CHANNEL MAILS LEAGUE CHARGE

Councilman Denies Financial Interest in Concern Patronized by City

Answering the attack of Taxpayers' league executives, directed against his integrity as a public official, C. B. Channel, member of the city council, in board session held last night, stated he is not now and has not been for some years, nor is any member of his family, a stockholder in the Nibley-Channel Lumber company.

Mr. Channel's statement was made in connection with the charge made by Taxpayers' league officials that the city council has violated the state law by selling to the public corporation it serves an advertisement material while in holding public office.

The Taxpayers' league executives reportedly adopted resolutions addressed to Mayor W. H. Eldridge in which demand was made upon the mayor to request Mr. Channel to restore to the city treasury a sum approximating $4,100, alleged to have been received on regularly ordered city warrants drawn in favor of the Nibley-Channel company for materials purchased by the city from the company.

The resolutions were read at last night's session of the city legislative board, but in view of Mr. Channel's statement that he is not a stockholder in the company, interested in the plaintiff, Mayor and council members decided to ignore the communication from the league without taking official action except to have the letter, of which the resolutions are a part, read.

GERMANS' NEXT APPEAL LIKELY TO BE TO ALLIES

British Official Opinion Sees Dismal Failure in Teutonic Attempt to Enlist American Support

CONSULATION IS FOUND BY PARIS IN SITUATION

LONDON, (AP)—Although the British government has not received in full from the British representatives in Berlin the note sent by Secretary of State Hughes to Berlin on the German reparations question, the official British opinion is, it was learned today, that Germany failed abominably in her attempt at a new method of solving the reparations problem—that of approaching America for assistance.

It is believed here that Germany's next move will be a direct approach to the allies.

The German move, however, it is decided, must be a proposal regarding the method of reparation payments and not embodying proposals for a reduction from the total sum decided upon by the Paris conference of the allies.

SATISFACTION IS EXPRESSED IN FRENCH OFFICIAL CIRCLES

PARIS, (AP)—The reply of the United States to Germany on the reparations question has given the greatest satisfaction to French official circles, where it is regarded as finally clearing the door to all exceptions by Germany from meeting her liabilities under the treaty of Versailles.

The newspapers devoted much space today to the correspondence between Charles E. Hughes, American secretary of state, and Dr. Walter Simons, German foreign minister.

"America's reply was prompt and decisive. America's word brings its great consolation in the most difficult hour of our industry."

GERMAN PRESS AS-UMIT EXPRESSES DISAPPOINTMENT

BERLIN, (AP)—German newspapers which comment today on the communication from Secretary of State Hughes to Berlin, are expressing disappointment. They find it no basis for the optimism which had been professed in some quarters.

The Pan-German organs take occasion to criticize the Washington administration for its "hesitant" approach to the war and must accept the responsibility for it.

The only light seen by the press as a whole is that Germany is "morally bound to make reparation so far as may be possible."

TURKS LOOSEN GREEKS' GRIP

Nationalist Forces Advancing in Superior Numbers Upon Bursa

CONSTANTINOPLE, (AP)—Greek forces in north Asia Minor, seem to be in danger of losing Bursa, upon which they have been making a determined advance in superior numbers.

The Greek detachments at Eski-Shehr, is issuing wireless dispatches comparing the Turkish victory there to the battle of the Marne. Hoelz in his statements that he was a student of Marshal Stoffel.

The Greek detachments at Eski-Shehr is said to have been due to the failure of a division in the Sogut sector to advance in concert with a division from Bilejik to the north, and another from Inegol to the southwest.

Severe losses have been inflicted upon the communists and the number of troops is said to be poor despite the large number of priests who are with them and encouraging them in battle.

REPORT THROWS LIGHT ON PUBLIC UTILITIES ISSUE

Service is Demanded but Returns are Not Guaranteed by State Commission's Orders, Investigation Shows

BOISE, Idaho (Special to The News)—Copy of the report of a joint legislative committee of California that investigated complaints of poor service on the part of public utilities has been received by the Idaho public utilities commission and has been closely read by its members.

"We have watched this proceeding with interest," said Commissioner E. M. Swooley of the Idaho commission. "The report is valuable to us, particularly just now, when we are taking up some of the activities mentioned by it."

The California report which analyzes situations similar to some in Idaho, and the policies announced under which are in line with those of the Idaho commission, says in part:

"It appeared that poor service, or lack of service, was a bitterly complained of as well increased cost of service. So that if we concede that good service is essential, we must concede that the utilities should receive sufficient revenue to furnish that service. No one was found to contend that a utility was not entitled to a fair return."

No Earnings Guaranteed.

The report points out a condition similar to that existing in Idaho. It says that many people entertain the mistaken belief that the commission fixes rates that guarantee certain returns on the money invested regardless of any extravagance or mismanagement. Such is not the case in California, nor in Idaho, and the California committee goes on to say:

"In fixing rates the commission proceeds to find the fair value of the property of the utility made as useful in the service of the public.

"It then puts its accountants to work analyzing and checking up the operating expenses. It then fixes a rate that will give a certain rate of return on the value of the property and fixes the rate accordingly.

"Out of that fair return must come interest on bonded indebtedness and borrowed money, amortization, and losses before dividends can be paid.

"If the fair return happens to pay interest on the outstanding bonds and stocks of the utility, the company is fortunate. Otherwise it is unfortunate.

"Whether or not a fair return will pay a dividend to the stockholders or interest upon outstanding bonds is not taken into consideration by the commission.

"Consequently the only too common belief that 'the more a company spends the more it earns' should be completely and finally discarded. And the further belief that the commission allows dividends on 'watered stock' is also without justification."

Municipalities Included.

The committee urges that municipal corporations be included within the scope of the public utilities law, which is not the case in Idaho, with the result that any municipal project, paying so large and no interest, might make a boner showing of saving to the public while at the same time, by other means of taxation, be a most costly venture for the people.

The report points out that capital must be encouraged to enter the state, and that cannot be done unless capital is assured of a fair return and decent treatment. The public utilities law, it points out, stands as a barrier between the public and the utilities in the matter of treatment to the public as to price and service, "so that the people on the one hand will receive good service at a fair price and the utility will receive such treatment at the hands of the people that will encourage capital to come to the state and help develop our wonderful resources."

Diseased Citrus Fruits of South Placed Under Ban

Deputy Horticultural Inspector Waters Finds Soule Infected Here

Notice will be served immediately upon many retail stores and at least one wholesale house that commercial handling of scale-infected citrus fruits will not be tolerated in Twin Falls and district.

Announcement to this effect was made at last night's meeting of the city council, by J. A. Waters, district deputy state horticultural inspector. Mr. Waters presented a Florida grapefruit, purchased by himself in a local store, as a sample of the scale-infected fruit reaching Twin Falls. He stated that the practice is most pernicious since scale infection is readily communicated from discarded fruit peelings to growing trees and shrubs. Mr. Waters has submitted a sample of his findings to the state horticultural department, with announcement of his plan of action. Mr. Waters told the city council that many carloads of infected fruit come to Twin Falls annually from the southern states, constituting a serious menace to the orchards of this district.

OPPORTUNITY OFFERED TO UTILIZE GARBAGE

Dr. Grooms Would Establish a Hog Feeding Yard if Given Hauling Contract

If an agreement satisfactory to both parties can be devised, Dr. H. R. Grooms, veterinary surgeon, will assume responsibility for handling the city garbage business during the coming five-year term. Dr. Grooms will establish a hog feeding yard outside the city limits, using as part of the feed, kitchen scraps and waste to be made a part of the feed material employed in the fattening process.

Dr. Grooms has made application to the city administration for award of the garbage hauling contract, which is soon to be let, and last night tendered a copy of contract for such hauling in operation in Pocatello. The applicant asks that this form of contract, which covers a five-year term, be put into operation in Twin Falls. Should Dr. Grooms receive the award he proposes to build a modern swine fattening establishment in proximity to this city where all edible garbage will be prepared and fed.

The contract submitted requires that the householders keep their refuse separate from all other forms of material to be used. The garbage hauling award is soon to be given consideration by the city administrators.

If awarded the contract Dr. Grooms guarantees to provide his own dumping station for all materials and will remove carcasses of all animals found within the city under the terms of the agreement.

School Trustees Pledge to Policy of Retrenchment

Resolutions for Economical Administration Signed by All Members

Pledging themselves, individually and as a board of the whole, to inaugurate and maintain a definite and drastic policy of retrenchment in the operation of school affairs, members of the board of trustees of Independent School District No. 1, last night recorded themselves in resolutions formally adopted. These resolutions, which have been spread on the minutes of the meeting, are to be given prominent publicity so that all patrons of the district may be advised of the guarantee to pursue an economical course in administration.

The resolutions, which were signed by all members of the board before they were adopted, read:

"Be it resolved, that we, the members of the board of trustees of Independent School District No. 1, pledge ourselves individually and severally to the principle and practice of operating and maintaining the schools of the district within the district's resources; and

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" is Jack Pickford's first Goldwyn picture. It is the story of a poor but ambitious boy, Chad (Jack Pickford), who runs away from his Cumberland home and after a long journey arrives in a valley known as "The Valley of Kingdom Come." In this place the shepherd boy's future is moulded. The plot of this story by John Fox, Jr., also involves some of the incidents of the civil war and the scenes dealing with this part of the picture are very realistic and absorbing interest. "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" will be shown at the Gem theater, today.

Farm Hands Win Strike to Boost 18 Cents Wages

New Era in Relations Between Chilean Land Owner and Employees Forecast

SANTIAGO, Chile, (AP)—The first farm laborers' strike in Chile was called recently by several hundred workers on the 20,000 acre estate of an English woman near here.

The immediate cause of the trouble, it is said, was the refusal of the laborers to continue working until sunset during harvest, according to long established custom in this country.

The "inquilino" system prevails on most of the large estates which form a characteristic feature of the farming system of central Chile.

The South Pacific Mail, discussing the strike, says "relations between the employer and employe on the farms hitherto have been somewhat patriarchal. The patron has been the ultimate court of appeal and, it might be said, the master of the man.

The owner of the estate where the laboring system is in vogue has been the direct result of action of "subversive elements." She declared she had provided her employes with good homes, schools and medical attendance.

THE RETURN TO THE FARM.

There is a growing belief that high rents and the general high cost of living in the cities may not be an un-mixed evil of all. They may have the effect of causing many persons to return to the farms and discouraging many others who plan to move to town.

Many farmers are inclined to magnify the opportunities of living in the cities through comparison of the high wages paid in industry with returns from work on the farm. They fail to take into account the high rents and the fact that they become consumers instead of producers.

Of course the costs of operating a farm have greatly increased in recent years; but while these costs are greater, the cost of living in urban communities has also increased, as any farmer who moves to town will soon discover. Much of the increase in population of our cities, as announced by the census bureau, may be credited to the influx of persons from the rural districts, attracted by the lure of employment at good wages. Those who look longingly to the city for relief from agricultural work should not fail to take into account the certainty that rents and the other items of living will offset to a large extent any advantages they may have gained by quitting the farm.

MENTAL HYGIENE.

There are persons who scoff at the frank tests which were made in the military service and which are being used by many large employers of labor. These tests had their place in determining the fitness of soldiers, and they still perform a service for some employers.

The National Committee for Mental Hygiene, realizing the value of normal mentality in industry, has undertaken to direct the study of the subject as it pertains to industrial and business life. The problem of the industrial foreman is to place men in work that will prove best for themselves and their employer.

Psychiatry, the term applied to mental hygiene, goes farther than psychology in that it undertakes to solve the problems of the troublesome employe by helping him make adjustments as to how he may be a good workman and a useful member of society.

Many men, unfitted temperamentally for the work in which they are at present engaged, find themselves lacking in the mental satisfaction that would come from employment to which they are best adapted. Psychiatry attempts to overcome the handicaps of the individual and direct his mind in a way that would develop the best that is in him.

The mental attitude of a person toward his employment will determine his success or failure. The matter is more deeply rooted than mere like or dislike, and the tests provided by the system known as psychiatry undertake to discover the real difficulty and remove it.

CAN LAWS OVERT SPECULATION IN FARM PRODUCTS?

Legislation to prevent gambling in farm products has been passed in under consideration by a number of legislatures. The California senate on Thursday passed a bill to prohibit dealing in futures when the seller is not the owner of the produce at the time when the contract and market prices are different.

The Minnesota legislature has passed an anti-futures law and is now considering an amendment to it to strengthen the original measure.

Both the desirability and feasibility of legislation of this character remain to be demonstrated. The speculative spirit seems inseparable from human nature and will night inderable from commerce and industry. Opponents of restrictive and penalizing legislation say, with much force, that speculation has been one of the great factors in American progress; that it has played a tremendous part in the building of railroads, the development of mining, the erection of factories and the opening up of new and distant markets.

On the other hand, advocates of such legislation contend that gambling in food products, which is the hither term for the more euphemistic expression of restrictive and penalizing legislation say, with much force, that speculation has been one of the great factors in American progress; that it has played a tremendous part in the building of railroads, the development of mining, the erection of factories and the opening up of new and distant markets.

The latter view of the National Farm Bureau was tentatively illustrated the latter viewpoint with a touch of humor in one of his addresses in Spokane this week. A representative of the farm bureau was participating before a congressional committee and a member of the committee asked him if it was not a fact that the speculation in farm products was multiplying itself rather than off the producers.

"If you had a hog," was the ready answer, "and that hog was infested with lice, would you say that the lice lived off each other and that the truth probably lies between these conflicting viewpoints. The anxious and experienced speculators are fed by a host of unscrupulous and inexperienced speculators. Every considerable community in the United States has one or more of these little speculators who live off each other that wheat or some other product is going up or down and back their belief with buying or selling orders on the Chicago market. Commissions and interest charges always run off these little speculators and help to keep the big game going in Chicago.

The producer himself must perform a part in this game of speculation. If he thinks the market will remain stationary or will fall, he backs his opinion by selling his crop when he has harvested. If he thinks prices are going up, he will hold his crop for the expected rise. His mistake has been in pitting his judgment on scanty information about stock supplies and demand against the professional speculator who makes it his business to study these controlling factors. His only hope of playing the game with skill approximating that of the professional trader lies in the big cooperative movement that is now an outstanding feature of American agriculture, and in its taking the guidance the world-wide information gathered by the experts of the cooperative organizations.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

The speedy enactment of an adequate protective tariff will reopen our mills and mines and encourage our farmers to plant the crops which shall provide us with food and clothing.—Racine (Wis.) Journal.

USES TELEGRAPH WIRE TO TRANSMIT DRAWINGS

Norwegian Engineer Perfects Method for Transferring Picture of Handwriting

CHRISTIANIA, Norway. (AP)—Herwig Peterson, a chief engineer in the Norwegian telegraph service, has invented a wire and cable system by which it is possible to transfer a picture or a message in the original handwriting over a practically unlimited distance. The device was recently publicly tested here between two 600-mile points and was reported successful.

Contrary to the present telegraph system, Mr. Peterson uses an alternating electric current, using an airtight synchronous work of the sending and the receiving apparatus, a high speed, and an enormous saving of operating costs. The system, it is claimed, also makes it possible to transmit double the number of words compared with any other telegraphic system now used, and it operates automatically from the moment the telegram, picture or drawing is received by the operator until it is received at the place of delivery. No new wires or cables are necessary.

The manuscript to be transferred is placed on a metallic cylinder—some of which resemble an original wax cylinder—covered with a photographic film and exposed to a strong light. The manuscript is copied on the film, and the film, developed and magnographically etched into the metal. The cylinder is then placed on the sending apparatus which is transmitted an electric current going to the receiving apparatus. When the cylinder rotates a needle moves on it touching every point on the cylinder. Whenever it touches the copied letters of the original film, develops and magnographically etched into the metal. The cylinder is then placed on the sending apparatus which is transmitted an electric current going to the receiving apparatus. When the cylinder rotates a needle moves on it touching every point on the cylinder. Whenever it touches the copied letters of the original film, develops and magnographically etched into the metal. TELEGRAPH COMPANY IS LIABLE FOR NEGLIGENCE

Federal Court Renders Decision in the Case Involving Idaho Bank

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The condition stated by the Western Union Telegraph company, that it will recognize liability beyond $50 for the non-delivery of messages, has no standing at law when gross negligence in such non-delivery is shown, the United States circuit court of appeals decided here Monday.

J. A. Calkins, of Oakland, had filed an action to force the company to recognize its alleged loss of $400 as a result of his failure to receive a telegram tolling him to sell his 50 shares in the Idaho National bank at Boise. Non-receipt of the message prevented a bank merger in Boise and forced one of the financial institutions concerned into liquidation, he complained.

The district court held against him. The circuit court ruled that the $50 liability might obtain in the event of the failure of a messenger to deliver a message, but that gross negligence did not hold good when negligence acted to prevent transmission, as was held to be the situation in Calkins' case.

SOME SCHOOL ELECTION FACTS

- 1. The election will be held in the high school auditorium from 1:00 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock, next Friday afternoon, April 8, 1921.
2. All resident freeholders having the qualifications of electors under the general laws of the state of Idaho may vote. A resident freeholder is a person who owns real property in the school district and lives within its boundary lines.
3. In the case of married persons, both husband and wife are qualified to vote even though the real property owned may stand on the records in the name of the husband only.
4. It will not be necessary to register in order to vote.
5. The purpose of the election is to secure the approval of the qualified electors in the district in the matter of making an additional levy of 20 mills in order to raise sufficient money to keep the schools open until the close of the school year.
6. The additional levy will be made in August, 1921, when the annual regular levies are made.
7. One-half of the tax raised by the additional levy will be payable in January, 1922, and the other half in July, 1922.
8. A very great factor involved in the election has to do with the salaries of more than 100 teachers who have stood by the district and stuck to their jobs without drawing a cent of pay since December 22, 1920.
9. Another great factor in the election involves 3,200 school children each of whom has a half-year of school work at stake.
10. The largest graduating class in the history of Twin Falls—one hundred sixteen young men and women— anxiously awaits the verdict to be registered at the polls next Friday. How great the obligation of the district is with respect to these worthy young people is incalculable.
11. The schools will close if the election fails.
