BRITISH LABOR RANKS DIVIDED BY DEFECTIONS

Miners Set Date for Conference on Continuing the Coal Strike; Break Up of "Triple Alliance" Threatens

ENGLAND FEELING PINCH OF SHORTAGE OF FUEL

LONDON, (AP)—A conference between delegates of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain and representatives from all coal districts in the United Kingdom, at which the coal strike situation will be considered, was today fixed for next week. In the meantime work will not be resumed in any of the coal fields, affected by the miners' strike.

Labor Forces Divided

Labor forces of the United Kingdom are today apparently broken into sections as a result of the refusal of the National Union of Railwaymen and the National Federation of Transport Workers yesterday to continue their support of the strike called by the Miners' Federation of Great Britain on April 1.

Opinion Prevails in some quarters that the action of the railroad workers and the transport also means the death warrant of "Triple Alliance."

This view is not held universally, but, with out doubt, the split which developed yesterday will have a serious effect upon the rank and file of labor. "Yesterday was the heaviest defeat that has befallen labor within the memory of man," begins the laborer's Herald's comment on the sensational breakaway of the railroad men and transport workers. "It is no use trying to minimize it. The workers have not only broken up, and they have reached the reward."

Charge Rodgers with Bribe

The newspaper declares that Frank Rodgers, secretary of the miners' organization, made a farcical mistake by allowing the old formula, "I am writing you from my home," to be used in his address before members of the house of commons on Thursday night.

The old machinery has failed, the miners' committee must start afresh and get a machine that will work, and develop a new spirit. This is not the end; it is the beginning.

Whether the miners' federation, in its turn, will split up, as predicted in some quarters, remains to be seen. Mr. Rodgers' position has become delicate, but it is known he has the support of the miners' union. The camp of the present executives of the organization are tied, but on the new conference of (Continued on Page Five)

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—Mary Anderson of Illinois was nominated by President Harding today to be director of the women's bureau of the department of labor.

GRAIN PRICES SKYROCKETING

Tariff Legislation, Foreign Crop Reports and Weather Forces Values Higher

CHICAGO, (AP)—American politics, foreign crop reports and grain, both weather combined today to force prices higher on the Chicago board of trade. May wheat returned an advance of 6 cents a bushel over yesterday's closing price and other grain and provisions were pulled along with wheat in the future trading.

Wheat Momentarily

There was a regular scramble to buy wheat at the start of the market, but professional and trade orders to sell halted the initial advance when May wheat touched $1.25. Within the next hour, however, traders heard that official reports indicated the drought in India had wiped out the exportable wheat surplus in that country, that the Argentine crop would be 29,000,000 bushels less than last year's, and that a steady drought of six months in France had affected the crops there adversely.

Beans Take Cover

These factors, taken with storm reports and forecasts for freezing temperatures over the middle west grain belt in this country, went too much for the bears. They scurried to cover and May wheat went to $1.27 1/4 a bushel before the movement was checked. Profit taking of that figure then took a half-cent off the advance.

FORMER BAIT LAKE MAYOR IS RELEASED FROM PRISON

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Former Mayor Edmond A. Beck, sentenced last December to an indeterminate term in the state prison, the trial judge recommending a term of seven years, on the charges of embezzlement involving a total of $12,000, was paroled by the state board of pardons today. Prior to his trial, Beck made restitution of the amount.

CUTS STEEL PIPE PRICES

EARLY VOTE ON TARIFF BILL IN SENATE LIKELY

House Passes Emergency Measure by Vote of 269 to 112; Only 8 Republicans and 15 Democrats Break Lines

MINORITY DELAYS ACTION ON IMMIGRATION BARRIER

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Chairman Ferrero today led a meeting of the senate finance committee for Monday to take up the emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill passed yesterday by the house. The speaker announced that hearings would begin Tuesday without waiting for formal re-organization of the committee. It is planned to complete the hearings in one day, if possible, and report the bill to the senate for action next week.

WASHINGTON, D. C., (AP)—With the combined emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill put through, the house was in adjournment today until Monday to permit the selection of a minority committee, particularly by those on the immigration committee before the immigration restriction bill is reported out. When Representative Mendell, Wyoming, republican leader, proposed yesterday that the house meet today to receive a report from the immigration committee, Representative Garrett, Tennessee, republican leader, objected because the minority members of the committee had not been selected and asked that the report be delayed.

Follows Party Lines

Following the house yesterday by a vote of 269 to 112, only eight republicans and 15 democrats breaking away from the party alignment on the measure. The Young emergency tariff and anti-dumping bill now goes to the senate with republican leaders hopeful of its passage there next week. Action on the measure in the house came at the end of a session enlivened by democratic protest that the republicans, in standing for passage of the bill precisely in the form put through at the last session, were bowing to the "dictation of the senate." The minority chairman followed a flint declaration by Chairman Ferrero that the ways and means committee that the senate would accept no amendments.

SLOWLY GATHERED REPORTS FROM STORM AREA AUGMENT EXTENT OF HAVOC WROUGHT

Hurricane, Striking First in Texas, Sweeps Eastward Through Arkansas and Into Mississippi

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (AP)—Fifty known dead and many more persons injured have been reported in dispatches received from the storm wrung sections of the southeast Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (AP)—A rapidly mounting death list that may exceed fifty, dozens of persons injured and property damage as yet unestimated are results of a tornado that cut a wide swath across parts of Miller and Hempstead counties, Arkansas, and Cass county, Texas.

Reports coming into Little Rock from the storm area suggested rather than diminished the extent of the damage and because of paralyzed wire communication, officials were of the opinion that several days might elapse before the full extent of the destruction is definitely known.

Apparently the heaviest loss of life and property was caused in the two Arkansas counties. In the rural areas of upper Miller county, near Texarkana, eleven persons are known to have been killed and a large number injured. Near Hope, in Hempstead county, press dispatches stated that from fifteen to twenty persons were killed and scores injured by the storm, which swept the entire length of the county. The storm approached within a few miles of the town, according to reports here.

Several Bodies at Present Unaccounted for in Hempstead county that may have been struck by the storm. A brief message received late last night said there were several bodies there, but it was not known just where the fatalities occurred.

Reports received by the Arkansas Gazette up to early hour this morning give a total of 39 persons dead as a result of the storm in southwestern Arkansas and Cass county, Texas, last night. Presumably all of these were said to be whites and a large number of them were unidentified.

ONE WOMAN DEAD; TWELVE INJURED IN MISSISSIPPI

HATTIESBURG, Miss., (AP)—One woman was killed and at least 12 persons were injured in a tornado which struck Bogalusa, 10 miles east of Brookhaven, today. Ten houses were wrecked.

BIRMINGHAM HEARS TWO TOWNS COMPLETELY DESTROYED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., (AP)—Reports filtering into Birmingham over badly disrupted lines of communication indicate that the town of Ralph, Tuscaloosa county, was almost completely wiped out by a cyclone early today and that Bullinger, Lamar county, suffered a like fate. In these reports, which lack confirmation, the number of injured runs into the scores.

Blizzard Grips Chicago; Communication Paralyzed As Storm Sweeps Onward

CHICAGO, (AP)—Telegraphic communication between the west and southern sections of the country are practically paralyzed today, according to reports received by telegraph companies here this morning.

The reports show there was no communication whatever between Chicago and Omaha and that the wires are in bad condition all along the line reaching from Denver southeastward, including Dallas, Texas; Little Rock, Ark.; Shreveport, La.; Memphis, New Orleans, St. Louis, Nashville, Chattanooga, Birmingham and Cincinnati. The weather bureau reported the storm to be moving southeastward. Chicagoans awoke this morning to face a gale of high velocity, accompanied by some heavy rain. Small damage is reported this far north.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN REGION EMBEGGED FROM BIG STORM

DENVER, Colo., (AP)—The Rocky mountain region today was slowly recovering from the effects of the worst storm of the winter which yesterday covered the entire west. The storm, covering an area of 11 to 14 inches in depth blocked railroads and paralyzed wire communication in most directions from Denver.

IOWA'S APRIL RECORDS SHATTERED BY GOLD WAVE

DES MOINES, Iowa, (AP)—All April records were broken here today as heavy snow fell last night and is sweeping over the entire state of Iowa today.

KENOSHA IS BURIED UNDER THICK BLANKET OF SNOW

KENOSHA, Wis., (AP)—This city was hit by the snow storm since 1918 last night with snow twelve inches deep on the level this morning, and drifted in many places to more than two feet. Traffic was paralyzed in the city.

BARB RUTH SPORES FIRST HOME BORN OF SEASON

NEW YORK, (AP)—Barb Ruth made his first home run of the season today. The long cut came in the sixth inning when he drove the ball over the fence at the New York-Philadelphia game at the Polo grounds. Harris was pitching for the Athletics.

RESCUERS FIND WRECKAGE HEAP IN STORM PATH

Tales of Devastation Wrought by Tornado in Texas Counties Promise to Exceed the First Reports

BUILDINGS TORN UP AND SCATTERED IN FRAGMENTS

TEXARKANA, Tex., (AP)—With eighteen known dead, three score or more injured, tall probably fatally, in the terrific storm which girdled Miller county last yesterday and swept to the north and east, reported casualties early today were regarded as still incomplete.

Telephonic communication with the devastated territory is entirely out of the question where the wires forming impassable entanglements across the roads, littered with uprooted trunks of trees and wreckage.

Neighbors Answer Calls

Every available doctor and nurse from this city, equipped with first-aid kits, and corps of ambulances, answered emergency calls for help, which gradually began filtering through when at the storm's height. In some places, however, the storm is one of desolation today and tales of the devastation wrought brought only relief, workers who spent the night in the wreckage, promises to exceed first reports.

Covers Half-Mile Path

The storm, according to message reports, originated in Gregg county, in southwestern Texas, and swept east and north in the affected area was said to be great. Sweeping through, Cass county, the tornado covered a path about half a mile wide and swept a timber section which has scarcely been heard from at midday. Houses were damaged or destroyed at Madala, Avenger, Linden, O'Farrell, Atlanta and Oklawaha in Texas.

Among the Identified dead at Avenger are R. L. Dumber and a young son of A. B. Jenkins. The other known fatalities were negroes.

W. B. Henderson, farmer, was killed at Atlanta, Texas, and several accounts had several negroes killed in the O'Farrell community, near Atlanta.

Trigents Bear's Rem

Skilled Texasians by a narrow margin, the full force of the storm struck the Trigents community, three miles north of here, where the first toll of death in Arkansas was exacted. Shiloh, near Madala, was a heap of wreckage, the hurricane sweeping the Potter, Sims and Boyce plantations, where farm buildings and negro huts were wrecked from their moorings and deposited in fragments over a wide surrounding territory.

Darkness Hampers Relief Workers

Darkness hampered relief workers during the night, many of the injured being located only by their cries of suffering.

Charles Jones, his wife, his wife's mother and two little girls, were killed by flying timber on the Feltig plantation near Lost Pinery, a six-year-old girl, seriously injured, being the only survivor.

Along the Ninth street road leading east from Texarkana the densely wooded area today near the accumulation of a battle field after a heavy artillery fire. Massive oaks and pines were twisted off or uprooted.

Boy Scouts Render Aid

Boy scout workers in quest of the wounded were busy today, removing the wreckage. Numbers of wounded found too remote to be transported to the highway were being cared for in outbuildings and makeshift shelters.

A traveling man, three children and one woman, because of conflicting reports were unidentified, were reported missing.

IDAHO WEATHER: Tonight and Sunday fair, heavy frost in morning.

President Harding Entertains Indians

Thirty-five representatives of Indian tribes, many of them in native costume, visited the White House. They came from various western states to commend the appointment of Thomas B. Sloan, an Indian commissioner. The visitors were entertained by President and Mrs. Harding, who pointed out to them the beauties of the White House grounds. Mrs. Harding was presented with a beaded hunting bag and the president received a pair of beaded moccasins. The photograph shows the president and Mrs. Harding leaving the White House with Jane S. Gordon, of the Wyandotte tribe, and Chief Hare, of the Yankton Sioux tribe. Mrs. Harding is wearing her beaded bag and the president carries the gift moccasins in his hand.

CORK, (AP)—A dozen houses were burned today in Ballincollig, county Kerry, including a priest's residence. The priest's residence, following the shooting to death of Major MacKinnon, commander of a company of auxiliaries, on the Tralee golf course on Friday afternoon.

MEXICAN ISSUE SCHEDULED FOR CONSIDERATION

Calling of American Charge at Mexico City for Conference Indicates Trend of State Department's Purpose

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Consideration of the Mexican problem by Secretary Hughes was forestalled by formal announcement that Charles T. Sumner, American charge at Mexico City, has been called to Washington for a conference.

Mr. Sumner left the Mexican capital last night and is expected to place before the department information that will enable Mr. Hughes to formulate a Mexican policy to be adopted by the United States in dealing with Mexico.

Little Change Likely It is understood that in general the attitude of the government will not differ from that which Secretary Hughes announced when he informed the Mexican government that a signed acknowledgment of its intention to safeguard the lives and interests of Americans must be one of the preliminary steps to recognition.

The present administration is understood to have agreed that the course outlined by the sub-committee of the senate foreign relations committee which investigated conditions in Mexico must be followed.

Obregon Objects Agreement President Obregon of Mexico, on the contrary, has insisted unofficially that recognition must come, if at all, because Mexico must be, and not because of any agreement.

Reports to the department on conditions in Mexico have varied widely. Some have represented President Obregon as the victim of so much intrigue as to threaten his tenure of office, while others have insisted that the Mexican president was more bold-ing than his assistants.

The American policy, however, will not be based while the situation in Mexico, it was explained. Official assurances of the future policy of the Mexican government in dealing with Americans will be insisted upon, and it is understood that a modification of article 27 of the constitution on nationalization of oil or at least a satisfactory assurance that it will not be necessary in its operation to be demanded before recognition is extended.

LAYS SOLDIER BENEFIT TAX ON EXEMPTED MEN

Austrians Who Did Not See Service in War Must Pay Special Levy

BUDAPEST, (AP)—Austrians who did not see service in the war are to be taxed with a special levy, the proceeds of which is to be devoted to the care of disabled Hungarian soldiers or the dependents of those who were killed in the war.

Hungary has about 250,000 disabled fighting men and, including the orphans, widows and refugees, the government has to provide for more than 600,000 persons. This number is about one-eighth of the entire population of Hungary.

More than 4,000 families who fled from Transylvania when that section of Hungary was annexed to Rumania, the peace treaty still are living in temporary camps in the various yards in its city.

When one family manages to find some in Budapest, the vacated car is immediately claimed by newly arrived refugees.

Through the efforts of American-aided missions about 75,000 children are being fed in Budapest alone. Complaints of cloth have been attributed to them many times.

How Peanuts Grow. The common peanut grows in a peculiar way that is distinctly original. The little plant sends up its shoots with the fruit on the end of a somewhat stiff stalk, and then before it opens the stem bends over and carefully pushes the fruit underground. As the seeds are to be especially for use in the case it has been humorously suggested that the plant does this to 'hide' its nuts from the porter's too inquisitive investigations.

Attractive Utility Blouses

WHICHEVER has used of clothes with dependable wearing qualities, as the business or professional woman, will find among the new blouses for spring some models that will delight her. The creators of blouses have combined in these models utility and chic style—the two essentials that busy women look for in this workaday world, and find it easier each season to procure.

Satin, taffeta or pongee account for many smart models to be worn with suit skirts of separate skirts, in place of the flange blouse. During the spring season, with midsummer, sheerer materials will replace them. The blouse of dark satin with binding in a contrasting and lighter color, as shown in the picture, is modeled on the lines of the flange blouse, with short puffed up at the sides and rounded off. A ribbon to match in color provides its girle and the easy adjustment of it is a point to be noted in many new blouses. The girle is weighted with two little satin-covered balls on each end. Round buttons covered to match the binding take care of the shoulder and collar, fastening in a most efficient manner, giving the blouse just the businesslike and smart finish that makes it attractive.

Blouses of pongee made in the slip-over style, with small "V" shaped collar opening and three-quarter sleeves, are of the same character as this satin blouse but of entirely different design. They have turn-over collars high at the back, very short pe-

STUDY MOVING SIDEWALK SCORPION ORDERED SOLD

Parisians Recall Exposition Novelty is Seeking Traffic Relief

PARIS, (AP)—A moving sidewalk to relieve congestion, is being considered by the city of Paris. The chances for adoption may not be great but the idea is being seriously discussed for Parisians have pleasant memories of the aerial sidewalk that was a feature of the 1900 world's exposition here.

The proposal is to build such a rolling sidewalk under the principal boulevards, from the Madeleine to the Place de la Republique. A pedestrian not only would avoid dangerous, dodging crossings and not be impeded by cross and counter currents of traffic.

Brief Bits of Sport

Rah for the Chicago Americans! Gleason's revamped Pal Hees defeated the Tigers yesterday, this evening up the count in games won this season.

The directors of a Chicago city baseball league gathered the other eve to investigate the action of one of the league clubs in scheduling a game with the 'Ball Weevils.'

The veteran catcher, Jimmy Archer, has been signed to manage a team in an independent Chicago league.

Magnard Falls, recruit first baseman with the Cincinnati Reds, is to be turned over to the Tulsa club for more baseball education.

Oscar Vitt of the Boston Red Sox is en route with a twisted ankle and probably won't be able to play again for some time.

The New York Yankees have released Edgar Leonard, a young pitcher, and Charlie Thole, a catching prospect, to the Bridgeport club of the Eastern league.

John Clifford, late of Rochester, is said to be about the best looking recruit pitcher in the camp of the Yankees. He is no youngster, owing to 30 years on earth.

The St. Louis Nationals have taken Outfielder Bill Bleibauer off the hands of the Houston club for transfer to one of Branch Rickey's minor league alliances, probably Nashville.

Earl Brown, pitcher from the Pittsburgh Collegians, has been given his unconditional release by the St. Louis Cardinals. He came highly boosted, but did not carry the promised class.

The veteran pitcher, Moxie Manon, once with the Chicago White Sox, and for many years in the Southern league, has been engaged to manage an independent team at Hickman, Ky., this year.

The Pittsburgh team's clean sweep of the four-game series with the Boston Red Sox ought to show one thing—that some National league teams are better than some American league teams.

A new turn in the case of Frank Schutte. After it was announced that he would again play for Syracuse club up and give him his unconditional release. Now he may join Atlanta if he wishes.

OLD NEW YORK THEATRE IS MARKED WITH TABLET

Historical Society Dedicates Playhouse Frequented by Washington

NEW YORK, (AP)—A bronze tablet denoting the site of the old John Street theatre, one of the first playhouses in New York, often frequented by George Washington and other colonial notables, was dedicated here today by the Maiden Lane Historical society.

The dedication ceremonies took place at a luncheon at the Bankers club and were attended by leaders in the theatrical profession and prominent business men. John Drew, David Belasco and Daniel Frohman were the chief speakers.

The old playhouse whose name is perpetuated by the tablet was accessible through an alley which has long since been blotted out by skyscrapers that now tower over where early actors, with professed wings, acting by the light of wax candles, entertained the city's theatergoers.

During the British occupation of New York City the inscription recording the house was called the Theatre Royal, and in it the British officers gave entertainments. There, also, Major Anderson, the famous spy, and other talented English actors played their parts.

On the surrender of Cornwallis and the evacuation of New York the house once more fell under American management, and on September 20, 1787, was produced "The Giltan," the first dramatic performance given in New York after the Revolution.

Over the box George Washington occupied was the newly devised United States coat of arms. When the house was thus honored, Thomas Wignell, the master of the theatre in full dress of black, with "hair elaborately powdered in the fashion of the time and holding two wax candles in silver candlesticks, was accustomed to receive the president at the box door and conduct him and his party to their seats.

Joseph Jefferson, grandfather of the Joseph Jefferson who many years later achieved fame as "Rip Van Winkle," made his first appearance at this house February 10, 1760, as Richard in "The Provoked Husband."

Working of Paest.

There are two kinds of shells used in the manufacture of small articles, the porcelaneous and the calcareous. The former are extremely hard and can be worked only with the apparatus used by the lapidary. The latter are more generally used and may be saved, filed and turned with some facility. The pieces should be roughed out on a common grindstone. After turning they should be smoothed with pumice stone and water, and polished with rotten stone with sulphuric acid slightly diluted.

Paint Creates Prosperity

Save the Surface and You Save All. The "run down" house (there is one near you) is fast going to ruin merely because the owner unwisely neglects to keep it protected with paint. It costs more not to paint than to paint. Paint saves the surface and protects the building from sun, rain, frost and varying weather conditions that bring destruction. Prosperity demands the protection of all exposed surfaces with good paint.

A NEW UNITED STATES

The world may look for a far more stable government along the Spanish Main in the future, with the joining of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador and Costa Rica in the United States of Central America.

EXPORT BAN ON LUMBER

The American conscience in the matter of forest preservation and renewal has been stirred to the point of producing in congress a bill to make considerable appropriations to be used in connection with efforts of the states to the same end.

OPINIONS

Lawson Tribune: President Harding's first message to congress will, to the great majority of the country, prove reassuring and pleasing.

It is well to be so, because it is the course the country wants to take. The message is a philosophy of life in terms that the country can understand and apply to the subject at hand.

CHRISTIAN PERSPECTIVE

Romans 8:28: "... All things work together for good to them that love God."

Artists tell us that the most important fact in the painting of a picture is perspective—that is, the ability to arrange all the component parts of the picture in such a way that each object shall stand in its proper relation to that and the theme or dominant idea of the artist shall appear clearly and distinctly.

Just as perspective is the most important thing in the art of living. Not only the great artists and sculptors and musicians have developed the perspective faculty to a high degree; but the great prophets, the great statesmen, and the great business men of the world have done precisely the same thing.

The religious man who preaches for the sake of money, who is not dogmatic, is in for perspective this such a man contends. The Christian not only believes in a plan of salvation, but he believes that individuality is the purpose of life, and the ability to see life whole, and not just in departments and specialties; and also, that this life that we are living here and now is bound up with eternity.

Peculiar London Street

What is the most curious street name in London? It would be hard, perhaps, to find an odder one than Crooked Lane, in Chelsea, which in all probability recalls very ancient days when the plow was the commonest object in that region.

Wild Geese in the British Isles

The tribe of wild geese of Europe are birds of mystery. Their nesting grounds, and thus their true homes, are in the far north, in the wide expanse of the inland, or in the inaccessible island of Iceland.

No Fox; No Rabbits

Foxes have figured in the fables of every race of men on grassy slopes the world over. The fox is the American Forestry Magazine. Take what the fox did to one of the authors of Aesop and other writers of fables and their work would be robbed of four-fifths their interest.

Hospitality

Hospitality must be for service and not for show; it is the pull down the host. The brave soul rates itself too low to value itself by the splendor of its table and draperies. If guests wait it hath, and all it hath, but its own majesty can lend a better grace to our clothes and fair wear than belong to city feast.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Allkeness in Unlike Things

Watchers and rivers seldom run long without wading.

Brick Outlets Granite House

A well constructed brick house will outlast one built of granite.

THE RISING GENERATION

"I WONDER what sort of men and women will be the rulers of tomorrow?" sighed the professor.

"I suppose there ought to be a law," rejoined the low-browed man. "It is time to call a halt. Well may we be discouraged by these are great presidents of the United States, and innumerable congressmen and postmasters, and perhaps one or two Shakespeares."

"I have heard my father say a hundred times that the boys of that period were not worth the powder that would blow them off the landscape. All they think of is 'fun,' he used to say so discouraged by could hardly stand it.

"I was the same way at school. If a boy was half an hour late in the morning because he got interested in a book of marbles on his way to school, the teacher would say he never did see such a frivolous bunch as the boys of that generation were, and then he'd knock down a small sapling for some well-to-do boy who had a good book, so that when I was twelve years old I knew the unbridled dictionary by heart.

"The father used to talk that way all the time, until I got sick of hearing him. My grandfather was alive then, and he felt worse about it than I did. He used to say my head'd be ligged by the corner of my ears if I was a boy he'd be knew, but the jail or the poorthouse. All we cared for was a good time.

"It was the same way at school. If a boy was half an hour late in the morning because he got interested in a book of marbles on his way to school, the teacher would say he never did see such a frivolous bunch as the boys of that generation were, and then he'd knock down a small sapling for some well-to-do boy who had a good book, so that when I was twelve years old I knew the unbridled dictionary by heart.

"But Freddie Blaker became a successful business man and has his own 'warehouse.' Jim Gungling studied law and finally was appointed notary public by the governor; Charlie Ormlston also studied law, and got a job on the police force; Oliver Mesway is the best southwamp picher in the country; and I was crowned in law when I was young. A man doesn't recover from an experience like that. He loses his ambition to be president, and is satisfied to peddle milk.

"Nature Won't Be Denied. Shut the door in the face of nature and she will come in at the window. He Didn't Fall Far. Tinnor—Yesterday I fell off an 18-foot ladder. Tinnor—You might have killed yourself. Tinnor—Nav. It was only from the second step I dropped.

Same Color, Anyway. Mr. Hastings—Is that my upstairs, that I built at baby, and I do believe he's got your hair. Mrs. Flatbush—Mercy on us, Henry! I thought I had put that switch out of the dear little fellow's reach!

ANOTHER SWAT FOR THE FLY

Supreme Court of Maine Adds its Voice to Denunciation of Almost Universal Pest.

The dog having had his day before the Supreme Court in Washington, we now turn to the curious case of the court of appeal was told that a summer boarder had engaged rooms at a hotel for two weeks and had left at the end of four days, declaring the flies intolerable. The Supreme court upholds the plaintiff in his refusal to pay for his infested apartment.

The Journal of the American Medical Association makes the case the text of one of the most exciting denunciations of the fly that have been penned; but will the fly cure? "No, it will not," wrote Emerson in his despair, "as unattractive as a leprosy." Probably a fly was teasing the best thing of Concord as he wrote. The sage thing John Billings ever said was "D— a fly!" Shakespeare would have said "D— a fly!"

WILL TAKE LAND FROM SEA

People of Holland Meet Problem of Expanding Population in Characteristic Dutch Fashion.

After many years' deliberation the people of Holland have decided that they need a new sea and an enormous bay. The decision, they have given as the acquisition of it with characteristic Dutch energy and determination, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The program contemplates the building of a 39-mile dike across the sea. Upon the dike will be placed a thick layer of crushed stone, and on this powerful foundation will be reared the plant of the dike.

Plant Diseases Greatly

Millions of bushels of grain, fruit and vegetables and a big tonnage of cotton were lost to American farmers last year by plant diseases, according to figures compiled by the plant disease survey of the Department of Agriculture. The survey said the statistics indicate that lack of prompt application of known measures of control was largely the cause of the loss.

Tuberculosis Ebbs and Flows

The decline of tuberculosis is likened to that of leprosy by Dr. Louis Corbett, lecturer in pathology at the University of Cambridge. Leprosy was formerly one of the world's great scourges, but it has become practically extinct in western countries. Tuberculosis seems to be following, as it is declining at an increasing rate, its deaths having fallen off nearly 60 percent since 1855. Apparent causes of this decline are assumed overcrowding, otherwise improved social conditions, more and better food, and the adoption of methods of rural ventilation. The war has given tuberculosis a new lease of life in European nations, especially in half-starved Austria, where it runs riot.

"Palms" Mazy Horn

The magazine Motor announces the arrival of the courteous motor horn. Up to now the motor horn has been decidedly capricious. It squeaks unpleasantly, it howls alarmingly; it winks and flashes disconcertingly; it muzzles.

But the new horn, which is appearing on the market, has a tone that is once polite and powerful. It warns, yet does not offend the sensitive ear. The new invention, mechanism is so sensitive and arranged that the horn is easily regulated for any degree of referousness, but it yet carries a warning to the pedestrian.

On Their Mattie

The heat writer and his assistants are dusted. "I've noticed that." "And there seems to be great excitement in the kitchen." "What do you suppose is the matter?" "A visiting chef has just dropped in and offered a seven-course dinner." Birmingham Advertiser.

The Wrong Course

"Dawdle" says that he's had chances enough, but they were all poor ones. "I've noticed that whenever opportunity knocked Dawdle proceeded to knock the opportunity." Boston Transcript.

Maddy's Evening Fairy Tale. Illustration of a girl and a boy.

THE BROWNIE JOY

The Brownie had been very small when he had been first met by the boy and the girl adventurers. "To think that you don't even know me," he said, "oh, dear! To think that you don't recognize me when I'm so small—but of course it's natural about these things."

Quite Full Grown

"Now you've asked a couple of interesting questions," said the Brownie, "and I'll answer them. Don't look disappointed, for it really is nice of me to talk to you when you've treated me so unfairly."

"You've treated me shamefully, I repeat!" said the Brownie.

"Not a bit of it," said the boy. "You're really too sensitive."

"No," said the Brownie. "I'm not too sensitive. I will tell you my story, though you do seem to want to get on your way in such a hurry. But you'll never get very far unless you listen to me."

"My name is Joy, Brownie Joy. My father's name was Merriment and my mother's name was Contentment. Her name, you see, was Joy."

"You made me small, you truly did," said Joy. "You both said you weren't going to pay any attention to anything that wasn't serious. You said you'd never get very far unless you listen to me."

"In the first place you won't get much good out of the hard things you do if you keep saying to yourselves: 'How did I add two means of character me, or whatever you say when you speak of adding character. Don't always be think of yourselves. It's not a good thing. Do things that are hard because you won't let them get the better of you and be a little kinder to your hard things you like folks and creatures so much. But this much remember, most of all: 'You will never get along on the road to the House of Secrets if you treat Joy as you've treated him. I always get small when I'm treated like that. I grow my full size again when folks realize that it's just as important to be fond of Joy as of anything else.'"

"See! I'm big now. You've changed your thoughts about Joy." That's the reason.

The boy smiled. So did the girl. And Joy, the Brownie, was quite full-grown once more.

"Have you ever been afraid that you would shrink to nothing?" asked the girl. "Near as you folks were behaving like we were, getting entirely too serious—and too interested in doing things to improve ourselves, too interested in ourselves in other words, and when we were forgetting what an important part Joy had to play?"

"Yes," said Joy. "I've never been worried that I would shrink to nothing. Because folks aren't so foolish as to ever really put Joy aside."

"I was in the Forge-Isle-Not brook, which is quite dry owing to the weather," explained Joy, "when you heard me."

"I tried to come up and stop you. But I grew smaller and smaller, as you said, and then hid behind the stone to hide my tears. Even Joy, you see, can sob!"

"It's so wrong to think you must go through great low fakes and serious ways. Gracious!"

"That's not being nice or unselfish or anything else. It's being foolish. It's making yourselves miserable and others too, which is selfish."

"But I won't talk about it any more. For now you understand that I'm big. I've noticed that you were mighty grateful to you, Joy, for coming and telling us your story."

"Well," said Joy, "I wouldn't miss being friends with two adventurers like you for anything."

"Hurray," shouted the girl. "Isn't it nice to have Joy say that?"

"New Diner" for Bobbie. Succotash was a new dish in small Bobbie's house, but he evinced a decided fondness for it, and passing up his plate for a second portion, said: "Mamma, please give me some more of the sacred hash."

PARIS HAIR MODE

Elaborate Headdresses Worn by Majority of Women.

Revival Came Into Action at Nice and Monte Carlo and Has Grown Prominent.

This is going to be a season of "revival headdresses." This revival came into action at the Nice and Monte Carlo during the holiday festivities. It has since then grown more and more prominent. This season in Paris, writes a correspondent, we shall find elaborate evening headdresses worn by every one—and on unexpected occasions.

A curious fact connected with this revival is this: On one hand we have women who refuse to wear any hair ornament whatever, who make a habit of dressing their hair exceedingly simple in the evening—natural waves, just a jeweled pin or two, perhaps a small comb, but nothing more. This is what one might call the "classic style" and it is admirable from every point of view.

Now that "powder and patches" are coming in again we shall witness a little war of headdresses, the ornate style which was popular in the period of Marie Antoinette or the picturesque mode of hairdressing exploited by such a beauty as Mme. de Pompadour. We shall see.

Just now the favorite evening headdress takes mob-cap form. It is made of beaded or pailletted tulle. Some of the more costly models are almost covered with valuable jewels and fine embroidery.

Almost always there is a dangling ornament hanging loose at one side, over the ear; sometimes there are two of these ornaments—tassels or trailing flowers, one on either side. Little chains of pearls or diamonds are attached to evening headdresses.

The Parisienne are playing all sorts of cunning tricks with veils this year. They are wearing them large and small, square, round and oblong; thickly covered with spider-web designs of plain tulle with an elaborate border.

Many of the new spring hats have charmingly veils attached to the wide brim. The lace is always fine and as transparent as possible. The veil is so arranged that it falls over the brim unevenly—much longer at one side than the other, or very long at the back and short in front.

All-black hats, of picture order, are to be seen in the best millinery shops, and also a great many black velvet toques, the latter rather eccentric in outline and very wide at the sides.

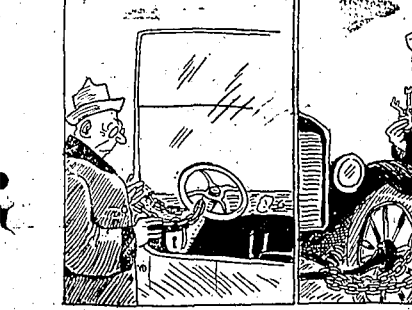

Yellow Sleeve Band Warns of Whopping Cough

Beston children afflicted with whopping cough are now appearing on the streets wearing yellow bands around their arms in order to warn and protect their playmates against infection. Although the warning bands have not yet been ordered by the health officials, many parents who have the welfare of other children than their own at heart have not waited for an official ruling.
