would be the limit for submission of the peace terms which had been outlined. Green bay reports from the southwest and meagerness of country offerings were also bullish factors.

Additional strength was imparted to prices later by a government report saying inflationary inflation was rather general throughout the soft winter wheat areas. The close at May $1.09 1/2 to 1.00 1/4, was followed by gains all around, and then something of a recession.
