Holds Cattle Suffer at Sight of Killing

NEW YORK, (AP)—Cattle suffer "mental anguish" when they see one another slaughtered at abattoirs, according to officials of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who soon will sponsor legislation designed to have each animal killed outside the presence of others.

Hogs, sheep and other dumb meat producers likewise are sensitive to bloodshed and are terrorized by such practices, the society contends.

Among the reforms which the organization will seek to effect by legislation is abolishing the practice of "causing" animals before slaughter. This consists of binding their hind legs with rope or chain and then hanging them up with a windlass so that their heads and foreparts appear downward. While dangling in this position the throats of the beasts are cut, the society asserts.

It is noted that such practices cause the animals to suffer and that the only humane and proper way to slaughter them is by first stunning with a single-barrel blow between the eyes, causing instantaneous insensibility.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE TEAMS STAND AT BARRIER READY FOR STARTER'S SIGNAL TO GO AWAY

Eight Clubs, All More or Less Changes in Personnel Since Last 1920 Appearance on the Field of Battle, Report in Rare Trim to Get into New Championship Fray — New Rules Prevail

Eight baseball teams, their members tanned and hardened by work in California training camps, got away on four western championship tournaments in the 1921 race for the Pacific Coast pennant.

Vernon, which has won the championship for the last three years, opens tomorrow at Sacramento, battle plays at Los Angeles, Portland at San Francisco and Oakland at Salt Lake.

Predictions that the coming season will be the biggest in the league's history were made by William H. McCarthy, San Francisco, president of the organization.

"We look forward to a season that will break all records for attendance and we are sure we can give the public a class of baseball unsurpassed even by the two major leagues," McCarthy said recently.

"Clean baseball," is the motto adopted by McCarthy for the league. The gambling charges connected with the Vernon and Salt Lake clubs last season have been cleared and all accusations have been thrown out of the league," he asserted. "There is not a man now playing who has any charges against him."

"And further, the coast league, as long as an umpire, is in the line to stay that way. I personally will not tolerate anything that smacks of crookedness. Neither will any of the club owners. Baseball is a spectacle, or should be, and I propose to keep it that way in the coast league."

Figures compiled here show the league this year will have 71 players who have worn major league uniforms. Never before, it is said, has a minor league had on the rolls so many former eastern players. And President McCarthy has asserted that not only are the 71, but all the other players in the league, of major baseball calibre today.

Umpires for the opening series have been assigned as follows: Floney and Crocker at San Francisco, Flynn and Casey at Sacramento; Byron and Tomasi at Salt Lake and Eason and McFraw at Los Angeles.

New rules intended to make the games "more attractive to the eye" have been issued to the umpires by McCarthy. One rule instructs umpires to clear the diamond just before the games start and to remain in the dugouts until the umpires have announced the batter. This rule is in effect in the major leagues and tends to stop straggling on and off the field. The field lines will be marked fresh while the men are in the dugouts.

Another rule prohibits discoloration of a ball by the pitcher and a third says balls will be declared fair or foul when they disappear from the sight of the umpire. This means that a high one over the right field fence, hit fair but soaring over the foul line, will be foul. The balk rule will also be enforced.

the short field the Bees will probably start Barry from St. Mary's college of Oakland, Cal. Salt Lake expects to get several players from Chicago about April 15 and among them may be Eddie Mulligan, former Bees shortstop, or Harvey McClellan, another infielder. If one of these men report, Barry will be kept as utility infielder. In all, the Bees have four men coming from the Sox.

Barney Pflieger seems to have found himself this year and they're talking of him being a regular in the Cubs' outfield. The boy didn't have much chance to show what he could do last year, as Fred Mitchell had him subbing in the infield much of the time.

The east has developed a flyweight boxing champion named Johnny Buff.

In the near future Johnny will try his hand at rebuilding Jimmy White, who now owns the world title of the flyweight section.

The Pacific Coast baseball season opens tomorrow with the Salt Lake Bees entertaining the Oaks at Bonaventure, Salt Lake.

Like the Alabaster Hoos people of Comiskey park the Bees have been shot to pieces through player sales and official washbasins until the outfit has been almost entirely rebuilt since last fall.

In addition to taking on a majority of new material out of which to make a club the Salt Lake association has been put to the necessity of selecting a new manager. Garry Cravath is in charge and is said to have assembled a fairly good looking team, with prospects of getting some good material from the Chicago White Sox to brace weak places.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, (AP)—Players new to Bees uniforms will be in every fielding post of the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast baseball league when it opens here Tuesday against Oakland. As well as being new to the club, most of the Bees this year are youngsters in the game and, as a result, home town fans are not looking for the club to get an early start in the league race.

"We will get a slow start, but within a month after the season opens I am sure we will be in the first division, and we will stay there until the season ends," H. Loney, president of the club, said recently. "We have many surprises for the fans. Never in my life have I seen such a likely crew of youngsters. Like Connie Mack's new team, they may be world beaters—then again, they may not. However, we will be up there fighting all the way."

The Salt Lake club, one of the league leaders, was wrecked near the close of the 1920 season when charges of grafting forced several players into retirement. Most of the remaining stars were taken by the Chicago White Sox. The only veteran Bees are in the battery positions:

C. C. "Gavvy" Cravath, who came from the major league to build a new team, will play right field and probably lead in the hitting, it being believed he will bat more than 300. In center field will be Art Hauser from Monowjau, Canada, and in left Henry Oliver, from the Mission league of California. Sports writers predict these three outfielders will hit an average of about 200.

"Batch" Byler, veterans of the 1920 club, helping out. On the mound, Salt Lake will have Holt Thurston, Eames Heger, Al Gauld, Bromley and possibly Leverenz and Stroud of last year's nine. Two others, A. Pilleholder, a California semi-professional, and "Blabe" Binley of Arizona, may be kept. Stroud, according to late reports, may not join the club.

Red Jordan, a good fielder and a heavy slugger from the White Sox, will play first. Paddy Biglin, who came on a trade from the Seattle Coast league club, will hold down second base and Hettie Sand, utility man for a time last year, is slated for the third sack. Sand is expected to be one of the surprises of the year. In

MICHELLE LEWIS PLAYS INDIAN BOLE IN HIS NEWEST PRODUCTION. Mitchell Lewis, the true-to-life portrayer of Iravine French-Canadian and other wild characters, has taken on a role that is both different and new at the Orpheum in his latest select picture, "The Last of His People."

After all, lavish things and spectacular scenes are no objects of requisition for the truly great motion picture. "Humoresque," on view at the Idaho Theatre today is among the best photoplays of the year because it impresses you with its sincerity and intense human appeal. It is a story of human beings who are. Tears and laughter intermingle in it as they do in real life. The story of the genesis of the violin, which aided by that beautiful girl, mother-love, rose from obscurity and poverty to the heights strikes a responsive chord in every heart.

"Humoresque" was adapted from Fannie Hurst's novel of the same name. The chief characters are portrayed with rare understanding by Alana Ruben, Gaston Glass, Vera Gordon and Doris Davidson.

WHEAT PRICE WEATHERS FLUCTUATION IN TRADE

Beastly Influences are Offset in Part by Liberal Export Business; Close 1-4 Lower to Like Advances

CHICAGO, (AP)—Wheat prices developed a little strength today as a result of buying based on opinion that all the bearish factors had been discounted and that a rally was due. Besides, some export demand was said to be in evidence. Advances, however, led to increased selling pressure and there was a decline in some cases as well before Saturday's finish. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1-2 higher with May 4.17 to 4.18 and July 4.16 to 4.16 1/4, were followed by moderate gains all around and then by a general sag.

Later the market was firmer owing to persistent rural buying in small lots. The close was steady at the same as Saturday's finish to 3-8 higher, with May 59 7-8 to 60 5-8.

Oats were covered chiefly by the course of other cereals, starting 1-8 to 1-16 off to 3-8 to 3-16 advance, July 38 1-2 to 39 1-8, and then hardening 1-16 but soon became easy.

Higher quotations on hogs had only a transient bullish effect on provisions.

All Business Co-operating with Committee for Success of "Dollar Days"

The committee in charge of affairs for the coming Dollar Days Bargain Festival reports gratifying co-operation on the part of all business men in Twin Falls in an effort to make the occasion a bounding success.

The committee reports every detail of the program being worked out as planned, with prospects favoring two of the biggest commercial days in the history of Twin Falls city and district. Merchandise of all lines will be offered at bargain prices consistent with the quality of the goods. There will be bargains and more bargains, says Mr. Bablin, head of the publicity committee.

It is the plan to make the first day of Dollar Day Festival more or less of a "city bargain day," and on that occasion sales specials will be offered that will attract city folks from all points of the compass. Saturday, April 10 will be made a day that all can enjoy, but will be planned to carry an appeal to the people from ranches and farms. Twin Falls residents are urged to apply the same plan to their homes around Christmas: "Do Your Shopping Early" so as to give out-of-the-city visitors a chance to do their shopping conveniently.

Check Made Basis for Court Action Against Partlow

Circulation Contest Manager and B. H. Stevenson Made Defendants

A check for $1,000 written by R. H. Stevenson in favor of C. H. Partlow, is made the basis of a civil action filed in the district court. The suit is instituted by the Twin Falls National bank against C. H. Partlow, as an individual, and C. H. Partlow as doing business under the firm style of the Charles H. Partlow company. R. H. Stevenson is also named as a defendant in the action.

According to the complaint, filed by Bostwell & Chapman, attorneys for the plaintiff bank, the check in question was made by R. H. Stevenson, then owner of the Chronicle, in favor of Partlow, and drawn on the Farmers Equity bank of Brooksville, Fla. The check was endorsed by C. H. Partlow and upon such endorsement was paid at the bank now named as plaintiff. Later the paper was returned from Brooksville with the notation "no funds." Protest fees of $3.25 were added to the check.

Defendant Partlow was manager in charge of a circulation campaign conducted by the late Twin Falls Chronicle, several months ago.

Lawsuit Reveals Contract to End Spinster's Life

Woman Complains Against Man Who Took Money and Failed to Fulfill Bargain

BASLE, Switzerland, (AP)—Two men who had entered into a contract with a woman to end her life were recently jailed into criminal court here by the party of the second part for taking her money and failing to carry out their bargain. Hobbey was charged by the plaintiff in the action, and the man was sentenced to terms in prison. The woman narrowly escaped trial for attempted self-murder.

Francis Kraus, brooding over her spinsterhood, decided to end her life and she should consult her lawyer to find a chemist, she found a chemist, who professed to be willing to act for executioner for a consideration, and after the two had conferred in the presence of a third person, terms were agreed upon. The woman, insisted upon being beheaded, it was alleged, but the chemist with a show of professional pride, held that poison would be just as effective and more in keeping with the conventions. The third party suggested drowning as a compromise, and the deal was closed.

The three started for Lake Lucerne, but the chemist, having exacted his advance payment, of 75 per cent of the $500 contract price, vanished en route, and prosecution followed.

Beginnings of Baseball. Abner Doubleday, who later went to West Point and ultimately became a major general in the United States army, is given the credit for originating the game, in 1839. He and some other young men began to play a game they afterward called baseball. One of these, named Cartwright, had the idea of a diamond to improve the game. "Two Old Cat" and "Three Old Cat" were still early forms of ball and were adapted probably from the English game of rounders.
