

RUSSIAN CHAOS BEARS FRUIT IN INSURRECTION

Unwieldiness of Soviet Administration, Differences Among Bolshevik Leaders and Fuel Crisis Bring Revolt

STOCKHOLM, (AP)—Russian peasants south of Moscow gladly sell a horse for three boxes of matches or a kilo of salt, it is reported by persons said to be in touch with conditions in the interior of the country.

Observers cite this state of affairs as the cause of the counter-revolution in March which, they say, began to take definite form in January.

Discontent which was prevalent throughout Russia during the war period, but concealed in the presence of the invading enemy, could no longer be repressed when the fighting men returned home to find want and distress.

The first signs of revolt against the existing order are said to have appeared at the Russian trade union congress in Moscow last November. There were further evidences of dissatisfaction in the eighth all-Russian Soviet congress held recently in Leningrad at Moscow last December.

Attack Communist Leaders. In this eighth congress, the metal workers' and miners' union, led by Schliapnikoff, urged the democratization of the government which, it was charged, was military dictatorship.

More recently the press of the country has shown signs of greater freedom and has not hesitated to attack policies of the government which, it is said, has intruded itself by appointing thousands of petty officials.

Transportation Falls. Within recent weeks the transportation of coal from the Donets valley has been at a standstill. The production was between 800,000 and 400,000 tons monthly, but only about 150,000 tons were loaded for rail delivery, due to shortage of transportation by subordinate soviet corporations or councils.

Simultaneously with the reduction in the coal supply, there was an almost complete cessation of delivery of wood. In addition to this, the snowless winter and the shortened day have added to the difficulties of local transport.

Little hope for improvement is held out unless supplies of naphtha stored at Baku can be brought into the center of the country.

DIAMOND SLUMP BRINGS DISTRESS IN TRANSVAAL

Starvation is Reported in Some Cases in Consequence of Depreciation in Values

JOHANNESBURG, (AP)—Economic distress prevails in the Western Transvaal as a result of the great diamond slump which has depressed the value of diamonds to such a degree that the government is reported in some cases.

The government officials are powerless to diminish the distress for the few special allowances which the government has granted have been swallowed up without appreciably relieving the situation.

FORD PAYS TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF BURROUGHS

Motor Maker Issues Statement on Learning of Death of His Noted Friend

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Henry Ford, close personal friend and camp mate of John Burroughs, made the following statement Tuesday on learning of the naturalist's death:

"The news of John Burroughs' passing is a great shock to me. The last time I saw him was apparently in good health. I heard from him during his illness in California, but he took it lightly, making out that he had gone to bed merely for a 'treat cure.' Next Sunday would have been his eighty-fourth birthday.

"I have known John Burroughs about twenty years. We were brought together by our common interests in birds and growing things. There was something very simple about him, and yet with it all there was a thoroughness of investigation and a hardness of endurance that give him rank as a natural man. I believe if you had offered John Burroughs a million dollars in one hand and the right of a new bird in another he would have chosen a sight of the new bird. The very last time he was at my farm he saw a winter-flier from the West and he never got before and the discovery killed him with excitement for days.

"We always talked a good deal together. John Burroughs could articulate his philosophy and so what we could by feel mine, and so we got out well together, understanding each other. His philosophy was just what he felt and he would work to write it down. He always brought his new books to me and I would sometimes show him some of the things I was working on.

"He was a great companion. He was absolutely childlike in his belief in people. For a man who saw so few people he had hope of friends. He was a fine camp mate. For him the desert wilderness was more alive than populous cities. That was the main characteristic of Mr. Burroughs—he was alive and his eyes were open.

"Well, he used to wonder what it was like beyond and I suppose he will begin philosophizing again as soon as he gets his bearings. There will be birds where John Burroughs is—birds and great trees."

CHICAGO SCHOOL SYSTEM MANAGED SUPERINTENDENT SAYS DOWNFALL IS IMMINENT UNLESS MORE REVENUE IS FORTHCOMING

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—As an aftermath of the war Chicago high schools are swamped with students and are forcing the city schools toward bankruptcy, Superintendent Peter A. Mortenson told the joint committees of revenue from senate and house Tuesday when they heard school men of Chicago and down-state argue for the passage of a bill which seeks to increase school taxes.

"Where high schools paid to be flattered when they got 40 per cent of the graduates from common schools they get last month 87 1/2 per cent of those who attend the night schools," he said. "This meant that $700,000 had to be handed to the high school budget immediately and hastened the end of the city's financial straits."

"Chicago is face to face today with the down-fall of the schools unless more revenue is given it. Teachers are still scarce, the kind most needed are as hard to find as ever."

John J. McCoy, chairman of the Chicago schools committee, told the committees that there are 1200 teachers in Chicago schools who are unable to meet the requirements of permanent certificates.

POLOUS CROOKS BY BANISHMENT FROM BASEBALL

Dean of Baseball Writers Thinks That Would Meet All Requirements

BY L. E. SANBORN

Speaking of the banishment of baseball, as nearly everybody is doing just now, where did the idea originate that baseball players and promoters were any different from the rest of the human race?

All that the world's serious reader of 1919 (and the lesser readers that have followed it) did to the baseball fan was to come on up to the top of the ball players average up just like those who engaged in any other business or profession.

Every employer in the United States does not start a run on his bank every time some trusted employe of such an institution is discovered to be a crook in the world do not brand every newspaper man a crook because a few of them have written stories which they know to be untrue. Why should the ball players be any exception to the average run of humanity?

Baseball has an advantage over every other business or profession in that the individual crook is powerless to do any cheating. He must have assistance, as was proven when one of the White Sox players confessed that the whole eight of them, who were in the conspiracy to throw the world's series of 1919, could not deliver the goods in one of the games. Five of the eight ball players took part in that game but the other four participants were on the level and won a contest which was supposed to go to Cleveland.

The problem that confronts the men who are interested in professional baseball now is to rid the sport of all players against whom there is a reasonable doubt of their honesty. Even if that does not eliminate every man who would accept a bribe for throwing a game or series, it will make it practically impossible for him to do so. The precautions taken by banks and bank examiners make the national banks of this nation the next thing to Gibraltar in the matter of honesty. Why should the ball players be any exception to the general public.

And the elimination of dishonest players is secondary in importance to divorcing the gambler from the game. The promoters are looking optimistically forward to a prosperous season. They may as well be willing to keep up their courage.

A few more weeks will tell, but the best way to insure a retention of the public confidence in the game is to get out of professional baseball for all the promoters, players and others vitally interested in the vitality of the game. The only way to do this is to oust the gambler, to insure even the average fan, who cannot get a thrill out of the game unless he has a lot to lose, to work for laws to suppress the baseball pool.

Game on Trial This Year Baseball is on trial this year, and 1921 will reward fighters. It is up to the promoters of the nation to try to ensure that there is no fighting the gambler.

MICHIGAN GOING TO COAST. The team began outdoor practice this week. Trials are set for each next week and the squad will leave for the west on Friday.

AMERICAN CONCERN TO BUILD SHANGHAI RADIO

Department of Commerce Announces Consumption of Contracts with China

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Work on a wireless station at Shang Hai, to be the largest in the world, will begin shortly under an agreement between the Chinese government and the Federal Telegraph company, an American concern, it was announced Tuesday by the department of commerce. It is to be completed in eighteen months and will be able to communicate across the Pacific without delay.

Consumption of the contracts with the Chinese government for this and other wireless projects is regarded by foreign trade experts here as one of the most constructive pieces of work of 1920 in recent years in behalf of American commercial interests in the Orient.

PIGS SUFFER THROUGH FAULTY STY BUILDING

Many pigs are lost and others are stunted in growth as the result of exposure because of high sills in front of hogpens. This is the observation of a Nebraska swine grower in a letter to the United States department of agriculture on the cause of rusty hock knock. His pigpen sills seem to be high and it is certain that small pigs are able to follow the sills into the pens. Attention to balanced rations, sanitation, and pure water are likewise mentioned as methods of preventing runs.

CABINET TAKES UP RAIL ISSUES

President Calls for Opinions Preparatory to Framing Administrative Policy

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The railway situation held first place in cabinet discussion Tuesday, President Harding calling for opinions from his circle of counsellors preparatory to the framing of a general administration policy.

The administration has been in touch with railway executives and railway labor leaders and the president is understood to be much impressed by the present situation in which the carriers are operating at a loss at the same time that shippers are complaining rates are too high. The wage reduction element in the situation is understood to have been touched on at the cabinet session, but Mr. Harding attempted to reach no decision pending conference with the government agencies which deal with railway conditions.

Freight rates were said to be particularly under consideration by the cabinet, although the suggestion was made that present passenger rates might be as high as to restrict travel and actually curtail railroad earnings. The president and his advisers are approaching the railroad problem with an eye to the possibility of legislation to tariff legislation and conditions arising from the fact that under the present tariff schedules railroad rates make products in some of the home commercial sectors more expensive than costs of their importation from abroad.

DIAGNOSIS

The thing to be remembered is that there are personal idiosyncrasies in every worker, and that each worker does some kind of work especially well and other tasks indifferently or poorly. It is hardly worth while for the mistress to attempt to change a worker's natural manner of work or habits. Some workers plod slowly for hours and they are not the kind that can ever work quickly for short periods. The thing to do is to try to find out how they work best and improve their efficiency along that particular line.

RADIATOR LEAK CAUSES FLYERS TO HALT FLIGHT AT RICHMOND WASHINGTON, (AP)—The two marine corps airplanes en route to the Virgin Islands, landed at Richmond, Va., yesterday afternoon and expected to proceed today to Fayetteville, N. C., the navy department was advised this morning. No previous word of the whereabouts of the planes had been received since they left here yesterday afternoon.

The message, dated Richmond and filed yesterday afternoon reached the department today. It was signed by Major Thomas F. Turner, commanding the expedition and said the machines and their crews were all right and would proceed today.

The planes came down at Richmond at 4:40 p. m. yesterday, nearly four hours after they left here. Marine corps officers said the machines must have encountered trouble which was not indicated in Major Turner's message. They should have reached Fayetteville in about the elapsed flying time.

The plane piloted by Major Turner developed a radiator leak some time after leaving Washington and the crew decided to stop at Richmond to make repairs, the department was further advised. The Virginia state far grounds where the machines descended in some distance outside of Richmond and regularly used as a land field by marine corps planes.

W. C. T. U. GIVES HAND TO ALIENS

Twentieth Americanization Center in as Many Cities is Opened in Chicago

CHICAGO, (AP)—At the heart of a densely populated foreign district in Chicago, women of the country opened the twentieth of the W. C. T. U. have recently established a center for the Americanization of aliens. It is announced by headquarters of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Evanston, Ill. "Early in the history of the Americanization center of the W. C. T. U. in as many cities.

In addition to regular Americanization work a sort of social center for women who wish to enter this field of W. C. T. U. activities. It is more than 20 years since the Woman's Christian Temperance Union began its program of Americanization work," says its national headquarters. "It is more than 20 years since the leader began the cultivation of the field offered by foreign speaking people, who were even then speaking English, particularly to the women, and in every possible way sought to educate in American ways the children in the homes of the foreign born. The spirit of friendliness which has always characterized the activities of the Americanization department of the W. C. T. U. is evident in the motto which is applied to each center today, W. C. T. U. Neighbor.

As a part of the jubilee program, the work of the five years preceding the one-half century anniversary in 1924, the W. C. T. U. has intensified its work in Americanization. "There is a national department under a trained director with trained workers in the Americanization field in every city of the United States. The ten centers in cities scattered over the United States have already been established with complete corps of workers who conduct classes in the centers and go out from them into the homes, teaching individual women or little groups of women among the foreign-born the language of the country of their adoption, thus putting them on an equal footing with the men and the children in the family who enjoy these privileges in shop or school." W. C. T. U. national headquarters took occasion to say emphatically that the W. C. T. U. had launched a campaign in all parts of the country against the home brewing industry.

Back to Farm Move is Strong in Dakota

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—There isn't any need for the well known slogan "back to the farm" in North Dakota, says A. J. Burnett, agricultural department agent. He cites census figures to show that while there were only 74,530 farms under tillage in the state in 1910 the number had risen to 77,693 in 1920.

Grocery Store Adds Bee Keeping to Line

FERTILE, Iowa, (AP)—A novel idea and an innovation heretofore unheard of in the mercantile world will be introduced this season by a local firm. The opening of a general store in connection with their grocery department, they will conduct a modern apiary in the vacant rooms over their store. The upper story of their building is infested with bees and recently the merchants removed several hundred pounds of honey from within the upper walls. There were no freight charges, other need expense or milldenn's commission, and they are now installing several double deck hive updaters for the accommodation of their beneficiaries. The honey will be sold hot from the hive direct to the consumer.

SOY BEAN MAKES WAY TO NORTHERN CLIMES

The soy bean, an Asiatic importation popularly associated with the north, is making its way north, and according to reports received by the United States department of agriculture, is being well received.

Most of the varieties first brought to this country were from the north, whose climate corresponded more nearly to the northern states. Within the last seven or eight years the department has obtained about 300 introductions of soy beans from Manchuria, Korea and Japan, some of which are now being tested in several parallel. The most promising northern varieties are the Black Eye, the Mandarin, and the Manchou, all native to latitude about 45 degrees, on account of which they are adapted to our most northern states. A large number of samples of Black Eye soy bean were sent to northern farmers last year, and out of 351 reports returned more than 400 were favorable. Reports promise a great increase in acreage in northern states this year. Seedmen are laying in supplies of these more northern varieties; but many farmers, if unable to obtain northern stock, will still use varieties such as Ho San. From 90 to 95 per cent of soy beans are raised for hay, silage and pasture, although they are profitable seed producers.

CHARLES FAILS IN BID TO WIN HUNGARIAN THRONE

Former Emperor Visits Budapest with Idea of Taking the Reins of Government but is Dissuaded by Regent Horthy

BUDAPEST, (AP)—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary made his visit to Budapest Monday with the idea of taking possession of the Hungarian throne, but was unable to induce the Hungarian government to fall in with his plan...

Regent Horthy, after setting forth constitutional objections, refused the plan and induced the ex-emperor to promise to return to Switzerland.

Charles is reported now to be at Steinamanger, in West Hungary near the Austrian frontier, at which place he stopped on his way from Switzerland before coming to Budapest.

Charles on his way into Hungary had made an effort to align the military authorities at Steinamanger with him, pleading with General Lehar, in command, for support.

General Horthy is said to be convinced that the restoration of Charles would be a source of danger to Hungary. A large part of the Budapest garrison as well as General Lehar's troops, are declared to be opposed to Charles' return.

Alto Allies' Objections The French, British and Italian high commissioners held a conference after the emperor's visit and the British commissioner, dean of the corps, went to the regent and reminded him of the opposition of the allies to the return of the Hapsburgs to power.

AUSTRIA POSTS GUARDS TO KEEP FORMER EMPEROR OUT VIENNA, (AP)—The Austrian government is taking every possible precaution to prevent former Emperor Charles from re-entering the country from Steinamanger, West Hungary.

Armed guards from various organizations are on duty along the frontier to intercept the former emperor should he attempt to recross into Austria. The garrisons of the associations are under heavy guard to prevent the removal of arms and the homes of all generals in the old imperial army are under police surveillance.

It is reported a large number of officers of the old army are hurrying in groups to towns adjacent to Steinamanger.

Little Entente Berries Notice Meanwhile, the "little entente," comprising Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania, has served notice on Austria to leave Hungary. These three states will be marched into Austria at the slightest indication that former Emperor Charles is to be permitted to return to the country.

Unrest and nervousness prevail among all classes in Vienna where it is generally recognized the situation is one of the most serious.

The government announced today it would order an investigation into the manner in which Charles crossed Austria into Hungary. There appears to have been some confusion in the first dispatches as to the time of the ex-emperor's arrival in Austria. His subsequent movements have been correctly crossed Austria Friday night and entered Hungary on Saturday.

FARMER SETS EXAMPLE IN BETTER DAIRYING METHODS BY BUILDING IMPROVED MILK HOUSE

The endless-chain manner in which agricultural extension works for the betterment of a community is shown in the monthly report of the western office of the Dairy Division, United States Department of Agriculture. A representative of the western office visited a creamery in Washington state early in July and talked to dairymen as they unloaded their cream. One man seemed to be particularly interested when the representative told him about the need of better cream, how such cream should be handled by better care in cooling, and how a cooling tank could be built.

"I went out to his place," the dairy representative writes in his report, "with some Department of Agriculture bulletins relating to the building of milk houses and the cooling of cream on the farm. I explained how he could equip the house with water connection for a cooling tank and how to make some changes to suit his needs. The county agent was interested in this line of work and asked what he could do toward carrying forward. I said: 'Mr. L. will have a milk house and cooling tank built in three weeks. If convenient, call on him then, and take a farmer along. Repeat the visit and take other men along to see his milk house. If this man sees his work is so appreciated that people will contribute to toward carrying forward a booster for milk houses and cooling tanks and convert his neighbors to his point of view quicker than you or I can do it. Remember a farmer in Michigan whom I used to hold up as a conspicuous example of the model dairyman. Just as I spoke at dairymen's meetings, I think he would rather have lost his best cow than to have me tell him deliver a can of sour or off-flavored cream to the creamery. He had acquired a reputation and quite a glorious pile in living up to it."

USES DOLLS TO PICTURE TREND OF WOMEN'S WEAR

Massachusetts Woman Represents Fashions for Last 1,600 Years

PITTSFIELD, Mass., (AP)—Fashion in woman's wear for the last 1,600 years, from the abundant robes of the Roman matrons to the abbreviated skirts of today, are represented on 187 dolls dressed by Mrs. Charles S. Wright of this city. Work was begun on the miniature collection many years more than six years ago, after months of study of authoritative pictures portraying styles of different periods. It is said to be one of the best of its kind in the world.

In a specially furnished room manumans of the dark ages, contemporary dolls of the Renaissance and brightly decorated of our ante bellum and modern days. Eve also has a place in the fashion review, but merely as an example of how clothes make the man.

One of the most interesting costumes is that of a fisherman-woman from the Fifth of Porth. Tailored suits and peck-back waists have had no effect on the lady Scots, for their lives stand arm of the sea, for their dress and has remained unchanged for 500 years.

Shifts in American styles are illustrated by eight waxen faced beauties starting with the street gown of 1850. In this display are an afternoon frock of 1857, a calling costume of 1869, ball gowns of 1869 and spring-wear of 1869. The opera gown of 1910 stands out brightly by dress in the extremely light skirts of that year.

Leaders in dazzling costume are the Japanese from the time of their introduction to the western world. Slant eyes, brown faced dolls present a complete picture of feminine Nippon's as more of conquest in rich silks and satins. A large group of Chinese mannikins, arrayed in heavy silk fabrics peep from beneath coquettish Oriental sun-shades.

Hats have received particular attention in the collection. There are horned headgear popular in the year 1200, the monster mitre hats and the sugar-loaf hoods with clusters of hair, dressed and high against the supporting heart-shaped device.

In analyzing the various styles, Mrs. Wright who is in the author and the wife of the district attorney of Berkshire and Hampden counties, says women of all ages apparently cared less for the material and more for the cut the world over.

URGES CLOSER RELATIONSHIP WITH CHILEANS

South American Nation Sends Special Commissioner to California to Point Out Identity of Interests

LOS ANGELES, Cal., (AP)—Development of closer industrial and commercial relations between Chile and the Pacific coast of the United States, with their similar geographical and trade problems, is the reason for the visit to California of Richard Barrows, special commissioner for Chile to the United States, he said here.

Commissioner Barrows, who came to the United States to establish commercial relations between the two countries, pointed out that the commercial and industrial problems of Chile are practically identical with those of California, Oregon and Washington.

Problems Similar
"Chile bears the same relation with South America that those three states do to the United States," he said. "We face the same economic, we have the same similar high mountain ranges. Our trade problems are practically the same as those of your Pacific coast, and I am here to study your methods and to expand your foreign trade for the benefit which this study will be to my government."

He has the same problem of shipping that affects you, and we hope, in time, to see more of our own products float under our own flag. We have the same potentiality in water power from the Andes that you have from the high Sierras, and we hope, just as you do, to develop this water power to furnish the same kind of power to turn the wheels of our industries. Just as you are facing this problem, we realize that our development of power depends on the industrial future.

Holds Key to Resources
"Behind us lie the resources of the South American continent, just as behind you lie the resources of the United States, and the only way to arrange for the purchase by Chilean firms of American exports, and also that Chilean nitrates and other products be sold to the United States to furnish the values by which we must expect to pay for American imports to Chile."

LEAGUE ORDERS
QUICKER ACTION
AGAINST BOARD

School Trustees Target of Taxpayers' Officials in Removal Demands

Word was received here this afternoon late that papers in outstanding proceedings had been filed with Judge W. A. Babcock, at Burley, by the Taxpayers' League against W. W. Parham, George W. Rice and David F. Clark, members of the board of trustees of Independent School District No. 1, Judge Babcock is holding court in Burley. It is understood the papers were filed there in order to get quick action in the scheme to force early withdrawal of the three members of the board.

Authorized by the executive board of the Taxpayers' League, it is stated to be instituted immediately against three members of the board of trustees of Independent School District No. 1.

The members against whom the proceedings will be directed are: W. W. Parham, chairman; George W. Rice and David F. Clark. This action, it is stated, was officially sanctioned at a meeting of the league directors that night, orders by the league to proceed without delay. It is expected that legal papers in compliance will be filed within the next 24 hours.

Reasons Given.
Demand for the removal of the three school board members mentioned results, it is alleged, in the removal of the board members. The action by the board in the matter of the resignation presented by Chairman Parham, the trustees voted to take no action. A resolution complaint has been lodged against the form of the withdrawal notice, especially to the date mentioned when the resignation would become effective, that being April 1. League executives yesterday claimed that by mutual understanding, the resignation should have been made effective immediately.

Legality Questioned.
There has also developed antagonism against some members of the board by the league. The league has filed a petition with the district court, D. D. Alvert, who declined to qualify. The league contends that the selection of the board is illegal, and that to elect it is necessary to poll a majority of the entire school area. When Mr. Heyman was elected the year 1919, he was elected by a vote of 100 ballots cast, a vacancy existing on the district at the time. Shad L. Hodgins, representing Walters, Higgins & Johnson, before the board, today announced that in his judgment the election of Mr. Heyman was entirely legal, the law requiring a majority of the board members present for election.

Expressing the appreciation of the post members for Mr. Albert and their best wishes for his continued success in his new field, H. J. Benoit presented to the departing officer a handsome gold pen, the gift to the post. Mr. Albert accepted the present with expressions of his own pleasure at having been associated with Twin Falls veterans and citizens since his departure as department adjutant at the state convention of the Legion last June.
