

ALLEGED COAL PRICE JUGGLE BEFORE COURT

Operators, Miners and Retailers on Trial for Criminal Partnership in Anti-Trust Prosecution

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (AP)—A criminal partnership between soft coal operators and retailers has existed for many years, according to the charge of the government in a criminal prosecution which began in the federal court here today.

The indictment is directed at 226 persons and corporations and is a five-count charge, charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

Among the individual defendants are John L. Lewiston, president of the United Mine Workers of America; B. West, president of the National Coal Association, many others of both organizations and some of the most prominent operators in the country.

226 Under Indictment

The grand jury returned an indictment number 20, against operators, retailers and their employes 88; the corporate defendants 99. The defendants reside in six states—Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Pennsylvania. Taken as a whole the indictment charges: First, restraint of trade; second, restraint of commerce; third, restraint of trade and commerce; fourth, conspiracy to monopolize; and fifth, monopolization.

The indictment is estimated to contain 50,000 words, one paragraph of which reads: "That various joint conferences, miners and operators agreed and arranged that they were partners in the mining, production and distribution of bituminous coal in several states, and that they should and would aid and assist each other in their plans and efforts to increase wages, increase prices, create shortages and control production and distribution; that bituminous coal should not be sold at any time for a profit less than the price of the coal being mined; that the means of increasing the cost of production of the coal was by closing down and keeping idle the coal mines."

Attacks "Check Off" System

The indictment also attacks the famous "check-off" system of paying the cost of mines by which the operators virtually act as a collecting agency of the union by withholding part of the miners' wages and paying this to the union.

By refusing to contract for future deliveries except "for a price which would be the ruling price at the time of delivery" the operators are charged with having created a "spot market" for coal and their special plan being "to create a scarcity of available coal and cause a high and excessive price."

The operators are charged with obtaining priority coal shipment orders from the Interstate Commerce Commission, which diverted twenty million tons of coal from the normal market places, mainly by shipments of West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky coal to New England and the northwest. This diversion, in part, is alleged to have affected contracts of Detroit, causing a considerable increase at higher prices, and drove consumers into distant markets and so disturbed conditions that local shortages were present and industries forced to suspend work.

Denies Shortage in 1920

In respect to the 1920 coal situation the indictment charges that "there was no shortage of available coal in the United States during that year." Various other acts are charged by the indictment.

Flowers Made from Bread with Hatpin

Mrs. Warren G. Harding, "first lady of the land," was delighted to receive one morning recently at the White House a beautiful bouquet of flowers, roses, tulips and violets. They were a genuine surprise, as they were not of the ordinary garden variety, being made by hand of the most extraordinary material—a loaf of rye bread. The bouquet was sent as a token of devotion by Mrs. Mary Johannemann, the wife of a Willowton, N. Y., farmer. It took her many hours of the most careful and artistic work to finish the unique bouquet, the leaves and flowers being perfect and most skillfully sculptured. Mrs. Johannemann worked at the flowers with a hatpin. For some years bread sculptures have been her pastime and her work has been commented on frequently by art critics, who have marveled at the perfectness of detail. Mrs. Johannemann is shown at work on the bouquet which she sent to Mrs. Harding.

The long indictment as a part of the conspiracy, including allegations of fixed territorial limits for an operator's sales, the promotion of strikes, the private agreements of operators to maintain uniform sales contracts, the breaking of contract deliveries, the refusal to sell direct to consumers and to retailers, who were not members of the retailers' association, and the inflation of prices, especially by "pretended sales and distribution" through sales agencies "separate in name from the operating and production companies."

The indictments were returned last February 25, after an almost continuous investigation by the government for 18 months.

TYPHUS TAKES ENORMOUS TOLL IN SOVIET RUSSIA

Head of Relief Unit Reports More Than 8,000,000 Cases with Mortality up to 10 Per Cent

NEW YORK, (AP)—More than eight million cases of typhus have been reported in Soviet Russia in the last year, at a high as 50 per cent in some communities, said a report by Dr. Harry Plotz of this city, head of a Jewish medical clinic operating in Poland, just made public by the American Jewish relief committee.

In addition to typhus, the report stated that Russia has been swept by cholera during the last two years. Petrograd there was a total of 12,000 cases with a mortality of 40 per cent and cholera has broken out in some places along the entry of Russian refugees.

Dr. Plotz' report dealt particularly with health conditions in Poland which he declared to be "still distressing." He outlined plans, which urge the approval of the Polish government, for re-establishing public baths through out the country.

How John Dory Got His Spots
The dory is one of the luckiest family with a highly notable ancestry. He has many peculiarities of form and color, but none more marked than the two vivid red spots on his sides. Tradition says that it was from a dory that St. Peter took the coin with which to pay the tribute, and that the two spots mark the place where he held the fish between his thumb and finger.

UNLICENSED DEALERS DELAY WOOL REFUNDS

Bureau of Markets Discovers Immense Number of Operators in 1918 Clip

In finishing the collection of excess profits from the dealers who handled the 1918 wool clip and distributing them to growers the bureau of markets of the United States department of agriculture has discovered 1989 small country dealers who operated without permits. "In the year 1918" the government bought the entire wool clip of the country at a war moment. Dealers were allowed specific profits and certain items of expenditure. All surplus at the end of the season collected and distributed in the form of a square-deal all around. This work was begun by the war industries board, and when the board was dissolved the bureau of markets "inherited" what was still unfinished. This consisted for the most part of the transactions of smaller dealers living east of the Mississippi. Wool from the plains and Rocky mountain districts was handled for the most part on a consignment basis, and this type of transaction yielded no excess profit.

More than 5000 small country dealers obtained permits from the war industries board and have rendered accounts, but the discovery of this additional number has slowed up the completion of the work. Scrupulously exact, and with the desire to be just to all concerned, the government is securing reports from these additional dealers as they are discovered. Distribution to growers amounts to more than $101,000 and have gone to 34,550 individual wool growers. Another half million dollars of excess profits are shown by the audits thus far made but have not been paid and the government is instituting a number of suits to compel strict compliance with the regulations.

GEM THEATRE
"A Double Dyed Deceiver" will be remembered by some, as being one of the most interesting stories from the pen of the famous G. Henry. The very fact that it is an O. Henry story, and to be picturized will be sufficient to send many to the Gem Theatre when the picture is shown today and tomorrow. As a starring vehicle for Jack Pickford, this new Goldwyn feature production promises to add a bigger audience, if possible, to the works of this well known and popular author.

DEVELOPS NEW AIRPLANE TYPE

French Aviation World Engrossed in Perfecting Vertically Rising Craft

PARIS, (AP)—The French aviation world, governmental and private, is deeply absorbed at the present time in the rapid development of the recently invented helicopter, the levée airplane which is designed to rise straight up from the ground. The French government, after a careful investigation by a commission of experts, has officially accepted the machine and has set aside a substantial sum of money for the immediate improvement of the invention.

The Marquis L. Patenaud, Pescara of Argentina, is credited by some airplane experts with having actually proved its practicability, but several Frenchmen, among whom is M. L. Fiquier, have since constructed helicopters with as much success as Pescara. Experimental work now is going on near Paris at an army aviation field, through which the government hopes to perfect the new airplane. As yet the helicopter is in the same stage of development as were the first flying machines constructed by the Wright brothers.

At the Aero club of France, where the helicopter is the chief topic of conversation, experts predict that within two years the new airplane will be a practical reality.

Considerable mystery was expressed by these same experts that the United States government had apparently not taken up the new machine inasmuch as it may materially affect sea warfare.

The helicopter, described simply without attempt at technicalities, is a machine constructed of a series of horizontal planes revolving in opposite directions. On the Pescara machine, a long, similar to that of a low slung automobile wheel. On this is built two series of horizontal planes, each series composed of ten planes. The usual airplane motor starts the planes and the effect is to make the machine rise straight up from the ground.

In the experimental work, a small gas bag has been used for safety purposes but the work is so far along that these bags are being abandoned.

It is hoped that the perfected machine, which is expected within two years, will be able to rise from the ground at the height of Pescara's helicopter. Suddenly at the height of Pescara's army commission has spent several weeks in observation. His career has been romantic. Employed in experimental laboratories of the Italian government before the war, Pescara came to Paris soon after the beginning of the war and continued his work under army supervision. He was credited with hundreds of inventions, among them a dirigible which flew over the enemy lines and dropped bombs at stated intervals.

Suddenly at the height of Pescara's success, the French police arrested him as a spy and he was kept in prison for several months. The French ministry of war protested his innocence and obtained his release on condition that he be deported. He left for Spain and soon after the armistice began his helicopter experiments.

LENINE ADAPTS REDS' PROGRAM TO CONDITIONS

Russian Soviet Dictator's Speech on Future of World Revolution and Communism is Brought to Light

NEW YORK, (AP)—The text of the speech delivered by Nikolai Lenin, the Russian premier, before the tenth congress of the communist party, as printed in the official Bolshevik newspaper, Pravda of Moscow, was made public today by A. J. Sack, director of the Russian information bureau in the United States, representing in this country the Russian democratic nationalist forces. This is the speech which led to reports that Lenin had repudiated a world revolution and communism for Russia.

On a "Class Question," referring to the question of world revolution, Lenin said: "All is coming to us from the western European countries. It is not coming as fast as we would like it, but it is coming nevertheless and gathering strength. Of course, the world revolution has made a great step forward, in comparison with last year. Of course, the communist international movement has not yet existed merely in form of proclamations it now exists as an independent party in every country. In Germany, France and Italy the communist international has become not only the center of the labor movement but the focus of attention for the whole political life of those countries. This is our hope and our aim. It is our duty to adapt our activity to the mutual class relations existing within our own and other countries, that we may be able for a long time to retain the dictatorship of the proletariat and, at least gradually, to cure all the ills besetting us. Only such a view of the problem will be correct and sober."

Peasant Problem Presses

The most urgent problem now in Russia according to Lenin, is the relations between the working class and the peasantry. "These relations," said Lenin, "are not what we had hitherto expected. These relations represent a peril many times greater than all the perils threatened by the Denikins, Kolchaks and Yudenichs combined, put together."

"The peasants are not satisfied," said Lenin. "They do not care for the economic forms we offered them. We must not conceal anything but admit that a form of relationship which the peasantry does not care for will never exist. The peasantry has become far more middle-class than before. The village has been leveled down. The middle class peasant now predominates. We must, therefore, see what this peasant wants. He demands: (1) A certain freedom in his economic turnover; (2) Opportunity to market his products in exchange for goods."

In conclusion, Lenin recommended conclusions amounting to granting to the peasant the right to dispose freely of that surplus of his products which will left him after giving to the Bolshevik government what will be levied on him as taxation in kind. He said: "Freedom in local trade for small towns, nothing is necessary in Lenin's speech about any other concessions or changes in the fundamentals of the existing Bolshevik economic policy."

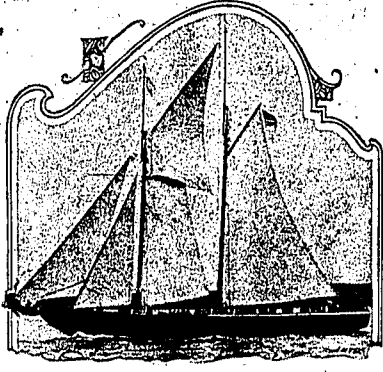

Commenting upon Lenin's speech, Mr. Sack said it is clear that the main Russian industries and Russia's transport will continue to operate upon the communist principles.

About the best looking team in the National League is that Practical bundle belonging to Harry Dyess.

Proving that a club has to have something other than tremendous hitting punch at bat is directed to the position of the mighty Yankees in the percentage column.

Babe Ruth better be getting started or the New York Giants will have the world's champion honorific bitter.

George Kelly summed his seventh circuit punch yesterday. Ruth, too, made a long hit, but he is still on back of his Giant rival.

The Twin Falls club team will entertain the Buhl club at baseball on Thursday of this week.

An off-color match between Frankie Rogan and Jack Carpenter, staged in Boise last week, has raised the dickens with boxing bosses in the capital city. This week's show has been cancelled because of the loss of one of them in his own backyard.

The Salt Lake Bees don't win any other than the Chicago White Sox.

Ira Dorn says there does not seem to be anyone left for him to wrestle.

Ira is wrong. There's a big bunch of them, but they will not go to Salt Lake to meet him; therefore it appears to be necessary for the Salt Lake natives to go out and get some of them in his own backyard to get further matches.

For instance, he hasn't chopped Ted Tice of the Pacific coast. Walter White of Minneapolis. Johnny Meyer of Chicago. Henry Isinghoe of Europe. Pat Brown of Texas and several others including Wilcox Kelton.

Oh, yes, there are plenty of men in Dorn's class, but they have to be sought out.

Manager Fred Mitchell of the Boston Braves last week shipped away several trophies. Besides Archbishop, who was sent to Rochester, he released Thompson, a pitcher, to Greenville, while Oseola Lyle was sent back to Columbia.

Sixteen major league clubs invited Commissioner Landis to attend their opening games. He chose to stay in Chicago and see the Cubs and Orville's play off the hill and probably will not move out of town when the second opening is staged.

Jack Dunn of the Baltimore Orioles, was further humbled by his big leaguers he once despised when during an argument while the Yankees were playing in Baltimore Chick Fawcett smacked him full in the nose. There was no consequence, Dunn having to retire for repairs.

Bill Rumber, barred from organized baseball, is handling an independent team in Miami, N. D. That Rumber and Salt still are on friendly terms is indicated by the fact that several plays are released by the Salt Lake club announced as joining Rumber's team.

A pitcher named Greas, a rookie with the Portsmouth team of the Virginia league, held the swarming Baltimore Orioles, who maintain they are no minor league class, to a couple of hits in an exhibition game on April 14. Is Greas an accident or has he really the goods?

George (Grie) Glasser, a minor league player of the '20s, and known to many fans of 20 years ago, as a great hitter, died last week at his home in Rochester, N. Y. He played on Rochester teams in the New York State league and before that was in the old Northwestern league.

Government Tells Farmers Way to Recognize and Treat the Sheep Ailments

How to recognize and treat the more important diseases and common ailments of sheep is told in Farmer's Bulletin 1155, just issued by the United States department of agriculture. While the actual treatment of disease is primarily a matter for veterinarians the information given in the new bulletin will enable sheep owners to recognize symptoms early in their development and thus avoid losses to their flocks. Altogether 57 kinds of diseases and ailments are described. The sheep industry of the country has suffered severely from the ravages of infectious and non-infectious diseases. In addition to the scientific names, the bulletin gives the common names by which the various diseases are known. A convenient arrangement of cause, symptoms, post-mortem observations, diagnosis, treatment and prevention makes it possible for sheep owners to obtain a practical knowledge of the best means for preventing and controlling sickness in the flock. Numerous illustrations add to the clearness of the discussion.

SHIDHARA SEES NO MESSAGE IN PENDING ISSUE

Japanese Ambassador Tells the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce Differences Between Nations Do Not Justify Alarm

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Differences between the United States and Japan "call for adjustment," but the existence does not justify apprehension or pessimistic forecast, Ambassador Shidhara, the Japanese ambassador, declared today in an address before the Cleveland chamber of commerce.

"Is there any question between us?" he asked, "which cannot be set at rest by the ordinary process of friendly discussion? None and honest diplomacy, backed by sense, reason, clarity and mutual concern, will alone lead to the last settlement of these problems. There is absolutely no other course."

Oreat Responsibility. Declaring that the stability of every "great institution" about the shores of the Pacific ocean, depended upon the maintenance of harmony and good understanding between Japan and the United States, Ambassador Shidhara said a grave responsibility rested upon the United States and Japan. The ambassador reiterated the declaration of his government "that Japan claimed no right, nor has she any intention of forcing her will upon emigrants to this country."

"She has held consistently to the policy of placing restrictions upon such emigration," he continued. "The only safe for the nationals lawfully resident in this country that just and equitable treatment which is in line with the fine traditions of the American people. She desires that the immigrants who she has admitted be fully satisfied with any less."

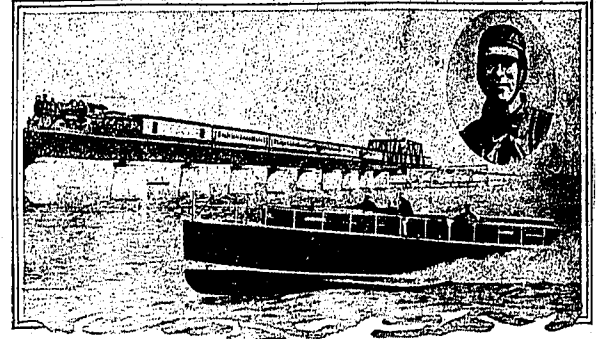

"It is evident that mass immigration of a race of a particular race, on the one hand and unfair and discriminatory treatment of them, on the other, will equally tend to hamper their natural process of assimilation. Neither of such obstacles should be permitted to exist, if assimilation is to be encouraged. And after all there are only 125,000 Japanese on the whole mainland of the United States."

Assimilable in Spirit. Referring to the statement that the Japanese were not assimilable, the ambassador said, that when given the opportunity and privilege, the Japanese were capable of intellectual and spiritual assimilation which are compatible with good citizenship, dignified manhood and loyal service to the community in which he resides.

Twenty-Two Elephants in Demand. Twenty-two elephants are held in veneration throughout India, and are keenly sought by all the rajahs and maharajahs for the prosperity they are supposed to bring, says Charles Mayer in Asia Magazine. They are guarded more carefully and quarreled even more suspiciously than the white elephants of Siam, and the price they will bring is determined almost entirely by the amount the rajahs can gather together.

Jazz Rouses Ire Of Caged Brutes In New York Zoo

Scientists Witness Tests and Decide Humans Alone May Like Word Strains

NEW YORK, (AP)—Humans may like jazz, but animals don't. This was the conclusion reached by a group of scientists who recently assembled in the Central park zoo to watch a saxophone and traps would do to the emotions of monkeys, lions, elephants, tigers and other jungle beasts.

A pilot of musicians guaranteed to ring anything from Wagner down to the latest ragtime tunes at the right-of-a rather savage band. Then the latest jazz was banged into the ears of lions and their mates. All hopped to their feet, with fur bristling.

As for Mrs. Murphy, hippopotamus, who merely wrecked the experiment by hitting him the tank and shutting out the music. The elephants seemed to tremble with rage. Only one beast was found that apparently was able to endure, if not enjoy, jazz. That was Big Boy, the lion.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION

Two objectives have been chosen by the new officials who last evening took the reins of Twin Falls municipal government.

The second objective they hope and expect to attain through accomplishment of the first.

There can be no question about the sincerity of the purpose of these officials nor about their capability.

The new administration has set up a standard about which every friend of Twin Falls may and ought to rally.

This standard may be succinctly stated in these words—For the Good of Twin Falls.

It is our part to continue loyal to this standard and to our officials so long as they shall prove faithful to it.

It is not to be doubted that our own loyalty and confidence will go a long way toward achievement of the best results we have reason to expect from the new administration.

A COMMON TENDENCY

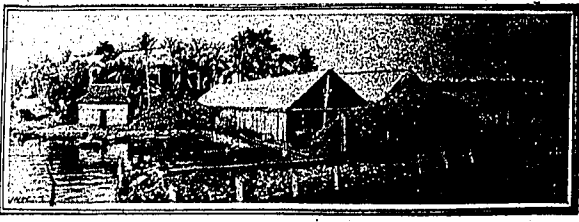

'Holdin' on to what you got and not lettin' go of anything until you have to,' said Bill Nye.

If Nye had lived in this day and generation he would have recognized in his prescription for the preservation of inherited wealth a common tendency in vying everybody, rich and poor.

For example, last year the manufacturer, facing a return to normal in the buying habits of the people, declined to invest there could be an end of the silk shirt era and the high prices that went with it.

Now the readjustment is down to the wage-earner, and neither does he want to give up his war pay. He, too, is merely trying to "hold on" to what he has got, and he is doing no more than the manufacturer and the merchant did a year ago.

NATIONAL HOSPITAL DAY GETS WIDE ENDORSEMENT

Forty States and Four Canadian Provinces Join in Observances

CHICAGO, (AP)—Organization of 40 states and four Canadian provinces for the observance of National Hospital Day, May 12, was announced today by Matthew O. Foley, executive secretary of the National Hospital Day committee.

Surgeon General Hugh S. Cummings of the United States public health service, following the endorsement of the day by President Harding, has instructed the commanding officer of each of the six-seventy government hospitals in which the 26,000 disabled war veterans are under treatment.

General and community hospitals in all parts of the country will follow this "open house" idea also, and in addition open the nurses' home to girls and young women interested in the profession, as well as holding grandstanding exercises for the senior nurses.

CALLS ECONOMIC ISSUE PARAMOUNT IN HAWAII

Japanese Consul General Says Racial Problem is Secondary in Dispute

HONOLULU, T. H. (AP)—That the question involved in the language press control bill now before the Hawaiian territorial legislature is "fundamentally a question of labor and capital and is not an issue involving an anti-American or anti-American attitude on the part of the Japanese press" is the declaration of Chiunosuke Yada, Japan's consul general here.

The fact is unfortunate that labor in Hawaii is almost exclusively Japanese and capital almost exclusively American.

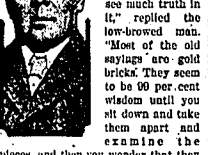

While I admit that some of the Japanese papers have indulged a hair's pen towards the sugar planters, it is against certain particular plantations, where the same treatment is not accorded to the laborers as to give workers on other plantations.

"If I had never loved Isabella I wouldn't care anything about this business. Mayor McRoberts Selects Two Men on Committee Instead of Usual Three

With the announcement of committee appointments, made as his first official act after taking the oath of office as mayor of Twin Falls last evening, Captain P. W. McRoberts broke an established precedent. He named only two members on each of the five committees where the law provides for three members for each. This departure from precedent was remarked by the retiring mayor, W. H. Eldridge, and the retiring city attorney, John E. Davies. Captain McRoberts explained that if the appointment of three members was required by law, he would amend his policy in this respect and statutory provision. He said, however, there were no such requirements his appointment of two members would stand bona fide, he said, a committee of two members would be more likely to obtain the same results than a larger committee.

Committee Appointments Announced

Committee appointments announced by Mayor McRoberts last night at 8 o'clock were: W. E. Sanger and C. P. Bowles. Parks and public buildings—Craig T. Macken and W. McRoberts. Water and sewer—C. H. Kruegel and W. E. Sanger. Finance—C. P. Bowles and Craig T. Bracken. Public safety—P. W. McRoberts and C. H. Kruegel. No appointments of municipal appointive officials were announced by the new administration last night. Taylor Cummins, whose appointment as city attorney had been informally announced on a previous occasion, was consulted with respect to preparation of resolutions to be submitted at tonight's meeting fixing the bonds of the several elected and appointive officials. Transfer of authority from the retiring administration to the new officials was witnessed by a group of about 30 citizens. The proceedings were in formal.

Old Board Hids Farewell

The last official acts of the retiring administration were to authorize payment of warrants amounting to $20,000 for the now authorized fire apparatus; $1225 for the tourist park, and $232.15 for municipal elections expenses and to provide for adjournment of the council session until 8 o'clock this evening. The administration of the new officials was witnessed by a group of about 30 citizens. The proceedings were in formal.

City Economy is Slogan

Purpose of the new administration to reduce municipal expenditures to the limit without sacrifice of the city's interests was emphasized by Captain McRoberts in a brief address before the city council last evening. He explained his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him by the people at the election and his intention to devote his best efforts to prevent dis-appointment of hopes reposed in the new administration. Mayor McRoberts referred to the necessity for harmonizing factions that have developed and making possible united action for the interests of the city. He mentioned the bills authorized by the retiring council left a balance in the general fund of $182.25, it was announced, as compared with a balance of $2000 last year. He mentioned the fact that he has been in office for two years ago by the outgoing administration. In neither case does the balance represent many dollars on hand, but they do indicate the extent to which the amount against which warrants may be drawn and which is secured by taxes due but unpaid.

PRISONER NOW ADMITS FIRST NAME ASSUMED

Man Arrested as Jess Meyer, on Forgery Charge, Says He is S. E. Dyer

In the probate court this morning Samuel Elmer Dyer, nee 29, claiming to be the son of the late S. E. Dyer, was arrested by Judge G. P. Dwyer to answer a charge of forgery. The youth entered a plea of not guilty to the charge and the district attorney retained an attorney to conduct a trial for him.

Dyer was arrested several days ago following presentation of a check drawn on the First National bank for something more than $20. The check, which was signed George Davis, and was drawn in favor of Jess Meyer, was found to be worthless. In court today Dyer stated the check was given him by a man purporting to be George Davis and to whom, Dyer claimed, he had sold some merchandise. He gave an explanation for assuming the name of Meyer, but admitted that he had served a term in the Bull city jail under his own name some time ago. He admitted that a brother had served a term in the Twin Falls county prison. He was ordered held for further examination.

MAY TRY TO PROCURE OLD TIME FOR THE DISTRICT

Representatives in Washington Labor Hard to Get Mountain Standard Here

Reports reaching here from Washington indicate that both Congressman Addison T. Smith and United States Senator Frank R. Gooding are laboring assiduously to procure for this district established mountain time.

In this effort Congressman Smith recently introduced a bill, designated H. R. bill No. 2449, to amend the act entitled "An Act to Standardize and Provide Standard Time for the United States." The latter bill was approved by congress on March 19, 1921. This act was passed as a war measure.

Congressman Smith's bill reads: "Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, that an act entitled 'An Act to Standardize and Provide Standard Time for the United States,' as amended, be, and the same hereby be, further amended by adding therein after section 2 and before section 4 an additional section to be known as section 3, as follows:

"Section 3. In the division of territory, and in the definition of the limits of each zone, as heretofore provided, so much of the state of Idaho as lies between 43 degrees 30 minutes latitude and 45 degrees 30 minutes latitude, shall be designated in the third zone."

Statement Shows Many Tubercular Swine Coming In

Inspector's Monthly Report Indicates Heavy Percentage of Diseased Hogs

During the month of April there were 223 animals slaughtered by Twin Falls butchers for food. Of this number there were 167 cattle, 49 calves, 43 sheep and 214 pigs.

These figures are contained in a monthly report rendered last night at the weekly meeting of the city administration by Dr. W. A. Faloon, city meat and abattoir inspector.

In his report Dr. Faloon states a fairly heavy percentage of tubercular swine in those butchered. The percentage of tubercular cattle is not so high. There were 59 hogs out of the 214 affected by tuberculosis, making a percentage of 27. Four cattle only were found infected of the 167, giving a percentage of 4.8 per cent.
